Section 1: Defining our brand

---

In this section, we outline the building blocks of the Slack brand, including what we stand for, what sets us apart, why we choose the words we use, and how we've decided to show up in the world.

Who we are

The Slack platform is where work happens. It's where people have the perfect conditions to connect, to align, to get context so they can work toward shared goals, together.

Our mission is to make people's working lives simpler, more pleasant and more productive.

Our vision is a world where organizations can achieve agility easily, no matter their size.

Please use "Slack" as an adjective followed by a description of our services. "Slack" should not be used as a noun, verb, plural or possessive.

How we describe the need for Slack

Challenge

The fundamental challenge common to all organizations is one of coordination: the creation and maintenance of alignment over time; the ability to turn groups of individuals moving in many directions into teams moving in the same direction.

Solution

Slack offers a new choice: a better way to work together by replacing email inside companies of all sizes; providing a place that connects their conversations, information and software.

Result

With Slack, we all have the power to do our best work—individuals, teams, organizations and even software.

Brand values

Empathy

Curiosity. Understanding. Appreciation.

Giving people the benefit of the doubt and the respect that is due to them. Being human and recognizing the humanity in others. Being understanding and appreciative.

Courtesy

Kindness. Generosity. Thoughtfulness.

Making an effort to save others time (everyone's time is important, regardless of rank or title). Going the extra mile to make it easier for others; preparing in advance, anticipating needs. Being honest, humble and fair.

Craftsmanship

Respect for excellence. Mastery.

Great care. Attention to detail.

Always learning to do it better. Sweating the small stuff. Acting intentionally and mindfully.

Playfulness

Open. Inviting. Receptive. Creative.

Looking at the world sideways, being curious, improvising. Playing well with others; being open for the pass. Providing delightful experiences to our customers.

Solidarity

Unity. Mutual support. Cooperation.

Taking the interests of all into account. Seeing ourselves as part of a team rather than as a collection of individuals. Seeking harmony and community.

Thriving

Living fully. Flourishing.

Taking this opportunity to do the best work of your life and supporting others in doing the same. Taking pleasure in the exercise of your craft and playing with your whole heart. Engaging your responsibilities with drive, inspiration and presence.

Persona and personality

We are creative,
professional,
thoughtful, respectful, purposeful and
curious; we are smart, humble, hardworking and collaborative.

Our culture turned inward creates our product; our culture turned outward creates our brand.

Our brand is a reflection of who we are as a company and what we represent in the world of work.

If nothing else, our outward-facing brand should represent the best of what we bring to work as colleagues at this company. Smart, humble, hardworking and collaborative.

We are deliberately human—we aim to be an ideal colleague: One who works on the basis of respect and admiration for working people; someone who communicates in a way that is smart, humble, hardworking and collaborative. Who doesn't dominate the conversation and never wastes your time; who knows the answer (and the context) if you have a question—and shows you how to find it yourself.

We demonstrate our commitment to being customer-centric by placing those humans at the center of every communication, not ourselves.

Voice and tone

The key to sounding like Slack is speaking directly to the user, in a voice that they can hear and recognize.

We are humans, speaking to humans. We distinguish ourselves from other business communication software through the way we use design and language to make communication feel simpler and more pleasant. By being deliberate and thoughtful with the way we use language, we encourage people to feel a deeper connection with Slack—and how they use it with their coworkers.

While we intend to have a more conversational, human tone in the main, that doesn't mean that we're overly informal. Our tone will vary depending on the audience, the context and the information we need to get across.

Our voice isn't just an intrinsic part of the product, it's an external representation of the people behind it. And because of that, we aren't necessarily making hard rules about what to say or what not to say. But some of the rules are a little firm.

Voice and tone

Here's what we are (and aren't):

- Confident (never cocky)
- Witty (but never silly)
- Conversational (but always appropriate and respectful)
- Intelligent (and we always treat our users as intelligent too)
- Friendly (but not ingratiating)
- Helpful (never overbearing)
- Clear, concise and human

We are characterful. But we never let character overwhelm content. What we have to say is infinitely more important than being admired for the way we say it. If people can't see the substance for the style, we've gone wrong.

In writing, we value perspicuity above all. Be clear, be concise, omit unnecessary words, make sure that whatever you say has purpose, but don't be robotic. Contractions are your friend.

We don't use cheap words that recall the failures of those companies that have gone before us, and we don't use Silicon Valley clichés and jargon. We would only describe people as ninjas or rock stars if they were actually those things for a living. We don't lean on pop culture references or things that feel exclusionary.

We are considerate and intentional with the words we use. We recognize and appreciate the power of language, and use it with eloquence and elegance (while never getting carried away with ourselves).

Voice and tone

Nor do we mess around with Slack. We don't use Slacker/Slacking/Slackee to describe who we are or what we do. That means no "Happy Slacking!" to sign off emails, no matter how catchy a phrase it might be. While other people are free to make up whatever word they want to describe Slack usage or someone who uses it, we do not (externally) claim any of these as official terms. That's up to others to decide. Something will surface eventually and be organically adopted.

It should go without saying, but it's still worth stating: Never use exclusionary terms, cultural appropriation, ableist or misgendering language, or anything that could be interpreted as a slur. If you're on the fence about whether you're using something that could be taken as offensive, inflammatory or exclusionary, find another word.

We are authentic.
We like the people
we're talking to.
We're proud of what we're talking about. That itself
sets us apart.

Section 2: Design elements

---

In this section, we outline best practices for the use of Slack brand assets and offer useful examples.

The octothorpe

The octothorpe is composed of simple geometric shapes and four primary colors.

The symbol is legible at most sizes, and a small version is provided for micro applications.

