Location

The Property is located in Bayswater, in west London. Bayswater falls within the administrative boundaries of the City of Westminster and borders Notting Hill to the west, Paddington to the east, the A40 (Westway) to the north and Queensway to the south.

Local road connections are good, with good vehicular access available to the wider Greater London area and the national motorway network. A principal east-west vehicular route across the capital is provided by the A40 (Westway), which becomes Euston Road (A501) to the west and merges with the M40 to the west. This is accessible within approximately 0.25 miles of the property. North to south routes in the vicinity include the A5 (Edgware Road), which provides access to the wider West End as well as the M1 to its northern most extension, and is accessible within circa 1 mile to the east of the Property.

The nearest underground stations are Royal Oak (Hammersmith & City Line, Zone 2), which is approximately 250 yards to the north, Bayswater (District & Circle Lines) and Queensway (Central Line), both provide access to Zone 1 underground connections and are accessible within approximately 0.5 miles to the south. The nearest mainline rail station is approximately 0.5 miles to the east, at Paddington, providing access to Hammersmith & City, District & Circle Line Underground services as well as comprehensive mainline rail services to the West Country and the Midlands. There is also a comprehensive bus network connecting the local area with most neighbouring districts of central London.

Bayswater is currently benefitting from significant investment and regeneration, including the £1 billion re-development of Whitley's shopping centre by Foster and Partners, into The Whitley London, a new luxury residential and retail development and the UK's first Six Senses Hotel and Spa, and Park Modern, a new luxury development of 54 apartments by Fenton Whelan where prices being achieved range between £3000 and £5000 per sq. foot. Paddington is also on the new Crossrail line.
