Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

Hey You!!

So glad that you decided to become a member of The Wing Girl Method. DO NOT WORRY, you will not be charged for this membership. It's FREE!

My name is Marni and from here on out, I am going to be your personal Wing Girl. I'm not just any Wing Girl. In fact, I was voted #1 Wing Girl in the world just last year. My job is to tell you everything about women so that you can meet, attract, date, seduce and be with the women you want. I have successfully done this for almost a decade. I have helped thousands of men all over the world get everything they want with women and now it's your turn ☺

“I AM NOT A PICK UP ARTIST”

I want to be very clear with you. I am not a Pick Up Artist. I do not teach routines, lines or any type of manipulation. In fact, I believe that many of the top Pick Up Artists materials actually harm more men than they help. Why? Because a lot of their techniques stress the goal of feeling superior to women, in order to gain success with women. This creates an unequal dynamic causing insecurity to be the driving force behind attraction. NO GOOD and certainly not healthy for anyone involved.

My belief is that if you have the power to feel Superior to anyone eventually you will resort back to feeling inferior. Both labels are just two different sides of a coin.

The materials I provide will show you how to empower yourself by getting a clear understanding of how women work, what they want and why they do the things they do. As well as help you gain a strong masculine character, whose presence women will be attracted to from miles away.

How Is A WOMAN Going To Help Me Gain A Strong Masculine Character?

I am pretty sure you are asking yourself “How is SHE going to help me gain a strong masculine character”. Trust me I have heard it before which is why I want to explain so we can eliminate this belief and move forward.

BELIEF: Women Give Bad Advice To Men About What Women Want

TRUTH: Most women give bad advice to men about what women want.

The Wing Girl Method

“ I am your female friend and I am here to show you how to approach, attract and KEEP women interested, and give you the inside scoop on what she's really thinking...”

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

To be fair, many women do not actually comprehend what women want or why they do the things they do. Most women will be able to tell you exactly what they WISH they wanted, but very few are able to say what they genuinely want.

In fact, about 5 months ago I put out an add asking for women with opinions on what women want from men. I got over 600 responses from women around the world. Beautiful, intelligent women who I later discovered has absolutely no idea what it was they wanted, what they were attracted to or what they responded to. I was shocked. But one thing I did learn is that women were very interested in being heard even. Save that note for later.

For some women, it's difficult to admit the behaviors they respond too. This is either because they are embarrassed or because they really don't have a clue but desperately want to figure it out. Most women hold themselves on a social pedestal and are very fearful of seemingly knocking themselves down.

Now, there are some women out there who are different. Take me for example. I am a woman who deeply understands what goes on inside my mind and I am able to articulate WHAT, HOW and WHY I do the things I do and think the way I think.

I am also a woman who is not embarrassed about how you will perceive me for revealing the truths behind my actions.

I am just like all the other women in this world and exactly like the women you want to be with. I have been attracted to men, loved men, hated men, been hurt by men, got revenge on men, felt insecure, had sex with men, rejected men, been wishy-washy, led a man on, flirted with men for fun and pleasure, teased men, broken up with men for no reason, avoided men, flaked on men, given out my number with intention of answering the phone, had one night stands, been in long term relationships with men and placed men in the friend zone when they deserved a romantic chance. I have experienced every scenario you have experienced but on the other end.

It's not so much that I'm going to help you be a step ahead of her in the game - it's so that you're actually really in the game and playing it 'with' her.

With my help you are going to be the guy who has a woman who is into him, not because of what you do or what you have, but just because you are you.

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

The Top 10 SECRETS Every Man Must Know About Women

SECRET#1: Looks Don't Matter To Women

Trust me I can hear the “Yeah Right” statements blasting through your mind right now. But it's true and here's why:

Men make decisions based on facts and women make their decisions based on emotions/feelings. Therefore when meeting a new man, women will decide if they are attracted to them because of how that man makes them feel.

Male Translation: LOOKS ARE NOT AS IMPORTANT TO WOMEN AS THEY ARE TO MEN.

Listen, when a man first approaches a woman she judges him entirely on his looks and the how he presents himself. What else does she have to judge on? It's only been 5 seconds.

But something interesting happens to a woman after she interacts with a man and it's usually right after the first 5-10 seconds. She starts to FEEL him. And from that feeling, she can automatically sense that mans character and value.

A man's looks start to blur and his appearance magically changes depending on how he makes a woman feel. At The Wing Girl Method we call this ENERGY.

Think about how women describe their friends to other possible suitors. Any other woman that a female “feels” close to or cares about becomes attractive to her. Which is why you may constantly be set up with fat, hairy, sally! Not attractive to you but beautiful to your female friend. She valued this woman and because of how she feels about her, believes she is attractive.

Regardless of whether you are rich or poor, good looking or plain, fat or thin, bald or hair, if you can master the art of projecting a quality energy that women can feel, you can light up a woman's primal attraction circuitry like a Christmas tree!

This is great news for you because amplifying your quality energy is a learnable skill that can take you from being a complete failure with women to being a rock star.

SECRET #2: Women Reveal, Men Conceal

I constantly find myself saying the following statement to the men I work with,
“Don't Throw Up On Women”

Translation, do not immediately dump every bit your personal information onto a woman. Take time to get to know someone. Decide whether or not they worthy of hearing information about you. You want to be sure you are sharing pertinent information about yourself with someone that actually values it.

