INTRODUCTION

I came up with the idea for this book because I noticed a lack resources for black male travelers.

If you type into Google “best countries for black travelers,” you are probably greeted with an article written by AtlantaBlackStar.

I find it pathetic that this article only talks about “8 of the worst places for black people to travel.”

So I asked myself, “Where are the best places for black men to travel?”

There are a few good forum threads and Youtube videos but I feel there is a huge need for a comprehensive book on this subject.

To fulfill this need, I decided to write a book that shares all of the best countries for black guys.

It's a book that you can share with your friends, family and co-workers.

My goal is to provide you with a helpful guide on choosing your next trip, vacation or permanent move abroad.

Thanks for purchasing my book!

CHAPTER 1. HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

I wrote this book in a format to be highly useful for you. It includes lots of videos, stories, links, and resources on each country along with the best cities to visit. However, I want to make it clear that I have only visited a few cities in this book.

I wrote this book using my personal travel experiences in addition to other people's travel experiences and opinions. Everyone will have a different travel experience based on your looks, age, income, knowledge of the local language, and overall vibe. Before you go on any trip, I recommend doing several things like learning the basics of the local language, working out/exercising to look fit, losing weight if you need to and having an open mindset about your upcoming journey.

Once you get those things under control, use this book to generate a list of countries/cities you think may interest you. Each country has the following things in common:

- *Easy to access with your passport and/or visa
- *Safe enough to visit and possibly live there permanently
- *Plenty of beautiful women to choose from *Zero political unrest or civil war

*Several job & business opportunities

Every country has its issues, including advanced nations like the United States and the UK.

It's important to practice common safety in any country you visit. Avoid going out alone at night, stay away from troublemakers, and always book your apartment/hotel in a safe neighborhood.

Once you have the basics down, this book will give you a ton of travel ideas and introduce you to a few countries you may have ignored.

CHAPTER 2. NORTH & CENTRAL AMERICA

Central America provides the average traveler with lots of advantages including:

- *Lower cost of living
- *Warmer climate closer to the equator
- *Latino culture that includes lots of African influence
- *Dark and brown skinned women with big booties
- *Relaxed lifestyle with more leisure time

MEXICO

Language: Spanish

Mexico is located in the southern most part of North America. If you live in the United States, then Mexico is one of the easiest countries to visit. American citizens don't require a visa, but you need an official passport to enter the country.

Major cities such as Mexico city and Cancun can be very dangerous though. This is why I won't recommend them to you in this book. If you stay in the tourist areas, then you are much better off than venturing into the main cities, especially at night.

Instead, I will introduce you to some smaller Mexican cities with a substantial Afro-Mexican population.

They are a bit off the beaten path, but should provide you with better treatment, more safety and very beautiful women.

MONTERREY

Monterrey is the 3rd largest city in Mexico with strong Afro-Mexican roots. It's one of the hidden gems of Mexico because of its lower cost of living, vibrant city and beautiful Afro-Mexican women.

OAXACA

Oaxaca city has one of the largest populations of Afro-Mexicans in the entire country. It's a poor city but is still popular with tourists, especially Europeans.

COSTA CHICA

On Mexico's Pacific Coast, beginning north at Acapulco and continuing southeast for 200 miles through the states of Guerrero and Oaxaca, is the region known as Costa Chica, the little coast. In this rural, not easily accessible region of the country dotted with agriculture and fishing villages, resides Mexico;s most visible African-Mexican or Afromestizo population.

BELIZE

Population: 300,000

Official Language: English

Belize is a tropical country located next to Mexico in Central America. I recommend you spend a short time in Belize City due to the reports of high crime and drug activity. There are plenty of other cities/beaches to visit that should be safer overall.

COSTA RICA

Official language: Spanish

Costa Rica is small country located between Nicaragua and Panama at the very southern tip of Central America. It's a great starter trip for beginners because it's relatively cheap, very safe and remains a popular destination for American & European tourists.

Costa Ricans speak Spanish so you need to work on or improve your Spanish skills for the best overall experience. I will share some great language learning resources in the resources section at the end of this book.

Here's a list of the best cities to visit in Costa Rica:

SAN JOSE

San Jose is the capital of Costa Rica and holds the country's main international airport. The population of San Jose is majority white because the city is located in the mountains at a high altitude. While you may not enjoy life in the mountains, I think it's worth spending a day or two in the main capital before you head to the warmer cities located along the coast.

