

Assisted Living Residences

July
2018

Assisted Living Residences are designed for individuals who require help with Activities of Daily Living (ADLs), but do not need the skilled medical care provided in a nursing facility. Care is provided 24-hours a day, seven-days-a-week, in a way that promotes maximum independence and dignity for each resident. Some facilities provide transportation for medical appointments, shopping and field trip activities. Depending on availability, some facilities may provide short term respite care for people needing a short term stay.

If you are shopping for an assisted living residence, you'll need to familiarize yourself with the levels of care. Some assisted living residences charge a flat monthly rate regardless of a person's level of care needs. However, many assisted living residences base their monthly rate on the resident's level of care needs. The level of care is determined by a needs assessment administered by the facility staff as part of the admission process. A review of Activities of Daily Living (ADLs) and Instrumental Activities of Daily Living (IADLs) will be completed during this assessment. It is important to understand what is included in the monthly rate and if the monthly rate is based on levels of care.

Activities of Daily Living (ADLs) consist of self-care tasks including: bathing, showering, dressing, self-feeding, functional mobility, personal hygiene, grooming and toileting hygiene.

Instrumental Activities of Daily Living (IADLs) consist of activities of daily living that are not necessary for fundamental functioning but they do impact an individual's ability to live independently in the community. IADLs include: housework, taking medications, managing money, shopping, using the telephone or technology, and accessing transportation.

For more information on choosing an assisted living residence, or if you want to report a complaint or concern about residents rights or facility services and standards, please contact the local Ombudsman: (970) 498-7754.
