*The above tucking chart is only a guide to DSG’s minimum standards as you work with smaller sizes or product categories. It is up to the vendor to make the sure the appropriate tuck is used to accommodate the product.

Examples are listed on the next page.

Double Tuck Clips Inside

Single tucking, the tuck is always in front
For smaller product start at the back clipping one in/one out with exposed clip in the back.
To determine the back, garment is hung on rack with front facing to the left
Work to the front of the garment and pull tight
If front can be tucked clip inside. If there is no tuck continue to clip one in/one out

Clip one in/one out on all non-tucked sides
All exposed clips should face behind the garment so when hung on the rack they are not visible
Product is always displayed with the front facing left on the rack

Product should not “droop” on the hanger
Drooping indicates one additional tuck should be used.

For no tuck move to single tuck
For single tuck move to double tuck

Side seem should remain in the center, do not over tuck the front so the side seem is too far forward

No material should hang over end of hanger.
Excessive material indicates incorrect clipping and a tuck is necessary

5.3.2 Hanger Order Forms

Order forms from our 3 approved hanger suppliers can be found on www.dsgfreight.com. You may only order the hanger styles listed on the order form for Dick's Sporting Goods. The use of any other non-approved hanger may be subject to a compliance fee.

DSG does not accept branded hangers or any unique hanger for another retailer. When receiving your hangers it is the vendor's responsibility to ensure the hanger supplier shipped the correct hanger. It is not DSG's responsibility if you use the wrong hanger supplied by the hanger companies.

The use of the CG series hanger is not approved by DSG. This hanger is 484, however it is a C series and has a smooth front surface. See example below
