CEO's Report

Fur Harvesters Auction Inc. July 2021 sale had the company finish year 2 in a GLOBAL PANDEMIC in which we sold again using our in house created online auction platform. We finished the year with gross sales almost doubling 2020 which was a profitable year as well. Our efforts to cut back and restructure started taking place a few years prior to the onslaught of the COVID19 virus. This has helped not only allowing us to navigate during the past 2 troublesome years but keep us on very solid financial ground.

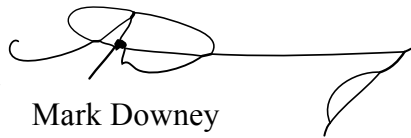

Prices on certain items continue to sell at levels unacceptable to us all. While other items like muskrats, heavy coyotes are in tremendous demand with both reaching strong price levels at almost 100% clearance throughout the season. This trend is expected to carry over into the 2022 season and we encourage trappers to target both these species. Even otter saw steady improvement all year which was a nice surprise. The past several years we have been struggling to sell what was becoming a record quantity of fisher. We set a level in April and sold out completely and in July prices increased and again strong clearances. We are anticipating that sables will have much more interest next season as ranch mink numbers are expected to come in around 12 million globally. This will draw positive attention to a lot of wild fur articles that have been suffering the past several years.

All the fur that we have sold the past 2 years have been cleared and shipped out of the warehouse. Not a single hair was bought for speculators requesting we store purchases here till the market improves. This we have refused to do and will be our solid policy from now on. We cannot store raw product here indefinitely and by selling off certain articles we had in large quantities was necessary. It is our hope the customers that took on these goods do well with them as they will be back. We will however continue to hold firmer on better goods in most species.

Our mandate remains to aggressively market your product to the highest bidder while retaining a solid and financially sound trapper owned AUCTION COMPANY.

Thanks to all that support this auction house and believe in what we stand for.

Respectfully

Mark Downey
Chief Executive Officer
Fur Harvesters Auction Inc.

PAN & BAIT TRIGGERS / TRAP HOLDERS

Cat # 120-P / 220-P

120 & 220 Steel Pan Trigger

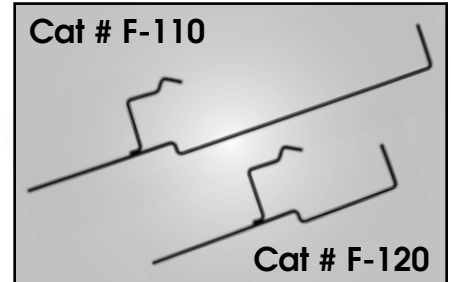

The steel pan trigger is a trigger system by itself. Developed to ensure a consistent double strike in the head-neck and thorax regions of marten/mink by positioning the animal within the trap when it steps on it. To install it, snap the two anchoring lips to the front bottom trap frame and squeeze the lips together with a pair of pliers over the frame just enough to hold.

Cat # 120-V / 220-V

120 & 220 Wooden Van Pans

Invented by FHA's Dave VanExan, these foot pans are a huge seller and a very proficient tool for trapping mink and other species in general.

LIGHTS OUT SNARING

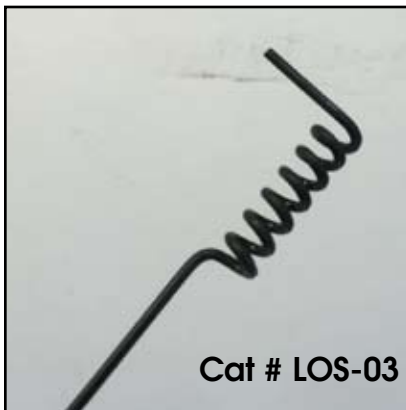

A1 SPRING & TRIGGER COMBO

This combo was created by the need for a lighter trigger release and a simpler way to set the trigger. This trigger can only be set in one position which makes the release more consistent versus other models on the market today. The spring itself is of a high quality stainless steel and returns to its 90 degree shape when released giving you the full force of the spring and maximum cable pull. All of the Lights Out Snaring models will be identified by a stamp on the trigger. A1 is stamped on the back of the trigger and is a simple way to check you have our product. The A1 model was designed for animals from fox to wolverine.

