Three women orchestrate a heist after their criminal husbands die in an explosives accident.

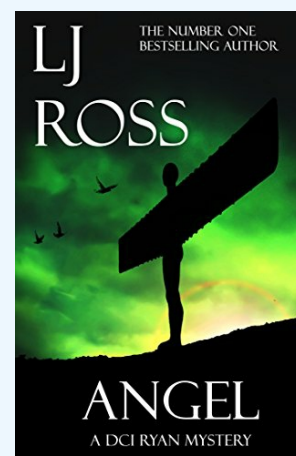

A thriller that re-tells Shakspeare's Macbeth for a modern audience, set in an imaginary Fife during the 1970s.

The story of HMS Erebus, pioneer of both polar regions. This lively account reveals much about both exploration and the Royal Navy in the 19th century.

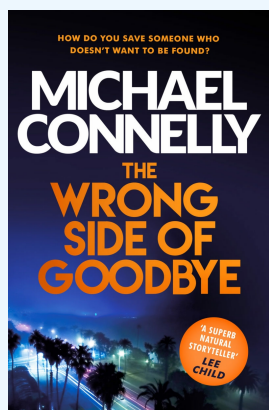

Award-winning novel, described as "deeply political, just as it's also a novel about love and about how difficult it is to speak and how difficult it is to change".

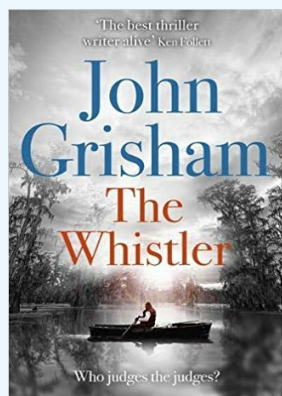

Another DC Ryan mystery by a hugely-successful North East writer whose novels are all based in our area.

CRIME AND THRILLER SELECTION

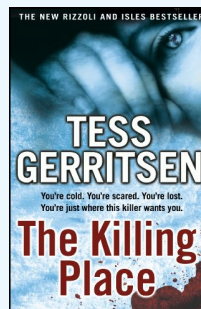

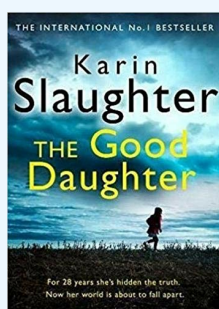

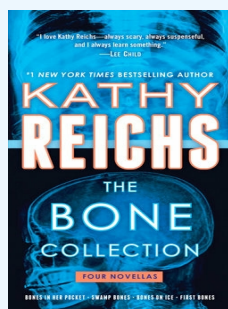

A reclusive billionaire searches for a long lost Mexican girl with whom he had a baby.

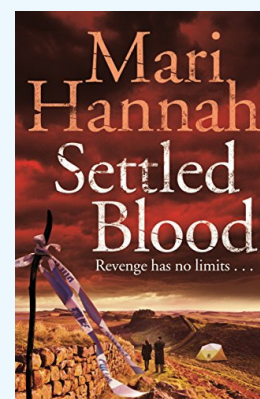

A small Native American tribe in Florida starts a casino in their reservation, giving unprecedented affluence and compensation for their sufferings during the centuries of European settlement, but also opening wide the potential for corruption and involvement with organised crime, including murder.