Throwing up information is what women do. Think about it. They bond by revealing information to one another.

When women meet for the first time they huddle in a corner and see how many times they can say “me too”. This brings them closer together and forms a bonding connection for FRIENDSHIP. Meaning, NON-SEXUAL companionship, hear what I am saying?

There is a fine line between showing you understand a woman and showing that you are a woman.

Example of Friendship Conversation:

“Oh wow! I had the same thing in my past relationship. My ex was completely selfish and had no regard for my opinions when making decisions. I remember this time when...”

Example of Attractive/Leading Conversation:

“I have had my ups and downs in relationships but each time I learn something new and I gain more patience. (Make eye contact, soft smile.) So what are we going to order?”

Little bit of info = a lot of confidence and SEX APPEAL!

As a man, if you reveal too much too soon you will wind up directly in the Friend Zone.

SECRET #3: Women Have Baggage and Insecurities

Just like men we have had experiences in our lives that lead us to who we are today. We may have been hurt, we may have been taken advantage of, we may be shy or we may not have learned how to appreciate ourselves.

Just because a woman is attractive does not mean that she is confident. In fact it usually means just the opposite.

YES it's true that is easier for a woman to get sex than it is for a man. A woman may be able to walk into a room and instantly get a man to agree to have sex with her, but she will not be able to find a good man with a genuine, authentic character, that respects her.

Understand that you are not the only one with anxious, eager thoughts running through your head. Women experience exactly the same thing.

TIP: If you can show a woman that you GET her insecurities and that you like her in spite of them she will instantly melt.

SECRET #4: Women Are Good

You must believe that women are good because they are. You may have been hurt in the past. Women may have treated you poorly but you must not hold past experiences against all women. You also must get rid of any negative stereotypes you have towards women because the more walls you hold up the more difficult it will become to connect, form relationships and get the women you want.

Just as women need to learn that men are good you must believe that women are good. They are just different. And because they are different and you don't understand their behaviors you may have negative feelings towards women. They are just different. You must eliminate all your past beliefs about women and place them back to a place where you hold them as BEAUTIFUL inside and out in your mind if you ever want to master seduction. Women have done no wrong; they are wonderful and amazing they are just different than you.

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

SECRET #5: Women Do Not Test Men For Sport, They Test Because They Feel Insecure

Contrary to popular belief women do not test men for sport. They test men because of their own insecurity. Do not panic if a woman asks you a question where you feel she is testing you. Remember that this “test” is just a symptom of an insecurity that is brewing inside her. Nothing to do with you, that is until you panic!

Secret #5.5: Women aim to be the perfect, idealistic woman. The woman who is fun, light and free of all insecurities. Our goal is to be viewed as the cool girl that is DIFFERENT and more SPECIAL than other females.

Because of this goal, we keep our lips sealed on needs, wants and frustrations. In the long run this always backfires on us because at a weak moment it will all come bursting out of us, usually in an anxious, attacking manner.

You men are the total opposite and in my opinion much smarter. Men state their needs at the time they feel them so that their needs can be met right away. You guys are definitely onto something!

Handle any situation that you feel as a “test” with calmness and grace and understand that the question is coming from a place of insecurity. If you can help calm her anxiety and let her know that she has not ruined her “REP”, then you will be her hero.

SECRET #6: You Will Never Go From Friend To Lover By Being Patient

Have you ever heard the story about the wimpy guy who was in love with a girl for 2 years?

Well what happened was this. He focused so much attention on this girl, listened to her complain about boyfriends, went shopping with her, was her shoulder to cry on and was there for her whenever she needed him. He was so focused on this one girl that he totally ignored other potential women because he was sure one day she would come around.

Well, turns about that she did! And he didn't even have to say anything. One day the girl turned to him and said “OMG, why hadn't I ever noticed you before. You are exactly the man I want and have always needed. I love you and want to have sex with you every day to make up for lost time.”

The Wing Girl Method

“ I am your female friend and I am here to show you how to approach, attract and KEEP women interested, and give you the inside scoop on what she's really thinking...”

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

You want to know why you have never heard this story before? Because it didn't happen and will never happen. That is not how women work and using this subtle form of manipulation tactic of back routing to attraction will always fail. Don't ask to be a friend if what you want is to get busy. Ask to get busy.

SECRET #7: Women Detest Bad Boys

It seems somebody started spreading a rumor to the men of the world that women have absolutely no interest in being with a Nice Guy.

I want to tell you, that is absolute rubbish. That's right I said it RUBBISH!!!!

Think about that statement logically.

"Women Don't Want Nice Men They Want To Be With Bad Boys."

Do you really think that women sit around and say to one another "Oh Sally, I can't wait till one day I meet an a**hole who treats me poorly, is unreliable, never returns my phone calls and belittles me on a daily basis".

I understand that there are some women out there who do crave the Bad Boys I defined above but be warned that these are probably not the type of women you would want to be with.

These women are ridden with insecurity and baggage and will be a bigger headache than they are worth.

I totally understand how and where this rumor came from and how this whole misunderstanding came to fruition.

It's because every day you see women you want, with other guys who you know are jerks, and can't understand why they are with them. You also can't understand why these women don't break away or want a better man. A better man like you.

So you start to believe the rumors.

You start to believe that all women want to be with Bad Boys, Jerks and A**holes.

