

Character List

Principal Stevenson	Party Planner
Tom “Crimson Bolt” Colton	Murder Victim, star receiver for the football team
Sandy Perkins	Class President
Clarence Quigley	Yearbook Dweeb
Danielle Summers	Band Geek
Amanda Lansing	Undercover Cop
Tiffany Carrabee	Student head of Prayer group at school
Dave “Scootch” McLoughlin	Stoner who's “in a band”
Jessica Gilleland	Head Cheerleader
Matt Conrad	Star Quarterback
Nikki Jerns	Alternative punk girl, actually in a band
Nurse Rashinokolv	Eastern European immigrant school nurse

Decoration Ideas: We went with a big school banner “Chimingdale Class of '99” but anything you can do to make it feel like a cheesy high school dance will help people get in character. Spin up a great retro soundtrack and you are ready to go.

Amanda Lansing

Background: Your character is . . . Amanda Lansing, undercover vice officer for the Chimingdale Police Department posing as a Running Start student at Chimingdale High School. Your goal is to find out who is selling drugs, mainly pills, to students. When you aren't working, you are a big football fan. Your favorite part of the job is watching the Chimingdale Horned Toads in action, especially that hunky Quarterback Matt Conrad.

Key Relationships

Matt Conrad - Okay, so things weren't supposed to get this complicated but he was just so dreamy and he even plays the guitar. If your boss finds out what happened, you are screwed.

Nikki Jerns - Your top suspect, she has been connected to a number of incidents and besides, she runs with the wrong crowd. You've tried searching her locker but no luck.

Nurse Rashinokovf - Pills keep going missing from her cabinet - is someone swiping them or is she in on it? That woman is so scatterbrained it is hard to tell but can't crack down too hard, she may be a key witness against some of the others.

On the Night in Question

So you watched as the Chimingdale Horned Toads played a great game against the Shrubberg Kumquats, with Matt throwing a great last minute pass to Tom and winning the game. After the game, Matt came over to talk to you and you totally flirted. He let slip that everyone was gathering at Jessica Gilleland's house after the game. Perfect! An excellent opportunity to catch a deal in action. You showed up and most people were hanging in the house with music. A brief fight broke out between the host and Sandy Perkins, daughter of one of the most influential lawyers in town. Not wanting to get your ass sued AND fired, you downed a few drinks and snuck into the garage where Matt was hiding out. At this point, you were frustrated and about ready to pop. So you may have done something exceedingly stupid. With Matt. At least three times. Then you both passed out on the couch.

When you woke up, Matt was gone. You stumbled outside to find that strange Jesus girl, Tiffany, wandering around looking like someone just kicked her puppy. You gave her a lift home. It wasn't till you checked in at work that you found out about the Colton murder. You were tempted to call Matt and get the scoop but you didn't want to jeopardize another investigation.

Gossip about Other Players

- All of the football players get tested regularly and none of them are taking the drugs so we can rule them out as connected to it.
- The principal also asked that you quietly look into a number of thefts from the school band room. Apparently instruments have been going missing.
- Scootch, that troublemaker, is probably dealing pot but you've already decided not to pinch him - you've watched him closely and he hasn't touched pills with a ten foot pole. Not worth it.

Clarence Quigley

Background: Your character is . . . Clarence Quigley. Art student, videographer, photographer, and president of the yearbook club. You've already been accepted to Art Institute of Seattle for your prize winning photography (a series of pictures of his pet turtle "Simon" crawling over pictures of Al Gore in the middle of a forest)/

Key Relationships

Tiffany Carrabee - She's on the yearbook committee with you and despite clinging to her antiquated and archaic beliefs in an unnecessary sky god, is a pretty nice girl. Also, she once found my secret stash of locker room photos in the dark room and didn't turn me in. So that's cool.

Sandy Perkins - You've had a crush on the beautiful Sandy Perkin since day one but did she ever give you the time of day? No! It's like you're Ross and she is Rachel but she will never see it. Well, not exactly. You do buy pills from her whenever you are stressing over a big test.

