CONSTRUCTION TYPE

Frame (ISO Grade 1) means a structure with exterior walls, floor and roof composed of combustible materials. Structures composed entirely of wood construction will be considered frame as will any structure that has metal or brick or masonry over wood frame sheathing. Additionally, any structure of mixed construction type that has, at time of completion, more than 35% of its structure consisting of frame or combustible materials (as previously described) shall also be considered frame construction.

Heavy Timber or Mill Building means having exterior walls that are of solid masonry or concrete with a minimum of two hour fire-resistive rating, thick wood columns, wood beams, supports and ties. The floors are tongue and groove planks not less than 3” thick with a roof deck on heavy timber with at least a 2” thickness. These buildings were generally constructed during the late 19th century.

Joisted Masonry (ISO Grade 2) means a structure with exterior walls of masonry or composed of fire-resistive material having a fire-resistance rating not less than one hour. The floors and roof are combustible.

Non-Combustible (ISO Grade 3) means a structure with exterior walls, floors, roof and supporting structural members of non-combustible or slow burning materials. All metal buildings are most commonly found in this class. The fire-resistive rating is less than one hour.

Masonry Non-Combustible (ISO Grade 4) means a structure with exterior bearing walls or load bearing portions of exterior walls that are either non-combustible material with a fire-resistive rating not less than one hour or are of masonry construction. Floors, roof, and interior structural members are of non-combustible or slow burning material.

Concrete Tilt-up means a structure with reinforced concrete walls, steel beams, and a combustible roof deck; or a structure with reinforced concrete walls, engineered glue-laminated beams, and a non-combustible roof deck.

Modified Fire Resistive (ISO Grade 5) means a structure with exterior walls, floors, and roof of masonry materials as described in Fire Resistive, but deficient in thickness; or fire-resistive material described in Fire-resistive, but with a fire-resistance rating of less than 2 hours, but not less than one hour.

Fire Resistive (ISO Grade 6) means a structure in which the exterior load bearing walls or load bearing portions of exterior walls, floors and roofs and all interior load bearing walls and interior structural members are constructed with masonry or other fire-resistive materials. None of these materials may have a fire-resistive rating of less than two hours.