I can tell you for a fact that women do not want to be with Bad Boys, Jerks and A**holes. They want to be with Nice Guys. But the right type of Nice Guy. Nice Guys with an edge.

SECRET #8: Women Do Not Want A Man Who...

1. Wants to be mothered
2. Is needy and dependent
3. Has no back bone and can be walked all over
4. Is not positive
5. Cannot handle tension
6. Is aggressive and abrasive
7. Doesn't know how to listen
8. Can't understand women
9. Is not proactive
10. Has no life outside of the women he dates

SECRET #9: Women Want A MAN Who Is Self-Assured, Calm, Collected, Comfortable and Direct

I want to go into greater detail on each of these characteristics so that you can understand why each of them is important to women.

Self Assured

This is man who is confident and believes he is worthy of great things.

He is not worried about rejection, never focuses on the “right thing” to say and always goes after what he wants. Not in an aggressive, jerky way, but in a confident way.

Calm

A calm man is one that can handle tension and has emotional control. This means that if a girl does not call him back he doesn't freak out. He doesn't replay the interaction with the woman over and over and over again to realize where he made mistakes.

A calm man does not fall to pieces when confronted with a difficult situation. For example, when a woman throws out a “female test” his way. A man who panics and gets emotional when faced with a “female test” is not properly handling tension. Therefore he is failing as a man in a woman's eyes.

The Wing Girl Method

“ I am your female friend and I am here to show you how to approach, attract and KEEP women interested, and give you the inside scoop on what she's really thinking...”

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

Collected

Collected, means having your act together. You are not overly needy. You don't write 5 paragraph long intro emails and you do not feel the need to instantly respond to texts.

You have a life. You have boundaries and you know what you want.

Comfortable

Have you ever been around someone that you know is comfortable in his or her own skin? It's intimidating right? It makes you more uncomfortable and it makes you want do things for that person or with that person.

You feel this way because you want to become this way. Everyone wants to be comfortable. Especially women.

If women are with a man who exudes comfort, then they will feel secure, safe and totally turned on.

Direct

Have you ever asked a woman what you are doing this weekend?

This question has multiple answers.

One could be: "I am going out with 5 other men who are not you."

Instead of making the above statement, try being more direct by saying "I want to take you out this weekend." This statement is clear, honest and leaves no room for interpretation.

Gaining the ability to directly state your needs and what you want is by far one of the most attractive characteristics a man can possess.

Being direct gets you what you want. Read the Case Study below on How To Properly Ask Out A Girl and see how being direct will always get you what you want.

CASE STUDY:

How To PROPERLY Ask Out A Girl

I have many guy friends. Guy friends who I love and think are the best guys in the world. And guy friends who can still shock me when I see how terribly they handle themselves with women. Lucky for my guy friends, they have me to get their female advice from.

I was on the phone the other night with one of my guy friends talking about girls, sex, attraction, love, past relationships and he told me about this girl he had been interested in a long time ago back at college that he happened to see by his office that day. He said that he always regretted not asking her out in college and that he wasn't going to let this opportunity pass by him again.

So he did some recon work and got her email address. I told him to show me his email before sending it to her. Thank goodness he showed me because it would have been disaster had he sent it.

Our email correspondence is below along with my commentary on how to ask out a girl properly:

Email from friend:

Hey X,

I hope you're enjoying your summer and BDM's treating you well.

We never actually speak when we see each other, and I think we should change that.

Let me know if you want to grab a coffee or a drink some time.

Y (My Friend)

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

My Response:

Did you send this yet? Please say you didn't. Its sweet but it has no oomph to it to get a girl riled up. It can be stronger and more attractive. Seems a little soft. Again it's good but it can be better.

Commentary: Woman are at their peak of attraction when they have the opportunity to feel their most feminine. My friend's email was not terrible, it was nice. But there was nothing to latch onto. No excitement but really sweet. You want to offer a woman something that she basically has no choice but to say YES to. Not because she was forced to say yes, but because she was intrigued and excited.

Marni

*****

Friends Response:

I could just say:

Hey X,

Would you like to meet for a coffee one day?

...But I put in the other filler and formality because she doesn't actually know me. The opening summer stuff is there as polite throat clearing before moving on to the point.

Y (My Friend)

My Response:

Don't be polite. Also say what YOU want. Try it that way.

Commentary: I find that when guys are trying to "be polite" they end up coming off as saps, wimps or suck ups. No good, not attractive and does not get the reaction you are looking for from a woman. The more masculine and direct you can be with a woman the better. This does not mean be a jerk, an a**hole etc.

*****

Friends Response:

X,

Got the wave in the Path last week, but we never actually speak when we see each other. Let's change that!

Do you have time for a coffee or a drink this week?

Y (My friend)

*****

My Response:

So much better. Love the let's change that part but get rid of the exclamation point. Needs one more tweak, but getting there. Does it feel better to you?

Try I WANT as part of what you say. I want to get to know you better or I want to take you out or I want to change that.

Commentary: In the beginning stages of dating it's about YOU. What YOU want, what YOU are looking for. You do not know HER yet, so the person to take care of is you. Therefore do not be ashamed or fear that you are being too obvious with what you are asking for. Being DIRECT AND HONEST will always get you the best results. YOU want to date her. YOU want to sleep with her. YOU want to go for coffee. So say it. Say what you want :-)

Friends Response:

Ok great, let's do Friday. I had to run out of the office this afternoon and only just got home. I'll tell you about it Friday, but it will likely make tomorrow super busy for me.