The Band Room Instruments - For the last few months, you've been stealing instruments from the band room and selling them at a local pawn shop in return for cash, which you turn around and give to Sandy for the pills.

On the Night in Question

You skipped the game, naturally, but when you got to the party it was the perfect opportunity to capture life, or "the truth" as you put it. So when Jessica and Danielle snuck away to "talk" to each other, what better opportunity to capture a raw moment. You got your camera running and snuck outside the window. What luck! Jessica and Danielle were lovers, having a spat. They were just getting to the juicy parts when they noticed you there with your camera right outside the window. Danielle threw open the window and tried to wrestle the camera out of your hands. You shouted, "Sandy told me!" and with that, Jessica stomped off to find her. You twisted free of Sandy's grip and fled upstairs. Seeing Tom in the master bedroom, you hid in the hallway and reviewed your footage.

From this vantage point, you watched as Tiffany walked into the room, talked with Tom for a bit, then left in tears. A little bit later, Sandy Perkins entered the bedroom, and then left about ten minutes later. She came right back and stomped right in. There were shouts and gasps that told you Sandy was doing what she always does. Sleeping with someone who is not you.

You took that as your signal to leave. You headed downstairs and saw Matt stumbling out of the garage completely naked. Oh man, everyone is getting something at this party. You down the last of a nearly empty bottle of vodka in the kitchen in time to see Jessica head up to the master bedroom. Well, that should end well, those two hate each other.

At this point you left the party, passing a bleary-eyed Scotch, peeing on the rose bushes in the front yard.

Danielle Summers

Background: Your character is . . . Danielle Summers, french horn player in the Chimingdale High School band, although you could have been drum major if you wanted. You have long since given up caring about what others think of you - except for one person who means the world.

Key Relationships

Jessica Gilleland - You never fully grasped you were a lesbian until Jessica cornered you after a marching band practice and laid a kiss right on your lips. It was as if a weight had been lifted and you are ready to take Jessica and run away from this small bigoted town to the big city (Seattle) and pursue your dreams of being in the Seattle Symphony and to hell with what everyone else thinks.

Sadly, Jessica is still too worried about what her friends, family and pastor would say and refuses to let anyone know that the two of you are an item. This is a constant source of frustration in your relationship.

Nikki Jerns - In another life, you probably would have been friends but that dreary goth thinks she is SOOO talented just because she can get a few burnouts to bob their heads at the all ages club downtown. LAME. Ever since a botched duet performance freshmen year, the two of you have been constantly trying to outdo each other.

Matt Conrad - He's a sweet guy, but this star quarterback has been politely asking you out on a date for a year now and it is getting a little old. Totally not interested, besides, didn't you see him and that Running Start girl making out behind the bleachers the other day?

On the Night in Question

At the football game, you totally missed a few songs because you were hiding behind the bleachers making out with Jessica. After the game, you joined the crowd going to Jessica's house. At the party, you managed to sneak Jessica away from the action and the two of you got into an argument about your relationship, with you confessing your love to her, in explicit detail. She was going to respond when you both noticed Clarence Quigley, that creep, was filming both of you through the window. You both started shouting at him but he said that Sandy Perkins had told him about the two of you.

Jessica rampaged through the house looking for Sandy while you tried to wrestle the camera away from Quigley but he got away. After that, you went and hung out in the garage for a bit with Scootch.

Finally, as you were getting your stuff to leave, you thought you heard shouting upstairs and saw Tiffany, that Jesus girl, running downstairs from the master bedroom in tears.

You calmed her down, although you don't really know her that well. Apparently she was really upset because she thought she was pregnant because she gave a guy a blowjob. Yes, a blowjob. This was the last straw, you laughed, a cold bitter laugh and went home.

You felt guilty the next morning, called Jessica but her parents picked up so you hung up.

Gossip about Other Players

- Amanda Lansing, that Running Start student who showed up this year, keeps meeting with the Principal every week. You have no idea why but she is super cagey.
- Nurse Rashinkovf, the school nurse, is seriously bonkers. Word on the street is for a little extra cash, she will let you take your pick of the pill cabinet. As long as you down it with some borsch.
- Scootch doesn't know how to play the drums, despite playing the drums in the Cherokee Vagina Punchers. It is painfully obvious to anyone who plays music that he is terrible. Nikki should just ditch him, you know, if she had any artistic integrity.

