REQUIRED WCDE Common Formative Assessments (CFAs)

State Assessment Information:

- Seventh grade students will participate in Part I of the state assessment in April 2018 in which students will encounter complex texts and prompts requiring evidence to support their writing. More information will be provided throughout the school year. For updates, visit the "Assessment" tab at www.tn.gov/education.
- To prepare for Part I of the writing assessment, students must have opportunities to develop keyboarding skills, build stamina for reading complex texts, and regular practice writing sources.
 Teachers are to spend several weeks of instruction on a type of writing during Writing Workshop in class daily.
- In an effort to make the best use of resources, our district will employ curriculum and strategies from Lucy Calkins' Units of Study for Writing, as well as SRSD and Writing to Sources. Utilize the timeline provided in the pacing guides to ensure adequate practice with narrative, informational/explanatory, and argument writing before the April administration of Part I of the state assessment.

*Please note these are the minimum requirements for writing instruction and assessment. Teachers are encouraged to supplement writing instruction based on the needs of the students. Additional stimuli and prompts can be found at the eduTOOLBOX.org website.

WCDE Common Formative Assessment Information:

- WCDE Common Formative Assessments (CFAs) reflect the shifts of the Tennessee Standards and emphasize the following skills:
 - o Reading and comprehending grade-level complex text
 - Writing in response to sources, including incorporating textual evidence into an analysis or argument
- WCDE CFAs will be structured as follows:
 - o Students will read two complex informational texts. Texts will cover social studies or science topics in order to demonstrate the range of informational reading possible in a rigorous curriculum.
 - o Students will answer comprehension questions designed to promote thinking and understanding of the text prior to the writing prompt.
 - Students will write one essay about both texts. The essay will be narrative, informational/explanatory, or opinion based.
- WCDE Common Formative Assessments (CFAs) are to be administered at the BEGINNING of each Writing-to-Sources genre study. Copies of student assessments will be delivered from Midway prior to each assessment window. Teachers may read aloud directions for each assessment. Teachers are to score these assessments using the trait-based rubrics from the state department.

After scoring each assessment, teachers will conference with individual students to determine strengths and areas to strengthen in reading and writing. Record assessment data on the ELA Student Profile Folder, as seen in the table below. Then file the student's work in the ELA Student Profile Folder. Use the information from student results to inform writing instruction for the remainder of the genre study.

Optional Instructional Units

CURRICULUM UNITS

Teachers may choose to use the units as curricular resources to support the Tennessee State Standards. Units are composed of multiple texts in which students use claims, evidence, and reasoning to share their thinking in understanding concepts. Unit activities have been built to encourage creativity and leadership development with the goal of empowering students with awareness and responsibility of their own learning. The units are strongly focused on deep analysis of texts in ways that encourage the expression and defense of personal thinking. Approaches to literacy focus on independent questioning of texts, making one's own claims about texts and defending them with evidence, developing inquiry questions and employing independent research to deepen understanding, and constructing personal logical arguments to explain one's perspective.

The units are not intended to be comprehensive curricula. Instead, teachers should see these units as an extended, rigorous series of activities focused on building a discrete set of student skills. We have deliberately chosen units that emphasize some of the key shifts—and greatest areas of need for our students—such as comprehending complex informational texts, following the contours of a nuanced argument, and incorporating textual evidence into writing.

The sequence of instruction has been designed to engage all students in instruction aligned to the Tennessee State Standards. The text choices in this series combined with a purposeful sequence of instruction in each unit work together to bring ALL students, including ELL students and those reading below grade level, into productive struggle with texts, collaborative conversation, and evidence-based writing. Activities, pedagogical notes, worksheets, and handouts have been designed to aid the learning of diverse students.

ODELL Education

The Developing Core Proficiencies Curriculum is an integrated set of English Language Arts/Literacy units spanning grades 6-12. Funded by the USNY Regents Research Fund, the free curriculum is comprised of a series of four units at each grade level that provide direct instruction on a set of literacy proficiencies at the heart of the Common Core State Standards. Each unit highlights core literacy proficiency and provides approaches, instructional sequences, handouts, tools and texts for developing independent mastery and creative critical thinking in students. To access Odell Education visit http://odelleducation.com/literacy-curriculum or click the links below to access the units.

Odell Units:

Suggested –Units of Study in Argument, Information, and Narrative Writing

Unit Writing Assessment Tools:

- ➤ On-Demand Performance Assessment Prompts
- > Learning Progressions
- Student Writing Checklists
- > Teaching Rubrics
- Annotated Writing Developed through the Progression

In an effort to make the best use of resources, our district will utilize both Lucy Calkins- Units of Study in Argument, Information, and Narrative Writing instruction, and assessment techniques as well as writing assessments provided by WCDE. Please note: The Units of Study will be taught out of the order in which they appear in the Assessment, Instruction and Unit Schedule. Utilize the timeline provided to ensure adequate practice with informational/explanatory and Argument writing before the February administration of Part I of the TNReady assessment.