NEW SIGNATURE SERIES COMBO

These springs were designed to help compensate for camlock slippage and also to aid in the quick dispatching of our target animals. Excellent for coyote and wolves. Recommend for use with 5/64" and larger cable. Each spring comes with our patient pending trigger design which allows for easy setting and consistent trigger releases.

COILED SUPPORT WIRES

Lights Out Snaring's tried and true anchor wires are machine coiled to provide precision coils allowing for the cable to be wound through the coils making this your anchor and swivel all in one. This makes for fast setting and resetting. The extra wire on tip of coil can be turned to use a collar support if you choose too. They are fast and furious for any serious trapper. Recommended for use with our Lights Out Snaring brand springs and triggers and our 42" long snare made for these wires. Check store for details. These work great for anchoring body gripping style traps as well.

IMPORTANT TIPS FOR BEST TANNING RESULTS

It is very important that all meat, flesh and fat be removed so that the tanning oils can properly penetrate the skin.

The ears, lips and eyes should be turned and fleshed.

Stretch and dry your pelts properly. Pelts that are salted and dried are acceptable. Do not ship green.

Avoid tanning pelts that may have been stored for extended periods of time in above ideal temperatures, as this could lead to surprise taints or bug damage once the pelt returns from the dressing plant.

Ask yourself if the pelt is worth tanning in the first place. Tanning a coyote infested with mange usually does not have ideal results.

HOW TO PACKAGE YOUR FUR FOR SHIPPING

The first step in processing fur for auction is receiving. When the trucks arrive with bags and bags of fur they are brought to the receiving rooms and opened. This is a lengthy, labor intensive job and it can take days to open and receive just one truck's worth of fur. How much time it takes to open a single bag depends on how well the bag is packed and labeled.

There are many things trappers can do to speed up the receiving of their fur and make it easier on those opening fur bags, not to mention improper packaging can result in pelts being damaged in the shipping process. How much or how many different species you trap will determine how you pack fur into a fur bag.

Let's start with packing a multi species bag:

First into the bag should be beaver stacked fur to fur and leather to leather. Roughly size the beaver as you stack them starting with the largest to the smallest.

Once in the bag you can start to add the other species. Longer skins like foxes, coyotes, wolves, and lynx can be folded behind the head in pairs and stuffed into the bag head first. Otters should have their tails tucked up inside the skin and placed in the bag head first. Smaller species like marten and fisher can be put into the bag individually. When shipping greasy leather out species, like raccoons and mink with fur out species they can be placed inside another bag and then put in with the other fur to protect them from excess oil. If shipping smaller species such as muskrats, weasels, and squirrels you could either tie a string or elastic around them or place them in a bag. Searching around for a missing weasel or squirrel in a pile of marten or foxes is time consuming and frustrating, if they are all in one spot it makes the process much easier.

For those muskrat trappers shipping large amounts of rats and a few mink please place the mink nearest the open end of the bag preferably with a string or elastic around them.

Lastly castor. Place castor in either a small cardboard box or paper bags. Properly dried castor should not leak during shipping, however if your castor is not dried properly could leak through its packaging and ruin the fur of other pelts in the bag. At no time should castor be shipped in plastic bags.

Things not to do:

Never wrap pelts individually in newspaper or paper towels. This just slows down the receiving process and creates unnecessary garbage.

If you have your pelts tied together through the eyes at home please remove the string or wire before placing them in the bag.

Do not ship any fur or castor in plastic bags as it won't allow them to breathe and can create mold and rot.

Never place pelts inside one another as they can be missed during the counting of your fur and not credited to your account.

