VISITING TEAM, FROM BROOKLYN, GREATLY OUTCLASSED.

Barnes, Third Baseman of The All Collegiate team, of Brooklyn, on Route for Dover—Schmehl, of the Stove Works, Proves an Acceptable Substitute—Only Seven Innings Played, in one of which The Home Club Scores Twelve Runs—Interesting Resume of the Games Played to Date, Notes, Etc.

The Dover Base Ball Club defeated the All Collegiate team, of Brooklyn, on Saturday afternoon by a score of 18 to 4. The visitors were greatly outclassed and, besides, were handicapped by the loss of their third baseman, Albert Barnes, who broke his leg on the Brooklyn bridge when on his way to Dover with the team. This accident delayed the team so that they missed the train they had started for and did not arrive in Dover until 4:25 o'clock. As they had no substitutes with them it was necessary to get a third baseman here and Schmehl was secured. He put up a very creditable game and certainly had the support of the "blanchers."

In the first inning the visitors were shut out and the home team made four runs. In the next inning the home players added two to their score and the visitors again failed to score. In the third, however, it looked as if the game was not to be so one-sided after all, for the visitors made two runs and shut out the home team and the visitors' prospects brightened still more when in the fourth inning they added another run to their score. All doubt as to the result of the game was removed, however, when in their half of the fourth the Dover boys chalked up a total of 12 runs, every man making the round of the bases before an out was made. In this inning Munson, M. Rainey and Geiger each made two runs. After this the game was devoid of interest. The visitors added another run to their score in the seventh and then the game was called.

Score by Innings table showing runs, hits, errors for both teams across 9 innings.

The Dover ball tossers go to Warren county to-morrow afternoon to take another fall out of Washington.

Twelve victories, six defeats and two tie games is the record of the Dover Base Ball Club so far this season.

Don't forget the game between the Tigers and the Dover Base Ball Club next Wednesday afternoon. A good game is expected. Both teams are confident of winning the game, or pretend to be, and a good contest is expected.

The Dover Tigers have great hopes of "dumping" the Dover Base Ball Club next Wednesday afternoon. A good game is expected, for the Tigers are no mean ball players, and the Dover club will not be defeated if good playing can prevent it.

All Barnes, third baseman of the All Collegiate team, broke his leg while on the way to Dover with his team on Saturday. The accident happened on the New York end of the Brooklyn bridge. Barnes had just alighted from one car when he was struck by another.

Our "Foreign Citizens." Our "foreign citizens," despite that some of them are taking snap shots with Mausers at our soldier boys, seem to be taking more kindly than before to American goods.

The figures of the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, just issued, indicate that the exports of this fiscal year, which ended last month, will show a larger exportation to Hawaii and the Philippines than ever before and larger to Cuba and Puerto Rico than in any previous year except those in which the reciprocity features of the McKinley law were in operation.

The exports to Cuba in the ten months ending April 30, 1899, were 50 per cent. in excess of the corresponding months of 1898, and more than double those of the same months in the fiscal year 1897. To Puerto Rico the exports are 83 per cent. in excess of the corresponding months of last year, and to Hawaii the exports of the ten months are 57 per cent. in excess of those of 1898.

To the Philippines, despite the continuous war conditions, the exports are three times as much as in the corresponding months of any preceding year. The total exports to Cuba, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines in the full fiscal year which ended June 30, will reach about $30,000,000, against $17,000,000 last year. These figures, of course, do not include any of the supplies sent by the Government for its troops in the islands, nor supplies sent by the Government to the suffering Cubans. It is interesting to note that the exportations to Spain are approaching their normal condition.

The trial of M. M. Crane, a storekeeper of Boonton, on a charge of obstructing Samuel S. Van Huff, of Deckertown, a Deputy State Dairy Inspector, when about to make a test of some butter purchased at Mr. Crane's store a week ago, was to have been held in Pythian Hall on Wednesday, but the case was not called, on account of a defect in the drawing of the complaint. Mr. Crane gave bonds to appear before the Grand Jury. Ex-Governor George T. Werts and Newton S. Kitchel, of Boonton, were on hand to look after Mr. Crane's side of the case, while Judge William I. Lewis, of Paterson, and Senator Lewis Martin, of Sussex county, were present on behalf of the inspector.

THE GAMES.

April 23—Dover vs. Silanys (11 innings) 4 4
May 30—Dover vs. Murray Hill (10 in.) 0 0
The table below gives the numbers of games, the runs, the hits, and the errors made by each player who has taken part in four or more games. This list, however, does not include the latters errors:

RECORD OF PLAYERS. GAMES, RUNS, HITS, ERRORS. Clancy. 20 10 18 14, Crowe. 20 19 18 4, Geiger. 20 19 18 14, M. Rainey. 20 20 17 14, J. Rainey. 19 21 25 8, Lloyd. 17 8 5 1, Stecher. 16 5 11 5, Wilhelm. 14 11 19 7, McCarthy. 7 7 4 7, Munson. 7 8 12 8, Dove. 4 3 3 3

During the season Crowe has pitched 19 games and has struck out 53 men. Stecher has pitched in 9 games and has struck out 37 men.

Perhaps the most remarkable record is that of Lloyd, in centre field. In the seventeen games he has played he has accepted 38 chances, all flies, and he caught 37 of them. Fifteen of these he caught in two games, eight in one and seven in another. The only fly he muffed was in the game at Morris Plains. Most players would not have tried to get this ball, for it was a hard drive and to get it the player had to run backwards down the hill which gives the State Hospital grounds a poor centre and right field.

BASE BALL NOTES.

Twelve runs in one inning is the record for this year. Crowe was too much for the visitors on Saturday.

Newton took a fall out of Little Falls to the tune of 6 to 5 on Saturday afternoon.

Stecher has twice shut out the Washington base ball club and to-morrow he is to do it again.

It is reported that Conolly, catcher of the State Hospital Field Club, has resigned his position.

Schmehl put up an excellent game on Saturday afternoon for one who has had so little practice.

CONSU L. S. LYON'S HOUSE.

The Truth About a Much Advertised Row in Japan.

Ananias is not dead. On the contrary, he is very much alive and in the enjoyment of excellent health. His present abiding place is in Kobe, Japan, and it is from this far-away village that he has sent out his prize conception. The story has gone the rounds of the American newspapers, and some credulous people doubtless believe that a merry war is raging in Kobe between the American Consul and the merchants of that city over the fact that the former has seen fit to change the location of his business offices. The published story was to the following effect: Consul Lyon, believing that "a public office is a private snip," upon his arrival at his post of duty was not content with the beautiful white marble palace in which he found the offices of the consulate located. In addition to the premises being too fine for a simple American, they were too convenient for the persons having business therewith. By moving his offices to an outbuilding in the rear of his private residence, a modest Japanese wickup in the distant suburbs, the Consul could do away with both these objections and put money in his purse. The change was made instantly, and then the trouble commenced. The Japanese local authorities ordered out the town band in full uniform and formed in skirmish line in the vicinity of the wickup. The indignant merchants had the curfew tolled every thirty seconds and met in mass-meeting at the municipal hall, from whence they proceeded in a body to the telegraph station and took turns in firing off thirty-seven wire cables to Admiral Dewey at the rate of $4.99 per word, imploring him to rush the Oregon to Kobe to protect American interests from the outrage perpetrated upon them by the American Consul, who was Aginaldo in disguise.

WOULD NOT BE VICTIMIZED. The facts are that when Consul Lyon arrived at his post at Osaka and Hogo he found the offices of his consulate located in a very ordinary building on the Concession, i. e., that part of the city in which foreigners are allowed to have their business houses. The Concession occupies about as much ground as would be taken up by a dozen ordinary city squares in an American city. The building was rented (not leased) from a person who had it on a sublease from another person, who leased it from the owner. The first party leased it to the second party for a consideration. For a larger consideration the second party sub-leased to a third party, and for a still larger consideration the third party rented a portion of the first floor to Uncle Sam, represented by Consul Lyon, the amount of the last named consideration being sufficient to pay for the whole shooting match and still leave a portion of the first floor and the entire upper story free for the occupancy of some other tenant. This was an exceedingly nice arrangement for the third party, for it allowed him to play on "velvet," which he continued to do until the first and second parties got jealous and notified the third party that after April 1, on which date all bets were to be declared off (the various leases ending), the rates would be raised for all they were worth. As Consul Lyon was playing the limit fixed by Uncle Sam, it behooved him to hustle or draw on his own pile, which latter he very naturally declined to do. So he hustled most effectively, and to the horror and rage of the other parties concerned, succeeded in getting a three years' lease on the finest premises in Kobe, viz., the Shikku mansion, a beautiful and commodious structure erected by a Chinese millionaire in a part of the city immediately adjoining the Concession and about five minutes' walk from the old quarters. This place has been the pride of the city for years, and since the death of the Celestial magnate many envious eyes have been cast longingly toward the palatial building and its beautiful gardens.

