ARTS IN MEDICINE AIM

OUR MISSION:

The mission of Arts in Medicine is to provide opportunities for students, faculty, and staff at University of Central Florida College of Medicine to actively integrate the arts and sciences. Members will be presented with volunteer opportunities to participate in bringing the holistic treatment provided through the arts to hospitals and clinics throughout Central Florida, thereby expanding the traditional boundaries of medicine. Furthermore, it is AIM's mission to actively provide events to the University of Central Florida College of Medicine community that will artistically and creatively enrich the College of Medicine environment.

Our Mission

TO PROVIDE QUALITY HEALTHCARE AND HEALTH EDUCATION TO MEMBERS OF THE POPULATION WITHOUT ACCESS TO SUCH SERVICES WHILE NURTURING AN INTEREST IN UNDERSERVED MEDICINE IN FUTURE HEALTH PROFESSIONALS.

Patient Centered

- 20 CLINICS PER YEAR
- SCHEDULED APPOINTMENTS OF PRE-SCREENED PATIENTS
- FREE PRIMARY CARE VISITS AND SPECIALTY VISITS WITH EMPHASIS ON CONTINUITY OF CARE, PREVENTION, PATIENT EDUCATION, AND HEALTHY LIFESTYLE
- FREE LABS, IMAGING STUDIES AND MEDICATIONS

The clinic is coordinated by medical students at UCF COM and staffed by student and physician volunteers from all areas of study, including medical, nursing, undergraduate, and graduate students, working in interdisciplinary teams alongside community collaborators and under the guided supervision of licensed practitioners. We serve Orlando and neighboring communities through direct health care services, health promotion, disease prevention, social support, case management, and appropriate referrals to medical and social resources in the community. Constantly improving, we launch approximately ten quality improvement projects each year and integrate continuous surveying for: patient satisfaction, prevention measure, performance and student learning metrics. The KNIGHTS Clinic is funded by a grant from the Diebel Legacy Fund at Central Florida Foundation.

Medical Campus Outreach

MCO

Our Mission:

To provide a space for fellowship and rest among all medical students, regardless of religious affiliations. It doesn't matter if you're a devout Christian, actively seeking/questioning various theological frameworks, or a practicing Hindu who's looking for no more than good food and company—we would love for you to join us.

On a broader scale, Medical Campus Outreach is a nondenominational Christian community of medical, pharmacy, and other health care students and professionals. Through large and small group meetings, social events, retreats, and mission trips, participants are invited to explore and integrate Biblical principles in the practice of health care.

Our Mission

TO WORK TO ESTABLISH AN AWARENESS OF THE WAYS GENETICS AND GENOMICS ARE BECOMING INTEGRAL PARTS OF CLINICAL CARE ACROSS DIFFERENT SPECIALTIES. OUR GROUP WILL STRIVE TO INFORM STUDENTS ON CAREER PATHWAYS FOR MEDICAL GENETICS RESIDENCIES AND/OR FELLOWSHIPS, THE LATEST ADVANCES IN GENOMICS RESEARCH, AND THE IMPACT GENETICS RESEARCH HAS HAD ON PUBLIC HEALTH. FURTHERMORE, WE WILL WORK TO ESTABLISH A NETWORK BETWEEN STUDENTS AND GENETIC HEALTH PROFESSIONALS WITHIN OUR COMMUNITY. ULTIMATELY, WE BELIEVE THAT ALL MEDICAL STUDENTS, REGARDLESS OF THEIR CHOSEN CAREER PATH, STAND TO BENEFIT FROM A DEEPER KNOWLEDGE OF GENETICS AND GENOMICS AND THE WAYS THAT IT IS RESHAPING THE PRACTICE OF MEDICINE.

Our Mission:

To explore disease prevention strategies through methods such as immunization, healthy diet, lifestyle choices, and community health. As future doctors, especially in Florida, we aim to focus these strategies not only toward the general population, but to the geriatric population as well, as this population will likely comprise a significant portion of our practice. Our mission is aimed at designing measures to avoid the development of risk factors in the first place in order to prevent the occurrence of associated diseases both in the present and later on in life. We aim to involve ourselves in the medical community to disseminate necessary information regarding unique approaches to disease prevention and to empower patients to proactively take charge of their own health.

SIG SURGERY INTEREST GROUP

OUR MISSION

To provide UCF COM students with a comprehensive look into surgical specialties. Aiming to cultivate interest in surgery by offering students opportunities to obtain some of the immense anatomical and clinical knowledge, precise surgical skills, and detailed understanding of the healthcare field required of a surgeon in any discipline. SIG serves to provide insight into each facet of surgical specialties through integrating informative events designed to illuminate the cutting-edge advances occurring in surgical techniques and technology, hands-on experiences to improve surgical skills, and interactive presentations given by some of the foremost leaders in numerous surgical disciplines.

Welcome to the UCF College of Medicine's Surgery Interest Group! Throughout the coming year, SIG will focus on introducing students to all aspects of the field of surgery, enhancing resumes to increase student competitiveness for residency, and providing opportunities to meet local surgeons and to engage in research. From guest speakers and research presentations to suture clinics and robotic simulations, SIG will give medical students exposure to the field of surgery prior to the clinical years of medical school. SIG broadly encompasses all surgical specialties, including general, vascular, urology, etc., so we work and learn closely with other interest groups to maximize opportunities for learning and developing skills. We hope you will join us for our first meeting this semester, where you will meet the SIG board, as well as get a brief introduction to who we are as a group and how we can help you in your medical education.

OUR MISSION

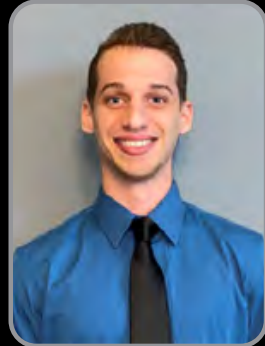

To advance healthcare, research and education related to wilderness medicine.

Wilderness Medicine is the study of acute care in austere and remote environments, often with limited access to medical resources, which forces one to think outside the luxurious box of the modern hospital. Members of the Wilderness Medical Society enjoy informational and hands-on instructional meetings about a variety of topics encompassed within wilderness medicine. That includes wilderness survival, wilderness emergencies and trauma management, dive medicine, land navigation, amateur radio, and more. Members also enjoy participating in various outdoor excursions such as hiking, kayaking, camping, and more.