More information on San Jose:

PUERTO LIMON

Just 3 hours south of San Jose, I visited a beautiful little town called Puerto Limon (Port of Limon in English). Puerto Limon is a warm and friendly climate because it lies next to the Caribbean sea. The majority of residents in Puerto Limon have African heritage. Many Jamaicans migrated to Puerto Limon for work and dedicated to stay.

(Caption: Afro-Costa Rican girl performing at Carnival)

*Puerto Limon Information

*Puerto Limon Travel Guide

PUERTO VIEJO

Puerto Viejo (Old Port in English) is a popular tourist destination about 1 hour and 30 minutes south of Puerto Limon along Costa Rica's Caribbean coast.

The population is heavily Afro-Costa Rican, much like most of the people living on the Caribbean coast.

You will find this place full of European tourists & backpackers, especially white women under 30 who are on vacation. Puerto Viejo has beautiful beaches and great weather too. A large majority of the population are tourists so it's easy to find parties, mingle and hookup. If you want to meet 20 something European women in Costa Rica, Puerto Viejo is the best place to visit.

(Caption: Group of local girls walking in Puerto Viejo)

PANAMA

Panama is small country located at the southern most tip of Central America between Costa Rica and Colombia. It's the most popular retirement destination for United States citizens because Panama has a large English speaking population, uses the US dollar and offers incredible health care & quality of life for retirees.

For the younger traveler, Panama provides you with access to lower cost of living, warmer weather, laid back lifestyle and a large selection of both indigenous & Afro-Panamanian women. It's also the official gateway to the Americas because of the well known Panama Canal.

Here's a list of the best places to visit in Panama:

PANAMA CITY

Panama City is the capital of Panama and the largest city in the country. The population is made up of mostly "mestizos," a mix between European, African and the indigenous people of Panama. The city offers lots of attractions and amenities like casinos, shopping, movie theaters, etc.

(Caption: Local Panamanian women at bar)

The city has lots of nightlife and clubs on the main street. It's easy to meet and date beautiful Panamanian girls. They are very friendly and enjoy flirting. Learning Spanish is a big plus, although you will find many women that speak perfect English due to the influx of English speaking tourists.

COLON

Colon is a 45 minute drive away from Panama city on the Caribbean coast of Panama. It's only accessible by taxi or bus. You can hire a taxi driver in Panama City to escort you to Colon for under $50 US dollars.

The population of Colon is mostly African and unfortunately much poorer. However, I fell in love with the city and spent most of my time in Panama living in Colon.

(Caption: Local women in Colon offering directions)

In Colon, you will find some of the most beautiful women in Panama. One of the best places to meet them is the casino. The casinos hire absolutely stunning Afro-Panamanian women with big breasts, large asses and mouth watering bodies. It's entirely possible to visit the casino without playing a single game and leave completely satisfied.

Colon is also the home of "Zona Libre," the largest free trading zone in the Americas. You can buy designer clothing and products in bulk for up to 90% off the retail price. If you are interested in starting an import/export business, then Zona Libre is a great place to shop for heavily discounted products.

BOCAS DEL TORO

Bocas Del Toro is a tourist town located on the Caribbean coast of Panama. It's a popular spot for young beautiful European girls to "rent a dread." Rent a Dread means they pay local Panamanian men to have sex and be their boyfriend during their vacation. Mostly, these European women are looking for handsome black men to hook up with. If you are in decent shape, then you should have no problems meeting and having sex with some cute European tourists.

(Caption: Bocas del Toro tourists at party)

CHAPTER 3. SOUTH AMERICA

South America, in my opinion, provides the best overall experience for African-American men in the western hemisphere. Brazil is the ultimate prize of South America for men. If you can only visit 1 country in South America, make it Brazil. Colombia is the only other country I recommend because Colombian culture and women are very attractive. Brazil is where it's at, with Colombia coming up 2nd.

BRAZIL

Official language: Portuguese

Brazil has the 2nd largest African population outside of Nigeria in the world. It's a very tropical climate with lots of beautiful beaches, rainforests and people. If you like women with big booties, then Brazil will feel like heaven. Brazil has many cities so I am going to recommend the best ones to visit:

RIO DE JANEIRO

Rio is a must visit city for any man. Out of all the cities in North, Central and South America, I rate Rio de Janeiro as #1 tourist destination. Nowhere else can you find such an incredible mix of warm weather, great beaches, lower cost of living, beautiful women and overall daily excitement. Rio is full of beautiful people who like to relax, dance Samba and enjoy life one day at a time. If you work in the United States or Europe, you may find it hard to return to the 9 to 5 grind. Many men have literally cried on their way to the airport because they didn't want to leave.