Jessica Gilleland

Background: Your character is . . . Jessica Gilleland, head cheerleader, who despite her occasionally vapid demeanor is harboring ambitions of going to law school. That said, her parents are extremely religious and will not pay the bills to go to law school if they discover her secret, that she is a lesbian! So she will do everything she can to keep that a secret. Everything.

Key Relationships

Danielle Summers - You first noticed her lips, her full beautiful lips. You had always had a thing for band girls and this talented french horn player stole your heart. But then, she got all gushy and wanted to hold hands in public. Well, that's just not going to happen. You are the cheer squad captain, that means keeping morale up, not being a "L-E-S-B-I-A-N".

Sandy Perkins - That bitch has had it in for you since day one. She would have made cheer squad if she had any coordination but she was probably too busy calling her lawyer dad to actually bother to do the hard work it takes. Now she's all jealous.

Nurse Rashinkovf - The school nurse has been a mentor and an idol of yours for sometime. Escaping Slovenia with only her wits? Seriously hardcore. Saving up money to help ransom her brother from the KGB? Even more awesome. So it is no wonder that when she asked you to help sell a few "study aids" from the school medicine cabinet, you jumped at the chance to help. Just so long as she doesn't make you eat another bowl of Borsch.

On the Night in Question

At the football game, you totally missed a few cheers because you were hiding behind the bleachers making out with Danielle. After the game, you raced back to your house to set up for the party. Your parents were out of town, naturally, so this was going to be the best party in the history of Chimingdale High. When everyone showed up, you put on a big show of hanging all over Tom so everyone sees how into guys you are.

Except that Danielle showed up and was really upset. She pulled you away from the action and the two of you got into an argument about your relationship, with her confessing her love for you, in explicit detail. You were going shut her down, this was fun but you've got law school calling and the real world has no time for high school flings, but you noticed Clarence Quigley, that creep, was filming both of you through the window. You both started shouting at him and he fessed up that Sandy Perkins had told him about the two of you. IT. WAS. ON.

You tear through the house till you find that skank and deck her right on her too pretty chin. She goes down like that one time Sally had been the bottom of the cheer pyramid. BAM. Matt, Tom's friend, pulled you off of her and you stumble away.

This is out of control. You lock yourself in the bathroom and call Nurse Rashinkovf. You probably weren't too clear, but Rashinkovf was very clear - do what needs to be done to get what you want. With your head clear, you stomp out but the party had dispersed. Going outside, you see Scootch peeing on your parents rose garden. You were about to chew him out but there was a rustle next to you in the bushes. Looking over, you see Mom's favorite butcher knife stuck into the earth where someone had dropped it. You look up at the balcony of the master bedroom but there is no sign. You go inside, making your way upstairs and see Tom passed out in the bed. Whatever, best let him sleep it off, and if everyone thinks we slept together, all the better.

You stumble off to your own room and go to sleep. The next day, you discover Tom was not sleeping but dead. You call the police, who took the report and tried to reach your parents who are at the Republican National Convention. The police left a message at their hotel but haven't been able to get in touch.

Gossip about Other Players

- Quigley, that creep, once tried to snap a picture of the cheer squad on their way to the showers. The girls turned him over to the principal who confiscated the pics and gave him detention.
- Someone is definitely sniffing around the school looking for drug deals. Rumor has it, the police assigned a special detective to this case.
- You heard that Tom has started going to that weird Jesus' girls bible study class. Ha. That will work.

Matt Conrad

Background: Your character is . . . Matt Conrad, exceptional quarterback for the Chimingdale Horned Toads. When you aren't making eyes at the ladies or pounding some brewskies with the team, you you enjoy playing Dave Matthews Songs on the guitar - although you only really know four chords and fake it for the rest.

