Letter from CEO

Dear Shareholders,

2006-07 has seen your Company take some significant steps on the journey to be among the top IT companies globally. With consolidated revenues of $4.3 billion TCS now stands at global number 11 and on the threshold of the top ten global IT firms. On other parameters like profits, market capitalization and employee strength, your Company is well established in the global top 10. In the 11 Quarters that your Company has been publicly listed, its market capitalization has more than trebled from around $8 billion at the IPO price to $28 billion at the end of March 2007. We have been consistently rewarding our shareholders, not only through dividends paid out every quarter but also through the maiden 1:1 bonus issue made this year.

Our growth rates have also been rising steadily year-on-year since we went public -- from 37% in 2004-05 to 41% this year -- on an ever increasing revenue base. Many strategic initiatives undertaken in the last 18-24 months are bearing fruit. In the process, we are creating an agile and flexible organization able to deliver based on new and innovative business models while scaling up our global capabilities and footprint to take advantage of the strong demand for our services globally. With an eye on the future, we are grooming leadership for the next level - a leadership that is committed to the Tata way of business. Our corporate social responsibility initiatives especially those in the areas of children's education and adult literacy continue to thrive.

As we continue to deepen our links in mature markets and establish a strong presence in emerging markets, we remain confident of pursuing growth rates higher than the industry average, with a keen eye on profitability and new opportunities.

The TCS strategy is being driven by three key differentiators. One is the unique Global Network Delivery Model™ (GNDM™) which is much more than having an India-centric delivery model with near-shore centers. The GNDM™ allows our teams to collaborate on projects, leverage all our assets, work on a follow-the-sun model, if necessary, and above all, through their homogeneity in terms of quality, skills and look-n-feel, give customers the same experience of certainty, irrespective of geography and market.

Another key driver of growth has been our acquisitions. The intent has not been to buy revenues, but to create capabilities that will drive higher levels of synergistic growth. The value being generated by these acquisitions has been tremendous and we have seen only the beginning of the synergistic revenue opportunities. For instance, acquisition of FNS in Australia has given us a world-class core banking product which we have been able to leverage to enter new markets such as China and Latin America.

The power of our GNDM™ as well as our strategic acquisitions is truly unleashed by our integrated full-services play that now captures the entire value chain of IT -- from consulting to products and solutions, and from implementation to support. Five of the twelve large deals of over $50m won by TCS in 2006-07 used more than one service line which shows that an integrated offering has been validated by global customers.

We believe that there is tremendous opportunity for a company like TCS in the global market place and our growth strategy is centered around five objectives:

- Increase market share in established markets like the US, the UK and Europe
- In India, concentrate on projects with scale and complexity -- like the National Stock Exchange, the third-largest global exchange by trading volumes, or mission critical projects like the Ministry of Company Affairs' MCA-21 initiative
- Establish TCS as a leading player in new markets like China, Japan, Latin America as well as the Middle-east and Africa
- Add new offerings to our portfolio such as infrastructure services and new BPO platforms and increase traction for the financial products portfolio in key markets

Having laid a strong foundation, your Company must focus on some broad imperatives so as to become the pre-eminent IT services player globally. Innovation is one such imperative.

Innovation can take many forms, but these must result in better productivity of employees through continuous improvement in processes, systems, methodologies and capabilities, resulting in higher revenues and profits per employee. Our internal focus on operational excellence has seen innovation in the form of extensive digitization, creating real time dashboards which have brought in visible efficiencies, growth and margin enhancements. Increase in the use of automation in software development and reducing the linear increase in manpower by greater use of our own IP to crunch the IT development-to-deployment cycle is another key focus of the innovation efforts.

We continue to remain focused on our customers and their needs. 65% of a Chief Information Officer's budget, for instance, goes into running the business. We believe this can be brought down so that more is available for transformation initiatives. We have built our reputation on absolute delivery excellence and we like nothing better than to help our customers experience certainty when it comes to IT.

The ultimate test of success is probably talent management. The average age of a TCSer is 27. Today's young employees constantly push us hard to meet their global career aspirations and to nurture them into world-class professionals. Your Company is becoming truly global with over 8,000 employees from over 67 nationalities in the TCS fold. The immense professionalism, dedication and support of over 85,000 TCSers globally continues to be your Company's greatest asset.

Your Company's strength in learning and development is also playing a key role in the larger community. Our commitment to education and technology is helping students in India and beyond through outreach programs and community education and health initiatives. We also continue to minimize any impact on the environment and are working with our colleagues to create a greener organization and community.

The revenue potential of the Indian IT industry is estimated to be $60 billion by 2010 and your Company is well poised to take advantage of this opportunity. It has put in place a vertical organization and a global footprint to capitalize on the trend of increasing domain specialization, whilst simultaneously building the global scale required for large end-to-end engagements. We are constantly researching and finding new frontiers for our services - new opportunities through initiatives to create innovative models like platform-based BPO or remote infrastructure management and are building an organization that is geared for growth and ready to claim its rightful place in the world of Information Technology.

Delivering certainty to shareholders

In the 11 quarters since TCS went public in 2004, investors know TCS as a company with strong financial management focused on long-term growth and profitability. TCS has seen consistent growth of earnings and profits in the period, and in the context of our current brand promise, it is helping investors and shareholders' experience certainty in a dynamic market place.

The finance function in TCS acts as the rudder, as the Company proceeds on its journey to the global top 10 by 2010. The journey begins with a rigorous financial planning exercise that aligns the entire organization behind the financial and business goals of the Company.

To drive certainty for financial stakeholders, TCS focuses on operational efficiency through robust, coordinated financial planning and execution across an enterprise which operates in 39 countries. The global organizational structure through branches, subsidiaries or joint ventures has enabled the Company to be flexible, compliant and responsive to the needs of the marketplace. While this does add to the quarterly complexities, it is well managed through an ERP system that gives the finance and leadership team a view on information on parameters like Growth, Profitability and Efficiency right from the Project and Customer account level through to the Country and Industry and Service Practice levels. As the system aims not only to record but also to provide extensive analysis, it leads to consistency of long term performance of the Company as well as transparency. This is achieved by understanding, tracking and managing costs closely and creating a performance oriented culture through appropriate measurement tools that focus on driving value for the customer and the organization. These processes start from certainty in costing at the project level and go through to the business unit level.

To deliver a sophisticated and dynamic costing model at the project level, TCS studied and developed a project-level Activity Based Costing (ABC) linked to the software engineering process and based on a new technique that was being introduced in the manufacturing industry in the early 1990s. The pioneering implementation of an Activity Based Costing process was to measure the cost at the level of Tasks – as defined by our Software Engineering Process. When managing a large project, the Project Leader needs to have a good handle on all the costs being incurred at an Activity Level and to know what is driving these costs. For example, Cost of Quality may be high because the Standard adopted for the Project may have inaccuracies leading to problems during testing. Our ABC system directs the attention of the project leadership to non value adding costs, thus helping in improving the efficiency and also in building an estimation benchmark for each activity.

The successful implementation of this method of tracking costs across the enterprise has enabled Project Leaders not only to know their costs but also to identify levers which could be used to improve the efficiency of activities that are being performed. This in turn has been used to set up benchmarks for efficiency across the organization and helped the Company deliver many landmark turnkey projects globally.

One pillar of building a performance oriented culture has been the ability to extend projects-level assessments to evaluate the performance of Business Units. Projects are the building blocks of this enterprise - not only are they a sub-set of the overall customer account, but also of a part of Regional and Practice balance sheets. This required us to expand the system to create a multi-dimensional picture. Project data became the essential building block for assessing customer profitability, regional profitability, and practice profitability.

In turn, this ability to analyze the efficiency of the Company, project by project, helped us introduce a variable program based on the Economic-Value Add concept (EVA) in the late 1990s, as the basis of an incentive program for our employees. The EVA program aims for continuous improvement around which incentives are structured. Such a program could not have been implemented without training people on drivers which enhance value on a sustained basis from the project-level onwards. Thus, a desire to understand project cost through Activity Based Costing became the building block for employee incentives through EVA. It was also the key to help enhance value being created in a Business Unit like a large customer account, which is in itself, an aggregation of projects for that Customer. A variable incentive program based on Corporate, Business Unit and Individual performance was measured by capturing the EVA in a business unit.

Simultaneously, the organization developed Balanced Score Card to track functions and their organizational effectiveness and alignment. Using our Top Ten by 2010 strategy map and developing linkages among Finance, Customer Relations, Internal Processes, and Learning and Development, we developed the drivers which enable the desired result in each category to be achieved, and created the lead and lag indicators to track these. We also developed a set of cascading Balance Score Cards – at the level of Customer, Delivery, Geography and Corporate Management and other functions throughout the enterprise.

At the macro level, there is a rigorous and comprehensive annual financial planning process to ensure that the entire organization is completely aligned behind the business and financial goals of the Company. The Finance function coordinates and drives the detailed planning process linking the demand generation position to the delivery capability, factoring in market size and growth, our competitive positioning, and our improvement in goals and targets.

Financial planning at TCS is a twin process - bottom up and top down. The process begins with the sales arms of TCS that are located in various geographies. Detailed plans are developed on a region-by-region basis as these sales arms plan their positioning and volume, based on the market potential. These plans are then linked and validated against both service line and top account plans to ensure alignment among all internal stakeholders.

