Genano Air Purifiers

Dental Source is pleased to offer Genano Air Purifiers which removes particles as small as a NANOMETER! For a video of how the unit works please visit www.genano.ca.

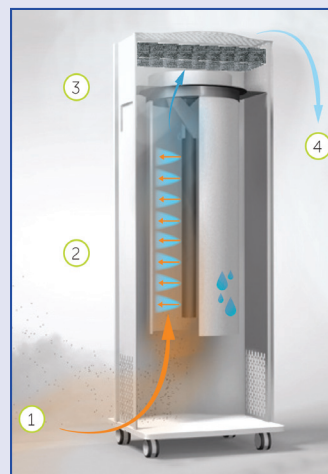

The superior performance of Genano Technology® is based on a patented method for purification, which

- captures particles down to nanosize,
- eliminates microbes, and
- removes gases and odours.

Genano Technology can remove particles down to nanometre size (1 nanometre = 0.001 micrometres = 1 millionth of a millimetre). The powerful patented technology eliminates microbes, such as viruses, bacteria moulds and yeast. In addition, Genano units are equipped with an effective active carbon collector which removes gases, fumes and odours.

Mobile Genano units have an automatic washing function which reduces the need for maintenance and keeps the cleaning efficiency high at all times.

1. Contaminated air is led inside the unit.
2. Particles are charged negatively in powerful corona discharges. The negatively charged particles are attached to the positive collection surface.
3. A special 3-layer active carbon collector effectively removes VOC gases and odours.
4. Outcoming ultrapure air is free from microbes, particles and gaseous substances.

I just wanted to touch base and tell you how happy we are with our Genano! It has been just over 2 months now I find it has made such a difference in the clinic air. The air seems lighter, fresher. I noticed at the end of the day yesterday, that it was off due to no solution (nice feature, that it automatically shuts off!) Now that it is up and running today I notice the air to be fresh again.

This being cold and flu season I am happy to say that even though we had one member with the flu, it hadn't spread through the clinic as it has in the past... I do credit our Genano with preventing the spread :)

Thank you again for introducing us to this wonderful product!

Sincerely, Cheryl