Key Relationships

Tom "Crimson Bolt" Colton - Tom was, like, your best friend. The Raphael to your Leonardo, the Starsky to your Hutch, the Beevis to your Butthead. As your best wide-receiver, you was always right where you needed him, snatching your balls right out of the air and making incredible, earth-shaking plays. When you said he could pick any character for Goldeneye, he would never pick Oddjob. Truly a saint among men.

Danielle Summers - There are girls and then there are girls and then there is Danielle. Ever since you both had 4th period english together in freshmen year, you have like, had a thing for her. He, he he he he. Yeah, that too. Anyway, she's like super busy with marching band and stuff so she's been distant but you never know.

Amanda Lansing - Or at least you thought Danielle was your girl, but then this super hot chick joined your spanish class. She does running start and is like, super mature and stuff. You've been hanging out a bit, and who knows, maybe something could happen. She likes that you play that guitar, so you've got that going for you.

On the Night in Question

It was a scorcher of a game between the Shrubberg High Kuamquats and the Chimingdale Horned Toads but thanks to a fantastic 56 yard pass between you and the Crimson Bolt, we won. After the game, you went over to the band stands to brag to Danielle but she was nowhere to be found. Amanda was there and you chatted her up.

Later that night, you went to the party at Jessica's house. Jessica was totally hanging all over Tom like the floozy she was. Not wanting to crimp his game, you hit a bong with Scootch and Nikki in the garage and listened to their band demo tape (it was awful). Then you went to find Danielle, and you found her alright. She was wrestling with that nerdy yearbook kid, Clarence Quigley and yelling about a video tape. Before you could intervene, you heard a scream inside. Racing into the house, you find Jessica punching the shit out of Sandy Perkins, the class president. You pull Jessica off her and break it up. Confused, you do a couple shots. That always helps.

You head outside and you see Tom standing on the balcony of the master bedroom. "'Sup Brah!" he said and waved. You smile and invite him to the garage. He demurs saying he is enjoying the fresh air. Shrugging you head back to the garage when Amanda walked in. She was just smokin hot. She seemed kindof nervous and shifty but after a few bong hits, she was totally mellow and next thing you know, the two of you are making out on the couch.

(SLIDE MISSING)

You wake up later without your clothes. That's weird. Amanda is passed out next to you without her clothes. Duuuuuude. You stumble out of the garage, still night time. Scootch is standing on the lawn looking confused. Maybe that's cause you are naked. Weird. You grab a leftover coat from inside and jog home. Strange night.

Gossip about Other Players

- Sandy Perkins, the AS president, is seriously into pills. The coach told you all the signs of someone abusing drugs and she's got all the ticks. Crazy girl.
- Danielle used to super broke but now she seems to have tons of spending cash. Huh.
- Tom recently started attending Tiffany's wacky Jesus club because the coach said he needed some good ol' fashioned religion if he was going to make the big leagues. Now, you know Tom, and he's never really been into that sort of stuff, but the pretty girl in the club? That's makes sense. Tom said he totally scored with her which probably means they've only made out.

Nikki Jerns

Background: Your character is . . . Nikki Jerns, a chronically depressed gothy-punk who is the lead keyboardist for promising local band, "Cherokee Vagina Punchers" with her on-again, off-again fuck buddy, Dave "Scootch" McCloughlin. She likes plaid, dark colors, spray paint on unlikely surfaces and the inevitable heat death of the universe.

Key Relationships

Dave "Scootch" McCloughlin - Scootch and you go way back. Sometimes, he's your friend, sometimes he's your fuck buddy, sometimes he's your band mate and sometimes he just bugs the crap out of you, depending on how the both of you are feeling at any given moment. Truth is, if the world was going to sink into a black pit of oblivion tomorrow, you'd probably head over to his house, swipe a few of his dad's beers and listen to the Cure in his garage.

Danielle Summers - So like, you two hung out in middle school but that was before you discovered your inner muse and she got, totally weird and straight edge so now you don't hang out. Plus, the two of you did a piano/french horn duet freshman year and she totally sabotaged your performance. That bitch. Now, she will totally sell out and go join some lame symphony while you will follow in the footsteps of Robert Smith and Marilyn Manson and claim immortality as a music legend.