Are you able to get away 2:30ish Friday?

- I feel bad because I did not get her email till just now which is 4 hours after she wrote. Should I just write tomorrow.

Marni's Response:

Nooo!!!! I hope you didn't send that. You are pouncing, throwing up on her. You can tell her about your great day when you see her. No need now. In response to your last comment, you have a life, you are busy, you work hard, and therefore all your energy does not need to suddenly shift direction for this girl. You will get back to her when you get a chance to. Wait until tomorrow and write a direct email saying you will meet her at XYZ at this time. Done. Direct ='s Sexy. Lots of words and fluff ='s a future of her crying on your shoulder about other guys. Get my point.

Marni

Commentary: My friend took my advice and they are now on their date. Listen, the first email my friend wrote to this girl may have gotten a response, it may have even gotten him on a date. It was not a horrible email but it wasn't attractive. It was nice and polite. My friend has a habit of caring too much how he appears to women and goes over the top nice with the ones he likes. This email exchange coupled with a confident, comfortable, genuine character at coffee ='s masculine, attractive, sexy to a woman. It gets him the response, the date and the butterflies in the girl's stomach.

Ability To Lead

This is the most important one of all.

For Women: Feeling Feminine = Attraction

So how do you get a woman to feel her most feminine? By leading. Leading means, taking charge by pulling a woman into your world.

For Example:

You see a woman you like from across the room. You approach her and you:

- A) Say hi and wait for her to initiate conversation with you and then follow HER conversation
- B) Introduce yourself, looking her straight in the eye with a slight smile and tell her she caught your eye. Then you LEAD the conversation in the direction you please. Ask her questions about herself that require more than a 1-word response and don't dominate the conversation, LEAD it in the right direction.

When Should A Guy Approach A Woman?

Marni,

Late last night, I went grocery shopping. Upon going to checkout I saw this woman that I was extremely attracted to.

While we checked out I decided to take a different path to my car only to find out that she was parked near me. She was wearing biking gear and had a bike in the back of her truck. I think this intimidated me a little because I did not approach her. Reason being, I really thought I would be bothering her. I do this all the time and want to stop wasting great opportunities.

So my question to you is, when can I approach a woman?

Ian

Ian,

The short answer to your question is ALWAYS. If you see a woman you

The Wing Girl Method

“ I am your female friend and I am here to show you how to approach, attract and KEEP women interested, and give you the inside scoop on what she's really thinking...”

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

want, approach here. Remember, it's about you first, her second.

It sounds like there is a lot of pressure on your approaches and you may be thinking large picture instead of small picture.

Large Picture: I'm going to approach this girl, she is going to be attracted to me, I'm going to get her number, we are going to date, have sex....

Small Picture: That girl is cute, I want to talk to her and see if I like her.

Having the small picture in mind before any approaches will make it a lot easier on you. If you don't attach a large picture outcome to your actions, then you may not feel as much pressure to succeed.

I want to comment on one more thing you said in your email where you said you thought you would be bothering her. I hear these "assumptions" from the men I work with all the time.

Below are some of the assumptions I am constantly hearing from men.

Assumptions gone wrong:

- She's not my type
- She won't be into me
- I'm too short for her
- I'm too fat/bald/skinny for her
- She probably has a boyfriend
- She's busy right now
- She doesn't want to be bothered
- She's with her friends and doesn't want to be interrupted

It's very interesting that these men know so much about a woman they have never spoken to before. What I find more interesting is that so many men are mind readers ☺

These assumptions are really just fears disguised as intelligent justifications. These are what I like to call conceived truths that stop us from getting what we want.

Please do not fall victim. Approach every woman that peaks your interest and decide what category you want to put her in after you have some facts

How Can I Tell She Likes Me?

Hi can you help me with a situation. There is a girl at the place I work. Our eyes meet and she blushed.

Since then there has been something between us but I don't know what. I have clocked out for her at the end of the day and she seems really happy for me to do this, however she only allowed me to do this once.

She has winked at me and she has checked me out .She has also looked at me when I enter the room. At the end of the day I say bye and she responds but she does not initiate anything. A) What is she doing? B) What can I do?
Yours,

Dave

Dave

Answer to B: YOU CAN ASK HER OUT!!!!

Answer to A: She is living her life and being friendly to a co-worker.

From the actions you describe, it sounds like you may be creating this “connection” in your head. There is no indication that she is into you BUT there is also no indication that she is not into you. See what I am saying?

If you are waiting for her to pounce on you it's not going to happen. If you want something YOU have to go for it. Especially when it comes to women.

Right now you are playing it safe with her. You are taking little steps to “test” if she likes you but unfortunately I don't think those tests are registering with her.

How Do I Deal With Ice Queens?

Hey there Marni, I was just recently introduced to your program and just finished reading your Free "The Wing Girl Method Guide" Behind the Curtain, and must say that the information within helped clarify some concepts that I had already about woman.

First I'd like to explain that I've been studying about Body Language, Mental and Physical Attraction, Signs, and all that sort of thing from various sources for about 3 years now, and found that I can always learn something new in the field, and enjoy reading everyone's perspective on this matter. I feel that I've become pretty good at projecting my body language positively and reading a woman's body language to see if there is interest or not. I'm not saying I'm an expert or anything, in fact, I'm as obtuse when it comes to woman as anybody, hence why I've been studying these programs to understand how read women correctly, and what to more or less do to get the desired result.

