PART I. PROLOGUE

A. Mission Statement

Clemson University was established to fulfill our founder's vision of "a high seminary of learning" to develop "the material resources of the State" for the people of South Carolina. Nurtured by an abiding land grant commitment, Clemson has emerged as a research university with a global vision. Our primary purpose is educating undergraduate and graduate students to think deeply about and engage in the social, scientific, economic, and professional challenges of our times. The foundation of this mission is the generation, preservation, communication, and application of knowledge. The University also is committed to the personal growth of the individual and promotes an environment of good decision making, healthy and ethical lifestyles, and tolerance and respect for others. Our distinctive character is shaped by a legacy of service, collaboration, and fellowship forged from and renewed by the spirit of Thomas Green Clemson's covenant.

University Description

Clemson University is a selective, public, research university in a college-town setting. Clemson's desire is to attract a capable, dedicated and diverse student body of approximately 20,000 undergraduate and graduate students, with priority to students from South Carolina. The University offers a wide array of high quality baccalaureate programs built around a distinctive core curriculum. Graduate, continuing education, doctoral and research programs contribute to the state of knowledge and to the economic future of the state, nation and world. The university provides bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees in more than 100 majors through five academic colleges: the College of Agriculture, Forestry and Life Sciences; the College of Architecture, Arts and Humanities; the College of Business and Behavioral Science; the College of Engineering and Science; and the College of Health, Education and Human Development.

Clemson combines the benefits of a major research university with a strong commitment to undergraduate teaching and individual student success. Students, both undergraduate and graduate, have opportunities for unique educational experiences throughout South Carolina, as well as in other countries. Experiential learning is a valued component of the Clemson experience, and students are encouraged through Creative Inquiry, internships, and study abroad, to apply their learning beyond the classroom. Electronic delivery of courses and degree programs also provide a variety of learning opportunities. Clemson's extended campus includes teaching sites in Greenville and Charleston, five research campuses and five public service centers throughout the state of South Carolina, as well as four international sites.

The University is committed to exemplary teaching, research and public service in the context of general education, student engagement and development, and continuing education. In all areas, the goal is to develop students' communication and critical-thinking skills, ethical judgment, global awareness, and scientific and technological knowledge. The distinctive character of Clemson is reflected in the culture of collegiality and collaboration among faculty, students, staff, the administration, and the university board.

Approved by the Board of Trustees, October 19, 2012

Approved by the SC Commission on Higher Education, March 22, 2013

B. The Clemson Will

Thomas Green Clemson was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, in July of 1807 and died at Fort Hill, Oconee County, South Carolina, on the 6th of April, 1888. His Will and the Act of Acceptance of the General Assembly of South Carolina (November 27, 1889) established Clemson as a land-grant, state-supported institution. Pertinent excerpts from the Will and the Act follow.

"Whereas, I, Thos. G. Clemson, of the county and State aforesaid, did, on the 14th day of August, 1883, execute my last will and testament wherein I sought to provide for the establishment of a scientific institution upon the Fort Hill place, and therein provided what sciences should be taught in said institution; and, whereas, I am now satisfied that my intention and purpose therein may be misunderstood as intending that no other studies or sciences should be taught in said institution than those mentioned in said will, which was not my purpose or intention. Now, desiring to make my purpose plain as well as to make some other changes in the distribution of my property, than made in said will, I do now make, publish and declare this instrument as and for my last will and testament, hereby revoking all previous wills and codicils by me made, especially the will above referred to, dated August 14th, 1883."

"Feeling a great sympathy for the farmers of this State, and the difficulties with which they had to contend in their efforts to establish the business of agriculture upon a prosperous basis, and believing that there can be no permanent improvement in agriculture without a knowledge of those sciences which pertain particularly thereto, I have determined to devote the bulk of my property to the establishment of an agricultural college upon the Fort Hill place."

"This institution, I desire, to be under the control and management of a Board of Trustees, a part of whom are hereinafter appointed, and to be modeled after the Agricultural College of Mississippi as far as practicable. My purpose is to establish an agricultural college which will afford useful information to the farmers and mechanics, therefore it should afford thorough instruction in agriculture and the natural sciences connected therewith -- it should combine, if practicable, physical and intellectual education, and should be a high seminary of learning in which the graduate of the common schools can commence, pursue and finish the course of studies terminating in thorough, theoretic and practical instruction in those sciences and arts which bear directly upon agriculture, but I desire to state plainly that I wish the trustees of said institution to have full authority and power to regulate all matters pertaining to said institution -- to fix the course of studies, to make rules for the government of the same, and to change them, as in their judgment, experience may prove necessary, but to always bear in mind that the benefits herein sought to be bestowed are intended to benefit agricultural and mechanical industries. I trust that I do not exaggerate the importance of such an institution for developing the material resources of the State by affording to its youth the advantages of scientific culture, and that I do not overrate the intelligence of the legislature of South Carolina, ever distinguished for liberality, in assuming that such appropriations will be made as will be necessary to supplement the fund resulting from the bequest herein made. I therefore give and devise to my executor, hereinafter named, the aforesaid Fort Hill place, where I reside, formerly the home of my father-in-law, John C. Calhoun, consisting of eight hundred and fourteen acres, more or less, in trust, that whenever the State of South Carolina may accept said property as a donation from me, for the purpose of thereupon founding an agricultural college, in accordance with the views I have hereinbefore expressed, (of which the Chief Justice of South Carolina shall be the judge), then my executor shall execute a deed of the said property to the said State, and turn over to the same all property hereinafter given as an endowment of said institution, to be held as such by the said State so long as it, in good faith, devotes said property to the purposes of the donation; provided, however, that this acceptance by the State shall be signified, and a practical carrying-out be commenced within three years from the date of the probate of this my will."

"...The seven trustees appointed by me shall always have the right, and the power is hereby given them and their successors, which right the legislature shall never take away or abridge, to fill all vacancies which may occur in their number by death, resignation, refusal to act, or otherwise. But the legislature may provide, as it sees proper, for the appointment or election of the other six trustees, if it accepts the donation. And I do hereby request the seven trustees above named, or such of them as may be living, or may be willing to act, to meet as soon after my death as practicable, and organize, and at once to fill all vacancies that may have occurred, and to exert themselves to effectuate my purposes as herein set forth, and I hereby instruct my executor to notify them of their appointment herein as soon after my death as practicable. The name of this institution shall be the 'Clemson Agricultural College of South Carolina...."

"[The trustees] shall erect upon the Fort Hill place such a school or college for the youth of South Carolina as, in their judgment, will be for their best interest; provided, that said school or college shall be for the benefit of the agricultural and mechanical classes principally, and shall be free of costs to the pupils, as far as the means derived from the endowment hereinafter provided and the use of the land may permit ...."

From the Act of Acceptance: "That upon the execution of a deed and transfer of said property to the State by the said executor in accordance with the provisions of said will, an Agricultural and Mechanical College shall be, and the same is hereby, established in connection with the aforesaid devise and bequest, to be situated at Fort Hill, in Oconee County, on the plantation so devised, in which college shall be taught all branches of study pertaining to practical and scientific agriculture and other industries connected therewith and such other studies are not inconsistent with the terms of the said will."

C. Shared Governance

The following statement was endorsed by the Clemson University Board of Trustees at their meeting on February 11, 2010:

SHARED GOVERNANCE

As a matter of law, final authority and responsibility for Clemson University is vested in its Board of Trustees. This authority is explicitly set forth in the Last Will and Testament of Thomas Green Clemson and the subsequent Act of Acceptance adopted by the S. C. General Assembly. The Board may delegate authority, in whole or in part, to other officers and bodies within the University for the purpose of assuring effective management. However, any such delegation of authority should be reflected in Board policy, resolution or other official action for it to have any force or effect.

Clemson University values and practices the concept of shared governance in the form of transparency, communication and accountability among its Board of Trustees, administration and faculty. The University believes that the exercise of its collective intelligence enables it to make the best decisions and that seeking consensus about decisions enhances unity and creates a stronger University. Shared governance reflects a commitment on the part of the University to work together in a collegial and transparent manner to achieve the goals of the University. The University will utilize consistent and common processes to implement the principle of shared governance. This approach reflects the trust which all members of the University have for each other.

Shared governance requires transparency, communication and accountability at all levels of decision-making within the University. The form of expressing shared governance will vary from situation to situation, as the circumstances of each situation vary, but the concept of shared governance should be applied consistently. Similarly, the level or degree of participation in a particular decision by the Board, the administration and the faculty will depend upon the facts of that situation, the rights and interests involved, and the particular expertise required.

PART II. INTRODUCTION

A. The Nature and Function of this *Manual

The Clemson University Faculty Manual is a compilation of information pertaining to faculty participation in the governance of the university. It includes summaries of those university policies and procedures that are of major concern to faculty. The need to have a Manual of manageable size dictates that this document, though comprehensive, be less than complete. Consequently, in certain places the reader is directed to other documents or sources to obtain more detailed information.

Since the first Manual for Clemson University faculty was distributed in 1960, it has undergone numerous revisions. The guiding principle behind recent editions (since 1995) was the desire to record and codify the changes made in the principal governing instrument following campus reorganization and internal policy changes. The most current version of the Manual is available on the Faculty Senate's World Wide Web page (<http://www.clemson.edu/facultysenate/>), where cumulative revisions of the Faculty Manual of a substantive nature are posted each year no later than July 1st for use during the next academic year.

Polices set forth in the Faculty Manual identify the rights of faculty members at Clemson University. No Department, School, College or University policies related to these rights may abrogate or alter the policies specified in the Manual without approval of the Faculty Senate.

B. Using this *Manual

The Faculty Manual is divided into ten parts. There are also appendices, a Table of Contents, and an index. The editors have tried to make the Manual as "user friendly" as possible. All suggestions for improvement will be carefully considered.

C. Procedures for Updating the *Manual

Any person or group on campus may suggest revisions of the Faculty Manual by submitting a request to the Faculty Senate President. The Senate President shall refer the matter to the appropriate committee for consideration. If that committee agrees the change should be made, the committee submits the proposed change in the form of a resolution to the Senate where a two-thirds majority is needed for approval. Before the change is entered in the Faculty Manual, the Faculty Manual Editorial Consultant must check the language and format of the proposed resolution, and ensure that the Manual will remain internally consistent with the inclusion of the proposed change. Any Senate resolution that is distributed prior to a regularly scheduled Senate meeting should also be checked in advance by the Faculty Manual Editorial Consultant to see if it requires a change in the Manual. If it does require a change, the proposed resolution must specifically indicate the proposed language of the change. In the event that a resolution amending the Faculty Manual comes to the floor of the Senate without having been reviewed by the Editorial Consultant, said resolution shall be subject to review once it has been passed. Any substantial ambiguities or inconsistencies will be noted by the Editorial Consultant as the resolution proceeds forward for approval by the administration. Any revision of the Faculty Manual proposed by the Editorial Consultant following administrative review is subject to a final approval by the Faculty Senate Policy Committee.

The Faculty Manual Editorial Consultant forwards resolutions amending the Faculty Manual that have been approved by the requisite two-thirds majority to the Provost for consideration by the university administration. The Provost will forward any resolutions that require approval by the Board of Trustees to the Board after approval by the administration and will advise the Senate President of this action. The Provost will advise the Senate President of the administration's decision and, as applicable, the Board's decision. If the administration rejects the proposal or accepts it only subject to a change in its language, the Senate President returns the proposal to the person or group who initiated the resolution. That person or group may decide, with the advice of the Senate President, to drop the issue or to propose a new resolution responding to expressed concerns.

The specific revision of the Faculty Manual will take effect on the July 1st following final approval by the Provost, or the Board of Trustees for those changes subject to the Board's approval. The approved resolution will be incorporated into both the master hard copy of the Faculty Manual maintained in the Faculty Senate Office by the Program Coordinator and the electronic version of the Faculty Manual no later than August 1st to be used during the next academic year. This process of incorporation will be at the direction of the Editorial Consultant and under the oversight of the Senate President.

There may be extenuating circumstances when immediate inclusion of an adopted revision in the Manual is required or highly desirable for the time-critical promotion of faculty welfare. To ensure continuity in adherence to the Manual and minimize inadvertent violations of the Manual by members of the University community, immediate inclusions shall not be made as a matter of convenience but, instead, reserved for those rare cases where adopted revisions are unusually timely or urgent. Immediate inclusion of specific revisions must first be approved, on a case-by-case basis, by the Faculty Senate Executive Advisory Committee. The approved request must then be brought to the Senate and requires approval by two-thirds of the Senators present. Immediate inclusion requests approved by the Senate must be subsequently approved by the Provost or, for those changes subject to Board of Trustees approval, the Board of Trustees. The Senate President must, within 10 weekdays following final approval, notify all faculty of any immediate revisions to the Faculty Manual.

The Senate President will report to the Senate, Provost, and faculty whenever the Manual has been updated. Overall responsibility for maintaining and distributing the Clemson University Faculty Manual is vested in the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost and is carried out by the Faculty Senate Office.

If there is uncertainty about how to apply the Faculty Manual in a particular situation, users are invited to consult with the Faculty Senate President and the Faculty Manual Editorial Consultant. The Senate President may handle the matter or refer it to the relevant committee or person for resolution.

D. Alleged Violations of the *Manual

If the procedures and policies outlined in this Manual have not been followed, a written and signed report should be made to the President of the Faculty Senate. The report should include the section of the Manual that is not being followed, the person(s), department(s), etc. involved, and a brief description of the situation. The President may handle the matter or refer it to the relevant committee or person for resolution. The name(s) of the person(s) filing the report shall be kept confidential by the President of the Faculty Senate.

1. Resolving the issue. The President of the Faculty Senate, or one of the standing committees that s/he may designate to address the matter in his/her stead, may seek additional information. If the Senate President, or the designated committee, decides that a Faculty Manual violation has not occurred, that decision shall be communicated to the individual making the allegation and the matter will be considered closed. If the Senate President, or the designated committee, decides that a Faculty Manual violation has occurred, s/he or the committee will notify the person charged with the violation that the issue is being considered and recommend a resolution to address the violation. The Senate President will communicate the proposed resolution to the complainant, the alleged violator(s) and any other named parties, and the Provost in writing. All of these persons shall be asked to respond in writing within seven weekdays of receiving the decision. If any of these parties do not accept the resolution, the Senate President shall forward the proposed resolution, as well as any relevant materials, to the Provost. The Provost shall render a decision in writing and communicate it to the Senate President and all involved parties.

2. Recusal of Senate President or Provost. If the alleged Faculty Manual violation involves the Senate President, the chair of the Senate Policy Committee shall serve in place of the Senate President. If the alleged Faculty Manual violation involves the Provost, the President of the University shall serve in place of the Provost.

E. Confidentiality

In several subsequent sections of the Faculty Manual, as well as in the preceding paragraph, it is stated that certain kinds of information disclosed to Faculty Senate members, other faculty members, grievance hearing panels, Clemson University administrators and others will remain "confidential." It is the intent of the University that this information shall remain confidential and that University faculty and staff shall be obliged to maintain that confidentiality to the extent permitted by state and federal law. However, if Clemson University receives a valid request for documents or information through court order, subpoena, discovery request, police proceedings, the South Carolina Freedom of Information Act or other legally recognized proceedings, Clemson University may be required by law to disclose documents or information that the Faculty Manual states will remain confidential. Any such mandatory disclosure shall not be considered to be a violation of the Faculty Manual.

F. Terminology

Several categories of "faculty" are used throughout the Manual. Unless otherwise specified, the following definitions apply:

1. Faculty--Faculty as defined in the constitution (Part VIII of this Manual). It includes tenured and tenure-track faculty with appointments of instructor through full professor. It does not exclude those with administrative appointments, such as the president, the Provost, and deans.
- 2. Regular faculty -- All Faculty as defined in the Constitution of the Faculty of Clemson University (Part VIII of the Faculty Manual) with the exception of those holding Nonacademic Administrative appointments as described in Part VI Section K or Academic Administrative appointments who should be evaluated under Part VI Section J (Review of Academic Administrators) of the Faculty Manual. The Regular Faculty ranks are described in Part III, Section D of this Manual.
3. Special faculty - Includes those who have been hired under the various titles for special faculty (fully described in Part III, Section E of this Manual).
4. faculty -- a generic term including all of the above.

PART III. THE FACULTY

A. General Philosophy

Institutions of higher learning are communities of scholars in which faculty gather to seek, teach, and disseminate knowledge for its own sake rather than for any immediate political, social, or economic goal. Such institutions are conducted for the common good and not to further the interests of either the individual faculty member or the institution as a whole. The attainment of that common good depends upon the free search for truth and its free expression.

Academic freedom is essential to these purposes. Colleges and universities can fulfill their missions only when their faculties enjoy the academic freedom to pursue knowledge without fear of pressure from sources inside or outside their institutions. For this reason, academic freedom is a right and not a privilege to be granted or withheld. As will be indicated below, however, such freedom carries with it commensurate duties and responsibilities.

It is the policy of Clemson University to preserve and defend A by vigorously resisting all efforts from whatever source to encroach upon or restrict it. In policy and in practice, the university and its accrediting agency, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, adhere to the 1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP), which has long been recognized as providing reasonable and authoritative guidelines for American institutions of higher learning. The section on academic freedom below essentially reiterates the principles set forth in this statement, with some modification and extension consistent with its intent and with later declarations by the Association.

B. Academic Freedom and Responsibility

Their scholarship and mastery of their subjects entitles faculty to hold teaching positions and to enjoy freedom in the presentation of those subjects in the classroom. Thus, it is inappropriate and improper for faculty to persistently intrude materials unrelated to their subjects into their teaching. It is likewise a violation of professional responsibility to fail to present the subject matter of a course as announced to students and as approved by the faculty in its collective responsibility for the curriculum.

Faculty members are entitled to full freedom in research and publication, subject to any restrictions set by law or by applicable codes of professional ethics, and subject to the satisfactory performance of their other academic duties and to stated university policy on outside employment. Research and/or consultation for pecuniary return should be based upon an understanding between the individual faculty member and the institution. Except under conditions of national emergency, a faculty member should not undertake research on university time or use university facilities or funds under any agreement which would (except for a clearly stated, reasonable time) prohibit open communication of the results.

Faculty members are citizens, members of learned professions, and officers of institutions of higher learning. As members of a community, Clemson faculty members have the rights and obligations of any citizen. They measure the urgency of these obligations in the light of their responsibilities to their students, disciplines, professions, and to the university. When they speak or write as private persons, faculty shall be free from institutional censorship or disciplinary action, but they shall avoid creating an impression that they are speaking or acting for the university. When they speak or write within the areas of their expertise, faculty have the right to identify themselves by academic rank and institutional affiliation. In so doing, they should not assert or imply that they are acting as spokespersons for the university. As professional educators and academic officers, they are aware that the public may judge their profession and their institution by their utterances. Hence, faculty members should endeavor to be accurate, to exercise due restraint, to show respect for the utterances of others, and, when appropriate, to indicate that they are not officially representing Clemson University.

Because freedom of access to recorded knowledge is essential to teaching, learning, and research in a democracy, the right and obligation of the university to provide a full range of materials on any subject, however unpopular, controversial, or apparently incorrect, shall not be infringed. The principles of academic freedom shall apply to the acquisition and preservation of such materials and also to those who provide and those who use them.

Because academic freedom also includes the right to hear, Clemson endorses the 1957 Declaration of the AAUP that the university "...asserts the right of students to listen to anyone whom they wish to hear [in the] belief that it is educationally desirable that students be confronted with diverse opinions of all kinds, [and Clemson further] holds that any person who is presented by a recognized student or faculty organization should be allowed to speak on . . . campus."

Duly constituted organizations at Clemson University may invite and hear speakers without fear of reprisals. However, in the exercise of this right it is recognized that:

"Membership in the academic community imposes upon students, faculty members, administrators, and trustees an obligation to respect the dignity of others, to acknowledge their right to express differing opinions, and to foster and defend intellectual honesty, freedom of inquiry and instruction, and free expression on and off the campus. The expression of dissent and the attempt to produce change, therefore, may not be carried out in ways which injure individuals or damage institutional facilities or disrupt the classes of one's teachers or colleagues. Speakers on campus must not only be protected from violence but must be given an opportunity to be heard. Those who seek to call attention to grievances must not do so in ways that significantly impede the functions of the institution." (1970 Declaration of the AAUP Council)

Academic freedom, then, is inevitably accompanied by academic responsibility. Various aspects of this responsibility are specified below. Nothing in this description is intended to abridge in any way the principles and procedures advanced in the 1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure. The description itself is derived in substantial measure from the AAUP Statement on Professional Ethics (1966).

Faculty members have responsibilities to their students. They shall encourage in students the free pursuit of learning and independence of mind, while holding before them the highest scholarly and professional standards. Faculty shall show respect for the student as an individual and shall adhere to their proper role as intellectual guides and counselors. They shall make every reasonable effort to foster honest academic conduct and to ensure that their evaluation of each student reflects, as nearly as possible, the true worth of the student's academic performance, regardless of considerations of race, creed, gender, sexual orientation, or personal beliefs. Faculty shall eschew any exploitation of students for private advantage and shall acknowledge any significant assistance received from them.

Faculty members also have responsibilities to their colleagues, deriving from their common membership in a community of scholars. They shall respect and defend the free inquiry of their associates. In the exchange of criticism and ideas they shall show due regard for the opinions of others and shall acknowledge their intellectual debts. They shall strive to be objective and fair in any professional judgments of their colleagues. A fuller description of professional responsibilities toward colleagues can be found in Part IX.E. of the Manual.

Faculty members have responsibility to their disciplines and to the advancement of knowledge generally. In this regard their primary obligation is to seek and to state the truth as they perceive it. To this end, they shall devote their energies to developing and improving their scholarly competence. They shall exercise critical self-discipline and judgment in using, extending, and transmitting knowledge, and they shall at all times practice intellectual honesty.

Faculty members have responsibilities to the university. Thus, faculty shall accept a reasonable share of the responsibility for the governance of the university. While exercising their right to evaluate university policies and procedures and to seek to revise them, they shall abide by such policies and procedures as are current, provided these do not contravene academic freedom. While individual faculty determine the amount and nature of the work they perform outside the university, they shall do so within the guidelines set forth in university policy (see Part X C) and with full regard for their paramount responsibilities within the university. In the eventuality of a foreseen interruption or termination of a faculty member's service with the university, the effects of such a change upon the program of the university shall be taken into account and due notice shall be given.

In their formal capacity as employees of the State of South Carolina, faculty members are bound by the Rules of Conduct for Public Officials and Public Employees prepared by the S.C. State Ethics Commission. In the main these rules have to do with the use of an official position for personal gain or to exercise improper influence. For example, no faculty member may "use or disclose confidential information gained in the course of or by reason of his/her official position or activities in any way that would result in financial gain for himself/herself or for any other person." Faculty seeking clarification of their status according to the Rules of Conduct should contact the university human resources division.

C. General Qualifications for Faculty Appointments

Individuals appointed to the Faculty of Clemson University are expected to exhibit and maintain mastery of their fields, whether they are appointed primarily for teaching, research, public service, librarianship, or administration. In judging the effectiveness of an individual's work, the quality of performance of assigned duties in teaching, research, public service, librarianship, and/or administration shall be considered, along with knowledge of subject matter, professional stature, contributions to professional societies, and contributions to the university through student counseling, committee work, assigned administrative duties, and public service activities. It is the responsibility of academic administrators to keep faculty clearly informed as to the duties required or expected of them.

Rank at initial appointment and promotion in rank is based on education, relevant experience, accomplishments, and effectiveness of performance in the areas listed in the preceding paragraph. The term "relevant experience" used below is broadly interpreted to include professional experience judged to be pertinent to the position to which the faculty member is appointed. Degree requirements refer to earned degrees from institutions of recognized standing in subject fields relevant to the field of appointment. Specific qualifications are set forth in departmental guidelines. The departmental faculty, through a peer review process, is the primary judge of these qualifications. The details of the peer evaluation process vary among departments, but the general procedure is described in Section D below, along with the minimum expectations for individuals holding various academic ranks. These standards are not imposed rigidly, however, since illustrious achievements and national or international recognition may overshadow any requirements as to educational level and length of experience. Further, it should be understood that satisfying the minimal educational and experiential requirements does not in itself necessarily justify advancement in rank, for such advancement is based upon ongoing evaluations of a faculty member's professional accomplishments in the context of departmental, school, college, and university needs and expectations.

Regular appointments are full-time appointments in an academic unit that is under the jurisdiction of the Provost for individuals expected to have a permanent association with the university. Except for Instructor, these are tenurable appointments. Until tenure is granted, regular appointments are for one-year terms.

<sup>1</sup> Some individuals are assigned regular faculty ranks without tenure in accordance with agreements between Clemson University and Governmental entities such as the U.S. Army and Air Force ROTC units and the South Carolina Cooperative Fish and Wildlife Research Unit.

Non-renewal requires advance notice (see Part IV, Section F). Regular appointments carry voting membership in the university faculty.

Unless indicated otherwise, when the term “regular faculty” is used throughout the Faculty Manual it is limited to faculty with the ranks described below who have no administrative appointment.

1. Instructor. Normally, the master's degree or equivalent is required, with preference given to those pursuing the terminal degree. Appointees should show promise for advancement to a higher rank. Instructors are eligible for promotion to assistant professor only if they have the qualifications for the rank of assistant professor, a position becomes available, and the department has conducted or conducts a national search for that position. Instructors not promoted by the end of the fourth year of service will receive a one-year terminal appointment. Instructor is not a tenurable rank, but three or fewer years of service in that rank may be credited toward tenure.
2. Assistant Professor. The terminal degree is normally required, but substantial progress toward the terminal degree may be acceptable. The persons appointed to this rank should show evidence of ability to meet the requirements for advancement in faculty rank.
3. Associate Professor. Normally, the terminal degree and relevant experience are required. Also expected is evidence of scholarly or creative publication; fulfillment of service responsibilities to the department, the school, the college, and the university; and marked success in teaching, research, and/or public service.
4. Professor. The terminal degree, relevant experience, and continued significant scholarly/creative accomplishment are required. The rank of professor is granted on the basis of distinguished scholarly or creative publication, outstanding contributions to the university, and conspicuous success in all areas of assigned responsibility in teaching, research, and/or public service.
5. Library Faculty. The library faculty ranks of General Librarian, Assistant Librarian, Associate Librarian, and Librarian correspond to the faculty ranks of Instructor, Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, and Professor. The Guidelines for Appointment, Reappointment, Tenure and Promotion specify qualifications for these ranks. Provisions of this Manual that refer to specific faculty ranks apply to the corresponding Library faculty ranks.

E. Special Faculty Ranks

Appointments to all special faculty ranks shall be made by the Department Chair with Department faculty approval if such approval is required by relevant unit or College bylaws (in this section, references to department chair should be understood to refer to the school/center/institute director if appropriate). Prior to making an offer of appointment, the Department Chair must receive verification of the existence and sufficiency of the funding supporting the appointment from the appropriate Dean or the Provost. Conditions of appointment shall be fully detailed in the letter of appointment, including at a minimum: the appointment rank; the department, school, center, or institute to which the academic appointment applies; and any remuneration to be paid to the special faculty member. Special faculty appointments are not tenurable and do not carry any expectation of renewal, although appointments may be renewed. Service in special faculty ranks normally does not count towards a regular faculty rank tenure probationary period (see Part IV, Section G). Appointment of an individual with a special faculty rank to a regular faculty rank must follow the personnel practices and procedures for appointment described in Part IV of the Faculty Manual. If the approved bylaws of the applicable unit or college specifically provide such privileges, special faculty ranks have voting and membership privileges in unit and college meetings and on unit and college committees except those restricted to regular faculty in Part VII, Section L. Special faculty ranks have voting membership privileges on university committees except those restricted to regular faculty in Part VII, Section L.

