Columbine Quilters

July/August 2021

I hope that your summer is going well. It's going real fast for me. I have had lots of company and just got back from a trip to Alaska. Lots of fun! Our August meeting will be at the Lions Clubhouse, again. We need to figure out where to go from there, or stay there. With the recent Covid outbreaks, I doubt that our old meeting place will be opening up, anytime soon. Paula has been trying to communicate with them, but so far, it's not looking good. If you can think of any other meeting place, please bring your ideas to the August meeting, or contact Paula or myself. Don't forget to bring back your Quilts of Valor Star Blocks to the next meeting and continue working on the autograph blocks and paint chip sample project.

Hope to see you at the August meeting!

Sally

UFO CHALLENGE

by Nancy Ballantyne

If you haven't been part of the UFO Challenge, think about starting in 2021. To have that list is not an unpleasant, nagging thing, though it is a challenge. I make the list of quilts I want to finish--there are many--and find that the challenge keeps me motivated. If some of that would help you, make your list and get it to me at our next meeting. Keep a copy for yourself. When you show a quilt, let me know it is on your list and I'll check it off and add your name for each quilt you complete to the "pot" for a drawing at the end of the year. the more your name is in the drawing, the better your chance for the prize. Just make your list, keep a copy and give me one. .

Fresh peach muffins

Prep 15 min Cook 20 min Serves 12 Difficulty Easy

These whole-grain muffins are absolutely bursting with chunks of fresh summer peaches, plus a pretty peach wedge crowning each one. Two types of extract lend lots of goodness: vanilla helps to create a peaches-and-cream flavor effect, and almond extract enhances the perception of sweetness though the amount of added sugar is pretty low. Store the muffins in the refrigerator for up to one week, or freeze for two to three months. Either way, warm in the microwave before serving for the best flavor—10 to 15 seconds if refrigerated or 30 to 45 seconds if frozen.

Ingredients

Whole wheat pastry flour 1¾ cup(s)
Sugar 5 Tbsp
Baking powder 2 tsp
Table salt ½ tsp
Low-fat milk ⅔ cup(s)
Canola oil 2 Tbsp
Vanilla extract 2 tsp
Almond extract ½ tsp

Egg(s) 1 large egg(s)

Peach(es) 2 large, halved and pitted

Turbinado sugar 1½ Tbsp

Instructions

1. Preheat oven to 375°F. Line a 12-cup muffin tin with paper liners.
2. In a large bowl, whisk together flour, granulated sugar, baking powder, and salt. In a medium bowl, whisk together milk, oil, extracts, and egg. Add milk mixture to flour mixture and stir just until combined.
3. Cut 12 thin wedges from 1 peach half. Chop remaining peach halves and stir into batter, taking care to not over-stir. Divide batter evenly among muffin cups and sprinkle evenly with turbinado sugar. Top each with 1 peach wedge (trim to fit, if necessary). Bake at 375°F until a wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean, about 20 minutes. Serve warm.
4. Serving size: 1 muffin

Sarah Boone patented her design for the ironing board in 1892. Prior to her invention, most people ironed using a piece of wood placed between two chairs or tables. Boone sought to make the task more efficient and especially help make it easier to iron womens dresses. Similar to modern day ironing boards, her design was a narrow wooden board that had collapsible legs and a padded cover.
