Database of works considered

This is a list of the scores that were perused in the initial stage of gathering data. Eventually, decisions were made to either discuss or not discuss a particular work. Decisions were governed by various considerations including the space available, and were not made exclusively on grounds of interest. Various online sources were extensively consulted, including the National Library of Australia, the Australian Music Centre, all the State libraries, a number of university libraries and archives, and private collections.

Keys Press and Wirripang should also be mentioned for their significant roles in publishing both recent and historically significant Australian music referred to in the database.