(Caption: Rio de Janeiro girls enjoying the view)

Women in Rio are very friendly and easy to meet. However, many Brazilian women don't speak English. Learn Portuguese if you want access to as many women as possible. If you want English speaking women, then stick to Ipanema and Leblon areas.

I love Rio de Janeiro so much that I wrote an entire travel guide about the city. Check out my ebook, Rio de Janeiro for Beginners, on Amazon.

SALVADOR, BAHIA

Another beautiful city located on the Atlantic coast of Brazil is Salvador, Bahia. Bahia is considered “the real Brazil” because it's the 1st official Portuguese settlement of Brazil. The people of Bahia are mainly African descent and you will find some of the most beautiful Brazilian women in Bahia. However, Bahia is also more dangerous than Rio de Janeiro so you have to be careful. There are much fewer English speakers in Salvador than Rio de Janeiro. If you are adventurous and want to experience Afro-Brazilian culture to the fullest, then I recommend visiting Salvador.

(Caption: Bahia girl posing for camera)

Portuguese is very important in Bahia because English isn't widely spoken. Check out the resources section of this book for more resources on learning Portuguese and other languages.

COLOMBIA

Official language: Spanish

Colombia is the 2nd best country in South America for male travelers. Colombia is located in the Northwest region of South America between Panama and Venezuela. It's cheaper and closer to the United States than Brazil so it makes Colombia a nice alternative if you can't get a Brazilian visa.

Here's a complete guide to the Colombian woman experience for black men.

CALI

Cali Colombia is a small city located on the Pacific coast of Colombia just south of Medellin, Colombia. It's a vibrant city with a warmer climate, delicious food and beautiful Afro-Colombian women with big booties. Cali is known as the “booty capital” of Colombia. You will walk around and see some of the largest asses in all of South America.

(Caption: Group of Cali Colombia women)

I spent 3 months living in Cali and absolutely loved it. The people of Cali are friendly, outgoing and love to dance. It's really easy to meet women in Cali, but you must speak some Spanish to communicate with them. A little basic Spanish will go a long way in Cali. There are also nice malls, casinos, museums and plenty of things to do in the city. It's probably Colombia's best kept secret since Medellin and Bogota get the most attention. I would not recommend Bogota due to the cold weather.

More resources on Cali:

CARTAGENA

Cartagena is a tourist city located on the Caribbean coast of Colombia. I spent 2 weeks traveling through Cartagena and found the city to be full of beautiful beaches, gorgeous Afro-Colombian women and some of the best seafood I've ever tasted. The only downside to Cartagena is that it's an expensive tourist city. Millions of European and Colombian tourists visit the beaches every year and drive up the prices on everything from food to housing. It's definitely worth spending at least a few days because of its natural beauty and women.

BARRANQUILLA

Barranquilla is the 3rd Colombian city that I recommend for black male travelers. It's also located on the Caribbean coast, although I only spent a few days in this city.

CHAPTER 4. THE CARIBBEAN

If you have never left your country or been away from your hometown, I recommend going to the Caribbean first to get your feet wet as a traveler. The Caribbean is a popular travel destination for American and Europeans because there is such a diverse mix of food, people, water, culture, and bright sunny weather.

The key spots in the Caribbean are the most popular ones such as Bahamas, Jamaica, Dominican Republic, Cuba and Haiti.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

I visited the capital of Dominican Republic, Santo Domingo, a few years ago and really enjoyed the weather, culture and the women. While some of the areas in the city were run down, I know lots of great places to visit throughout the country. I will share a bunch of them in a moment but first I want to talk about things like safety, cost of living and lifestyle. The Caribbean lifestyle is far more appealing than the western 9 to 5 grind. Imagine sitting on the beach with a fresh coconut and watching beautiful ladies smile and giggle at you. Most necessities are cheap and affordable, plus the majority of the locals are black.

You are very close to other Caribbean hotspots like Jamaica and the Bahamas. Some of you will visit the Dominican and never want to leave.

You only need a passport to visit the Dominican Republic. There is no visa needed.

SANTO DOMINGO

Santo Domingo is the capital of the Dominican Republic and it's the oldest city in the Americas. The city is pretty big with safer tourist areas and run down ghetto looking locations. However, the women in Santo Domingo are absolutely stunning. There are mostly light skinned brown to dark complexion and they have incredible legs and asses. If you like brown skinned Caribbean women, then you will be in heaven.