DID NOT CONSULT POO BAI.

Consul Lyon made one mistake, however—he failed to ask the permission of the editor of the Daily paper in Kobe, who used the columns of his paper to show the public his displeasure. The public laughed; Consul Lyon said nothing, but continued to saw wood, and one day, to the amazement of Poo Bai, actually moved. Poo Bai foamed at the mouth and filled columns of his paper with unpleasant things about the Consul and his offices, and, falling to hate that gentleman, succeeded in getting a three years' lease on the finest premises in Kobe, viz., the Shikku mansion, a beautiful and commodious structure erected by a Chinese millionaire in a part of the city immediately adjoining the Concession and about five minutes' walk from the old quarters. This place has been the pride of the city for years, and since the death of the Celestial magnate many envious eyes have been cast longingly toward the palatial building and its beautiful gardens.

In the mean time the Consul and his staff are comfortably installed in their handsome quarters and in daily receipt of congratulations from merchants, shippers and visiting Americans, and have yet to receive a single protest from any source whatever. Not a person has been or is being inconvenienced by the change; the United States has a consulate that is a credit to the nation, and everybody is happy. "That is, everybody but Poo Bai, and nobody minds him.—Washington Post.

FREELANDERS IN SESSION.

Supplementary Report of Last Week's Proceedings.
Eagerness of time and space prevented the publication of the sub-stantial report of the proceedings at last week's meeting of the Board of Freelanders.

Chairman Mittinger, of the Finance Committee, reported on the Finance Committee's report, including balance sheet, etc.
Expenditures for the year ending June 30, 1899, were $2,000.00.

Freelander Whitehead stated that the Finance Committee would be ready to report within a week on the Alms House site and his suggestion the board adjourned to meet again on Thursday, July 20.

Freelander Bartley, on being asked to explain, said that the present method of keeping roads in repair was a thoroughly bad one, but that inasmuch as upwards of $4,000 of the $10,000 fund for road repairs had already been expended it was too late to adopt the plan proposed by him.

Freelander Dalmryple moved that the further consideration of the matter be indefinitely postponed and although Freelander Hoegland interposed a suggestion to the effect that the matter be referred to the County Engineer with instructions to prepare some form of specification to be used as a basis for the proposed new plan.

Freelander Kintall, chairman of the Road Committee, reported that bids had been received for the Cook Bridge and Afton State aid road, and recommended that the contract be awarded to Daniels and Stanley for $7,505.15.

Freelander Kintall also stated that these amounts be set aside for road repairs: Morristown, Third Ward, $150; Madison, $100; Pequanno, $100; Jefferson, $100; Rockaway, $250; Roxbury, $250; Hanover, $250; Chatham, $150.

THE GOLDEN MAN. A Fairy Tale Told by Major Enos G. Todd, Goldsboro, Conn.

Literary union, a federation of the department clubs of the university. The paper was in the nature of a dramatization of the Scripture story of Jael and Sisera and was suggested by her study of the drama under Professor Moulton.

Miss Wilkinson showed the first symptoms of literary talent when a very little girl. She composed little poems when she was only 7 or 8 years old, and a poem of hers was published in a Tarrytown paper, The Argus, when she was about 13 and copied into another paper or two.

Hereditary seems to have played the part of fairy godmother in conferring the gift of verse upon Miss Wilkinson, for she comes of a distinctly literary and scholarly family.

Two Necessary Qualities. If one starts on a trip with friends, the great necessity as a means to fruitful pleasure is compatibility of spirit and a constant guard upon thoughtful impulse.

A Story with a Moral.

Dunellen is at odds with the Brunswick Traction Company over a question of issuing transfers for a single fare from Hamfield to Dunellen. Dunellen contends that Secretary Edward Radel of the Brunswick Traction Company, when that company was striving to obtain a franchise in Dunellen a year and a half ago, promised, at a function given by Councilman Wings, at which Representative William D. Daly, of Hudson county, was present, that if granted a franchise passengers would be carried between Hamfield and Dunellen for one fare. Now Dunellen wants Mr. Daly to confirm the fact of this promise.

The people of Dunellen, it strikes the ERA, are in a bad box in this matter if they haven't anything better on which to base their claim than an after dinner promise alleged to have been made by an officer of the Brunswick Traction Company. It should have been "so nominated in the bond."

John S. Gibson, comptroller of the city of Newark, on Saturday of last week received from the North Jersey Street Railway Company a check for $73,940.81, which sum represented five per cent of the gross earnings of the North Jersey system in the city of Newark for the past year, being the amount of compensation to the city for the trolley privileges which the companies represented in the system agreed to pay when the trolley was substituted for horse traction. It's dollars to doughnuts that the North Jersey Street Railway Company did not pay over to Comptroller Gibson the sum of $73,940.81 in pursuance of some promise made by, let us say, by the secretary of the company at some public function.

In a Newark paper we read, in a story of the proceedings of the Montclair Town Council, how "The Clerk was ordered to notify the North Jersey Street Railway Company that the semi-annual payment of $10,000 for franchise privileges was due. This also, it is safe to assert, was not in pursuance of an after dinner promise.

Now there is a moral in the foregoing which we need not point out to the members of the Morris County Board of Freeholders. Nor does the fact that the Dunellen people gained their point in the matter of the disputed transfers, as we have since learned, lessen its force.

The following, from a recent issue of the Jerseyman, is pertinent at this time:

It seems to be taken for granted that at the meeting of the Board of Freeholders next week enough members will be found willing to grant a franchise for electric roads over the county roads in Morris county. In other words, it is believed that men elected to look after the welfare of the county will give away a franchise worth large sums of money if it is deemed advisable to have our roads diverted from their original purpose, and made dangerous to people using them for the purpose for which they were laid out—the passing in vehicles from one place to another. The roads asked for were dedicated more than a hundred years ago as highways forever. They were constructed for a specific purpose and dedicated to that purpose alone. Their construction was paid for by the citizens for whose convenience they were originally built. They have been kept in repair, and all improvements, in the way of bridges, grading and draining, through all these years, paid for by them. Admitting the accommodation to the traveling public, the numerous steps, the minimum danger when compared with steam roads, and everything else that can be urged in favor of electric cars, is there any good reason why the latter should not pay for right of way and be kept apart from the public highways, the same as the former? Throughout the country there is a growing sentiment against giving up the highways to corporations, and a man who votes to give away valuable public property will be held to a strict accountability, and those individuals who now think the electric roads are the consummation of all that is desirable, will be the first to blame the officials when they have reason to change their mind.

Scale Agreed Upon.

The Officers of the American Tin Plate Company and the Wage Committee of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, who have been in conference in Chicago over the question of wages of the tin workers employed by the American Tin Plate Company, have agreed on a scale, which has been signed by the Tin Plate officials and the Amalgamated Association committee. It provides for a straight increase of fifteen per cent, and went into effect July 1. The wage list as adopted is to be the minimum scale for the year ending June 30, 1900. The scale as adopted is based on $4.25 as the selling price of a 100-pound box of coke tin plates. On each ten cent increase in the price per box two per cent advance on the scale as adopted will be paid, while for each ten cent decrease a deduction of two per cent, will be made. Over 20,000 tin plate workers are benefited by the increase. From this it appears that our Phillipsburg contemporary, the Warren News, has been borrowing trouble unnecessarily. At the risk of still more confounding our free trade friends, we append, in conclusion, the following press dispatch taken from the Sun, of Tuesday:

ELWOOD, Ind., July 17.—The American tin plate factory, the largest in the world, resumed work last night, giving employment to 2,000 persons, all of whom received higher wages than under the old scale. The payroll is increased $5,000 a week. The plant is being still further enlarged by the addition of five more mills and thirty tinning shops.

The Whole World Kin.

