Director's Note

This year we are excited to present a show written by one of our own Indiana natives, Cole Porter. Porter was a popular composer through the 1920s and 30s, and was drawn to musical theatre. The fact that Porter wrote both the music and lyrics of his songs set him apart from other Broadway composers of his time. Cole Porter's Indiana heritage is only one aspect that makes this show special.

Whenever I sit down to write the director's note I think about the core values presented in the play. I like to reflect on why I chose the play and why I personally think its message is important. For Anything Goes I decided to ask the cast and crew what they felt was important. Below are the thoughts they gathered the day of our cast and crew retreat:

Anything Goes is about...

"being yourself, being true to your heart, and true to your feelings;"

"finding true love, breaking barriers and overcoming boundaries;"

"following your heart, and embracing friendships;"

"respecting each other's decisions;" and

"learning that sometimes things don't go the way you want them to, but always remembering that it's God's plan."

My hope is that you will recognize these themes as you watch. Perhaps your sentiments will echo those of our students. Perhaps you will generate thoughts of your own. Regardless, we hope you enjoy because, after all, Anything Goes!
