RS Fiber projected to have financial shortfall

By Kurt Menk
Editor

The RS Fiber Cooperative is facing a projected financial shortfall.

Based on information recently provided by the RS Fiber Cooperative, a shortfall is projected within the next two years which will impact loan payments for the 2015 A General Obligation Tax Abatement Bonds issued to fund an economic development loan to the RS Fiber Cooperative.

“Our duty is to report the estimated shortfall for the next two years so that member cities can implement tax levies to fulfill their obligation to replenish any shortfalls in debt service payments,” Shannon Sweeney of David Drown Associates, Inc., said in a letter to the nine cities.

According to the letter, the RS Fiber Cooperative has been in on-going discussions with its operator, Hiawatha Broadband Communications, to discuss modifications to their agreement to provide additional financial support. The RS Fiber Cooperative has concluded that suspension of loan payments is certain to occur.

The projected shortfall will be $298,964.25 on Feb. 1, 2019; $156,066.25 on Aug. 1, 2019; $446,066.25 on Feb. 1, 2020; and $152,542.75 on Aug. 1, 2020.

Overall, the projected two-year shortfall will total $1,073,639.50.

The member cities include Green Isle, Gaylord, New Auburn, Fairfax, Gibbon, Winthrop, Lafayette, Stewart and Brownton.

Buffalo Lake is a member of the RS Fiber Cooperative, but was not listed to replenish funds.

Green Isle

The Green Isle City Council discussed the projected financial shortfall at its regular meeting on Tuesday night, Aug. 14.

Green Isle will be asked to replenish $18,356.40 on Feb. 1, 2019; $9,582.47 on Aug. 1, 2019; $27,388.47 on Feb. 1, 2020; and $9,366.12 on Aug. 1, 2020. The total will be $64,693.46.

County Board tables Fair Board budget request

By Amy Newsom
Correspondent

Sibley County Fair Board member Keith Herd was present at the Sibley County Board meeting in Gaylord on Tuesday morning, Aug. 14.

Herd thanked Sibley County Commissioners for their annual contribution of $23,040 to the Fair Board. He stated that funds had been used for the blacktop outside of the Heritage Building and ramps for handicapped accessibility to the buildings.

Herd said that this year the Fair Board is requesting $25,000 for repairs to the grandstand, to address the drainage issue, to replace the roof on the horse arena, to clad the horse barn, for training for the Fair Board, and for educational projects. He said their budget was $72,500 and much of their funding comes from grants thanks to the efforts of Dennis Van Moorlehem.

County Commissioner Gary Kruggel said he would like to see some type of profit and loss statement before giving them additional funds.

Herd replied that right now was not a very good time for him as he is busy at work. However, the Fair Board's year-end is in September and someone from the Fair Board could come back in October.

County Commissioner Joy Cohrs praised Herd for the improvements that have been done recently at the Sibley County fairgrounds.

The County Commissioners voted unanimously to table the request.

The County Commissioners will hold their next regular meeting at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 28.

Sibley County moving forward with Clear Lake Park RV Improvements

By Amy Newsom
Correspondent

The Sibley County Board, at its regular meeting on Tuesday morning, Aug. 14, listened to presentations by firms SRF Consulting Group Inc. and Bolton and Menk to draft a plan for the upgrades to Clear Lake Park.

During the first presentation by SRF, County Commissioner Bill Pinske asked how projects like this have been paid for and if Legacy funding could be used or by charging fees for the park use. SRF representatives Tim Wold and Ken Grieshaber stated that SRF could assist in grant writing and that yes, Legacy funding has been awarded in the past. They also stated that parks are not meant to be "money makers" and that it was meant to be a "quality of life enhancer." Wold and Grieshaber recommended going through the master plan process to be eligible for more grants.

During the second presentation by Bolton and Menk, Pinske asked representatives Bill Helget and Jim Harbaugh of Bolton and Menk if they had a cost estimate per lot. Harbaugh replied that adding sanitary water and electric to each campsite drives the cost up, as well as amenities like fire pits and grills. Therefore he did not have a cost estimate per lot.