I found it somewhat of a revelation that if a woman is too open to you too early that she likely isn't interested, which makes sense, since if she truly was interested, she'd probably be nervous and it would require the man to put her at ease and help guide the interaction. Although I've had the odd experience that seems to contradict the new found information and was hoping to get some clarity on my interpretations.

For example, there was one woman I knew that was always over the top friendly with me from the day I met her and I treated her the same way, I thought she was cool and all but I had no interest in trying to sleep with her, but there would be the odd time we'd be out at a bar or whatever and she'd just latch on an dance or kiss me on the lips. Now I'm perfectly okay with being friendly with a girl, but once it starts to get physical in the slightest I feel like it changes the relationship to a degree, or at least brings to light a certain possibility that I didn't consider initially. These situations didn't change my outlook on her at the time, aside from thinking that if I were to bother pursuing a romantic altercation that I have a chance of success, however the revelation of the "Too Open" principle kind of throws my world upside-down.

“ I am your female friend and I am here to show you how to approach, attract and KEEP women interested, and give you the inside scoop on what she's really thinking...”

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

Now that I've gotten this 5 Paragraph opening ramble out of the way (Which I know now I shouldn't be doing, but figure is a moot point if I'm asking for advice), I think my main question is about reading interest as a whole. Is there a time span where overt interest is allowed? Like say you've known an "Ice Queen" for a month, then eventually she warms up to you and can now talk to you about anything? Is this just a friend zone placement, or a different story since it's a slow build with time allowed for the nervousness to disappear? Also, if a woman with overt interest starts to get physical with you, should you take it has a "She's into you Stupid!" sign, or would the same still apply? My male brain tells me that if a woman starts touching me, that she wants me to touch her back.

At lot of this seems obvious to me, but my uncertainly on these woman approaching situations is my biggest stumbling block, so clarification on my query would be greatly appreciated.

I hope I'm not talking to an automated message, and that I'll hear from you before long!

Andrew

Andrew,

I really like the way that you represent yourself in email. Even though it was lengthy ;-), it was still direct, clear and helpful.

Women getting comfortable over time can be difficult to decipher. Many ice queens do eventually warm up to a man but it does not necessarily mean attraction. These women may just realize, over time, that there is no need to be icy with you. Meaning they have received evidence that you are no longer a threat or that you are not trying to get anything from them and they realize they can relax.

The thing that I would like you to concentrate on is not their actions towards you but your actions towards them. Are you overtly trying to show you are "safe" and "not wanting anything from them" or are you staying true to your intentions (in a nice, non arrogant/aggressive/asshole way) and asking for what you really want from them?

If you are staying clear with what you want and not accepting friendship AND they warm up to you, great sign. If you have been wishy washy and using nice guy manipulation on them, then sadly you are in the friend zone :-)

As for the second question, YES SHE'S INTO YOU STUPID!!! For what, I don't know but any woman who is attacking you so that you will get physical with her is obviously into you. Sexually, long term, one night stand.... not sure. Need more info.

Is She Using Me To Get Over Her Ex or Is She Into Me?

Hey marni,

Quick question I've been dating for a bit and I've recently started seeing one of my friends ex's. He was totally fine with it and I always thought she was attractive so I went ahead with it. But I feel like I wasn't getting anywhere with her. We'd talk and the conversations would drop, she would seem uninterested in everything I did, I'd crack a joke and she wouldn't so much as smile. (Which made me feel bad cuz I'd been told I was funny before) and on the few occasions I ended up playing third wheel with my friend and her while they were dating she always seemed to like my sense of humor.

Anyway after a few dates I decided to call it off she was always such a downer about everything and it was obvious she wasn't over my friend, and her negativity was beginning to effect me. So when I did she was so upset that I started to feel bad about it. A few days later she tells me that she was so happy I called it off and that she was turning into something she didn't want to become, because she was still hung up on my friend. She said that her eyes were finally open...what does that mean? We still talk from time to time but Imp not sure if I should keep pushing for it even though she seems to want to move forward. I'm not even sure if I should bother, she's super hot but it doesn't seem like there's anything else there loll.

Tim

Tim,

She is saying "Her Eyes Are Now Open To Liking Your Friend", not you.
Sorry :-(

What is the reason you want to keep “pushing for it”? You say her attitude turns you off, she wasn't over your friend and she didn't find you funny. My question for you to ask yourself is, what DO YOU like about her? Is it just because she is hot?

Hot is not a good enough reason to be with someone. Short term yes! But not long term. You get what I am saying? ☺

What Should I Do When A Woman Flakes On Me?

Hey Marni, my name is Matt I'm 27, live in Kalamazoo Michigan, and I'm Caucasian. I saw your video from the 2009 Super Conference with Vince Kelvin and have checked out your website a few times.

Lets get to the question: I've known this girl Jamie for about 14 years (since 8th grade pretty much) we used to hang out all the time but I never made a move on her even though I wanted to. Eventually she ended up dating another guy for a few years. We lost touch after high school for a little while and then a few years back reunited and see each other every so often around town (Kalamazoo isn't that big) I asked her to go with me to a wedding last year about 3 months before it happened so we could RSVP. She said yes and even found out that her sister and her best friend would be bartending at the wedding so we would get hooked up if it was cash bar lol. I didn't hear from her for a couple weeks.