1. Visiting Faculty. The term "visiting" denotes a temporary appointment of an individual for a term of one year or less, subject to limited renewals. Visiting appointments are appropriate only in cases in which the association with the university is meant to be temporary and brief. The qualifications for visiting faculty shall be comparable to those for appointment at corresponding regular faculty rank.
2. R.O.T.C. Faculty. Army and Air Force personnel are nominated by their respective services and are approved by the university for appointment to the faculty of the Reserve Officer Training Corps program. These appointments are generally for three-year terms. The appropriate faculty rank is determined by the qualifications of the individual.
3. Adjunct Faculty. The term "adjunct" denotes an advisory appointment. It may be assigned to individuals whose principal employer is other than Clemson University and who bring needed expertise to the teaching, research, or public service programs of the University. The qualifications for adjunct faculty rank shall be comparable to those for appointments at corresponding regular faculty ranks. Adjunct appointments generally do not involve remuneration from the university; are for up to five years; are individually negotiated as to terms; and may be renewable. Adjunct appointments shall be limited to those making active contributions to the teaching, research, or public service programs of the university, and are subject to review by departmental faculty.
4. Research Faculty. The title of research professor, research associate professor, and research assistant professor (depending upon professional qualifications) may be granted to persons engaged in full time research who are supported exclusively (including fringe benefits) from external funds or foundation accounts. Such appointments must be initiated by the host department(s) in accordance with departmental bylaws and approved by the dean and the Provost. These positions are contingent upon the availability of external funds and adequate space; termination is automatic upon expiration of external funding. Individuals holding these positions will be subject to annual review utilizing the faculty activity system for faculty continuance. Initial appointment, reappointment, and promotion will be based on departmental bylaws and will be contingent upon plans for and contributions to the department's undergraduate, graduate, and public service programs that interface with their research or public service activities. Examples are participation in departmental seminars, research exposure with undergraduate and graduate students, provision for funding of graduate students, service on the graduate advisory committee, and public service activities related to the department's mission. Distribution of indirect costs or overhead generated shall follow university policy. These positions are not tenurable, nor shall time spent in such a position count toward tenure.
5. Extension Faculty. The title of extension professor, extension associate professor, and extension assistant professor (depending upon professional qualifications) may be granted to persons engaged in full time extension or public service who are supported exclusively (including fringe benefits) from external funds or foundation accounts. Such appointments must be initiated by the host department(s) in accordance with departmental bylaws and approved by the Dean and the Provost. These positions are contingent upon the availability of external funds and adequate space; termination is automatic upon expiration of external funding. Individuals holding these positions will be subject to annual review utilizing the faculty activity system for faculty continuance. Initial appointment, reappointment, and promotion will be based on departmental bylaws and will be contingent upon plans for and contributions to the department's extension and/or public service programs. Distribution of indirect costs or overhead generated shall follow university policy. These positions are not tenurable, nor shall time spent in such a position count toward tenure.
6. Lecturer. This rank is assigned in cases where the assignment of regular faculty ranks is not appropriate or possible. Individuals having initial lecturer appointments beginning after 15 May 2011 shall have no administrative duties inconsistent with those of regular faculty. These academic appointments shall be for one-year terms and, beginning in Fall 2013, may be renewed for a maximum of 9 full academic years. For the purposes of academic appointment and reappointment, a one-year term begins August 15 and ends May 16 although lecturers may be extended benefits over the summer. Notice of renewal or non-renewal must be provided before July 15 for the following August 15-May 16 term. After May 16 following completion of four or more one-year terms of continuous appointment as a lecturer, one year's notice of non-renewal must be provided. No notice of non-renewal shall be required if a lecturer resigns, is terminated, or is dismissed for cause (Part IV, section K).

Beginning in Fall 2013, lecturers shall be evaluated annually by their department chair/school director and by their unit tenure-promotion-(re)appointment committee following procedures and standards that shall be specified in the unit's tenure-promotion-(re)appointment document. Beginning in Fall 2013, following a lecturer's fourth year of service, the department chair/school director and the unit tenure-promotion-(re)appointment committee shall conduct a comprehensive review of the lecturer either in response to a request for promotion to senior lecturer or to advise the lecturer of his/her progress towards promotion to senior lecturer. Equivalent experience at Clemson may be counted towards this four year service requirement. If (a) a lecturer fails to request promotion to senior lecturer by the Fall semester tenure-promotion-reappointment request deadline for regular faculty during the lecturer's eighth year of service, or b) a lecturer requests promotion and is not promoted to senior lecturer during his or her eighth year of service, then the lecturer shall not be reappointed following a final ninth year of service.

In cases in which there is nonreappointment or in which there is a discrepancy in the recommendation for retention or promotion to senior lecturer between the tenure-promotion-(re)appointment committee and that of the department chair, the department chair shall make the dean aware of the situation. The dean, after meeting with the chair and with the committee to discuss the situation, will render a decision. In all cases of non-reappointment, the file shall be forwarded to the Provost for final decision.

7. Temporary Lecturer. This rank is assigned to individuals who receive limited duration appointments. These appointments shall be for one-year or less and may be renewed.
8. Senior Lecturer. After four full academic years of service (beginning in Fall 2013), a lecturer may apply for promotion to senior lecturer; equivalent experience at Clemson may be counted towards the four year service requirement. A department chair/school director and the department/school tenure-promotion-(re)appointment committee make independent promotion recommendations to the college dean, who makes the promotion decision and appointment. Senior lecturers shall be offered three-year contracts with the requirement of one year's notice of non-renewal before July 15. Beginning Fall 2013, Senior lecturers shall be evaluated annually by their department chair/school director. Senior lecturers shall be evaluated by their department/school tenure-promotion-(re) appointment committee, following procedures and standards that shall be specified in the unit's tenure-promotion-(re)appointment document, at least once every three years as determined by the faculty. Senior lecturers shall have no administrative duties inconsistent with those of regular faculty.

The senior lecturer appointment is intended to recognize the efforts, contributions, and performance of lecturers who combine effective instruction with additional significant contributions to the mission of the University. Accordingly, beginning in Fall 2013, length of service as lecturer is, itself, not a sufficient criterion for promotion to senior lecturer. Instead, the process and criteria for promotion from lecturer to senior lecturer are determined by departments/schools and shall be described in their tenure and promotion document.

Lecturers must document and provide evidence of their teaching performance and additional contributions/activities to the department chair/school director and department/school tenure-promotion-(re)appointment committee for evaluation and consideration for promotion to senior lecturer.

During the 2012-2013 Academic Year, evaluation and promotion of/to senior lecturer(s) should follow the 2011-2012 Faculty Manual.

9. Post-Doctoral Research Fellow. This title denotes an appointment for special research functions, typically in connection with externally funded research projects. The individuals appointed shall have the general qualifications for regular faculty. The term of appointment normally shall not exceed one year. Limited renewals are possible.
10. Part-Time Faculty. Individuals who are assigned less than full normal workloads in teaching, research, and/or public service may be appointed to the ranks of Instructor, Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, or Professor with the suffix, "part-time." Such appointments are made for one semester or one year, renewable. Qualifications for rank at initial appointment and for promotion are the same as for regular faculty ranks. These employees participate in the state retirement system, but appointments for less than three-quarters time do not carry any insurance or related fringe benefits, nor do they allow for reduced fees for enrollment in university courses.

F. Endowed Chairs and Titled Professorships

These positions are established in recognition of exceptional levels of achievement. The priorities placed on excellence in teaching, research, and public service vary with the purposes of the particular professorship or chair. A university chair is normally funded by an endowment which is the sole or primary source of the holder's remuneration. Holders of titled professorships are remunerated with state funds, but receive salary supplements from endowments or from annual grants to the university. Procedures for appointments to these positions are set forth below.

According to a policy adopted on July 17, 1981, by the Board of Trustees, those appointed to endowed chairs and titled professorships must be selected by members of the academic community. Because of the university-wide importance of such a position, there must be representation on the search-and-screening committee from a college other than the one to which the chair or titled professorship is assigned. In all cases nominations of candidates for the position shall be openly and publicly solicited.

A limited number of Alumni Distinguished Professors are selected from those Clemson University faculty holding the rank of professor who have been employed by Clemson University for at least 5 years. Selection is based on dedication to and excellence in teaching and a continuing commitment to Clemson University and Clemson students. Evaluation criteria encompass all achievements in teaching, research, public service and other professional activities. Alumni Distinguished Professors receive a salary supplement from the Clemson University Alumni Association, and one of their number serves on the Alumni National Council.

For selection of Alumni Distinguished Professors, the faculty of each college elects a college selection committee with representatives from each department offering undergraduate courses. Each college selection committee forwards not more than three nominees to the final selection committee. The final selection committee, composed of the collegiate deans and chaired by the senior collegiate dean in terms of service as dean, recommends a single nominee for each vacancy to the Provost. The Provost forwards all documentation, along with any comments of his/her own, to the President for final approval. If the President so directs, the Provost asks the committee for additional nominations. If additional nominations are requested, the college selection committee will again submit nominees to the final selection committee and the entire selection process is repeated.

For all other endowed chairs and titled professorships, the composition of the search-and-screening committees shall receive the approval of the Provost. The majority of each such committee shall be composed of faculty members from the department to which the chair or titled professorship is assigned and shall be elected by the faculty of that department. At least one faculty member from a related discipline in another college shall be appointed to the committee by the Provost. Administrators in the line of appointment shall not serve on the committee. The committee nominates a slate of candidates and forwards its recommendations to the department chair. The department chair recommends a candidate for the position and forwards this recommendation, along with the slate of nominees, for review and approval by the dean, the Provost, and the President. If the President so directs, the Provost asks the committee for additional nominations.

During development of an endowed chair proposal, a sponsoring party representative may act in an advisory capacity with the committee or members thereof developing the proposal. During any competitive review process evaluating an endowed chair proposal, a sponsoring party representative may take part in presenting the proposal to the review team, acting in a support capacity. After an endowed chair proposal has been approved, a sponsoring party representative may interview the final candidates and offer opinions about the candidates' qualifications to the search-and-screening committee. A sponsoring party representative shall not be a member of the search-and-screening committee or be involved in making the final decision to hire.

The rank and tenure status of those appointed to endowed chairs and titled professorships shall be determined by the applicable rules, regulations, policies, and practices governing all appointments to the faculty of Clemson University. Inasmuch as endowed chairs and titled professorships are established in recognition of exceptional levels of achievement in teaching, research, and public service, individuals whose principal responsibilities are administrative are not normally eligible for these appointments. Under exceptional conditions a department chair or prospective department chair may receive an appointment to an endowed chair or titled professorship. Such an appointment must be ratified by a two-thirds vote of approval by the faculty of the affected department. This vote shall be by secret ballot and shall be administered by the department's tenure and promotion or personnel committee.

The university community as a whole has a vested and vital interest in the academic contributions of holders of endowed chairs and titled professorships. Consequently, while appointments to such chairs and professorships shall be for an indefinite period, and while the performance of the holders of such appointments shall be subject to the normal reviews of performance to which all faculty members are subject, special or periodic review of the professional performance of these particular faculty members may be conducted, but only if conditions stated at the time of award so stipulate. Such a review may be initiated by the dean of the college if requested by both the departmental faculty advisory committee and the department chair. If the holder of the chair or endowed professorship is the department chair, the dean of a college shall initiate the review at the request of the departmental tenure and promotion or personnel committee.

For any such review the Provost shall ensure that a committee (composed in the same manner as the search-and-screening committee that made the initial selection of the holder) evaluates the performance of the holder of the chair or titled professorship. Recommendations for removal by this committee shall follow the same route as those of the initial search-and-screening committee. Should these recommendations result in a decision by the President to remove the incumbent from the chair or titled professorship, such a decision shall not affect the incumbent's tenure status and professorial rank. If the holder of the chair or endowed professorship is a department chair or prospective department chair, the appointments shall be independent.

For any such review the Provost shall ensure that a committee evaluates the performance of the holder of the chair or titled professorship. The committee shall not include any sponsoring party representation, and its majority shall be composed of faculty members from the department to which the chair or titled professorship is assigned and shall be elected by the faculty of that department. Recommendations for removal by this committee shall follow the same route as those of the initial search-and-screening committee. Should these recommendations result in a decision by the President to remove the incumbent from the chair or titled professorship, such a decision shall not affect the incumbent's tenure status and professorial rank. If the holder of the chair or endowed professorship is a department chair or prospective department chair, the appointments shall be independent.

Before the end of the fiscal year a record of all expenditures from the account supporting each endowed chair and titled professorship shall be made available to its holder.

G. TERIed Faculty

Faculty (and staff) who meet retirement eligibility criteria with the South Carolina Retirement System may sign a TERI (Teacher and Employee Retention Incentive) agreement under which their retirement pension is deposited in a non-interest-bearing account while they continue to perform their regular duties for up to five years. TERIed faculty enjoy all the rights, privileges, and responsibilities of regular faculty. Upon exiting the TERI program, faculty members who have sufficient years of service become emeritus faculty. Additional information about the TERI program can be found on the Office of Human Resources website (http://www.clemson.edu/cao/humanresources/benefits/teri\_faq.html).

H. Emeritus Faculty

Regular faculty members, including library faculty, who have served at least five years at the university and fifteen years in the academic profession receive the title of Emeritus or Emerita appended to their professorial rank upon official retirement.

In recognition of their service to the university, their honored place in the university community, and their ongoing capacities for advancing human knowledge and contributing to the intellectual and cultural life of the university, emeritus faculty as scholars have certain rights and privileges accorded to them by Clemson University. For example, they are members of the university faculty (see Part VIII, Faculty Constitution, Article I, Section 1) and are welcome to participate fully in all meetings of the university faculty. Colleges and academic departments may extend similar invitations to their retired colleagues. Emeritus faculty not receiving university compensation may apply for the privilege of free parking through the Emeritus College.

I. Retired Faculty

It is the policy of the university to allow emeritus and other retired faculty and staff to use as many of its facilities and services as practicable. To this end the university provides a faculty identification card upon request to the university personnel division, which is used for Library and other privileges. Retired faculty may, upon application, be granted faculty parking privileges, receive reduced rates on athletic tickets, obtain membership in Fike Recreation Center, retain access to university computing services, and enjoy any other benefits accorded to faculty which do not exert undue financial burdens upon the university. In addition, they may request the use of available office and/or lab space and may apply, upon approval, for university research grants under the same rules as other faculty.

Those retired faculty who remain professionally active shall be allocated office and laboratory space to an extent commensurate with the level of their activity. Not less than three nor more than twelve months prior to retirement, the faculty member shall submit to the department chair a brief description of the nature and proposed level of activity. If the faculty member and chair cannot agree upon the allocation of space, the matter shall be referred to the dean of the college. If the matter cannot be reconciled at that level, it shall be adjudicated by an ad hoc committee consisting of a department chair from another college appointed by the Provost, a member of the Faculty Senate research committee appointed by the Faculty Senate President, and a chaired professor elected by the chaired professors. This committee shall conduct expeditious hearings, which shall include seeking input from faculty in the affected department, as well as from the retiree, the department chair, and the dean. The recommendation of this committee shall be final. Annually, three months prior to the anniversary of retirement, the retired faculty member shall submit to the department chair a concise report of activities in the previous year and a description of the proposed activities for the following year. Disagreements on the continuation of space assignments will be resolved in the manner described above.

J. Faculty Awards

1. The Alumni Master Teaching Award. Presented annually to a member of the faculty, this award recognizes outstanding classroom teaching. Nominations for the award may be made by any member of the Clemson University student body, faculty, or administration. Selection of the recipient is made by the Student-Alumni Council.
2. The Alumni Award for Outstanding Research. Jointly administered by the Clemson University chapters of Sigma Xi and Phi Kappa Phi, this award annually recognizes outstanding contributions to research by Clemson faculty.
3. The Alumni Award for Distinguished Public Service. This award is presented annually and recognizes distinguished service to the citizenry of South Carolina by Clemson specialists, extension workers, and county agents.
4. The Alan Schaffer Faculty Senate Service Award recognizes exceptional service on behalf of the Faculty Senate. Any faculty or staff member or administrator is eligible, with strong preference given to individuals who have provided direct service to the Faculty Senate. Current Faculty Senate officers are ineligible.
5. The Class of '39 Award for Excellence has been established by the Class of 1939 to recognize the achievements of the Clemson Faculty. The Award will be made to a faculty member who is judged by his or her peers to have made the "highest achievement of service" to the Student Body, the University, and the Clemson Community, State of South Carolina, or the Nation. Eligibility requirements are: be an active faculty member, have at least five years of Clemson University faculty service, have been granted tenure at Clemson University, have performed in an outstanding manner in at least two of the following areas: (1) assigned responsibility, (2) interrelations with the Student Body, (3) activities in behalf of the University, and (4) activities benefiting the local community, state or nation.
6. The Centennial Professorship Award is a rotating award bestowed by the Clemson University faculty on an outstanding colleague. The Professorship is supported by an endowment jointly funded by the Clemson University faculty and their friends and a matching grant from the Commission on Higher Education. Faculty who are tenured or have a tenure-track appointment are eligible for this award and will be considered on the basis of demonstrated excellence in one or more of the following areas: undergraduate and/or graduate teaching, applied and/or basic research, public/extension service and/or librarianship.

Eligibility Criteria - State appropriations law requires employee award programs associated with public funds to have approved written criteria regarding who may receive remuneration associated with some of the above awards. Nominators, nominees, and reviewers should be cognizant of these eligibility criteria, which may be found in the Human Resources Policies and Procedures Manual (http://workgroups.clemson.edu/FIN5337\_HR\_POLY\_PROC\_MANUAL/view\_document.php?id=148).

PART IV. PERSONNEL PRACTICES

A. Procedures for Faculty Appointments

Candidates for appointment to the regular faculty shall be recruited and evaluated by a search-and-screening committee composed of members of the regular faculty and others if specified in departmental bylaws. Such committees are selected in accordance with departmental bylaws or, in the absence of relevant bylaws, by the departmental faculty Advisory Committee. The credentials of each applicant shall be made available to all regular departmental faculty, from whom information and recommendations regarding selection shall be solicited. The search-and-screening committee shall make nominations of suitable candidates to the department chair, including recommended rank and tenure status on appointment. Proposals for appointment with immediate tenure, s of two years or less, and appointment at a rank higher than assistant professor must be reviewed in accordance with the department's tenure-and-promotion process. Transfers of tenured faculty between departments shall be reviewed by an appropriate departmental committee and a recommendation forwarded to the appropriate administrator.

The department chair shall make recommendations to the dean from the candidates nominated by the search-and-screening committee. If no appointment can be made from this list, additional nominations shall be sought from the committee. In the recommendation to the dean, the department chair shall indicate the degree of support of the faculty for the recommended candidate, the suggested rank, and the candidate's suggested tenure status, where appropriate.

All administrators and search-and-screening committee members shall ensure compliance with Affirmative Action guidelines (see Section B, below) and with "Procedures for Employing Non-citizens" (see the University Personnel Manual).

Any waiver of university search and screening procedures for particular appointments must be requested by the department chair with approval of the faculty's Departmental Advisory Committee and the departmental promotion, tenure and reappointment committee. Such waiver must be approved by the Office of Access and Equity and the Provost and must be documented through the submission of Waiver of Posting Form to the Office of Access and Equity for approval prior to any offer of appointment. The purpose of such a waiver is to allow for targeted appointments without widespread recruitment efforts in special cases or circumstances, such as hiring a high profile faculty member (e.g., Nobel laureate, national academy member), individuals who will enhance faculty diversity, or spouses of newly appointed faculty and/or administrators (see Section B, below). If the appointment is to a tenure-track position, the appointment must be approved by the departmental committee responsible for hiring decisions and the rank and tenure status must be approved by the departmental promotion, tenure and reappointment committee.

The selection of faculty for special appointments to meet temporary and/or short-notice needs requires that the department chair have greater discretionary authority. However, it is incumbent upon the chair to solicit responses from the faculty and to utilize the procedures for appointment of regular faculty whenever feasible.

B. Affirmative Action Policies and Procedures for the Recruitment and Appointment of Faculty and Administrators

Each college has its own affirmative action coordinator, appointed by the President, who establishes and monitors employment goals and timetables. The coordinator bears the responsibility for ensuring that each department in the college complies with both the letter and spirit of Clemson's affirmative action program. Specifically, each coordinator helps to implement affirmative action policy as related to the college and serves as liaison between the college and the Office of Access and Equity.

It is the policy of Clemson University that no person is to be accepted or rejected for employment solely on the basis of age, gender, disability, race, religion, national origin or sexual orientation. However, special attention to the identification, recruitment, and selection of minority group members, women, and disabled individuals is consistent with state and federal laws and regulations and with university policy.

Every administrative and academic officer and search-and-screening committee shall take appropriate steps within the areas of their responsibility to ensure that for each faculty and other professional position an active and thorough recruitment effort is made for qualified females, members of minority groups, and disabled individuals.

Such efforts shall be viewed by the Provost as an important factor in determining the acceptability of any recommendation for a position. Clemson's affirmative action policies and procedures are intended to complement the university's previous recruiting efforts. In this regard it is considered proper to define eligibility criteria so as to broaden the base of the talent pool to include special experience, training, and education not normally considered when such factors are important characteristics of eligibility for the position. Such considerations must be applied equally to all candidates for a position. The recommendation for an appointment to a position is to be made on the basis of the candidate's qualifications for the position.

1. Pre-Recruitment Stage. The search-and-screening committee of the department or equivalent unit shall complete an Unclassified Vacancy Announcement Form (AA-1) in consultation with the Office of Access and Equity. The Office advises the committee on the most effective ways to distribute information about the availability of the position to minority groups, women, and disabled persons, so as to encourage applications from these sources. Whenever feasible, the search-and-screening committee itself should include minority group members, women, and/or disabled individuals.
2. Recruitment Stage. All correspondence and advertising shall indicate that Clemson University is an "Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer," and all recruiting sources are to be informed of that fact by the committee. Federal regulations require that affirmative action employers collect and maintain data on the race, sex, disability status, and ethnic identity of all applicants for employment. This information, however, may not be required of applicants but may be voluntarily provided by applicants completing Affirmative Action Form 2 (AA-2).

If a particular applicant pool contains no or few minority, female, or disabled candidates, the director of the Office of Access and Equity should be asked to provide the recruiting unit with additional assistance in establishing suitable contacts. The group of applicants considered shall include qualified minorities, disabled persons, and women unless documentation is supplied that special efforts to recruit them have been made and failed.

There may be instances in which a person is recommended for a position by a search-and-screening committee without widespread recruitment efforts having been undertaken. Such cases may be justified when a qualified individual may be promoted from within the institution, when time is of the essence, when university operations would suffer as a result of an interim appointment, or when a person is available who is uniquely qualified for a position. By their very nature, such cases are rare. The acceptability of such cases shall be measured not only against the urgency of those particular appointments but also against past efforts to employ members of minority groups and women in the unit(s) recommending those appointments.

3. Appointment Stage. When the search-and-screening process has resulted in the selection of a candidate for appointment to a position, a "Request to Hire" form that documents the recruitment efforts for that position shall be prepared by the department chair or equivalent administrator in consultation with the director, Office of Access and Equity. This form shall be submitted to the Provost, without whose approval no offer to candidates shall be made. The dean of the college or equivalent administrator is responsible for monitoring the search-and-screening process to ensure that affirmative action policies and procedures are being followed. Upon receipt of the Provost's approval of the "Request to Hire" form, the dean issues the employment offer, utilizing the university's standard contract letter format.

C. Terms of Appointment

The offer of appointment to a prospective faculty member shall be made in writing by the dean of the college concerned, following a standardized procedure that includes establishing the appointment's terms and conditions. Any special understandings or conditions incumbent upon either party must be explicitly stated. The letter of understanding, upon acceptance by the appointee, along with relevant portions of the Faculty Manual, becomes the employment contract.

All regular appointments are to the rank of instructor or higher. In any regular appointment at Clemson University the initial appointment is for one year or less, subject to renewal for a one-year term. Tenure may be granted under the provision of Part IV, Section G. Tenure, having been granted, is continuous thereafter and can be revoked only through termination or dismissal under the terms of Part IV, Section K.

Special appointments, such as those awarded to post-doctoral research fellows, lecturers, visiting, adjunct, and part-time faculty as well as to R.O.T.C. personnel, generally specify brief associations with the university and limited faculty functions.

Except for faculty with tenured status, individuals holding teaching, research, or public service appointments shall be informed each year in writing of their appointments and of all matters relative to their eligibility for the acquisition of tenure. Any special standards adopted by the faculty member's department, school, or college shall also be brought immediately to the individual's attention.

D. Procedures for Renewal of Appointment, Tenure, and Promotion

Because the regular faculty of a department or equivalent academic unit is the primary judge of the qualifications of its members, peer evaluation is essential in recommendations for appointment, renewal of appointment, tenure, and promotion. All peer recommendations regarding any individual holding Faculty rank in a department shall, therefore, originate within the regular faculty of that department. Individual departments at Clemson University must establish and utilize written procedures and committee structures with defined membership in order to facilitate peer evaluation. These written procedures must incorporate attention to "Best Practices for a Performance Review System for Faculty" (Appendix E). Departmental regular faculty determine the tenure, promotion and reappointment standards, as well as procedures for electing the tenure, promotion and reappointment committee and the procedures the committee must follow. These will be stipulated in a Department's Tenure, Promotion and Reappointment document that is distinct from Department or unit bylaws. Departmental policies must include the following: voting rights on a committee making recommendations concerning tenure are limited to tenured regular faculty; voting rights on a committee making a recommendation concerning promotion to rank or appointment at a rank are limited to regular faculty with equivalent or higher rank. The Tenure, Promotion, and Reappointment document containing written policies, procedures, and committee structures must be approved by the regular faculty; department chair, school director or unit head; and Provost. The Tenure, Promotion, and Reappointment document as well as the identities of those members comprised by the committee reviewing tenure, promotion, and reappointment must promptly be made available to the candidate upon request to the department chair, school director, or unit head.

All personnel matters are confidential and a matter of trust. The departmental committee(s) reviewing appointment, promotion, and tenure matters shall be composed of full-time regular faculty members excluding individuals who, as administrators, have input into personnel decisions such as appointment, tenure, and promotion. The size of the tenure, promotion and reappointment committee may vary from one academic unit to another; however, the committee must have a minimum of three members. In cases in which the department does not have enough regular faculty members to constitute a tenure, promotion and reappointment committee, the full departmental regular faculty will elect regular faculty members from other departments who are qualified to serve on the tenure, promotion and reappointment committee. Initial recommendations on personnel decisions are made by the tenure, promotion and reappointment committee and the department chair. In cases where there is no department chair, the administrative recommendation is made by the school director. From the remainder of this section (D) through Section J, references to chair should be understood to refer to the school director if and only if there is no departmental chair.

The chair may be invited to serve as resource person but may not be present during committee deliberations and voting. Departmental procedures for peer evaluation shall be in writing and shall be available to the faculty, the chair, the dean, and the Provost. Each department's peer evaluation process shall receive formal approval by the faculty, the department chair or school director, the dean, and the Provost. To the maximum extent possible, the procedures followed and criteria used shall be explicit.