County Commissioner Jim Swanson asked if they could assist with grant writing and they replied yes. The cost was based on a combination of their time and staff time on the project.

County Commissioners asked Public Works Director Tim Becker for a rough estimate to do this project. Becker stated $750,000 to $1 million, if utilities are brought to each campsite the cost will increase significantly.

County Commissioner Gary Krugel made a motion to use SRF as consultants on the project, Pinske seconded before comments from the other County Commissioners.

Swanson stated that he would like to see how this project could be phased into the county budget.

County Commissioner Bobbie Harder questioned if the county would have to hire additional staff to maintain it when it is complete.

Pinske asked if there were funds to cover the cost of $59,859 to work on the plans with SRF Consulting, Inc. and if it would affect the levy.

County Administrator Roxy Traxler replied that it would come out of the general fund and not affect the levy.

The County Board voted 5-0 to contract with SRF Consulting, Inc.

Opinions

Field is now set for local and area races

Our View: Do your part and get to know the candidates and their views

The filing period is now over and a field of candidates has been set for some local and area races this fall. There will be contested races in the City of Arlington, Sibley East School District and Sibley County.

The sad part of local and area races in small towns is that they sometimes turn into popularity contests. Many residents vote for the candidate they know or like the best without even knowing their views on many important issues.

It is the duty of every voter to become acquainted with each candidate and their views on various issues.

It is also the duty of every candidate to educate the voters on their background and their views on the important issues during their campaigns.

Outside the train station a kid selling newspapers bellowed, "Extra! Extra! Read all about it! Five men swindled!"

A man walks up and buys the paper. After reading it he comes back to the kid. "Hey kid, I don't see anything here about five people being swindled!"

"Extra! Extra!" yells the boy. "Six men swindled!"

John came back from a two-week vacation. He asked his boss for another week off to get married.

"What?" shouted the boss. "Why didn't you get married while on vacation?"

John turned to his boss. "Are you crazy? That would have ruined the whole vacation!"

Two inexperienced hunters went hunting in the woods. Before long they got lost. "Don't worry," said the first hunter, "I heard that when you're lost you should fire three shots in the air and someone should hear you."

They fired three shots in the air and waited a half hour. They tried again another three and nothing happened. Finally they decided they would try it once more.

"This better work," said the second hunter nervously. "These are our last arrows!"

Two farmers are sitting next to each other. One says to the other, "I have such a big farm I could climb in my truck, and it would take me two days to get across the whole farm!"

The other farmer turns back to him and replies, "I also used to have a truck like that!"

Homeowner: "I've hired a carpenter who hammers like lightning."

Friend: "He's that fast?"

Homeowner: "No, he never hits the same spot twice."

A grandfather is talking to his grandson. "You know in the good old days, you could go to a store with a quarter, and get a loaf of bread, a dozen eggs, a watermelon, and a brand new bike. But today, you can't do that, nope, there's just way too many surveillance cameras."

How many telemarketers does it take to change a lightbulb? One, but he has to do it while you're eating dinner.

Class clown: "How about my last report card?"

Patient: "Doctor! I have a serious problem. I can never remember what I just said."

Doctor: "When did you first notice this problem?"

Patient: "What problem?"

A young man was visiting a psychiatrist, hoping to cure his eating and sleeping disorder.

"Every thought I have turns to my mother," he told the psychiatrist.

"As soon as I fall asleep and begin to dream, everyone in my dream turns into my mother. I wake up so upset that all I can do is go downstairs and eat a piece of toast."

The psychiatrist replied, "What, just one piece of toast for a growing boy like you?"

Letters To The Editor

Medicare changes this fall

To The Editor,

This fall, many Minnesotans on Medicare will be affected by changes in their Medicare.

This is due to the sunset of ending of many Medicare Cost Plans throughout the country and in many of Minnesota's counties. This is especially a big issue in our state, as Cost Plans have been a favorite type of Medicare plan for decades because they are so flexible. And Minnesota by far has the most Cost Plan beneficiaries of any other state in the nation.

