Michael W. Graves

Department of Anthropology

April 2021

EDUCATIONAL HISTORY:

B.A. 1974 University of Washington, Seattle, Anthropology (with honors)

Ph.D. 1981 University of Arizona, Tucson Anthropology (Archaeology Specialization)

Ethnoarchaeology of Kalinga Ceramic Design. William A. Longacre dissertation advisor

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY:

University of New Mexico

Professor, 2007-present, Department of Anthropology, University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, NM

Chair, 2007-2015, Department of Anthropology, University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, NM

University of Hawai'i at Mānoa

Professor Emeritus, 2008-present, Department of Anthropology, University of Hawai'i, Honolulu, HI

Chair, 2002-06 and Spring 1995, Department of Anthropology, University of Hawai'i, Honolulu, HI

Special Assistant and Administrative Specialist, 1995-2001, to the Senior Vice President and Executive Vice Chancellor, University of Hawai'i, Honolulu, HI

Professor, 1995-2007, Department of Anthropology, University of Hawai'i, Honolulu, HI

Associate Professor, 1989-95, Department of Anthropology, University of Hawai'i, Honolulu, HI

Graduate Faculty, 1986-2010, Department of Anthropology, University of Hawai'i, Honolulu, HI

Affiliate Faculty, 1986-2007, Pacific Islands Studies, and Southeast Asian and Philippine Islands Studies, University of Hawai'i, Honolulu, HI

Assistant Professor, 1986-1989, Department of Anthropology, University of Hawai'i, Honolulu, HI

University of Guam

Director, 1985-1986, Micronesia Area Research Center, University of Guam, Mangilao, GU

Chair, 1983-1985, Department of Anthropology, and 1984, Behavioral Sciences Graduate Program, University of Guam, Mangilao, GU

Assistant Professor, 1981-1986, Department of Anthropology, University of Guam, Mangilao, GU

University of Arizona

Archaeological Specialist, 1980-1982, Department of Anthropology University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ

Research Associate, 1978-1980, Department of Anthropology, University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ

Assistant Director, 1977-1979, Archaeological Field School, University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ

Employment and Affiliations History – Other:

Research Associate, 1990-Present, Department of Anthropology, Bernice P. Bishop Museum, Honolulu, HI

Panel Member, 2010, 2011, 2013, 2015, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2020, 2021 Graduate Research Fellowship Review, National Science Foundation, Arlington, VA

Ex-Officio Member, Advisory Board, Alfonso Ortiz Center for Intercultural Studies, 2007-2014, Department of Anthropology and Maxwell Museum of Anthropology, University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, NM

Expert Witness, 2008, in Jeff Chandler vs Joseph A. Brescia, Pua Aiu, et al., Civil Action 08-10107 Fifth Circuit Court, Lihue, Kaua'i, State of Hawai'i , HI

Expert Witness, 2007-08, in Board of Land and Natural Resources, Contested Case, Maika'i Kamakani 'o Kohala (represented by the Native Hawaiian Legal Corporation) vs. Johathan Cohen, Petitioner and Aloha Properties, Kohala, Hawai'i Island, HI

External Reviewer, 2007, Research Development Grant Competition, Texas Technological University, Lubbock, TX

Corporate Collections and Research Committee Member, 2002-2005, Bishop Museum, Honolulu, HI

Expert Witness, 1999-2004, for Plaintiffs in James Kelly and Protect Keopuka 'Ohana (represented by the Native Hawaiian Legal Corporation) vs. Oceanside Partners, County of Hawai'i, Department of Health and Department of Land and Natural Resources, State of Hawai'i in the Third Circuit Court, Kona, Hawai'i Island, HI

External Reviewer, 2001, Extramural Research Program at the University of Puerto Rico. Sponsored and Organized by the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Washington, DC

External Reviewer, 1998, Department of Anthropology, University of Auckland, NZ

PROFESSIONAL RECOGNITION, HONORS, AND ACHIEVEMENTS:

Chancellor's Citation, 2003, for Meritorious Teaching, University of Hawai'i at Mānoa, Honolulu, HI

Keynote Address, 2003, Future of Archaeology in Hawai'i: Challenging Ourselves. Society for Hawaiian Archaeology Conference, Windward Community College, Kāne'ohe, HI, October 24.