(Caption: Santo Domingo woman posing)

It's easy to meet women, find hotels and restaurants while staying in the city. Learning Spanish will go a long way in the DR because the majority of people don't speak a lot of English. I had cute Dominican girls walking up to me and speaking so fast that I couldn't understand them. Even basic understanding goes a long way here.

PUNTA CANA

I discovered Punta Cana after speaking with a friend who was recently divorced from his wife of 20 years. If you find the city of Santo Domingo too rough for you, then Punta Cana is a great alternative city with beaches, nightlife and a much more friendly vibe.

(Caption: Punta Cuna woman posing)

More Resources on Punta Cana:

SANTIAGO

Santiago is another option for black men in the Dominican Republic. It's the 2nd largest country in the DR but doesn't have any beaches. If you are looking for change in pace, then Santiago is a place that I've heard great things about.

(Caption: Santiago girl posing)

More resources on Santiago:

*Santiago Travel Guide

THE BAHAMAS

The Bahamas is arguably one of the most popular destinations for Americans in the world. It's very close to the US border, has great weather and beaches, and is very tourist friendly with a safe atmosphere. The Bahamas consists of 2,000 smaller islands but there are only a few cities/islands that I recommend. You only need a passport to visit the Bahamas. There is no visa required.

NASSAU

Nassau is the capital of The Bahamas where the infamous Paradise island resides. Many travelers absolutely love Paradise Island and it's a great vacation spot for beginner travelers.

(Caption: Bahamas girl modeling underwear)

More resources on Nassau:

\*Nassau Travel Guide

\*Snapshot: Nassau, Bahamas

CUBA

Cuba is a relatively unknown country because the USA and Cuba maintained a long standing embargo for many years. Up until recently, it was illegal for US travelers to visit Cuba. It appears things are changing for the better though. Cuba has lots of great things to offer black men that it's too juicy to omit from this book.

Cuba is very close to the United States and easily accessible via Miami or Mexico. Secondly, you enjoy warm weather and beautiful Cuban women as well.

(Caption: Cuban Girl Posing for Camera)

HAVANA

The capital of Cuba, Havana, is the most popular destination for travelers. The city is mostly Spanish speaking and you will find very few people who speak English. Learning some basic Spanish is a must if you want to enjoy Cuba to the fullest.

More resources on Cuba:

*Havana Travel Guide

*Snapshot: Havana, Cuba

CHAPTER 5. AFRICA

Africa holds a special place in this book because I traced my heritage back to Guinea-Bissau, a small West African country located next to Senegal.

Discovering my roots became a powerful moment in my life when I fully realized exactly how my ancestors ended up in America. I won't go into details inside this book, but I think every black man should trace their roots if you aren't sure about your country of origin. I used AfricanAncestry.com to trace my DNA roots. Not only is it beneficial to know where you came from, but it will help you choose a potential destination in Africa to visit.

Africa is the 2nd largest continent in the world and has over 50 different countries. It's so big that you have to split it up into regions: West Africa, East Africa, Northern and Southern Africa. Depending on your looks and origin, you may find specific areas more appealing than others.

Personally, I find West and East Africa more interesting because I have direct ties to these areas and the women of West and East Africa are, in my opinion, the most beautiful on the entire planet. These regions also have very safe countries that many American and European tourists visit on a regular basis. There are few civil wars, major conflicts and violence in general whereas Northern and Southern Africa tends to be more politically out of sorts.

If you are looking for very cheap cost of living, amazing weather, friendly black people, and young women with perfect bodies, then Africa is where you want to be. I will break down this section into several countries that are 100% safe to visit and easy for English speakers to thrive in.

GHANA

Ghana is unofficially known as Africa for beginners. The capital of Ghana, Accra, is home to many English speakers and expats because it attracts mainly Europeans and Asians who decided to settle in the city. As a black male traveler, you will find Ghana very similar to life in a western nation. They have big shopping malls, cell phones, world class accommodations, cars and everything else you are used to at home. Ghanaian people are very friendly and welcoming towards foreigners/tourists. Best of all, it is very safe to visit alone. There is very little violent crime to worry about.

You need a passport and visa to enter Ghana as a foreigner.

ACCRA

Accra is the major destination for most foreign travelers. It's located on the coast of Ghana along the Atlantic Ocean. I visited Accra many years ago and remember it as a safe, vibrant city.

(Caption: Local Accra girl competing for Miss Africa)

Accra is a paradise for men because you enjoy a much lower cost of living plus have an endless supply of young African women to choose from. The official currency of Ghana is called the cedi. As of writing this book, the exchange rate is around 3.82 cedi per USD dollar. That makes everything in Ghana very cheap. Ghana struggles with rapid inflation as the value of the cedi continues to fall. Things are getting cheaper and cheaper for visitors who earn their income in the US Dollar, Euro or British Pound.