The department chair shall ensure that any faculty member eligible for renewal of appointment, tenure, or promotion is given an opportunity to be reviewed. The appropriate committee reviews each case in accordance with departmental procedures and policies, and renders a written recommendation. The department chair does not participate in the deliberations of the committee, but may, upon request of the committee, serve as a resource for the committee. In addition, the committee may, upon request of the chair, serve as a resource for the chair. The chair and the committee issue separate recommendations, free from coercion and interference from any parties. The department chair and the committee shall provide each other with a copy of their recommendations once both have been completed. The chair shall ensure that the affected faculty member is promptly informed in writing as to the results of and rationale for both recommendations, and the faculty member may elect to include a letter of response in the materials forwarded to the dean. In cases of promotion or early tenure consideration, the candidate may withdraw from further consideration at this point.

The chair shall forward to the dean both recommendations, the supporting evaluations, and the candidate's dossier. In cases in which there is a discrepancy in the rationale for retention, tenure, or promotion between a faculty member's peer committee and that of the department chair, that administrator shall make the dean aware of the discrepancy. The dean will meet with the chair and with the peer committee to discuss reasons for the discrepancy. A "Request for Personnel Action" form shall be attached to provide a record of the review at all administrative levels.

The dean reviews the complete file, makes a separate recommendation on the "Request for Personnel Action" form, and writes a report which includes a rationale for supporting or opposing the recommendations of the peer committee and department chair. The dean may establish committees within the college to provide assistance and advice in such reviews. The dean shall promptly inform the candidate in writing of his or her recommendation and its rationale, and the faculty member may elect to include a letter of response in the materials forwarded to the Provost. If the dean's recommendation differs from those of the peer committee and/or the department chair, the differences shall be discussed with them prior to informing the candidate. Except in cases of penultimate year tenure review, the candidate is offered the opportunity to withdraw at this stage. In all other cases the complete file is forwarded to the Provost.

The Provost reviews the complete file and forwards a recommendation for final action to the President. If the Provost agrees with concurring recommendations of the peer review committee, the department chair, and the dean, he/she may simply indicate this and sign the "Request for Personnel Action" form. Otherwise, the Provost shall write a recommendation to the President, which includes a rationale in addition to completing and signing the "Request for Personnel Action" form. The Provost shall ensure that the affected faculty member is informed promptly in writing as to the final action.

In the case of proposed new appointments of regular faculty, the primary peer evaluation of candidates' qualifications is made by the appropriate search-and-screening committee. However, appointment with immediate tenure, or with probationary periods of two years or less, or immediate appointment to a rank higher than assistant professor must be reviewed in accordance with the department's regular tenure and promotion peer evaluation process. These written procedures must incorporate attention to “Best Practices for a Performance Review System for Faculty,” Appendix E.

E. Annual Performance Evaluation

The annual performance evaluation by the chair or director and evaluation by the faculty peer review committee shall be conducted on an academic year basis. These reviews must incorporate attention to “Best Practices for a Performance Review System for Faculty,” Appendix E. For teaching faculty, student evaluations must be used as indicated in Part IX, Section D.11.

1. Establishment of Goals using Form 1 (Appendix F):

On a date stipulated by the Provost, and published in the “Calendar of Dates and Deadlines” the faculty member enters his/her goals for the year in the Faculty Activity System (FAS). The faculty member’s goals and assigned duties for that year are established by the chair or director in consultation with the faculty member; the percentage of emphasis given to each goal area is determined at the same time. “Professional Goals and Duties” (in Appendix F and printed from FAS) is used as a written record of these matters. Where there is a disagreement, the chair or director has the final responsibility to determine duties and goals and to set the percentage of emphasis distributed among goals; a faculty member who disagrees may file a disclaimer and indicate his or her disagreement on Form 1. A signed, printed copy of Form 1 will be placed in each faculty member’s personnel file. These goals are frozen for the university. If a revision of goals is required because of a significant change in workload or in response to input from the dean or chair, revised goals may be entered. Revised goals must be agreed to by the department chair or director. If goals are revised, a signed, printed copy of the new Form 1 will be added to the faculty member’s personnel file.

2. Statement of Accomplishments using FAS and Form 2 (Appendix F):

On a date stipulated by the Provost, and published in the “Calendar of Dates and Deadlines” faculty member completes Evaluation Form 2, “Annual Report of Professional Accomplishments” and submits it to the chair or director. (Form 2 is found in Appendix F and printed from FAS.) While this report will, in most cases, correspond to goals laid out in Form 1, faculty need to record the fullest account of yearly activity, especially concerning matters that might not otherwise come to the attention of the chair or director. Accomplishments not listed as objectives on Form 1 should be clearly identified as such. This annual report is restricted to activities related to the faculty member’s professional responsibilities and/or professional development.

3. Annual Faculty Evaluation using Form 3 (Appendix F):

Form 3 records the department chair’s summary evaluation of the faculty member. On the basis of material in Forms 1 and 2, personal observations, and a second interview, the chair or director completes Evaluation Form 3, “Evaluation of Academic Personnel” and forwards it to the dean no later than a date stipulated by the Provost... and published in the “Calendar of Dates and Deadlines.” In the case of tenure-track faculty, the chair may attach the faculty member’s most recent reappointment recommendation to the annual performance review (Form 3) and then complete the balance of the form, including evaluation of any accomplishments after the reappointment evaluation.

The narrative evaluation has three parts: (a) a description of the individual’s effectiveness with emphasis upon demonstrated strengths, (b) an indication of the area(s) where improvement is needed, and (c) suggestions of ways by which the faculty member can reach a higher stage of professional development.

In addition to a narrative evaluation, Form 3 calls for a “Total Performance Rating,” a six-step scale ranging from “excellent” to “unsatisfactory.” The department chair will check one category. After completing and signing Form 3, a copy goes to the faculty member who signs it and returns it to the chair or director. Signing this form does not imply agreement with the evaluation and the faculty member has the right to file a disclaimer to the chair's or director's evaluation within ten calendar days of its receipt. The chair will respond to any disclaimers and revise the evaluation if appropriate.

After ten calendar days, the department chair or director forwards Forms 1, 2, and 3, including any attachments and disclaimers, to the Dean. The chair is expressly prohibited from forwarding to the dean any material that was not seen by the faculty member during the evaluation process. After receiving the evaluation package, the dean has three weeks in which to read, sign, comment on the faculty member's performance and the chair's evaluation, and return the package. The dean will respond to any disclaimers and revise the evaluation if appropriate. Finally, a copy of Form 3 must go to the faculty member who will read, sign, and return the form to the chair. The faculty member's signature does not imply agreement and a disclaimer to the dean's evaluation can be filed within ten calendar days of receipt. Any annual evaluation to which a disclaimer has been filed (including copies of Forms 1, 2, and 3, all disclaimers, all responses, and any other supporting documents) must be forwarded to the Provost for information before being returned to the dean's office, to the chair's office, and, finally to the faculty member. Filing a disclaimer does not preclude or delay filing a grievance under Grievance Procedure II. The time period for the grievance process begins after the faculty member acknowledges by signature that he/she has received the dean's response to the evaluation.

Form 3, including all supporting documents (Forms 1 and 2, all disclaimers, all responses, and any other supporting documents), is an official document useful in faculty development and providing important information for decisions concerning reappointment, promotion, tenure, and salary. It becomes a part of the faculty member's permanent, confidential file retained by each college dean. The faculty member has the right of full disclosure of his/her confidential file.

In departments with four or more faculty, excluding the chair, a faculty member may request and receive in a timely fashion a report on how the six categories of the "total performance rating" were distributed among his/her colleagues, i.e., how many rated "excellent," "very good," etc. Where there are sufficient numbers of faculty so that confidentiality can be maintained, a more precise distribution appropriate to the rank and tenure status of the inquiring faculty member will be reported.

F. Notification of Renewal and Non-renewal of Appointments

The dean of the college shall notify non-tenured regular faculty members of the terms and conditions of the renewal of their appointments no later than May 16. Because the university budget requires legislative approval, salary notification may be delayed until after the General Assembly has acted.

Regardless of the stated term or other provisions of any regular appointment, written notice that a non-tenured appointment is not to be renewed shall be given to the faculty member in advance of the expiration of the appointment, according to the following schedule: 1) not less than three months in advance of the appointment's expiration if the faculty member is in the first year of service; 2) not less than six months in advance if in the second year of service; 3) at least twelve months before the expiration of an appointment after two or more years of service.

Special appointments do not require notice of non-renewal since such appointments are for stated periods of limited association with the university. The university does renew special appointments on a year-to-year basis in some instances. In such cases the university endeavors to provide reasonable notice of subsequent non-renewal.

G. Tenure Policies

After the expiration of a probationary period, faculty may be granted tenure, with their service terminated only for adequate cause and subject to due process in the consideration of their cases. Tenure is intended to enhance freedom in teaching, research, and other professional activities, and to provide the economic security required to sustain these freedoms.

Faculty with the rank of Assistant Professor or higher are eligible for tenure. However, faculty promoted from Instructor to higher rank may apply for credit towards the tenure probationary period for prior service as Instructor. Such applications shall be made to the chair or director or equivalent administrator at the time of promotion and shall be subject to peer review. Any decision shall be communicated in writing to the applicant before the next regular semester.

The tenure probationary period for a full-time regular faculty member shall not exceed seven years. If advance written agreement is reached by a faculty member, the chair or director, the dean, and the Provost, periods of leave without pay may be excluded from this seven-year period. Included within the tenure probationary period may be the faculty member's full-time tenured or tenure-track service at other institutions of higher learning, subject to advance written agreement. Time spent as lecturer or postdoctoral research fellow, as visiting, part-time, or adjunct faculty, or in other non-tenure-track positions (both academic and non-academic), whether at the University or elsewhere, shall not count as tenure probationary service unless approved by the department tenure-promotion-reappointment committee, department chair (see section D, paragraph 2), dean, and Provost and subject to advance written agreement. Candidates must be notified of their options during the contract negotiation process. Agreements for immediate tenure or for a probationary period of two years or less shall be reviewed in accordance with a department's regular tenure peer evaluation process. Leave time taken which benefits the institution as well as the individual faculty member may count as probationary period service.

Extension of the probationary period for any reason can only come at the request of the faculty member as long as the faculty member is capable of making the request. Probationary faculty who give birth, father, or adopt a child during their probationary period may receive a one-year extension of the tenure decision. The request for an extension must come within two months of the birth or adoption. The extension will automatically be granted, with notification to the Provost, unless the chair or dean can document sufficient reason for denial.

Request for an extension of the probationary period at the request of a faculty member for serious illness, family tragedy or other special circumstances may be granted with the approval of the Tenure, Promotion, and Reappointment Committee, Department Chair, Dean and Provost. We recognize that truly exceptional circumstances can arise that make it impossible for a faculty member to request an extension of the probationary period prior to his/her penultimate year. In only such extreme cases, the Provost may choose to extend the probationary period without consulting the incapacitated faculty member with the approval of the Dean, Department Chair, and Tenure, Promotion, and Reappointment Committee.

All regular faculty appointments are made on a year-to-year probationary basis until tenure is granted. Each appointment renewal and all grants of tenure (including appointment with immediate tenure) shall be subject to a peer review of the individual's qualifications by the affected department, as set forth above in Section D. All grants of tenure shall be approved by the President of the University, and tenure notification shall be made in writing in accordance with procedures developed by the President.

Normally, the decision to grant tenure shall be made during the penultimate year of the probationary period and becomes effective at the beginning of the next year. In exceptional cases tenure may be granted earlier. A recommendation to confer tenure for an assistant professor must be accompanied by a favorable recommendation for promotion to associate professor. Factors considered in early tenure may include relevant experience in other than tenure-track positions. Those persons holding tenure elsewhere may be considered for immediate tenure at Clemson, but this procedure shall not be considered as routine. Should notice of the denial of tenure not be given in advance of the expiration of the final probationary appointment tenure shall become automatic at the end of the probationary period.

The probationary period for all regular nine-month faculty begins August 15th and for regular twelve-month faculty, July 1st of the calendar year in which the individual is officially added to the faculty roster. However, nine month faculty officially joining the university after October 1st of a calendar year shall have their probationary period begin on the August 15th and twelve-month faculty on the July 1st following their appointment.

H. Post Tenure Review

1. Purpose. Post-tenure review (PTR) serves to evaluate rigorously a faculty member's professional contributions. The review should be used to ensure that all faculty serve the needs of the students and the institution and that excellent faculty are identified and rewarded. Although the focus of PTR is on the performance of the individual since his or her last tenure or post-tenure review, the overall contribution of the individual faculty member to Clemson University should not be neglected.
2. Coverage. All faculty members holding a tenured faculty position shall be subject to PTR except for a faculty member planning to retire by August 15th of the same academic year in which the post tenure review would occur, providing that a binding letter of intent to retire is signed thereby waiving the PTR.

The period for post tenure review is after every five years and is coincident with the beginning of the next five-year cycle. The first five-year period begins at the time that tenure is granted. Promotion during that period does not alter the schedule for review. PTR review covering that five year period are conducted during the fall semester of the sixth year when one or more faculty members in a department or equivalent unit is scheduled for review. Review of tenured academic administrators is accomplished in accordance with Section VI. J. of the Faculty Manual.

Periods of sick leave, sabbatical leave, or leave without pay will be excluded from this five-year period. Faculty who give birth, father, or adopt a child during any five-year period may, at their request, receive a one-year extension of the post-tenure review. The request for an extension must come within two months of the birth or adoption. The extension will automatically be granted unless the chair or dean can document sufficient reason for denial. Extension of the post-tenure review period of a faculty member for serious illness, family tragedy or other special circumstances may be granted with the approval of the department chair, dean and Provost.

3. Guidelines. The faculty of each academic unit shall prepare written guidelines (approved by a majority of the faculty, the respective dean, and the Provost) providing details of the PTR process.

These guidelines must incorporate attention to "Best Practices for Post-Tenure Review," Appendix G numbers 1 through 12. Although the details may vary from one academic unit to another or from one college to another within the university, such guidelines must be consistent with the following principles to ensure appropriate rigor.

- The primary basis for PTR is the individual's contributions in the areas of research and/or scholarship, teaching, and service.
- Guidelines must be flexible enough to accommodate faculty members with different professional responsibilities.
- PTR shall not infringe upon the accepted standards of academic freedom. Sex, age, ethnicity, and other factors unrelated to an individual's professional qualifications shall not be considered in the review process.

- The chairperson of the academic department and the dean of the college must not be involved directly in the peer review process at the departmental level.
  - The Post-Tenure Review must be linked to the annual reviews.
4. Schedule for Review. Whenever any faculty member is scheduled for regular review or in a period of post-tenure review remediation, a post-tenure review committee, separate from the regular tenure, promotion, and reappointment committee, will be constituted in accordance with departmental bylaws. Faculty members subject to Part II of post-tenure review will be recused from participating in this second stage process. Only tenured regular faculty members are eligible for election to the post-tenure review committee. The size of the committee may vary from one academic unit to another; however, the committee must have a minimum of three members. In cases in which the department does not have enough tenured regular faculty members to constitute a post-tenure review committee, the departmental tenure, promotion, and reappointment committee will elect regular faculty members from other departments who are qualified to serve on the post-tenure review committee. The post-tenure review committee will elect its own chair.
5. Part I, Post Tenure Review. The PTR committee will review the ratings received on the most recent available series of five years of annual performance reviews, as specified in the Best Practices for Post-Tenure Review (#3). Merit salary increments are based on these annual performance reviews, as is consistent with the Best Practices for Post-Tenure Review (#9). All tenured faculty members receiving no more than one (of five) annual performance rating of “fair,” “marginal,” or “unsatisfactory” in Part I of the Post Tenure Review process receive a Post Tenure Review rating of “satisfactory.” These faculty members are thereby exempt from Part II of Post Tenure Review.
6. Part II, Post Tenure Review. Part II consists of additional review by the Post Tenure Review Committee and the department chair of those identified in Part I as subject to further review. All tenured faculty members receiving two or more annual performance ratings of “fair,” “marginal,” or “unsatisfactory” will be reviewed under Part II of Post Tenure Review.
- a. In order to ensure adequate external representation in the Part II Post Tenure Review process, departments must choose ONE of these options in drafting departmental personnel policy procedures.
    - utilize reference letters submitted from outside the department on each individual under review,
    - add to the PTR committee a faculty member or professional equivalent from outside the department nominated and elected according to departmental bylaws,
    - allow each faculty member under review the option of either having external letters solicited or incorporating the external committee member in the review process.
  - b. The faculty member undergoing Part II of PTR must provide, at a minimum, the following documents to the PTR committee and the department chair.
    - a recent copy of the curriculum vita (paper or electronic);
    - a summary of student assessment of instruction for the last 5 years including a summary of statistical ratings from student assessments of instruction (if appropriate to the individual’s duties).
    - a plan for continued professional growth;
    - detailed information about the outcomes of any sabbatical leave awarded during the preceding five years; and

- if required by departmental personnel policy procedures, the names of six referees outside the department whom the PTR committee could contact for references.
- c. The chair of the academic unit must provide the PTR committee with copies of the faculty member's annual performance reviews covering the preceding five years.
  - d. The role and function of each faculty member, as well as the strength of the overall record, will be examined by the PTR committee. If provided in departmental bylaws, the PTR committee is required to obtain a minimum of four reference letters of which at least two must come from the list of six submitted by the faculty member.
  - e. The PTR committee will provide a written report to the faculty member. The faculty member should be given at least two weeks to provide a response to the committee. Both the committee's initial report and the response of the faculty member will be given to the dean of the academic unit. The department chair will submit an independent written report to the faculty member who will then have two weeks to provide a response. The chair's original report and the faculty member's response will be forwarded to the college dean. The ratings of either Satisfactory or Unsatisfactory will be used in all stages of the review by the PTR committee and the chair.
  - f. If both the PTR Committee and the chair, or either the PTR Committee or the chair, rates the candidate as satisfactory, the candidate's final rating shall be satisfactory. If both the PTR Committee and the Chair rate the candidate as unsatisfactory, the candidate's final rating shall be unsatisfactory.
  - g. If the candidate's final rating is satisfactory, the dean will forward that information to the Provost in summary form without appending any candidate materials. If the candidate's final rating is unsatisfactory, the dean will forward all materials to the Provost.
7. Remediation. Individuals who receive a rating of Unsatisfactory must be given a period of remediation to correct deficiencies detailed in the PTR reports. The chair in consultation with the PTR committee and the faculty member will provide a list of specific goals and measurable outcomes the faculty member should achieve in each of the next three calendar years following the date of formal notification of the unsatisfactory outcome. The university will provide reasonable resources (as identified in the PTR reports and as approved by the chair and the dean) to meet the deficiencies. The chair will meet at least twice annually with the faculty member to review progress. The faculty member will be reviewed each year by the PTR committee and the chair, both of whom shall supply written evaluations. At the end of the three-year period, another post-tenure review will be conducted. If the outcome is again Unsatisfactory, the faculty member will be subject to dismissal for unsatisfactory performance. If the review is Satisfactory, then the normal five-year annual performance review cycle will resume.
  8. Dismissal for Unsatisfactory Professional Performance. If dismissal for unsatisfactory professional performance is recommended, the case will be subject to the rules and regulations outlined in the Faculty Manual Section K. Resignation, Termination, and Dismissal below.

I. Promotion Policies

Recommendations for promotion are based upon the evaluations of a faculty member's performance and credentials by peers and administrators. Such evaluations are based on written criteria established by each academic department. Nevertheless, some general attributes and experience requirements are associated with the various ranks. (See Part III, Sections C and D for general qualifications.)

J. Salary Determination Procedures

Procedures for arriving at an individual faculty member's salary increase vary among colleges and from year to year. The following description, then, shall only be construed as outlining typical considerations.

The annual university budget received from the state includes an allocation for salaries. A portion of this is available for salary increases. Normally, the three possible components of salary increments for an individual are cost-of-living, merit, and promotion. In addition, funds may be set aside for special adjustments for various purposes. The allocation of faculty salary funds to promotion, merit, and cost-of-living is normally determined by the university, though the state often imposes constraints on permissible salary increases, exceptions to which may require approval by the State's Budget and Control Board.

Increases for merit and cost-of-living may not be uniform in percentage terms due to differences in productivity, because of inequities, or for other reasons. The chair or director has the responsibility for making the initial determinations of individual salary increments. An individual's recommended merit increase is based upon the performance evaluation by the chair or director although there may be no precise correlation between the annual faculty evaluation and the amount of salary increase.

The chair's or director's salary recommendations are forwarded to the dean for review and approval, and are subject to subsequent review by the Provost and the President. Salary notifications are sent to faculty by the dean at the earliest opportunity, normally in June or July. Not infrequently, notices are delayed by the lateness of the General Assembly in passing the state budget.

Any faculty member may request a summary report of the range and number of salary increases within a department, i.e., the number receiving 0-0.9%, 1.0-1.9%, etc. If confidentiality can be maintained, the salary information may be reported by faculty rank.

K. Resignation, Termination, and Dismissal

1. Resignation. A faculty member may resign an appointment effective at the end of an academic year. Notice should be given in writing at the earliest possible opportunity, e.g., within thirty days of acceptance of a new position elsewhere or within thirty days of receiving notification of the Clemson appointment and salary for the next academic year, whichever is earlier. The faculty member may request a waiver of these requirements in the case of hardship, or where the member would otherwise be denied substantial professional advancement or other opportunities. Professional ethics require that the faculty member consider the needs of students and obligations to the academic community in scheduling such a departure and in giving the maximum notification feasible to the university.
2. Termination. Termination is to be understood to mean the removal or discharge of a faculty member with tenure, or of an untenured faculty member before the end of the specified term of the appointment, because of institutional contingencies or financial exigencies. Causes for termination are: 1) institutional contingencies such as the curtailment or discontinuance of programs, departments, schools, or colleges, or other conditions requiring reductions in staff, and 2) financial exigencies which are demonstrably bona fide. Steps available to the faculty member to appeal termination by filing a grievance petition are set forth in Part V of the Faculty Manual.

Termination of appointment may be initiated by any administrator in the chain of supervisory responsibility. The faculty member concerned shall be given written notice of termination with reasons therefore as soon as possible, but not less than twelve months in advance of termination. Before a termination of appointment based on the abandonment of a program or department of instruction is initiated, every effort shall be made by the Administration to place the affected faculty member in another suitable position. If an appointment is terminated before the end of the period of appointment because of financial exigencies or because of the discontinuance of a program of instruction, the released faculty member's position shall not be filled by a replacement within a period of two years, unless the released faculty member has been offered reappointment and a reasonable time has elapsed within which he/she may accept or decline the position. Termination for medical reasons shall be based upon clear and convincing medical evidence.

3. Dismissal. Dismissal is to be understood as the removal or discharge of a faculty member from a tenured position, or from an untenured position before the end of the specified term of the appointment, for cause. Actions that could reasonably be construed as having extremely adverse effects upon Clemson University, such as serious violations of law, could result in the initiation of procedures of dismissal "for cause." In a similar category are: blatantly unprofessional conduct, such as the continued neglect of important responsibilities; markedly sub-standard performance of duties; or highly serious breaches of university regulations such as falsification of credentials submitted in application for a faculty position. Sufficient cause for such a dismissal must be related directly and substantively to the faculty member's professional fitness as a teacher and/or researcher or as a librarian.

Dismissal may be initiated by any administrator in the chain of supervisory responsibility. The burden of proof that adequate cause exists rests with the university. Causes for dismissal are: 1) conduct seriously prejudicial to the university through infraction of law or through moral turpitude; 2) repeated or significant failure to perform the duties of the position to which the faculty member is assigned, or performance of duty demonstrably below accepted standards; and 3) breach of university regulations that include, but are not limited to, violation of confidentiality, falsification of credentials, or plagiarism, provided that such violations have serious adverse effects on the university or the individual.

Action for dismissal of a faculty member must be in writing, must contain a statement of reasons or charges, and must be presented to the individual concerned subsequent to discussions between the faculty member and appropriate administrative officers looking toward a mutual solution. The steps available to the faculty member to challenge dismissal by filing a grievance petition are described in Part V.

PART V. GRIEVANCE PROCEDURES

A. Overview

A formal grievance procedure is available to faculty members to facilitate the redress of alleged injustices. Any person holding a faculty appointment at Clemson University, including academic administrators, may file a grievance under the procedure described in this section. Category I grievances address such matters as dismissal, termination, unlawful discrimination, or violation of academic freedom. Category II grievances address unfair or improper application of administrative authority or allegations of lack of civility and/or lack of professional responsibility. In all cases the burden of proof rests on the faculty member who has filed the petition.

All parties to a grievance, including witnesses, are expected to adhere to the highest standard of honesty and professional responsibility expected of all faculty members at all times. Each faculty member and any other person involved in grievance procedures shall be free from any or all improper restraint, interference, coercion, or reprisal on the part of associates or administrators in filing a grievance, in accompanying a faculty member filing a grievance, in appearing as a witness, or in seeking information in accordance with the procedures described herein. These principles apply with equal force after a grievance has been adjudicated. Should these principles be violated, the violations should be brought to the attention of the Provost or the President, if necessary, for appropriate remedial action. Should the faculty member not receive satisfaction from the remedial action taken by the Provost, an appeal may be made to the President, and subsequently (if necessary) to the Board of Trustees.

Guidelines related to all aspects of the grievance procedure may be obtained from the Faculty Senate Office or the Faculty Senate web site (www.lib.Clemson.edu/fs) prior to filing any grievance. Weekdays, for purposes of the grievance process, are defined as Monday-Friday, excepting University holidays.

B. Assistance in dealing with complaints: Ombudsman for Faculty, Postdoctoral Fellows, and Graduate Students

The requirements for serving as the Ombudsman, as approved by the Board of Trustees in January 1998, are that the applicant for the position must be tenured professor with at least 10 years of experience at Clemson University or an emeritus professor at Clemson University with knowledge of faculty governance.

The Ombudsman serves the faculty, post-doctoral fellows, and students and operates as an independent, informal, neutral and confidential resources to assist them in exploring alternative dispute resolution options. Faculty, post-doctoral fellows, and graduate students are encouraged to use the confidential services of the ombudsman which are available free of charge. Communications with the Ombudsman are confidential to the extent permissible by the law and considered off-the-record. The Ombudsman is not authorized to accept notice of claims against the University; anyone wishing to give the University Notice of claims against it must contact one of the University's formal channels such as a person in authority. The Ombudsman can discuss how faculty may access one of these formal channels as may be appropriate in various circumstances but does not participate in any formal proceeding, including serving as a witness with respect to confidential communications. The Ombudsman and members of his/her office staff adheres to the International Ombudsman Association (IOA) Code of Ethics and Standards of Practice, as set forth at <http://www.ombudsassociation.org/standards.html>. A separate Professional ombudsman serves staff. For more information on the Ombuds Office, see its website at: <http://www.clemson.edu/administration/ombudsman/>.

The Ombudsman reports to the Provost for administrative purposes and, without breaching confidentiality, provides both the Provost and a sub-committee of the Faculty Senate Executive/Advisory Committee with summary reports of the types of issues handled by his/her office. This sub-committee of the Faculty Senate Executive/Advisory Committee is composed of the immediate past president and the president of the Faculty Senate; the faculty representative to the Board of Trustees; one faculty member appointed annually by the Faculty Senate Advisory Committee; and one faculty member appointed annually by the Professional Ombudsman. Members of this committee may not simultaneously serve on the Grievance Board. In conducting the affairs of this office the Professional Ombudsman shall be independent and free from any and all improper restraint, interference, coercion or reprisal. The Professional Ombudsman shall be protected from retaliation. Should these principles be violated, the violations should be brought to the attention of the Provost and, if necessary, to the President of the University.