These plans factor in appropriate investments in marketing and selling expenses to ensure the support necessary to drive the creation of demand through branding and events. Finance provides the data support when determining the growth, in capturing the assumptions on which the growth strategy is based, and in monitoring not just the performance, but also the movement of key drivers.

While TCS continues to eschew guidance, we believe that internally the Company is ready to deliver certainty and confidence to the investment community that our growth will continue to be in line with the market potential.

Behind 'Experience certainty'

In today's competitive global market, adoption of technology has become a fundamental imperative for corporations to sustain their competitive advantage in the marketplace. Faster technology deployment, availability of systems and their reliability, flexibility to respond to changes in the business environment are essential demands by businesses the world over. As individuals, we take many things for certain. Why should IT systems in corporate environments be any different? As a mobile phone customer, we wouldn't be happy with anything less than 24x7 service. But when it comes to their IT, corporations often have had to live with much less certainty – in terms of time, costs, schedules and quality.

With over 38 years of experience in providing IT Services, Business Solutions and Outsourcing services, 'Experience certainty' is what we promise our customers today. We have been front-runners in providing these services in a unique global delivery model to leading global corporations by partnering with them. 'Experience certainty' is not a recent realization for us; it is a philosophy that we have been relentlessly pursuing for years. We have institutionalized this philosophy over time and established its credibility. Today, several of the world's best known businesses depend on TCS for this certainty. Most importantly, the Company has built a fine track record of excellence to earn this distinction.

For customers, the proposition of 'certainty' is a multi-dimensional one. When TCS states that it has a 99.6 % on time delivery record, it represents only one of the dimensions of delivery. We have evolved a number of other dimensions like quality expressed in terms of defect-free software, availability of systems, the ability to deliver systems within budget, total cost of ownership, faster time to market, etc.. TCS has focused on delivering value to its customers in all these dimensions and has been measuring its performance over several years. Today, the Company is delivering best-in-class performance in all these dimensions.

TCS has three unique pivotal strengths that help global customers experience certainty.

- First, our unified quality model serves as the framework that helps us provide the same consistent level of quality whether it is from India, China or Chile. With the result, our customers experience 'One Global Service Standard'*
- Second, is our Global Network Delivery Model™ (GNDM™) that harnesses clusters of knowledge and specialized competencies globally*
- Third, our integrated full services capability that helps us address complex business needs of today's enterprises*

Our Integrated Quality Management System (iQMS) provides us an agile quality framework having the flexibility to adapt to emerging new services. iQMS has emerged as a unified quality model that encapsulated the best-of-breed practices from a range of complementary standards and methodologies. It helps us to integrate processes across software development, people management and security deployment, and to eliminate the risk of redundancy in processes.

Our Global Network Delivery Model™ (GNDM™) represents a next generation delivery philosophy. TCS has invested in setting up global scale delivery centers in locations like India, China, and Brazil, integrated with a network of smaller regional and local delivery centers. This allows us to provide a seamless delivery experience to our customers, and is a key component of our 'Experience certainty' promise.

Finally, TCS has one of the most complete portfolio of services spanning business consulting, information technology, business process outsourcing, infrastructure, and engineering. This allows us to serve global leaders across industries – Financial Services, Retail, Telecommunications, Manufacturing, Hi-Tech Industry, Pharma & Life Sciences, Travel & Hospitality, Utilities and Public Services/ Government. Having a full-services portfolio strengthens our ability to deliver on the 'Experience certainty' promise across a significant spectrum of the requirements of our clients.

From a TCS perspective, 'Experience certainty' reiterates TCS' pioneering role in the industry and brings total transparency in the delivery metrics. It helps us unambiguously promise our intent and demonstrate our delivery track record to our clients. Our commitment to delivering 'certainty' is demonstrated in our ability to adapt to the dynamic business environment in which our customers operate. We continue to embrace change and enrich our processes that give us an ability to offer new business and operating models.

Head - Global Human Resources

Delivering certainty to employees

Over 85,000 TCSers, distributed globally, are the key ingredient that helps customers experience certainty when they engage with TCS anywhere in the world. And as nurturing new talent emerges as the single biggest challenge for global business today, TCS is leveraging its strong links with academia to remain in prime position to acquire and retain the best talent while simultaneously casting its net ever wider to develop new sources of talent in India and overseas.

TCS continues to be among the largest employers in the private sector in India. We added 32,000 employees in 2006-07 and have already made over 12,000 campus offers for students to join the Company in the next fiscal year. What is more heartening from a shareholder standpoint, is that the Company, despite its size, has the best track record of retaining people in the industry and has been able to remain the employer of choice on engineering campuses because of our best-in-class sourcing and recruitment programs.

In an industry which is plagued by attrition, TCS continues to clock the lowest attrition figure for the third consecutive year with an attrition rate of 11.3%, including BPO, during the year. High retention has been achieved by continuously upgrading competencies of the employees while our focused initiatives aimed at creating a work-life balance also serve as a powerful tool to increase retention. Moreover, a well-designed job rotation policy offers employees the opportunity to work on and get exposure to multiple technologies, industry domains and global markets. The Company continues to be rated highly by employees and it won the Dataquest award for the Best Employer in the IT industry for the third consecutive year.

The success of the recruitment and training engine at TCS has given us the ability to provide certainty to our employees –certainty that their global aspirations and career growth paths are as important to the organization as they are to the individual employee. And this is being executed through a world-class Talent Management program that includes compensation and rewards & recognition structure based on performance, competency and experience.

To enhance the availability of talent, the Company is going beyond Tier I and Tier II cities. Using our holistic, objective and data-based process of college accreditation, we have been able to develop an increasing number of colleges along with their faculty and students which has helped us to recruit the best quality talent from over 300 colleges including a considerable number from Tier III cities in India. We have opened up the talent availability pool further by tapping science and maths graduates through an innovative program. Called 'Ignite', it is a seven-month residential training program that converts science students into software engineers through a special focus not only on software but also other skills to create global-ready professionals. The strong long-term relationships with academia have helped us create a robust sourcing ecosystem within the country.

Alongside ensuring availability, it is also critical for the Company to invest in enhancing employability by making investments in learning and development through all stages of the employee development lifecycle. TCS continues to foster certification programs to create 'tomorrow's professionals' and to equip them with the right balance of cross-disciplinary skills, analytical mindset and innovative approach to problem solving. A comprehensive approach to competency development at all levels of the organization has been a thrust area in talent management at TCS. With the objective of becoming a role-based organization, TCS launched the Integrated Competency and Learning Management System (ICALMS) last year to create a single, digital window for learning, delivery, competency management and skill assessment. This integrated system facilitated a one-stop shop for all the learning and competency development needs of the employee.

As TCS continues to build a multi-cultural global workforce – 9.6% of its employees were overseas nationals at the end of 2006-07 – it has created an enriched work environment that appreciates and embraces diversity and operates in an inclusive atmosphere of collaboration and excellence. Increased recognition as an equal opportunity player has helped TCS emerge as an employer of choice globally, while our efforts to replicate our successful academic interface program globally as well as new initiatives like a Global Internship Program have enhanced the Company's ability to attract talent across the US, Europe, Asia and Latin America.

As our global workforce grows, TCS is investing in setting up training centers outside India as well as expanding its learning and development campus in Trivandrum. After setting up training centres in the US, China and Hungary, our new training centre in Uruguay will serve as a training platform to upgrade the technology skills of the Company's employees in the Latin American region.

TCS' global workforce is also growing due to strategic acquisitions in India and other geographies, driven by synergistic growth opportunities for the Company. This is also adding a new dimension to the management of the Company's diverse talent pool with employee integration as the driver for delivering the synergistic value of the acquisitions. The Corporate Growth Initiative is a new Human Resources programme that allows us to play a strategic role in mergers and acquisitions and act as a change agent to facilitate employee communication and culture fitment and create a single organizational value system among all employees.

As TCS emerges as a scale player, not only in India, but across the world, building systems to manage scale is a key challenge for HR professionals in TCS going forward. A digital organization is the answer that can help manage the challenges of scale and TCS is investing to build the digital enterprise and integrate its HR processes, systems, functions and initiatives. All this only helps provide certainty to our customers that they are getting access to the finest global talent, while employees can be sure that their career growth and global aspirations are firmly locked on to the Company's radar.

Building brand TCS through experience of certainty

Going through this Annual Report, the dominant theme shareholders would notice is the one of certainty. In the fourth quarter of this financial year, TCS embarked on a new initiative by articulating its new brand promise to the entire world – Experience certainty. In the process, it has once again assumed a pioneering role in building the brand image of the modern Indian corporation, which is global in belief, mind-set and capabilities and is benchmarked with the best in the world.

This organization has always been known as the pioneer of the Indian IT industry – paving the way for others to follow, creating the 'disruptive model' of off-shore IT development that today has become the global norm, entering new markets like Latin America and China and above all creating a business reputation and atmosphere for Indian skills, talent and knowledge to succeed in an ever-competitive global economy.

This first-ever global brand campaign by an Indian corporation reflects not only the increased confidence and posture of India Inc. on the global stage, but also coincides with the arrival of TCS as among the top 10 IT companies in the world, in terms of market capitalization, profits and the number of employees. The campaign is part of TCS' overall marketing campaign to build its brand in key markets and compete worldwide from a brand perception and recognition perspective with the global IT firms as well as on the ground, where the Company is already making an impact on customers' business vis-à-vis our competitors. Throughout the next 12-18 months, TCS' new brand campaign will be presented to the world through leading global media outlets like the Financial Times, The Wall Street Journal among others, as well as leading Indian media outlets.

