EXAMPLE OF ROS WEBSITE PAGE

The screenshot displays the PCMA website's 'Industry Content & Media' section. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the PCMA logo and links for ABOUT, EVENTS, MEMBERSHIP, ENGAGE, JOBS, CHAPTERS, and MY PCMA. Below the navigation, a blue header reads 'Industry Content & Media'. The main content area features an article titled 'This New Tool Can Simplify Your Webinars and Extend Your Event's Reach'. The article includes a large image of a hand pointing at a digital interface with charts and a world map. To the right of the article is a 'Recent Posts' sidebar with three entries: 'The Events Industry Council Shares Top 5 Industry Trends', 'San Diego Holds Onto Top 5 Ranking for Conventions', and 'Google's I/O Youth Conference Teaches Tech to Kids in Mountain View'. Below the article is a 'More Features Arriving Soon' section with a paragraph of text and a 'Register for the launch' link. Social media icons for Twitter, Google+, Facebook, LinkedIn, and YouTube are located below the text. A 'DALLAS DELIVERS' banner with a 'LEARN MORE' button is positioned to the right of the article. At the bottom of the page, there is a 'Related Posts' section with six article thumbnails. A footer banner at the very bottom reads 'THE START OF GREAT MEETINGS STARTS WITH US.' and includes logos for CHICAGO, UNITED, and AIRLINES.

More Features Arriving Soon

The initial rollout of INXPO STUDIO can pay immediate dividends for event organizers, but Lawless told me that additional features added soon will provide greater benefits. In Q3 INXPO will add API-level integrations with YouTube and Facebook so that the high-quality video from STUDIO will automatically sync with the biggest social-streaming platforms. A multilingual closed-captioning tool will also help event organizers aiming to satisfy global audiences. Perhaps the coolest feature is a mobile presentation tool. "I'll be able to turn on my iPhone and present from anywhere," Lawless said. "Whether you're hosting a webinar or live-streaming part of an annual conference, you'll be able to add more voices to the conversation. All you'll need is an iPhone and an internet connection."

Want to see how INXPO STUDIO looks and feels? Register for the launch to see how it can simplify your webcasting needs.

Predicting 2017

Here is what you need to know to success in this year's 'customer-led, digital-centric' market.

by Deborah Seaton
January 3, 2017 — Leave a Comment

As a kid, did you ever have a Magic 8 Ball? You'd ask a yes/no question (say, "Will I get a puppy this year?"), shake the replica of a black billiard ball, turn it over, and your fortune-telling answer would pop up on a screen—"Outlook Good" or "Not Likely" were some common responses.

January is the time of year when Magic 8 Balls seem especially appealing, even as adults. Will I get a new job this year? Will my business expand? Thankfully, there are some expert resources that can give us insightful predictions about what the business world can expect in 2017—including Forrester, a research and advisory firm that surveys more than 500,000 consumers and business leaders worldwide.

According to Forrester's Predictions 2017 brief, "Against the backdrop of political commotion, Brexit, cyberskirmishes, and a muted economic recovery, the grinding gears of the market are moving forward, and the consequences of a customer-led, digital-centric market are becoming clearer. Virtually all competitive markets are on the move.... Adventurous, experimental, and downright tickle behavior—once thought of as 'Millennials being Millennials'—has gone mainstream."

Here are a few that stood out to me as having relevance to our industry:

"More than one-third of businesses will restructure to shift to customer-obsessed operations."

Moving away from siloed structures with a good deal of internal control is a complicated process, but aligns with today's customer-led marketplace.

"Your customers are more aware of, wary of, and frustrated with security and privacy risk, and you will increasingly gain or lose affinity based on how much they trust your company."

The chances of a privacy breach at our meetings are increasing — and the stakes are higher if they do. Those who take the steps now to protect their stakeholders will avoid potentially harsh repercussions, and possibly reap rewards.

"CEOs will exit 30 percent of their CMOs for not mastering the blended skill set of design and analytics."

There should be a healthy balance of right-brain skills in designing customer experiences and left-brain skills in mastering technology and analytics. While this prediction sounds a bit severe, there's much to be said for developing your digital skills and/or bringing in new talent to assist.

That said, Forrester's Predictions 2017 brief expects that certain jobs "will continue to be in negative unemployment, putting immense strain on talent management and talent acquisition." Among those roles most in demand? Data scientists, experience designers, and storytellers. You may need to look long and hard for someone with these skills, and if you've got them yourself, you're in a good place!

Rosen Plaza's Recipe for Successful Events to the challenge of expertly transforming the more traditional spaces such as the ballroom and salons with unique culinary themes. For example, McMillan was once asked to create a "mad scientist" bar for 2,000 conference attendees who had only a one-hour break from sessions. He and his team prepared six buffet stations that included spritzing fruit kebabs, hot marshmallow blowing into balloons, and a liquid nitrogen-carbonation station. "It was a challenge to offer creative food to so many people in such a short amount of time, but it worked well and was a lot of fun," McMillan said.

Of course, the Rosen standard of service excellence is a consistent presence throughout any event, whether a small group or an in-house convention. "From the moment I first met the team during our site visit to the last moment of our second event," McMillan said, "the team — and they work as a real team — had prepared every detail to 'next perfection'."

Add in Rosen Plaza's convenient location — connected to the Orange County Convention Center via the Gary Sater Memorial Skybridge and just a short stroll across the street to International Drive's Pointe Orlando shopping, dining, and entertainment complex — and you've got the final ingredient for your most successful event in Orlando.

Webinar: Maximizing Mental Agility

Using your knowledge

- People solve problems by using knowledge
- The power of analogy
- Retrieving analogies when you need them

Effective thinking is not just an inborn talent whose effectiveness is measured on tests. Indeed, scores on IQ tests predict only about 10% of the difference in performance between people in thinking situations. Psychology research suggests that there is a three-part formula to effective thinking. The most agile thinkers have good habits that allow them to maximize the quality of their knowledge and to use that knowledge when they need it. In this webinar, Dr. Markman will explore the research behind these aspects of effective thinking and will provide specific tips to develop new thinking habits and to make the people around you smarter.

- Our thought and memory capacity is organized around 3 items at a time.
- We can turn understanding causes into more powerful thinking that help us re-use old ideas in new situations so as to be consistently more creative.
- To improve the quality of what we remember by actively managing the quality of what we learn.

Below the navigation bar, there's a secondary menu with categories like 'Career', 'Big Ideas', 'Event Design', 'Technology', 'Logistics', 'Places + Spaces', 'Magazine', and a 'Subscribe' button. The main content area features a podcast article titled 'Is This the Future of Conferences?' in large, bold, orange text. The article is by Ashley Milne-Tytle, dated February 7, 2017. A quote from Charlie Melcher is featured: "If you're going to have people come to a live event, then let's celebrate their being alive. And asking them to sit silently, passively in the dark for hours at an end is not celebrating their being alive." Below the quote is a 'Listen:' section with an audio player showing 'Intro music composed by David McMillin'. The article text discusses Charlie Melcher's career in book publishing and his company, Melcher Media, which releases apps, short films, and other digital media. On the right side of the page, there's a newsletter sign-up form with the text 'Get the Convene weekly newsletter.' and a 'Sign Up' button.