Editorial Board, 2000-2014, Asian Perspectives: The Journal of Archaeology for Asia and the Pacific. University of Hawai'i Press, Honolulu, HI

Editor-in-Chief, 1992-2000, Asian Perspectives: The Journal of Archaeology for Asia and the Pacific. University of Hawai'i Press, Honolulu, HI

Mayor's Advisory Council on Historic Preservation Vice-Chair and Member, 1997-1998, City and County of Honolulu, HI.

Editor and Ex-officio Board Member, 1993-1996, American Antiquity: Journal of the Society for American Archaeology. Society for American Archaeology, Washington, DC

Editorial Board, 1991-1997, Isla: The Journal of Micronesian Studies, University of Guam, Mangilao, GU

NARRATIVE DESCRIPTION OF RESEARCH, TEACHING AND SERVICE INTERESTS:

My research is concentrated on developing evolutionary explanations of archaeological phenomena, particularly agricultural practices (both rainfed and irrigated), the construction of monumental and residential architecture, dynamics of settlement distributions, stylistic and functional variability in ceramics and marine implements (fishhooks), and the use of archaeo-botanical remains to reconstruct environments. I have recently conducted research on Hawaiian oral traditions. I have contributed to the development of methods and techniques for generating archaeological chronologies based on seriation and chronometric dating. My goal is to link these materials or records with natural and social environments as well as with climatic conditions to identify potential adaptive strategies adopted by prehistoric, historic, and contemporary groups.

For the past 25 years, my research has focused on Oceania and to a lesser extent on the Philippines. My fieldwork since the mid-1990s is focused on the moku (district) of Kohala, on the Island of Hawai'i where students and I are investigating the dynamics of rainfed and irrigated traditional agriculture over a period of seven centuries. I have conducted or supervised field or laboratory work on the archaeology of Guam, Saipan, Tinian, Pohnpei, and Kosrae (in Micronesia), Tahiti (Society Islands), Rapa Nui (Easter Island), and Hawai'i (the islands of O'ahu, Lāna'i, Maui, Moloka'i, Kaua'i, Kaho'olawe, Hawai'i, Nihoa, and Mokumanumanu). I have conducted both field and archival-based ethnoarchaeological research in the Philippines, most notably with the Kalinga of northern Luzon. Prior to this, I had focused on the archaeology of the American Southwest, particularly east-central Arizona, where I did field research for nearly 10 years.

I have edited eight volumes of collected papers, co-authored 20 technical reports or monographs, and published more than 45 articles and 35 book chapters in a number of international journals as well as in area-focused journals. My Google Scholar Index is 27. Since 2005, I have been Principal Investigator on 17 extramural research and training grants with a total value of more than $3,000,000. Granting agencies include the National Science Foundation, the National Endowment for the Humanities, Wenner Gren Foundation for Anthropological Research, Andrew J. Mellon Foundation, Henry Luce Foundation, Templeton Foundation, and Skaggs Foundation.

My teaching is focused on archaeological method and theory, the history of the discipline, landscape archaeology, science in archaeology, historic preservation, and the archaeology of Hawai'i and the Pacific Islands. I teach summer archaeological field training programs in Hawai'i.

I served as editor of two archaeological journals (American Antiquity and Asian Perspectives), collectively for a total of 13 years. A former ex-officio member of the Executive Board of the Society for American Archaeology, I also served as the President of the Society for Hawaiian Archaeology. I have organized and chaired 14 sessions and symposia at professional meetings. I am committed to ethically grounded, archaeological research that relies upon existing collections or archives and the minimal use of destructive excavation. My research involves on-going collaborations with landowners and Native Hawaiian organizations and individuals. I have reviewed compliance documents in historic preservation in Hawai'i and I have served as an expert witness on three cases in Hawai'i that established precedents regarding the requirements for archaeological survey compliance, the identification and treatment of burials, and conformance to land use classification. Prior to joining the University of New Mexico in 2007, I was Chair of the Department of Anthropology for four years (2002-06) and had served for five years (1996-2001) as a senior executive in the administration of the University of Hawai'i at Mānoa.