It takes but a touch of nature to make the whole world kin. This is apropos of sundry news paragraphs which we find in the Hogo Evening News, published in Kobe, Japan. We quote two: "Mr. Sato Yoshio, a third-class Paymaster in the Kumamoto Army Division, was arrested on Tuesday on a charge of having embezzled $3,800,000 belonging to the pay-office in the Division."

"The Post and Telegraph office at Miyazaki was entered during Tuesday night, and the cash and postage stamps in an iron safe were stolen."

"GARRISON, the noted abolitionist," says the Washington Star, "is opposed to the war in the Philippines." How does our esteemed contemporary know this. Has it a special correspondent in the realm of departed spirits? If so, it has the bulge on the rest of the newspaper fraternity.

Rear Admiral Watson.

Samuel S. Lyon, United States Consul at Osaka and Biogo, Japan, in a letter to the Boston Herald writes: "We had the great pleasure of entertaining Admiral Watson at dinner one night last week. Also has had the honor of dining at the home of Mrs. Dr. Abbott's a brother of Dr. Nathan Abbott, formerly pastor of Plymouth Church, New York. Of his little boy, who was born in Japan, Consul Lyon writes: "He will grow and curtsy like any other Japanese and in fact he understands more Japanese than English. The Admiral took quite a notion to him."

The Boston Evening News, of June 5, has this to say about Admiral Watson:

A Washington dispatch says: "Rear Admiral Dewey at Manila meets with general commendation among naval officers. He is one of the Senior Rear Admirals who had not been provided for with a good berth. He is senior to Rear Admiral Schley, which accounts for his selection. Rear Admiral Schley has made application for command of the European squadron when formed, and it is said at the department that it will be given to him."

Rear Admiral Watson comes down from a line of American fighters. He was born in Frankfort, Ky., and was graduated from the Naval Academy in time to get aboard Farragut's flagship and fight all through the Civil War. He served on the flagship until peace was declared. It was Watson, then a young lieutenant, who lashed Farragut to the rigging during the battle of Mobile bay. He is a grandson of John J. Crittenden, who was once Attorney-General of the United States, and who wrote the famous Crittenden Compromise Bill. He is a nephew of General B. Crittenden and Thomas L. Crittenden, who were among the heroes of the Civil War. The Rear Admiral is a high type of American citizen—cool, fearless, quick in judgment. He is tall and slender, with hair prematurely white, and the hands and face of a woman, but he is a prudent and resourceful commander, with the persistence of a bulldog and the courage of a lion. Moreover, he is an earnest Christian, but of the Stonewall Jackson sort. Hard fighting follows his praying. To his sailors he is known as "Able Seaman Johnny," which is considered as great a compliment as could be given him. Watson was married in 1872 to Miss Elizabeth Thornton, a distant connection, and daughter of Judge James Thornton, of San Francisco. The result of this union was eight children, seven of whom are living. The eldest son, John Edward Watson, is an ensign in the Navy."

Rear Admiral Watson attended the performance at the Gymnasium last night in the company of the U. S. Consul and Mrs. Lyon, with whom he had previously dined at the consulate. The Admiral can hardly be described as "tall."

The Retirement of D. J. McDede.

With the retirement of D. J. McDede, chief car inspector at Port Morris, the Morris and Essex Railroad loses one of its ablest and oldest employees. Mr. McDede served with distinction throughout the war of the Rebellion and at the of the war entered the employ of the D. L. and W. R. R. in the Dover car shops shortly after their completion. In June, 1851, he was detailed at Port Morris in charge of the car department at that place, in which position he remained, covering a period of twenty-eight years of continuous service. Mr. McDede was one of the organizers of the Morris and Essex Railroad Employees' Mutual Benefit Association and has occupied the office of vice president and member of the relief committee at Port Morris for the past eleven years. In Stanhope, where Mr. McDede resides, he is held in the highest esteem. His life has been devoted to the elevation and uplifting of the railroad service and he has lived to see the practical realization of his efforts exemplified in the every day railroad life of the present—Railroad Employee.

LEDGEWOOD.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Salmon, of Kansas City, have been spending a few weeks at the home of Mr. Salmon's mother, Mrs. A. D. Salmon. A host of old friends enjoyed seeing him and his wife again. Miss host Oscar Scheer is having a fine patronage this season at the Rock Spring House. The attractions of this hostelry are greatly enjoyed by the summer guests. One of the finest fields of hay gathered in this locality this summer was that housed by Benjamin P. Jackson.

Great numbers of cyclists enjoy spins over the fine roads through our village. Mrs. William Scheer has the Mansion House well filled with boarders for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Force Spencer are entertaining a goodly host of friends from eastern cities at the Mountain View house.

Sunday services are regularly maintained in the church here and are well attended both morning and evening.

At the Hopatcong granite quarries the Salmon Brothers are quite busy. The berry pickers have had a fairly good season.

We see our old neighbor, Clarence S. Brown, has gone into business in Dover. He has our best wishes for success.

LAKE HOPATCONG.

This is the beautiful season of the year at New Jersey's greatest lake attraction. County Clerk and Mrs. Winfield, of Paterson, have erected a unique and charming boat house on the lake shore at Loch Angle. It combines with every comfort remarkable conveniences, while from it the view of the lake and its surroundings are picturesque in the extreme.

Wednesday was a great day for the boats as a very large company came with the St. John's Episcopal Church excursion to Nolan's Point from Dover.

Silver Springs Park is getting to be more and more attractive. Being convenient to the Lackawanna Railroad it is very accessible from the towns along that line.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles N. Soltan are occupying their cheery cottage at Loch Angle. Spending the summer there, also, are Mr. and Mrs. Salmon Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Wesels Ryserson and other friends from Trenton and Philadelphia.

Fishing has been fine at the lake this season and every day the anglers are seen plying their avocation.

Stray Personals.

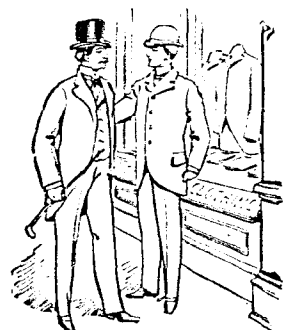

Miss Lizzie Eckhart is spending a week with her cousin, Miss Mamie Riggs, at Milton.

Mrs. O. Sektberg and her daughter Dora then left Dover on Wednesday for a month's visit to Mrs. Sektberg's mother in Rutland, Vermont.

Eugene Smith, of the Orange Journal office, is spending his vacation with his parents in Dover.

Misses Florence E. Newman and Silas A. Layton, of Little Falls, are guests of the Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Maschman, at the Grace M. E. parsonage.

Several Dover employees of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad found that their wages had been cut when they drew their pay for June on Tuesday. These men had been notified that their wages would be cut after July 1, but found that they were cut on their June pay. The cut ranges from $10 to $20. The same thing occurred at Hoboken on Monday and it was explained in the city papers that the shortage was due to a mistake, but the men affected in Dover think it is rather strange that the paymasters should have made the same mistake the very next day.

ALMS HOUSE SITE SELECTED.

The Pierson Farm on the Road to Mt. Freedom, the Place.

The Board of Freeholders at an adjourned meeting on Thursday voted to build the new county house on the Pierson farm, 36 acres of which the county will buy for $4,000. The Pierson farm is on the mountain on the road leading from Morris Plains to Mt. Freedom. Twenty sites for the proposed new alms house had been looked over by the Alms House Committee and it was only after a spirited discussion that the Pierson farm was decided upon, the Alms House Committee being themselves divided, four being in favor of recommending the Pierson farm and three in favor of the Baker farm, in Konvill. The chairman of the committee stated that they had found only one site where there was a gravity supply of water, that being the Hugg farm in Ironia. In all other places it would be necessary to pump the water. The majority had no spring water; in fact, the only ones which have springs upon them are the Pierson, the Hoppler and the Nichols farms. Freeholder Dalrymple moved that the board endorse the action of the committee and select the Pierson farm and this brought on a warm discussion. Freeholder Fancher moved to amend so that the board could vote on both the Pierson and the Baker sites. It was explained that while there was no spring on the part of the Pierson farm that was offered the deed would include the exclusive rights to spring water on adjoining land, which could be forced by a ran into a reservoir. Freeholder Hoagland stated that other properties were cheaper and just as well situated and that he, himself, thought that the Hugg farm of seventy acres, which could be bought for $1,500, was the cheapest, as the water would not have to be pumped. When the vote on Mr. Fancher's amendment was finally taken it was defeated by a vote of 10 to 6. Freeholders Vreeland, Hoagland, Whitlock, Fancher, Bartley, Orr, Spuler and Axford voting for the amendment. As this amendment was defeated, the motion to concur in the decision of the majority of the committee was carried. Previous to this vote Freeholder Dalrymple made a short speech upholding and praising the committee for their work and declaring that they should receive the support of the board because they had been censured by the press for "chasing about the county so long." He said it was "a shame and an outrage" and, if anything, the committee should receive a vote of thanks. Freeholder Troxell said that the lowest price was not always the cheapest, that the Pierson farm was already graded; that there is plenty of water and that it is "near enough and far enough away." After the Pierson farm was decided upon the counsel was directed to investigate the title and report to the board as soon as possible.