Nondisclosure Agreement – The Ombuds Office asserts a privilege with respect to confidential communications, and this privilege is held by the Ombuds Office and cannot be waived by others. The Ombuds Office is not authorized to and does not accept legal notice of claims against Clemson University. If you wish to go on record about a problem or put the University on notice of a claim, the Ombuds Office can provide information on how you may do so. The Ombuds does not participate in any formal grievance process. The Clemson University Ombuds office has no decision-making authority and maintains no official records or permanent records of confidential communications. Use of the Ombuds Office constitutes an agreement not to seek to compel an ombudsman to reveal confidential communications in formal or legal proceedings. This agreement fosters confidentiality to the extent permissible by law and helps provide a safe and neutral place for discussing any concern.

C. Assistance in dealing with complaints: Grievance Counselors

For persons seeking assistance in understanding grievance procedures, the Faculty Senate provides the services of grievance counselors. A counselor offers advice on which of the grievance categories to cite prior to filing a grievance petition. At the request of the petitioner, the grievance counselor will review the petition before it is submitted to assist in clarifying the grievable allegations. The counselor, however, does not render any decision on the merits or substance of the petition. Administrators may also seek advice of counselors on grievance matters. Information about general procedures followed in grievance hearings can be obtained from grievance counselors and the Faculty Senate Office. Grievance counselors do not advise faculty members or administrators from their own colleges, do not act for both parties to the same case, and do not accompany petitioners to hearings or testify in a case for which they have been consulted as counselor(s). Individual counselors may seek advice from fellow counselors and may refer their clients to other counselors to expedite the grievance process.

Seven counselors will usually be in office at the same time, serving three-year staggered terms. Two counselors (and any additional persons needed to fill unexpired terms) are nominated annually by the Faculty Senate Advisory Committee from the ranks of tenured Associate Professors and above who have a thorough knowledge of the Faculty Manual and the grievance processes. The Faculty Senate Advisory Committee will attempt to provide minority representation whenever possible. New counselors are elected by the Faculty Senate at its January meeting. The seventh counselor, appointed by the Provost, must be an academic administrator. Grievance counselors are accorded the same protection afforded faculty members involved in grievance procedures. The names of the counselors are available from the Faculty Senate Office, the President of the Faculty Senate or the Provost.

D. Bases for Grievances

1. Category I. Category I grievances may be based any of the following grounds:

- a. Dismissal from employment with the university. A dismissal is the "removal or discharge of faculty member from a tenured position, or from an untenured position before the end of the specified appointment, for cause." Adequate cause for dismissal must be related directly and substantively to the fitness of the faculty member in his/her professional capacity.
- b. Termination from appointment by the university of a faculty member with tenure, or of a non-tenured faculty member before the end of a specified term of appointment. Termination means "the removal or discharge of a faculty member with tenure, or of an untenured faculty member before the end of the specified term of the appointment because of institutional exigencies."

- c. Discrimination in compensation, promotion, and/or work assignments. A Category I grievance may be filed alleging discrimination based on age, gender, disability, race, religion, national origin or sexual orientation, or status as a disabled veteran or a veteran of the Vietnam era, or discrimination prohibited by federal or state law or regulation.
- d. Violation of academic freedom. Any non-tenured faculty member who alleges that violations of academic freedom significantly contributed to a decision to cease, in any manner, his/her appointment with the university, may file a Category I grievance. (For a definition of academic freedom, see Part III, Section B.)

2. Bases for Grievances: Category II. Category II grievances include allegations of improper or unfair actions or procedures by administrators and others in positions of responsibility, lack of civility or professional responsibility, or other matters that the Grievance Board and/or the Provost may agree are grievable. Other Category II matters may be grievable based on a determination by the Grievance Board (or the Provost if the petitioner elects to have the case reviewed outside the Grievance Board). Minor complaints are not grievable. What constitutes a "minor complaint" is left to the discretion of the Grievance Board (or the Provost, as indicated above). Complaints arising out of the authorized exercise of faculty and administrative judgment and discretionary powers are usually not grievable.

- a. A Category II grievance may be based on an allegation that a person or persons in appropriate position of authority or responsibility have failed to properly implement departmental, college or university policies or procedures so as to adversely affect the petitioner. Category II grievances include allegations of improper or unfair actions in such matters as
  - application of recognized criteria or guidelines used in formal review processes
  - assignment of professional duties by an administrator
  - appraisal (by an administrator) of the petitioner's performance
  - denial (by an administrator) of the petitioner's access to departmental, college, or university resources
  - determination (by an administrator) of the petitioner's salary increment.
- b. A Category II grievance may also be based on allegations of a serious, aggravated lack of civility and/or lack of professional responsibility, that is, actions, activities or behaviors which seriously disrupt the normal workday or educational mission. Such allegations must be related directly and substantively to the professional responsibilities of the faculty member in his/her professional capacity as a teacher or researcher and member of the University community. Before such an allegation is filed, every effort shall be made and documented that the involved parties have exhausted all other administrative avenues and processes to mediate and resolve the dispute. In addition, using the services of the University Ombudsman is strongly encouraged.

Allegations that may be considered in this general class include, but are not limited to: disrespect for the free inquiry of colleagues; disrespect for the opinion of others; lack of equitable treatment of all personnel; creation of the impression that a faculty member speaks or acts for the University; lack of cooperation and civil interaction with colleagues; personal attacks against colleagues; intolerance or intimidation of colleagues; failure to follow University policies established to eliminate violence, discrimination and harassment. Allegations must be of a serious and disruptive nature. Sanctions imposed by the Provost may include, but are not limited to oral or written warnings, oral or written reprimands, suspension without pay, or dismissal. [A more detailed discussion of professional responsibility can be found in Part IX. Section E.]

E. Attempts to resolve matters without filing a grievance

1. A faculty member with a grievance shall first meet with the department chair for a discussion of the matter. This discussion must take place within 30 weekdays of the matter's occurrence. Extensions may be granted by the Provost as needed during the summer period. Both parties shall meet in good faith and shall make every attempt to resolve the matter in an equitable and professional manner.
2. If the matter cannot be resolved at the level of the academic department, the faculty member shall meet with the dean for a discussion of the matter. The faculty member must request this interview within fifteen weekdays of the discussion of the matter with the department chair. The dean shall confer with the faculty member within ten weekdays upon receiving the request. Again, the resolution of the matter in an equitable and professional manner shall be the primary goal of those involved.
3. In the case of non-reappointment, denial of tenure or denial of promotion, termination or dismissal, the requirement to meet with the department chair and the dean does not apply.

F. Filing a petition

1. A faculty member who desires to file a grievance must submit a written petition within 20 weekdays after the date of the alleged grievance, or after the completion of the meetings specified above. (As an example of the time limits, if notification is given that a faculty member will be dismissed for cause, the time period begins with the date of receipt of the letter in which the faculty member was notified. The time period does not begin with the effective date of dismissal.) After 20 weekdays have passed, the faculty member forfeits the right to petition and any actions taken with respect to the faculty member shall become final. The petition is submitted to the Provost's Office, which will forward the original petition and supporting documents to the Faculty Senate Office within 15 weekdays.
2. The grievance petition must state the specific individual(s) against whom the grievance is filed, the dates upon which the alleged grievable matter occurred, the specific basis or bases on which the grievance is filed (see Part V, Section D. 1 and 2, above), a list of the supporting documents appended to the petition and the specific relief sought by the petitioner. Sufficient supporting evidence should be provided for the Grievance Board to determine probable cause that a grievable matter has occurred. See Appendices H and I for grievance petition forms.

G. The Grievance Board

1. The Grievance Board consists of members elected by the members of the Faculty Senate from a pool of nominees named by the Executive and Advisory Committees of the Faculty Senate in a joint meeting, and from nominations made from the floor at the Senate election meeting. The Senate shall hold an election each January to replace Grievance Board members whose terms have expired and to fill positions that have become vacant during the previous calendar year. If necessary, the Faculty Senate Advisory Committee may make interim appointments to ensure a sufficient number of members on the Grievance Board. The Faculty Senate Advisory Committee shall appoint the Chair of the Grievance Board.
2. Members of the Grievance Board must be tenured regular faculty at the time of their election, and shall be members, alternates, or former members of the Faculty Senate. These Grievance Board members shall consist of a representative from the Library and two representatives from each college with two-year terms of service. Training for Grievance Board members as well as grievance counselors will be offered annually and both groups are strongly encouraged to participate. The Board, through selected hearing panels, hears grievances brought to it in accordance with the faculty grievance procedure.

The Faculty Senate Executive/Advisory Committee shall elect two Senior Lecturers eligible to act, at the discretion of the Grievance Board, as non-voting consultants to the Board or its hearing panels in grievance cases involving lecturers. The elected Senior Lecturers, who may provide perspective and feedback to the Board or its hearing panels during the grievance process at the invitation of the Board, shall not hold appointments in the same college and shall have two-year terms of service. Inasmuch as the Senior Lecturers are non-members of the Grievance Board, they may not vote on grievance cases or other matters considered by the Board, and may not examine witnesses during hearings; otherwise, the extent and form of their participation in a grievance is determined by the Grievance Board on a case-by-case basis.

3. Once each academic year, the Chair of the Grievance Board shall give the Faculty Senate a summary report concerning grievance activities.

H. Determination of Grievability

1. Grievance petitions are submitted to the Provost, who forwards the originals to the Faculty Senate Office to be reviewed by the Grievance Board. The Grievance Board determines whether the allegations in the petition are grievable according to the criteria in Part V. Sections D.1 and/or 2. At least five members of the Board must be present in order to make a determination. The Board shall render its decision on grievability within ten weekdays of receipt of the petition, and notify all named parties.
2. If the petition is filed during one of the long semesters of the regular academic year, the Grievance Board shall call a special meeting within ten weekdays of receipt of a properly submitted petition. If the petition is filed at any other time, it will be reviewed no later than ten weekdays after the first day of classes of the next long semester. A quorum for this meeting shall consist of five members of the Grievance Board. If the petition is deemed grievable, the chair of the Board shall send copies of the petition to those against whom the grievance is brought.
3. The petitioner may request that the matter be addressed by the Provost rather than the Grievance Board. If the matter is not to be considered by the Grievance Board, the Provost shall review the case and request any additional information from any person involved, as needed. If the Provost determines the matter to be grievable, the Provost shall render a final decision within 22 weekdays of receipt of the petition. If the Provost determines the matter to be non-grievable, the Provost shall notify all parties within ten weekdays of receipt of the petition. The written decision will be transmitted to the named parties and the Faculty Senate Office, which will notify the Grievance Board.
4. The Grievance Board or the Provost shall determine to which of the person(s) named in the petition copies of the petitions or relevant portions thereof shall be sent. Respondents to the petition may file a response with the Provost or the Grievance Board. Any such responses must be filed within 15 weekdays of receiving the petition. This response is not to exceed ten pages excluding supporting documents which may be submitted as an appendix to the response.
5. If the person filing the grievance has since left the employ of the University, the Grievance Board may at its discretion decide not to proceed further at any point in the process.

I. Grievance Hearings

1. The Grievance Board shall create a hearing panel of five members for each Category I grievance and a panel of three members for each Category II grievance from among the members of the Board. At its discretion, the Board may authorize one of the duly elected Senior Lecturers (Part V, Section G) to serve as a non-voting and non-examining observer/consultant on a hearing panel associated with grievances involving lecturers. The Board shall ensure that the Senior Lecturer it authorizes to observe and consult during a particular grievance case is free from conflicts of interest and does not have an appointment in the same college as the petitioner or any respondent(s). Should both duly elected Senior Lecturers be ineligible to serve the Board on the basis of conflicts, College of appointment, or challenge, then the President of the Faculty Senate shall make a temporary appointment from the remaining campus body of Senior Lecturers after consultation with the Chair of the Grievance Board.

The Board will, within 20 weekdays after reaching the decision to hear the petition, set a date for the initial hearing, which will be a single hearing for Category I and one or more hearings as needed for Category II. For a Category I hearing, the chair shall give each party to the grievance 20 weekdays written notice of the hearing. Notification of the hearing date will include: i) the time, place and nature of the hearing; ii) the procedure to be followed during the hearing; iii) a statement of the basis or bases on which the petition is to be heard; and iv) references to pertinent university statutes and portions of the Faculty Manual. For Category II, the initial hearing will be scheduled within 20 weekdays of the Board's determination of grievability.

2. The hearing shall be held during one of the long semesters of the regular academic year, unless the Provost deems the matter of sufficient urgency, and requests that the hearing take place at a time outside the normal academic year. In this case those members of the Grievance Board who have nine-month appointments will be compensated at a rate equal to that of their normal salary for any day or fraction thereof.
3. Members of the Grievance Board shall remove themselves from the case if they deem themselves disqualified for reasons of bias or conflict of interest, and shall not serve if they are from the same college as the petitioner or any respondent(s). The named parties shall each have a maximum of two challenges of hearing panel members or observers without stated cause. These challenges must be communicated to the Chair of the Grievance Board not less than seven weekdays before the initial meeting of the hearing panel in order to be honored. If such removals and challenges reduce the membership of the hearing panel below five for Category I and below three for Category II and other members of the Board are not able to serve, the President of the Faculty Senate shall make additional appointments from the Senate to ensure a hearing panel composed of the required number of members.
4. All named parties shall be permitted in all proceedings to have and be accompanied by an advisor of their choice, other than their grievance counselors. The advisor shall be permitted to advise only, and not speak on behalf of any named party. All matters pertaining to the grievance shall be kept confidential to the extent permitted by law. The hearing shall be closed to the public. Witnesses will only be present to testify and will not attend the entire hearing (for category I). For Category I grievances, a verbatim record of the hearing shall be taken and made a part of the record.
5. Both parties shall be permitted to offer evidence and witnesses pertinent to the issue. The Provost (or the President if the Provost is a named party) shall, so far as possible, assist the hearing panel in securing the cooperation and attendance of witnesses and named parties and shall make available documents and other evidence under her/his control. Those persons requested to testify are strongly encouraged but cannot be compelled to testify. When the hearing may be expedited and the interest of the parties shall not be substantially prejudiced, any part of the evidence may be received in written form. All written evidence submitted by all parties to the grievance hearing in a Category I petition must be received by the chair of the hearing panel not less than seven weekdays prior to the date set for the hearing; any material received after that date may be excluded by the hearing panel at its discretion. For Category II, written material can be received any time during the hearing process. In the interests of fairness, the Hearing Panel will make every effort to provide, in a timely manner, all named parties with copies of documents submitted or referred to in the original Petition that the Panel deems material to their decision. Documentary evidence may be received in the form of copies or excerpts if the original is not readily available. Irrelevant, immaterial, or unduly repetitious evidence should not be included. If an objection is made to any evidence being offered, the decision of the majority of the panel shall govern.

6. In Category I hearings, the hearing panel may at its discretion grant adjournment to either party to investigate evidence concerning which a valid claim of surprise is made. Both parties may ask questions of witnesses and each named party. Members of the panel may ask questions of any party or witness at any time during the hearing. Members of the panel are expected to keep all discussions confidential to the extent permitted by law.
7. In Category I hearings, findings of fact and recommendations of the hearing panel must be based solely on the hearing record and shall be submitted to the Provost. In Category II hearings, findings are based on hearings and written evidence. In petitions alleging unfairness in applying university procedures, it is important that the hearing panel not substitute its judgment for that of the faculty or administrator who made the decision at issue. The merits of the decision, per se, are not at issue. Rather, the issues are whether or not procedures were followed or whether some unfair or improper influence so colored or affected the judgment of the faculty or administrator that the decision reached would have been different had no such improper or unfair influence existed. Thus, so long as the appropriate policies and procedures were followed the only issues are the existence of improper or unfair influences and the extent of their influence upon the decision involved. The petitioner has the burden of proof in establishing that such influence existed and that its presence dictated the nature of the decision reached.
8. In cases of complaints alleging lack of civility and/or lack of professional responsibility, the findings of fact and recommendations of the hearing panel must specify the impact of the actions, activities, or behaviors on the mission of the department, school, other relevant unit and explicitly address the issue of culpability so that the Provost may impose sanction(s), if deemed appropriate.
9. Within ten weekdays of the final meeting of the Hearing Panel, the panel shall submit its findings and recommendations only to the Provost along with appropriate documents and records. In the event the Provost has been recused from a decision-making capacity, the findings and recommendations shall be submitted to the President. The majority vote shall be the recommendation forwarded to the Provost by the hearing panel.
10. The Provost or the President shall review the findings and recommendations and the record of the hearing (for Category I grievances, the audiotape or transcript of the hearing) and shall render a written decision within 22 weekdays of receipt of the hearing panel's report. The decision shall include findings of fact and recommendations, separately stated. Copies of the decision, including the hearing panel's findings and recommendations, shall be sent to the petitioner by certified mail. The Provost will also provide copies to all named parties, the hearing panel, and the Faculty Senate Office.

J. Appeals

1. The Petitioner may appeal the Provost's decision to the President. A written appeal must be submitted to the Office of the President within ten (10) weekdays after receipt of the Provost's decision. If an appeal is made, the President shall review the hearing record and the decision of the Provost and shall render a written decision within twenty (20) weekdays of receipt of the request for the review. The decision shall include findings of fact and recommendations. Copies of the decision of the President shall be sent to all parties, the Provost, the Faculty Senate Office, and the hearing panel.

2. In the case of a Category I grievance, the Petitioner may appeal the decision of the President to the Board of Trustees. A written appeal must be submitted to the Executive Secretary of the Board of Trustees within ten workdays after the receipt of the President's decision. Receipt by the Executive Secretary shall be deemed receipt by the Board. If an appeal is made, the Board of Trustees, or a committee of Board members appointed by the Chair, shall review the record of the hearing and the decisions of the President and the Provost, and shall render a final decision on behalf of the university.

In the event the written appeal is received by the Executive Secretary no less than twenty (20) working days prior to the next quarterly meeting of the Board of Trustees, the Board's decision shall be rendered within ten (10) working days of the conclusion of said Board meeting. In the event the written appeal is not received by the Executive Secretary within twenty (20) working days of the next quarterly meeting of the Board of Trustees, the Board's decision shall be rendered within ten (10) working days of the quarterly Board meeting immediately following the next quarterly meeting. The Board's decision shall be in writing and shall include findings of fact and recommendations. Copies of the decision shall be sent to all parties, the President, the Provost and the hearing panel.

K. Protection of Petitioners

1. If a grievance has been filed in a timely manner, any action taken against the faculty member that forms the basis for the grievance shall not become final until the appeals process is exhausted and a final decision is rendered on behalf of the university. If the faculty member does not appeal any step of the procedure within the time limits prescribed herein, the last decision rendered shall become the final decision of the university.
2. If the action which forms the basis for the grievance filed by the faculty member could eventually involve any type of discontinuance of appointment with the university as stated above, the faculty member shall not be removed from his/her university duties until a final decision is rendered under this grievance procedure. The exception to this principle would be that, prior to the final decision being rendered, the faculty member may be relieved of all duties or assigned to other duties if the risk of adverse consequences to himself/herself, to others, or to the institution is heightened by continuance in the affected individual's normal assignment. Before taking such action the administration shall consult with the Faculty Senate Advisory Committee. The salary of the faculty member shall always continue until a final decision is rendered by the university.

PART VI. THE UNIVERSITY'S ADMINISTRATIVE STRUCTURE

A. The Board of Trustees

The letter and spirit of the Clemson bequest still govern the university's basic administrative structure. The Board of Trustees, for example, continues to have seven "life trustees" who are empowered to fill any vacancy in their ranks due to "death, resignation, refusal to act, or otherwise." Six other trustees are elected by the General Assembly of South Carolina, three every two years for four-year terms.

The Board of Trustees adopts the basic long-range objectives of the university and the basic policies for achieving them; provides policy instruction for long-range planning; adopts the statutes of the university; elects the President of the University; employs the Executive Secretary of the Board; maintains ownership of university assets; and oversees the evaluation of the university.

To accomplish its purposes the Board of Trustees meets at least four times annually. Its presiding officer is the Chairman, elected for a two-year term (but restricted to no more than three consecutive terms). The Board appoints an Executive Secretary who serves at its pleasure, and maintains as standing committees an Executive Committee as well as committees for Budget and Finance, Educational Policy, Student Affairs, Agricultural and Natural Resources, and Institutional Advancement.

The Board of Trustees is assisted in its governance activities by an official Faculty Representative who is granted privileges beyond those accorded to Board visitors. This includes receipt of Minutes, Agendas, and attachments to all Board and Committee meetings and an opportunity to be included on the Agenda upon approval of request. (See Appendix B for the selection process.)

To the administration of Clemson University the Board of Trustees delegates authority for: developing plans for achieving basic university objectives; developing short- and long-range plans within the delegated framework; recommending guidelines for university advancement; adopting the President's administrative policies governing university operations; recommending bylaws for implementing Trustees' functions; recommending university statutes to the Trustees; adopting operating budgets and controlling expenditures within approved limits; overseeing administrative control; evaluating the results secured; and investing funds under policy authority.

B. The President of the University

The President is the chief executive officer of the university. To the President the Board of Trustees delegates authority for: giving leadership to all phases of university planning; coordinating the operations of all units of the university; carrying out major university public relations functions; evaluating the results of university plans; and appointing such personnel who report to the President. The President of the University and his Cabinet review and comment on all policy matters under consideration by the Board of Trustees.

Having the general supervision over all university activities, the President is an ex-officio member of all university councils, commissions, and committees and serves as liaison officer between the Board of Trustees and the university faculty and staff. The President presides at commencements and graduations. The President approves appointments of Alumni Distinguished Professors and endowed professorships and chairs, and recommendations for tenure, promotion, dismissal, and termination. Appeals by faculty and students concerning grievances may be heard by the President after regular procedures have been followed. The President appoints the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost, as well as the other executive officers, and reviews the appointees' performance in office.

C. The Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost

The Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost (hereafter referred to as the Provost) is the chief academic officer of the university and Chairperson of the university faculty. Responsible directly to the President for all academic matters, the Provost has administrative jurisdiction over teaching and computing services. The Provost recommends to the President short- and long-range plans for academic development and formulates policies to implement approved plans; gives direction and guidance to the deans in the development and operation of academic programs, and to the directors of Admissions, Financial Aid, and Professional Development; coordinates the activities of the deans and those directors; counsels with college deans concerning faculty evaluation and reappointment of department chairs and school directors. It is through the Provost that recommendations from the Faculty Senate, university commissions, councils, and committees, and the deans are forwarded to the President. In the President's absence, the Provost serves as Acting President of the University. As directed by the President, the Provost represents the university on matters relating to academic programs before the State's Commission on Higher Education and its committees and before other state governmental bodies.

The Provost approves or recommends to the President actions pertaining to faculty recruitment, appointments, re-appointments, tenure, promotion, termination, and dismissal. Recommendations regarding faculty grievances and student academic grievances are received by the Provost for decision. In addition, questions concerning conflict of interest are reviewed by the Provost.

The Provost also receives recommendations on curricular matters from university curriculum committees and forwards recommendations to the President; approves the bylaws of the collegiate faculties and reviews the minutes of their meetings; receives and transmits to the faculty proposed amendments to the Faculty Constitution; presides at meetings of the university faculty; evaluates the performance in office of the academic deans; appoints search-and-screening committees for certain administrative positions; recommends the appointment of academic administrators to the President; counsels with college deans concerning faculty evaluation and reappointment of department chairs/school directors; chairs the Academic Council; serves as liaison officer between the Faculty Senate and the President; meets semi-annually with the Director of the Student Athlete Enrichment Program; and delegates authority to the Vice Provosts, the Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs, and the Dean of Libraries.

Further, the Provost supervises the preparation of the budgetary requests and budgets of the Library and the colleges, allocates funds for their operation, and approves amendments thereto; establishes guidelines for the implementation of faculty salary increases, and recommends such increases to the President; receives recommendations from the collegiate deans concerning the formation and dissolution of departments, faculties, schools, and centers and transmits his/her recommendation to the President, the Board of Trustees, and/or the Commission on Higher Education as appropriate.

D. The Vice Provosts

There are four Vice Provosts reporting to the Provost. The Vice Provosts share duties that include serving on and occasionally chairing a variety of committees, participation in program development, forming and maintaining relationships with other academic institutions and with the Commission on Higher Education, and such other responsibilities as may be assigned by the Provost

1. Vice Provost and Dean of Undergraduate Studies coordinates all undergraduate academic programs including recruiting, admitting, and enrolling new undergraduate students; retaining students; and overseeing the Honors program, the Cooperative Education program, financial aid, registration services, Student Athlete Enrichment Program, and other university-wide undergraduate academic programs. The Dean of Undergraduate Studies or designee chairs the Undergraduate Curriculum Committee.
2. Vice Provost and Dean of the Graduate School coordinates all graduate programs, advises the Provost on policies and regulations pertaining to graduate study, graduate admissions policies, graduate student programs, graduate tuition, graduate healthcare and health insurance, and the assessment, review, continuation of degree programs and granting of graduate degrees. The Dean of the Graduate School makes the annual allocation of Graduate Assistantship Differentials. The Dean or his/her designee chairs the Graduate Curriculum Committee and participates in other subcommittees of the Graduate Council as noted below.

3. Vice Provost for Computing and Information Technology and Chief Information Officer is responsible for university-wide planning for information technology, and for the administration, coordination, budgeting, and planning associated with the university's central computing services groups: Customer Relations and Learning Technologies, Research Computing, Enterprise Applications, Computing, Systems and Operations, and Network and Telecommunications.
4. Vice Provost for International Affairs is the university's chief international officer. Principal responsibilities include negotiating and approving international agreements; developing, coordinating, managing and supporting all university international programs such as study abroad, study and research exchanges, service learning and internships; and all international immigration and employment services for international students, scholars, visitors, faculty and staff. The Vice Provost chairs the International Programs Coordination Committee, the International Services Coordination Committee, and the International Studies Curriculum Committee.

E. The Deans of the Colleges

The deans of the colleges are the chief administrative officers of Clemson University's five colleges. The deans provide leadership in formulating educational policy and serve as their collegiate faculties' agents in the execution of such policy. Among other duties, the deans represent the college in relations with other colleges of the university; ensure that faculty enjoy academic freedom and exercise academic responsibility; ensure that faculty peer evaluation, where appropriate, is part of the policies and procedures of all academic departments; review departmental recommendations for appointment, renewal, promotion, tenure, termination, and dismissal, and forward recommendations to the Provost; approve appointments to the college of prospective faculty; send letters of renewal or non-renewal of contract to probationary faculty; monitor Affirmative Action policy implementation by the several departments; review the annual evaluation of each faculty member of the college; periodically review and evaluate the performances of the department chairs and school directors as outlined in the policy for evaluation of administrators in concert with the Provost concerning reappointment recommendations; allocate budgets for instruction, supplies, and equipment, etc., and monitor the expenditure of all college funds; hear faculty grievances pursued beyond the departmental level and cooperate in formal grievance procedures; monitor faculty workloads and schedules; approve recommendations for sabbatical leaves and leaves of absence; establish ad hoc committees of the collegiate faculty; appoint department chairs, school directors, and other academic administrators from within departments in accordance with policies and procedures specified; and serve on various councils, commissions, and committees as set forth in university policy. In some colleges of the university the deans are assisted by associate and/or assistant deans and/or directors who are assigned responsibilities by and report directly to their respective deans.

The performance in office of each college dean is reviewed at regular intervals by the Provost. College deans hold faculty rank and engage in the teaching, research, and public service functions of faculty to the extent feasible.