The new brand assurance - Experience certainty - is a crisp articulation of what TCS offers the world. This commitment to the brand assurance of certainty is embedded in everything it does. It is more than a label - it represents TCS' ability and commitment to delivering projects in time and on quality for our customers. It also expresses an assurance to the customers, partners, staff and society at large and encompasses what TCS stands for in the conduct of its business.

This advertising campaign highlights the strength of TCS' commitment to Experience certainty. Our customers like ABN Amro Bank, UK's National Grid, Italy's Ferrari among others have agreed to endorse the brand articulation, which is proof that the assurance is one TCS makes – and keeps – for its customers every day.

The global marketing and brand building image goes beyond advertising campaigns. One important part is the internal branding piece, which helps to familiarize and internalize the brand promise throughout this 85,000-strong organization. This is being rolled out and cascaded through the organization across over 40 countries using a combination of physical and digital methods and using the many channels of employee communications that exist to create and nurture a close alignment of the Company's brand promise and its brand ambassadors – the employees who interact with customer organizations every day.

One sub-set is an aggressive external communications campaign, which is reaching out to influencers in different markets, be they be in academia and think-tanks, governments and the media. The aim is to bring into focus, not only the great strengths of this Company as a global player but also India as a global base for extracting the best talent and skills for any globally competitive company. Accompanying this global charge is a set of new collateral that help spell out the benefits of certainty to all the stakeholders through a cutting-edge, redesigned website, customer case studies and other collateral.

Another key piece of this global image building exercise has been the creation of an independent board of directors. As you would have seen in the photograph in the initial pages of this Report, TCS now has an expanded eight-member board featuring luminaries from across the world with the exception of the Chairman, Mr Tata and the CEO, Mr Ramadorai, all other members are independent.

The independent directors bring their varied business experience across industry and markets to the deliberations at TCS' Board.

The Company's business strategy benefits from the enormous experience of directors like Aman Mehta, former global HSBC chief, Ron Sommer, former chairman of Deutsche Telecom as well as academic guru Clay Christensen of the Harvard Business School, Naresh Chandra, one of India's most distinguished bureaucrats, and V. Thyagarajan, head of GlaxoSmithKline in Asia as well as Laura Cha, a highly-respected financial services regulator from Hong Kong.

The Company believes that these marketing initiatives will provide the foundation for future growth by making the TCS name as well known outside India as it is in the country.

Historians writing in the future about the pre-eminent position of the Indian IT industry worldwide or for that matter, the emergence of India as an economic power on the global stage will, no doubt, refer to 2006-07 as one of the turning points in terms of image building, led by none other than your Company. Once again, as in the past, TCS is leading the way globally for a whole new generation of Indian corporations to follow.

Global News

North America

The level of certainty that North American customers experience when working with TCS is what continues to propel the company forward. In 2006-07, North American revenues grew 29% - a strong performance made possible by the energy and effort of the 12,000 TCS employees working in over 40 offices in the United States and Canada who are seamlessly integrated into our Global Network Delivery Model™. As we leveraged our GNDM™, we improved our offshore leverage further contributing to our overall profitability.

We made considerable progress in our academic interface program, building relationships with some of the most prestigious academic institutions in the US and Canada. This program continues to help us in our collaborations with academia and recruitment of top talent as we continue to diversify our employee base. We also launched our Co-Innovation Network in Silicon Valley, bringing together research resources and innovation capabilities of global academic institutes, venture capital funds, start-up companies, TCS alliance partners and multi-lateral bodies in a collaborative structure to deliver new standards of innovation. Our successful Annual Customer Summit attracted more than 200 CIO and VP level customers. Held at Monterey, California, it served as a platform for customers to network with their peers, and with TCS executives and industry experts to gain valuable insights on new technologies and best practices.

Additionally, we have received a number of external validations of our work. This year Global Services magazine ranked TCS as the top IT services provider, we received the 2006 Frost & Sullivan Company of the Year Award, TCS was the highest ranked Indian firm on the American Banker FinTech 100, and was also the highest ranked Indian IT services company in BusinessWeek's annual IT 100.

Europe and United Kingdom

TCS Europe continues to penetrate into fast maturing off-shoring markets like Germany, Benelux and the Nordics, using delivery centers in Hungary and Luxemburg as two spokes of our GNDM™. Our acquisition of TKS Teknosoft has given us new customers and ready access to markets in France and Switzerland.

In the UK and Ireland, we have expanded into a network of offices and started an Innovation Lab in Peterborough. In the UK, we have also set up a BPO subsidiary, Diligenta Ltd., which employs over 900 persons. The Peterborough lab acts as a 'hub' for the global Co-Innovation Network in the UK, encouraging collaborations between customers, academic, global alliance partners, start-ups and venture capitalists.

The TCS Global Consulting Practice in the UK and continental Europe is growing rapidly, offering high value services both to existing customers and bringing in new customers with offerings that include Enterprise Solutions, Utility Computing, Test Factory and IT Governance. Infrastructure Services and BPO are also key growth areas.

IberoAmerica

TCS Iberoamerica closed 2006-07 with close to 5,000 employees in the region, with revenues up 150% over the previous year, and is well positioned as one of the fastest growing, top tier IT services firms in Latin America. Our Global Delivery Centers in Uruguay, Brazil and Chile in particular, continued to ramp up rapidly over this financial year.

We started a Regional Training Facility in Montevideo, Uruguay to train up to 1,000 persons a year from countries across Latin America. Our new Colombia office, inaugurated in June this year, has developed rapidly into a significant operation with over 120 persons situated in Bogota and has major customers in the country. In Ecuador, TCS secured one of the largest integrated IT and BPO services contracts worth US$ 140 million from Banco Pichincha, headquartered in Quito. The acquisition of Comicro in Chile (now TCS BPO Chile) in November 2005 has been extremely successful. In this financial year we have not only consolidated our operations in Chile but also grew them by over 60% over the last year figure. TCS Iberoamerica has been named among the top 10 technology companies by a large regional publication for its significant impact and contribution over the last 10 years (1996-2006) in Latin America.

Asia:

From Adelaide to Abu Dhabi, Asia is fast emerging as a growth market for TCS for sales and delivery. Our new joint venture in China kicked off in early 2007 and is now scaling up its operations on the back of some significant new engagements from Chinese financial institutions. We continue to develop relations with Chinese universities to hire and train science and engineering graduates for TCS China. We have created a new structure for delivery of projects for the Japanese market with the setting up of a hub in Kolkata called the Japanese Overseas Development Centre that will supplement and collaborate with our centers in Yokohama and Hangzhou, China. In the rest of the region, from Singapore to Saudi Arabia, our ability to deliver certainty to customers is driving growth and enhancing our brand in these markets.

India continues to be a critical market for TCS. The Company has been involved in the development of the country's financial infrastructure like stock exchange systems, depository and tax information systems. This trend continues and we are involved in building out the next generation of technology-led infrastructure in the country through mission-critical projects like MCA-21 to enable electronic information filing by the companies registered in India as well as other landmark projects.

The certification provides an opportunity to compare performance with similar organisations, to learn and share best practices in the telecom domain, and strengthen relationships with customers on a competitive scale. AS 9100: Rev B is a Quality Management System designed specifically for the Aerospace industry. Developed by the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE), it is based around the ISO 9001:2000 standard and is being implemented across the international aerospace industry. TCS is the first company in India to be certified for design of airframe structures. ISO 13485:2003 specifies requirements for a quality management system in the regulatory domain, where organisations need to demonstrate their ability to provide medical devices and related services that consistently meet applicable customer and regulatory requirements.

TCS received the prestigious CII-EXIM Bank Award for Business Excellence this year. This award, based on the EFQM of Europe, evaluates Indian companies for their Business Excellence. TCS joins a select band of Excellent Companies who have so far won the coveted award.

All these certifications are testimony to TCS' unstinting commitment to achieve the highest standards of quality and the expertise that the Company brings to global clients. The cornerstone of these certifications is the integrated Quality Management System (iQMS) which was developed in-house and is today providing strong support to the Global Network Delivery Model™.

Innovation is an important aspect of the Company's business operations and a Corporate Technology Office headed by a Chief Technology Officer and supported by a Corporate Technology Board was established to provide a thrust to Innovation by institutionalizing the governance processes and by establishing a collaborative innovation ecosystem that extends beyond TCS. The Company now has 18 innovation labs across the world.

12. Corporate Social Responsibility

Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) in TCS is aligned with the Tata tradition of creating wealth in the community with a twin focus on Education and Society.

CSR in TCS continues around the "3-Generation" approach of philanthropy, stakeholder engagement and the use of the Company's core competencies to address societal problems. Volunteering is an integral part of CSR and has attracted more than 1,000 employees at TCS offices in India and abroad.

TCS' computer based functional Adult Literacy Programme (ALP) has served over 1,00,000 learners all over India in eight languages. Further enhancements to the existing interface as well as functionalities have also been initiated. The ALP has been commended as an Innovation in the Corporate Social Responsibility area under the EMPI-Indian Express awards.

The MS Swaminathan Research Foundation and the NASSCOM Foundation are partnering with TCS for the Mission 2007 National Alliance covering about 6,00,000 Indian villages. Simultaneously, the programme has also been scaled up along with the Tata Council for Community Initiatives to work with government agencies.

