

And Then There Were Eight

This past year, SWS celebrated 30 years in business. We have grown to three physical locations; Spokane, WA, Tacoma, WA, and Sherwood, OR and over 50 employees. We are grateful for the thirty plus years of support from SWS employees, as well as customers past and present. Currently we serve Washington, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, and Alaska. Between the three locations, SWS has a fleet of sixteen mobile service trucks fully equipped with the parts and tools needed to service any truck or piece of equipment in the field. Customer satisfaction with our equipment, parts selection and service capabilities is top priority at SWS. We take pride in going the extra mile in order to achieve this.

A major part of our growth has been the growth, in size and experience, of our sales team. Our territories have expanded over the years, and with that so has our sales staff. We have an excellent group of eight sales reps who work diligently to serve our customers. Dave Crossley, Western Washington Sales Manager, has been with SWS for over 20 years and sells refuse trucks, container carriers, roll-off trucks, and grapple trucks in Western Washington. James Long, with over 18 years at SWS, sells sewer trucks and pipeline inspection equipment in Western Washington. Chad Hartje steps up with over 13 years and sells compactors and balers in Western Washington. Brent Wakeman has been with SWS for over 4 years and sells compactors and balers in Western Washington. Skyler Sharpe clocks in with over 13 years and sells sewer trucks, pipeline inspection equipment, compactors, and balers, and refuse trucks in Eastern Washington and Northern Idaho. Phil Davison began his career with SWS over 12 years ago and sells sewer trucks, pipeline inspection equipment, compactors and balers, street sweepers and refuse trucks in Eastern Washington and Southern Idaho. Roger Beatty started with SWS over 6 years ago and sells all our products to the entire state of Montana. Our newest sales rep is Shane Gutridge who has been with SWS for over 2 years and sells sewer equipment and pipeline inspection equipment, container carriers, roll-off trucks and used refuse trucks to our newest added territory, Oregon.

In addition to our sales force, we also have a great team of inside sales reps, office and parts staff, service technicians, welders, and mechanics that we will feature in future newsletters. Thank you again for a great 30 years and we look forward to many more.

Dave James Chad Brent Skyler Phil Roger Shane

Avoiding Equipment Downtime

No one wants to be in a situation where your equipment is down. There are a few things you can do in order to circumvent this from happening. Purchase the proper equipment for the job and secure a preventative maintenance contract. Two important aspects of equipment longevity are equipment usage and equipment maintenance. From the beginning, invest in equipment that fits your needs. If the equipment is undersized or is not meant for what it is being used for, unnecessary strain occurs and causes the equipment to wear prematurely. A preventative maintenance plan diminishes the occurrence of sudden break downs. A preventative maintenance plan is a smart decision in order to maintain the equipment and will alleviate added repair costs, extended downtime, and safety concerns. Proper use and regularly scheduled maintenance is critical for the productive life of your equipment. Protecting your investment with a proper maintenance plan will always help you in the long run. Contact one of our experienced sales staff for more information on our preventative maintenance programs.

Why A Vertical Baler

One of the main reasons to choose a vertical baler is the smaller footprint. If you are working with limited space, vertical balers are a good option. Also, the installation process of a vertical baler is minimal with nominal operator training. The simplicity of the operation and maintenance of the vertical baler enables employees/equipment operators to be quickly trained. Not only are SWS's vertical balers affordable, but they also save you money in multiple ways. The uniform and consistent bale sizes reduce your waste and recycling material and management, which reduces your waste removal expenses, while creating a revenue stream from the recycling proceeds. Also, you are decreasing the carbon footprint and improving the environment by eliminating cardboard from landfills. Searching various models, sizes and brands can be overwhelming. Our experienced sales team will help guide you through the process of finding the best options for your situation. There are a few things to consider when choosing a baler. Do you have the space available for a baler? Remember balers have cylinders that exceed normal ceiling heights, and you will also need space behind the baler to tie the bales. Do you have the proper electrical service? Find out who your recycler is, if they pick-up bales and how much they will pay for the bales. You can put together a budget and one of our sales team members can walk you through the options. If a new vertical baler is out of your budget, we offer reconditioned vertical balers. Either way, we are here to help you find the best solution for your situation.
