HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE!

You have just arrived in Brimfield and face a sea of dealers and merchandise. You are searching for Furniture and Sterling Silver. Begin your search by:

- 1. CATEGORIES: Begin your search by browsing the general category list on page 18. Choose a category and look for the heading listed alphabetically in this guide (pg 4).
- 2. DEALERS: are listed alphabetically under each category heading. Each dealer listing contains three columns of information. You will find the dealer's name, the name of the show (abbreviated) where they display, and their booth number.

Sample:

DEALER	SHOW	BOOTH
Furniture Tim's Antiques	Mays	800
Sterling & Silver Plate Slim's Silver	Quaker	1000

- 3. FINDING A DEALER: After finding a dealer in your chosen category, refer to the color show map on pages 12 & 13 for the show's location. The show schedule on page 2 is helpful as different shows open on different days and times.
- 4. OTHER HELPFUL TIPS: When you arrive at a particular show and still cannot find the dealer or merchandise you are looking for, try asking the show promoter or a fellow dealer. They can be very helpful. Remember that you can do a more detailed category search on BrimfieldExchange.com from the comfort of your home.

General Information: During Brimfield week BrimfieldExchange operates an information building located across from May's Antique Market on Route 20, and provides internet access, maps and complimentary trade publications.

Brimfield's Future

by Bob Wyss

Brimfield is dying, no one comes, prices are too high, quality is scarce, it rains too much, gas is expensive, the motels are price gouging, Brimfield is dead.

Do these refrains sound familiar? They are particularly popular during the July show at Brimfield when uncomfortably warm weather and other conditions tend to draw fewer dealers and customers. With more idle time, conjecture becomes rampant. I even heard complaints in May, when traffic boomed.

Over the last year I have given about 20 talks about my book about Brimfield at New England libraries, book stores and historical groups. One of the perennial questions is: how is the Internet affecting Brimfield?

The truth is that many of the complaints about Brimfield are true – except the one that the market is dead. Pecking away at a computer may be more comfortable and safer, but it can't be as enjoyable. You can't replace a colorful, living bazaar with a remote, sterile computer-drive auction. Customers need to hold, touch and examine an object. Marketplaces draw people not only to exchange and barter but to socialize. Brimfield is as much an event as a market.

Usually no one asks me how Brimfield could be improved. But everyone that comes to Brimfield has plenty of opinions, so here are mine:

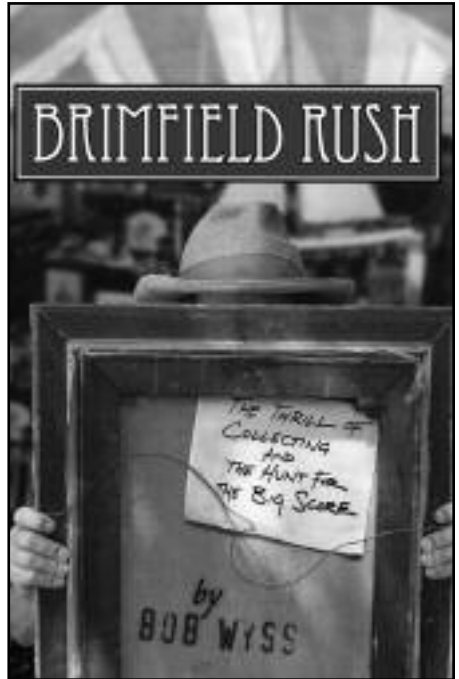

- Get better toilets.
- Make peace with Brimfield residents, who vary from tolerance to annoyance to those they call the “fleas.” A few years ago town officials scuttled a plan to build sidewalks and street lights on Route 20 because “fleas” don’t vote in local elections.
- Attract more retail customers.

I brought a tour bus in May from Rhode Island. I armed passengers with stories and survival hints on the way up. Few had ever been to Brimfield before. Most said they would return. How about Elderhostel, historical societies and country clubs?

- Find a way to work with eBay or other online companies. Brimfield could be promoted online and the computer company could promote itself at Brimfield.
- Think about shortening or getting rid of the July show. Perhaps additional days could be tacked on to May or September.
- Produce a single rush ticket, good for all fields.
- Convince the Congregational Church to bring back its Friday church supper.
- Advise drivers not to take Route 20 from Sturbridge. For many, there are other routes.

I’m sure you have better ideas. The key is for someone or group to act. The glory days may be gone, but I’m hopeful that new ones can be found.

Bob Wyss is the author of Brimfield Rush, the Thrill of Collecting and the Hunt for the Big Score, by Commonwealth Editions now in paperback. Copies in hard cover are available at the BrimfieldExchange booth across from May's Antique Market.