Then finally 2 HOURS BEFORE the wedding she texts me and says she isn't feeling good and cant make it! Then later that night my date and I went out to the bar and she was sitting there having a drink with some people from work! She saw me and kinda turned away when I walked by. I didn't say anything to her and sat on the patio outside. My date was telling me she would go and say something to her for me lol.

I waited for a little while and Jamie walked out and told me that her friends "Forced" her to go out and drive them around. I was a little pissed off to say the least.... all I really said was "I'm glad your feeling better" kinda sarcastically.

The Wing Girl Method

“ I am your female friend and I am here to show you how to approach, attract and KEEP women interested, and give you the inside scoop on what she's really thinking...”

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

SO now a year later a mutual friend of ours from high school is getting married on Friday and I asked Jamie to go with me about a month or two ago and she said yes. She wasn't invited originally so she has to be a plus 1 to get in. There will be a ton of our friends there and I'm kinda regretting asking her to go with me. Everyone is telling me I shouldn't take her because of what she did to me last year. Just wondering why she didn't come to the first wedding and should I blow her off for the next one? Thanks!

Matt

Matt,

#1 – This girl is not into you, so let's get that out of the way. If she was she would not have disrespected you AND THEN blatantly shoved her disrespect in your face. Did she apologize or even acknowledge her behavior? I hope so because if not then she is no good in my book.

Please keep in mind that I am not saying X is mean, or a bitch. I am saying she is immature, uncomfortable and this led to her selfish, mean behavior.

X was not able to give you an honest answer, she had no guts to properly say no to the date and then had no respect to apologize for her actions. Again, no good.

Which leads me to, why would you want to ask her out again? Think about it?

Now you can stand up and realize what happened last year or you can relive the same situation again. I would say be strong, be a man, and show her how confident, strong people handle things.

My advice is to call her up and calmly tell her that you are going to need to break your plans with her and hope she understands. No need to explain.

If you do want to explain you can say that last years situation left a bad taste in your mouth and that you respect yourself too much to put yourself in that situation again. Reliability and honesty is very important to you and she showed that she had neither. Your re-invite was a lapse in your judgment.

If you are able to express this to her calmly and comfortably it will actually drive her crazy, she will doubt herself and actually become very attracted to you. I swear!

In the future, if someone does this to you and you find yourself in a similar situation, here is what you SHOULD do when you see "your ex date" sitting at the bar after telling you she was sick 4 hours earlier.

You walk up and say "can I talk to you for a minute". Then you lead her away from the group. You don't yell at her or act immaturely sarcastic but you let her know that you are the leader and that her actions disappointed you. You frown on childish behavior. Don't say this, but imply it with your tone. BE FIRM but kind.

You tell her "In the future, if you get yourself into situations you don't want to be in, just be honest with people and tell them. Dishonesty is not an attractive quality". That's all you have to say.

Note: She has absolutely no respect seeing that she showed up to the event. Classless. Seriously.

As long as you stay composed and know in your head that her actions were childish, you can feel proud that you did not invest more time in her.

So again, CANCEL THIS DATE WITH HER. Don't be mean, or rude or spiteful; just let her know it's not what you want anymore.

How Do I Ask A Woman On A Second Date?

Hi Marni,

I would like to know how you get second dates. Should I wait for the girl to suggest that we should see each other again? Because, I've read that advice from other dating "experts".

Is it OK to say, "I would like to do this or that, do you want to come with me?" Or something like that.

Carlo

Carlo,

Of course you can ask for second dates if you want to go on them. I do not agree with getting her to ask you because most women will not ask you and therefore you lose out!

LEAD!!! As the man, always lead. The more you lead, the more a woman will be inclined to follow. Why? Because when you lead and take on the masculine role, it allows a woman to fall into the feminine role. And that is what women want. To feel feminine.

Hi Marni,

Yes I took the lead. I invited her to the museum and she seemed glad I did so but... She invited her EX! I didn't know he was her ex at the time, just some friend, but still. A few days after, when I knew he was her ex, I decided to give up. She seemed to mixed-up. I don't wanna waste more energy on that but I wanted to understand WHY would she do such a thing?

Carlo

The Wing Girl Method

“ I am your female friend and I am here to show you how to approach, attract and KEEP women interested, and give you the inside scoop on what she's really thinking...”

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

Carlo,

Whoa, Whoa, Whoa!!!! She brought a guy, let alone an ex on your date?? Did you make it clear you were asking her on a date? Did she ask your permission to bring someone along?

The answers to these questions don't matter but the message behind them should. If you are not clear with your intentions then a woman is free to interpret how she pleases.

I have to be honest and say she probably knew you wanted to be alone with her but obviously did not want that. If she was into you, she would not have brought along another dude. To me it sounds like this was her subtle way of saying, "I'm not into you but I am open to being friends".

In the future if this situation happens again, get your self-respect back by saying "I'm asking you on a date and therefore want it to be just the two of us". If she does not feel comfortable with that then she will tell you. Honesty and being clear on what you want are the best time savers and money savers in the world.

Remember, you are always allowed to speak your mind as long as you do it from a calm, comfortable place. As soon as you get defensive or accusatory, you lose.

Marni

Is She Playing Games?

