About Us

OUR MISSION

The attorneys and staff of Legal Aid at Work deliver on the promise of justice for low-income workers and their families.

HOW WE WORK

Legal Aid at Work advances justice and economic opportunity using four main strategies:

- We provide free services across California through our clinics and helplines;
- We offer extensive practical legal information concerning civil and employment rights in trainings and online;
- We advocate for policies at the local, state, and national levels that strengthen the rights of low-income people; and
- We enforce civil and employment rights by litigating in state and federal court.

THE PEOPLE WE SERVE

We help low-income people facing discrimination and other unlawful practices. Many live far from any free legal service provider. Our clients include:

- Undocumented immigrants
- People of color
- Limited-English speakers
- Domestic violence survivors
- Caregivers
- Girls seeking equal athletic opportunities
- LGBT individuals
- Pregnant women, new parents, working families
- People with disabilities
- Military veterans
- People seeking unpaid wages or help with unemployment insurance claims

THE GOALS OF OUR PROGRAMS

The Work and Family Program promotes the health, well-being and economic security of low-income families. We protect the rights of pregnant women, parents, caregivers, and survivors of domestic and sexual violence and stalking to care for themselves and their loved ones without risking their jobs and income.

The Racial Equality Program provides legal assistance to individuals and groups of employees who encounter barriers to employment, problems at work, or discriminatory hiring or employment practices because of their race. Central issues include employers wrongfully leveraging an individual's credit report, criminal record, or arrest history.

Our National Origin and Immigrants' Rights Program protects and expands the employment rights of undocumented workers and those who face discrimination because of their ethnicity, or where they or their families come from — or because of linguistic, religious or other traits tied to national origin.

The Gender Equity and LGBT Rights Program seeks to end sex-based discrimination by advancing the rights of low-wage women and families; lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender individuals; military families and veterans; survivors of harassment and domestic and sexual violence; and other under-represented workers and students.

Fair Play for Girls in Sports, a project of the gender program, promotes the health, safety, well-being, educational achievement, and future employment opportunities of girls in grades K through 12 by advocating for equity in public sports programs.

Our Disability Rights Program advances the civil rights of people with disabilities in employment, education, and public services. We defend individuals who face barriers and discrimination in the workplace, schools, and public facilities. We provide free legal advice and referrals and bring individual and class actions.

Our Wage Protection Program empowers workers in low-wage industries to attain economic security for themselves and their families by enforcing legal protections against wage theft and labor trafficking and by helping eligible workers obtain unemployment insurance.

Our Workers' Rights Clinic leverages the pro bono time of attorneys specialized in employment law to train law students to counsel workers with concerns about their treatment at work. The clinic operates in eight locations and offers appointments by phone and is continuing to expand.