Plans by Architect George E. Poole for a building to accommodate 150 inmates were submitted to the board. As it was desired to build the new alms house for the amount received for the old site, i. e. $30,000, it was decided to cut one wing from the plans of the proposed building so that it can be built within the amount stated. The part where this was to have been built is finished rough, so that when additional room is required it can be built. The plans were accepted and the architect was instructed to prepare specifications so that bids can be solicited.

School Plans Adopted. At a meeting of the Board of Education held last night the plans submitted by Paul G. Bottcher for a ten-room brick school building, to be erected on the Baker tract in East Dover, were accepted. Other plans were submitted by J. J. Vreeland, Jr., of this town; Collins Weir and George A. Bowers, of Morristown; F. A. Jaerechky and Henry Baehlin, of Newark, and Karr, Poole & Lum, of New York. The plans are for a ten-room brick building, 58x73 feet. The class rooms, of which there will be five on each floor, will be 21x28 feet and will accommodate forty pupils of the larger grades and fifty-four of the smaller, all to have single desks. The architect proposes to fill the lot 1 1/2 feet all over, and 4 feet about the building, and to so grade the lot that the water will be turned away on all sides. He will dig no cellar, the basement, with a ceiling 8 1/2 feet high, being entirely above ground. In fact the basement floor will be eight inches above ground after the lot has been graded. The plans provide for a modern system of heating and ventilating, so that there will at all times be plenty of pure air. According to Mr. Bottcher's estimate, the cost of the building, including cost of filling and grading, will come within the appropriation. His estimates are based on prices obtained from responsible local builders and they are said to be safe and reliable.

In Quest of a Reservoir Site. Mayor Hoos, the Street and Water Commissioners, the Finance Board and a number of other Jersey City officials visited Boonton on Monday to inspect the site on which the new water reservoir is to be built. After several months' endeavoring to find a solid foundation on which to locate the dam, a site about a quarter of a mile further up the Rockaway River than was originally intended has been found, on which the dam can be built, but the required 70,000 gallons cannot be furnished without the building of another dam, possibly in the Longwood Valley just above Dover. The proposed new site is situated in the vicinity of the recently purchased home for the disabled firemen of the State and almost directly in the rear of that institution. From Boonton the party proceeded to Dover, from whence they drove to Longwood Valley, where they looked over the water sources and the proposed site for the additional dam. No tests have yet been made in the Longwood Valley, Mr. Flynn having not yet decided that the dam there will be necessary. The dam, if built, will block the valley from side to side. Options on property in the Longwood Valley have been secured.

Jury Again Disagreed. The case of the Town of Dover against John Moglia for the alleged violation of a town ordinance to "prevent vice and immorality," etc., was again tried before Police Justice Gage on Monday and again, as in the first trial, the jury disagreed, eight being for conviction and four for acquittal after eight hours' deliberation. The jury was made up of George D. Merritt, John T. Lawrence, W. B. Woodhall, Edward Coleman, Theodore Nixon, David Holman, Henry E. Greenberg, Arthur Goodale, Harry Wickham, Axel G. Buck, Charles McFall and Oscar Poor.

The testimony was along the same lines as the testimony at the previous trial, although several new witnesses were heard. The witnesses called were Marshall Hagan, Charles Rodger, William McDavid, James Gibson, Edward Smith, Joseph Brown and E. M. Seaward. At eight o'clock, after eight hours of more or less spirited discussion, Police Justice Gage discharged the jury. A new trial has been set down for Monday.

Board of Health.

The final meeting of the old Board of Health was held in the Council chamber on Monday evening. As Chairman Peters was absent, Eugene Buchanan was elected chairman pro tem.

Inspector Blake reported one case of contagious disease since his last report, and in making mention of this case stated that he had performed the duties of health inspector, putting up the notice and fumigating the house afterwards, although he had been informed by Town Attorney Ford D. Smith that he was no longer inspector. Mr. Blake further reported that several nuisances complained of had been abated.

Bills of Hummel & Tillyer for $8.70, and C. W. Blake, for $30 were received, referred to the Finance Committee, by them approved and ordered paid. It was then moved that the several members of the board make out bills for their services and adjourn sine die. This was done.

The new board, the members of which, with the exception of Mr. Peters, had been awaiting the adjournment of the old board, convened immediately upon the adjournment of the old board. G. C. Hinchman was first sworn in by Jos. V. Baker, and then the other members of the Board were sworn in by Mr. Hinchman. Eugene Buchanan was elected chairman pro tem, and G. C. Hinchman, clerk pro tem. The Board then organized by the election of Eugene Buchanan as president and G. C. Hinchman as secretary and treasurer.

The application of John G. Taylor for appointment as Inspector of the Board of Health was received and filed. Dr. A. W. Condit then nominated Mr. Taylor for the position and as there was no other nomination the secretary was instructed to cast the ballot.

That Water Problem.

What is to be the solution of the water problem which confronts the people of Dover? It is a question which is uppermost in the minds of a great many of the good citizens of this town. The original contract with the Dover Water Company expired more than a year ago and it has been renewed for short periods at different intervals, the last renewal being for a period of three months. So pressing is the problem that a special meeting of the Common Council will be called immediately upon Mayor Beach's return from the West to take such action as in the Council's collective wisdom may seem best. Meanwhile the Dover Water Company has sunk fourteen wells at Spicertown to an average depth of twenty-five or thirty feet in a sand formation and a number of the wells are flowing, yielding pure water in great abundance. It is planned to install a pump-line station at Spicertown and to run a pipe line through Port Oram to connect with the present system at West Blackwell street, where a "gate" will be placed. From this point the water will be carried, in part, to a reservoir to be constructed on the top of the hill at the upper end of Crystal street. This reservoir is to be a covered reservoir with a capacity of about a quarter million gallons. From this reservoir the highest parts of Dover can be supplied with water at a sufficient pressure for all purposes. It is also stated that the Dover Water Company is not averse to selling its plant to the town—at a pretty stiff price. Whether to buy, build, or again lease from the Dover Water Company is the problem which will have to be solved.

Shall the Site be Changed?

The advisability of changing the site of the proposed "Fourth Ward" school was discussed at a specially called meeting held in the north-side school house on Monday evening. County Superintendent M. L. Cox, who presided, stated the why and the wherefore at length and after a long discussion a committee composed of Alonzo Thorpe, Edward Jouskins and J. W. Bickley was appointed to solicit signatures to a petition requesting the Board of Education to call another school meeting, at which it is proposed to ask the voters of the town to reconsider the action taken at the meeting held in June. Since that meeting, at which it was decided to build on the Baker lot on Richards avenue, it has been learned that a lot opposite the dynamo factory on the Mase property can be secured for $3,500. It is argued by those who advocate a change in the site that it will cost from $2,000 to $3,000 to fill in the Baker lot, and that the expenditure of so much money on the site alone was not contemplated when the sum of $18,000 was voted for building and site together. It may be stated right here that a responsible local contractor stands ready to fill in and properly grade the lot at a cost not to exceed $2,000. However, a motion was adopted to request the Board of Education to submit to a school meeting these propositions: to reconsider the vote by which the Baker lot was selected and to vote again on the question of a site, recommending both the Mase lot and the Berry property, over the canal, which last named site was rejected at the June meeting; to vote on the question of building an eight-room school instead of a ten-room school; to vote to buy a lot for a future school in the Dover, and to vote for a four-room addition to the North Side school building. Petitions embodying the foregoing are now being circulated.

THEY THAT SIT IN DARKNESS

A STORY OF THE AUSTRALIAN NEVER-NEVER BY JOHN MACKIE

"I don't know," said the fellow...

"I'm afraid, old man, it's no use," he whispered to me hurriedly.

