Boolean operators

AND / +

The AND operator delivers results that contain both the first term and the second term.

Example : resume AND J2EE AND struts

Google: resume j2ee struts

OR / |

The OR operator delivers results that contain either the first term or the second term or both.

Example : resume OR CV AND J2ee AND struts

Google: resume | cv j2ee struts

NOT / -

The NOT operator will deliver documents that contain the first word, but do not contain the second.

Example : resume OR CV AND J2ee AND struts -job -apply

Google: resume | cv j2ee struts -job -apply

Anatomy of a Search Page

Ads (sold via keyword auction)

How Google News Works

The screenshot shows the Google News interface. At the top, there's a search bar with "Google news" and buttons for "Search News" and "Search the Web". Below the search bar, there's a navigation menu with "U.S." selected, and a "Top Stories" section. The "Top Stories" section features three main articles:

- Obama's day: Health care and governors (USA Today - 1 hour ago). The article text reads: "Good morning from The Oval. Welcome to what could be one of those 'pivotal weeks' for the Obama administration, as the president and his Republican opponents prepare for a health care summit on Thursday." It includes a transcript link for Sen. Mitch McConnell on 'FNS!' and a link to a Washington Post article about a test for Democrats' scaled-down jobs bill. There are 376 news articles related to this story.
- Nato airstrike kills 27 civilians in Afghanistan (Times Online - 1 hour ago). The article text reads: "Nato forces in southern Afghanistan bombed a civilian convoy, killing 27 people including women and children and injuring many more, Afghan officials said." It includes a link to a Voice of America article and a Reuters article. There are 638 news articles related to this story.
- EU condemns forged passport use in Dubai Mabhouh murder (BBC News - 38 minutes ago). The article text reads: "European Union foreign ministers have 'strongly condemned' the use of forged European passports in the assassination of a top Palestinian militant." It includes a link to a Reuters article and a link to a Telegraph.co.uk article. There are 907 news articles related to this story.

On the right side of the page, there's a "Microsoft, Yahoo! win regulatory approval for their search partnership" article (m-Travel.com - 4 hours ago) and a "Google Buzz has prompted an outcry" article (White Hat News - 1 hour ago). There's also a "Shuttle Glides To Safe Landing" article (InformationWeek - 33 minutes ago) and a "Nato airstrike kills 27 civilians in Afghanistan" article (Times Online - 1 hour ago). At the bottom, there's a "World" section with a story about "Cameron expects inquiry into No 10 bullying" and a "London, UK" section with a story about "London Fashion Week specials".

The screenshot shows the Google Translate interface. At the top left is the Google Translate logo with 'BETA' underneath. To its right are navigation links: 'Home', 'Text and Web', 'Translated Search', and 'Tools'. Below this is a header 'Translate text or webpage'. The main area is divided into two columns. The left column contains the instruction 'Enter text or a webpage URL.' and a text input box with the following text: 'Pablo Picasso's monochrome painting of the 1937 bombing of the town of Guernica remains one of his more famous works. The tapestry version just unveiled at London's Whitechapel Gallery usually sits at the UN, acting as a powerful visual statement against the horrors of war. But there is much meaning beneath this famous work, writes Picasso expert Gijs van Hensbergen.' Below the input box are two dropdown menus: the first is labeled 'Detect language' and the second is set to 'Spanish'. A 'swap' link is positioned below the first dropdown. A 'Translate' button is centered below the dropdowns. The right column shows the translation: 'Translation: English (automatically detected) » Spanish' followed by the Spanish text: 'Pablo Picasso de la pintura monocroma de 1937 el bombardeo de la ciudad de Guernica sigue siendo uno de sus más famosas obras.
