Shakespeare Is Streamlined

Streamlined versions of "Twelfth Night" and "Macbeth" will be presented in a single performance by the Shakespearean Festival Players, Monday, July 19, at 8:15 o'clock in the Main Auditorium, the Speech Department announced.

A technique of production which, from all information available, has never been used before in the production of Shakespeare's plays will be employed.

Features of the production will include a modern adaptation of the Shakespearean chorus and a modified Elizabethan setting.

The method is one that amateur groups can easily utilize. It should result in vitalizing the study and teaching of Shakespeare in the public schools.

Development of the project has resulted from annual Shakespeare Festivals for high school students which have long been featured by Ohio Wesleyan University. Students from Ohio high schools present scenes from Shakespeare which are reviewed by a guest critic.

Festivals are held in April of each year in honor of Shakespeare's birthday, and at this time the annual Shakespearean play is produced.

The attempt of the present production is to limit the length and difficulty of the presentation of Shakespeare's plays in high schools.

Performances are open to the public. Students will be admitted with their Ac cards and five cents. Regular admission will be 50 cents.

Four Conferences Will Arrive Soon

Four more conventions have been scheduled this summer at Bowling Green.

A convention for the Lutheran Training School will be held between July 18 and July 25; the Federal State Inspectors Association will be guests from Aug. 1 to Aug. 7; the Ohio District Walther League will meet from Aug. 9 to Aug. 13 and the Ohio Farm Bureau will hold their convention here between Aug. 22 and Aug. 28.

McFall Is Chairman Of Book Committee

Dr. K. H. McFall, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, will preside as chairman of a committee to plan a new booklet entitled "Looking Toward College."

The Committee of College Representatives and High School Principals will meet in Columbus July 6 to prepare this booklet which is intended to assist high school students in selecting the Ohio college they desire to attend, and it will also be part of the guidance program of the Ohio College Association.

Other members of the committee are: Robert Blase, principal of Mount Gilead High School; P. Q. Freeman, principal of Bellefontaine High School; Russell H. Rupp, principal of Shaker Heights High School; John Bjelke, vice chairman from Denison University; Dean H. E. Huber, Ohio Northern University; Paul Nepier, Muskingum College and Elizabeth Walker, Flora Stone Mather College of Western Reserve University.

Morley and Gearhart

"Night Life Of Two Pianos," a record album featuring Morley and Gearhart, duo-pianists, has just been released by Columbia records. A review of their University recital appears at the bottom of this page.

Health Convention To Be Held Here

The Health Education Institute will be opened next week, July 12-17, to teachers, nurses, health and physical education specialists, and school administrators, it was announced by Samuel M. Cooper, health coordinator and director of the Institute.

Registration will take place between 9 and 10 a.m., Monday, July 12, in the lobby of the Women's Bldg. The fee is $5.00.

Purposes of these courses, according to Mr. Cooper, are to present the latest philosophy and methods of health and physical education and to assist in the planning, promoting and teaching of a school and community program.

The program has courses in School Health Services, Personal and Community Health, Mental Health and Social Hygiene. More than twenty outstanding films and visual aids will be demonstrated, discussed and evaluated during sessions.

The assembled staff includes invited specialists from the field of health and university personnel.

One hour credit will be given for undergraduate students.

Teachers Hold Second Session

"Learning to Understand Children" is the topic of the second session of the Special Summer Work Conferences for Elementary Teachers in Service extending from July 12 to July 30.

The program will include some features of the first session continuing the Demonstration School with numerous movies according to William S. Wagner, Assistant Professor in the Education Department.

A Demonstration School section will select one child and review his case history as a practical application of the study.

The large use of movies is intended to modernize the course, Prof. Wagner declared. A film entitled "This is Robert" depicting the life of a boy age two through seven will be used. Another film "Meeting Emotional Needs of Children" will be shown. Two additional films will be the first released in connection with an educational text book. The text "Student Teaching" by Schorling is one of the few text books employed in the course. For reference purposes a lending library has been made available to the teachers.

This session will last three weeks and will entitle the teachers to three hours of credit on their elementary teaching certification.

Deitesfeld Will Tour With Cartoons

Donald Deitesfeld, a Bowling Green University student, owns what he believes is the world's largest collection of original editorial cartoons.

Mr. Deitesfeld plans to make a coast-to-coast tour with the cartoons next year. There are about 1,800 of them.

