HIGHLIGHTS OF CHICAGO

Don't miss out on Chicago's wealth of attractions, adventures and experiences

Recognized the world over as the Windy City, Chicago is a bustling metropolis where architectural innovation, outstanding food and internationally acclaimed entertainment come together. Once the setting for gangsters battling it out during Prohibition, Chicago has emerged from the notoriety associated with the likes of Al Capone to establish itself as a vibrant and multicultural city. Following the Great Chicago Fire in 1871, the city witnessed a building boom that is still a prominent part of its skyline and ethos today. From the Home Insurance Building, the first steel-framed high-rise, to Anish Kapoor's Cloud Gate, Chicago offers an architectural spectacle like no other. With roots deeply entrenched in jazz and blues, the city's festivals, theaters and nightspots offer a variety of entertainment that showcases Chicago's eclectic culture. This ambiance is exemplified by the wonderfully diverse selection of Michelin-starred restaurants and the magnificence of the city's skyline.

CHICAGO BLUES FESTIVAL © CITY OF CHICAGO GRC

CHICAGO BLUES FESTIVAL ANNUALLY IN JUNE

Address: Grant Park, Jackson Boulevard & Columbus Drive
Website: www.chicagofestivals.net

The Chicago Blues Festival remains the largest of the City's music festivals. Taking place over three days across five stages, more than 500,000 blues fans descend on Chicago to celebrate the Blues legends of the past, present and future. Created in 1984 to celebrate musical genius Muddy Waters, the festival has since been graced with stellar performers including Bonnie Raitt, Ray Charles and B.B. King. Whether it's Chuck Berry sharing the stage with Keith Richards or John Lee Hooker singing 'Boogie Chillen', if you're in Chicago in mid June the Blues Festival is not to be missed.

Style / ambiance: With an entirely self-taught chef of the same name at the helm, Charlie Trotter's is regarded as one of the finest restaurants in the world. The recipient of countless awards including two Michelin stars and a member of Traditions et Qualité, Charlie Trotter's is a must for any visitor to Chicago. Producing three daily tasting menus: the Grand Menu, the Vegetable Menu and the Kitchen Menu, Chef Trotter works upon the principle that each course lays the foundation for the next; a progression of petite courses culminating in one remarkably unified taste phenomenon.

The Chicago Architecture Foundation was created following the efforts of community members to save H. H. Richardson's architectural masterpiece, the Glessner House, from demolition. The non-profit organization now runs nearly 90 different tours by boat, bus or on foot. Private tours can be organized on request, covering everything from modern skyscrapers, to historic downtown, to neighborhood tours. The foundation also organizes Appetite for Design programs, whereby visitors can experience the culinary and architectural delights of some of Chicago's top restaurants.

Soldier Field is a renowned city and sporting landmark and it can now be hired out for an exclusive one-of-a-kind experience. Eighteen guests will have the chance to battle it out at this legendary ground, with 1985 World Champions Steve McMichael and MVP Richard Dent acting as coaches. Heading first to the professional locker room, where each guest will have a locker complete with custom-engraved nameplate, a spirited pep talk will be given by the day's coaches. Then dressed in personalized football jerseys, the team will run out onto the field through the dense fog curtain and fireworks. The unforgettable game of flag football comes complete with a half-time show, closing firework display, and a whole host of added extras including a gourmet 'championship' meal. Costing around $165,000 this is a truly unique experience afforded only to the Elite Traveler.

Since the 1920s, no other Chicago hotel has inspired more legendary acclaim than The Drake. As the eras passed, this Italian Renaissance-style hotel solidified its reputation as a Chicago original; the first hotel in the city to provide air conditioning and color televisions in all guest rooms, it has constantly been at the forefront of luxury. Refusing to compromise on their high standards, The Drake became the only hotel in Chicago to retain elevator operators, and to spurn ice machines until the quality became comparable to handmade cubes. With such a relentless dedication to maintaining luxury at any cost, The Drake provides its guests with a level of prestige and refinement which is often hard to find. In addition, health conscious elite travelers will be happy to discover that the Drake is a 100% non-smoking establishment.

For the first 20 years of his career, the Frank Lloyd Wright Home and Studio served as Lloyd Wright's private residence and workplace. Built in 1889 by the then 22 year old Wright, he and his first wife Catherine Tobin raised their six children in the house. Now perceived as one of the greatest architects of the 20th century, Wright's residence has become a magnet for architectural enthusiasts. In the studio, Frank Lloyd Wright and his associates developed a new American architecture – the Prairie Style – and designed some 125 structures, including Robie House, a building renowned as a forerunner of architectural modernism. Following a careful restoration, the building appears as it did in 1909, the last year that Wright lived and worked in the home and studio. Access to the restored home and studio is by guided tour only; private tours can be arranged outside of published hours of operation on request. Robie House also offers a private Twilight Tour and Reception package.

Watching a Chicago Cubs baseball game is as much about the venue as it is the play. Being the second oldest major league ballpark in America, Wrigley Field is famous for its ivy covered outfield wall, the iconic red marquee over the main entrance, and the hand-turned scoreboard. The best views on game day are from Wrigley Field's exclusive Mezzanine Suites or from Batter's Eye located in centerfield. All suites come with a variety of catering options and a whole host of other exclusive amenities, so you can enjoy the game in style. A visit to the home of the Chicago Cubs can be made extra special by enjoying the Wrigley Field Experience, during which one lucky group can take a VIP tour of the stadium, enjoy exclusive access to private areas and spend time playing softball on the famous field. Cubs games run intermittently from the start of April to the end of September.

WHAT TO DO ➤ SHOPPING

With a dedication to eclectic, unique and quality fashion, Chicago's sartorial offerings provide the elite traveler with an array of shops, department stores, boutiques and malls impressive enough to rival some of the most well known fashion cities in the world. Whether you are pacing the sidewalks of Michigan Avenue, sifting through some truly unique vintage clothing in one of the city's many boutiques, or wandering among the floors of Chicago's fantastic malls, the Windy City has it all.

BEST SHOPPING AREAS/DISTRICTS

Shopping in Chicago means a trip to the city's heart, North Michigan Avenue or, as it is more affectionately known the 'Magnificent Mile'. Some of the biggest department stores in the world call this street home; the likes of Neiman Marcus, Saks Fifth Avenue, Nordstrom and Bloomingdale's sit beside hundreds of specialty shops, boutiques and high-rise malls. If you make it down to the Oak Street end of North Michigan Avenue you'll find the designer label stores and boutiques such as Hermès, Mulberry and Prada.

It is also well worth taking a trip to State Street, Chicago's original go-to shopping district. By World War I, seven of the largest department stores in the world were situated here; it is worth a visit for the architecture alone.

NEED TO KNOW USEFUL INFORMATION

WHEN BEST TO GO

We recommend visiting Chicago during the summer when there are plenty of outdoor festivals, concerts and activities. For a quieter time, visit during the fall when the weather is cooler and tourist attractions are less crowded.

LOCAL CUSTOMS

Smoking is banned in public places in Chicago, and smokers must stand at least 15 feet from entrances, exits and open windows. Twenty-one is the legal drinking age in the city; photo ID is required to buy and consume alcohol and it is illegal to drink in the street. As in most US states, tipping between 10-20% is strongly advised at bars, restaurants, hotels, when paying cab drivers and receiving many other services.

ATTIRE

In the summer months temperatures can reach the high 20s so it is advisable to wear a hat and use sunscreen. In the winter months it can get extremely cold in Chicago, so a winter coat, hat, scarf and gloves are essential.