The ending of Cost Plans in most counties means that those who currently have them will need to make some important decisions in the fall during Medicare Open Enrollment. For now, there isn't much to do. Those with Cost Plans will continue to have coverage through December 31, 2018, and in some counties, Cost Plan coverage will continue in 2019. You can contact your Medicare plan to find out if you have a Cost Plan, so you'll be ready if you need to make a change in the fall, if need be. And by mid-September, Medicare and the Cost Plans will send out letters to those affected by this change, which will provide next steps.

So for now, you're covered, and there is nothing you need to do. Just relax and enjoy your summer. But in the fall, you'll need to act and make changes for 2019, if you're one of Minnesota's Medicare beneficiaries on Cost Plans living in a county affected by the change. Don't worry, you will have a lot of coverage options. And the Senior LinkAge Line® can help if you need it.

Awful amendments would hurt final Farm Bill

To The Editor,

The Farm Bill is still making its way to the President's desk. Before it gets there, the different House and Senate versions that were passed need to be consolidated into a final bill. On the committee that will be making the decisions on what stays and what goes from the final Farm Bill, is our very own Representative Collin Peterson. Our representative will be playing a crucial role in making sure that awful amendments to the Farm Bill don't become the law of the land. For instance, in the House version of the Farm Bill is a dangerous amendment by the name of the "King Amendment." If the King Amendment makes it into the final bill, then it will wipe away hundreds of local laws ensuring food safety, protecting our environment, and making sure our hardworking farmers have rights. Passage of the King Amendment could mean that the next meal you prepare for your family is made with food created in factory farms under terrible, unsanitary standards. Please join me in urging Representative Peterson to make sure that disastrous amendments like the King Amendment don't make their way into the final version of the Farm Bill.

Don't dishonor the National Anthem

To The Editor,

In the preseason football games on Thursday, Aug. 9, several football players got on their knee and raised their fist and some didn't take the field in protest while the playing of the National Anthem.

I don't know which players or teams they were but, in my opinion if these players feel that strongly about our country, maybe these players should go to a country where these players can do whatever they want to do. If these players feel the police are not doing their jobs correctly, I would suggest these players become police officers themselves where they would get a lot less wages than they are getting now as football players. So if you football players think you can do it better than do it yourself.

Don't dishonor the National Anthem. If you think the police are not treating some people right, then don't commit the crime and don't run away from them and don't point guns and knives at the police and you won't get shot.

Law enforcement apprehends man in Arlington

Law enforcement, around 22:08 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 12, responded to a 911 call from a male voice "EZ Motel, Room 4, goodbye" and hung up," according to the Arlington Police Department.

An Arlington police officer responded with Sibley County deputies and they located the male in Room #4, according to the report. The male, the report said, provided false information (name and date of birth) and when the correct name and date of birth was obtained it was determined that Joel Edward Fesler had a warrant for his arrest and a notice of "Armed and Dangerous With Flight Risk." During the investigation it was verified that J.E. Fesler was also the person who called Sibley County Dispatch 911 and requested law enforcement. Officers returned to Room #4 for charges to be pressed for False Information to Police when Fesler's girlfriend opened the door and announced he had just crawled out the rear window of the motel and ran.

Officers and deputies apprehended the intoxicated Fesler who was treated for a minor injury to his shoulder, according to the report. The hospital treated and released Fesler who was transported to the Sibley County Jail and held for court.

He was born to Omer and Blanche (Langevin) Broin in Morgan on Feb. 21, 1934. Jerry was an ambitious man in life, with a strong passion for his family. There was nothing he loved more than rocking in his favorite rocker. All the children and grandchildren have fond memories of their younger years on his lap rocking.

On Sept. 28, 1957, he married his wife of 60 years, Delores Uhler, at the St. Lawrence Church in Faribault. Jerry had a full career of owning and running several businesses. He was a member of the American Legion, a very active former member of the Jaycees, and past member of the Green Isle Fire Department. ## Over 600 people visit SCHS building at the fair

The Sibley County Historical Society building was a busy place at the county fair in Arlington.

A total of 337 votes were cast to determine the favorite town in Sibley County.

