WELCOME

MAYOR DAVID H. BIETER

Every great city is built around great neighborhoods. And great neighbors are what make great neighborhoods possible.

That's what all of you are – great neighbors. By being part of the Boise Neighborhood Interactive, you are helping us identify opportunities to align resources, make measurable change and create more vibrant and connected neighborhoods. It's part of our Energize Our Neighborhoods, which is a long-term strategy for keeping Boise unique and vibrant by creating collaboration between neighbors, public and private partners, and the city.

Your work to improve your neighborhood puts you on the front lines of our efforts to make Boise the most livable city in the country.

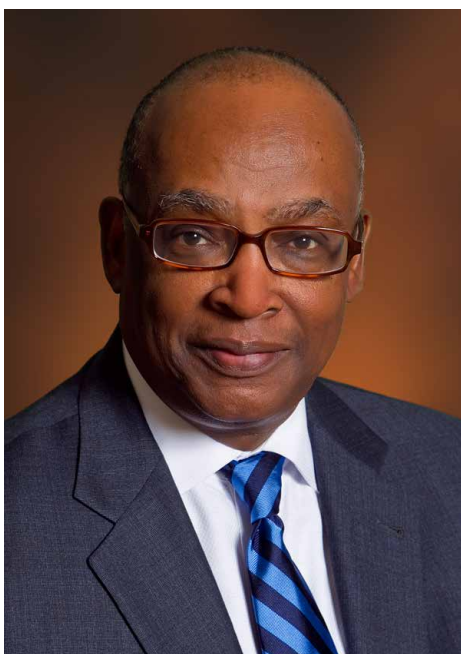

Thank you for engaging and all you do to be a great neighbor.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "David Bieter". The signature is fluid and cursive, written over a white background.

Mayor

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

AGE-FRIENDLY CITIES

Room: Clearwater

The global population is aging. By 2050, people ages 60 and older will represent 22% of the global population. This demographic shift has prompted many communities, including Boise, to engage in age-friendly planning and programming with the goal of creating environments that encourage active aging by optimizing opportunities for health, participation and security.

In 2015, as a component of the Lasting, Innovative, and Vibrant (LIV) city initiative, the City of Boise contracted with the BSU Center for the Study of Aging to conduct an age-friendly city assessment. It gathered information from older adults, caregivers of older adults, and agencies providing services to older adults in Boise about assets and barriers to healthy aging. Eight specific community aspects, from open spaces to transportation to social engagement, communications and community services, were explored. Participants also made suggestions for making the City of Boise more age-friendly.

This panel will share the study findings and engage the audience in envisioning a city friendly to all ages.

Panelists:

- DIANE RONAYNE has been a community activist and volunteer in Boise since 1982. She served on the Boise Arts Commission and Boise Planning and Zoning Commission.