The Company is actively supporting the cause of rebuilding the Children's Hospital of the Society for Rehabilitation of Crippled Children (SRCC) in Mumbai which aims at providing world-class medical facilities to children.

"Maitree" an association of employees and their families across the globe, is a key vehicle of CSR within the organisation. Maitree has conducted Right to Information Act Awareness sessions, HIV/AIDS Awareness sessions, Environment Awareness outings for the employees as well as the community, Green Audits to check consumption of paper, water and electricity at various TCS offices and has promoted vermicomposting, rain water harvesting and paper recycling. One of Maitree's key successes has been in the village community of Wazapur, near Panvel, 60 km from Mumbai, which it has adopted and where teams of TCS volunteers help the residents in women's self employment, literacy classes, AIDS awareness and functional computer literacy.

Other CSR activities of TCS which were carried out in several cities in India included support for restoration of heritage buildings, involvement in educational causes, assistance in building hospitals, sponsoring of sports events, creating computer databases for NGOs, re-uniting children from remand homes with their parents using telephone and e-mail contacts, computer training at orphanages, organizing blood donation camps, participating in clean-up of localities and beaches, etc.

In the UK, a significant campaign has been the work done with underprivileged youth, initially through sponsoring of Stepney Football Club, and moving on to teaching. In the US, TCS supports many health causes such as construction of Habitat for Humanity houses and the Salvation Army initiatives. In Europe, over 700 TCSers joined activists of the UN World Food Programme to raise awareness and funds to fight child hunger.

TCS won global recognition for its CSR activities in February 2007 as the winner of the Golden Peacock Global Award for CSR, leading other international corporates. TCS also won the same award at the national level in January 2007 at a competition organised by the Institute of Directors.

TECHNOLOGY ABSORPTION, ADAPTATION AND INNOVATION

The Company continues to use the latest technologies for improving the productivity and quality of its services and products.

Innovation as an enabler of TCS' 'Experience certainty' proposition

TCS operates in a rapidly changing technology environment. Innovation is an important part of the organisational 'DNA' of TCS and is a key enabler of the 'Experience certainty' proposition.

Our business units use the tools and assets from our Innovation Labs to enable our clients to exploit 'derivative innovation', with continuing improvements and value delivery.

We create opportunities for transformational improvements or 'platform innovations' for our clients, across business and technology dimensions, using assets and intellectual property developed by the Practices and Innovation Labs. The Co-Innovation Network, established this year, increases the range of domain and technology solutions in this space.

We enable our clients to access potentially game-changing or disruptive technology and business models through our Innovation Labs and the Co-Innovation Network. These 'radical innovations' or disruptive developments create options for future growth for our clients and for us.

The TCS Corporate Technology Office ensures systematic investments across all three innovation categories, and governs all Innovation Projects across our 18 Innovation Labs across the world (the 19th lab in Peterborough, UK, is expected to open in April 2007). These labs are dedicated to R&D in areas that help us innovate in new technology, service and process areas to strengthen our business and benefit our environment. The first and largest of these Labs, Tata Research Development and Design Centre (TRDDC) which was set up in 1981, celebrated its Silver Jubilee during the year. The year long celebrations were marked by the presence of the Hon'ble President Abdul Kalam who felicitated TRDDC's achievements over its 25 year journey.

To extend the value that TCS brings to its clients, TCS launched the 'Co-Innovation Network' (COIN) in January 2007. The intent driving COIN was to engage in the true collaborative spirit with intellectual capital across the innovation ecosystem to synergistically leverage thoughts, assets and resources to innovate together. COIN, extends the collaborative eco-system beyond TCS' research capabilities, to bring together research resources of global academic institutions, venture capital funds, Silicon Valley start up companies, TCS alliance partners and multi-lateral bodies. TCS Innovation Labs and our clients anchor the Co-Innovation Network.

The recognition and honours bestowed on TCS' innovation initiatives include the TCS Wireless R&D lab being adjudged the Grand Prize Winner of the Qualcomm Wireless Reach™ BREW® Application Funding Program, TCS' Adult Literacy Program being commended as an Innovation in the Corporate Social Responsibility area by the EMPI-Indian Express Awards, the Bio-Suite product receiving the 'Best Product Innovation' award from Nasscom and the AP Online project receiving the Businessweek Innovation award.

TCS has continually innovated in business and technology - we disrupted the IT Services world when we created the India-centric model and have evolved and matured the India model to the Global Network Delivery Model™ today. We have continually improved our software engineering capabilities, from the Software Tool Foundry, to Software Process Standards to today's Integrated Quality Management System. We are innovating today in the Innovation space, with the launch of the TCS Co-Innovation Network on January 17, 2007 by the Hon'ble President of India. The journey continues.

Areas in which the Company carried out R&D during 2006-07 are given below:

i) Tata Research Development and Design Centre, Pune

Significant areas of research include:

- a. Refining the formal characterization of the data privacy algorithms, and demonstrating regulatory compliance (e.g. HIPAA) for the Masketeer™ toolset.
- b. Developing data mining techniques for specific areas like analysing customer churn behaviour in a large telecom company, and a fault monitoring system for a radio telescope.
- c. Research into data-intensive computing resulted in a model to understand the operational characteristics of IT plants. The Sense-Understand-Respond (SURE) framework has been developed, which involves monitoring, integrating, and analyzing large volumes of data from a diverse set of distributed and heterogeneous sources within an IT plant.
- d. A new approach to compute data flow analysis solutions was implemented in PRISM, the program analysis workbench, which can analyze up to a million lines of code.
- e. Development of MAPAGILE2.0, a Web2.0 powered version of the original MAPAGILE, to address the needs of multiple, geographically dispersed teams working together to build large-scale software applications.
- f. Development of a tool-chain to automate the various steps in the embedded software engineering process. This has resulted in two tools - one to scale up formal analysis of component specifications and the other to scale up analysis of code.
- g. Enhancement of an existing standards checking tool, Assent, for MISRA-C, which now can analyze up to 2 million lines of C code.

1.2 Size and Scope of Global Opportunity

Chart 7: Offshore IT Services Spend Forecasts

Source: IDC, NASSCOM

Chart 8: Trend of Offshore IT Services Spend

Source: IDC, NASSCOM

Though offshoring is still a relatively small part of the overall spending, its adoption continues to grow rapidly and this trend is expected to continue (Chart 7). The global services delivery model (Chart 8) is being increasingly accepted in the outsourcing market. This provides opportunities for growth to existing players with global delivery capabilities to increase / extend the scope of their services offerings.

The NASSCOM Strategic Review 2007 estimates that the Indian IT industry has large untapped growth potential in the emerging Global IT offshore market whose addressable market size is in excess of US$ 330 billion. The report estimates that in view of this huge global opportunity, the Indian IT - BPO industry could grow at an annual rate greater than 25% and generate exports of about US$ 60 billion and a domestic market of US$ 13 to 15 billion by 2010.

Source: NASSCOM Strategic Review 2007.

India continues to be the offshoring destination of choice and the NASSCOM Strategic Review 2007 shows India's dominance, with a 58% market share in the offshore IT-BPO space.

1.5 The Company's Strategy

The Company's strategy is based on three pillars. These are Global Network Delivery Model™, Strategic Acquisitions, and Integrated Full Services Play.

1. Global Network Delivery Model™

The Global Network Delivery Model™ (GNDM™) is a truly global network. GNDM™ is much more than having an India-centric delivery model with near-shore centers and is not about setting up Offshore Development Centres (ODC) in different geographies. The GNDM™ enables our delivery centers to collaborate on projects, leverage all our assets, work on a 'follow-the-sun model' if necessary, and above all, through their homogeneity in terms of quality, skills as well as look-and-feel, give customers the same experience of certainty, irrespective of whether they work with us in Chennai, China or Chile. We are helping customers experience a sense of certainty when they work with us globally.

The breadth and coverage of the GNDM™ is illustrated below:

The Company became the first organization in the world to be certified enterprise-wide for ISO 9001-2000, ISO27001:2005 and ISO 20000:2005 in January 2007. Our customers can continue to experience the certainty of "high quality of service delivery", as we stay focused on continuous improvement of security, quality and processes in an industry where technology changes occur frequently.

2. Strategic Acquisitions

A key driver for growth has been the Company's strategic acquisitions for creating new capabilities that would drive higher levels of synergistic growth. The value being generated by these acquisitions has been significant and so far we have seen only the beginning of synergistic revenue opportunities. We believe that many of the acquisitions we have made in the last couple of years have become force multipliers for the Company in terms of both revenue growth and improved capabilities. Many of the large value deals the Company has been able to win can be attributed to these acquisitions.

A few examples are given below:

- The airline JVs bought by the Company, today form the bedrock of the fast growing Travel and Hospitality business and has resulted in the Company acquiring large customers and winning large deals.
- The acquisition of Financial Network Solutions (FNS) in Australia, has resulted in the Company acquiring a world-class core banking product. The Company has been able to leverage this asset to win large value deals such as a contract of slightly under US $100 million in China.
- The acquisition of Comicom, a financial services BPO in Chile, not only gave the Company the language and skill sets to tap the regional BPO market, but also helped the Company to extend its portfolio of services across the continent.

3. Integrated Full-Services Play

The Company is increasing its focus on expanding the breadth of its service offerings and capabilities to become a one-stop service provider. The Company's end-to-end IT Services offering are (i) Application Development & Maintenance; (ii) Technology Solutions (iii) Package Implementation (iv) Systems Integration (v) Enterprise Solutions (vi) Business Intelligence and (vii) Assurance Services. In addition the Company's relatively new offerings include (i) Asset Based Services (ii) Engineering and Industrial Services (iii) IT Infrastructure Services (iv) Business Process Outsourcing and (v) Global Consulting Services.