The sketches date from 1865 to ones made during the present war for the French Resistance newspapers.

Dr. Juraj Slavik

Slavik Will Be Assembly Speaker

Dr. Juraj Slavik, former Czechoslovakian Ambassador to the United States, will be guest speaker for assembly July 14.

Dr. Slavik is on tour speaking on "The Seizure of Czechoslovakia." His theme tells of his governmental experience in his native state.

From 1929 to 1932 Dr. Slavik held the office of Minister of the Interior becoming Envoy Extraordinary to Poland in 1935. Preceding World War II, while in Poland, he witnessed the advances of the Soviet influence in his government.

In 1940, while in London, he became a member of the Cabinet of the Czechoslovak government-in-exile. During the war his short wave broadcasts to Czechoslovakia made him influential in underground work.

Returning to Prague in 1945 he accepted the position of Minister of Foreign Affairs. In 1946 he came to the United States as Ambassador. In protest of the Communist Coup, he resigned this position March, 1948.

Review

Morley and Gearhart Charm Audience

By Helen Mueller

Virginia Morley and Livingston Gearhart, duo-pianists, presented a concert of excellent and varied music to students and educators in the Main Auditorium Thursday, July 1.

Mr. Gearhart's whimsical comments before each selection aided the audience in obtaining a better understanding and interpretation of the music. Miss Morley made no remarks during the concert, nevertheless she was not overlooked by the audience. Not only did she make a very pleasing appearance, but her skill at the piano also drew attention.

The first number was a "Chorale

Prelude" by Bach which, Mr. Gearhart explained, was an improvisation on a hymn tune, "In Thee is Joy." Bach played these improvisations while the people entered and left church, Mr. Gearhart stated.

The next number was "Nine Variations on a Theme of Haydn" by Brahms. It was the longest and heaviest of the selections.

"An American in Paris" by Gershwin, Mr. Gearhart told the audience, was written as a memento of the composer's impressions on his first visit to Paris. It was largely mood music portraying homesickness, excitement and joy. In parts, the horn of a taxi in heavy traffic could be heard. Following the Gershwin selection was a "Rondo for Two Pianos" written originally for two pianos by Chopin when he was nineteen.

"Tears," an "awfully sad" number, as Mr. Gearhart expressed it, and the very gay "Rosenkavalier Waltzes" by Richard Strauss and arranged by Gearhart concluded the program.

The appreciative audience called the pianists back for four encores: A Morley and Gearhart arrangement of "All the Things You Are," an original composition, "Baby Boogie," "Flight of the Bumble Bee" and "The March from the Love of Three Oranges."

34 Students At Speech School

Summer School of Speech opened Tuesday morning with 34 Ohio high school students participating, according to F. Lee Miesle, director.

The school will consist of classes in interpretation, acting, make-up, stagecraft and the production of a three-act play, "Stardust."

There are 12 boys and 24 girls attending. They include:

Boys: Karry K. Blumenthal, Dayton; Roger Dudley, Elyria; Charles Eynon, Jr., Alliance; Keith Johnson, Genoa; George Kaufman, Cincinnati; Dale Keighley, Dayton; Roderick King, Alliance; Larry Kurber, Napoleon; William Renn, Cincinnati; Frederick Skok, East Cleveland and Newell Yaple, Columbus.

Block System Inaugurated

Dr. Herschel Litherland, Dean of the College of Education, has arranged a new system for training prospective high school teachers. It goes into effect beginning with the fall term.

The new set-up will be called the "Block System" and makes necessary an entirely new form of schedule.

Students desiring a degree in secondary education are required to arrange their schedules so the main part of the major and minor is completed by the end of the junior year.

This will leave one semester of the senior year open to the student to concentrate wholly on education and practice teaching courses.

Dean Litherland stated that the benefits of such a system are three fold: "It is an ideal way to tie theory in with practice; it provides broader contacts and experience with an actual school situation and it will free the student's time so that he can get to the school to which he is assigned for student teaching."

This system has been in operation in elementary education training courses for the past five years, but this will be the first time it has been tried on the secondary level here.

As yet no "Block System" has been set up for Public School Music, Secretarial Accounting in Business Education, or Speech and Hearing Therapy.

Typographical Error

In a recent issue of a Communist newspaper, two prominent articles scathingly denounced American literature and American comic strips. But—in the inside pages there appeared, as usual, part so-and-so of a serialized novel by Jack London, plus the American comic strip, "Felix the Cat."

