Recent Awards and Praise

“It seemed like all the grownups in America despised comic books, but Baron didn’t care what people thought then, and he doesn’t care now. He’s always viewed comics as a valuable tool for ‘communicating history, and the history of people through art as well as words,’ he says today, as he approaches his 82nd birthday. At a time when most of his contemporaries are long retired, Baron’s Golden-based Fulcrum Publishing is enjoying a second, even third wind — as the creator of educational comics. Getting kids to read? That’s a job for a superhero”

—Denver Westword

Strange Fruit

“Still more thoughtful reflections come from Joel Christian Gill’s graphic novel Strange Fruit: Uncelebrated Narratives from Black History, which unpacks its power through drawings and pointed text that chronicle the trials and triumphs of black Americans who struggled against prejudice more than a century ago. At a moment when racial inequities have ignited this nation, Mr. Gill offers direction for the road ahead from the road behind.”

—The New York Times

Life in New York

“The prolific author and playwright Laura Pedersen parcels her stream of consciousness into wily and witty essays in Life in New York: How I Learned to Love Squeegee Men, Token Suckers, Trash Twisters and Subway Sharks (Fulcrum).”

What Every American Should Know About the Energy Revolution

Bill Ritter, Jr.

*Written in partnership with the Center
for a New Energy Economy*

A historic energy revolution is underway in the United States. Wind, sunlight, and other sustainable resources are now the fastest growing sources of energy in the U.S. and worldwide. American families are installing power plants on their roofs and entire communities are switching to 100 percent-renewable energy. The urgent need to prevent climate change is causing people around the planet to question their reliance on carbon-intensive oil, coal, and natural gas. Author Bill Ritter Jr., the 41st governor of Colorado and one of America's key thought leaders on this topic, discusses the forces behind the energy revolution, the new ways we must think about energy, and the future of fossil and renewable fuels. It is an essential read for any who want to understand one of history's biggest challenges to peace, prosperity, and security in the United States.

Bill Ritter was elected Colorado's 41st governor in 2006, and during his four-year term, Ritter established Colorado as a national and international leader in clean energy, by building a new energy economy. He is the founder and director of the Center for the New Energy Economy (CNEE) at Colorado State University and lives in Denver with his wife and four children.

Life in New York

How I Learned to Love Squeegee Men, Token Suckers, Trash Twisters, and Subway Sharks

Laura Pedersen

"For longtime New Yorkers who remember Times Square before the Disney invasion, Life in New York is a very funny walk down memory lane."

—Woman Around Town

New Yorkers are as diverse as the city they so colorfully inhabit, cautious but generous, brash but welcoming. Both are captured through the comedic eye of Laura Pedersen. The author of bestseller Play Money, Pedersen serves up a hilarious memoir about three decades of city life. Pedersen experiences her adopted city in the best and worst of times while becoming the youngest person to have a seat on the stock exchange, performing stand-up comedy, and writing a column in The New York Times.

Enjoy an uproarious romp through the past as the city emerges as the modern metropolis we know today.

Laura Pedersen is a former New York Times columnist, the author of fifteen books including the award-winning humorous memoir Buffalo Gal, and a playwright. She has appeared on Oprah and David Letterman, performed stand-up at the Improv, and writes for several well-known comedians. Her award-winning play The Brightness of Heaven ran at New York's Cherry Lane Theatre in 2014. More information is available at www.LauraPedersenBooks.com.

Brothers of the Buffalo

A Novel of the Red River War
 Joseph Bruchac

An internationally acclaimed Native American storyteller and writer explores the battles of the Red River War from the perspective of both a U.S. cavalryman and a Cheyenne warrior. In 1874, the U.S. Army sent troops to subdue and move the Native Americans of the southern plains to Indian reservations and this young adult novel chronicles the brief and brutal war that followed. Told from the viewpoint of two youths from opposite sides of the fight, Brothers of the Buffalo portrays the events surrounding this conflict in the Wild West.

Joseph Bruchac, coauthor of the lauded Keepers of the Earth series, is a nationally acclaimed Native American storyteller and writer who has authored more than 70 books of fiction, nonfiction, and poetry for adults and children. He lives in upstate New York.

Colonial Comics: New England: 1750–1775

Edited by Jason Rodriguez

A massacre in Boston. A tea party. A shot heard around the world. But who was the first casualty of the massacre? How did the tea get to Boston Harbor? What was the Battle of Concord like for a Minute Man?

Colonial Comics: New England, 1750–1775 expands the frame of this infamous period of American History. Unconventional characters come to life including grave-digging medical students, counterfeiters, female playwrights, instigators of civil disobedience, newspaper editors, college students, rum traders, freemen, and slaves. This second volume of the Colonial Comics trilogy is an artful look of what life was like in the Pre-Revolutionary period and illustrates how the Revolutionary spirit spread to the common man and woman, one gorgeous comic story at a time.

Jason Rodriguez is a writer and editor, whose books have been nominated for an Eisner Award and eight Harvey Awards. Jason lives in Arlington, Virginia with his wife and their two dogs, four cats, and a parrot. You can usually find him on a street corner, staring out into the future. Telling Your Story

Preserve Your History Through Storytelling

Jerry Apps

Jerry Apps, renowned author and veteran storyteller, believes that storytelling is the key to maintaining our humanity, fostering connection, and preserving our common history. In Telling Your Story, he offers tips for people who are interested in telling their own stories. Readers will learn how Jerry Apps weaves together his stories, and gain valuable tips on how to turn their experiences into cherished tales. Along the way, readers will learn about the value of storytelling and how this skill ties generations together, preserves local history, and much more.

Jerry Apps writes novels and nonfiction about the outdoors, country life, and rural living for adults and children. He was elected a Fellow in the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences Arts and Letters in 2012 and received the 2008 First Place Nature Writing Award from the Midwest Independent Publishers Association and the 2007 Major Achievement Award from the Council for Wisconsin Writers. Jerry has taught storytelling workshops and classes for more than thirty years for the University of Wisconsin–Madison, The Clearing in Door County, and many other venues. Rich People Behaving Badly

Dick Kreck

Public respectability does not always translate into tidy private lives, and our interest in the bad behavior of the rich and famous will never be satisfied. Former Denver Post reporter Dick Kreck takes us back in Colorado's history and shows us that the foibles of people—rich or poor—remain the same. Included are socialites such as Louise Sneed Hill, who created and ruled over Denver's "Sacred 36" circle of society; Jane Tomberlin, who met and fell in love with a "prince" in an elevator at the Brown Palace Hotel; Irene Nolan, who cavorted late into the night with her family priest; and prominent Denver clubman Courtland Dines, who was wounded during a frolic with two silent-screen stars in his Hollywood apartment.

Rich People Behaving Badly exposes the scandals, murders, infidelities, financial misdeeds, and just plain misbehavior from Colorado's past.

Dick Kreck retired from the Denver Post after thirty-eight years as an editor and columnist. He previously worked at The San Francisco Examiner and the Los Angeles Times. He is the author of six other books, including Murder at the Brown Palace: A True Story of Seduction and Betrayal and Smaldone: The Untold Story of an American Crime Family. He lives in Denver, Colorado.