The power of the GNDM™ as well as our strategic acquisitions is illustrated through our integrated full-services play that now captures the entire value chain of IT — from consulting to products and solutions and from implementation to support. One recent example of all our services at work as part of an Integrated Full Services Play is the $140m banking/financial services deal from Bank of Pichincha in Ecuador. This deal uses FNS/BANCS the core banking engine from TCS. This entire business initiative was consulting led with the objective of bringing about significant improvement in the cost - income ratio of the bank. In this deal the Company will be offering the bank IT Services, Infrastructure Services and BPO - all using our GNDM™. The Bank of Pichincha will depend on TCS' FNS centre in Sydney and India Development centres for any product customization. It will depend on TCS' Santiago centre for BPO best practices and process management. Any other custom development will be done at TCS' centre in Uruguay.

The Company's process capabilities and range of services provide a compelling value proposition for its existing customers with over 96.8% of our business this year coming from repeat customers. Moreover, these offerings are also witnessing traction among more than the 100 new customers added during the year and give the Company significant opportunities to cross-sell different solutions to customers.

1.6 Strategy for Service offerings

a. IT SOLUTIONS AND SERVICES

The faster growing segments in the software services space are: (a) Assurance (Testing) Services (b) Business Intelligence (c) Enterprise Solutions and (d) Technology Solutions. The Company is growing these business segments faster than its traditional Application, Development and Maintenance (ADM) business. The Company's strategy is to increase its focus on the faster growing segments in this mature market space.

b. ASSET BASED IT SERVICES

The focus of the strategy for this offering is to grow this business using TCS owned software products along with System Integration and Implementation Services. As a part of this strategy, the Company had acquired the Australian company, FNS, with the product BANCS™, a strong, scalable, high-performance Core Banking Solution with an established global customer-base. The acquisition of Swiss banking software and services company TKS-Teknosoft (TKS) in the current year brought additional products viz. Alpha (a private banking system), and e-Portfolio (a wealth management system) into TCS' fold. Together, with its own products, the Company can now offer solutions across the financial value chain covering both capital markets and commercial banking areas. In fiscal 2007 the Company gained significant wins in products business across the globe. Our offerings expanded beyond product offerings, in the sense that we leveraged the full services play of TCS and structured transformational deals in Latin America for a banking major. We see good opportunities for our products in the BFSI domain across the globe. In order to focus on this business and enhance the momentum that we have gained, we have now formed TCS Financial Solutions as a separate division of the Company, with a view to consolidate all the products businesses. Directionally, the Company is aligned to have one Service Oriented architecture (SOA) - integrated Product Suite, under the umbrella 'Bancs'. This will have the following benefits for us and also for our clients:

- more uniform licensing and product support model
- integrated SOA suite which helps the customer future proof any investment decision
- single sales force reducing complexity in the sales cycle
- better product management aligned to meet customer/market needs without redundancies
- less complexity in understanding the Company and comparing it correctly to the right competitors.

c. ENGINEERING AND INDUSTRIAL SERVICES (EIS)

In order to address the fast growing global Engineering and R&D services market, the Company had set up EIS as a strategic business unit (SBU) in 2004-05. The Company is uniquely positioned in this market as the only service provider with an integrated service offering across the entire engineering value cycle. The drivers of the EIS outsourcing are (a) the imperatives for global firms to develop new and competitive products (b) bringing such new products faster to the market and (c) optimizing their development costs. The enablers for this already exist in the form of (a) a strong engineering talent pool (b) low cost manufacturing and sourcing and (c) state of the art communication infrastructure for collaborative engineering.

The end-to-end services offered from EIS are:

- Product Engineering, which includes: (a) Engineering design (b) Product Lifecycle Management (PLM) solutions (c) Knowledge based engineering (d) Engineering analysis and (e) Electronics and embedded hardware and software
- Plant Design Engineering, which includes front-end design and detail design of Process Plants
- Plant Automation Services which includes: (a) Control System Integration (b) Production Optimization (c) Manufacturing Execution Systems and (d) Adaptive Manufacturing at the shop floor level for manufacturing optimization
- Sourcing and Manufacturing Services, which includes: (a) Component Sourcing and (b) Electromechanical Manufacturing Services
- Enterprise Asset Management Services, which includes: (a) Reliability Centric Maintenance (RCM) Strategy Development (b) Technology Selection and (c) Technology Deployment
- Geo Spatial Technologies (GST), which includes: (a) GST consulting, technology selection, deployment and enterprises applications integration (b) Remote Sensing / Image processing and (c) Data Management.

The services in this SBU are focused on serving the following verticals: (1) Automotive (2) Hi-Tech and Telecom (3) Aerospace (4) Industrial (5) Oil & Gas and (6) Utilities. The Company's strategy is focused on cross selling to its existing clients and also extending these offerings to new clients. Its process based approach for engineering outsourcing, modeled on SEI-CMMi Level-5, brings unique value to the customer in terms of efficient execution. TCS leverages its subsidiary WTI to optimize value to customers for certain processes such as Digital Mock ups and Data Management.

d. IT INFRASTRUCTURE SERVICES

The Company's clients benefit from TCS' long and extensive practical experience in managing and consolidating complex infrastructure environments. TCS positions itself as an end-to-end IT Infrastructure Services provider, that helps customers enhance Return on Investment (ROI) through (i) remote manageability (ii) providing services based on service level agreement (SLA) and (iii) delivery of its services, based on the Information Technology Infrastructure Library (ITIL) framework.

The Company uses a three-phased roadmap to help clients better align their infrastructure with underlying business objectives:

Phase 1: Reduce operational cost by maximizing offshore leverage and driving resource optimization;

Phase 2: Enhance operational efficiencies through consolidation and rationalization of the infrastructure and applications portfolio;

Phase 3: Drive business effectiveness by aligning SLAs with business goals and ongoing business service management.

The SBU has invested in Technology and Service Management Centers of Excellence (COE) to bring in productivity gains by developing service delivery accelerators. The key components of acceleration will be automation/tooling, knowledge management and problem management. TCS Infrastructure Services aims at using its delivery centers in Canada, Ibero-America and China to provide the right skills, cultural fit and the 'follow the sun' support to its clients. In this context we have invested in creating the required infrastructure, have built appropriate teams and partnerships and imparted the required training.

TCS also leverages the vast and varied experience of its subsidiary, CMC, for providing enhanced value to clients in the space of solution architecture and systems integration. Additionally, TCS along with CMC also provides a deeper resource pool to tap into, for servicing our global clients. The companies (TCS and CMC) have built competencies in Systems Integration work and execution of large and complex Systems Integration projects in India.

e. BUSINESS PROCESS OUTSOURCING (BPO)

The Company has BPO delivery centers in four cities in India, in Eastern Europe, the United Kingdom and in Chile. At the heart of TCS BPO is the same Delivery Excellence and Experience certainty proposition that distinguishes the TCS organization. The Company differentiates itself to address the needs of its customers, through a full service strategy and a Global Network Delivery Model™ (GNDM™). The BPO-ITES offering is an integral part of this full-services, GNDM™ strategy of the Company.

TCS BPO has adopted the following strategies to differentiate itself in the IT Services — BPO space:

- (1) Establishing standardized skills and business processes to be applied on a repeatable basis, to attain economies of scale.
- (2) Capturing cost reduction benefits throughout the services lifecycle, from initial migration to post-implementation support.
- (3) Focusing on platform base BPO. In certain domain areas where TCS has considerable capability to provide solutions, the Company focuses on Platform - based BPO. This was the strategy driving the Company's acquisition of the UK based Pearl BPO operations and setting up of its subsidiary in UK, Diligenta Ltd. Here, the customer (Pearl Group) was looking for a partner to cost effectively address their need for processing their Closed Book Life and Pension Policies in 'Third Party assurance business', while converting their fixed costs to a fully variable cost model, and also consolidating multiple IT systems into a common platform developed and owned by TCS. The Company's strategy was to own the software platform as a vehicle for standardization and provide both the related software and business process services seamlessly to the end client.

Based on an IDC survey report it is clear that customers in many verticals prefer to source all their IT needs and BPO services from a select few partners. Therefore, using the platform-based standardized BPO offerings in its chosen verticals, the Company can offer greater value and benefits to its clients in the insurance, retail, telecommunications, travel & hospitality and healthcare verticals within the next few years. The Company believes that a platform-based approach is most appropriate for industry areas where cost reduction is the strongest driver, and process-level innovation is not a requirement. The Company is focusing its marketing efforts in this direction.

f. GLOBAL CONSULTING SERVICES

The Global Consulting Practice (GCP) partners with enterprises worldwide helping them achieve business transformation by leveraging TCS' industry and technology expertise. A tight integration with TCS gives GCP a strong technology and industry foundation and provides the capacity to implement the recommendations, driving results faster to customers.

To ensure delivery rigor, TCS has developed a strong consulting platform, the TCS Way of Consulting, secured by training, methodologies, standard operating procedures, and strategic support mechanisms.

