For more than 25 years, we have helped clients with their facilities in all 50 U.S. states and in over 40 countries around the world. Our Mission is to provide facility managers and owners with progressive and innovative solutions to facility life cycle challenges. Our Vision is to shape the future of how facilities are managed, operated, maintained and sustained. We do this by improving the way YOU manage facilities. We help our clients create safer and healthier environments, maximize the life of their physical assets, and optimize the facility management organization. Each of these three key practice areas are supported by our belief that you need a well-trained facility staff armed with the right knowledge, skills, abilities and competency. Our core services start with understanding the performance of facility assets, managing those assets with effective facility management, use of space, safety and security planning, efficient operational practices, training, and staff development. We believe in understanding: What you have, how you use it, and your future needs. Our leadership team is regularly engaged to help develop facilities standards, teach, present and guide industry organizations including the International Facility Management Association (IFMA), APPA — Leadership in Educational Facilities, American Society for Industrial Security (ASIS), Building Owners and Managers Association (BOMA), the American Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air-Conditioning Engineers (ASHRAE), and many other organizations that support facility management. Our commitment to thought leadership, knowledge sharing, and innovation allows FEA to learn and share best practices and to participate in standard-setting with organizations such as ISO and others. Galloway offers an opportunity to invest your workday in something that makes communities all across the country better places to live. It's an opportunity to invest in yourself and to grow your future. From your first day of work at Galloway, you're going to see where you can go — where your potential can take you. We're a legacy company and that means you can spend less time figuring out how to get to that next great job, because you'll already be in the job that can take you there. From picking your mentor, to direct access to relevant resources, to help with balancing work and homelife, we come alongside and consider it an important part of our job to help you love your job. At Galloway we have a hard work ethic and that's why we're nationally recognized. But, we're locally preferred because we also have a reputation for the big-hearted, good-natured and compassionate contributions we make as vested members of our communities.

Geocal, Inc. is a professional services engineering firm established in 1989 providing expertise in construction management, inspection and testing services, as well as geotechnical engineering. In our 30 years of operation, we have completed over 6,000 projects in Colorado and the western United States with most projects located along the Front Range of Colorado. Our projects are primarily associated with infrastructure and transportation design and construction for CDOT, counties and cities, and other municipalities. Our corporate office is in Centennial and we have two, branch offices in Colorado Springs and Loveland, Colorado. Geocal currently employs professional engineers, engineering interns, geologists, construction managers, inspectors, technicians and laboratory staff. Our company is led by individuals who believe you should manage things and lead people. We believe in guiding and assisting our team, not just sitting back and telling them what to do. For this reason, we look for people who want to be a Stakeholder, not just an employee. This is someone who believes they have a stake in the success of the company; they think like an owner. They take ownership of the project to which they are assigned, are self-motivated, take initiative, make decisions, and take responsibility. A Stakeholder wants to do meaningful work and find creative solutions to problems. They get satisfaction from contributing, helping others, and providing value to their team. Stakeholders take pride in a job well done. We want our Stakeholders to be successful, which means providing an environment where they can grow and learn. We encourage training and certifications to ensure that our employees are continually learning and providing good value to our clients. We look to hire individuals who share our values, who believe in helping others, who aren't afraid to ask why, and look for new and better ways of accomplishing things.
