LEE WILLIAMSON, LITTLE WALTER, SONNY BOY WILLIAMSON, AND BILLY BOY HIMSELF

featuring Billy Boy Arnold
Star Licks

Billy Boy Arnold is an unparalleled source of historical information about the development of the harmonica in this century. After delivering an informative and entertaining introduction about the instrument he loves, Billy walks and talks viewers through the important aspects of the playing styles of both Sonny Boys and the two Walters. Each artist's work is demonstrated by a performance with rhythm section backing and then a clear, concise explanation. Topics covered include playing in first, second and third positions, note bending, trills, back-up accompaniment and playing minor blues. Billy shows it all with diatonic and chromatic harmonicas, spicing his musical analysis with anecdotes and his gentle humor. The terrific video, along with an accompanying booklet with the main musical examples transcribed, makes this the definitive method for learning classic Chicago blues harmonica. 58 minutes.

BUDDY RICH - AT THE TOP

Hudson Music

Recorded at the Top of the Plaza in Rochester, New York on February 6, 1973, and captures drum legend Buddy Rich in his absolute prime. Syndicated by PBS in that year, it was the first time thousands of drummers were exposed to Buddy in a full-length concert setting, and many drummers continue to name this program as a prime influence on their own playing. Not seen in its entirety since it was first broadcast, it remains one of the most sought-after shows ever recorded by Buddy. It includes definitive versions of "Love for Sale," the odd time signature-laden "Time Check," his famed "Norwegian Wood," "Basically Blues," and the astonishing closer "West Side Story." Also features a rare bonus clip: an unbelievable unaccompanied drum solo, not seen since its broadcast in May of 1978! Special DVD Features: Three rare bonus clips of Buddy, including his appearance as a "mystery guest" on What's My Line from 1974, a television performance on the Sid Mark Show, and a solo from one of his very last performances at Disneyland in 1984. Featuring Quincy Jones, Dizzy Gillespie, Ella Fitzgerald, Norman Granz and more
VIEW Video

In Peterson's own articulate voice we hear stories of the man who made the music and the times that made the man: making history with Norman Granz's Jazz at the Philharmonic, the clashes with racism that faced him and his racially-mixed trio, and a lifetime of performances with a who's-who of jazz. Insightful moments at the Peterson family's reunion disclose the personal price of greatness paid by Oscar and his relatives, distanced by the pianist's commitment to his music and his years of life on the road. A personal look at a technical virtuoso and master of swing whose life has been shaped by the ambition to honor his father's credo: "Be the best." 2 Tapes - 51 minutes each.

BRASS INSTRUCTION

CANADIAN BRASS – INSIDE BRASS NEW DVD

Music education has always been a Canadian Brass top priority. The group started by performing 200 in-school concerts yearly, several of the artists in the group come from families of music teachers, and all of them got their own starts in public school music programs. This DVD compiles three Canadian Brass educational programs in a single source – Strings, Winds and All That Brass (motivational message: “Participate and Don’t Give Up”), Master Class (hands-on guidance to performance improvement), and Brass Spectacular (on-camera meeting of musical greatness).

THE CANADIAN BRASS MASTER CLASS

Canadian Brass

A fascinating educational program, showing five of the world’s master brass players working closely with students on specific performance issues. The video goes beyond information – it will serve as an inspiration to any aspiring student at any level. Besides the instructional aspects of the tape, the viewer gets a conversational, informal glimpse of the individuals who comprise this renowned ensemble. In three sections: Posture and Breathing, Tonguing and Embouchure, and Music Performance – Playing with an Ensemble. 60 minutes.

Canadian Brass

The most powerfully persuasive inspirational tool that any band or orchestra recruitment program could ever hope for! With the Canadian Brass as guides, junior high school musicians enthusiastically and intelligently share their musical experience and resulting personal rewards. This video was produced to show the cultural value of music and music education. Famed trumpeter Wynton Marsalis makes a guest appearance, as do members of the New York Philharmonic and Boston Symphony. This tape is truly inspirational, and would be a perfect component in a sales program, or a recruiting program, shown to students or parents. Color, stereo.

BRASS PERFORMANCE

BOOTLEG CANADIAN BRASS CONCERT: AUTHORIZED VERSION

This was going to be it – the last concert that these five members of the Canadian Brass would be sharing. Fred was leaving the group, and Jens Lindemann, the new trumpet player, was in town to hear and see the show. Unbeknownst to the group, Gene’s son Keith Watts had seized this moment of history, organizing a bootleg video shoot (later authorized by Gene) to capture the excitement. The result is this brilliant program displaying the Canadian Brass at its most entertaining. From the delightful commentaries of Chuck and Gene to the most important work in the Brass Quintet repertoire, Bach’s Tocatta and Fugue in D minor arranged by Fred. Also includes: Just a Closer Walk with Thee • Music from the Royal Fireworks • Sugar Blues • Carmen (Suite) • Tuba Tiger Rag • and more.

with Julie Lyonn Lieberman on violin (assisted by Martha Colby on cello)
Huisku Music

The string community is in the midst of a stylistic metamorphosis. Scores are incorporating scales, rhythms, ornaments, and textural ideas from the music of the world. Over eighteen string styles have surged in popularity, including blues, swing, rock, old time, Celtic, Cajun, Cape Breton, Flamenco, Gypsy and Latin, to name a few.

