

BUYING USED EQUIPMENT

Kanata Seniors' Centre Camera Club Presentation

Friday, January 8, 2021

9:30 – 10:30 a.m.

GUIDING QUESTIONS

1. Why consider used equipment?
2. Where to look?
3. What to look for?
4. What to look out for?
5. How to determine a price?
6. Q&A

1. WHY CONSIDER USED EQUIPMENT?

1. WHY CONSIDER USED EQUIPMENT?

Pros (+)

- ✓ Considerably less expensive than new
- ✓ Wide range of sources
- ✓ Availability (both old and newer equipment)
- ✓ Many photographers take excellent care of photo equipment and some equipment has been rarely used
- ✓ Opportunities to explore new photographic techniques at an affordable cost
- ✓ “Recycling” equipment

Cons (-)

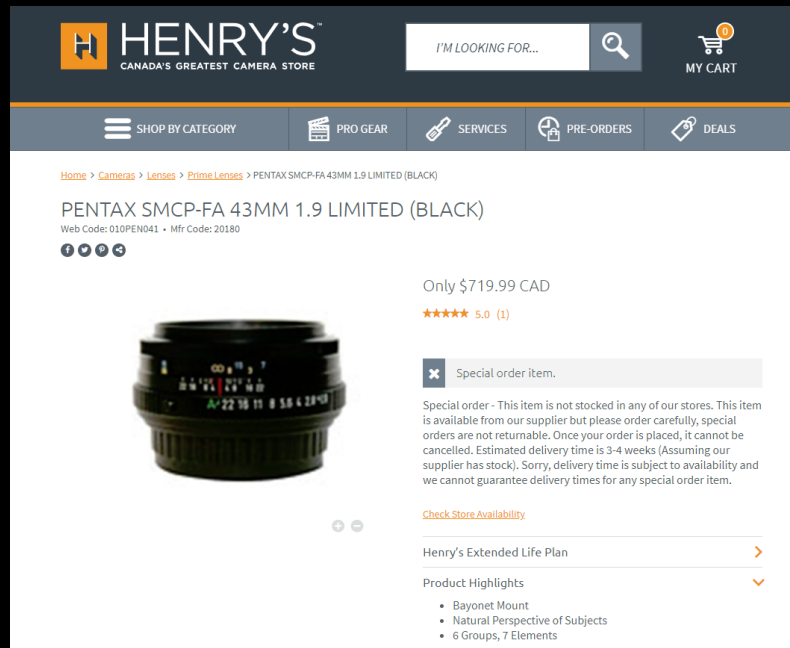

- ✓ Hidden faults and defects
- ✓ No warranty (e.g., expired, non transferable and “grey market”)
- ✓ Unknown history (e.g., abused equipment or stolen items)
- ✓ Fraudulent online sellers

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

Are you OK with used equipment?

- ✓ Personality type (equipment with possible flaws)
- ✓ Risk (lack of warranties and “grey market” equipment)
- ✓ Time factors (research and patience)
- ✓ Not all used equipment is a great deal
[for example, brand name lenses (Pentax, Nikon, Canon, etc.) tend to hold their resale value and the used cost may not be that different than new; third party lenses (Sigma, Tamron, etc.) do not hold their value as well and are usually a better deal.]

2. WHERE TO LOOK?

Henry's: www.henrys.com

The screenshot shows the Henry's website interface. At the top, the browser address bar displays 'Henry's (Cranbrook Glen Enterprises Limited) [CA] | https://www.henrys.com'. The navigation bar includes 'STORE LOCATIONS', 'FREE SHIPPING ON ORDERS OVER $99* Learn More', 'CUSTOMER CARE', and 'LOG IN'. The main header features the Henry's logo, a search bar with the text 'I'M LOOKING FOR...', and a 'MY CART' icon with a '0' badge. Below the header is a secondary navigation bar with 'SHOP BY CATEGORY', 'PRO GEAR', 'SERVICES', 'PRE-ORDERS', and 'DEALS'. The main content area is dominated by a banner for 'WIDE-ANGLE LENSES SAVE UP TO $940' with a 'RED LINE SALES EVENT' badge. A 'Used' dropdown menu is open, listing various camera categories and their 'Shop All' links. The background of the banner shows several Canon lenses against a landscape with mountains and a rainbow.

Professionals know and understand that it's the glass – the camera lens that is largely responsible for the quality of the image. Having a quiver of quality lenses to choose from, including primes, telephotos and wide-angle lenses, is the goal of every serious image maker.

3. WHAT TO LOOK FOR?

WHAT TO LOOK FOR?

EXAMPLE OF A USED LENS (whenever possible, bring your camera and take time to check a lens)

1. Appearance:

- ✓ dust particles
- ✓ scratches on glass or barrel
- ✓ fungus/mold (use a flashlight and hold lens at 45° angle, try to get a cross-light in the lens, and check edges of glass)
- ✓ brassing
- ✓ dents
- ✓ rear mounting plate wear (check for screwdriver marks)
- ✓ filter threads (when possible, put on a filter to check)

WHAT TO LOOK FOR?