Arlington captured top honors with 97 votes. Henderson was second with 66 votes. Gaylord (45), Gibbon (39), Green Isle (31), New Auburn (29) and Winthrop (28) rounded out the field. Rush River and New Rome received one write-in vote each.

As a result of this vote, the SCHS will plan to use Arlington as a focus for its display at the 2019 Sibley County Fair.

The SCHS also had over 600 visitors register in its guest book.

Mystery items are always a big draw.

Mystery item #1 was a soil tester and there were several people who had that as an answer.

Mystery item 2 was a jar opener and a larger number guessed it correctly.

A drawing from those with the correct answer will be made to determine the winner of the SCHS membership.

The winners will be notified next week and will receive a one-year membership to the Sibley County Historical Society. This membership will allow the individuals to free attendance at the museum, four newsletters and discounts published by the SCHS.

People interested in genealogy are encouraged to come to the Sibley County Museum at Henderson from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 19. Speaker Joyce Rohloff Gardner works at the LDS Family History Center in North Mankato and will share her expertise about family-search.org an organization similar to Ancestry.com which is invaluable to those researching their family history. Come and share your own method of doing research with those who are learning the ins and outs of "Finding Their Roots."

The newly remodeled Research Room at the museum in Henderson also offers other resources such as microfilms of Gibbon and Henderson newspapers, immigration, census and naturalization records, surname files of past and present Sibley County residents.

People can also help decide on a day, date and location of future SCHS research meetings.

The next meeting is at 2 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 19. No admission is charged for this event.

County Board approves Sibley Estates projects

By Amy Newsom Correspondent

The Sibley County Commissioners, during their regular meeting on Tuesday morning, Aug. 14, voted unanimously to approve the purchase of 46 air conditioners for Sibley Estates East and West at a cost of $22,545.

County Administrator Roxy Traxler stated that at a cost of about $800 per unit it was a very reasonable price. The total cost of the project was $40,087.18, but insurance would cover $17,280 to replace the air conditioners at Sibley Estates West. Sibley Estates East did not previously have air conditioners.

Other Business

The County Board voted 5-0 to approve Ti-Zach Construction for the sidewalk repairs along CSAH 1 and CSAH 32 in Winthrop at a cost of $69,500.

Public Works Director Tim Becker said it was budgeted for and would come from Municipal Maintenance and State Aid dollars. He added that Ti-Zach was the only quote received and typically they like at least two, but Ti-Zach has done construction work for Sibley County before and Becker was satisfied.

The County Board voted 5-0 to allow Becker to hire Pump & Meter Services, Hopkins, to remove and install a new pump at the Gaylord site, install a diesel pulse kit, and install an electronic card reader.

Becker stated that having the county's own pump saves about 17 cents per gallon over using the County's WEX card at gas stations. The cost for this project will be $23,236.93 and was in the budget.

Eighteen officers join state conservation officer ranks, DNR says

Following 15 weeks of intensive training at Camp Ripley, 18 cadets have graduated from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Conservation Officer Academy and are set to begin patrolling the state's fields, waters and woods. The officers will spend the next several months working with experienced officers before assuming their assigned stations in December.

"For more than 130 years, DNR conservation officers have worked to protect Minnesota's people and natural resources," said Col. Rodmen Smith, director of the DNR Enforcement Division. "We have a proud tradition of service to the state and I'm confident our newest officers will succeed in carrying it on."

Minnesota conservation officers are among the most highly trained in the nation in part due to the Academy training they receive before heading afield. Over the years, DNR Enforcement has held 18 formal academies at which recruits trained in all aspects of being a conservation officer. Experienced officers and other experts teach them on a wide variety of topics, including education/outreach, fish and wildlife laws, patrol procedures and environmental enforcement. Cadets are tested each week and put through practical scenarios that reflect what they'll encounter in the field.

Each of the graduates was chosen from among hundreds of applicants and underwent rigorous examinations, psychological profiles and background checks before beginning at the Academy.

There currently are about 35 vacant conservation officer field stations in Minnesota, which means the number of field officers is similar now to what it was five decades ago. The number of vacant field stations will be halved when this year's graduates begin in their stations. Thanks to ongoing support from Gov. Mark Dayton and state legislators, the DNR plans to hold another Conservation Officer Academy in spring 2019.

