Boao Forum For Asia

Boao Forum For Asia (BFA) is a non-government, non-profit international organization. Initiated in 1998 by Fidel V. Ramos, former President of the Philippines, Bob Hawke, former Prime Minister of Australia, and Morihiro Hosokawa, former Prime Minister of Japan, Boao Forum for Asia was launched by 29 Initial Countries in the Asia Pacific and inaugurated on February 27, 2001.

The BFA is focused on Asia with a global vision. As the leading dialogue platform for Asian and emerging economies, the BFA is committed to facilitating economic integration in Asia and common development in the Asia Pacific region. After years of evolution, the BFA has now grown into an open and inclusive forum with global influence.

Initial Countries

The representatives from Australia, the People's Republic of Bangladesh, Brunei Darussalam, Kingdom of Cambodia, the People's Republic of China, the Republic of India, the Republic of Indonesia, the Islamic Republic of Iran, Japan, the Republic of Kazakhstan, the Kyrgyz Republic, the Lao People's Democratic Republic, Malaysia, Mongolia, the Union of Myanmar, the Kingdom of Nepal, the Islamic Republic of Pakistan, the Republic of the Philippines, the Republic of Korea, the Republic of Singapore, the Democratic Socialist Republic of Sri Lanka, the Republic of Tajikistan, the Kingdom of Thailand, Turkmenistan, the Republic of Uzbekistan, the Socialist Republic of Vietnam ("the 26 BFA Initial Countries") held a meeting at Boao, Hainan Province, the People's Republic of China (the "PRC") and formally declared the establishment of Boao Forum for Asia on February 27, 2001.

According to the resolution endorsed by the Board Meeting and approved by the members General Assembly respectively in 2006 and 2016, Israel, New Zealand and Maldives have been approved to become the BFA Initial Countries, thus the total number of the BFA Initial Countries reaching 29.

Secretariat of the Boao Forum for Asia

The Secretariat is a permanent executive establishment of the BFA, whose duties include: making preparations for all BFA's meetings; implementing the resolutions of the General Meeting of Members and the Board of Directors; drafting annual work reports, preparing annual budgets and submitting the same to the Board of Directors for review; raising and managing funding for the BFA; formulating and amending BFA's rules and policies and submitting the same to the Board of Directors for approval; handling the accession and withdrawal of, as well as liaison with, members; assisting the Chairman in the performance of his/her duties; and performing other responsibilities assigned by the Board of Directors.

BFA Research and Training Institute

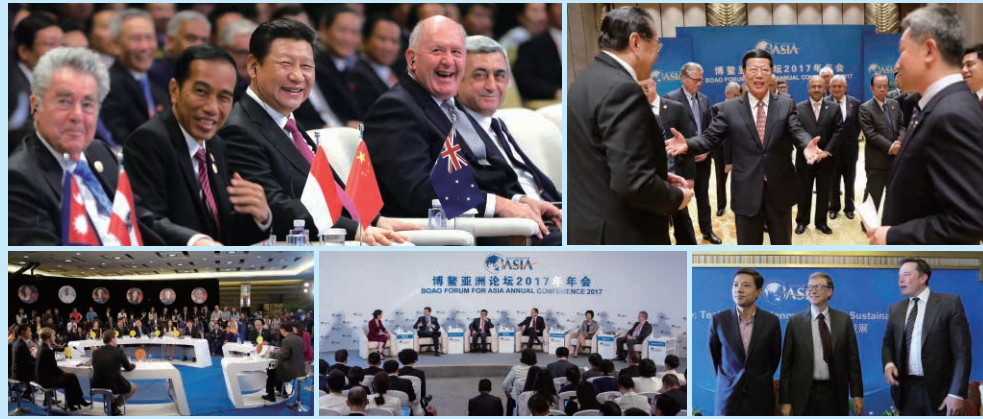

Founded in 2001, the BFA Research and Training Institute is an important intellectual support of BFA. Its functions include: to identify the theme and sub-topics for the annual conference; to develop and provide economic forecasting on issues consistent with the goals and policies of BFA; to provide intellectual resources for BFA conferences, seminars, and workshops; to provide human resource development programs for members and other partners of BFA; to establish a virtual network and a clearinghouse for other research and training institutes in Asia and elsewhere.

Each year, the Institute publishes three annual reports, including the Annual Report on Progress of Asian Economic Integration, the Annual Report on Development of Emerging Economies, and the Annual Report on Asian Competitiveness. Each week, the Institute sends the bilingual Asia Economic Weekly to BFA members and partners, updating on the latest economic information in and outside Asia. It oversees the publication of the Boao Review, BFA's official bilingual quarterly in Chinese and English, which produces special reports such as the Report on Internet Finance and Report on Rural Finance Development.

THE VOICE OF ASIA 亚洲

Media Partners of AC

BFA Annual Conference gains global media attention, over 1000 journalists from 200 influential media organizations attend and cover the Conference every year. In 2017, BFA built media partnership with: Bloomberg Television, Beijing International Advertising & Communication Group Co., Ltd., China Business News, CCTV, China Daily, China Pictorial, CNBC, China News Service, China Radio International, Economic Daily, EDI Media Inc., Guiyang Daily Media Group, Global Times, Haymarket Financial Media, Hainan Broadcasting Group, JoongAng ILBO, Outlook Weekly, People's Daily, PR Newswire, Phoenix TV, VIVA Mobile Media, Xinhua News Agency, and Wall Street Journal.

21 media leaders from 15 countries attended the Media Leaders Round-table during AC2017. The leaders discussed the topic of "New Prospects for Asian Media Cooperation", and exchanged views about establishment of AMCO (Asian Media Cooperation Organization).

Media Club

With the support of many partners, the BFA Secretariat establish the BFA Media Club in 2013 with a view to providing media friends with a nonprofit platform for knowledge sharing, information exchange, business development, life experiencing, and friend making. Based on the members' interests and needs, the Media Club carries out activities on an irregular basis.

In addition to its annual conference, BFA has extended its activities to regions outside the mainland of China to further expand its influence. With the increase in international cooperation, BFA established a Media Brotherhood for overseas events, which containing nine most influential medias of China, will work with BFA to jointly create an international public opinion platform for the prosperity, development, and win-win cooperation of Asia.

Members of the media brotherhood include the Xinhua News Agency, CCTV, China News Service, Phoenix TV, China Radio International, China Business Network, People's Daily and business portals such as Tencent.com, and sina.com.cn. (The list is in no particular order.)

Members of the Boao Forum for Asia

By establishing a working network interweaving the worlds of politics, business and academia, BFA has for years provided services facilitating the ever-expanding economic cooperation amongst its members as well as between members and non-members. BFA memberships fall into five different types: honorary, initial, diamond, platinum, and ordinary memberships. The first two types of membership are no longer open to applications. Now, more than 240 enterprises/individuals from different countries and representatives of various industries have joined the BFA. Ever since the BFA has started accepting membership applications, it has always been welcoming and expecting the participation of new members.

BFA is dedicated to provide rich information and membership activities to its members. Through policy analysis, celebrity speeches, scholar lectures, business visits and other activities, BFA keeps its members abreast with the latest economic development and industry policies and meanwhile offers them high-end platforms for communication and dialogue.