F. The Dean of Libraries

The Dean of Libraries is the chief administrative officer of the Clemson University Libraries. In dealing with the Library faculty, the duties of the Dean of Libraries are the same as those of the Deans of the Colleges. The Dean of Libraries is a member of the Academic Council. The Dean of Libraries may be assisted by Associate or Assistant Deans of the Libraries and the Library Chair. As delineated in the Bylaws of the Library Faculty, the library chair performs the duties of a department chair.

The performance of the Dean of Libraries is reviewed at regular intervals (Section J) by the Provost. The Dean of Libraries holds faculty rank and engages in teaching, research, and public service functions of faculty to the extent feasible.

G. The Department Chairs

Department Chairs are generally responsible for the activities of their departments, for which they are accountable to the school director and/or to the dean of the college. Their primary responsibility is to ensure the quality of the teaching, research, and public service program and its delivery within their departments while continuing to engage in their own teaching, scholarship, and public service activities. Department chairs represent their departments in relations with other departments and schools and with the deans and other administrative officers of the university. In exercising leadership in the improvement of departmental programs and of the departmental faculty, a chair is expected to take initiatives to report that unit's needs and advocate its goals and plans.

A department chair's specific functions include:

- ensuring implementation of departmental policies and procedures involving peer evaluations; recommending faculty appointment, reappointment, tenure, promotion, termination, and dismissal; negotiating with prospective faculty;
- monitoring departmental implementation of Affirmative Action policies and procedures;
- annually evaluating each member of the department's faculty and participating in the evaluation of staff; developing budgets in concert with school directors and college deans and allocating such funds for instructional and other purposes;
- hearing informal faculty grievances and cooperating in formal grievance procedures;
- supervising the department's program of instruction, including curriculum, scheduling, faculty workload, and departmental research and public service;
- ensuring that students' rights are preserved; supervising the advising of departmental majors and graduate students;
- monitoring student evaluation of instruction, courses, and programs;
- providing leadership in student recruitment, student advising, and student placement;
- coordinating and supervising summer school programs and freshman/transfer orientations;
- making recommendations concerning applications for professional travel and sabbatical leave;
- arranging meetings of the departmental faculty; meeting with the departmental advisory committee and appropriate constituent and advisory groups for the discipline;
- establishing accreditation and ad hoc departmental committees; and
- carrying out other such duties as shall be assigned by the school director and/or the dean of the college or as set down in university policy, or in collegiate bylaws, school or departmental bylaws.

Department chairs serve at the pleasure of their respective school directors and collegiate deans, who formally evaluate the performance in office of chairs reporting to them before the end of the chair's second year in office and every fourth year thereafter. In making recommendations for reappointment, deans will transmit the results of the faculty evaluation of the chair and confer with the Provost before renewing the appointment. All chairs of academic departments hold faculty rank.

H. Selection of the President

In the selection of the President of the University, the Board of Trustees recognizes the interests of the university Faculty and Extension Personnel and other university constituencies. The Faculty Senate President, the President of the Extension Senate, and one Professor elected for this purpose by the Professors are appointed to the eleven-member Screening Committee for President of the University. The Screening Committee develops a list of approximately ten available candidates and submits their names to the Selection Committee.

The Selection Committee is comprised of five members: three Trustees, the Faculty Senate President, and the President of the Student Body. The Chairman of the Board of Trustees is an additional ex-officio member of both committees. The Committee receives the report and recommendations of the Screening Committee and makes recommendations to the Board of Trustees.

The Board of Trustees elects the President of the University to serve at its pleasure. The complete Selection Process for the President of Clemson University can be found in the Trustee Policy Manual. The Board also reserves to itself final review authority over the appointment of officers of the university who report directly to the President and over the appointment of the deans of the university.

I. Selection of Other Academic Administrators

When an appointment is to be made to any other academic administrative position, a faculty search-and-screening committee shall be formed to make recommendations to fill that position. The committee shall include one staff representative elected by the staff members in the academic unit. The committee shall consist of at least nine faculty, staff and student members, with the committee's majority being faculty members elected by their peers. Student representation shall be encouraged when appropriate. This committee shall submit a short list of candidates for the position from which the appointment shall be made. If an appointment cannot be made from this list, the search-and-screening committee may take additional nominations. If no other candidates are acceptable to the committee, the matter shall be brought to the attention of the Provost, who shall consult with the appointing administrator and the search-and-screening committee with regard to appropriate actions.

When feasible, student representatives shall be nominated by student clubs or other assemblies associated with the unit in question; where unfeasible or impractical, student representatives shall be nominated by the President of the Student Senate and/or the President of the Graduate Student Government. At its discretion, each committee shall be empowered to add other individuals as non-voting members.

The selection and appointment of all academic administrators shall be in conformity with applicable University Affirmative Action policies and procedures. In particular, in the selection of each search-and-screening committee, diverse representation with respect to race and gender shall be included whenever feasible. Form CUFM-1001 in Appendix C shall be used to document the composition of the search-and-screening committee and the appointment procedure. After all required signatures have been obtained; the President's office will forward this form to the immediate supervisor of the selected administrator, with a copy to the office of the Faculty Senate.

For the selection of an academic department chair or other academic administrators within a department, a search-and-screening committee shall be formed from the faculty within that department, school, or college, including a staff representative and a student from that college. A majority of the members of this committee shall be faculty members elected by the faculty of that department, school or college or equivalent administrative unit. A minority of the faculty members of the committee may be appointed by the dean of the college or equivalent administrator. The dean shall make the appointment from the list submitted by the committee, subject to the approval of the Provost and the President.

Under exceptional circumstances which do not allow departments/programs to search for a chair per the guidelines stated above, Departments (or equivalent units) will provide their dean with a list of all acceptable candidates for the Interim Department Chair position following the procedure described in their by-laws. Deans shall appoint an interim chair from this list for no more than a calendar year. The interim chair may be reappointed for one additional year under exceptional circumstances. After two years, the process must be repeated if a Department Chair is not hired.

In the rare event when none of the candidates provided by the department are acceptable to the Dean, the Provost will suggest alternative candidates to be considered. An appointment from this list must meet the approval of the Dean and pass a majority vote of the departmental faculty. This appointment would be for one calendar year, and the interim chair would be expected to work with the Dean and the department toward appointment of a permanent Department Chair.

For the selection of an assistant dean, associate dean, or director within a college or the Library, a committee shall be formed that includes a student from that college and a staff representative elected by the staff in that college. A majority of the members of the search-and-screening committee shall be elected by the faculty of that college or equivalent administrative unit (for the Dean and Director of the Cooperative Extension Service, a majority of the members of the committee shall be elected by the Extension Senate); the minority may be appointed by the dean of the college or an equivalent administrator. The dean shall make the appointment from the list submitted by the committee, subject to the approval of the Provost and the President.

For the selection of an academic administrator of an off-campus program, the search-and-screening committee shall represent both the off-campus program and the appropriate on-campus academic areas. The majority of the representatives to this committee shall be elected by the affected faculty; the minority may be appointed by the dean of the college. The dean shall make the appointment from the list submitted by the committee, subject to the approval of the Provost and the President.

For the selection of a Vice Provost, an academic dean (other than a college dean), or other academic administrators not specified elsewhere who report directly or indirectly to the Provost, the Provost (after consultation with the Faculty Senate Advisory Committee) shall appoint a search-and-screening committee that includes at least one student. For the Vice President for Agriculture, Public Service and Economic Development the committee shall include a county extension agent. The Provost shall make the appointment to the position from the list submitted by the committee, subject to the approval of the President.

For the selection of the Provost, the President of the University (after consultation with the Faculty Senate Advisory Committee) shall appoint a committee that includes a majority of faculty as well as one graduate student, one undergraduate student, and a staff member appointed by the President of the Staff Senate. The President shall appoint the Provost from the list submitted by the committee.

For the Vice President for Agriculture, Public Service and Economic Development, the search and screening committee shall include a county extension agent as well as a staff person appointed by the President of the Staff Senate. The President shall appoint the Vice President for Agriculture, Public Service and Economic Development from the list submitted by the committee.

This university policy on the selection of academic administrators was adopted by the Board of Trustees in July, 1981. It modifies the previous policy by providing for student participation and for enhanced faculty participation in the selection of all academic administrators. It is not intended to circumscribe or otherwise constrain the ability of academic administrators to modify the duties and responsibilities of incumbent administrators who report to them or to change the titles of existing positions so as to alter duties and responsibilities.

J. Review of Academic Administrators

University policy, adopted by the Board of Trustees in January 1981 and modified in May 1998, establishes procedures for the review of academic administrators. Administrative officers of the university serve at the pleasure of their respective supervisors. Thus, appointment to an administrative position, whether as department chair, director, dean, vice Provost, or Provost does not assure continuance in office for any specific period of time. These individuals will be subject to periodic review as outlined below in lieu of post-tenure review. Individuals wishing to substitute administrative review for post-tenure review must submit parallel documentation. Status as tenured or untenured faculty, however, is not affected by the termination of an administrative appointment.

In the normal performance of their duties, administrators are subject to evaluations. Such evaluations shall employ the appropriate standard Clemson University form for the evaluation of administrators (see Appendix D), which shall be submitted to the chair of the evaluation committee. The evaluation committee will involve the faculty most affected by a particular administrator as well as that administrator's supervisor. In all instances of an administrator's review, a comment period of 15 working days shall be provided. The affected faculty or constituent group is defined as follows: (a) all faculty of a department, (b) all faculty of the appropriate college for academic deans and (c) all staff affected by that administrator.

Each administrator evaluation committee shall consist of seven members, selected as follows:

- For a department chair, four members of the committee shall be selected from the regular faculty of the department by vote of the regular faculty in the department. If a department has fewer than four regular faculty members, the regular faculty shall elect regular faculty from related units to ensure four elected faculty. For evaluation of deans and other administrators, each academic unit within the college will nominate one regular faculty member, chosen by election within the unit. Four committee members shall be selected from this slate of nominees by vote of the regular faculty in the college.
- The administrator under evaluation shall choose a member of the committee from the constituent group.
- The immediate supervisor shall choose a member of the committee from the constituent group.
- The staff of the academic unit (department, school, college, etc.) shall elect one of their number as their representative. If no staff representative can be elected, such as might occur in a small department or if no person agrees to be nominated, the committee will consist of the six members described above.

This committee procedure shall not preclude any faculty or staff member in the constituent group from providing advice directly to the immediate supervisor. In all instances the administrator evaluation committee will provide a written summary of faculty or staff opinion as solicited by the approved Clemson University form. As part of the review process department chairs and collegiate deans will supply the reviewing committee with the following materials: a plan for personal professional growth, a vision statement for the unit's future, a summary of activities and accomplishments including research, teaching and public service since the last review, and a roster of six references outside the unit whom the committee may contact for professional perspective.

Before the end of a department chair's second year in office and every fourth year thereafter, the appropriate dean shall conduct a formal review of that chair's performance. This review shall include receipt of the written summary from the administrator evaluation committee; it may include interviews and/or other forms of consultation by the dean with each tenured and tenure-track faculty member of the department as well as staff. At the discretion of the dean, the affected department's Faculty Advisory Committee may be enlisted to assist in conducting the formal reviews. When the review process has been completed, the dean shall make a report to the Provost. Subsequently, a brief summary of the decision will be communicated to the department chair involved and the evaluation committee.

Likewise, the Provost shall formally review the performance of deans before the end of the dean's third year in office and every fifth year thereafter, consulting especially with department chairs and directors as well as with faculty and staff through the administrator evaluation system. The Provost will meet with the evaluation committee to receive its input and afterwards will report his/her conclusion to the dean. The Provost's conclusion will be communicated to the evaluation committee, and to the college at the next meeting of the college faculty. Likewise, the President of the University shall review the performance of the Provost before the end of the Provost's fifth year in office and every fifth year thereafter, consulting especially with the academic deans and with representative department chairs and faculty, and staff. The President's conclusion will be communicated to the university community at the next meeting of the university faculty.

In all instances, the evaluation materials generated in the review process shall be treated with the strictest confidence with only those in the review hierarchy entitled to access. The accumulated administrator evaluation forms are sent to Records Management and saved for five years. These evaluations should also be made available to the next evaluation committee.

K. The Nonacademic Administration: University Vice-Presidents and Executive Officers

Non-academic university operations (those not under the purview of the Provost) are organized under four major areas of administration, each headed by a chief administrative officer, responsible to the President of the University. These administrative officers and the units of the university that report to them are listed below:

1. Vice President for Advancement: Clemson University Foundation; Public Affairs; Alumni Relations; Development; and Conference, Guest, and Visitor Programs.
2. Vice President for Agriculture, Public Service and Economic Development: Agriculture and Forestry Research System; Cooperative Extension Service; Livestock-Poultry Health; Regulatory and Public Service Programs; Strom Thurmond Institute of Government and Public Affairs; Archibald Tropical Research Center in Dominica; and Housing Institute.

4. Vice President for Research: Research Compliance (including Human Subjects, Animal Research, & Institutional Biosafety); Intellectual Property and Special Projects; Sponsored Programs (Pre-award); Clemson University Research Foundation; Contract Advising (Legal); University Research Grant Committee; Technology Transfer; South Carolina Research Center; Clemson Apparel Research; Institute of Wildlife and Environmental Toxicology; and other select centers and institutes.
5. Executive Secretary to the Board of Trustees and Executive Director for Government Affairs: Access and Equity; Internal Auditing; Governmental Affairs; and Institutional Research.
6. Reporting directly to the President: the General Counsel; the Director of Athletics; the Associate Director for Athletic Compliance; and the Vice President for Finance and Operations.

Specific committees in these non-academic areas are listed in Part VII.

PART VII. FACULTY PARTICIPATION IN UNIVERSITY GOVERNANCE

A. General Framework

In accordance with the Will of Thomas Green Clemson and the Act of Acceptance by the General Assembly of South Carolina, ultimate responsibility for the governance of Clemson University is vested in the Board of Trustees. The Board is charged with setting university policies so as to achieve the goals established by Mr. Clemson in his will and to serve the needs of the State of South Carolina. Thus, final authority and responsibility for all policy decisions rest with the Board.

In order to operate the university effectively, the Board delegates responsibility in various areas to the President of the University, to certain administrative officials, and to the Faculty. The President is the executive officer charged with administering the university in accordance with the policies adopted by the Board and with primary responsibility for leadership and planning for the institution. The President is charged with responsibility for academic, personnel, development, and fiscal and budgetary matters; with providing for and maintaining the physical facilities of the university; with representing the institution to its several publics; with the administrative implementation of the various policies of the university.

The Faculty, as the repository of learning in the various academic fields of study, is charged with creating the curriculum; setting requirements for degrees; determining when requirements have been met; approving candidates for degrees. The Faculty also has primary responsibility for such academic matters as evaluating the qualifications of current or prospective faculty members; initiating recommendations for faculty and academic administrative appointments; faculty reappointment, tenure, and promotion recommendations.

To carry out its role in the governance of the university, the Faculty is formally organized through a Faculty Constitution, which can be found in Part VIII of this Manual. The Faculty Senate, various university committees, and the several college, school, and departmental faculties and their committees facilitate the execution of the business of the faculty.

The Faculty Senate is the elected body that represents the faculty in its relationship with the administration, especially in regard to policy matters involving the academic prerogatives of the faculty and faculty welfare. To fulfill their academic governance responsibilities levels, the faculties of the several colleges, schools, and departments are formally organized according to bylaws. Indeed, the primary exercise of the academic prerogatives of the faculty takes place at the department level, where the specific professional expertise of a particular discipline can be brought to focus on academic matters, including questions regarding curriculum, appointment, tenure, and promotion.

Since the effective functioning of the university requires communication and cooperation between the faculty and the administration, a university council, commission, and committee structure has been established. This structure provides for faculty participation in planning, policy formulation, and decision-making in all areas that bear upon faculty concerns.

Based on the description of the responsibilities shared by Faculty at Clemson University, voting membership on the following committees is limited to individuals meeting the definition of regular faculty: Departmental Tenure, Promotion, and Reappointment Committee; Departmental Post-Tenure Review Committee; College and University Curriculum Committees; College Advisory Committees; Faculty Senate; Grievance Board.

The most comprehensive body within this structure is the Academic Council, with its subsidiary commissions and committees. As outlined below, the Academic Council includes representatives from various constituencies of the university (students, nonacademic administrators, as well as faculty and academic administrators). Additional committees exist outside the Academic Council structure and are organized here by administrative area.

B. Academic Council

The Academic Council reviews and recommends academic policy to the Provost. Such matters may be routed to the President through the Provost by a majority vote. The council receives reports and recommendations from committees and groups reporting to it. The Academic Council also reviews recommendations regarding university-wide academic policy that emanate from the office of the Provost, the Faculty Senate, the Student Senate, collegiate faculties, as well as from ad hoc committees appointed by the President or Provost. The Academic Council shall view its role primarily as an oversight body guiding and advising the university with regard to academic policy.

Membership of the Academic Council consists of the following: The Provost (chair); two members from each college and from the library: the college and library deans; one faculty member from each college and the library elected for a staggered three-year term; two undergraduate students: the president of the student body and the president of the Student Senate; president of the graduate student government; Faculty Senate President, Vice-Provost and Dean of the Graduate School, Vice-Provost and Dean of Undergraduate Studies, and Vice-Provost for International Affairs. Non-voting are: President-elect of the Faculty Senate; Dean of Student Life; President of the Staff Senate; and Extension Senate chair.

1. Council on Undergraduate Studies. This council consists of all faculty members, students, and administrators from each subcommittee listed below. The Vice-Provost and Dean of Undergraduate Studies will be a non-voting member serving as chair and will convene the council each fall. All terms begin August 15 of the academic year. In the instance of a resignation from a subcommittee, the dean of that college appoints a replacement who serves until the next election for seating on August 15. The Council on Undergraduate Studies recommends to the Academic Council all policy matters which originate with it, from the colleges, the Faculty Senate, the Student Senate, or from the various subcommittees that report to it which are:

- a. Academic Advising Committee oversees coordination of university advising activities (including college academic advising centers, academic support center, colleges, etc.); informs advisors of current policies on advising; periodically reviews the mission of academic advising; coordinates assessments of the university advising system; and provides professional development for advisors. Membership consists of the following: Two tenured or tenure-track faculty elected from each college for a two-year term on a staggered basis, one additional member with experience and interest in advising elected from each college for a two-year term, two at-large appointments made by the Provost, and one undergraduate student appointed by the president of the Student Senate. An ex officio, non-voting member is a representative of the office of undergraduate studies. The chair is elected by the membership.
- b. Undergraduate Curriculum Committee is comprised of the Vice-Provost and Dean of Undergraduate Studies or some other member of the Provost's staff who serves as non-voting chairperson. Each college has two voting members selected from the regular faculty, one of whom is chair of the collegiate curriculum committee, and the collegiate committee elects the second. The term of office is for three years in rotation. Non-voting members in addition to the chair include one elected library faculty, one undergraduate student appointed by the student body president, the registrar, the Calhoun honors college director, and other members of the Dean of Undergraduate Studies as needed. The committee's jurisdiction is set forth in the Faculty Constitution, Article 4.

Interdisciplinary curricular proposals may be brought to the Undergraduate Curriculum Committee from oversight committees in the particular interdisciplinary area that are created by the college or colleges participating in the creation and staffing of these courses or curricula. If the participating departments or academic units are within a single college, a committee to oversee the interdisciplinary curriculum shall be established in the college bylaws providing for representation by affected departments or academic units. If the participating departments or academic units come from more than one college, a joint committee shall be established and be reflected in the bylaws of each participating college. The Honors College is also authorized to initiate interdisciplinary honors courses. Interdisciplinary proposals must be sent to college curriculum committees for review and comment before being considered by the university curriculum committees. The curriculum committees shall maintain a list of such committees to be published annually as an appendix to the Faculty Manual.

- c. Admissions Committee formulates and recommends undergraduate admissions policies to the Council on Undergraduate Studies. It also serves as the appeals committee for undergraduate admissions. Membership consists of five faculty members serving three-year terms elected one from each college, the chair of the Faculty Senate scholastic policies committee (or designee), and the chair of the Student Senate academic affairs committee. Non-voting members are the director of undergraduate admissions (chair), the director of undergraduate academic services, and the director of housing.
- d. Continuing Enrollment Committee formulates and recommends undergraduate continuing enrollment appeals policies to the Council on Undergraduate Studies. ## RESEARCH COMPLIANCE

Universities, as partners in the national research enterprise, are required by federal and state regulations to establish specific research committees to ensure the safety and welfare of research subjects, those conducting research, and others who work or study within the research environment. Following are descriptions of the committees which have been established to oversee these particular research areas: animal subjects, human subjects, recombinant DNA, biohazards and hazardous chemicals. The Institutional Care and Use Committee (IACUC), the Institutional Review Board (IRB), and the Institutional Biosafety Committee (IBC) are administered by the Clemson University Office of Research Compliance (ORC). The Office of Research Compliance reports to the Vice President for Research. The Vice President for Research is also the Institutional Official for matters related to animal use and human subjects. Selection of new committee members will be based on operating guidelines which can be found on the ORC website.

1. Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC) is committed to ensuring that animals involved in teaching and research receive humane care and treatment. The IACUC is charged with reviewing all faculty, staff, or student-proposed research or teaching use of animals, regardless of where the work is performed and source of funding, if any. The IACUC has set forth procedures for reporting, without fear of reprisal, concerns about the humane use and treatment of animals utilized in research and teaching at Clemson University. This committee regularly inspects and monitors the animal care and use program at the University to ensure that all components are in compliance with regulations and guidelines outlined in the federal Animal Welfare Act. The animal facilities are registered with the U.S. Department of Agriculture and undergo frequent inspection by that agency. The IACUC has the responsibility and authority to review, approve, disapprove or require changes in research, teaching or testing activities involving the use of animals. The IACUC meets monthly to review research applications/protocols which involve animal use. Clemson University's Animal Welfare Assurance is approved by the Department of Health and Human Services. Committee membership is structured in accordance with federal requirements and members are appointed by the President of the University. Fifty percent or more of the faculty on the committee will be tenured.
2. Institutional Biosafety Committee (IBC) is responsible, in accord with the NIH Guidelines for Research Involving Recombinant DNA Molecules, for reviewing all research that involves the use of recombinant DNA and ensuring that the proposed activities comply with the federal regulations governing them. Recombinant DNA is defined as work with those molecules which are constructed outside living cells by joining natural or synthetic DNA segments to DNA molecules that can replicate in a living cell or which result from the replication of those described above. The NIH Guidelines state institutions need not restrict the IBC's responsibilities to recombinant DNA. Clemson University's IBC reviews research involving the use of biological hazards (including human blood, tissue, infectious agents and cell lines; and select agents/toxins) and chemical hazards (i.e., those defined as highly toxic, mutagenic, teratogenic, carcinogenic, or explosive; or listed as Schedule I or II drugs) when used with vertebrate animals. This helps to ensure the safety of personnel working with these materials and that laboratory practices conform to other federal and state regulations (e.g., OSHA, CDC & NIH Biosafety in Microbiological and Biomedical Laboratories, CDC & USDA Select Agents and Toxins).

The IBC has the responsibility and authority to review, approve, disapprove, or require changes in research activities. Clemson University's Institutional Biosafety Committee is registered with the National Institutes of Health's Office of Biotechnology Activities (OBA) and works closely with Clemson University's Department of Environmental Health and Safety and the Occupational Health Nurse. Committee membership is structured in accordance with federal requirements and members are appointed by the President of the University. Fifty percent or more of the faculty on the committee will be tenured.

3. Institutional Review Board (IRB) is committed to protecting the rights and welfare of human subjects who participate in research conducted by any member of the faculty, staff, or student body, regardless of source of funding. Clemson University subscribes to the basic ethical principles that underlie the conduct of biomedical and behavioral research involving human subjects as set forth in the Belmont Report, the statement of ethical principles and guidelines for the protection of human subjects published in 1979 by the National Commission for the Protection of Human Subjects of Biomedical and Behavioral Research. The IRB is charged with ensuring that the rights and welfare of human subjects are protected in all research projects involving Clemson University faculty, staff, and students. The IRB has the responsibility and authority to review, approve, disapprove, or require changes in research activities involving human subjects. All research activities involving human subjects, regardless of source of funding, must be reviewed by the Clemson University Institutional Review Board. The IRB holds regular monthly meetings to review research applications/protocols involving human subjects. Clemson University's Federal wide Assurance is approved by the Department of Health and Human Services, and the Institutional Review Board is registered with the Department of Health and Human Services, Office for Human Research Protections. Committee membership is structured in accordance with federal requirements and members are appointed by the President of the University. Fifty percent or more of the faculty on the committee will be tenured.
4. Intellectual Property Committee consists of a chair appointed by the Vice President for Research; the senior contract advisor who acts as secretary; the general counsel or his/her designee; a representative from administration and advancement; an associate dean from each college; one graduate student representing the graduate student government, for a one-year term; one undergraduate student nominated by the dean of student affairs for a one-year term; a faculty representative elected from each college; and the person from Cooper Library identified as patent coordinator serving in an ex officio, non-voting capacity. #### J. Faculty Participation in College Governance

In conformity with policy adopted by the Board of Trustees in January, 1981, the Faculty of each college or equivalent unit is organized in accordance with bylaws developed by its Faculty under guidelines for the governance of academic units. Copies of college bylaws are available from the dean's office or the Provost's office. Although college bylaws vary, certain policies and procedures for faculty participation in college governance must be followed by all Collegiate Faculties.

Formal meetings of the faculty of college shall be held at least once during each of the long semesters. At such meetings standing and other committees of the college report to the faculty and make recommendations. However, any member of a Collegiate Faculty may raise a question concerning the academic affairs of the college before the faculty. Where immediate action on such questions is deemed inadvisable, the presiding officer, with the concurrence of the Faculty, may refer them to appropriate college committees.

Recommendations from the college Faculty are to be forwarded to the appropriate University council, committee, or administrative officer. Minutes of Collegiate Faculty meetings are to be forwarded to the Provost and Vice-President for Academic Affairs and to the President of the University for their information.

Each college with degree program responsibilities shall have as a standing committee a Curriculum Committee. At the discretion of the Faculty and in accordance with college bylaws, a college may establish separate Undergraduate and Graduate Curriculum Committees. Each college's Undergraduate Curriculum Committee elects its own chair, who also serves on the University Undergraduate Curriculum Committee. A second representative shall be elected by the committee. Likewise, the elected chair of the College's Graduate Curriculum Committee represents the college on the University Graduate Curriculum Committee. A college that chooses to maintain a single curriculum committee delegates to that committee the authority to name the college representative to the University Graduate Curriculum Committee. Voting membership of College Curriculum Committees is limited to regular faculty.

Each department or equivalent unit of the college shall elect its representative(s) to the college curriculum committee in accordance with procedures established in the college bylaws. In colleges in which the number of departments is small, college bylaws may specify alternate procedures for establishing the membership of college curriculum committees. Terms of service on college curriculum committees are to be determined by the Faculty of each college and specified in its bylaws.

Curricular recommendations emanating from the departments or equivalent units of each college are acted upon by the Collegiate Faculty and/or by the appropriate college curriculum committee. Upon approval such curricular items are to be forwarded to the appropriate University Curriculum Committee for action.

A Collegiate Faculty may also establish other standing committees whose composition and membership are determined by the faculty in accordance with the college bylaws. Said committees shall report to the Collegiate Faculty at regular intervals. Ad Hoc committees may be established at the discretion of the dean of the college.

Membership on college committees need not be confined to regular faculty only except as noted in Section L: college bylaws shall provide for Faculty, special faculty, student and staff on representation wherever appropriate.