Specific drivers for the consulting business include:

- Ongoing demand for enterprise transformation
- Business strategy enablement through robust IT strategies
- Disruptive innovation in Business Models to build competitive edge
- Cost, service level inefficiencies and compliance needs in enterprises

The Company is positioning itself as an integrated end-to-end IT Services Provider, integrating the Think, Build and Operate services using GCP as the front-end. As GCP helps customers build the transformation imperatives, set the vision and develop the roadmap, the ability to drive downstream opportunities for IT enablement to deliver the transformational objectives grows manifold.

The global exposure and experience of consultants adopting a practitioner's view to the advisory services, delivering in a Global Network Delivery Model™ will drive the necessary business value at an optimal price for customers.

1.7 Management monitoring and implementation of Company strategies

The Company's senior management monitors performance and constantly strives to improve performance on a quarter-on-quarter basis. 2. OPPORTUNITIES AND THREATS

2.1. Opportunities

The Company is the largest Indian IT Services Company in terms of revenues, profits, number of employees and market capitalization. Established in 1968 as a Division of Tata Sons, TCS has pioneered the concept of offshore IT services since 1974 and has emerged as an integrated full-services player with a global footprint and scale.

Opportunities for the Company for sustaining profitable growth emerge from increasing acceptance of outsourcing as a relevant business strategy in a globalised world as well as from new solutions and services that can be offered to customers. The opportunity requires us to: (1) acquire new customers who will realize the potential benefits of outsourcing (2) bid for large outsourcing contracts coming up for renewal (3) cross-sell our newer services to existing clients and (4) expand in new markets where opportunities are increasing.

According to the analyst firm Technology Partners International Inc. (TPI), the "outsourcing, off-shoring and strategic sourcing space" is seeing increasing churn as clients restructure or renegotiate contracts with existing vendors. About 25% of the deals have been re-negotiated with an expanded scope of work with new deals not always going to the incumbent provider. Source: NASSCOM Strategic Review 2007, TPI Index Q3 2006.

Further, the TPI Index for Q4 of 2006 shows that the share of contracts with values between US$ 50-200 million has increased from 50% in 2001 to over 70% in 2006. Over the same period, the share of large deals with contract values greater than US$ 1 billion has declined from 8% in 2001 to 5% in 2006. Source: NASSCOM Strategic Review 2007, TPI Index Q4 2006.

The momentum in outsourcing is growing. The number of contracts and the number of service providers signing contracts with total contract value greater than US$ 50 million is growing consistently. The highest number of broader market restructuring contracts in any year, were awarded in CY 2006. Source: NASSCOM Strategic Review 2007.

The Company's global scale and integrated capabilities enable it to bid for such deals by capitalizing on the trend of contracts to multiple vendors replacing the traditional concept of multiple year contracts to a single vendor. Some of the key trends in the Industry that are favorable to the Company for exploiting these emerging opportunities are:

- (i) Clients are more comfortable to partner with large, global players with scale and with uniform high quality and security processes across the enterprise, but prefer to parcel out the outsourcing contract in smaller lots to multiple vendors rather than select a single vendor for all their needs.
- (ii) Clients are considering Tier I Indian companies for larger-sized deals (with decision cycle time of 6 to 12 months). As outsourcing is becoming a global trend and an important driver for the Indian Economy, offshore delivery is now becoming an accepted way of obtaining services. We believe that in the next few years we will see new potential customers beyond the current Fortune 500 listed companies emerging from the US and Western Europe, who will be contracting with industry players like TCS. This will lead to a healthy pipeline of IT services contracts in the future.
- (iii) Clients are demanding delivery excellence from distributed business units using uniform processes globally to deliver a high quality of service.

In order to leverage these opportunities, the Company has over the years taken the following steps:

- (1) Extended its geographic footprint for effectively selling its offerings.
- (2) Maintained its focus on delivering value to its clients using the Practice, Geography, Delivery Centre and Corporate functions in a collaborative mode.

- (3) Strengthened its relationships with existing clients and increased its marketing efforts to acquire new clients.
- (4) Maintained its focus on meeting its promises to customers and ensuring the highest levels of customer satisfaction.
- (5) The Company has recently launched its 'Global Rebranding Strategy'. The purpose of this effort is to re-articulate the Company Brand in the light of the Company's vision to be in the Global Top 10 by 2010. The re-branding campaign aims at communicating the message built around the theme 'Experience certainty' to both the internal and external world. 'Experience certainty' differentiates the Company by leveraging its core strengths of delivery excellence, people, assets and processes. 'Experience certainty' is a crisp articulation of what TCS offers the world. It represents the Company's capacity to deliver and its capability to meet commitments that it makes to others. It represents what TCS stands for, in the conduct of its business. The 'Experience certainty' theme describes in simple terms, the Company's Global Capabilities and Competencies in IT Services, Business Solutions and Outsourcing. The Brand positioning is about projecting the Company as a confident, globally relevant IT partner and value provider that promises a higher degree of certainty of delivery.

2.2. Threats

India remains the preferred offshore destination for IT Services, for its huge talent pipeline as well as its cost effective servicing capability. (Source: Strategic Review 2007 - Nasscom).

Some of the key changes in the Industry unfavorable to the Company are:

- (i) Global IT Services and consulting companies are expanding operations in India. Large multinationals are using India's base of knowledge workers to set up back office operations in India and are positioning themselves as full service players with India cost advantage.
- (ii) Increased competitive pressures are driving costs higher as a result of wage inflation due to the intense competition for skilled human resources. Pricing pressures are also increasing due to heightened competition from global and Indian IT companies. Attrition, as well as managing salary expectations, are challenges.
- (iii) Competition from other developing countries like China, which have a reasonable pool of knowledge workers, is increasing. The market for outsourced IT services is becoming more global in nature, leading to a buyer's market. A broader competitive field may create downward pressure on prices as service providers in other parts of the world, including China, Malaysia, Brazil, Mexico, Russia and Eastern Europe enter the IT services market.
- (iv) To cater to increasing customer demand for consultants with strong technology and domain knowledge, the Company will have to invest increasingly higher amounts in equipment, facilities and training of its personnel, who could subsequently be lured away by competitors.

3. RISKS & CONCERNS AND RISK MITIGATION

3.1. Availability of skilled personnel:

India is a major destination for Information Technology (IT) Services and IT Enabled Services (ITES) outsourcing. This has resulted in the growth of Indian IT companies, multinational IT companies who have set up operations in India and the captive organizations of many International companies. Growth in the Retail, Telecom and Financial Services sectors in India is also significant. All the above organisations are hiring from the same pool of colleges, resulting in a supply crunch.

To address the Availability Risk, the Company has expanded its sourcing base to engineering colleges in Tier II and Tier III cities, and has started recruiting from the Mathematics and Science Bachelors streams. The Company is also replicating its talent acquisition model in supply markets such as China, Latin America and Eastern Europe by leveraging its Global Network Delivery Model™ to create alternative sources of the talent pool.

Employability is becoming a critical factor in the supply side. To address this, the Company has enhanced its academic interaction programs with colleges across the country. Initiatives such as Faculty Development Programs, participating in seminars and lectures to students in colleges, student internships and setting up laboratories in various colleges have been enhanced.

Rising attrition is a major risk in the industry. The Company is addressing this through higher investments in building the competencies of its employees. The Company also address employee aspirations through well planned career management and job rotation and by giving the employees exposure to multiple technologies, domains and geographies. The Company also strives to create a conducive environment for work life balance. The Company has created employee friendly policies which enhance retention of employees. As a result of all these initiatives, the Company has the lowest attrition rate in the industry.

Wage Inflation is the other factor which has an impact on the industry. The Company has a very strong performance management system and a systematic process for annual increments which rewards performance.

3.2. Country level risks:

The Company continues to expand its global footprint and is establishing operations in many countries. Global Delivery Centers in Brazil, China and Mexico are ramping up and a new Delivery Center is being planned in Morocco. Operating in multiple geographies reduces the risk of business concentration in specific markets but increases geo-political and macro-economic risks. To mitigate this risk, the Company carries out a thorough due diligence exercise prior to starting operations in a new delivery location and also keeps a watch on the environment on an ongoing basis. Other mitigation actions include moving more work offshore to India and other delivery locations. At the operational level, the Company has robust crisis management capabilities and comprehensive business continuity plans across locations in case of an unforeseen turn of events.

The Company is also focused on growing its market share in established markets like the US, the UK and Europe. In India it concentrates on projects with scale and complexity and is establishing itself as leading player in new markets like China and Japan, Latin America as well as the Middle-east and Africa.

3.3 Industry Dissonance Risk:

The Company operates in the fast changing Information Technology space where changes in technology can make today's market leaders into market laggards and changes in customer and market needs can result in a mismatch between customer/market requirements and the Company's offerings.

The Company adopts the following approaches to address these risks:

- (i) Growth engines: The Company systematically focuses on addressing emerging buyer trends and needs by developing solutions such as in infrastructure services or engineering services. We constantly scan the environment for emerging technology areas and develop offerings of value in the selected areas.

- (ii) Deep customer relationships: The Company has a deep understanding of its customers' needs and enhances this by engaging systematically with customers on periodic review of customer needs and fulfillment of the same for prospective periods. The sales organization is supported by a team of domain experts who study emerging domain and market trends and shape solutions which address the business needs of our potential and existing customers. This continuous engagement ensures the aligning of our business to meet increasing needs of the customer. These efforts help to reduce buyer/industry dissonance related risks.

3.4. Margin-pressure:

As international players expand their delivery capability from India, their cost patterns are undergoing change. At the same time, the intensified competition for human resources in India is resulting in higher wage levels. Due to the above, margins are under pressure.