SOUTH AFRICA

South Africa is a very popular African destination that recently hosted the 2010 FIFA World Cup. This event placed South Africa in the world view and greatly contributed to the rise in tourism and infrastructure. World class cities like Cape Town and Johannesburg provide you with lots of excitement, fun, and beautiful women during your visit.

There are a bunch of interesting cities but I will only focus on the two most popular destinations: Cape Town and Johannesburg. The other city I recommend is Durban, although it's off the beaten path and rarely mentioned. Feel free to check it out yourself.

CAPE TOWN

Cape Town is the 2nd largest city in South Africa and sits at the very south tip of the Western cape. The city is very multi-cultural and will remind you more of Europe than most cities in Africa. With world class views and modern day luxuries, I recommend Cape Town for travelers who want to experience some of the most modernized living in South Africa.

(Caption: Cape Town woman working at the mall)

Many Europeans reside in Cape Town and it's known to be generally safer than Johannesburg. If you want to meet beautiful European women in South Africa, then Cape town is your best bet. It's full of Europeans, Africans and even mixed race girls that gives the city a very unique look.

More resources on Cape Town:

\*Cape Town Travel Guide

\*Cape Town Datasheet

JOHANNESBURG

Johannesburg is the official capital of South Africa. It's a stark contrast from Cape Town and is considered the "real South Africa." You will find a mostly black people in Johannesburg along with many amazing sights, food and beautiful women.

More resources on Johannesburg:

\*Johannesburg Travel Guide

NAMIBIA

Official language: English

Namibia is a small country located next to South Africa. I learned about Namibia by watching travel videos from an African-American woman who graduated from Howard University in Washington, DC. It turns out she found life in Namibia much more enjoyable than in the United States. You won't here much about the country either, but that's a good thing because too much publicity only does two things: make a country more expensive and increase the attitude of the local women.

English is the official language of Namibia but you need a passport and visa to enter the country.

WINDHOEK

WindHoek is the capital city of Namibia. It's probably the best place to go for starters because you get access to shopping malls, grocery stores, internet, and of course beautiful English speaking African girls. I'm not familiar with any other cities/towns but I heard from multiple black travelers that Windhoek is the place to be.

(Caption: Windhoek woman posing)

More resources on Windhoek:

*Windhoek Travel Guide

ETHIOPIA

Official language: Amharic

Being born and raised in Washington, DC, I knew from first hand experience how beautiful Ethiopian women are. They possess stunning figures with all different types of hairstyles and complexions. They are arguably some of the most beautiful women on the planet because they carry themselves in a hyper-feminine way. Eastern Africa will be heaven for black men who love Ethiopian women and their curvy bodies. Not only is Ethiopia relatively safe, but it's so much cheaper than Namibia or Ghana. If you don't mind a slight drop in standard of living, Ethiopia is your perfect paradise.

ADDIS ABABA

The most popular city for tourists is the capital of Ethiopia, Addis Ababa. Addis Ababa is a huge sprawling city that has plenty of markets, hotels, restaurants, and beautiful women to make your visit worthwhile. However, Ethiopia suffers with crushing poverty and you may be shocked at what you see. I've heard that even the homeless women are beautiful in Ethiopia. If you have good income in your home country, your US dollar or Euro will go a long way in Addis Ababa.

CHAPTER 6. ASIA

Asia offers you a ton of interesting countries to visit, see and possibly live in. Over the past few years, I personally believe more black men are moving to Asia than any other continent. It provides all of the luxuries offered in America and/or the UK without the high cost of living, everyday stress, and stuck up women. Asia experiences less crime because few citizens carry guns and dangerous weapons. The governments are mostly stable and people are less aggressive. Asian women are known for being submissive and great marriage partners.

It's a great spot for relocation with many jobs available for teaching English, oil and construction, freelancing, finance, and many other industries. I've been to two major countries in Asia: Thailand and Japan. Thailand is one of my favorite places to go while I found Japan to be way too expensive for my liking. There's also many other places to consider including China, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia and a few other hidden gems.

JAPAN

Official language: Japanese

Japan is an island located to the east of mainland China. I almost left Japan off the list but changed my mind because my only complaint was the high cost of living. When I visited Japan, I was on a strict budget that made my trip less enjoyable. If you have a large travel budget, then you will love Japan. It's very clean, safe and easy to get around. Japanese women love black men and it's easy to get a girlfriend and/or wife. You may find the culture a bit weird but that's because Japanese people like their privacy. It's easy to buy food, go shopping, find hotels, and do anything in Japan. I spent my entire trip in Tokyo so it will be the main target city in this book.