Letters About "Eyas"...

Ft. Collins, Colorado
June 28, 1948

To the Editor of the "Bee Gee News":

I am writing in regard to the review of the "Eyas" written by Nedim Capman in the June 28 issue of the Bee Gee News.

To what publications is Mr. Capman referring when he states, "... (Eyas) has no literary value or originality in comparison with magazines of other universities and colleges?" Does he want a pulp magazine filled with jokes and cartoons? I am familiar with a large university publication known as a literary magazine of this type. The "Eyas" does not represent this form of literature. In my opinion the "Eyas" easily compares with literary magazines published by students at other Universities.

The purposes and policies of the Eyas are clearly stated by the Editor on the first page of every issue, yet Mr. Capman wrote, "almost everyone I talked with seemed to have vague ideas about 'Eyas'." Were these students unable to read the editorials?

If Mr. Capman has read so many good poems, essays and short stories by the students, why weren't these contributed to the "Eyas" staff when the deadline was announced by the News?

The "Eyas" does need the help and the support of students and faculty. If Mr. Capman or any person wishes to offer suggestions to help improve "our" magazine, let's have them for consideration.

Wilberta Gardner
Art Editor of "The Eyas"

Bowling Green, Ohio
June 25, 1948

Dear Mr. Capman:

I want to congratulate you on your excellent criticism of "Eyas" in the last edition of the Bee Gee News. I have long believed that our campus literary magazine could stand a good roasting!

For the most part I think your comments were well-founded and just. If you had seen some of the first numbers of "Eyas," you might very well have thrown up your hands in horror. They were atrocious. The more recent efforts are vastly superior, but a far cry from what the student body could produce.

The members of the "Eyas" staff should feel indebted to you for an eye-opening, forward-looking piece of objective criticism.

Most sincerely,
James Lauck

Inside Bowling Green...

By "The Man On The Inside"

Memo to Paul Jones—The tip about Dr. James Paul Kennedy is correct. Sometime this summer he will leave for Princeton to receive two week's instruction on the Flemish bells. Full details will be available next week... Ex-Bee Geeites Dottie Gilbert and Jim Conroy are now a family as of June 26. The ceremony took place in Detroit.

The superb piano artistry of Morley and Gearhart was matched only by the beauty of Miss Morley and the "adlibability" of Mr. Gearhart. In a word they are—terrific... Many students from Ohio Wesleyan have transferred here for the summer since OW doesn't have a summer session this year. Notable among this group are Maxine Schatte and George Staiger, the latter a Sigma Phi Epsilon. They have just completed the ancient pinning process.

Student Goes Fishing Without Hook And Line

By John Fay

There are fish stories and then again there are fish stories, but the most interesting one I have run across recently comes from student Bill Rickel. It's different, so lend an ear.

Out at the PiKA house where Bill lives, he has a 25 gallon tank full of seven different specimens of fish. A run down the list of names sounds like several shady characters got loose from the county jail. For instance there are the Black Mollys, Guppies, Zebras, Crescent Moons, Red Swords, Shiners, Red Wag Tails, and the Siamese Fighting Fish.

The tall education major's interest in fish collecting began when as a youngster he helped his father take care of a similar collection. When his dad died about eight years ago, Bill became chief caretaker of the Rickel aquarium and ever since then with the exception of the time spent in the service, he has had a fish collection.

Rickel thinks that the most interesting specimen he now has is the Siamese Fighting Fish. It is interesting not only for its lovely blue color but because the male of the species takes unto himself a "harem" of females and will attack any other male which tries to invade his territory.

The story goes that in Siam two males of this species are purposely put together while at the same time bets are placed on the outcome just as if it was a Mexican cock fight.

The care and feeding of these fish is no simple matter. The water must be kept within a temperature of 70 to 76 degrees. Bill has a thermostat attached to a heater which he can place under water. The thermostat turns the heat on at 70 degrees and shuts it off at 76.

In giving them their food our fish fancier keeps his charges "on the ball." They either clean their plates in five minutes or goodbye food. This is because the water will begin to sour if the "chow is left on top of the water any longer than a five minute period."

Another interesting fact that Bill pointed out was that in his collection there are three different types of breeders. For example the Zebra female will lay her eggs on the sand and gravel at the bottom of the tank then the male will pass over them expelling the sperm.