The Company is using a multi-pronged approach to address the margin pressures it faces. In order to mitigate this risk, the Company is focusing on creating greater value for its customers and hence for itself. Three different strategies have been used by the Company in this effort.

- (i) Increasing Offshore Leverage: The Company is increasing its efforts to enhance revenues from its offshore and global delivery centers. This helps the Company to increase its margins.
- (ii) Focusing on Rate Increases: The Company is looking at rate increases for newer business and also for existing businesses which are up for renewal. The Company's rates are competitive and in line with client expectations. In view of its track record, the Company is seen as a credible global consulting organization, with end to end servicing capability. Our Customer Satisfaction Index has been high (consistently in excess of 85% and improving for the last five years) and with the customers perceiving the higher value of our services, they are usually agreeable to rate increases.
- (iii) Focusing on Cost Management: The Company is monitoring and steadily bringing down its operating expenses as a percentage of revenue by ensuring that growth in these expenses is minimized in line with Company requirements. Our large accounts are getting larger which helps us drive down sales costs through cross selling. The trends in repeat business as a percentage of total business are very positive indicating the satisfaction and value creation the Company is achieving for its customers.

3.5. New technologies and business models continue to emerge:

The Company operates in the Information Technology Services Industry where fast and dramatic changes in technology, business models and intense competition are a fact of life.

The Company continues to engage in newer business models in order to address changing requirements. This results in alliances, strategic investments and joint ventures. The Company also invests in creating new competencies in emerging areas.

The Company is focused on innovation. Innovation can take many forms, but must result in better productivity of the Company's employees through continuous improvement in processes, systems, methodologies and capabilities, resulting in higher revenues and profits per employee.

TCS' focus on achieving improvements based on innovation has been influenced by the need to harness the implicit knowledge of the people within the organization for continuous improvements. This is practiced by adopting 'derived' innovation, that seeks continuous improvement in every area and by 'platform' innovation, whereby multiple capability and skill teams engage to develop innovative ideas.

Break through innovation: The Company has come up with a Co-Innovation network ('COIN'), which is an ecosystem by which TCS creates innovation networks between TCS and individuals / organizations outside of TCS (who have new products / IP's / ideas) and financiers such as Venture Capitalists. This enables the product partners in 'COIN' to get a bigger market and consequently enables the Company to provide an increased range of offerings to its customers.

As a value proposition, the Company also offers innovatively structured contracts, linking payments to actual attainment of milestones and delivery. Slippage in delivery in such contracts may negatively impact the Company. However, innovative structures also enable the Company to take on increasingly complex projects with outcome-based pricing, (which have opportunities for greater profitability). These projects work with more flexible team structures and can capture greater value by using the Company's replicable solutions, methodologies and tool-sets. The Company ensures that the risks it undertakes are commensurate with returns.

3.6. Risk of Foreign Exchange Translation losses:

The Company's revenues are largely denominated in foreign currency, predominantly US$, GBP, and Euro. In addition to these currencies we also do business in Australian $, Canadian $, South African Rand, and Swiss Franc, among other currencies. Given the nature of the business, a large proportion of the costs are denominated in Indian Rupees (INR). This exposes the Company to profit/loss on currency fluctuations. To mitigate this risk, the Company follows a proactive hedging policy for all the above mentioned currencies. Net exposure is calculated for each currency by deducting expected costs from revenues in that currency. The Company hedges this net currency exposure using foreign exchange forward and options contracts. The tenure of these contracts is up to two years.

As on March 31, 2007, the Company had a hedge position in various currencies equivalent to US$ 1434 million as compared to a hedge position of US$ 566 million as on March 31, 2006.

SCHEDULE 'Q' - NOTES TO ACCOUNTS

1) Significant Accounting Policies

a) Basis of Preparation

The financial statements are prepared under the historical cost convention and the requirements of the Companies Act, 1956.

b) Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements requires the management of the Company to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported balances of assets and liabilities and disclosures relating to the contingent liabilities as at the date of the financial statements and reported amounts of income and expenses during the year. Example of such estimates include provisions for doubtful debts, employee retirement benefit plans, provision for income taxes, accounting for contract costs expected to be incurred to complete software development and the useful lives of fixed assets.

c) Fixed Assets

Fixed Assets are stated at cost, less accumulated depreciation. Costs include all expenses incurred to bring the assets to its present location and condition. Exchange differences on translation of foreign currency loans obtained to purchase fixed assets from countries outside India are included in the cost of such assets.

Fixed assets exclude computers and other assets individually costing Rs. 50,000 or less which are not capitalised except when they are part of a larger capital investment programme.

d) Depreciation

Depreciation other than on freehold land and capital work-in-progress is charged so as to write-off the cost of assets, on the following basis:

Leasehold Land and Buildings	Straight line	Lease period
Freehold Buildings	Written down value	5%
Leasehold Improvements	Straight line	Lease period
Plant and Machinery	Straight line	33.33%
Computer Equipment	Straight line	50%
Motor Cars	Written down value	25.89%
Office Equipment	Written down value	13.91%
Electrical Installations	Written down value	13.91%
Furniture and Fixtures	Straight line	100%
Intellectual Property / Distribution Rights	Straight line	24 – 36 months

e) Leases

Lease arrangements where the risks and rewards incident to ownership of an asset substantially vest with the lessor, are recognised as operating leases. Lease rents under operating leases are recognised in the Profit and Loss account on a straight-line basis.

f) Impairment

At each balance sheet date, the Management reviews the carrying amounts of assets and goodwill included in each cash generating unit to determine whether there is any indication that those assets were impaired. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset and goodwill is estimated in order to determine the extent of impairment loss. Recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's net selling price and value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows expected from the continuing use of the asset and from its disposal are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects the current market assessments of time value of money and the risks specific to the asset.

Reversal of impairment loss is recognised immediately as income in the profit and loss account.

g) Investments

Long-term investments are stated at cost, less provision for other than temporary diminution in value. Current investments comprising investments in mutual funds are stated at the lower of cost and fair value, determined on a portfolio basis.

h) Employee benefits (Refer Note 7, page 128)i) Post-employment benefit plans

Payments to defined contribution retirement benefit schemes are charged as an expense as they fall due.

For defined benefit schemes, the cost of providing benefits is determined using the Projected Unit Credit Method, with actuarial valuations being carried out at each balance sheet date. Actuarial gains and losses are recognised in full in the Profit and Loss account for the period in which they occur. Past service cost is recognised immediately to the extent that the benefits are already vested, and otherwise is amortised on a straight-line basis over the average period until the benefits become vested.

The retirement benefit obligation recognised in the balance sheet represents the present value of the defined benefit obligation as adjusted for unrecognised past service cost, and as reduced by the fair value of scheme assets. Any asset resulting from this calculation is limited to past service cost, plus the present value of available refunds and reductions in future contributions to the scheme.

ii) Short-term employee benefits

The undiscounted amount of short-term employee benefits expected to be paid in exchange for the services rendered by employees is recognised during the period when the employee renders the service. These benefits include compensated absences such as paid annual leave, overseas social security contributions and performance incentives.

i) Revenue recognition

Revenues from contracts priced on a time and materials basis are recognised when services are rendered and related costs are incurred.

Revenues from turnkey contracts, which are generally time bound fixed price contracts, are recognised over the life of the contract using the proportionate completion method, with contract costs determining the degree of completion. Foreseeable losses on such contracts are recognised when probable.

Revenues from the sale of equipment are recognised upon delivery, which is when title passes to the customer.

Revenues from maintenance contracts are recognised pro-rata over the period of the contract.

Revenues from Business Process Outsourcing (BPO) services are recognised on time and material, fixed price and unit priced contracts. Revenue on time and material, unit priced contracts is recognised as the related services are rendered. Revenue from fixed price contracts is recognised as per the proportionate completion method with contract cost determining the degree of completion.

Dividends are recorded when the right to receive payment is established. Interest income is recognised on time proportion basis.

j) Research and Development

Research and Development expenditure is recognised in the profit and loss account when incurred. Fixed assets utilised for research and development are capitalised and depreciated in accordance with the depreciation rates set out in paragraph 1(d).

k) Taxation

Current income tax expense comprises taxes on income from operations in India and in foreign jurisdictions. Income tax payable in India is determined in accordance with the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961. Tax expense relating to foreign operations is determined in accordance with tax laws applicable in countries where such operations are domiciled.

Deferred tax expense or benefit is recognised on timing differences being the difference between taxable income and accounting income that originate in one period and are capable of reversal in one or more subsequent periods. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using the tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the balance sheet date.

In the event of unabsorbed depreciation and carry forward of losses, deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that there is virtual certainty that sufficient taxable income will be available to realise such assets. In other situations, deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that there is reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available to realise these assets.

Advance taxes and provisions for current income taxes are presented in the balance sheet after off-setting advance taxes paid and income tax provisions arising in the same tax jurisdiction.

The Company offsets deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities relating to taxes on income levied by the same governing taxation laws.

l) Foreign currency transactions

Income and expenses in foreign currencies are converted at exchange rates prevailing on the date of the transaction. Foreign currency monetary assets and liabilities other than net investments in non-integral foreign operations are translated at the exchange rate prevailing on the balance sheet date. Exchange difference arising on a monetary item that, in substance, forms part of an enterprise's net investments in a non-integral foreign operation are accumulated in a foreign currency translation reserve.