"One of the reasons we have been successful and received support over the years is because of the direct ties and relationships conservation officers have with the communities we serve," said Lt. Jeff Johanson, DNR Enforcement training coordinator supervisor. "We live in the areas we serve and become integral parts of the community."

Remembering Lee Willmsen who was wounded and died in the Korean War

To commemorate 65 years of his passing and to observe the recent return of 50 missing soldiers, the Arlington Honor Guard fired the Three Volley Salute at the burial site of PVT Lee Willmsen at the Arlington Public Cemetery on Monday morning, Aug. 13.

Willmsen was a graduate of the Arlington High School. He was married and was drafted into the U.S. Army. He received his training at Fort Riley, Kansas, and was sent to the west coast for further embarkment on a ship headed for Korea. Willmsen arrived in May of 1953 and was assigned to Company C, 179th Regiment of the 45th Infantry Division. A young lad taken out of civilian life to fight for people he did not know and had never seen.

His first action was seen on a "hill" called Heartbreak Ridge and participated in heavy fighting. After a three-day rest, his unit was again sent into action on another "hill" called Christmas Hill. All "hills" in Korea seemed like mountains to the foot soldiers having to fight their way to the top. It was in this action that Willmsen received wounds in his arm and thigh from shrapnel. He was evacuated to an aid station. He was wounded on July 19, 1953, and died of these injuries on July 20, 1953.

Willmsen's story was brought to local memory by the return of 50 servicemen from Korea. He was killed in action three days before the cease fire occurred.

People are encouraged to visit Willmsen's paver number 15 in row five at the Veterans Walking Path of Honor in Arlington. He is listed as the only casualty of the Korean War from the Arlington area.

There are 186 local Korean War veterans that served during the Korean Conflict between 1950 and 1955. All of these veterans have pavers in the path.

The Korean War is well known as the "Forgotten War."

85 Years Ago

August 17, 1933
Louis Kill, Editor
The Koernig sisters, all of whom were born and grew to young womanhood in this community, had their first reunion in 22 years at the Ed Frenzel home last Sunday. They are Mrs. Ed Frenzel and Mrs. Reinhard Wolters of Arlington, Mrs. Louise Redman of Stewart and Mrs. B. S. Runnels of White Cloud, Mich. The gathering was also in the nature of a general family reunion.

A bandit entered and robbed the store at Assumption last Thursday evening, obtaining $20.00 from the cash register. While Miss Margaret Colbert, owner, was waiting for three neighbor boys to come in and purchase some cigarettes, which they had telephoned for, a short dark complexioned man with black curly hair entered and at the point of a gun made her hand over the money in the cash drawer, thinking it was one of the farm boys she laughed and told him to quit joking. The man became insistent and commanded her to lie down on the floor. Miss Colbert got up and pulled out the cash drawer scraped up the money and handed it over. She missed a nickle and the bandit demanded that. He asked for cigarettes and she gave him a package. As he was leaving the store the farm boys on bicycles rode up. The robber pointed a gun at them, striking two of the youths in the face. He then got into his car where a accomplice awaited. They left in their V-8 car driving past the Assumption church.

Despite the rainstorm and occasional break in the electric transmission lines which put the city in darkness, a large group of rural and city dwellers interested in educational matters, gathered at the Arlington High School to discuss the question of a reorganized school district in the Arlington area. While opinions were many and varied regarding the reorganization plan, the majority seemed to think that it was a question which required considerable more research and deliberation before being adopted, and even then the conversion should be extended over a period of years to avoid being a burden to the taxpayers.

The 5.12 inches of precipitation Monday was the heaviest on record for this community. The High Island Creek, which was dry for several weeks owing to the dry spell, went out of its banks after Monday's rain. The area in the center of the new race track at the fairgrounds resembled a miniature lake after the rainstorm.
Messrs. Fred Stoeften and Louis attended a meeting of the directors of the Sibley County Historical Society at Henderson Thursday evening. The directors voted that evening to purchase the old August Poehler home in Henderson as a suitable society headquarters. The purchase price was $7,000.