However the Siamese Fighting Fish first builds a nest of air bubbles, then when the female lays the egg the male picks it up and places it in one of the air bubbles, proving that fish can be clever at times. (I certainly would never have thought of anything like that.) The Guppies, Black Mollys, Crescent Moons, Wag Tails and Red Swords are a little more orthodox in their breeding. Their young are born alive.

However clever they may be Bill points out that his fish can be fickle also, since each of these types of underwater prima donnas will eat its young. Sometimes even the spawn will be eaten. The Siamese Fighting Fish does allow its young to learn how to swim under its own power before devouring them. Bill gets around this by being on hand as often as possible at the piscatorial maternity ward for a separation of parents and children.

With temperatures and assignments hitting new heights, we asked Williams Hall residents, "Do you envy your friends who are away for the summer?"

"No," replied

Sonja Thornbladh gingerly, "if I envied them I wouldn't be here."

"I chose coming to summer school and I haven't regretted it," continued the pretty Cleveland sophomore. "I follow a slogan, 'study hard and play hard,' to get the most out of this session."

"Swimming, tennis and dating," she concluded, "take up most of my play time—especially tennis."

"Not a bit,"

said sophomore Jo Ann Harrah.

"My regular semester roommate will be married soon, and I don't envy her."

"If I weren't studying, swimming and playing golf," she added, "I would be working at home in Akron."

"Toledo," she stated, "has been my week-end break from studies."

"My friends envy me," answered Mrs. Bea Carrington, "because I'm away for the summer."

"On week-ends," continued Mrs. Carrington, whose husband is here working on his masters degree and whose daughter is enrolled at B.G. during the regular terms, "I usually go home to Pioneer."

When questioned as to how she entertained herself here at school, she said, "I just have fun... with everyone."

"I envy my friends on the college tennis team because they are in London with hopes of making the Olympics," stated Lee Lipps, Lima senior from Lake Erie College.

"Most of my other friends are married," she concluded, "and I also envy them."

Captain Jones Signs Up Again

Our revolutionary naval hero, John Paul Jones, has a prototype in name and in naval ambition in the person of a former University student.

Resting in a marble sarcophagus below the chapel at the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland, are the remains of the man who was the scourge of British shipping 170 years ago.

Attending the chapel exercises and imbued with his determination is John Paul Jones. His father is Joseph F. Jones, of Piqua, and his mother is Mrs. Esther N. Jones, of Elida, O. The prototype took the oath as midshipman Wednesday.

Orchestra Dance

Is Weekend Feature

Social events for this weekend include, Friday evening, a movie, "Prisoner of Shark Island," and a disc dance immediately following.

Saturday night, a dance will be held in the Women's Bldg., featuring Paul Gallagher's orchestra.

The movie, "Hellzapoppin," will also be shown Saturday night.

If the weather permits, movies will be held in the amphitheatre.

BRADY-PRINTY

A Bowling Green graduate, Miss Melba Brady, was united in marriage to Fred A. Printy at the Milan St. Anthony's Catholic Church. Mr. Printy, a Kappa Sigma, is now employed by the Garber Company of Cleveland.

CARLSON-WELLS

Two Otterbein College students were married at the First Congregational Church in Elkhart, Ind. They were Miss Mary Catherine Carlson and John F. Wells. The bridegroom's father, Rev. Dr. S. A. Wells, performed the ceremony. The couple will both be graduate students at Bowling Green this fall and will reside at 217 N. Grove St.

Ex-Bee Gee English Professor Is Honored

A former professor at Bowling Green State University is one of three faculty members at the College of the University of Chicago to win a $1,000 prize "for excellence in undergraduate teaching." He is Dr. Albert M. Hayes, Assistant Professor of English at Bowling Green for five years before he moved to Chicago in 1943.

The prizes are believed to be the only such awards in the country. They were first presented in 1938 by a New York alumnus "to interest teachers in training not only scholars and research workers but also young men and women for intelligent participation and leadership in business, civic and professional life."

The other recipients of the prizes are Aaron Sayvetz, Assistant Professor of Physical Sciences, and Milton B. Singer, Associate Professor and Chairman of the Social Science staff.

Dr. Hayes has degrees from Dartmouth and Princeton.

DALZELL-TRUMAN

Miss Marian Dalzell of Bowling Green and Robert L. Truman of Sandusky were united in marriage at the First Baptist Church in Bowling Green. Mr. Truman is a sophomore and Mrs. Truman is employed by the Black Swamp Production Credit Association in Bowling Green.