Each unit of study book represents about five weeks of instruction. Reference the sample pacing schedule located on the inside front cover of each unit of study book. Students can publish a piece of writing at the end of each unit of study. Teachers will use the teaching rubrics found in *Writing Pathways: PerformanceAssessments and Learning Progressions to score the published writing.

All the tools you need to assess your students' writing—and have students assess themselves—can be found in Writing Pathways: Performance Assessments and Learning Progressions. To become familiar with the different tools available to you, you might first read pp. 4–9 in Writing Pathways. This will provide you with an overview of each tool, and how the tools work together to form a robust assessment system.

On-Demand Performance Assessment Prompts:

These three prompts (narrative, information, and argument) direct students to compose the best piece of writing they can in a fixed period of time. The resulting pieces can then be assessed using the learning progressions and rubrics.

Learning progressions:

These are written to communicate expectations to students and teachers. These learning progressions not only help you track students' progress across the three kinds of writing, locating a student's current level of work and the next steps the student should take, but they also help you see the cross-currents between the three types of writing, so that you can help a student realize that lessons learned in narrative writing can transfer to information writing, and so forth.

Student Writing Checklists:

Student-friendly checklists for each type of writing are located in The Units of Study: Writing Pathways. The writing checklists help students become independent evaluators of their own writing. These checklists allow students to assess their own writing and set goals. After completing a genre, students use the appropriate genre checklist to remind themselves of the teaching points shared during instruction. Students then compare their genre writing sample to the areas identified on the checklist. If choosing to use these checklists, please file results in the ELA Student Profile Folder. Use this information to adjust instruction.

Teaching Rubrics:

These rubrics, grounded in the learning progressions, use numbers corresponding to grade levels and give appropriate weight to each category, so that you can derive a point score for each student's work in a particular type of writing, as well as track students' progress statistically. The grade-specific rubrics (provided for each genre) can be used to assess both on demand writing and students' published writing. If choosing to use these rubrics, please file results in the ELA Student Profile Folder. Use this information to adjust instruction.

Annotated Writing Developed through the Progression:

Leveled Writing Examples-Two sets of carefully selected benchmark student writing samples for each type of writing, at each grade level. The two texts at each grade represent different but equivalent ways for a student to be "at standard" for that grade level.

Setting Up and Provisioning the Writing Workshop

Teaching writing does not require elaborate materials or special classroom arrangements. However, you will want to consider how you might set up your classroom for an effective writing workshop. You will want to have a space for gathering (the meeting area); a space for writing and conferring (work areas); and a writing center (to house writing tools and resources). For more on provisioning a writing workshop, see Chapter 5 in the Guide to the Common Core Writing Workshop.

Structures and Management Systems

To teach writing, you need to establish the structures and expectations that ensure that all students will continue working throughout the writing workshop on their own. For more on structures and management, see Chapter 6 in the Guide to the Common Core Writing Workshop.

Connection:

Today we will be introducing to the Writer's Notebook. "The Writer's Notebook is the "tool" we use during Writer's Workshop. Today we will take a look at the WRITER'S NOTEBOOK, a place for you write down, collect and develop our ideas and thoughts about the world, things that are of interest to you, things you know a lot about but want to know more and real world topics you LOVE. The notebook is the place to sketch, draw, jot, list and write about what we see, hear feel and observe in the world. Today we are going to set up our Writer's Notebooks for our independent writing."

Teaching:

For the next two days, we will use these skills to create writings in our notebooks.

Text to Use "What Is A Writer's Notebook Anyway?" from Ralph Fletcher's: A Writer's Notebook: Unlocking the Writer Within You.

- 1. Bring YOUR OWN notebooks and take the students on a tour of you notebook, talking with them about your own "writing lives". Demonstrate how your notebook is personalized with artifacts that reflect who you are as a writer (photos, pictures, quotes etc...) Show how you document your writing with your name and date for each entry. Read a few excerpts from your entries.
- 2. READ ALOUD/THINK ALOUD: Read "What Is A Writer's Notebook Anyway?" to the students focusing on the quote: "A writer's notebook gives you a place to live like a writer, not just in school during writing time, but wherever you are, at any time of the day.

Active Engagement:

TRY IT CHART: WHAT IS A WRITER'S NOTEBOOK ANYWAY/ WHAT DOES IT LOOK LIKE? WHAT DOES IT SOUND LIKE?

"When I say NOW, make a list of ways you will make your WRITER'S NOTEBOOK your own in your notebook, using the chart to as a tool to help. When you hear 5-4-3-2-1, share your list with your partner."

Link:

Since we will be using our Writer's Notebooks every day, let's start now. You have 10 - 15 minutes to create and design your WRITER's NOTEBOOK. Think about the cover, both front and back, think about the first page. For your first entry on your first page, you can write about having YOUR OWN WRITER'S NOTEBOOK."

Debrief:

Select two to three students to share their notebooks and how they went about creating their notebooks.