There's been some tension (good tension) between a co-worker and me. We tease each other; she asks me what's my type of girl, etc. Then she becomes distant for a day or two. Then she wants me to come to a concert with her but she'll be sitting with the sound crew. So, what kind of game is that? I've given up on her but I would like to know if it happens to me again.

Thank you

Do I NEED To Be Funny To Get The Girl?

I purchased your video and audio program What's Inside a Woman's Mind. First I have to say it was amazing to be able to hear how all those women really talk when men aren't around. It was great and I got a lot from it. I did have 1 question on something said. In the video with you and your friends, someone says that she wants to be approached in a fun way, with some funny comment.

Now, I understand that but there's not always something funny to comment about. Is it Ok to just go and say Hi! What's your name? Sometimes women say that they want men to be direct but also subtle... Confident but not cocky, etc. It's confusing you know!

Adam

Adam,

I totally understand how you could find that comment confusing and frustrating. It's not always easy to bring the funny. Especially when you are not naturally a banterer, over the top funny guy.

Basically what she was saying was that she doesn't want to be bored by you. She wants a man that brings something to the table. This does not mean you have to perform, be the entertainer or work really hard on making her feel good. It means you have to bring something to the table to add to her evening.

I have had many men who approach me and bring nothing to the table. No character, no energy, just a bag of nerves, no confidence and expect me to make all conversation. For me it feels like pulling teeth. It takes away from my night.

I am a nice girl and will give at least 5 minutes of my time to a man that has had the confidence to approach. I am pretty patient. Most women will not give you that time and if they do it will be followed by a lot of head nodding, one word answers and the hopes of finding an excuse to get away from you.

I go out to have fun. I work all day and when I go out I want to enjoy my evening not do more work. You know what I am saying?

Marni

Do Money, Social Status and Possessions Matter To Women?

Marni,

Do money, social status and possessions matter to women.

I always feel insecure if I meet a girl who has accomplished more than me or has a better job.

So, am I right or not?

Jordan

Jordan,

No it does not matter to most women.

What matters is when YOU let it affect YOU. When YOU get self conscious about it.

The Wing Girl Method

“ I am your female friend and I am here to show you how to approach, attract and KEEP women interested, and give you the inside scoop on what she's really thinking...”

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

Women are not bothered until you voice that you are bothered by your money, social status or possessions. If you are a negative, freeloading bum who complains about where he is in life but does not to change the situation then no women will find you attractive, at least not long term attractive.

But if you are positive about who you are, your job and what you have, then she will be too. As long as you are always remain true to who you are and strive for greatness, she will be happy. If not then you have to evaluate the person you are with.

Women want to know that they have a partner and that their partner is proactive about making a great life with and for her. That does not mean yachts and partying at clubs. It means character, support and love.

For those women that you date who you feel are more accomplished remember that you also have areas that you are accomplished in that she may not be. Never feel below another person. Learn to respect and acknowledge what you and others have achieved.

Did I Ruin My Chances By Getting Too Cute Too Soon?

Hey Marni,

If it is OK, may I ask you a question about a situation--specifically, if there is any way to recover from this?

I met a girl at Whole Foods last week. We have been trying to make plans to meet up for lunch and with her moving into her new place and things being hectic for her, and myself going home for the week to see my family, we agreed that it would have to be sometime the next week.

Anyway, I think I got too cute on a text (sent this AM):

"Hey how do you like your new place? Are you "stuffed animals on the bed" unpacked yet? (Yes even though you are this strong athletic girl, I can totally picture you keeping at least one stuffed animal...)"

The Wing Girl Method

“ I am your female friend and I am here to show you how to approach, attract and KEEP women interested, and give you the inside scoop on what she's really thinking...”

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

Didn't hear back from her, and I am a little concerned that my attempt to be funny might have been too much. (She is a tomboy, and she admitted when we met that she swears when she drives. But she does seem sort of feminine underneath...) She is also said she was hectic setting things up with the move... So maybe this text was off.

My plan is to just call her Sunday night. How does that sound?

Meanwhile, I hope you are well!

Mike

Mike

I will be honest with you. Text was a little creepy. The joke was not conveyed properly and it gave me an icky feeling. The text seemed a little premature and too cutesy to be texting to a girl you just met. It sounded like a boyfriend/girlfriend text. But from a new guy it's just creepy.

In the future, think before you text and think to yourself, am I texting to actually say something or am I texting to make sure she doesn't forget about me.

Texts that come from that "I hope she doesn't forget about me" place always fail UNLESS she is already into you.

The one thing to point out is that you guys had already said you were going to talk/hang out next week. Therefore there was no NEED to contact her. If you wanted to be sweet, you could have sent a simple (non creepy) text saying something like "so how did the move go?" or "successful move?" or "enjoying your new place?" and that's it.

If there was a connection with this girl she should be able to shake the text and move forward to actually meeting you.

Make sure you pull back a little and understand that just because a girl is into you and accepts an invite does not mean she is your girlfriend.

Do I Need To Have a Full Conversation With A Woman Before Asking Her Out?

Hey Marni

Just wanted to say you doing a great job and I love all the advice that you have been giving us guys.

I have a quick question for you. The other day I was waiting for my train and I saw this hot girl sitting down waiting for her train also so I went and sat next to her and a few seconds later our train arrived. So I didn't get to talk to her the thing is I could tell she could of been a little interested. And she even came and sat next me on the train.