K. Faculty Participation in Departmental Governance

In conformity with policy adopted by the Board of Trustees in January, 1981, the Faculty of each department or equivalent unit is organized in accordance with bylaws developed by its Faculty under guidelines for the governance of academic units. Copies of departmental bylaws are available from the department office, the dean's office or the Provost's office. Although, departmental bylaws vary, certain policies and procedures for faculty participation in departmental governance must be followed by all departmental faculties.

The Faculty who comprise an academic department or equivalent unit constitute the primary authority on academic matters such as the department's curriculum and its major and minor programs. In such matters the influence of the department chair and of the dean (if the latter happens to be a member of the department) extends only so far as their status as departmental Faculty. The Faculty of a department or equivalent unit also constitutes the primary judge of the qualifications of its members; thus peer evaluation is an essential element in the appointment, reappointment, promotion, and tenure of department members (see Part IV.).

Since the will of the department with regard to academic matters is most properly established in formal assemblages, the department chair shall conduct a regular meeting of the departmental faculty at least once in each of the long semesters. Minutes of these meetings shall be forwarded to the dean of the college or the equivalent administrator for his/her information.

Each academic department, or school if appropriate, shall have a standing committee as a curriculum committee. At the discretion of the Faculty and in accordance with departmental bylaws, a department or school may establish separate Undergraduate and Graduate Curriculum Committees. Each department's Undergraduate Curriculum Committee elects its own chair, who also serves on the College Undergraduate Curriculum Committee. A second representative shall be elected by the department committee. Likewise, the elected chair of the department's Graduate Curriculum Committee represents the department on the College Graduate Curriculum Committee. A department that chooses to maintain a single curriculum committee delegates to that committee the authority to name the department's representative to the College Graduate Curriculum Committee.

Each department or equivalent unit shall have a standing Advisory Committee of regular faculty members, chaired by the department chair, the composition and membership of which shall be approved by the regular faculty of the department. In small departments the faculty may elect to have the entire regular faculty serve as the Advisory committee. This committee shall advise the chair on matters which he/she brings to it.

If approved by the department chair and the departmental Faculty, other standing committees may be established. These committees shall forward recommendations to the chair and report to the departmental faculty at regular intervals. Ad Hoc committees may be established at the department chair's discretion. All departmental committees, however, must be established in ways consistent with college bylaws and with the Faculty Manual. Membership on departmental committees need not be confined to regular faculty except as noted in Section L: Faculty, special faculty, student and/or staff representation shall be provided for wherever appropriate. Each department shall also elect representatives to the college curriculum and other committees in accordance with procedures established in the college bylaws.

L. Committees Restricted to Regular Faculty as Voting Members

Based on the description of the responsibilities shared by Faculty at Clemson University, voting members on the following committees are limited to regular faculty: Departmental Tenure, Promotion, and Reappointment Committee; Departmental Post-Tenure Review Committee; College and University Curriculum Committees; College Advisory Committees; Faculty Senate; and Grievance Board.

PART VIII. The Constitution of the Faculty of Clemson University

The faculty of Clemson University was first formally organized in 1956, with separate constitutions and bylaws for the academic faculty and for the research faculty. In 1970 these two bodies were unified under a single constitution and bylaws of the Clemson University Faculty, with the Faculty Senate as the sole representative assembly of the faculty. A second major revision, approved by the Clemson University faculty on December 11, 1981, and by the Clemson University Board of Trustees on January 22, 1982, incorporated the collegiate faculties and the university curriculum committees into the formal faculty organization. As part of this thorough revision, a unitary Constitution format was adopted in place of the previous constitution and bylaws structure.

THE CONSTITUTION OF THE FACULTY OF CLEMSON UNIVERSITY

PREAMBLE:

To fulfill its role of preserving, interpreting, and advancing knowledge, a university depends upon the scholarship and professionalism of its Faculty. It is by virtue of that scholarship and professionalism that university faculties are entrusted with major responsibilities with respect to academic issues and concerns. In recognition of these principles, Clemson University makes provision for faculty participation in planning, policy-making, and decision-making with regard to academic matters. The university also provides for such participation in matters of faculty welfare and general university concern.

To facilitate such participation the Faculty is formally organized in accordance with this Constitution as approved by the Clemson University Board of Trustees. Various faculty functions are assigned to an elected assembly, the Faculty Senate; to the Undergraduate and Graduate Curriculum Committees; and to the collegiate faculties and their respective departmental faculties. For the purposes of this Constitution, the term “department” shall designate a discipline-specific, self-governing unit within a school or college. In addition, the faculty is represented on various university councils, commissions, and committees which act in concert with the university administration in developing university policies and procedures.

ARTICLE I: THE FACULTY

Section 1. Membership

The Faculty of Clemson University consists of the President; Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost; other administrators with faculty rank; faculty with regular appointments as Professor, Associate Professor, Assistant Professor, or Instructor; Librarians; Emeritus Faculty; and such other individuals as the faculty may duly elect. A petition for the election to membership in the Faculty of any person who is not automatically a member must be submitted to the Faculty Senate and referred by that body, with its recommendation, to the faculty for action at the next regular meeting of the faculty. Election to membership shall be by simple majority vote of the members present.

Section 2. Functions

The functions of the Faculty shall be to approve candidates for degrees; to fulfill its responsibilities in academic matters such as curriculum, requirements for earned degrees, academic regulations, admissions, and registration; through departmental and collegiate review processes to recommend the appointment, tenure, and promotion of its prospective and current members; to participate in the selection and evaluation of academic administrators as provided for in established university policies; to participate in formulating policies affecting the teaching, research, and public service functions of the university; and to consider any matters that may affect the welfare of its members.

On matters pertaining specifically to the individual colleges, these functions are exercised by the collegiate faculties, with review at the university level as specified by established university policies. Similarly, the collegiate faculties recognize the primary authority of the faculty of each academic department on academic matters pertaining to that department. The faculty may refer to the Faculty Senate for investigation and action matters that relate to the welfare of the faculty, as well as to the teaching, research, and public service policies of the university, and other matters of general institutional concern. The Undergraduate and Graduate Curriculum Committees act for the faculty in reviewing curricular proposals emanating from the several collegiate faculties, and recommend their disposition to the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost.

The faculty shall receive regular reports from the Faculty Senate, and may act upon any matters brought before it by the Faculty Senate or by individual faculty members.

Section 3. Officers

The Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost shall be the chair of the Faculty. The Provost shall appoint a secretary and, when necessary, shall appoint an acting chair to serve in his or her absence.

Section 4. Meetings

Regular meetings of the faculty shall be held at the beginning of the academic year and at the end of each long semester. Special meetings of the faculty may be called by the Chairperson, by the Faculty Senate, or by written petition of at least ten percent of the faculty. A notice of the meeting and the agenda shall be distributed to the faculty at least five days in advance of the meeting.

The quorum for any meeting of the Faculty shall be that number of members deemed necessary by the chair to transact business other than the amendment of this Constitution.

For any meeting of the Faculty, the following order of business shall be adhered to:

- 1) Call to Order;
- 2) Reports;
- 3) Unfinished business;
- 4) New business;
- 5) Adjournment.

The Minutes of each faculty meeting shall be approved by the Faculty Senate.

Section 5. Rules of Order

The Faculty shall conduct all parliamentary procedure in accordance with the most recent edition of Robert's Rules of Order.

ARTICLE II: THE FACULTY SENATE

Section 1. Functions

The Faculty Senate is the representative assembly of the faculty. It represents the faculty of Clemson University in its relationship with the university administration; recommends new policies or changes in existing policies to the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs; and promotes the welfare of the faculty and of its individual members. Specifically, the Faculty Senate acts:

- 1) to review and recommend academic policies, procedures, and practices at the university level;

- 2) to preserve collective and individual faculty prerogatives as they are set forth in established university policies and procedures;
- 3) to make recommendations on matters affecting faculty welfare;
- 4) to provide good offices for the redress of faculty grievances;
- 5) to articulate and promulgate faculty positions on issues of general concern within the university;
- 6) to maintain liaison with the faculties of other colleges and universities on matters of common concern.

The Faculty Senate President shall report annually at the meeting of the faculty held prior to Spring Commencement. To keep the faculty adequately informed, special reports shall be made as necessary.

Section 2. Membership

Members of the Faculty Senate shall be elected by the faculty, voting by colleges in accordance with policies and procedures set forth in the bylaws of the several collegiate faculties. These bylaws may also establish provisions for the recall of faculty senators from the college, with the exception of those holding elected Senate office. Senate terms shall be three years except as otherwise provided. For the allocation of Senate seats and all other provisions of this article, the librarians shall be considered as a faculty representing a college.

Any member of the Faculty may be eligible for membership on the Faculty Senate, except department chairs, school directors, deans, the Provost, vice Provosts, vice presidents, the president, and others with primarily administrative duties.

Elections shall be held in March of each year, with terms of office to begin with the April meeting of the Senate. The election of members of the Faculty Senate shall be by secret ballot.

When a new college is officially established it shall be entitled to representation in the Faculty Senate as soon as an election can be held. A new college shall have one member in the Faculty Senate until the next allocation of seats. Whenever a new college is established, the next allocation of seats shall be obtained in the February following official establishment.

Vacancies created on the Faculty Senate for any cause shall be filled for the unexpired terms by supplementary elections within the colleges concerned as soon as such vacancies occur. Senators absent for the summer or for other temporary leaves such as sabbaticals, or appointed to temporary or interim administrative positions, shall request leaves of absence from the Senate and shall be replaced during their absences by substitutes elected by the Collegiate Faculty.

Each college, except the Library, shall elect two alternates on a yearly basis; the Library shall elect one. Alternates may twice succeed themselves. An alternate shall have the status of a full member at any Senate meeting attended in place of a regular member.

With the exception of those Senators who have served one year or less, members of the Faculty Senate may not succeed themselves.

As a rule, there shall be thirty-five members of the Faculty Senate. Emeritus faculty are excluded from the Faculty count for the purpose of Senate seat allocation. Senate seats shall be allocated according to the ratio of the number of members of the Faculty in a college to the total number of members of the Faculty in the university. Each college shall have as many seats as are in the nearest whole number when its ratio is multiplied by thirty-five, provided each college has at least one representative. For the purposes of this calculation, the Library is considered a college.

If the total number of seats allocated thus far is less than thirty-five, the remaining seats are allocated to the colleges with the larger fractions until there is a total of thirty-five members. If this formula produces an exact tie for a seat, each college involved shall be awarded a seat.

The Faculty Senate President shall obtain a new allocation from the Chairperson of the Faculty during February of every odd-numbered year after the most recent allocation. This allocation shall be given to the dean of each college in time for the March election and shall control the numbers elected to the Faculty Senate at that time. If one or more members are gained, the collegiate faculty may designate new seats to have terms of less than three years in order to balance the terms within the college delegation. If one member is lost in the new allocation, one fewer member shall be elected to the Faculty Senate at that election. If the new allocation results in the loss of one or more members whose terms have not expired, the membership of the Senate shall be temporarily enlarged to accommodate the new allocation. New allocations shall be based on the number of members of the Faculty at the beginning of the fall semester.

Section 3. Officers

The officers of the Faculty Senate shall be the President, the Vice President, who shall be the President-Elect, and the Secretary. The Vice President and the Secretary shall be elected at the regular meeting in March of each year. The term of a Senator shall be extended one time, if necessary, to permit him or her to initiate or complete his or her service as an officer. Should such an extension of term be necessary, his or her successor will serve a three-year term which will commence at the completion of the officer's term. The advisory committee shall submit to the Senate no less than two nominees for each elective office. Election of officers shall be by secret ballot, with a simple majority required for election.

In order to recall an officer of the Faculty Senate, a petition signed by not less than two-thirds of the elected members of the Senate shall be required. If an office is vacated by recall, resignation, or other cause, the Faculty Senate shall elect at the next regular meeting a successor for the unexpired term.

The retiring officers shall serve at the April meeting through the completion of Unfinished Business. The retiring president shall give the Senate report at the subsequent meeting of the Faculty.

Section 4. Meetings

The date and time of the regular monthly meetings of the Faculty Senate shall be determined by the advisory committee. The schedule of the meetings for the year shall be announced not later than the first day of May through appropriate communications. With the approval of a majority of the advisory committee, special meetings of the Faculty Senate may be called at any time by the Faculty Senate President.

Except for executive sessions, all meetings of the Faculty Senate shall be open to any member of the faculty. Any member of the faculty may present any problem or suggestion to the Senate for the Senate's consideration, provided the faculty member notifies the Faculty Senate President at least one week prior to the Senate meeting. Visitors may be invited by a member of the advisory committee to participate in any specific discussion.

Two-thirds of the membership of the Faculty Senate shall be the quorum for the transaction of all business.

Section 5. Committees

The chairperson and at least a majority of the members of all committees of the Faculty Senate shall be members of that body, and any other members shall be members of the faculty. The Faculty Senate President shall be the Chair of this committee. It shall be the function of this committee to advise the Faculty Senate President and to serve as the nominating committee for the Faculty Senate. In no case shall nominations by the advisory committee preclude nominations from the Senate floor. The advisory committee shall appoint the members of the other standing committees and any special committees and shall designate the chairpersons thereof. The chairpersons of the standing committees shall as a rule be from different colleges.

The Welfare Committee: shall make recommendations concerning such policies as relate to: workloads; extra- curricular assignments; summer employment; non-university employment; salaries; leaves of absence; sabbatical leaves; professional travel; retirement; and such other policies as affect faculty welfare and morale.

The Policy Committee: shall concern itself with general university policies, particularly as they relate to the Faculty. Such policies include those which pertain to: academic freedom and responsibility; faculty professional ethics; the appointment, tenure, and promotion of faculty; and faculty participation in university governance. Other matters of particular faculty interest, which are not within the purview of the other standing committees and which are not of such a specialized nature as to justify ad hoc committees, would normally be referred to the Policy Committee.

Section 6. Rules of Order

The Faculty Senate shall conduct all parliamentary procedures in accordance with the most recent edition of Robert's Rules of Order. A parliamentarian shall be appointed by the Faculty Senate President. The Faculty Senate shall be empowered to develop those procedural bylaws which facilitate the achievement of its purposes.

Section 7. Permanent Committees

Permanent committees, in addition to the standing committees provided for in the Constitution, may be created for purposes which extend beyond those normally associated with ad hoc committees. The permanent committees of the Faculty Senate and their duties are:

The faculty members of each college within the university are organized as Collegiate Faculties according to individual college bylaws approved by the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost.

Section 2. Functions

Each collegiate faculty exercises the authority and responsibility of the faculty on academic matters pertaining to the individual college, subject to the primary authority of the several departmental faculties on academic matters pertaining to the respective departments. Specifically, a collegiate faculty approves candidates for all graduate and undergraduate degrees, and recommends all proposals for new or revised academic requirements, courses, and curricula within the college. Where provided by college bylaws, collegiate peer review processes offer recommendations on appointment, re-appointment, tenure, and/or promotion in addition to the primary recommendations which emanate from the review processes of the several academic departments.

ARTICLE IV: THE CURRICULUM COMMITTEES

Section 1. Definition

The University Curriculum Committees act for the faculty in reviewing all proposals for curricular changes, and recommend such changes to the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost. The Undergraduate and Graduate Curriculum Committees shall have jurisdiction over undergraduate and graduate matters respectively.

Section 2. Membership

The Undergraduate Curriculum Committee shall be comprised of the Dean of Undergraduate Studies or other member of the Provost's staff designated by the Provost as non-voting Chairperson, plus two representatives of the undergraduate curriculum committees of the several colleges, one of whom will be the chair of the college committee and the other elected by the college committee. Similarly, the Graduate Curriculum Committee shall likewise be composed of a non-voting Chairperson from the Provost's staff, plus representatives of the graduate curriculum committees of the several colleges, one of whom will be the chair of the college committee and the other elected by the college committee. Should a college have a single curriculum committee, the chairperson and one other representative elected by the college committee shall serve on the University Undergraduate Curriculum Committee and the college committee shall elect two representatives to the University Graduate Curriculum Committee.

Section 3. Procedure

The curriculum committees shall review all curricular proposals in their respective areas of jurisdiction that emanate from the several collegiate faculties, and shall ensure the adherence of such proposals to all applicable university policies and regulations. The curriculum committees may initiate curricular proposals whose effects would be university-wide, but may not act upon such proposals until all collegiate faculties have had an opportunity to review and respond to them.

Curricular proposals recommended by either university curriculum committee shall be submitted to the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost. The Provost shall forward these curricular proposals with his or her recommendations to the President for final approval. The Provost shall inform the curriculum committees and all affected collegiate faculties of the President's actions.

ARTICLE V: AMENDMENT

Constitutional amendments may be proposed by either of two methods.

A proposed amendment may be submitted by at least ten members of the faculty to the Faculty Senate at a regular meeting of that body. The Faculty Senate must vote on the proposed amendment at no later than the fourth meeting after submission. A simple majority vote is required for the proposed amendment to be submitted to the faculty. Alternatively, a proposed amendment to this Constitution may be submitted in writing to the Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs one month before the next scheduled faculty meeting. Signatures of at least ten percent of the members of the faculty must accompany the proposed amendment in order to validate the proposal.

The Provost shall publicize a proposed amendment at least three weeks prior to the meeting at which action is to be taken. Amendments may be considered at either of the regular faculty meetings held at the conclusion of the long semesters. A two-thirds majority vote of the members present is required for passage with a quorum defined as at least one-half of the faculty, exclusive of emeritus faculty. Any amendment passed by the faculty shall become effective upon approval by the Clemson University Board of Trustees.

PART IX. PROFESSIONAL PRACTICES

A. Overview

The first responsibility of teaching faculty is to their students. Because faculty teach, not only by formal instruction but also by example, they must be fully aware of their responsibilities to their students and must endeavor to fulfill those responsibilities conscientiously.

Some policies concerning faculty-student relationships--particularly those regarding class attendance, academic dishonesty, and student rights and responsibilities--are set forth in greater detail in the university's Student Handbook. Each faculty member receives a copy of the Student Handbooks. Various policies contained in the Handbook are subject to review by the Faculty Senate, the Undergraduate Curriculum Committee, and/or the Academic Council. Faculty are advised to become conversant with the Handbook, especially where it addresses the kinds of academic matters considered below.

B. Work Load

The normal faculty workload entails teaching and research assignments; service to the department, school, college, and the university; and/or other professional activities. The usual teaching assignment at Clemson University is 9-12 credit hours for each of the two regular semesters. The particular teaching assignment of an individual faculty member may, for a number of reasons, vary from department to department and even within departments. Departments with heavy faculty research obligations may in some instances reduce teaching loads and assign the hours so released to research. Released time may also be provided through funded research. Unusually heavy service assignments (e.g., committee work, administrative duties, advisory responsibilities, public service) may also lead to reduced teaching assignments, depending upon the staffing situation in a given department. In some instances graduate courses, off-campus courses, or unusually large classes may be considerations in workload decisions.

Off-campus courses are offered by some colleges, including the program at the Clemson at the Falls (CATF) campus in downtown Greenville, leading to the Master of Business Administration degree through the College of Business and Behavioral Sciences. Other courses are taught at the University Center of Greenville. These courses are taught by Clemson faculty and carry university credit.

Work assignments for faculty on non-teaching appointments and librarians are made on the basis of particular tasks to be accomplished or periods to be covered. Workloads for faculty members whose responsibilities include teaching as well as non-teaching assignments are established on a percentage basis.

Courses are assigned to faculty by the department chair on the basis of established departmental procedures. Factors taken into consideration include: departmental needs, faculty expertise, faculty preferences for particular teaching assignments, faculty schedules, and the nature and extent of non-teaching workloads.

C. Work Schedule

Members of the learned professions, whether faculty or administrators, by tradition and practice, give generously of their time, energies, and abilities to further their institution's goals and purposes and their own professional pursuits. There is no reasonable way of regulating the hours devoted to such activities and no meaningful way of measuring them. Truly professional scholars, teachers, researchers, and administrators devote significant portions of their waking hours to such pursuits. Clemson University recognizes that this unique combination of responsibilities for teaching, research, public service, and administrative activities mandates considerable variation in professional work schedules. The employment contract for nine-month faculty covers the period August 15-May 16. Outside this period faculty members may not be required to work for the university without compensation.

Except for formally scheduled classes and other regular activities, the duty schedules of the full-time teaching faculty are necessarily flexible. The discretion of the individual faculty member, therefore, governs the use of non-classroom time in accordance with the various demands of the university, of public service, continuing scholarly development, advising, research, writing, and other professional activities. Those in administrative positions and in full-time research have similarly unpredictable demands made upon their time. Beyond the fundamental requirement that faculty meet their scheduled classes and fulfill other regular commitments, faculty are evaluated on the quality of their performance as scholars, teachers, and researchers rather than on such quantitative bases as the number of their preparation hours or the regularity of their work schedules.

Because of the extended schedule of hours for which library service must be available, librarians have their workloads distributed over long working days and seven-day working weeks. Librarians' total workloads, however, should be comparable to those of professional personnel similarly situated in other university positions.

D. Teaching Practices

1. Syllabus. A syllabus must be prepared for every undergraduate and graduate class and made available to students at as early a class meeting as practicable, but no later than the last class period before the last day for a student to add a class. It should state the course expectations, including a topical outline of the course, grading policies, and attendance policies.
2. Office Hours. Faculty members should also be accessible to students with respect to course work outside of scheduled class-meeting times. Because of the diverse nature of the academic departments, each department or school establishes its own written office hours policy approved by the college dean.
3. Class Schedules. A semester is normally fifteen class weeks in length, exclusive of final exams. Lecture courses meet fifty minutes per week per credit hour. Two or three contact hours of laboratory are assigned per credit hour. Three-credit classes meet for fifty minutes Monday, Wednesday, and Friday or for seventy-five minutes Tuesday and Thursday. This pattern allows for a fifteen-minute break between classes. Prompt dismissal of classes permits students who must travel between widely separated classroom buildings to enter their next class on time. A three credit-hour summer course meets for ninety minutes, five days per week, for twenty-five meetings. Appropriate adjustments are made for courses with more or fewer credit hours, or for laboratory courses. A limited number of regular semester courses and summer courses are offered on variant schedules. Most of these are late afternoon or evening courses intended for graduate students and other special groups. Course offerings are listed in advance of early registration, which occurs in April for the fall semester and in November for the spring semester. Listings of summer offerings are available at the November early registration.
4. Faculty Absence from Class. Teaching faculty are obligated to meet their classes regularly at the appointed times. When there are valid reasons for being absent from class (e.g., illness, emergencies, or travel on university business), the faculty member should notify the affected classes and the department office. If possible, such notification should be given in advance. Suitable arrangements, such as, substitute instructors, library assignments, or other appropriate utilization of class time, should also be made. If no advance arrangements are made, students are authorized to leave after waiting the time specified by the teacher at the beginning of the course in the course syllabus.
5. Attendance Policy. The full attendance policy for undergraduates is set forth in Undergraduate Announcements but the key points are as follows. All students are required to attend the first day of classes and labs or contact the instructor to indicate their intention to remain in that class. The faculty member is obligated to inform students in writing about attendance policy during the first full week of classes. In some departments attendance policy is established on a departmental basis. Regular and punctual attendance at all class and lab sessions is the responsibility of each student. College work proceeds at such a pace that regular attendance is necessary in order for each student to obtain maximum benefits from instruction. All absences are matters to be resolved between the instructor and the student. In the event that a student finds it necessary to be absent from class, it is the student's responsibility to make up resulting deficiencies.

Redfern Health Center does not issue official "medical excuses." Students visiting the Center are given a receipt. This document or a telephone call to the Center can be used to confirm services were rendered. No diagnosis or other confidential information is given.

A student who incurs excessive absences in a given course may be dropped from that course by the instructor in accordance with stated course policy. Students may withdraw from a course by using the online drop and add system. Students who withdraw after the first two weeks of classes shall have grades recorded for those courses. Prior to the last seven weeks of classes, this grade would normally be "W." Students are limited to no more than seventeen hours of "W" grades during their academic careers. Transfer students, however, may withdraw from no more than twelve percent of their total academic work or up to seventeen hours of course work, whichever is fewer remaining in their chosen undergraduate curriculum at the time of their transfer to Clemson University.

6. Examinations and Grading. Faculty should announce course requirements, procedures for examinations, and grading standards during the first full week of classes. Final examinations must be given on the dates and at the times designated in the final examinations schedule. Detailed information on grading and examination procedures can be found in Clemson University's Undergraduate Announcements and in the Student Handbook.

Clemson University uses the assignment of the following undergraduate grades: A--excellent work; B--above average work; C-- satisfactory work; D--unsatisfactory but passing work; F--failure (to receive credit the student must repeat the course and earn a "D" or above); W—withdrawn after the first two weeks of class work and prior to the last seven weeks of classes, not including the examination period; I-- incomplete work (to be used only when a relatively small part of all course requirements has not been completed). Under some circumstances a course can be taken on a Pass/Fail basis.

A student receiving an "I" is allowed thirty days after the beginning of the next regular semester to make up the incomplete work. One extension of the deadline may be granted in unusual circumstances if approved by the instructor and department chair. A make-up grade form is sent to each instructor who gives an "I" grade, and the form has a place to approve an extension. The grade of "I" remains on the academic record until the make-up grade is received in Student Records. Even though the "I" grade is computed like an "F" in the student's grade average, the instructor should submit a make-up grade of "F" if that is intended to be the final grade.

An undergraduate may not repeat a course for credit in which a grade above "C" has been earned. Both grades are recorded in the student's transcript. For more detailed information on examinations and grading, faculty should consult the section, "Scholastic Regulations," in the Undergraduate Announcements.

Faculty will retain all grade records for 120 days, exclusive of summer vacation. Faculty who leave the university for any reason or who are going on sabbatical or taking leave of absence, shall submit their grade records to the department to be retained for 120 days exclusive of summer vacation.

Once near mid-term in every undergraduate course the instructor shall make available for each student: (a) that student's ranking to date in that course or (b) that student's course grade to date, relative to the grading system stated in the course syllabus. This feedback should occur near mid-term, but it shall occur no later than the course meeting prior to the last day to withdraw without final grades. More frequent feedback is strongly encouraged. Both student and instructor are to recognize that this feedback reflects the student's performance up to that point in time and, as such, that student's final course grade may change based upon subsequent performance. This policy includes all undergraduate courses and applies to summer school, including Maymester.

7. Student Rights and Responsibilities. As indicated in the 1967 Joint Statement on Rights and Freedoms of Students of AAUP, academic institutions exist for the transmission of knowledge, the pursuit of truth, the intellectual development of students, and the general well-being of society. Free inquiry and free expression are indispensable to attaining these goals. As members of the academic community, students should be encouraged to develop the capacity for critical judgment and to engage in a sustained and independent search for truth.

Freedom to teach and freedom to learn are indispensable elements of academic freedom. The freedom to learn depends upon appropriate opportunities and conditions in the classroom, on the campus, and in the community at large. Students are expected to exercise their freedom responsibly.

The responsibility to secure and respect general conditions conducive to the freedom to learn is shared by all members of the academic community. The faculty member, in the classroom and in conference, should encourage free discussion, inquiry, and expression. Students should be free to take reasoned exception to the data or views offered in any course of study and to reserve judgments about matters of opinion; however, they are responsible for learning the content of any course of study for which they are enrolled.

Student performance is to be evaluated solely on an academic basis, not on opinions or conduct in matters unrelated to academic standards. Students receive protection against prejudiced or capricious academic evaluation by means of orderly procedures set forth in the Student Handbook.