Clarence Quigley - So he is totally a little tweaker but he hooked you up with an awesome mix tape that one time of a Ramones concert so he isn't that bad. However, you did find him passed out in the school video room with a pill bottle in his hands. You took him to Nurse Rashinkovf who didn't look the least bit surprised. After that, he tried to explain but you blew him off. That's his business.

On the Night in Question

You pointedly did not go with the rest of the sheep to their bread and circus, the proletariat need their blood sport after all. That said, Scootch said that Jessica's party would be pretty cool and he had finished mixing the demo tape for the band so you headed over and smoked a strong bowl with Scootch and Matt in the garage while listening to the tape. After a bit, you went into the house in time to see Clarence sneaking around with a video camera looking super suspicious.

You went upstairs and found Tom "Crimson Bolt" Colton hanging out in the master bedroom. You are passing acquaintances but you were bored and a little stoned so the two of you talked about graduation a bit. Colton had been offered a scholarship but was thinking of passing it up and joining the army. You tried to talk to him about it but he seemed pretty upset so you let it go. Obviously something was bothering him.

As you went downstairs, you passed Tiffany, that Jesus girl, headed up to the bedroom with tears in her eyes. When you got downstairs, you saw Sandy drinking heavily in the kitchen and someone shouting on the lawn. You went back to the garage, only to find Matt making out with that running start girl, Amanda. Scootch was nowhere to be seen. To hell with this, you went home.

Gossip about Other Players

- Someone is dealing drugs at this school and the cops are hot on their trail. That total slimeball of a principal has hauled you into his office three times in the last month to interrogate you. Little Eichmann. Just 'cause you look like a burnout doesn't mean you're dealing. FUCK DA POLICE!
- Jessica Gilleland is on the cheer squad and super friendly but her parents are crazy. Like hardcore straightedge crazy. Her dad once testified to the city council that Ellen Degeneres was destroying America because she like, said something, on her tv show. Whatever, makes you feel bad for her but then that's what she gets trying to fit in.
- Someone has been stealing band instruments and you suspect it may be Danielle. You both have access to the band room after hours, and things have definitely been going missing. Nothing big, nothing noticeable, but enough.

Nurse Rashinokovf

Background: Your character is . . . Nurse Rashinokovf. Back in mother Slovenia, you wrestled a bear when you were nine years old. You snuck past soviet spies and now are working in capitalist pigland to save money for your brother who is being ransomed by the KGB! Also, you make a mean Borsch.

Key Relationships

Jessica Gilleland - This bright young girl has big future in place. She came to you, looking for guidance and in her, you saw yourself but younger. Now, she helps you dispose of surplus medication for cash monies that can be used to ransom your brother Jakob.

Amanda Lansing - That girl is too nosy for her own good. Her school file is missing - can't be found although she is a Running Start student so paperwork is complicated. She asks too many questions about medications, either she is a potential customer or potential trouble. Besides, she refuses your borsch which is healing for the soul.

Tom "Crimson Bolt" Colton - That boy, strong like ox but fast like fox. He always does so well, it is sad to hear him go. He would not go without a fight, he must have been stabbed by surprise. And surprise is a woman's weapon. You should know, you've used it often.

Tiffany Carrabee - That poor stupid girl thinks she's pregnant. Sigh. In mother Slovenia, they teach that girl keep her legs shut till they are married, it is always the religious ones that fall hardest.

On the Night in Question

You were at home, watching this American show of rich 30 year olds in New York when you get a call. It is Jessica, who is at party and sounds like she is drinking. You could only make out some of it, someone broke up with her or she is breaking up with someone else? You told her to do what needed to be done. She was comforted. You made a note to bring her some extra borsch on Monday.

Sandy Perkins

Background: Your character is . . . Sandy Perkins, class president, academic all star, dazzling beauty who's wealthy father is part of the powerful Perkins, Talcum and Taft law firm. Master of the petty revenge, you may or may not have stolen the last election of class president, what is important is that you are in charge and it is going to stay that way if you have to claw out the eyes of the little trollop Jessica Gilleland, head of the Cheer Squad.