EHLERT-NOBLE

Miss Shirley Anne Ehlert of Amherst and Robert V. Noble of Gainesville, Fla. were married in St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed Church. Mrs. Noble was graduated from Bowling Green in 1947 and has been teaching physical education at Sandusky Junior High School. The bridegroom was graduated from Cornell in 1944.

HARROLD-DOERING

Howard O. Doering, a university student from North Baltimore, took as his bride Miss Ann M. Harrold of Fostoria. The wedding was performed in Newport, Ky. Mrs. Doering will enter Bowling Green in the fall as a freshman.

HISER-MIESLE

The wedding of F. Lee Miesle, instructor in speech and Patricia Hiser, June graduate, was held in the Bradner Methodist Church. Best man was Robert Whitman and usher was Lawrence Kuhl, both graduates of Bowling Green. Mr. Miesle is a member of Pi Kappa Alpha and Mrs. Miesle, a Sigma Rho Tau.

LENHART-RUSSELL

Bowling Green's First Christian Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Ermajean Lenhart of Leipsic and William L. Russell of Perrysburg. Mrs. Russell teaches in the Delta Public Schools and Mr. Russell will be graduated from Bowling Green in January of 1949.

LEWMAN-COOK

Tiffin Trinity Evangelical and Reformed Church was the scene of the wedding of Alfred C. Cook and Miss Marvelene Lewman. Mr. Cook attended New York University and Bowling Green State University. His best man was Neal Bare, an SAE fraternity brother.

MACHRIS-JOYCE

Two University students were united in marriage in Grosse Pointe, Mich., Memorial Church. They were Marva Machris, sophomore and Charles Joyce, a June graduate. The best man was David Joyce, the bridegroom's brother, who formerly attended Bowling Green and usher was Charles Parsons, University junior.

MILLER-BAYER

Marilyn Ann Miller, university freshman, and John A. Bayer from the University of Illinois were united in marriage June 26. Mr. Bayer is a member of Theta Chi fraternity.

ROULET-EDGINGTON

Elizabeth Roulet, daughter of former Toledo mayor Lloyd Roulet, and Maurice 'Mort' Edgington, also of Toledo, took their vows in the Collingwood Methodist Church. The bride is a Delta Gamma and the bridegroom, a Phi Delta.

SMITH-KOHLI

A University graduate, Miss Virginia Smith, Sycamore, has been united in marriage with John J. Kohli, Columbus Grove, at the Plankton Methodist Church. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Sherwood Music School of Chicago.

ZIEGLER-PFAHLER

Grace Episcopal Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Dorothy Ziegler, University senior and Paul F. Pfahler of Ashland College. Mrs. Pfahler is a senior in Elementary Education and is a member of Kappa Delta Sorority. Mr. Pfahler will enter Bowling Green in the fall.

With The Falcons

By T. J. Loomis

Intramurals remain the only big athletic interest during the hot months. Students are expectantly looking forward to the arrival of the Cleveland Browns on July 26.

Among many Falcon sport notables of past years who are attending summer school is Chuck Cananese—All Ohio center in 1941. Dick "Red" Lowry, football and track star, who probably is best remembered for his sensational play which beat Kent State in 1946, is here also. Art Wilson, head basketball coach at Fostoria, is another student.

Hal Robinson, Bee Gee track star, finished second in the 100 and the broad jump at the Northeastern AAU's at Berea a week ago. Hal ran under the colors of the Lima A.C. Victor in both events was Gunthar Katzmar of B-W.

The 1948 Bowling Green football roster will include three brothers, the Dunham's, from Barberton. All slated for first string duty, Vern and Hal are ends, and Don, a guard.

Joe Berry, student frosh football assistant last year, is the new line coach at East Liverpool High. Wayne Bloker, a pigskin co-captain in 1947, has shifted from Greencamp to Elmore where he will be head football coach.

Over 150,000 people saw the 1947-48 Falcon basketball team in 33 games.

Coach Fred Marsh and Athletic Publicity Director Don Cunningham won the best-ball golf tournament at the Bowling Green Country Club Sunday with an eight under par 62.

Jack Woodland, crashing full-back and heavyweight wrestler, is working this summer as head of the city recreation program at Fostoria. He is assisted by another Bee Gee student, Chuck Wyans.