"You're leading Jack away to a spare horse they had saddled hard by when North Mackenzie went up to him.

"There is no denying it, Jack looked queer for a second or two when he heard her speak like that.

"That dog always puts me in mind of the British lion."

"I'm very sorry," said the officer in a quiet, cool voice.

"Remember that anything you say now may be used against you."

"Do you think you could prove that it was John Farquharson who was buried?"

"Don't worry, Savile, old man," interrupted Jack.

"For mercy's sake, take me out of this, sergeant."

SCHOOLER'S MOUNTAIN.

On Friday last our community was cast in gloom by the death of Mrs. Hiram Petty. She had been nursing her husband through a very serious illness and he was slowly improving when she was taken. We all feel that we have met with a great loss. She was a loving mother and devoted wife and the first to assist any one in trouble. She is survived by her husband and two sons at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Fred Yawger, of Dover. The funeral was held at the Mountain on Tuesday at ten o'clock, the services being conducted by the Rev. Mr. McHenry, of German Valley. Interment was at Washington. The floral offerings were numerous, among them being a piece from the Bible class, of which she was a member; also one from the Sunday school. Miss Ida Martens and Mrs. Coleman rendered a duet at the funeral service.

Free Scholarships in Practical Design.

A limited number of free scholarships, and a few half-scholarships, have been presented by the "Original School of Industrial Design for Women," 159 West 23d Street, New York City, by prominent men and women. The scholarships are valued at from $50 to $200 each, and will enable the beneficiaries to become professional designers, i. e., PRACTICAL workers in design for wall papers, carpets of all grades, printed drapery silks, brocades, raw silk furniture coverings, book covers, lace, chilles, lawns, dress goods and all textiles, both printed and woven, and thus be self-supporting in this special branch of industry. This incorporated institution was founded in 1880 by Mrs. Florence Elizabeth Cory, who is still its President, and is the only one of its kind in the world. It is the only existing school where women are taught to make practical designs for fabrics where the pattern is brought to the surface by means of the Jacquard loom, and its graduates are now earning hundreds of dollars yearly in the design rooms of factories; as teachers of practical drawing in other schools; or as "independent designers" working at home and selling their patterns when finished to both merchants and manufacturers.

Dutch Gap's Celebration.

"It's all off, boys—the game's up," said Easy Bill as he drew up in front of the only public house in Pot Luck, the store, hotel, saloon and miners' general rendezvous, kept by Captain Johnson. "How's that, Bill?" chorused the group gathered on the long front porch awaiting Bill's arrival and that of the evening stage. "Oh, the Gap's done us up too brown this time," replied Bill, throwing himself slouchwise in the saddle that his pompadour might support to his elbow, "swowed us up tighter 'n a pack!" "You don't mean they've got that big store?" gasped Johnson. "Anything 'cept 'n that!" "That's what they have," said Bill. "Offered $10 more'n we did and hired Jose Pacheco, the only man for 40 miles that knows how to run the mine, to bar-becue it for 'em and the land!" "Don't say they've got the valley hand, Bill," pleaded Johnson. "Cap'n we have the land our Fourth's best high-er'n a kite. I couldn't stand that." "You'll have to stand worse things than that, old man. Why, the valley boys ain't good enough for the Gap. They're goin' to have a band from Frisco, 20 pieces of $150 for the day. Talk about the valley hand! Why, it wouldn't draw a handful of picketers if the woods was full of 'em this Fourth!" "That's the worst deal they've give us," growled Johnson, as the stage rattled away and the boys got down and 'shook up the town." "I see," said Jose Pacheco, suddenly aroused by the clatter of the stagecoach from his nap on one of Johnson's benches. "I'm a peaceable man, but there's some offenses that calls for a gun play exclusive, and if I'm any judge, fellow citizens, this here's one of 'em. Talk about the valley hand! Why, it wouldn't draw a handful of picketers if the woods was full of 'em this Fourth!"

"What'll I read you this, boys," broke in Johnson, bounding out of his office with a letter in his hand. "Behn chairman of the Fourth of July committee, I took the liberty to open it for you."

"The Honorable Chairman and Members of the Fourth of July Committee and Fellow Citizens of Pot Luck in General, Greeting: 'Surrender that you don't intend to celebrate this year and know the patriotic sentiments of your citizens who stand in cordial invitation to come down and picnic with us. THE FOURTH OF JULY COMMITTEE OF POT LUCK.'"

"Don't trouble yourselves to bring lunch baskets; we'll have good music and plenty to eat and drink, and it won't cost you a cent."

"Now then, that's a polite invitation enough," said Johnson, with a wink at Easy Bill. "What's the matter with 'cept 'n it?"

"Cap'n it!" roared Ike. "I never felt more like smother a friend than I do like pluggin you this minute, Johnson, fer swallowin an insult like that. Come on, fellows. I'm a peaceable citizen, but I'm goin' down to interpose this Fourth of July committee at the Gap, and if there's a man in Pot Luck that packs a gun and won't foller me he's a coward, and I can llok him."

"Oh, hold on, Ike," said Johnson; "don't be gull of half cooked as you're always doin'. This here invitation's all a josh, nothing but a bluff. They don't mean a word of it if any more'n they expect us to 'cept 'n it. But lок a-her, boys. Can't you see they've dealt us the very cards we need to beat 'em at their own game? What's the matter with our 'cept 'n this invite and ruin the biggest crowd Pot Luck ever seen at the Gap, and the music and wigwags all their eatables and drinkables off the face of the yearth?"

"Cap'n Johnson's dignity as postmaster and justice of the peace of Pot Luck, never known to be ruffled before, proved unequal to the strain of so extraordinary an occasion. He fairly screamed out the final words, emphasizing them with a swipe of his big fat hand across the top of a bench, illustrative of the clean sweep he proposed making of the vipers of the luckless picketers at the Gap. His masterly diplomacy was at once recognized by shouts and cheers of approval in which the wicker of Ike Bledsoe and Easy Bill sounded loudest and longest. Pot Luck was ready to act as one man. Johnson's strategy, Bill's executive ability and Ike's oratory had been the brilliant features of How the Princeton Students Celebrated in 1881.

The following extract from an old letter gives an account of the last celebration of the Fourth at Princeton college: No. 4, West College, Princeton, July 19, 1881. DEAR J.— Glad to hear you will spend so pleasant a 4th of July. Some account of our proceedings here may prove interesting. 3 weeks ago at a called meeting of the students it was unanimously decided that there should be an illumination, etc., on the evening of the 4th. A committee was appointed to mark the devices on the windows and collect money for the fireworks, etc. The figure marked on all the first story windows of East and West colleges was an hour-glass, requiring 60 candles for each window. The figures for the 2d and 4th stories and all the back windows of the old North were much more intricate and beautiful. In the third story of one college the upper-story persons of VISITING TEAM, FROM BROOKLYN, GREATLY OUTCLASSED.

Barnes, Third Baseman of The All Collegiates, breaks a leg on Route for Dover—Schmehl, of the Stove Works, proves an acceptable substitute—Only Seven Innings Played, in one of Which The Home Club Scores Twelve Runs—Interesting Resume of the Games Played to Date, Notes, Etc.

The Dover Base Ball Club defeated the All Collegiate team, of Brooklyn, on Saturday afternoon by a score of 18 to 4. The visitors were greatly outclassed and, besides, were handicapped by the loss of their third baseman, Albert Barnes, who broke his leg on the Brooklyn bridge when on his way to Dover with the team. This accident delayed the team so that they missed the train they had started for and did not arrive in Dover until 4:25 o'clock.

The score follows: DOVER. R. H. PO. A. E. Clancy, 3 b. 2 3 0 1 0 Munson, 2 b. 4 2 1 3 0 M. Rainey, 1 b. 3 2 2 2 0 Crowe, p. 1 0 1 0 1 Geagar, c. 3 2 6 1 1 J. During the season Crowe has pitched 23 games and has struck out 63 men. Stecher has pitched in 9 games and has struck out 37 men. Perhaps the most remarkable record is that of Lloyd, in center field. In the seventeen games he has played he has accepted 38 chances, all hits, and he caught 37 of them. Eight of these he caught in two games, five in one and seven in another. The only fly he muffed was in the game at Morris Plains. Most players would not have tried to get this ball, for it was a hard drive and to get it the player had to run backwards down the hill which gives the State Hospital grounds a poor centre and right field.