Leather out species such as otter and raccoons should not be folded as the crease created makes them difficult to deal with throughout the rest of the grading process.

Never roll or fold beaver pelts or place other species between beaver skins.

Now that the fur is in the bag it's time to tie the bag up and fill out the shipping tag. If you are using a preprinted tag with your name, address, and license information on it please ensure it is all correct. On the back of the two part tag fill out the quantity of each species you are shipping on both parts. Tear the tag apart placing the smaller portion of the tag inside the bag. Next tie up the bag by bunching up the end of the bag forming one or two handles, preferably using string and not wire. Please do not sew up the bag like a potato sack or use staples as this is very time consuming for our receivers to undo. Lastly when tying up the bag leave enough string to attach the larger portion of the tag, and you're all set.

Following these few guidelines greatly assists our receivers and ensures your furs arrive in top condition for sale.

IMPORTANT TIPS WHEN SHIPPING FUR!

Pre-printed Receipts

This year, many FHA shippers will receive a pre-printed receipt with their fall mailing. The receipt will have the same information that your pre-printed shipping tag has on it. Name, address, account number and in Ontario, trapping license number. All you need to do is fill in your quantities of your different species and deliver it with your fur to your local pickup location. The driver or authorized receiving agent will sign it and give you back a copy, indicating that he has received your shipment. As usual, your counts will be verified once the shipment arrives at our receiving warehouse. The pre-printed receipts will increase accuracy, and speed up the whole shipping process.

Identifying Your Fur Shipment

Clearly identify your shipment both inside and out with name, address, licence number, postal code and telephone number. If more than one (1) bag is shipped at the same time, mark bags "1 of 5", "2 of 5", etc.

Shipping More Than One Bag

If you have more than one bag, fill in one (1) shipping tag for each bag. The quantities written on the tag should reflect the quantities of pelts in each bag.

Please ensure that your beaver pelts are placed flat in the bag, fur to fur, leather to leather. Try to keep beaver pelts of the same size together. Also ensure that pelts are free of nails or staples.

Your bag should be tied with string. Avoid using staples or wire.

Castoreum should be dried and packaged in a paper bag or cardboard box, never in plastic bags or plastic containers.

Shipping Bags And Tags are supplied by FHA free of charge to FHA shippers and are available at pick-up points. You can also contact your local agent or FHA head office in North Bay.

If fur is being sold under a special account remember to write the account no. on the outside of the shipment and on the shipping cards as well (ie. trapper education).

Any notes, direct deposit applications, etc. enclosed with the shipment should be placed in a small plastic bag and secured to one of the pelts.

For special instructions for processing your fur cheque (ie. if you will be picking it up, etc.) please inform us for each sale (instructions will not be carried forward from one sale to the next).

If you would like to receive our magazine in a different language (french or english) please advise us.

For advances clearly mark an "X" in the box on the back of your shipping card.

We only have a market for red squirrels. We do not accept black squirrels, grey squirrels, flying squirrels or fox squirrels. We do not accept rabbit fur, bear gall bladders, teeth or claws detached from the bear hide.

Bear pelts from any jurisdiction must be complete (head and claws attached to the hide) in order to be sold in Ontario.

ONTARIO SHIPPERS

Do not forget to write your 10 digit trapper licence number: (ex. NB12345678). Please write your 9 digit Hunters Outdoor Card number for skunk, raccoon, fox, coyote or wolf if taken under that licence (ie. 708158 123456789).

Out-of-province shippers, please ensure that fur shipped directly to Ontario is accompanied by an export permit or contact your local agent.

USA SHIPPERS

Please keep CITES species (Otter, Bobcat and Lynx) in a separate bag. All pelts must be correctly tagged with the CITES tag through the pelt and properly sealed. Please inform your agent of ALL CITES ARTICLES when shipping. Packaging them separately from your other goods will make it much easier. Improperly tagged pelts or untagged pelts will be immediately returned to the shipper, or may be subject to seizure.