Key Relationships

Clarence Quigley - That greasy A/V nerd buys pills off of you every time he is stressing about a big test. Not that he really needs the pills, he's so smart he already go accepted to Seattle Art Institute or something, you weren't really listening. You don't really need the money, your father gets you whatever you need, but you enjoy the thrill of it.

Danielle Summers - Used to be good friends back in middle school but then she got super involved in band and awkward. Now you never see each other except when your parents bump into each other at the random social function.

Tom "Crimson Bolt" Colton - Congrats! You are the murderer! You had been after Tom for a long time but he never seemed to give you the time of day - he was more interested in that boring white bread jesus chick, Tiffany Carreebee. So you did everything you could to capture him - ignoring him, throwing yourself at him, anonymously forwarding him your reddit gone wild account, no luck. Finally at the party . . .

On the Night in Question

Jessica Gilleland, that skank, decided to hold a party at her house after the game even though you totally told everyone that you were thinking about holding a party that night and who the hell does she think she is but there is NO WAY you were going to be left out. Especially since Tom was there.

So you show up and Jessica is completely hanging off Tom like they are dating or something, which is weird since you had heard that Tom wasn't interested in her. You sulked for a while in the garage, listening to Nikki and Scotch's demo tape - god they are bad - until things were at a simmer inside.

You bumped into Quigley who was leaving in a hurry with a video camera in hand. You asked him where Tom was and he said in the master bedroom upstairs.

As you are making your way inside, Jessica gets in your face shouting obscenities and then throws a punch giving you a hell of a shiner (thank god for coverup), luckily Matt Conrad, Tom's friend, was there to break up the fight. You have no clue what Jessica was angry about. You discretely down a handful of pills and wash them down with some vodka you found in the kitchen.

Buzzed, and furious, you go up to the master bedroom. Tom is out on the balcony, staring at the stars. You try your best sultry whatever but he is obviously really upset and turns you down flat. Enraged by the repeated rejections from everyone that night, you go back to the kitchen, grab the biggest knife you can find, go back upstairs and stab Tom in the back three times. He slumps there on the balcony, you drag him to the bed and then toss the bloody knife into the bushes behind the house. Coming to your senses, you wash up and leave the house in a rush. You thought you saw Scootch peeing on the front lawn but he looked so out of it, he probably didn't even notice you as you brushed passed.

Gossip about Other Players

- Scootch smokes more weed than anyone else you know. This is such common knowledge that last year, everyone chipped in and got him a couple of DARE shirts for the hell of it.
- Matt Conrad, Tom's friend, has a serious thing for Danielle but she is like, not into dating, because she's so into band and everyone knows that Band kids never do anything fun like go on dates.
- Amanda Lansing, that Running Start student that joined your Spanish class recently, seemed pretty cool, even if your style is totally last year. The two of you have been hanging out lately and you think she may be AS material if it weren't so late in the year.

Dave "Scootch" McLoughlin

Background: Your character is . . . Dave "Scootch" McLoughlin - when you aren't cutting class to smoke a little pot behind the gym, you are talking about your band, the Cherokee Vagina Punchers. You are the drummer but you really suck at it, but the band keeps you around because you are a fun guy and your mom lets them practice in her garage

Key Relationships

Nikki Jerns - Sometimes she is your best friend, sometimes you two bang like cats and sometimes you can't stand her but if all girls were as chill as Nikki, man, the world would be a better place, man. She is the keyboard, and real talent, in your band and you're just glad to she's part of it.

Tom "Crimson Bolt" Colton - Yeah he used to bully you in middle school but ever since you did that thing with the chickens in tuxedos, he's been totally cool. He'll nod at you when he is with his bros and you will let him into your show for free. Nice guy, that one.

Tiffany Carrabee - You've known Tiffany from, like, Kindergarten man. Sure she's a little goody two shoes but she always laughs at your jokes and doesn't look down her nose like those other chicks.