EXAMPLE OF A USED LENS (whenever possible, bring your camera and take time to check a lens)

2. Optics:

- ✓ focussing
- ✓ aperture clicks
- ✓ oil or misaligned aperture blades (with modern lenses place lens on a camera and use a small aperture and slow shutter speed to inspect aperture blades)

WHAT TO LOOK FOR?

EXAMPLE OF A USED LENS (whenever possible, bring your camera and take time to check a lens)

3. Mechanics:

- ✓ listen for any odd sounds (give lens a gentle shake and listen carefully)
- ✓ check for smooth operation of the focus ring
- ✓ check for any resistance or “hiccups” throughout focusing and zoom ranges
- ✓ check for flex in a zoom lens ...gently!
- ✓ check stabilizer
- ✓ check any switches on lens, such as the MF and AF switch
- ✓ check for aperture clicks on a manual lens and inspect autofocus lenses throughout several apertures and at various focus points
- ✓ check for wear on electronic connectors
- ✓ check for excessive wear and any warping of rear mounting plate

4. WHAT TO LOOK OUT FOR?

WHAT TO LOOK OUT FOR?

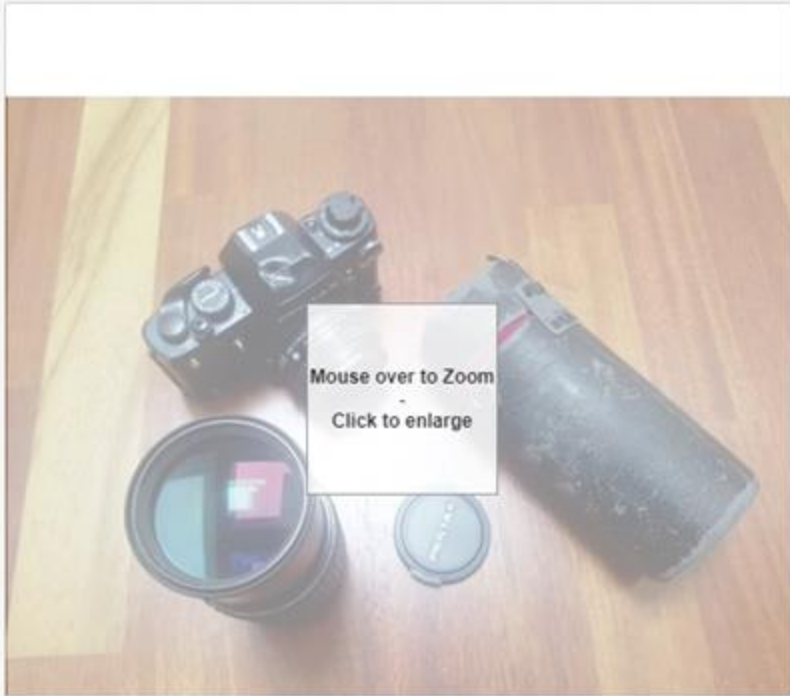

In person

- ✓ Does the seller know the history of the equipment? (Why are they selling? How long have they had the equipment?)
- ✓ Does the seller give you time to check out the equipment (i.e., letting you put a lens on your camera, etc.)?
- ✓ Can the seller provide receipts?
- ✓ Is the seller willing to meet in a public place?
- ✓ Can you pay by e-transfer in the presence of the seller?

Online

- ✓ Does the product description match the images?
- ✓ Are pictures “originals” vs. stock photos from Google images?
- ✓ Does the seller have a high “Seller Rating” in the 96-100% range
- ✓ Is there a return policy? (Ebay and Amazon offer a level of protection to the buyer)
- ✓ Refurbished equipment may have warranty (some “grey market” issues)
- ✓ Protecting yourself by video-taping the unboxing of shipped equipment

5. HOW TO DETERMINE A PRICE?

HOW TO DETERMINE A PRICE?

In person (Kijiji)

- ✓ Check prices of other sellers on Kijiji, Ebay and on brand specific forums with “Equipment for Sale” websites
- ✓ Make an offer based on how much you want/need the equipment and when you might see a similar item for sale in the future (time and patience!)
- ✓ Try to establish a price by making an offer prior to seeing the equipment with a caveat that the equipment must be in the condition indicated in the ad

Online

- ✓ Check prices that other sellers have received for completed sales on Ebay
- ✓ Factor in the cost of any shipping (wide range here!), taxes, and import duties
- ✓ Consider “Canada only” listings
- ✓ Try negotiating, especially with private sellers
- ✓ Original boxes and manuals will command higher cost for the buyer

OTHER CONSIDERATIONS

A note on Kijiji sellers:

You will find a huge range of types of sellers.

Especially with older and vintage equipment, many sellers have inherited unwanted equipment and have absolutely no idea of its current value, and consequently many bargains are available. Frequently, additional equipment is “thrown in” to the sale.

Alternatively, many sellers have a sentimental connection or inflated expectations about their camera equipment and want to sell near worthless equipment at the price they bought the equipment for several decades ago!