Whether you want to learn a new style, be ready for anything that comes up at a jam session, or meet the demands of new orchestral scores with ease, this video will help you develop the necessary right-hand skills. Julie Lyonn Lieberman has examined the technical demands of all the alternative styles and organized the most essential right-hand skills into one video.

Part I – The Bow Hand includes demonstrations on violin and cello: basic bow hold • muscle isolation exercises (fingers, dome, wrist, and forearm) • paradiddles: twos and threes • clipped bows • upbows and syncopation • swells, surges and scoops • rhythmizing the bow • rock ponticello • swing bowings and fiddle bowings including shuffle stroke, the whip, the Flamenco flick and cross-bow patterns • playing healthy • and more!

Part II – The Left Hand covers: basic set-up • thumb hinge • trampoline fingers • chromatic motion • vibrato • ornaments (trills, slides, grace notes, turns, jazz embellishments) • double stops (unisons, octaves and chords) • playing on chord changes • walking bass • slap technique • and more.

REMEMBRANCES OF
KANSAS CITY SWING

Narrated by Harry Belafonte Rhapsody Films

Featuring Jesse Davis, David “Fathead” Newman, Ron Carter, Christian McBride, Tyrone Clark, Don Byron, Russel Malone, Mark Whitfield, Victor Lewis, Geri Allen, Cyrus Chesnut, James Carter, Craig Handy, David Murray, Joshua Redman, Curtis Fowlkes, Clark Gayton, Olu Dara, Nicholas Payton, James Zollar, Kevin Mahogany.

“In the midst of making his film Kansas City, Robert Altman decided to recreate an all-night jam session as it might have taken place in a Kansas City club during the Depression era. The city, Mr. Altman’s hometown, was a magnet for great jazz musicians. Mr. Altman, who was 9 years old in 1934, places his film in the Hey Hey Club, letting the musicians rule triumphantly. The music, covering composers from Count Basie to Duke Ellington, is toe-tapingly seductive. In no time at all, it’s easy to forget that this is not some archival film but a modern reinterpretation of classic jazz with enormously talented musicians of today. There is a ‘battle of the saxes,’ which actually took place between the legendary tenor saxophonists Coleman Hawkins and Lester Young. The recreation by Craig Handy and Joshua Redman is nothing short of thrilling.”

– John J. O’Connor, The New York Times.

Songs performed include: Tickle Toe • Indiana • Solitude • Blues in the Dark • Prince of Wails • Froggy Bottom • Harvard Blues • King Porter Stomp • Lafayette • Lullaby of the Leaves • Piano Boogie • Pagin’ the Devil • Moten Swing • Queer Notions • Yeah Man. 75 minutes.

JOHN DENVER – A PORTRAIT

Cherry Lane Music

John Denver is one of the best-known musicians of our times, and the songs he sings are among the best-loved melodies ever, from “Sunshine on My Shoulder” to “Calypso” to “Annie’s Song.” John’s songs evoke images of the simplicity of nature and the complexity of human emotions, yet they also display a concern for a wide range of environmental and political issues. In this video portrait, John Denver takes the viewer on a tour of songs that have spanned his entire career: from the inspiration of “Rocky Mountain High” to the political concerns of “Let Us Begin (What Are We Making Weapons For).” He shares the stories behind the songs, offering glimpses into both his craft and his private life. Also featured are segments from John’s enormously popular TV specials and his reflections on his acting career. Truly, this collection is one that both long-time fans and lovers of America’s most beloved music can treasure as an intimate look at one of the finest entertainers of this or any other generation. 60 minutes.

AUDIO TECHNOLOGY

THE ART OF MIXING - VIDEO BOXED SET

by David Gibson
ArtistPro

The #1 all-time bestselling book on mixing comes to life in over three and a half hours of vivid, detailed animated instruction in this great new two-video set! With Gibson's exclusive 3D visual framework, you'll learn the right way to create every style of mix for any style of music. Video 1 focuses on the visual representations of audio imaging and studio equipment. It provides an introduction to the visual framework achieved from representing sounds in mixes. Covers: the specific correlations between audio parameters and video parameters, volume (front/back), panning (left/right), frequency (up/down), and time. It also gives descriptions and visuals of the functions of compressors, limiters, noise gates, equalization, delays, flanging, chorusing, phasing and reverb. Video 2 uses the visual framework introduced in the first video to explain how to use studio equipment to create various types of mixes. It teaches viewers the basic concept of making a mix that is appropriate for the music and song, and lets them explore the complete range of possibilities available to the engineer in a mix using volume, panning, EQ and effects.