The two basic shapes used in the octothorpe—a speech bubble and a lozenge—can be extracted and used as graphic elements.

Octothorpe

19x19 grid

Our logo

---

The Slack logo is composed of an octothorpe and a logotype set in Hellix Bold.

The horizontal logo is the primary logo and should be used in most instances. The stacked logo is for large-scale use. Avoid using at small sizes, as it can become illegible.

Always use the logo files provided. Do not re-create.

Our logo (for small use)

---

There is a specific logo for small sizes and should be used when the logo is rendered at a size between 50px wide and 90px wide.

The small logo mark should be used at a size between 15px tall and 20px tall.

Only the horizontal logos are appropriate for small use. Do not use the stacked logo for small use.

Maximum Sizing for Small Use Logo

90px wide, approx.

(or approx. 1.25 inches)

20px height, approx.

(or approx. 0.28 inches)

Minimum Sizing for Small Use Logo

50px wide, approx.

(or approx. 0.7 inches)

15px height, approx.

(or approx. 0.2 inches)

Usage on backgrounds

---

The full-color logos should be used only on white, black or aubergine backgrounds.

Avoid using full-color logos on photographs unless the logo sits on a black or white area of the image.

One-color use

---

The one-color logo should be used only on photographs and color backgrounds within the Slack color palette.

The one-color logo should be only on black and white colorways.

If using an aubergine background, we strongly prefer to use the full-color logo. However, if design limitations conflict with this, then the logo should appear in white on aubergine.

Logo misuse

Do not crop the logo

Do not change the transparency of the logo

Do not shuffle around the colors of the octothorpe

Do not use different colors

Do not change the size or position of the octothorpe and logotype

Do not distort the logo

Do not use drop shadows or any other effects

Do not re-create using any other typeface

Do not outline logotype

Do not rotate any part of the logo

Core colors

Use these color proportions in any layout or collateral design. Text should always be set in black, white or aubergine.

Blue, green, yellow and red can be used as accent colors in the proportions shown on the right.

There is an enormous and heretofore largely unmet demand for an easier way to coordinate and align people. That demand is why Slack is here today, and why Slack is being adopted all over the world. Email is the default coordinating point for communications and the go-to platform enterprise software developers use when they need to reach human beings, but inside a company it works poorly. Enormous flows of information course through it, but each person has only a tiny view. Email holds rich history: all the decisions made, questions answered and information shared, but if you're new to a company, or just in the wrong inbox, you have access to none of it. Rather than inboxes, all those messages are organized into channels. Channels can correspond to anything - projects, teams, planning, office locations, business units, functional areas, temporary channels for things like planning an offsite. Unlike email, Slack was designed from the bottom-up to integrate with the software tools you use every day. Whatever tools you already use, Slack vastly increases the value of your software investment, by making it easier to access, easier to act upon, and easier to share.

Share channels with companies and businesses you regularly work with to bring all the right people into the same space.

Japanese

Tazugane is our brand font for Japan, Noto Sans is used for the Slack App/UI and M PLUS 1 p is used for Google Slides.

Font size is 15% smaller than English. In general, Japanese characters tend to be bigger than Roman letters and numbers even when set at the same font size (with “Western” fonts, in particular).

Portuguese, Spanish, French and German

Font size is 10% smaller than English, allowing for 20-30% more characters.

Here, we break down different uses of the logo and the mark, and where we use them.

For anything that faces an external audience, we use the full Slack logo to build equity around our core brand. Swag included because it faces external audiences.

For internal-facing programs, we use the logo mark. This makes it clear that these programs are still part of Slack while allowing for some individuality.

Adjacent brand logos are unique, but use the Slack logo font and incorporate a speech bubble to create a link back to the Slack logo.

Master brand offerings

Master brand offerings are any external-facing programs created and offered by Slack.

For master brand offerings, we lock up the Slack logo with the program name. The program name is typeset in Hellix light, optical kerning, with -10 tracking, out to the right of the Slack logotype, separated by a distance equal to “A” (the distance between the octothorpe and the logotype).

Partnerships

For partnerships, we lock up the Slack logo with a partner logo, preferably with Slack coming first.

Use clear space between logos. Clear space should be octothorpe-sized and divided in half by a vertical line.

Partner logos should be aligned to the optical baseline of the Slack logotype.

We are excited to work with you!
We kindly ask that you adhere to the following:

- Do not use the Slack name or marks as part of your own
- Do not use Slack in any advertising without our explicit approval
- Do not use Slack assets or similar words/marks on apparel or merchandise

Illustrations

Our illustrations should always reflect the Slack personality of human, approachable, smart. They can be witty, but never silly.

Slack icons are used across different brand touchpoints from marketing to environment to product.

They provide symbolism, conceptual clarity and visual interest in simplistic shapes and forms.

Visual design of your website or application

- a. When designing your own website, we encourage you to be yourself. But please do not copy or imitate the look and feel of Slack products or sites. Doing so may create user confusion or imply the endorsement of Slack
- b. Please do not use, display, mirror or frame (including in meta-tags or hidden text) Slack websites, or any individual element of Slack websites, or any other Slack assets, or the layout and design of any page or form contained on a page
- c. If utilizing the Slack API to support your service or application, you must avoid suggesting your service or application is produced or supported by Slack. If we believe ambiguity exists, we may request that you state clearly that your service is “not created by, affiliated with, or supported by Slack Technologies, Inc.”
- d. If we ask you to include such a message on your page, you must ensure that it is displayed on the initial page load and is clearly visible on either a dark or light background. Text should be a minimum of 15pt. and a minimum of 80% opacity in black or white or in color