Information about student views, beliefs, and political associations which faculty members acquire in the course of their work as instructors, advisors, and counselors is confidential. It is a faculty member's professional obligation to guard against the improper disclosure of such information. Faculty judgments concerning the ability and character of any student are to be provided only as the academic growth and development of the student may be fostered and only on a need-to-know basis.

8. Privacy. Specifically, the privacy of students and the regulation of access to and release of their university-maintained records come under the federal government's Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974. This act accords students the right of access to their "educational records"--defined as records, files, documents, and other materials (including, but not limited to, handwriting, print, tapes, film, microfilm, and microfiche) which both contain information directly related to a student and are physically maintained by the university or by anyone acting for the university. However, not included in the definition of "educational records"--and thus excepted from such student access--are supervisory, instructional, and administrative personnel records and such items pertaining thereto as grade books, observational notes, and notes for recollection purposes so long as they remain in the sole possession of their authors and are not revealed to any person other than the authors' substitutes. Thus federal law (as well as the South Carolina Freedom of Information Act) does not require faculty and administrators to give students access to such records as are personally maintained by faculty and are kept in strict confidence by faculty.

For faculty, then, the main significance of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act is that the right of access to information concerning student grades and other performance evaluations is limited to the students themselves and not to any third party including parents except those with a clear need to know (such as substitute faculty and official custodians of records). Thus, for example, grades received by an individual student for any type of scholastic work performed may not be publicly communicated either in oral or written form that uses any personally identifiable information (e.g., the name, address, or Social Security number of the student) without the written consent of the student. Faculty should not mention grades or scholastic progress to parents, verbally or written, without the prior written consent of the student. Without such written consent, faculty should not discuss scholastic progress relating to a specific individual over the phone, even if the person to whom they are speaking identifies themselves as the specific student.

Faculty should also be aware that students have the right to review confidential recommendations that are used in application for employment or for admission to the university or to other educational institutions, or that contains information concerning honors and awards--provided that such recommendations are included in educational records maintained by the university and that the students have not waived this right.

Under the South Carolina Freedom of Information Act, scholastic records prepared and maintained by individual faculty may be kept in confidence and are not subject to mandatory disclosure to any person, including students. That is, the Act specifically excludes such "scholastic records" from those "public records" to which it gives citizens access.

It should be noted, however, that the Act could be interpreted to include such scholastic "tools" as syllabi, textbooks and other assigned readings, illustrations, photographs, films, phonograph materials, etc. used in a course of instruction, and any other documentary materials prepared, owned, used, in the possession of, or retained by a public body such as Clemson University. All such items then are potentially accessible for inspection by citizens upon due application.

The full university policy statement regarding compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 is available from the office of the Vice President for Student Affairs. Information concerning and interpretations of federal and state laws governing such matters can be obtained from the General Counsel.

9. Academic Integrity. The Clemson University community has inherited Thomas Green Clemson's vision of this institution as a "high seminary of learning." Fundamental to this vision is a mutual commitment to truthfulness, honor, and responsibility without which we cannot earn the trust and respect of others. Furthermore, we recognize that academic dishonesty detracts from the value of a Clemson degree. Therefore, lying, cheating, or stealing in any form will not be tolerated.

- Any breach of the principles outlined in the Academic Integrity Statement is considered an act of academic dishonesty.
- Academic dishonesty is further defined as:
  - Giving, receiving, or using unauthorized aid on any academic work;
  - Plagiarism, which includes the copying of language, structure, or ideas of another and attributing the work to one's own efforts;
  - Attempts to copy, edit, or delete computer files that belong to another person without the permission of the file owner, account owner or file number owner;
  - All academic work submitted for grading contains an implicit pledge and may contain, at the request of the instructor, an explicit pledge by the student that no unauthorized aid has been received.
  - It is inherent that faculty members enforce the academic integrity policy. Please consult Undergraduate Announcements for details concerning the hearing committee structure, procedures, and penalties.

10. Student Advising. Advising is a unique form of teaching that offers special rewards to both students and faculty. Faculty with special dedication to students and with commitment to perform work more demanding than classroom teaching should be chosen as academic advisors. It follows, therefore, that advising along with classroom teaching is considered in assessing performance.

The primary purpose of academic advising is to assist students in their pursuit of educational programs designed to attain their life goals and meet career objectives. An academic advisor helps students identify and assess alternatives and evaluate consequences of their decisions. Good advising assists students in understanding institutional policies and procedures; in making academic decisions and examining progress toward goals; and in understanding available institutional and community support services.

Each academic unit has an academic advising coordinator who assumes primary responsibility for knowing academic regulations and policies; attends university meetings on advising; disseminates information to other advisors; and monitors and assists other advisors. All advisors should schedule adequate and convenient office hours to meet student needs for consultation. Special attention must be given to student advising needs during early registration, orientation, and late registration periods.

11. Evidence of Learning in Evaluation of Teaching. The evaluation of faculty teaching and student learning is an important process requiring a multi-faceted approach. Research supports the use of multiple sources of evidence in evaluation, and effective evaluations should include at least three of the following:

- Evidence-based measurements of student learning (such as pre and post testing or student work samples) that meet defined student learning outcomes
- Evaluation (by peers and/or administrators) of course materials, learning objectives, and examinations
- In-class visitation by peers and/or administrators
- A statement by the faculty member describing his/her methods and/or a teaching philosophy
- Exit interview/surveys with current graduates/alumni
- Additional criteria as appropriate for the discipline and degree level of the students
- A statement by the faculty member of methods or philosophy that also describes and documents how feedback from student rating of course experiences or evaluation instruments above were used to improve teaching.

The university provides a standard form that meets the minimum requirements of current research-based practices for student rating of course experiences. This form must be approved by the Scholastic Policies Committee of the Faculty Senate. Individual departments and faculty may develop questions supplemental to the university's minimum standard questions or employ comprehensive supplemental questions, but the standard questions are required.

Student rating of course experiences is mandatory for all instructors at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Before the last two weeks of the semester, the instructor must activate the on-line evaluation and then inform the students that the evaluation should be completed by the end of the semester. The instructor will announce to the students that the completed evaluations cannot be reviewed until course grades have been submitted. If instructors use class time for the on-line evaluation, then they must leave the room during the evaluation.

Summary of statistical ratings from student ratings of course experiences (except instructor-developed questions) will become part of the personnel review data for annual review, reappointment, tenure and promotion, and for post-tenure review consideration. Statistical rating summaries will be available to department chairs through the data warehouse. Comments are the property of faculty.

The university will retain (at least for six years) copies of summaries of all statistical ratings and student comments to verify that the evaluations have been carried out and provide an archive for individual faculty who may need them in the future.

12. Students with Disabilities. Clemson University complies with federal law that prohibits discrimination in programs and activities for students with disabilities. Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 states:

“No otherwise qualified disabled individual...shall, solely by reason of his disability, be excluded from the participation in, be denied benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance.”

Appropriate documentation of a disability is required and once obtained, a letter of accommodation is developed with the student who hand delivers it to instructors.

The Office of Disability Services provides auxiliary services such as assisting with early registration; transcribing recorded lectures; and assisting with recorded texts, interpreters for the deaf, and readers for the blind. Direct classroom accommodation such as test proctoring, extended time, and alternative test formats are arranged by the academic department once the accommodation letter is received. Faculty are encouraged to discuss students' needs when they self-identify; however, accommodations should not be provided without receiving the above mentioned accommodation letter with a current date and original signature.

13. Sale of Textbooks and Other Course Materials to Students. Under no circumstances should the faculty member engage in the direct sale of textbooks or other course materials to students. Faculty members who wish to assign textbooks or other course materials that they authored or edited as part of a Clemson University course must first complete a written disclosure form (provided in Appendix K) identifying the economic interest they may have in the textbook or materials. This disclosure form should be submitted to the faculty member's Department chair – or if the faculty member is the Department Chair to their Dean – for final approval in accordance with the SC Ethics Act. This restriction does not limit the freedom of faculty members to develop course materials that can be sold through the bookstore or other suppliers.

E. Professional Responsibility Toward Colleagues

In the spirit of Clemson University's founder, Thomas Greene Clemson, who in his bequest stated that he sought to establish a “high seminary of learning,” Clemson University faculty are expected to be committed to the highest ideals of the pursuit of knowledge. In this pursuit, faculty members commit themselves to conduct their professional responsibilities in a manner founded on the highest ethical standards and demonstrate mutual respect for one another.

As members of the university community of scholars, faculty members have major responsibilities to their colleagues that must always guide their actions when interacting with each other. Faculty members should respect and defend the full inquiry of their colleagues. Debate and discourse strengthen the search for new knowledge and the proper intellectual climate expected of a university. But in these exchanges, faculty members must show appropriate regard for the opinions of others and the legitimacy of their intellectual pursuits. Faculty members must strive to be objective and fair in any professional judgments they make of their colleagues. These responsibilities extend to encouraging and supporting the professional development of colleagues in one's department and college as well as the university as a whole. Faculty members must continuously strive to avoid actions that are demonstrably divisive and create an atmosphere that is not conducive to the University's work and mission. Faculty members should reflect the ideals of high ethical standards of personal behavior, academic freedom, mutual respect in an atmosphere of civility, acceptance of diversity in perspectives, ideas and opinions, and treating teaching, research and public service as integrative activities. Procedures and policies to be followed when these responsibilities appear to have been violated may be found in Part V of the Faculty Manual.

F. Graduation, Commencement, and Other Formal Academic Ceremonies

Faculty members shall normally participate in appropriate academic dress in at least one of the following academic ceremonies annually: Graduation or Commencement. The faculty of each college shall determine appropriate representation at each ceremony. Each department (or school, if there is no department) of the college shall ensure that its proportionate representation is present. A marshal and a standard bearer shall be selected to lead each college faculty into the ceremony.

G. Summer Teaching

Faculty on nine-month appointments may accept compensated summer employment elsewhere, in the university's summer sessions, or in connection with such specific assignments (e.g., special administrative or committee duties or research) as may be offered through the university. Faculty on nine-month appointments are not required to teach in summer sessions. Likewise, nine-month faculty are neither required to perform university duties nor be available for university responsibilities without compensation outside the period August 15-May 16. Faculty on twelve-month appointments, however, are required to perform year-round duties, with time off for annual leave.

Faculty who teach at Clemson in summer sessions are expected to fulfill the regular responsibilities associated with university instruction, such as holding classes as scheduled and maintaining reasonable office hours. Likewise faculty with special summer research or other responsibilities should make known to their chairs where and when they may usually be contacted.

Compensation for summer school teaching is computed on the basis of 3.25% of the faculty member's base salary per credit hour. For a course in which the number of registered students is inadequate to support full payment, a faculty member may be offered the option either not to teach the course or to receive a reduced salary based on tuition income generated. A chair or dean may propose an alternative policy, which would take effect if approved by the Departmental or College Faculty Advisory Committee (or the departmental/college faculty as a whole if no Advisory Committee exists). Any such alternative departmental/college policy shall be distributed in writing to all departmental or college faculty.

H. Other Summer Employment

Compensation for other teaching, for sponsored research, and/or for extension activities performed during the months between the academic years (fall and spring semesters) and not related to a summer session is computed at the same rate as for nine-month faculty members' "base period" for the immediately preceding academic year. (Here "base period" means either a semester or an academic year and "base pay" means the compensation allowed for full-time employment during a base period). The formula for calculating compensation for summer employment other than summer-session teaching is as follows:

The faculty member's daily compensation rate is calculated by dividing the number of working days during the summer period into one-third of the faculty member's base pay for the immediately preceding academic year. The faculty member is then paid at this rate for each day of employment by the university during the summer period. When a legal or declared holiday happens to fall on a working day during the summer period, it is to be considered a paid holiday if the faculty member has been or is to be employed for a minimum of thirty successive working days, which include the holiday(s) in the summer period. Vacation leave is accrued at the rate of one and one-half days for each twenty working days. Such leave may be taken only during the time period supported by the summer employment funding source(s) and is subject to approval on university form CUBO-400. It is approved and recorded within each department and is not reflected on the university computerized leave system.

I. Dual Employment and Overload Compensation

Dual Employment and overload compensation will be considered when a faculty member is asked to assume an additional workload which significantly surpasses the 12 credit hour equivalent expectation during a semester. Such dual employment/overload compensation may be either internal (e.g., overload teaching at Clemson) or external (work for another state agency). The maximum compensation allowable is thirty percent of the base period salary (semester, academic year, or calendar year, as appropriate). The Division of Human Resources can supply further details.

The request for dual employment/overload compensation must be accompanied by clear documentation, verified by the department chair or school director and approved by the dean, that the faculty member's base-line workload is at or above the expected 12 credit hour equivalent before assuming additional duties. The department chair or school director must verify that these additional activities are consistent with the mission and strategic directions of the faculty member's college and department or school. Furthermore, the faculty member must document that adequate and appropriate arrangements have been made for regularly scheduled classroom activities and office hours if these are impacted by the dual employment/overload compensation assignment.

J. Sabbatical Leave

Sabbatical leave may be granted by the President of the University to any faculty member holding regular faculty rank. Normally, a faculty member shall have completed six full years of full time service with the University to be eligible for sabbatical leave; however, exceptions may be granted upon approval of the department chair (or equivalent supervisor), dean, and Provost. The purpose of sabbatical leave is to relieve faculty of normal duties so that they might pursue significant projects facilitating their professional growth and development, thus enhancing their future contributions to the mission of the university. There is no period of service to the University or any other conditions that shall ensure that such leaves are granted.

Applications for sabbatical leave by faculty on nine-month appointments may entail a request for one semester of leave at full pay or for two successive semesters at half pay. Applications for sabbatical leave by faculty on twelve-month appointments and administrators with faculty rank may be made for periods up to six months at full pay or for periods of over six months to one calendar year at half pay. There shall be no discrimination between one-semester or two-semester sabbaticals for nine-month faculty and between six-month or twelve-month sabbaticals for faculty with twelve-month appointments. Certain fringe benefits may be continued during sabbatical if arrangements are made in advance with the Division of Human Resources. Faculty on sabbatical leave will maintain all the rights and privileges of regular faculty except those explicitly restricted elsewhere in the Faculty Manual. Faculty who are on sabbatical leave are still considered employees of Clemson University and, therefore, may not be employed by another entity. However, faculty on sabbatical may receive compensation directly from another university or other entity as an independent contractor or other status which does not entail full-time employment. A faculty member on sabbatical may also receive compensation indirectly from another entity through a contract for the faculty member's services between the other entity and the University. This Sabbatical Policy does not prohibit or otherwise affect the application of University policies regarding outside professional consulting or the receipt of honoraria.

The following steps should be followed in the application and review processes for sabbatical leaves:

- Applicants requesting sabbatical leaves should prepare a proposal containing information on the goals of the sabbatical including supporting materials and information on how the teaching, student advising/mentoring, service, and any administrative responsibilities of the applicant will be handled while he or she is away from campus. If relevant, an applicant must consult with the department chair (or school director or immediate supervisor) concerning teaching responsibilities.

- The proposal for a sabbatical leave should be submitted to an elected departmental committee, chaired by the department chair for review no later than January 31 (for sabbaticals beginning in the fall semester) or no later than May 31 (for sabbaticals beginning in the spring semester).
- The departmental committee's written recommendation shall be forwarded directly to the dean of the college with a copy to the applicant. The departmental committee will take no longer than two weeks to submit its recommendation.
- The dean of the college will forward his or her recommendation to the Provost and the applicant no later than February 28 or June 30, as appropriate.
- By March 15 or July 15, the Provost will forward his or her recommendation to the President and inform the applicant, the dean of the college, and the chair of the department of his or her recommendation.

Administrators with Faculty rank should prepare a proposal containing information on the goals of the sabbatical including supporting materials and information on how the assigned duties of the applicant will be handled while he or she is away from campus. This proposal should be submitted to his/her immediate supervisor no later than January 31 (for sabbaticals beginning in the fall semester) or no later than May 31 (for sabbaticals beginning in the spring semester). The supervisor will forward his or her recommendation to the Provost or the President, as appropriate, no later than February 28 or June 30, as appropriate. If forwarded to the Provost, he or she will forward his or her recommendation to the President by March 15 or July 15, as appropriate, and inform the applicant and his or her immediate supervisor of the recommendation.

The President shall render his or her decision within two weeks of receiving the Provost's recommendation.

The Office of the Provost shall maintain and publish a list of the individuals granted sabbaticals, the date the sabbatical was approved, the title of the project, and the dates when the sabbatical was taken.

Sabbatical leaves are granted in good faith. Faculty granted sabbatical leave shall sign an agreement to maintain University employment for a period at least equal to the period of the sabbatical, or to repay the University any compensation they received from the University during the period of the sabbatical. The obligation to repay shall not apply in situations where a faculty member is unable to return to University employment for reasons beyond the control of the faculty member. Upon return from sabbatical leave the faculty member shall file a written report with the department chair or school director or immediate supervisor on his/her professional activities during the leave period.

K. Graduate Study by Faculty

With the approval of the appropriate administrators and the Vice Provost and Dean of the Graduate School, university faculty, administrators, and staff may pursue graduate work for credit at Clemson. However, no faculty member with a rank higher than instructor may be considered as a candidate for an advanced degree at Clemson University in his/her primary area of professional responsibility or in the department in which he/she is a member.

PART X. SUMMARY OF SELECTED UNIVERSITY AND STATE POLICIES

The material in this section is provided for information only. These policies apply to the faculty as employees of Clemson University and the State of South Carolina, but the Faculty Senate cannot initiate substantive changes as they can in most other sections of the Faculty Manual. The Faculty Senate does choose what kinds of information to include in this section based on requests from faculty or administrators, or based on the recommendations of the Policy Committee and the Executive/Advisory Committee.

A. Workplace and Personnel

Each department/school is required to keep a copy of all university policies affecting faculty and make it available for faculty use. The following sections offer a general summary statement of personnel policies in selected areas that are of particular interest to faculty.

As university and State employees, faculty must adhere to numerous policies. These policies are given in their entirety in the Clemson University Personnel Policies and Procedures Manual which is available in the Library and in each departmental office. These include:

1. Equal Opportunity Policies. Clemson University, in compliance with Titles VI and VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, and Sections 503 and 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, or disability in any of its policies, procedures, or practices; nor does the university, in compliance with the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, as amended, and Section 402 of the Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Act of 1974, discriminate against any employees or applicants for employment on the basis of their age or because they are disabled veterans or veterans of the Vietnam era. Clemson University conducts its programs and activities involving admission, access, treatment, employment, teaching, research, and public service in a nondiscriminatory manner as prescribed by Federal laws and regulations.

In conformance with university policy and pursuant to Executive Order 11246, as amended, Section 503 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and Section 402 of the Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Act of 1974, Clemson University is an Affirmative Action /Equal Opportunity Employer.

Inquiries concerning the above may be addressed to any of the following: President, Clemson University, Clemson, South Carolina 29634; Director for Access and Equity, Clemson University, Clemson, South Carolina 29634; Director, Office for Civil Rights, Department of Education, Washington, D.C. 20201.

2. Drug and Alcohol Policy. Clemson University recognizes that the illegal or abusive use of alcohol or drugs by members of the campus community jeopardizes the safety of the individual and the campus community, and is not conducive to the academic learning process. Clemson University is, therefore, committed to having a campus that is free of the illegal or abusive use of drugs and alcohol. This policy is implemented in compliance with the Drug-Free Workplace Act of 1988, the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act Amendments of 1989 and the South Carolina Drug-Free Workplace Act of 1990. Each employee shall receive and acknowledge receipt of a copy of the Drug and Alcohol Policy. Further information can be obtained from the Office of Human Resources.
3. Nepotism Policy “...[A] public employee may not make, participate in making, or in any way attempt to use his...office to influence a governmental decision in which he, a member of his immediate family, an individual with whom he is associated, or a business in which he is associated has an economic interest. A...public employee who, in the discharge of his official responsibilities, is required to take an action or make a decision which affects an economic interest of himself, a member of his immediate family, an individual with which he is associated, shall prepare a written statement describing the matter requiring action or decisions and the nature of his potential conflict of interest with respect to the action or decision; ...if he is a public employee, he shall furnish a copy of the statement to his superior, if any, who shall assign the matter to another employee who does not have a potential conflict of interest.” (excerpt from state law)

Family member means an individual who is the employee’s spouse, parent, brother, sister, child, mother-in-law, father-in-law, daughter-in-law, son-in-law, grandchild, a child residing in the employee’s household, or an individual claimed by the employee or the employee’s spouse as a dependent for income tax purposes.

4. Racial Harassment Policy. Racial harassment of university faculty, staff, students, or visitors is prohibited and shall subject the offender to appropriate disciplinary action. It is the policy of Clemson University to conduct and provide programs, activities, and services to students, faculty, and staff in an atmosphere free from racial harassment. Racial harassment is any behavior that would verbally or physically threaten, torment, badger, heckle, or persecute an individual because of his/her race. Faculty members can seek advice from the Office of Access and Equity.
5. Sexual Harassment Policy. Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, as amended, provides that it shall be an unlawful discriminatory practice for any employer, because of the sex of any person, to discharge without just cause, to refuse to hire, or otherwise discriminate against any person with respect to any matter directly or indirectly related to employment. Harassment of an employee on the basis of sex violates this federal law. The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission has issued guidelines as to what constitutes sexual harassment of any employee under Title VII.

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, as amended, prohibits sexual discrimination in any educational program or activity receiving federal financial assistance. Clemson University receives such assistance.

The Board of Trustees has determined that the Title VII guidelines on sexual harassment against employees shall be equally applicable in the instance of sexual harassment of students by employees. Accordingly, the following university guidelines are issued.

Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature constitute sexual harassment when:

- Submission to such conduct is made explicitly, or implicitly, a term or condition of an individual's employment or academic standing, or

- Submission to, or rejection of, such conduct by an individual is used as a basis for employment or for arriving at academic decisions affecting an individual, or
- Such conduct unreasonably interferes with an individual's work, or academic performance, or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working or academic environment.

Sexual harassment of university faculty, staff, or students is prohibited and shall subject the offender to oral or written warnings, suspension, transfer, demotion, or dismissal. In the event a claim of sexual harassment arises, the claimant may utilize university grievance procedures which have been established for faculty, staff, and students, as appropriate.

The Board of Trustees has also determined that sexual harassment can occur not only in situations envisaged by existing federal laws and guidelines, but also in instances for which no law, per se, has been enacted. Federal law and the guidelines set forth above contemplate a one-directional transgression, namely, a supervisor harassing an employee, or faculty member harassing a student. However, sexual harassment occurs in many forms. Therefore, this policy also prohibits an employee from sexually harassing a superior, a student from sexually harassing a faculty member, or any form of peer harassment. When such actions occur, the offended individual should take corrective measures in accordance with usual practice and procedure.

6. Leave and Holidays. As state employees, faculty are eligible for state leave and holiday benefits. For a full explanation refer to the Personnel Manual. A brief explanation of some of the leave benefits follows.
  - a. Annual leave. Faculty on an academic year (nine-month) appointment do not accrue annual leave. The terms of annual leave for persons holding twelve-month faculty appointments, which include administrators and librarians, are somewhat different from those of classified personnel. Annual leave for twelve-month faculty is accumulated at the rate of eighteen working days per year for the first nineteen years of service at Clemson, and thirty days per year thereafter. A maximum of forty-five unused leave days may be carried forward into each calendar year. Although all accumulated leave may be used each year, no more than thirty working days of leave may be used in one calendar year without the Provost's approval. Twelve-month faculty on sabbatical leave accrue annual leave provided they return to duty.
  - b. Sick leave accrues monthly at the rate of 9.38 hours of sick leave per month for every month a faculty member is in pay status for one-half or more work days of the month excluding summer employment of nine-month employees. Sick leave may be used when personal illness or injury prevents one from performing regular duties or for medical appointments. A maximum of 10 days sick leave per year may also be taken for the illness of an immediate family member. "Immediate family," as defined in the SC Sick Leave Act, includes spouse and children and the following relations to the employee or the spouse of the employee: mother, father, brother, sister, grandparent, or legal guardian and grandchildren if the grandchild resides with the employee and the employee is the primary caretaker of the grandchild.
  - c. Funeral leave. A faculty member shall, upon request, be granted up to three consecutive days of leave with pay upon the death of any member of his/her immediate family. "Immediate family" is defined as the spouse, great grandparents, grandparents, parents, brothers, sisters, children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren of either the faculty member or his/her spouse.
  - d. Court leave is granted for obedience to a subpoena or other legal direction by a proper authority to serve on a jury, testify, or serve as a witness. Any jury fees and travel payment shall be retained by the faculty member. When a faculty member is a voluntary witness in litigation as an individual, and not in any official capacity, court leave is not granted.

- e. Military leave is granted, up to the maximum accorded by state law (currently 15 days), for active duty or training with the armed forces of the United States or the National Guard. The leave days need not be consecutive and may involve more than one tour of duty.
- f. Holiday leave is granted for official holidays; however, teaching schedules and other circumstances may require the faculty member's presence. Nine-month faculty receive the regular student holidays listed in the Undergraduate Announcements unless special circumstances require their presence.
- g. Change of Appointment. A faculty member who shifts from a nine-month to a twelve-month appointment shall have leave calculated on the basis of the total number of years service to the university.

A faculty member who shifts from a twelve-month to a nine-month appointment has the following options for handling accrued annual leave: 1) all accrued annual leave earned (up to a maximum of forty-five days) will be credited to the individual's account and frozen until retirement or termination, upon which the credited amount will be paid at the salary rate in effect upon retirement or termination; 2) all accrued annual leave (up to a maximum of forty-five days, regardless of any leave used in the current calendar year) will be computed at the rate of salary in effect immediately prior to the transfer to the new appointment and will be paid to the individual on the last payday prior to the transfer. It is the faculty member's responsibility to notify the Division of Human Resources if such a shift is being planned.

- 7. Professional Travel. Clemson University recognizes the importance of attendance at professional meetings to faculty growth and development and encourages faculty participation in such activities. Thus, the university provides financial support for professional travel to the extent that financial circumstances permit. Department chairs and school directors are responsible for establishing travel criteria and priorities. Such criteria and priorities can vary from year to year depending upon the travel funds available, the number of faculty applying for professional travel allotments, the nature of faculty participation in particular meetings, distances to be traveled, modes of travel, etc. On these bases, department chairs allocate travel funds among departmental faculty. Departments normally try to maintain small contingency travel funds for special circumstances.

To be reimbursed for travel expenses the faculty member completes a travel voucher and attaches to it receipts for registration, transportation, and lodging. Meal reimbursement is subject to the state per diem schedule. Reimbursement for official travel in personal vehicles is only allowed under certain conditions. Cash advances for travel may be secured by completing a travel cash advance form (available from the departmental or school office) and taking the signed form to the Bursar's Office. Travel outside the United States and Canada involves special procedures for approval. For further information, consult the Office of Access and Equity.

B. Procedures for Resolution of Discrimination / Harassment Complaints

These procedures will be applied in conjunction with the following Clemson University Policies for Equitable Treatment: Affirmative Action / Equal Employment Opportunity Policy, Policy on HIV Disease and Aids, Policy for Individuals with Disabilities, Policy for Disabled and Vietnam-Era Veterans, and Harassment Policy. (These policies can be found at <http://www.clemson.edu/access/> under "Policies".)

These procedures apply to complaints of discrimination based on age, color, disability, gender, national origin, race, religion, sexual orientation, or veteran's status. The Office of Access and Equity is responsible for investigating and processing all such complaints of discrimination / harassment made against any member of the Clemson University community, including faculty, staff, or students, or any vendor or contractor conducting business within the university with one exception. Any grievance submitted as a Category I Faculty Grievance under the Faculty Manual will be handled in accordance with the procedures outlined in the Faculty Manual (www.lib.clemson.edu/fs/FacultyManual/FacultyManual.pdf) even if the grievance includes allegations of discrimination.