CONSUL S. S. LYON'S HOUSE.

The Truth About a Much Advertised Row in Japan.

Ananias is not dead. On the contrary, he is very much alive and in the enjoyment of excellent health. His present abiding place is in Kobe, Japan, and it is from this far-away village that he has sent out his prize conception. The story has gone the rounds of the American newspapers, and some credulous people doubtless believe that a merry war is raging in Kobe between the American Consul and the merchants of that city over the fact that the former has seen fit to change the location of his business offices. The published story was to the following effect: Consul Lyon, believing that "a public office is a private snip," upon his arrival at his post of duty was not content with the beautiful white marble palace in which he found the offices of the consulate located. In addition to the premises being too fine for a simple American, they were too convenient for the persons having business therewith. By moving his offices to an outbuilding in the rear of his private residence, a modest Japanese wickup in the distant suburbs, the Consul could do away with both these objections and put money in his purse. The change was made instantly, and then the trouble commenced. The Japanese local authorities ordered out the town band in full uniform and formed in skirmish line in the vicinity of the wickup. The indignant merchants had the curfew tolled every thirty seconds and met in mass-meeting at the municipal hall, from whence they proceeded in a body to the telegraph station and took turns in firing off thirty-seven word cables to Admiral Dewey at the rate of $4.00 per word, imploring him to rush the Oregon to Kobe to protect American interests from the outrage perpetrated upon them by the American Consul, who was Aguinaldo in disguise.

WOULD NOT BE VICTIMIZED. The facts are that when Consul Lyon arrived at his post at Osaka and Hioogo he found the offices of his consulate located in a very ordinary building on the Concession, i. e., that part of the city in which foreigners are allowed to have their business houses. The Concession occupies about a dozen ground as would be taken up by a mass ordinary city squares in an American city. The building was rented (not leased) from a person who had it on a sublease from another person, who leased it from the owner. The first party leased it to the second party for a consideration. For a larger consideration the second party sub-leased to a third party, and for a still larger consideration the third party rented a portion of the first floor to Uncle Sam, represented by Consul Lyon, the amount of the last named consideration being sufficient to pay for the whole shooting match and still leave a portion of the first floor and the entire upper story free for the occupancy of some other tenant. This was an exceedingly nice arrangement for the third party, for it allowed him to play on "velvet," which he continued to do until the first and second parties got jealous and notified the third party that after April 1, on which date all bets were to be declared off (the various leases ending), the rates would be raised for all they were worth. As Consul Lyon was playing the limit fixed by Uncle Sam, it behooved him to hustle or draw on his own pile, which latter he very naturally declined to do. So he hustled most effectively, and to the horror and rage of the other parties concerned, succeeded in getting a three years' lease on the finest premises in Kobe, viz., the Shikiji mansion, a beautiful and commodious structure erected by a Chinese millionaire in a part of the city immediately adjoining the Concession and about five minutes' walk from the old quarters. This place has been the pride of the city for years, and since the death of the Celestial magnate many envious eyes have been cast longingly toward the palatial building and its beautiful gardens.

CONSUL LYON MADE ONE MISTAKE, however—he failed to ask the permission of the editor of the daily paper in Kobe, who used the columns of his paper to show the public his displeasure. The public laughed; Consul Lyon said nothing, but continued to saw wood, and one day, to the amazement of Foo Bah, actually moved. Foo Bah foamed at the mouth and filled columns of his paper with unpleasant things about the Consul and his offices, and, falling to have that gentleman mobbed by the Kobaites, sent copies to America. He is patiently waiting for the arrival of the Marine Band from Washington to have Consul Lyon tried for manslaughter and condemned to penal servitude for life. In the mean time the Consul and his staff are comfortably installed in their handsome quarters and in daily receipt of congratulations from merchants, shippers and visiting Americans, and have yet to receive a single protest from any source whatever. Not a person has been or is being inconvenienced by the change; the United States has a consulate that is a credit to the nation, and everybody is happy. That is, everybody but Foo Bah, and nobody minds him.—Washington Post.

WOMAN AND HOME.

THE TALENTED AUTHOR OF "THE LADY OF THE FLAG FLOWERS."

Two Necessary Qualities—Duties of Japanese Women—Permission to Introduce—College Girls Who Work Their Way—Her Peculiar Gift.

Miss Florence Wilkinson is a new writer of charming personality. "The Lady of the Flag Flowers" is from her pen.

Although born in Turrytown-on-the-Hudson, Washington Irving's Turrytown, Miss Wilkinson has been a Chicagoan since the World's fair year.

Once upon a time, not very long ago, when a man wished to meet a girl he asked one of her friends to introduce him.

Permission to Introduce. Once upon a time, not very long ago, when a man wished to meet a girl he asked one of her friends to introduce him.

Sometimes the maid has good and sufficient reasons for not wishing to meet the gentleman who is brought up and introduced to her by a mistaken acquaintance.

College Girls Who Work Their Way. A glimpse at a student's bulletin board with the eager group of girls scanning its advertisements affords much insight into the supply and demand that make it possible for the young woman sent in purse, but fertile in invention, to win her degree in spite of adverse circumstances.

Her Peculiar Gift. Miss Sookley Stanton, who died at her home, near Ohio, S. C., was bedridden for 50 years.

Need of Proper Utensils. A common failing women have is a willingness to worry along without proper utensils to do work with.

A Professional Lamp Cleaner. A bright American woman has thought of a novel way of making a living.

Pay For a Spot. Two mothers of large families, says Youth's Companion, were discussing domestic matters one day, and the younger of the two spoke with a sigh of the way in which her tablecloths were spotted through the daily mishaps of her two boys.

Duties of Japanese Women. The chief duty of a Japanese woman all her life is obedience; while unmarried, to her parents; when married, to her husband and his parents; when widowed, to her son.

Two Necessary Qualities. If one starts on a trip with friends, the great necessity as a means to a full pleasure is compatibility of spirit and constant regard upon thoughtful impulses.

When the Sleeper Wakes. A couple of centuries from now, he will probably find somebody has laughed the ten commandments out of existence and proved Moses a visionary old fogey who dreamed he saw a bush burning but not consumed, and that he got a commission from Jehovah to go down into Egypt and bring the poor Israelites out of there because Pharaoh was forcing them to make bricks without straw.

In locomotives, as in speed, America seems to be ahead yet. The old world people seem to understand it too. The Baldwin's, of Philadelphia, have just received a large order from Russia for locomotives and also an order for thirteen consolidated locomotives from Finland, to be ready for delivery in January, 1900.

So the baby of the nations seems to be forging ahead—not in locomotive building alone, but in almost everything else. An American chemist discovered, a week or so ago, that tauric acid would make hardened steel as soft as putty, so you could mould it like bread dough.

Miss Lockheart's LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM No. 6,704] "I cannot express my gratitude to you for the good that Lydia T. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."

"I have taken five bottles of the Compound and two boxes of Liver Pills and feel better in every respect. I had suffered for years with dropsy; the veins in my limbs burst, caused from the pressure of the water. I had the worst kind of kidney trouble, fainting spells, and I could not stand long at a time. I also had female weakness and the doctor said there was a tumor in my left side. The pains I had to stand were something dreadful. A friend handed me a little book of yours, so I got your medicine and it has saved my life. I felt better from the first bottle. The bloating and the tumors have all gone and I do not suffer any pain. I am still using the Vegetable Compound and hope others may find relief as I have done from its use."

MISS N. J. LOCKHEART, BOX 10, ELIZABETH, N. J.

Only the women who have suffered with female troubles can fully appreciate the gratitude of those who have been restored to health.

Mrs. Plakham responds quickly and without charge to all letters from suffering women. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

A Story with a Moral.

Dunellen is at odds with the Brunswick Traction Company over a question of issuing transfers for a single fare from Plainfield to Dunellen.

John S. Gilson, comptroller of the city of Newark, on Saturday last week received from the North Jersey Street Railway Company a check for $73,940.84, which sum represented five per cent. of the gross earnings of the North Jersey system in the city of Newark for the past year.

In a Newark paper we read, in a story of the proceedings of the Montclair Town Council, how "The Clerk was ordered to notify the North Jersey Street Railway Company that the semi-annual payment of $1,000 for franchise privilege was due.

Now there is a moral in the foregoing which we need not point out to the members of the Morris County Board of Freeholders.

