CULTURAL HERITAGE

Old Nessebar

Nessebar was founded nearly 3,000 years ago. The old town recounts the history of the people who lived in these lands. It was declared an architectural reserve and in 1983 it was included in UNESCO's World Heritage List.

The old part of Nessebar is located on a small patch of land barely 850 m long and 350 m wide. It is connected to the mainland by a narrow isthmus. Over the centuries almost one third of the old town has disappeared into the sea. Today parts of its fortification wall still remain standing underwater and can be seen at about a hundred meters away from the shore.

Many buildings from the Bulgarian Revival have been preserved - typical representatives of the Bulgarian Black Sea-type of Revival house. There are also old windmills and drinking fountains.

A lot of history about this region can be found by visiting the Archaeological Museum, St. Spas Church and St. Stefan Church. The rich history of Nessebar and the beautiful mix of modern and ancient make it one of the most romantic places at the Black Sea.

Begliktash

One of the most mysterious temples discovered in our land – Begliktash – is located 4 km away from Primorsko in Ropotamo Reserve. The temple spans an area of 12 decares. It is a huge circle of rocks laid out on the stony surface. Large boulders, some of which 9 meters high, were partially processed by human hand and arranged in amazing shapes. The site was a place of worship by the ancient Thracians. Here they brought gifts for the gods and gradually turned it into a temple. Over the years they built houses for the priests who maintained it. The calendar of the ancient Thracians discovered in the temple is in fact carved holes in the rock surface over which the rays of the sun travel during solstice and illuminate them. The clock, dividing the day into 6 parts, is also made of stones. The round stones are so masterfully arranged that the shadow cast by the main altar falls on the six smaller stones north of it.

Old Sozopol

Sozopol is one of the oldest towns on Bulgarian land. It was established 6 centuries BC by Greek colonists. The history of the town spans 2,600 years, leaving a remarkable imprint on its current appearance. There are ample historical and cultural attractions in the town.

Today Sozopol is divided into Old Town and New Town. The old part still embodies the spirit of bygone eras with its small wooden houses stretching their eaves over curving cobblestone alleys. Small restaurants perch on the coastal cliffs of its Old Town and offer a magnificent view of three islands. In its narrow streets tourists can buy authentic Bulgarian goods – knitwear, leather goods, and even have their portraits drawn by an artist.

The Old Sozopol has preserved many marks of its ancient history. The local archaeological museum boasts a unique collection of rare Greek vessels from 4th century BC and a collection of 120 intact amphorae. The museum is housed in the building of St. Cyril and Methodius Church. The museum's exhibits are grouped into two exposures - Archaeology (5th century BC – 7th century AC) and Christian Art (17th – 19th century).

The Old Sozopol still holds parts of fortification walls, temples, St. Bogoroditsa Church from 7th century and many wooden houses from the period of the Revival, typical representatives of the Bulgarian Black Sea-type of house.

Pomorie Tomb

The ancient domed tomb Heron is located close to the entrance of the town of Pomorie. It was built under a raised mound in the area of Palekastro. It dates back to 2nd – 4th century AD and it was most likely a mausoleum-tomb of a rich Anhialo family where religious rituals were held.

The tomb was discovered in 1888 and is the largest tomb ever found in Bulgaria. The unique ancient monument consists of a circular chamber with diameter 11.6 m and height 5.5 m, and a corridor 22 m long, 1.7 m wide and 2.4 m high.

The tomb was built with stone and bricks cemented with mortar. There are traces of plaster and paint, suggesting that there were drawings in the central chamber. The central column is of particular interest as it is hollow, expanding like a mushroom and merging with the circular wall. There are five niches along the surrounding wall which are believed to have held urns with the ashes of the deceased.

LANDMARKS AND RESERVES

The Black Sea region abounds in natural and cultural landmarks and many sightseeing excursions can be organized to diversify a summer holiday.

Ropotamo Reserve

Ropotamo Reserve is located 50 km south of Burgas and covers large areas along the Ropotamo River. There are five tourist and five specialized routes developed on its territory suitable for hiking, children outings, cycling, photo safari, and hiking for people with special needs. In the park guides are available in order to help explore the most beautiful and remote places.

Kamchia Reserve

Kamchia Reserve covers a beautiful area situated 25 km south of Varna. This is where the river flows into the sea and where some of the most beautiful dense forests are located. Some of the activities to enjoy in the region include a boat or pedalo ride in the placid waters of the river.

Pobiti Kamani (Standing Stones) are rock formations near Varna located about 18-20 km west of the town, by the road to Sofia. The phenomenon covers a rather large area and the formations can be divided into several groups. The stone blocks are shaped like columns standing upright on the ground, creating the illusion that they have been positioned carefully in order to stand upright, hence their name. Their heights vary and can reach up to 5 meters, with diameters between 30 cm and 3 m.

Bird-watching

The Bulgarian Black Sea coast is one of the best bird watching locations in Europe because parts of it lie along migratory bird route Via Pontica. To the north, on Cape Kaliakra many species can be observed, such as the European shag, the rock-thrush, the calandra lark and other rare species.

To the north of Cape Kaliakra there are two wetland zones – Bolata and Taukliman (the “Bird Bay”), - where waterfowl nest - the little bittern, the little grebe, ducks. One of the most popular sites in Bulgaria for watching of rare and interesting types of birds is in the vicinity of the city of Burgas – the lakes Atanas, Mandra, Burgas and Pomorie. In the area of Poda near Burgas is one of most visited bird watching sites with 226 types of birds, predominantly waterfowl.

To the south, in Ropotamo Reserve and swamp Alepy there are also some interesting species to see – the tawny pipit, the little ringed plover, the semi-collared flycatcher, the short-toed tree-creeper, the middle spotted woodpecker and others.