Bruce Bellard and Dave Matthews, who will be members of the P.E. Department in the fall are doing graduate work at Ohio State this summer.

Ten ends, ten tackles, 11 guards, seven centers and 21 backs comprise the 59 man group which will report to Coach Bob Whittaker for pre-season football practice in August.

Johnny Antonelli, brother of Falcon griddier Tony, was recently signed as a pitcher by the Boston Braves for more than $50,000.

Golf Matches Now Underway

The Bowling Green University golf course should be slightly crowded today with the first round of the summer intramural best-ball golf tournament being completed. Two matches played before vacation resulted in close 1 up victories for the teams of Al Rayner and Bob Shetzer, and Dick Mercer and Earl Niswander.

Seven remaining matches must be completed today.

Ernie Curcello defeated Bob Horvath 1 up in an individual match play tournament last week which was all tied up going into the 18th hole. Martin Hallabrin carded the lowest medal score, a 68, as he won over John Payak.

Sports

The first round of the individual match play should be complete Monday.

In two tennis matches reported to date, Atkins defeated Whitacre, 6-2, 6-0, and Halsworth beat Rutter, 6-1, 6-0.

JIM WHITTAKER HEADS CITY RECREATION PLAY

Jim Whittaker and Miss Dorothy Fornia are supervising the Bowling Green city recreation program this summer, assisted by P.E. students from the university.

Heavy Hitting Dominates Intramural Softball Games

High scores which resembled B.G.'s basketball season prevailed as intramural softball moved into its second week of activity last Thursday night.

The Wimpy Kids gained first place by trouncing Murphy's Irishmen 16-7.

Darrell Heaston's three run homer in the first inning gave the Irishmen an early lead but the Wimpy Kids tied it up in the fourth and then shoved eight runs across the plate in the extra inning.

Schedule Full For This Week

Eight softball games plus innumerable golf, tennis and horseshoe pitching matches feature this week's activity in the popular summer intramural athletic program.

The softball league swings into second week play tomorrow night with four games scheduled, and again on next Tuesday night with four more contests slated to be played. The schedule: Thursday, July 8, Salty Dogs vs. Pearsons; Northsman vs. Murphy; Rogues vs. Wimpy's Kids; Northsman vs. Fogs; Spoilers vs. Rogues.

In tennis, both singles and doubles second round matches are scheduled through Monday night, with the semi-finals slated for July 16 and the finals on July 21.

First round matches in the horseshoe-pitching tournament must be completed by Monday also, while semi-final games are to be concluded by July 16. The finals are slated for July 21.

Pairings in the best ball golf tournament are listed in the gym together with the schedule for the match play tourney. Second round play in both divisions is to be concluded by Monday.

Cage Stars Play Pro Baseball

Leo Kubiak and Bob Green of last winter's Falcon cage squad have decided to try their hand at professional baseball and now are receiving tryouts with affiliations of the Cleveland Indians.

Kubiak went to Harrisburg, Pa. at the close of school to join the Class B team in that city but was sent to Pittsfield, Mass. for further seasoning. He is a shortstop and played three years on the Falcon varsity at that position.

Green, who will return to school in the fall, has signed a contract to play for Mattoon, of the Illinois State League.

Wimp and Platt hit home runs while Rose connected for three out of four to help the Wimpys cause.

The Fogs dropped a 12-11 decision to Vargo's Salty Dogs putting both teams in the .500 bracket.

Alex Reed provided the winning margin for the Salty Dogs with a three run homer in the last inning. Bernie Beers also hit at round tripper for the Salty Dogs.

Ten runs in the second inning gave the Orioles a 17-16 decision over the Spoilers.

Barker hit two home runs and Haas added another for the Orioles while Cook duplicated Barker's feat and Neal matched Haas for the Spoilers.

In the fourth scheduled game the Rogues won by a forfeit from the Pearsons.

Long Drivers' Tourney Planned

A long distance driving contest for golfers is the newest addition to the all-campus summer intramural program. All those interested may register immediately in the athletic office.

Each driver will hit three balls and the distance each travels will be recorded. These yardages will be averaged and the contestant with the best mark declared the winner.

A prize is to be offered the man with the best average and another given the slugger with the longest individual poke.

String will be run on each side of the area picked for the contest, thereby facilitating measurement and allowing the event to be run off with a minimum of delay.