The following, from a recent issue of the Jerseyman, is pertinent at this time:

It seems to be taken for granted that at the meeting of the Board of Freeholders next week enough members will be found willing to grant a franchise for electric roads over the county roads in Morris county.

Scale Agreed Upon. The Officers of the American Tin Plate Company and the Wage Committee of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers, who have been in conference in Chicago over the question of wages of the tin workers employed by the American Tin Plate Company, have agreed on a scale, which has been signed by the Tin Plate officials and the Amalgamated Association committee.

The Whole World K'n. It takes but a touch of nature to make the whole world kin. This is apropos of sundry news paragraphs which we find in the Hoga Evening News, published in Kobe, Japan.

"Mr. Sato Yoshito, a third-class passenger in the Kamakura Army Division, was arrested on Tuesday on a charge of having embezzled $3,500 you belonging to the pay-office in the Division."

Rear Admiral Watson.

Samuel S. Lyon, United States Consul at Osaka and Hogo, Japan, in a letter to his brother, former Congressman John A. Lyon, of this town, writes: "We had the great pleasure of entertaining Admiral Watson at dinner one night last week.

"The Hoga Evening News, of June 8, has this essay about Admiral Watson: "Rear Admiral Watson's appointment to succeed Admiral Dewey at Manila meets with general commendation among naval officers.

"Rear Admiral Watson comes down from a line of American fighters. He was born in Frankfort, Ky., and was graduated from the Naval Academy in time to get aboard Farragut's flagship and fight all through the Civil War.

Several Dover employees of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad found that their wages had been cut when they drew their pay for June on Tuesday. These men had been notified that their wages would be cut after July 1, but found that they were cut on their June pay. The cuts range from $10 to $20. The same thing occurred at Hoboken on Monday and it was explained in the city papers that the shortage was due to a mistake, but the men affected in Dover think it is rather strange that the paymasters should have made the same mistake the very next day.

A wreck occurred on Tuesday afternoon on the New York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad, at Butler, in which one man lost his life. The engineer of an eastbound coal train, while passing through Butler, noticed a short distance ahead of him an obstruction on the track in the shape of a small piece of iron. His efforts to stop the train proved fruitless and seeing his danger he jumped and escaped any serious injury, although badly bruised. The engine struck the obstruction and was turned completely over, smashing the engine beyond repair. Fireman James Sheppard, whose home was at Stockholm, was caught in the wreck and killed instantly. A number of coal cars were smashed, and travel on the road was delayed for several hours.

Dover to Have a New Station. Dover is to have a new depot and it is to be a handsome stone structure. Plans have been prepared and estimates have been solicited, the "Lackawanna" Company making a new departure in this regard, all construction work having heretofore been done by the company itself. The location for the proposed depot, it is said, has not yet been definitely determined. It is reported that the Railroad Company will also erect new stone stations at Morris Plains and at Convent.

ALMS HOUSE SITE SELECTED.

The Pierson Farm on the Road to Mt. Freedom, the Place.

The Board of Freeholders at an adjourned meeting on Thursday voted to build the new county house on the Pierson farm, 30 acres of which the county will buy for $4,000. The Pierson farm is on the mountain on the road leading from Morris Plains to Mt. Freedom. Twenty sites for the proposed new alms house had been looked over by the Alms House Committee and it was only after a spirited discussion that the Pierson farm was decided upon, the Alms House Committee being themselves divided, four being in favor of recommending the Pierson farm and three in favor of the Baker farm, in Kenvil. The chairman of the committee stated that they had found only one site where there was a gravity supply of water, that being the Hugg farm in Ironia. In all other places it would be necessary to pump the water. The majority had no spring water; in fact, the only ones which have springs upon them are the Pierson, the Hopper and the Nichols farms. Freeholder Dalrymple moved that the board endorse the action of the committee and select the Pierson farm and this brought on a warm discussion. Freeholder Fancher moved to amend so that the board could vote on both the Pierson and the Baker sites. It was explained that while there was no spring on the part of the Pierson farm that was offered the deed would include the exclusive rights to spring water on adjoining land, which could be forced by a ram into a reservoir. Freeholder Hoagland stated that other properties were cheaper and just as well situated and that he, himself, thought that the Hugg farm of seventy acres, which could be bought for $1,500, was the cheapest, as the water would not have to be pumped. When the vote on Mr. Fancher's amendment was finally taken it was defeated by three votes, Freeholders Vreeland, Hoagland, Whitehead, Fancher, Bartley, Orr, Spuler and Axford voting for the amendment. As this amendment was defeated, the motion to concur in the decision of the majority of the committee was carried. Previous to this vote Freeholder Dalrymple made a short speech upholding and praising the committee for their work and declaring that they should receive the support of the board for "chasing about the county so long."

He said it was a "shame and an outrage" and, if anything, the committee should receive a vote of thanks. Freeholder Troxell said that the lowest price was not always the cheapest; that there is plenty of water and that it is "near enough and far enough away." After the Pierson farm was decided upon the counsel was directed to investigate the title and report to the board as soon as possible. Plans by Architect George E. Poole for a building to accommodate 150 inmates were submitted to the board. As it was desired to build the new alms house for the amount received for the site, i. e. $30,000, it was decided to cut one wing from the plans of the proposed building so that it can be built within the amount stated. The part where this was to have been built is finished rough, so that when additional room is required it can be built. The plans were accepted and the architect was instructed to prepare specifications so that bids can be solicited.

School Plans Adopted. At a meeting of the Board of Education held last night the plans submitted by Paul G. Botticher for a ten-room brick school building, to be erected on the Baker tract in East Dover, were accepted. Other plans were submitted by J. J. Vreeland, Jr., of this town; Collins Weir and George A. Bowers, of Morrisown; F. A. Jaarschky and Henry Baoshlin, of Newark; and Karr, Foote & Lum, of New York. The plans are for a ten-room brick building, 88x74 feet. The class rooms, of which there will be five on each floor, will be 21x28 feet and will accommodate forty pupils of the larger grades and fifty-four of the smaller, all to have single desks. The architect proposes to fill the lot 1 1/2 feet all over, and 4 feet about the building, and to so grade the lot that the water will be turned away on all sides. He will dig no cellar, the basement, with a ceiling 3 1/2 feet high, being entirely above ground. In fact the basement floor will be eight inches above ground after the lot has been graded. The plans provide for a modern system of heating and ventilating, so that there will at all times be plenty of pure air. According to Mr. Botticher's estimate, the cost of the building, including cost of filling and grading, will come within the appropriation. His estimates are based on prices obtained from responsible local builders and they are said to be safe and reliable.

In Quest of a Reservoir Site. Mayor Hoos, the Street and Water Commissioners, the Finance Board and a number of other Jersey City officials visited Bounton on Monday to inspect the site on which the new water reservoir is to be built. After several months' endeavoring to find a solid foundation on which to locate the dam, a site about a quarter of a mile further up the Rockaway River than was originally intended has been found, on which the dam can be built, but the dam cannot be built without the building another dam, possibly in the Longwood Valley just above Dover. The proposed new site is situated in the vicinity of the recently purchased home for the disabled firemen of the State and almost directly in the rear of that institution. From Bounton the party proceeded to Dover, from whence they drove to Longwood Valley, where they looked over the water sources and the proposed site for the additional dam. No tests have yet been made in the Longwood Valley, Mr. Flynn having not yet decided that the dam there will be necessary. The dam, it built, will block the valley from side to side. Options on property in the Longwood Valley have been secured.

Jury Again Disagreed. The case of the Town of Dover against John Moglia for the alleged violation of a town ordinance to "prevent vice and immorality," etc., was again tried before Police Justice Gage on Monday and again, as in the first trial, the jury disagreed, eight being for conviction and four for acquittal, after eight hours' deliberation. The jury was made up of George D. Merritt, John T. Lawrence, W. B. Woodhull, Edward Coleman, Theodore Nixon, David Helman, Henry E. Greenberg, Arthur Goodale, Harry Wickham, Axel G. Buck, Charles McFall and Oscar Pfen.

The testimony was along the same lines, although the witness called were Marshal Hagan, Charles Doderer, William McDavid, James Gibson, Edward Smith, Joseph Brown and B. M. Seating. At eight o'clock, after eight hours of more or less spirited discussion, Police Justice Gage discharged the jury. A new trial has been set down for Monday.

Board of Health.

The final meeting of the old Board of Health was held in the Council chamber on Monday evening. As Chairman Peters was absent, Eugene Buchanan was elected chairman pro tem.