On the Night in Question

You skipped the game because you were working on your new demo tape for the Cherokee Vagina Punchers. After that, you went to the party at Jessica's house. Jessica and Tom were like, all making out and stuff, which is cool so you just headed to the garage and set up camp with Nikki and Matt, the quarterback. You smoked a few bowls, listened to the mix tape (it rocked!) and shot the shit. After a bit, they wandered off so you took a bit of a nap. You wake up and head outside to take a pee. Man, you could go for a taco right about then. As you are headed out, Tom was up on the balcony of the house with some chick. Was that Tiffany? Maybe if it wasn't so noisy out, you could see what's up. You walk out front to start peeing on Jessica's rose bushes. Right on queue, she comes tearing out of the house to rip you a new one but then got distracted by something else.

You start to go back inside but Sandy Perkins just pushes right past you, hops in her car and peels out. She looked high as balls. Wait, maybe that was you. Weird.

Time to head home. So you do.

Gossip about Other Players

- When you were breaking into Nurse Rashinokovf's office, you saw a bunch of pamphlets about how to talk to teens about pregnancy. Someone at the school is pregnant?!
- The principal is really paranoid about getting sued, apparently there was some sort of scandal earlier this year and he kept it quiet, for now.
- Tiffany has a boyfriend, you think. She came up to you the other day and asked what boys like to do on a date, and you said "blowjobs". She laughed and then asked what that meant. You explained it to her and she turned six shades of red and walked away in a hurry. Somethings up with that girl, man.

Tiffany Carreebee

Background: Your character is . . .Tiffany Lansing, dedicated student and founder of the Chimingdale High School Friends United in Christ's Kingdom club. Your favorite things used to be the Bible, your pet Poodle and vegetables but recently, a handsome football player joined your club and stole your heart, now things are complicated . . .

Key Relationships

Tom "Crimson Bolt" Colton - You never thought you would find yourself falling in love with a football player but after he joined your bible study group you realized that he is the second coming of Tim Tebow. Handsome, sweet, gentle, he has forsaken all those wild days and is now holding hands with you behind the bleachers. Of course, he hasn't told his friends that you are dating yet, but he will. Especially since you . . ARE CARRYING HIS CHILD!!! (see below)

Dave "Scootch" McLoughlin - Dave, back when he called himself Dave, used to be your best friend growing up but then he met that Nikki girl who wears black all the time and they are in a band with a rude name. But he is a good guy, even if sometimes he does do the "P.O.T." and you think that he would go far if he actually applied himself. After all, he plays the drums, that's difficult, right?

On the Night in Question

Of course you went to the game where the Chimingdale Horned Toads beat the Shrubberg High School Kumquats and Tom, your Tom, made the winning touchdown. You had never really been to a "party" except for the one time when you and Mr. Kerfluffles had a poodle party with a few other poodle enthusiasts in town, you must have had three juice boxes in an hour, you were wild!

Anyway, you showed up and Tom was there but Jessica, that hussy from the Cheer squad was hanging off of him. You came up and said hi but he just blew you off. You were crushed and cried in the bathroom for a while. Later, you heard he was upstairs in the master bedroom, so you went up there and confronted him. After all, you had never dated a boy before and certainly never given one a blowjob before him. Now you had missed your period and wanted him to own up to his responsibilities as a father!

He looked at you and just started to cry. At least you think it was tears. You screamed some very inappropriate words at him and ran downstairs. Danielle, from the pep Band was there and tried to tell you that everything was going to be okay but when you told her about your child - she laughed in your face and left.

Distraught, you saw someone had left some aspirin out in the kitchen, so you took a few. Then the world got fuzzy. As you stumbled out of the house, you thought you saw Matt, Tom's friend, running from the garage to the car with no clothes on. Weird. As you fumbled with your keys at the car, that nice exchange student, Amanda Lansing, came up and offered you a ride home. Your parents were steamed but they are letting you go to prom.

Gossip about Other Players

- Clarence Quigley, the very nice guy with the video camera is on the Yearbook club with you. Sometimes, he locks himself in the dark room and develops pictures. At one point, you snuck a peek and thought it looked like pictures of the girls locker room but that must be your imagination, Clarence would never do something like that.
- Nurse Rashinkovf, the school nurse, once told you that the Principal almost got fired for embezzling funds from the school activities fund but got off because he hired Sandy Perkin's dad to represent him.