You need a passport to enter Japan. There is no visa required.

Tokyo

Imagine bright lights, sprawling cities, technology, and a city full of skinny in-shape women. My first impression of Tokyo wasn't so great because I paid $200 US dollars to take a taxi from the airport to my hotel. Tokyo is probably more expensive than New York city is. I recommend staying in Old Tokyo to save money on your hotel room or apartment. If you want to stay around black people, then live in the Roppongi district. Many Nigerian immigrants live in this area and operate nightclubs and bars. You will see more black people in this one area than the rest of Tokyo. I didn't see many tourists around but that's probably because of the crazy high cost of living.

(Caption: Tokyo women posing at car show)

Japanese women are very shy and won't often show their interest. Many barely speak English as well. If you go to the Roppongi area at night, most girls there speak basic English and are looking for black men to seduce. I met a few brothers who married Japanese women and had kids with them. You won't have any problems meeting, dating and marrying women in Tokyo.

CHINA

Official language: Mandarin

If you are looking for work in Asia, China offers you the best opportunities to teach English and earn a living. China is one of the largest countries in the world with a population of over 1 billion.

You need a passport and visa to enter mainland China. I visited China 10 years ago and experienced zero racism, prejudice or problems in China. I also know a couple black men who live in China that never want to return to the United States and/or UK either. Chinese culture might have some racial problems, but they are generally peaceful and non-violent towards foreigners.

Chinese women give any man plenty of reasons to Visit China. They are normally fun, well dressed and very feminine. Feminism is practically non-existent in China. The biggest problem you will face is overcoming the culture differences, racial stigmas about black men and language barriers. For more information on Chinese women, check out "The Dating Guide for Mainland Chinese Women."

SHANGHAI

Shanghai is a popular tourist destination for black men. With more than 23 million residents, Shanghai is the largest city in mainland China. It's becoming a hub for foreigners due to the recent developments and economic boom.

(Caption: Shanghai woman posing)

Shanghai women are friendly and in great shape. You won't find too many overweight women in this city. They wear lots of dresses, skirts, and blouses when they go walking around the city. Mandarin is the official language of China but you can find English speaking women in places like Starbucks and McDonalds. If you want to learn more information about visiting and living in Shanghai, then check out

Randy Flagg's Youtube Channel called Laowai in China. Randy is a Brooklyn, New York native who moved to Shanghai 10 years ago. He talks about how to adapt to Chinese culture, date the local women, find a job and much more. He explains his main reasons for living in Shanghai because he experienced racism and police brutality while living in the United States. If you need a Shanghai local to answer your questions, I recommend you speak to Randy.

BEIJING

Beijing is the capital of China and should be considered “China for beginners.” It's the 2nd largest city in China with over 21 million residents. If you're looking for work, Beijing is a great place to start. There are many American and UK expats who teach English in Beijing for a living. The city is filled with plenty of Chinese women who are open to meeting foreigners. Foreigners are generally more openly received in Beijing because the city is the economic and educational capital of China.

GUANGZHOU

Guangzhou is the 3rd largest city in China with a population of 12 million. While Shanghai and Beijing are located in the far east, you need to travel to southern China to visit Guangzhou. The locals speak Cantonese, although Mandarin is the official language. I chatted with a Chinese girl who got upset because I tried speaking Mandarin to her instead of Cantonese. Turns out this girl was from Guangzhou. There seems to be some tension between the two groups so be ready to learn Cantonese if you plan to visit.

(Caption: Guangzhou woman posing)

The city remains popular with African immigrants who migrate to China for business and permanent relocation. If you want to live in a city with a large black population, then Guangzhou is your best choice. You'll also see lots of black man and Asian woman couples in this city too.

Guangzhou offers you plenty of business opportunities for import/export trade if you are looking to make some extra money.

THAILAND

Official language: Thai

Thailand is a must visit city for any black man. I lived in Bangkok for 1 month and it was awesome.

Thailand offers great tropical weather year round, very cheap cost of living, beautiful Thai girls, good food, safe nightlife and a way to clear your mind after spending countless years in the Matrix USA.