All members of the Clemson community should contact the Office of Access & Equity if they observe or encounter conduct that may violate any of the University's Policies for Equitable Treatment. Reports of alleged violations may also be made to an immediate supervisor. Alternatively, if the immediate supervisor is the alleged harasser, complaints may be made to the next level supervisor. Students can report alleged violations to the Office of the Dean of Students (undergraduate students), the Dean of the Graduate School (graduate students), Academic Deans, Department Chairs, or directly to the Office of Access and Equity. University officials, managers, Deans, Department Chairs, and supervisors that receive a complaint of discrimination / harassment are required to notify the Office of Access and Equity in order to have complaints promptly processed under the Informal and/or the Formal Complaint process described below. Information essential to an investigation must be provided to the Office of Access and Equity upon request.

Reports of discrimination/harassment should be brought as soon as possible after the alleged conduct occurs. Prompt reporting enables the University to more effectively investigate the facts, determine if a violation of any policy has occurred, and provide an appropriate remedy or disciplinary action. Therefore, complaints investigated under this procedure must be reported as described in the previous paragraph no more than 120 days after the complaining party becomes aware of the allegedly discriminatory or harassing conduct.

1. Informal Complaint Process

The goal of the Informal Complaint Process is to resolve concerns at the earliest stage possible with the cooperation of the parties involved. This process includes but is not limited to discussions with the parties, mediating an agreement between the parties, referring the parties to counseling programs, conducting targeted educational and training programs, and making other recommendations for resolution. Upon notification of an informal complaint, an investigator in the Office of Access and Equity will conduct an investigation into the allegations using the following process:

- Discussions will be conducted separately with the complainant and the accused to review the allegation(s) and develop a mutually satisfactory resolution. If deemed appropriate, the investigator may bring the parties together for a joint discussion.
- The resolution process will be confidential to the extent permitted by law. The Office of Access and Equity shall advise all parties of the confidentiality of the investigation and the strict prohibition against retaliation.
- A written record of the allegation(s) and the resolution will be provided to the parties and retained in the Office of Access and Equity.
- If the investigator, after hearing the complainant's statement, determines that a formal investigation is necessary, the complaint will be handled under the Formal Investigation Process below.
- Resolution of complaints handled under the Informal Complaint Process shall either be completed within 30 days of receipt of the complaint by the Office of Access & Equity or referred to the Formal Complaint process within that time period. The Office of Access & Equity shall notify all parties in writing if a matter originally submitted under the Informal Complaint process is going to be handled under the Formal Complaint process.
- The Informal Complaint Process is an optional step. The complaining party or the Office of Access and Equity may decide to skip the Informal Complaint Process and proceed under the Formal Complaint Process.

2. Formal Complaint Process

The formal complaint process will be followed by the Office of Access and Equity if the informal complaint process is not successful or appropriate for addressing the allegations of the complaining party (such as when the facts are in dispute in reports of serious misconduct). The wishes of the individual making the report shall be considered but are not determinative in the decision to initiate the Formal Complaint Process. For example, the University may determine that it is obligated to proceed under the Formal Complaint Process due to the seriousness or nature of the allegations even if the complaining party would prefer to proceed under the Informal Complaint Process. Upon notification of a formal complaint, an investigator in the Office of Access and Equity will conduct an investigation into the allegations using the following process:

- The process will be confidential to the extent permitted by law. The Office of Access and Equity shall advise all parties of the confidentiality of the investigation and the strict prohibition against retaliation.
- The investigation shall include interviews with the parties, interviews with other witnesses as needed, and a review of relevant documents if appropriate. If all witnesses identified by the parties are not interviewed, the investigator will document the reason the interviews were not conducted.
- The individual(s) accused of violating any Clemson Policy for Equitable Treatment shall be given a written statement of the allegations made by the complainant.
- The investigation shall be completed as promptly as possible and in most cases within 45 days of the date the Formal Investigation Process was initiated. If the investigation cannot be completed within 45 calendar days because of valid extenuating circumstances, the complainant will be notified and given a projected time of completion. In cases where the complaint is submitted to Access & Equity near the end of the semester, the 45-day limit can be suspended until the start of the following semester if necessary to conduct interviews of witnesses or primary parties who were unavailable during academic breaks.
- The investigation should result in a written report that includes a statement of the allegations, the positions of the parties, a summary of the findings of fact, and a determination by the Investigator as to whether University policy has been violated, and recommendations for actions to resolve the complaint if appropriate. If all witnesses identified by the parties were not interviewed, the report shall include a statement explaining why. The report shall be submitted to the University official(s) with authority to implement the actions necessary to resolve the complaint.
- The complainant and the accused shall be informed within 30 days of the conclusion of the investigation that the investigation is complete and whether any violations of policy were found. The complainant shall be informed of actions taken to resolve the complaint only if they are directly related to the complainant, such as a directive that the accused not contact the complainant. The complainant may generally be notified that the matter has been referred for disciplinary action, but shall not be informed of the details. Both parties will be notified if all witnesses they identified were not interviewed and the reason they were not interviewed.

3. Appeals of the Formal Complaint Process

- The complainant or accused has a right to appeal the decision of the formal complaint process.
- Appeals must be submitted in writing to the Office of the President of the University within 7 working days (excluding weekends and University holidays) after receipt of the final report of the formal complaint process. The President will appoint a member of his Administrative Council to review and decide the appeal.
- Decisions not appealed within such time are deemed final.
- The appointed member of the Administrative Council will issue a decision on the Appeal to all parties involved within thirty (30) calendar days after receipt of the written Appeal.

4. Filing with External Agencies

In addition to, or in lieu of, the procedures outlined above, a complainant may file complaints with external agencies as follows:

- Students (undergraduate or graduate) may file a complaint with the United States Department of Education, Office for Civil Rights. Complaints must be filed within 180 calendar days of the date of the most recent alleged discrimination.

- Employees may file complaints with one of two external agencies: the South Carolina Human Affairs Commission (must file within 180 calendar days of the date of the most recent discrimination); or the U. S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (must file within 300 calendar days of the most recent alleged discrimination.)

5. Temporary Measures

At any point in the informal or formal complaint process, the investigator may recommend interim actions to protect parties or witnesses to the investigation including but not limited to separating the parties, reassignment, alternative work or student housing arrangements or other types of temporary measures. The University also reserves the right to issue no contact provisions to any or all parties involved in the procedures.

6. Retaliation Prohibited

Retaliation is conduct causing any interference, coercion, restraint or reprisal against a person filing a complaint of discrimination/harassment or assisting in any way in the investigation and resolution of a complaint. Retaliation is a violation of the University's Harassment Policy and appropriate sanctions will be taken against anyone found to have participated in any acts of retaliation.

- Persons who feel they have been subjected to retaliation for filing a complaint of discrimination/harassment or for assisting with the resolution of a complaint should contact the Office of Access and Equity.

C. Professional Activities

1. Intellectual Property. Clemson University has established a policy regarding the rights of employees, students, the University, its contractors, and users of its facilities in matters regarding copyright, patents, and intellectual property (including pedagogical materials, creative works, software, trademark, and research data). The Intellectual Property Policy may be found at <http://www.clemson.edu/research/technology/policies/patents.html>
2. Human Subjects. Clemson University has filed the required general assurances of compliance with the regulations of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services for the protection of human subjects. Although the assurance applies to human subject activities supported by federal funds, it has been adopted as university policy and, as such, applies to all human subject research activities carried out by university personnel. Faculty contemplating such activities must submit a form for approval to be reviewed by the Institutional Review Board (IRB). The IRB ascertains whether the rights and welfare of subjects are adequately protected, the risks to subjects are outweighed by the potential benefits, and the informed consent of subjects is obtained by adequate and appropriate methods.

Further, faculty engaging in human subject research are responsible for adhering to the relevant guidelines established by their professional and/or accrediting organizations. For further information, faculty should contact the Office of Research Compliance.

3. Humane Care and Use of Animals. Clemson University has established a policy and protocol for the use of live animals in research, instruction, and public service activities. Use of vertebrate animals is reviewed and approved by the Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC). Faculty contemplating such activities must submit a protocol form requesting approval to the Committee. For further information, faculty should contact the Office of Research Compliance (ORC).
4. Policy on Research Ethics. Clemson University recognizes the need for faculty to exercise personal judgment and interpretation in research activities in order to maintain an environment of creativity and discovery within the academic community. Care must be taken to ensure that honest error and ambiguities of interpretation of research activities are distinguishable from outright misconduct. Misconduct is construed as dishonest deviation from accepted practices in conducting research activities, or fraudulent failure to comply with university, regulatory, and funding agency requirements affecting specific aspects of the conduct of research. This includes falsification of data, plagiarism, the misappropriation of others' ideas (the unauthorized and intentionally dishonest use of privileged information such as may be gained during peer, paper, or grant reviews), malicious and public misrepresentation of a colleague's ethical research behavior, conflicts of interest that could influence the researcher's decisions or conclusions, or which could provide unfair gain to the researcher, other misuse of position as researcher for personal gain, or exploitation (such as failure to credit work, misrepresentation of a research relationship) of students, or other persons, for research purposes.

Allegations or complaints involving the possibility of misconduct can be raised by anyone, and are subject to the university Policy for Responding to Allegations of Research Misconduct. The allegation should be made to the Research Integrity Officer in a confidential manner. Procedures regarding inquiry and investigation of the allegation are defined in the Policy for Responding to Allegations of Research Misconduct. For further information contact the Office for Research Compliance.

6. Research Data Access and Retention Policy. In the exacting pursuit of meritorious research where honest challenges toward research findings are encouraged; when charges of fraudulent scientific processes may be encountered; and when legislative mandates are received, the university must focus its efforts toward policy development concerning administration of research in order to establish clear ownership and to ensure the integrity, access, and preservation of the university's research records.

Information of a scientific or technical nature that is created, assembled, or accumulated and which, as a standard practice, is recorded in the course of a university supported research project is defined as research data. The terms "research record(s)" or "record(s)" or "research data" are considered interchangeable within the context of this policy statement. The meaning of the term may vary from field to field, and the university will rely upon the standard practices of the relevant field to serve as the guiding principle. For the purpose of this policy, the term "research data" does not include financial, business or management records or pertaining to award administration.

Except when expressly provided otherwise by contractual agreement, ownership of research data resides with the university. Individuals responsible for the generation of research data (e.g., faculty, students, staff) have a legal obligation, as well as potential future benefits, to ensure that such data are properly cared for and retained. To this end, the Principal Investigator of a research project is primarily responsible for:

- The proper recording, retention and preservation of all original research records as expected within the standard operational practices of the relevant field;
- The careful supervision and education of all relevant project personnel concerning these necessary procedures;
- The timely reporting to the immediate supervisor, upon discovery, of significant instances of non compliance of this policy statement.

Research records should include sufficient detail to permit examination for the purposes of replicating the research; to respond to questions that may result from unintentional error or misinterpretation; to establish the authenticity and origin of research data, and ultimately to confirm the validity of the projects conclusions and/or published findings.

In general, if the retention period for research data is not otherwise established by the contractual terms of a sponsored project, a period of no less than five years, either after professional publication of final research findings, or after project completion (whichever is longer) may be adequate unless an extended period is necessary in connection with other project related matters, e.g., inquiries concerning scientific misconduct that are underway or impending. Regarding patent data, the period of retention should extend at least through the life of the patent, and longer if considered necessary to protect against a claim of interference, infringement, or liability.

The responsibility for a project's research data retention and preservation lies with the Principal Investigator, and accordingly the Principal Investigator is considered the custodian of research data, unless circumstances require assignment of custodial responsibilities to another appropriately qualified university academician. Transfer of custodian responsibility for whatever cause will be formally recorded as an approved action by the department chair, director, or dean in accord with college policy. If the project is supported by grant or contract funds, a copy documenting the custodian transfer will also be provided to the Vice President for Research and Economic Development for record filing.

The opinion of the Principal Investigator will be consulted and considered upon receipt of FOI requests, although the university, as owner of those records, reserves the right to seek the judgment of university legal counsel to ultimately determine rights of access under FOI circumstances should differences of opinion arise.

The university's responsibility to safeguard research data from unauthorized disclosure must be recognized as a priority by the individuals entrusted with those records. Any data generated as confidential shall be treated as such in perpetuity.

The physical location of original research records is expected to be within the premises of the university facilities. Circumstances will arise that will justify reasonable exceptions to this practice; however, as long as proper control and oversight is maintained by the university, the custodian in consultation with their supervisor may determine the appropriate measures for administration of this policy and the security of original records.

Faculty who retire, or terminate their employment and transfer to another institution may negotiate with the department chair, director, or dean as appropriate (and Vice President for Research if a sponsored project is involved), and enter into a "transfer agreement" that specifically describes the extent of original research data (notebooks, lab records, etc.) to be transferred or otherwise relinquished, to the faculty member, or their new institution. In such agreements the university will be guaranteed the full and prompt access (without cost or fee) to any original records transferred to an external party. Prior to the departure of the faculty member, affected research records remaining with the university must be inventoried and custodial responsibility reassigned.

Scheduled destruction of research records archival control may take place without further notice, review, or approval. Any other proposed action that would render those records unusable or, in effect, destroyed is unauthorized and cannot occur without advance notice to and approval by the department chair, director, or dean responsible for the safeguarding of the project's research records.

While it is not the intent of, nor deemed necessary for this policy statement to require extraordinarily detailed record keeping of the specific whereabouts of research records, their prompt access by individuals seeking to conduct purposeful research, appropriate administrative reviews, or legal inquiry must be assured.

For further information contact Clemson University Records Management.

6. Use of Recombinant DNA, Biological and Chemical Hazards. Clemson University requires that all faculty members/principal investigators (PIs) submit applications to the Institutional Biosafety Committee (IBC) in the Office of Research Compliance (ORC) for review and approval when using recombinant DNA molecules or organisms, hazardous biological agents, select agents/toxins, and other chemical hazards with vertebrate animals. All research activities as described above, regardless of the source of funding, must be reviewed by the IBC. Even if a proposed experiment may qualify as "exempt" from the NIH Guidelines, Clemson University policy requires that all recombinant DNA research must be registered with the IBC in the ORC. The Chief Environmental Health and Safety Officer serves as the University's Biosafety Officer (BSO) and must be consulted regarding any proposed use of potentially hazardous agents. For more information, faculty should contact the Office of Research Compliance.

D. Private Outside Employment

"Private outside employment" refers to both private consulting activities and other remunerative outside activities of faculty members. "Consulting activity" is defined as professional work performed outside university auspices that is substantively related to a faculty member's area of expertise and duties at the university. "Outside activities" refers to employment or business activities (other than personal and private financial transactions) designed to enhance the income or wealth of the faculty member but not directly related to his/her area of expertise as a faculty member. Professional employment by the university clearly presumes a commitment of time and effort considerably beyond simply fulfilling such scheduled duties as meeting classes. Excessive involvement in private outside employment of any kind must by definition have detrimental effects upon the performance of professional duties. Such lowered performance levels by necessity affect decisions regarding tenure, promotion, and salary.

1. Consulting. Consulting activities can contribute to the professional development and stature of the faculty member, and thus may benefit the university as well as the faculty member, so long as such activities are kept within reasonable bounds. The university, therefore, encourages consulting activities, provided that they present no conflicts of interest and do not diminish the quantity and quality of professional services rendered to the university as part of the faculty member's normal duties and responsibilities. The primary safeguard is the requirement that the faculty member secure advance approval for consulting activities from the department chair, school director, and dean. Department chairs, school directors, and deans shall evaluate the merits of each request to consult to ensure that the activity is beneficial to the university in that no conflicts of interest exist, no conflict with university duties or responsibilities is present, and the total amount of consulting by the faculty member is not excessive. Guidelines developed by the dean of each college for use in this evaluation shall be provided to the faculty after review by the Provost or designee to ensure consistency with this policy.
2. Outside Activities. Outside activities are not viewed as beneficial to the university and are not encouraged. If engaged in, they must pose no conflict of interest or result in any lessened contribution by the faculty member to the university. The outside activities of part-time as well as full-time faculty members must not impinge in any way upon the duties and responsibilities of the faculty member to the university.
3. Use of University Facilities and Equipment. University facilities and equipment shall not be used in the furtherance of outside activities in any instance, and shall only be used in the furtherance of consulting activities when: a) such facilities and equipment are not available commercially, and b) approval in advance has been secured from the Assistant to the President.
4. Reporting Requirements. A form for securing approval in advance for consulting activities must be submitted for any proposed consulting that is to occur during the faculty member's period of employment. Faculty on nine-month appointments need not complete this form for consulting that is to occur during the period in which they are not employed by the university.

Faculty are not required to secure advance approval for outside activities, but should be prepared to disclose the nature and extent of such activities to their department chair, school director, and dean if a possibility of conflict of interest or impingement upon the proper performance of duties arises.

E. External Communications: Media Relations

1. Responding to Media Inquiries. The university encourages administrators, faculty, and staff to cooperate with and respond directly to news media representatives in discussing academic and public service activities in the normal conduct of business. They should, however, keep the Director of News Services informed of press contacts and about events, incidents, and developments in which there is, or might be, a public interest. In responding to media requests, the following guidelines will be helpful:

- Act in a friendly, responsive manner.
- Get the reporter's name and the publication or station represented.
- If the question is one that you can answer and it is within your area of academic, technical, or professional expertise and responsibility, give the reporter your full cooperation.
- Refer the call to the Chief Public Affairs Officer or the Director of News Services if it involves:
a) questions of university policy, or those involving a university-wide concern or controversy; b) questions to which a university response has already been prepared and that is the only information to be released; and c) responses that call for coordination among two or more administrative units.
- If you cannot (or do not wish to) comment, don't hesitate to say so. Refer the call to News Services, which will answer for the university or refer the reporter to the appropriate source.
- Some reporters may ask you to comment on controversial matters "off the record" with the promise that your name will not be used. Unless you know the reporter well, it is usually not wise to do so. In any event, if you go "off the record," establish the ground rules before the interview. Comments cannot be placed "off the record" retroactively.
- If you need to gather data or give the matter some thought, tell the reporter you will call back. Then do so promptly. Deadline pressures are extremely tight in the news business.
- When you give a personal opinion on a subject, make sure the reporter knows you are speaking for yourself, not for your colleagues or the administration.
- Don't assume you will see or hear the story before it appears. Unlike Department of News Services staffers, the outside reporter is under no obligation to show you copy for approval.
- Keep your answers clear, concise, and factual. The broadcast media, particularly, need short answers covering no more than one or two points. Decide which ones you want to emphasize in advance, then stick with them.

2. Releasing Information to the Media. Although university faculty and staff are encouraged to be responsive to media inquiries, they are discouraged from taking the initiative to contact the media directly. It is university policy for all news releases to be issued by New Services. This makes good sense and is good policy for several reasons:

- The professional staff has extensive contacts and experience in dealing with the media, and can package and "market" the story in a professional way that will be most usable to the media. They work hard to maintain the media's respect and trust, and this works to the university's benefit.
- Media people are busy people, and the university needs to speak to them with one voice on stories identified as priorities for that particular time period. Just as in fund raising, it is not in the university's best interest to have contacts "hounded" by 10 Clemson people with 10 different requests in one day.
- Information funneled through New Services is automatically shared by both internal and external news editors. Internal communications vehicles such as Inside Clemson, the faculty/staff Newsletter, Clemson World, and other such publications can be used in the total public relations mix. New Services staff members are also involved in developing information for the Visitors Center, Board of Visitors, Faculty-Staff orientation, etc., and occasionally work on speeches and presentations by top university administrators.
- As the media's primary source of information on Clemson, New Services needs to know as much as it can about what's happening so it can effectively promote the university and inform the public. Keep the news staff member assigned to your area fully informed about your programs and activities. The news staff can help plan and set up news conferences, announcements, media Q&A sessions, and interviews. Include them in your planning process, and inform them at least 6-8 weeks in advance of events that need publicizing in the media.

Exceptions to this general policy are made in cases of local contact between extension personnel and news media at the county level. They are encouraged to establish and maintain close relations with local media and supply them with public service information. Sports information activities are also excepted, including the release of information about Clemson athletic programs and athletes, by the Sports Information Office. However, News Services is responsible for handling media on matters concerning university-wide athletic policy where the President or Vice President of Student Affairs is the appropriate university spokesperson.

APPENDIX B

FACULTY REPRESENTATIVE TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Clemson University Board of Trustees has approved the concept of a Faculty Representative to the Board of Trustees using the process outlined below. This individual is recognized as the official representative of the Faculty and is granted privileges beyond those accorded to visitors to Board meetings. This includes receipt of Minutes, Agendas, and attachments of all Board and Committee meetings and an opportunity to be included on the Agenda upon approval of request.

Selection Procedures

A Faculty Representative to the Board of Trustees Selection Committee, composed of two previous Board Representatives, selected by all previous Representatives, two Distinguished Alumni Professors, selected by the Alumni Professors, the President-Elect of the Senate, the President of the Faculty Senate, and the lead Faculty Senators from all Colleges not otherwise represented, will solicit nominations for the Faculty Representative to the Board of Trustees three months prior to the expiration of the term of the incumbent Faculty Representative.

Any regular faculty (as defined by the Faculty Manual) member holding tenure at Clemson University will be eligible for nomination. Self-nominations will be accepted. The nomination period will run for fourteen days from the date of the Call for Nominations. Each nomination must include a complete curriculum vitae, a statement of interest from the nominee, and a statement from the nominee detailing experience in faculty governance (including areas such curriculum, promotion and tenure policies, faculty/administration relations, faculty senate or academic policies) .

The Faculty Manual Editorial Consultant will examine all nominations to verify the faculty status of each nominee. The names of all eligible nominees will be distributed to the members of the Selection Committee. The Committee will consider the nominations and make the final selection based on nominee's curriculum vitae, statement of interest, and faculty governance experience.

The Faculty Representative will serve a three-year term commencing with the first Board meeting following selection. If during the term of office the Faculty Representative assumes administrative duties a replacement will be selected using the above procedures. The newly selected Faculty Representative will serve a full three-year term. The Faculty Representative may not serve successive terms in the office.

APPENDIX E

BEST PRACTICES FOR A PERFORMANCE REVIEW SYSTEM FOR FACULTY

1. The performance review system must meet the “Criteria and Procedures for Evaluation: (4.8.10) of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools which stipulate that: (1) an institution must conduct periodic evaluations of individual faculty members; (2) the evaluation must include a statement of the criteria against which the performance of each faculty member will be measured; (3) the criteria must be consistent with the purpose and goals of the institution and be made known to all concerned; and (4) the institution must demonstrate that it uses the results of this evaluation for improvement of the faculty and its educational program.
2. The performance review system should be both formative (designed to be a supportive process that promotes self-improvement) and summative (accesses and judges performance).
3. The performance review system process and criteria should be explained to new hires.
4. All faculty, including tenured faculty at all ranks, are reviewed annually and receive a written performance evaluation. In this way, for those institutions with a tenure system, the performance review should not pose a threat to the tenure system but extends and enlarges it.
5. The performance review system should have been developed jointly by the faculty and administrators of an institution.
6. The performance review system should allow for discipline-specific components.
7. The performance review system should provide opportunities for reflection, feedback, and professional growth whose goal is to enhance instruction at the institution.
8. The performance review system should include written performance evaluation data from four sources:
  - a. Annually, instruction and course evaluation forms completed anonymously by students through a standardized process and submitted for each course (not section) taught;
  - b. Annually, administrative evaluation which includes assessments from the department chair and/or dean;

- c. Annually, for untenured faculty and at least every three years for tenured faculty, internal peer evaluation, i.e. evaluation of faculty by their peers within the institution of higher learning;
  - d. At least every six years, input from peers external to the department and/or institution as appropriate to the role and function of each faculty member. External evaluators to the institution include national peers from the same field of expertise from other institutions of higher education, professional organizations and societies, federal agencies, etc. Specialized national accreditations and the CHE program reviews, which include external reviewers' assessments, could be incorporated into the external peer review component, where appropriate.
9. At an institutional level, the performance review system must include the following criteria as appropriate to the institution's mission:
- Instruction/teaching; advisement and mentoring of students; graduate student supervision; supervision of other students (teaching assistants, independent study students); course/curriculum development; research/creative activities; publications; service to department; service to institution; service to community; participation in professional organizations/associations; honors, awards, and recognitions; self-evaluation; participation in faculty development activities/programs; activities which actively support the economic development of the region or State.
10. The results of each performance review, including post-tenure review, must be used by the institution as part of the faculty reward system and faculty development system, and the system should include a plan for development when deficiencies are indicated in the review. Specifically:
- a. When an instructor (in the Tech system) or untenured faculty member receives an overall rating of unsatisfactory on the annual performance review, the faculty member may be subject to non-reappointment;
  - b. When an instructor (in the Tech system) or tenured faculty member receives an overall rating of unsatisfactory on the annual performance review, the faculty member is immediately subject to a development process, developed by the specific unit, whose goal is to restore satisfactory performance. The development process will include a written plan with performance goals in deficient areas, with appropriate student and peer evaluation of performance.
  - c. When an instructor (in the Tech system) or a tenured faculty member fails to make substantial progress towards the performance goals at the time of the next annual review or fails to meet the performance goals specified in the development plan within a specified period, that faculty member will be subject to dismissal (in the Tech system) or revocation of tenure for habitual neglect of duty under the terms of the senior institution's faculty manual.

11. The institution should develop an appeals procedure for those faculty who do not agree with the results of the performance evaluation and/or the resulting recommendations for requirements for improvement.

APPENDIX G

BEST PRACTICES FOR POST – TENURE REVIEW

1. A post-tenure review system should incorporate all the indicators identified in the “Best Practices for a Performance Review System for Faculty” document.
2. The post-tenure review should be as rigorous and comprehensive in scope as initial tenure review.
3. The post-tenure review should incorporate annual performance reviews accumulated since the initial tenure review or since the last post-tenure review.
4. Whereas the focus of an initial tenure review tends to be on past performance, equal emphasis should be given to future development and potential contributions in the post-tenure review.
5. Statewide, each tenured faculty member will have a post-tenure review conducted at pre- established, published intervals of no more than six years, unless the faculty member is participating in a development/improvement process in which case the review may be conducted more frequently.
6. If reviews for promotion (e.g., a tenured associate professor is reviewed for promotion to tenured full professor) fall within the appropriate time interval and encompasses all the indicators in this document and in the “Best Practices for a Performance Review System for Faculty” document, they may constitute a post-tenure review.
7. The post-tenure review must include evaluations from peers external to the department and/or institution as appropriate to the role and function of each faculty member (usually to evaluate the quality of research), as well as internal peer evaluations, student evaluations, and administrative evaluations.
8. The post-tenure review must provide detailed information about the outcomes of any sabbatical leave awarded during the six-year post-tenure review period.
9. The institution must identify the means by which the post-tenure review is linked with faculty reward systems, including merit raises and promotion.
10. The institution must display a commitment to provide funds to reward high achievers on post- tenure reviews as well as to provide assistance to faculty members needing improvement.
11. If a faculty member receives an unfavorable post-tenure review, the faculty member is immediately subject to a development process as described in the “Best Practices for a Performance Review System for Faculty”, as outlined in 10 (b) and 10 (c) of that document.
12. The institution should develop an appeals procedure for those faculty who do not agree with the results of the post-tenure review evaluation and/or the resulting recommendations or requirements for improvement.