My question is what would she or any woman for that fact do if I gave her my number and said, hi I would love to chat to you sometime but I have to get out on the next stop?

Would a woman call even after not having a conversation and just handing her your number?

Thanks

Nabil

Nabil, Nabil, Nabil!!!!

Next time you have an opportunity like this GET ON IT!!!!!! She sat next to you on train?? OMG it was like she was saying to you please pay attention to me :-)

If she had no interest in you, she would have made sure to sit FAR away from you, seeing as you had kind of made the first move by sitting next to her.

As a general rule for you, any time you see a woman you like, or even ones you don't like, start talking to them. If you like them then say, "listen, getting off at next stop but give me your number. I want to take you out for xxx."

If you don't get the chance to talk to them but want that chance then say the same thing.

You can meet women any-where and you are ALLOWED to talk to any woman you like. You are also ALLOWED to ask out any woman you like even if you haven't spoken to her for a long time. No limitations.

Don't let an opportunity like this pass by you again or I will hunt you down!!!!

How Do I Make Sure I Don't Get Too Drunk On A Date?

Marni,

I signed up for the How to Become the Man Women Want program. Sounds like one aligned with my needs.

I have a question about a habit I need to break. Too often on first dates I have too many drinks. More than others, alcohol hits me all at once. Because of that I just don't see it coming. And then my mood drops off a cliff and I come off depressed.

I know the primary answer is "stop drinking." I know. Any other advice that you give to men that drink too much on dates?

I definitely got a little too drunk at the end of my date last night with X (storyteller). And I really admire the successful people that say they don't drink at all.

Jonathan,

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

So obviously you know my first thoughts which you said STOP DRINKING SO DARN MUCH. But I know that can be tough. Nerves, she's drinking etc. I

It all comes down to what we have been talking about during our coaching call, SELF CONTROL.

It is totally fine to have one drink. In the beginning you can have one drink, sip slowly and then move onto soda water and lemon so your hand feels full.

I want to tell you a story about how “attempting to keep up” got me in trouble and I lost out on a great opportunity with a guy.

When I was younger I moved to Australia for a year. I met this one guy when I did side a trip to OZ really briefly at a hostel. He and I spoke for 10 minutes in the lobby while he waited his taxi. Later that day the front desk told me he had left me a note that read “Cute Canadian girl. Would like to get to know you better. Here is my email. See you back in OZ.”

We started emailing and this went on for 3 weeks and I was really starting to like him. When I got to Sydney we made plans to go on a date.

On our date I was nervous, so I drank. I also wanted to keep up with him, so I drank more. Keep in mind I am 5'3", 115 pounds and I was attempting to keep up with a guy who was 6 feet and built. I was never going to win.

I ended up getting really drunk and then abruptly said, “I gotta go” and left. I was so embarrassed. I'm usually not a drinker nor am I am ditcher.

Needless to say I never heard from him again.

My message is it's not worth it to let nerves get in the way on a date.

Remember you have to be proud of who you are before anyone else can be. If you don't want to drink then YOU DON'T WANT TO DRINK.

TIP: Drink clean drinks with soda water. Sugar makes alcohol go straight to your bloodstream, which makes you drunk faster, hangovers worse and depression greater.

Is She A Gold Digger?

Hey Marns

Let me ask you a question.

Hypothetical?

You have a relationship with a man. It, under all intensive purposes, is a reciprocal love/respect relationship. The guy comes into a situation where he is able to negotiate a scenario where his salary is basically doubled. He was doing well already. Now he is doing, well, obscenely well.

Do you think it is wrong for said man to feel insulted if, on mention of this advancement, that said woman starts discussing marriage?? Topic never mentioned before?

I personally feel this is a break up situation, but I'd love a woman's perspective!

Josh

Josh

Not at all. For numerous reasons. Do you think this is a gold digging scenario? I obviously do not know full details of story or the two parties involved BUT I do not think this is Gold Digger scenario. I actually think it is a very typical scenario that men and women experience.

I know that with my husband, his earnings were a big part of why we were not married. Or why we delayed marriage for 5 years. Not because I wanted him to earn more but because he wanted to earn more for himself before we got married.

You may or may not know this but men are very single focused. This means they focus on one goal at a time and when the goal is complete they are ready to battle the next goal. For my husband, his first goal was financial and career stability. He felt that once he obtained this goal then he would be “ready” to have/support/love a family. I was part of this second goal and after many conversations I knew that.

The Wing Girl Method

“ I am your female friend and I am here to show you how to approach, attract and KEEP women interested, and give you the inside scoop on what she's really thinking...”

Dating Secrets from the Female Mind

For this woman, she may have been waiting for him to get more settled and now that he is, she wants to go to the next stage as well.

Let me ask you a question? How is it ever bad when a woman wants to marry you? When she wants to give everything to you? Sounds pretty good to me! That means she thinks you are a great mate for life. Having everything balanced just makes her more confident in her choice for a partner.

It's not always black and white josh. If these “gold digger” qualities have never appeared before, then most likely she is not a gold digger. You have to also evaluate character and really try to understand where someone is coming from before jumping to conclusions. That's why communication, real communication is so important.

I must add that your conclusions were defensive, protective conclusions. Be careful of those as they can get you into trouble.

My advice is to tell this man to have a conversation with this woman about his fears. He must be sure to be calm and open, instead of protective and defensive. Give the woman a chance to explain her way of thinking.