Million of tourists visit Thailand every year because it's such a fun and liberating place to live. You'll find different people of all ages enjoying what Thailand has to offer. There are a few downsides to Thailand as well. The biggest problem is the tsunami risk because Thailand is located directly next to very active ocean weather. I rode a motorbike during a storm in Pattaya and the water was around my knees. It was a very humbling experience. Most travelers visit and stay in Bangkok while Pattaya is mainly a venue for older male sex tourists (more often on that later).

Thai women are generally quiet, thin and reserved. It's easy to meet women in public and nightclubs but you have to make your move first. They will signal their interest by smiling and giggling at you. Sometimes, they will stand next to you and try to get your attention. It's very different from Western culture, but you'll be able to pick up on their cues with some practice.

BANGKOK

Bangkok is the main destination for most Thailand visitors. It's the largest city in Thailand by far and also the most modernized. Bangkok provides you with huge shopping malls, world class hotels & hostels, entertainment, nightlife and fun for a very low cost. In fact, you will be shocked at the low cost of living. You can get a room in a very nice hostel for only $5. Delicious street food is available for only $1. Taxis and tuk tuk will cost only a few dollars for a trip across the city. American and UK retirees come to Bangkok because you get so much value for your money.

(Caption: Thai women in beauty contest)

Meeting Thai women is relatively easy because the city is full of thin beautiful women. There's also a bit of a dark side to Thailand: the bar girls. Bangkok bar girls are young Thai women who work at disco bars and provide dancing entertainment and sex to male clients. Entire areas cater to this business such as Soi Cowboy and Nana plaza. It's easy to take a bar girl to a hotel or your apartment. All you do is pay a small bar fee then take the girl wherever you want. Local Thai women know this so it makes meeting regular women much easier. There is no game needed at all. You'll see tons of men over 50+ years old walking hand in hand with 21 year old beautiful Thai women. Sometimes, the girls are as young as 16!

As a black male traveler, you won't experience much racism or problems meeting Thai women. Strike up a conversation with them and see where it goes. Thai is the official language of Thailand but many women speak English as a second language. I knew many guys who lived in Bangkok for over 2 years and didn't speak any Thai at all.

PATTAYA

Pattaya is a small beach town in Thailand that is known as a big sex tourist destination. The city is full of foreigners, mostly men, who are looking for young girls to hook up with. You will either love Pattaya or find it disgusting. It depends on how you see things. Pattaya offers great beaches and a chance to get away from big city life in Bangkok.

(Caption: Local Pattaya woman walking)

It's easy to meet women in this city. You have your choice between women with regular jobs and working girls. Both are very easy to obtain. The best regular women work at the shopping centers and stores along the road. I met this gorgeous woman who worked at a Subway sandwich shop but didn't get a chance to pursue her further because I left Pattaya the next day. Pattaya provides enough local talent that you don't have to use working girls. However, many local Thai men have wives and visit working girls on a weekly basis. You have lots of options so choose wisely.

If you want working girls, then you won't have to look far because there are literally thousands of women standing around at night looking for customers. These women generally wear very seductive clothing and constantly make eye contact with foreigners. If you like one, then just go up to her and casually ask her if she would like a date. If she says yes, then ask her how much. All Thai working girls expect to receive money in return for companionship or sex. If she really likes you, she may only ask for cab fare home. If not, then you will pay a regular rate depending on your looks and age.

Pattaya is a nice alternative if you want a beach lifestyle and access to thousands of working girls at night. You'll either love or hate this town!

CHAPTER 7. AUSTRALIA

Official language: English

The Australian region holds a lot of potential for black men who search for experience and fun outside of the general European, African and Asian destinations. Australia is supposedly a goldmine for black male travelers because Australian women love black men. The official language of Australia is English so no need to learn a different language or worry about communication problems.

The country is very stable and safe. You may discover you never want to leave Australia once you visit. It's very similar to the United States but offers the black male traveler more bang for your buck.

I think Australia doesn't get as much attention as it deserves. The main downside to Australia is the far away distance and more expensive plane tickets. If you can justify the cost, then Australia is a place you should consider. There is already a black population in Australia called the Aboriginal.

SYNDEY

Sydney is the capital city of Australia. Although the city is expensive, you gain access to great quality of life, beautiful women, nice weather, and a thriving job market full of opportunities.

Sydney is an international city with lots of white, Asian and indigenous women to choose from. English is widely spoken so there are no language barriers.

MELBOURNE

Melbourne is the 2nd largest city in Australia and provides a nice alternative to the capital, Sydney. With over 4 million people in the city, you have plenty of choices in food, women, entertainment and employment.

BRISBANE

Brisbane is the 3rd largest city in Australia with a population of over 2 million people. It's located on the gold coast in the North East region of Australia. It's also has some of the best beaches and views in the country. If you love the beach lifestyle, then Brisbane is a good fit for you.

