Fulfil every expectation with indulgent spa pampering beforehand followed by a ceremony that combines your every desire with the magical essence of the Maldives.

ENVIRONMENT & SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Coco Bodu Hithi offers hospitality that is stylish, sophisticated but most importantly sustainable. To support the environment and the local community, we practice recycling, conservation and use of organic local produce whenever possible. We also encourage our guests to get involved with our efforts, to learn about the amazing island wildlife and discover the wide variety of sea-life that feeds around the coral.

Our resident marine biologist, Chiara Fumagalli is onsite to make sure that nature is protected, and is always happy to share her knowledge of the island during your stay.

The coral reef is beautiful but extremely fragile and constant work is done to maintain the natural balance. Guests and team members regularly get involved with our Coral Nursery Projects where we stimulate and monitor coral re-growth using naturally broken coral species.

During fishing excursions, guests can also help chart and measure protected species including the size and number of fish captured as well as releasing fish that have not yet reached maturity.

Coco Bodu Hithi is dedicated towards the protection of endangered species and the partnership with the Olive Ridley Project engages in initiatives to conserve marine life by actively fighting ghost nets.

Together, we are committed to protecting the biodiversity of the Maldivian seas so you can enjoy everything we offer whilst staying in complete harmony with nature.

ATOLLS

The islands of the Maldives rest upon an immense structure of coral reefs. The reefs in turn rest upon a foundation of ancient volcanoes that long ago sank beneath the sea under their own weight. The reefs growing around the sides of the volcanoes as they sank produced irregular ring shaped structures named 'atoll'.

SAVE OUR ISLANDS

The Maldives has not remained untouched by conditions that are threatening our planet. Global warming and associated climatic changes, sea level rise and environmental pollution have had their effect on our surroundings.

ELECTRICITY

Electricity is produced by fuel powered generators. We have many initiatives dedicated to saving energy and minimizing exhaust smoke.

WASTE

Disposal of garbage is another concern on the islands. At Coco Bodu Hithi, we have a waste management program to complement our conservation efforts.