Inspector Blake reported one case of contagious disease since his last report, and in making mention of this case stated that he had performed the duties of health inspector, putting up the notice and fumigating the house afterwards, although he had been informed by Town Attorney Ford D. Smith that he was no longer inspector. Mr. Blake further reported that several nuisances complained of had been abated. Bills of Hummel & Tillyer for $8.70, and C. W. Blake, for $30 were received, referred to the Finance Committee, by them approved and ordered paid. It was then moved that the several members of the board make out bills for their services and adjourn sine die. This was done.

The new board, the members of which, with the exception of Mr. Peters, had been awaiting the adjournment of the old board, convened immediately upon the adjournment of the old board. G. C. Hinchman was first sworn in by Jos. V. Baker, and then the other members of the Board were sworn in by Mr. Hinchman. Eugene Buchanan was elected chairman pro tem, and G. C. Hinchman, clerk pro tem. The Board then organized by the election of Eugene Buchanan as president and G. C. Hinchman as secretary and treasurer.

The application of John G. Taylor for appointment as Inspector of the Board of Health was received and filed. Dr. A. W. Condit then nominated Mr. Taylor for the position and as there was no other nomination the secretary was instructed to cast the ballot. The following bills were received: J. H. Grimm, $6.00; Jos. V. Baker, $3.00; F. H. Bell, $4.00. It was then decided to adjourn until Monday, July 24, which is the date for the regular meeting of the Board of Health.

That Water Problem.

What is to be the solution of the water problem which confronts the people of Dover? It is a question which is uppermost in the minds of a great many of the good citizens of this town. The original contract with the Dover Water Company expired more than a year ago and it has been renewed for short periods at different intervals, the last renewal being for a period of three months. So pressing is the problem that a special meeting of the Common Council will be called immediately upon Mayor Beach's return from the West to take such action as in the Council's collective wisdom may seem best. Meanwhile the Dover Water Company has sunk fourteen wells at Spicertown to an average depth of twenty-five or thirty feet in sand formation and a number of the wells are flowing, yielding pure water in great abundance. It is planned to install a pumping station at Spicertown and to run a pipe line through Port Oran to connect with the present system at West Blackwell street, where a "gate" will be placed. From this point the water will be carried, in part, to a reservoir to be constructed on the top of the hill at the upper end of Chrystal street. This reservoir is to be a covered reservoir with a capacity of about a quarter million gallons. From this reservoir the highest parts of Dover can be supplied with water at a sufficient pressure for all purposes. It is also stated that the Dover Water Company is not averse to selling its plant to the town at a pretty stiff price. Whether to buy, build, or again lease from the Dover Water Company is the problem which will have to be solved.

Shall the Site be Changed?

The advisability of changing the site of the proposed "Fourth Ward" school was discussed at a timely attended meeting held in the north-side school house on Monday evening. County Superintendent M. L. Cox, who presided, stated the whys and wherefores at length and after a long discussion a committee composed of Alonzo Thorpe, Edward Jenkins and J. W. Bickley was appointed to solicit signatures to a petition requesting the Board of Education to call another school meeting, at which it is proposed to ask the voters of the town to reconsider the action taken at the meeting held in June. Since that meeting, at which it was decided to build on the Baker lot on Richards avenue, it has been learned that a lot opposite the dynamo factory on the Mass property can be secured for $3,500. It is argued by those who advocate a change in the site that it will cost from $2,000 to $3,000 to fill in the Baker lot, and that the expenditure of so much money on the site alone was not contemplated when the sum of $18,000 was voted for building and site together. It may be stated right here that a responsible local contractor stands ready to fill in and properly grade the lot at a cost not to exceed $2,000. However, a motion was adopted to request the Board of Education to submit to a school meeting these propositions: to reconsider the vote by which the Baker lot was selected and to vote again on the question of a site, recommending both the Mass lot and the Berry property, over the canal, which last named site was rejected at the June meeting; to vote on the question of building an eight-room school instead of a ten-room school; to vote to buy a lot for a future school in west Dover, and to vote for a four-room addition to the North Side school building. Petitions embodying the foregoing are now being circulated.

Dutch Gap's Celebration.

"It's all off, boys—the game's up," said Easy Bill as he drew up in front of the only public house in Pot Luck, the store, hotel, saloon and miners' general rendezvous, kept by 'Ceptin Johnson.

THE POT LUCKERS HEARD THE ADVANCING MUSIC WITH QUAKING HEARTS.

good enough for the Gap. They're going to have a band from Edison, 20 pieces at $150 for the day. Talk about the valley band! Why, it wouldn't draw a handful of picnickers if the woods was full of 'em this Fourth!

"That's the worst deal they've give us, 'ceptin the picnic May day two year ago," groaned Johnson, as the stage rattled away and he went inside to sort the mail.

"Now then, that's a polite invitation enough," said Johnson, with a wink at Easy Bill. "What's the matter with 'ceptin' it?"

Give the Children a Drink called Grain-O. It is a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee.

many a victory in the bitter rivalry long ago between the two camps. The Pot Luckers were directly into executive session and laid all necessary plans to gather the largest crowd of men ever collected in Pot Luck and march in a body toward the top of the mountain on the Fourth, now to be set away.

The ditch and mine long contemplated by the Pot Luck miners was suddenly found to be an immediate necessity, and word was sent down to the valleys and to neighboring camps that 200 extra men were wanted to begin work upon it July 1. No man wanted to turn but was offered a chance to do light work for his board until after the Fourth, a move which of itself almost doubled the population of the town, the news spreading with such mysterious rapidity that every Weary Watkins within its reach quickly turned his face toward Pot Luck.

This reply had the precise effect intended. It assured the Gapers, who had accepted the invitation so cordially extended to participate in the good time you intend to have on the Fourth, allow us, on behalf of the citizens of Pot Luck, to thank the good people of the Gap for a courtesy which is doubly appreciated on account of our present boom.

"That's just it, dad, and say, the woods is plumb full of men up that way. I never saw such droves of 'em, an' me an' Jake heard 'em talkin' an' they're every one of 'em sayin' they're goin' to the Fourth of July mornin' an' eat a drink up everything in sight, run all the Gapers off the dancin' floor an' off the groun' an' just paralyze us generally. They're the very words they said, ain't they, Jake?"

A great light suddenly flashed upon the mind of Jake Tohmer. Not waiting a moment he flew up the creek toward Pot Luck and came home almost bursting with excitement.

"What's the matter with you, Jake?" asked Johnson. "I'm a peaceable man, but there's some offenses that call for a gun play exclusive, and if I'm any judge, feller citizens, this here's one of 'em."

FOURTH AT COLLEGE.

"The Gapers set to work in earnest. The time was short, but when they lacked in time they made up in energy. The hot July sun had barely pushed his face above the eastern mountains on the morning of the Fourth before the picnic grove at the Gap swarmed with people of both sexes putting the finishing touches to the extra preparations for the day."

The Gapers heard their coming miles away and, forming as many couples as there were lasses on the grounds, went out to meet them with waving banners of welcome and a lively burst of music from their own excellent band of brass instruments.

"To our fellow citizens of Pot Luck, who have honored us so proudly by their presence in such numbers here today, we extend the glad hand of fellowship and welcome. Pitch in, gentlemen of Pot Luck, and enjoy yourselves. Everything on the grounds is yours, and you're as welcome to it as you are to the water that dashes down yonder mountain side or to the balmy air that floats up to us over the trees from the bosom of the broad Pacific."

not a Gaper ate or drank until every Pot Lucker had been served. Then in banners of lemonade the Gap tosted Pot Luck, and Pot Luck tosted the Gap, and Ike Bledsoe, in response to repeated calls, made a speech in acknowledgment of the royal welcome of the Gapers, or tried to make one.

Without stopping their music or breaking the stop of their guests the Gapers "about-faced" and escorted them to the grounds where the ladies were conducted to chairs on the speakers' stand with their own committees, the rank and file to desirable seats under a banner inscribed, "These Seats Reserved For Pot Luckers."

Pitch in, gentlemen of Pot Luck, and enjoy yourselves. Everything on the grounds is yours, and you're as welcome to it as you are to the water that dashes down yonder mountain side or to the balmy air that floats up to us over the trees from the bosom of the broad Pacific."

When the tables were spread, the ladies devoted themselves to their guests, and the Gapers were left to their own devices.