CHAPTER 8. EUROPE

When I talk to black guys, I keep hearing that Europe is paradise for black men. While I take everything I hear with a grain of salt, I do believe Europe offers more to black men than most countries like the United States and Canada.

For example, France attracted black scholars, artists and intellectuals dating all the way back to the early 20th century. Europe provided an escape to the blatant racism and prejudice in America for black people who wanted to pursue their work and live in peace. I visited Paris, France a couple of years ago and had a wonderful time in the city. My only complaints were the high cost of living and the colder weather beginning in September.

Europe itself is a rapidly changing population as the countries become more Muslim and ethnic. Black people from America, Africa and South America settle in Europe looking for opportunity, respect and love. European women appreciate black men and you should have no problems meeting, dating and marrying them. This section will only include the best places to visit and live in.

FRANCE

Official language: French

I touched on the historical importance of France earlier in this book because African Americans migrated to France as early as the 1920's. America was heavily segregated and provided black scholars and intellectuals few opportunities to work, earn a living and experience true freedom. On the other hand, France gave them an chance to survive and make a living without dealing with too much racism and prejudice.

Today, France remains a popular destination for black people, especially Africans from French speaking countries. It's very safe and easy to get around the country because the French transportation system revolves around trains and buses, not cars.

French is the official language of France so learning French is a great way to fully experience the culture and improve your communication abilities.

PARIS

Paris is the capital of France with over 12 million people living in the metro area. Paris is so small that you can walk through the entire city in 3 hours. Many travelers lose weight in Paris because it's a walking city. Weight loss is one of the many benefits to living in Europe in general.

(Caption: Paris women at local car show)

French women are generally thin, in great shape, and friendly. You can walk up to them and simply strike up a conversation. Many women speak English so you don't have to speak fluent French to understand them.

Places like the mall, grocery store, and park provide you with access to tons of beautiful women from many different countries. You'll see white, African, Asian, and Arab women all throughout Paris. Fashion is very important in Paris so make sure to dress in style when going out. Paris represents the fashion capital of the world and people love to dress up and mingle. Anything that's stylish and affordable will do. There is no need to splurge on expensive clothing or anything.

SWEDEN

Official language: Swedish

When I first heard about Sweden, I had a negative impression of the women and culture. Local Swedish men complain that Sweden is too feminist and enslaves men through unfair laws and high taxes. However, I keep reading about black men who absolutely love Sweden. In fact, Scandinavia receives lots of positive praises from black guys no matter who I talk to.

(Caption: Swedish women at soccer match)

Swedish women normally have blonde hair and thin bodies. They believe in equality and have no problems providing for you financially if they like you enough. This is a result of the massive feminist presence in modern day Sweden.

CHAPTER 9. TRAVEL TIPS

This chapter is dedicated to general travel tips that you can use no matter where you go. Once you leave the comforts of your home, you begin a journey of different cultures, customs, languages and women. These tips will help you enjoy your trips much more and stay safe in any country.

- * Make a copy of your passport and take it with you in case you lose your passport or it gets stolen.

- *Leave any racist baggage at home. It will only sour and ruin your trip.

- *Be willing to learn a different language to fully appreciate your trip. Don't refuse to learn something other than English. Be open minded.

- *Avoid fights. In many other countries, people don't believe in 1 vs 1 fights. If you get into a fight, you may discover 20 locals jump in to help your opponent. Always walk away and never get into fights overseas.

- *Use caution when going out at night. Use properly marked taxi cabs, avoid sketchy people and stay in the safer areas. If you want to visit a place, check it out during the day first to make sure it's safe.

- *Lock up all your valuables in your hotel safe or a secret location before going out at night. If you bring back a guest, you won't worry about anything getting stolen.

*If possible, rent an apartment over getting a hotel room. It's cheaper in the long run plus way more flexible if you want to invite guests over.

*Avoid too much American style clothing. It labels you as a tourist and you will get higher prices on everything. Clean, stylish clothing without labels is the best type of clothing to wear.

*Catch taxis on the street. If you catch a taxi in front of a nightclub or bar, you will pay more. If the taxi has a meter, always go by the meter. Tell the driver to use the meter so you don't overpay.

*Use online dating sparingly. There are lots of attractive women online but there are also risks like scams and fake profiles. Use the internet to test the waters but don't be afraid to go out and meet women in public places when you arrive in your destination of choice. A friendly smile and "hello" is enough to make a connection.