Premium or discount on forward exchange contracts are amortized and recognised in the profit and loss account over the period of the contract. Forward exchange contracts outstanding at the balance sheet date are stated at fair values and any gains or losses are recognised in the profit and loss account.

Exchange differences, other than on foreign currency loans to acquire fixed assets from countries outside India are recognised in the profit and loss account.

m) Derivative instruments and hedge accounting

The Company uses foreign currency forward contracts to hedge its risks associated with foreign currency fluctuations relating to certain firm commitments and forecasted transactions. The Company designates these as cash flow hedges.

The use of foreign currency forward contracts is governed by the Company's policies approved by the board of directors, which provide written principles on the use of such financial derivatives consistent with the Company's risk management strategy. The Company does not use derivative financial instruments for speculative purposes.

Foreign currency forward contract derivative instruments are initially measured at fair value, and are remeasured at subsequent reporting dates. Changes in the fair value of these derivatives that are designated and effective as hedges of future cash flows are recognised directly in shareholders' funds and the ineffective portion is recognised immediately in profit and loss account.

Changes in the fair value of derivative financial instruments that do not qualify for hedge accounting are recognised in profit and loss account as they arise.

Hedge accounting is discontinued when the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated, or exercised, or no longer qualifies for hedge accounting. At that time for forecasted transactions, any cumulative gain or loss on the hedging instrument recognised in shareholder's funds is retained there until the forecasted transaction occurs. If a hedged transaction is no longer expected to occur, the net cumulative gain or loss recognised in shareholders' funds is transferred to profit and loss account for the year.

n) Employee Stock Purchase Scheme

In accordance with the Employee Stock Option Scheme and Employee Stock Purchase Scheme Guidelines, 1999 issued by the Securities and Exchange Board of India ("SEBI"), the excess of market price one day prior to the date of issue of the shares over the price at which they are issued is recognised as employee compensation cost.

o) Inventories

Raw materials, sub-assemblies and components are carried at lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost is determined on a weighted average basis. Purchased goods in transit are carried at cost. Work-in-progress is carried at lower of cost or net realisable value. Stores and spare parts are carried at cost, less provision for obsolescence. Finished goods produced or purchased by the Company are carried at lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost includes direct material and labour cost and a proportion of manufacturing overheads.

2) Amalgamation of Companies

- a) Airline Financial Support Services (India) Limited, Aviation Software Development Consultancy India Limited and TCS Business Transformation Solutions Limited – wholly owned subsidiaries of Tata Consultancy Services Limited have been amalgamated with the Company with effect from April 1, 2005 in terms of the Scheme of Amalgamation ("Scheme") sanctioned by the High Court of Judicature at Bombay, High Court of Judicature at Madras and the High Court of Karnataka, Bangalore, vide their orders dated December 9, 2005, January 25, 2006 and January 13, 2006 respectively. Balance as at March 31, 2007	-

On November 24, 1998 the Regional Provident Fund Commissioner of Mumbai (RPFC) issued an order stating that the erstwhile TCS Division was rendering "expert services" in accordance with a notification issued by Central Government of India under the Provident Funds Act, 1952 (the PF Act), in which the RPFC sought to cover the erstwhile TCS Division under the PF Act and claimed administrative charges. The erstwhile TCS Division filed a legal case contesting the order in the High Court of Judicature at Bombay.

Pending resolution of the matter, a provision of Rs. 46.83 crores upto June 30, 2006 (March 31, 2006: Rs. 44.29 crores) was made based on the management's estimate of the claim for administrative charges.

The High Court of Judicature at Bombay, vide its judgement dated September 20, 2006, has upheld the Company's case against the RPFC, setting aside its order dated November 24, 1998. Management is of the opinion that in view of the favourable decision of the High Court of Judicature at Bombay, the provision for administrative charges is no longer required. Accordingly an amount of Rs. 46.83 crores has been credited to "Company's Contribution to Provident Fund Account" during the year ended March 31, 2007.

- 11) Obligations towards non-cancellable lease

Lease Obligation

	2007	2006
	(Rs. in crores)	(Rs. in crores)
Due not later than one year	133.80	68.71
Due later than one year but not later than five years	327.90	141.74
Later than five years	228.08	11.28
Total	689.78	221.73

Rental expenses of Rs. 204.64 crores (Previous year: Rs. 47.96 crores) in respect of obligation under operating leases have been recognised in the profit and loss account.

- 12) Research and development expenditure aggregating Rs. 28.02 crores (Previous year: Rs. 30.16 crores) was incurred during the year.
- 13) In accordance with the Employee Stock Option Scheme of the Employees' Share Participation Trust ("Trust") of the erstwhile Tata Infotech Limited, the "Trust" had granted 372950 options in earlier years out of the shares held by the Trust. Out of these options granted, the vesting period for 118116 options had not lapsed as of January 2006.

Subsequent to the approval of the shareholders of the amalgamation of TIL with the Company, the Trustees of the Trust at their meeting held on January 17, 2006, dissolved the Trust in terms of the Trust Deed in view of the imminent amalgamation. The dissolution of the Trust resulted in the unvested options for 118116 shares becoming fully exercisable by the employees. Further, disbursements of the residual assets in the Trust, comprising 120626 shares held by the Trust and cash amounting to Rs. 10.17 crores with the Trust, were made to certain employees of TIL in January 2006 and Rs. 1.24 crores was paid to the Company's Employee Welfare Trust.

Based on independent legal opinion, the Company is of the view that the SEBI (Employee Stock Option Scheme and Employee Share Purchase Scheme) Guidelines, 1999 do not apply to the accelerated vesting and distribution made in the course of the dissolution of the Trust in January 2006.

SCHEDULE 'Q' - NOTES TO ACCOUNTS1) Significant Accounting Policies*a) Basis of Preparation

The consolidated financial statements of Tata Consultancy Services Limited, its subsidiaries, associates and joint ventures ("the Group") are prepared under the historical cost convention and in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act, 1956.

Comparative figures do not include the figures of the newly acquired subsidiaries namely, TKS - Teknosoft S.A. and TCS Management Pty Ltd. Consequently, the comparative figures are not strictly comparable with the figures for the year ended and as at March 31, 2007.

b) Principles of consolidation

The financial statements of the subsidiary companies used in the consolidation are drawn up to the same reporting date as of the Company.

The consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the following basis:

- i) The financial statements of the Company and its subsidiary companies have been combined on a line-by-line basis by adding together like items of assets, liabilities, income and expenses. Inter-company balances and transactions and unrealised profits or losses have been fully eliminated.
- ii) Interest in a jointly controlled entity is reported using proportionate consolidation.
- iii) The consolidated financial statements include the share of profit / loss of associate companies, which are accounted under the 'Equity method' as per which the share of profit of the associate company is added to the cost of investment. An associate is an enterprise in which the investor has significant influence and which is neither a subsidiary nor a joint venture.
- iv) The excess of cost to the Company of its investments in subsidiary companies over its share of the equity of the subsidiary companies at the dates on which the investments in the subsidiary companies are made, is recognised as 'Goodwill' being an asset in the consolidated financial statements. Alternatively, where the share of equity in the subsidiary companies as on the date of investment is in excess of cost of investment of the Company, it is recognised as 'Capital Reserve' and shown under the head 'Reserves and Surplus', in the consolidated financial statements.
- v) Minority interest in the net assets of consolidated subsidiaries consists of the amount of equity attributable to the minority shareholders at the dates on which investments are made by the Company in the subsidiary companies and further movements in their share in the equity, subsequent to the dates of investments.

c) Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements requires the management of the Company to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported balances of assets and liabilities and disclosures relating to the contingent liabilities as at the date of the financial statements and reported amounts of income and expenses during the period. Example of such estimates include provisions for doubtful debts, employee retirement benefit plans, provision for income taxes, accounting for contract costs expected to be incurred to complete software development and the useful lives of fixed assets.

d) Fixed Assets

Fixed Assets are stated at cost less accumulated depreciation. Costs include all expenses incurred to bring the assets to its present location and condition. Exchange differences on translation of foreign currency loans obtained to purchase fixed assets from countries outside India are included in the cost of such assets.

Fixed assets exclude computers and other assets individually costing Rs. 50,000 or less which are not capitalised except when they are part of a larger capital investment programme.

e) Depreciation

Depreciation other than on freehold land and capital work-in-progress is charged so as to write-off the cost of the assets on the following basis:

Leasehold Land and Buildings	Straight-Line	Lease period
Freehold Buildings	Written down value	5%
Leasehold Improvements	Straight-Line	Lease period
Plant and Machinery	Straight-Line	33.33%
Computer Equipment	Straight-Line	16% - 50%
Motor Cars	Written down value	25% - 40%
Office Equipment	Straight-Line	4% - 35%
	Written down value	13.91%
Electrical Installations	Written down value	13% - 15%
Furniture and Fixtures	Written down value	15% - 100%
Goodwill	Straight-Line	12 years
Acquired Contract Rights	Straight-Line	12 years
Intellectual Property / Distribution Rights	Straight-Line	24 – 36 months
Software Licenses	Straight-Line	License Period

f) Leases

Where the Company, as a lessor, leases assets under finance leases such amounts are recognised as receivables at an amount equal to the net investment in the lease and the finance income is based on a constant rate of return on the outstanding net investment.

Assets leased by the Company in the capacity of the lessee, where the Company has substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership are classified as finance lease. Such leases are capitalised at the inception of the lease at lower of the fair value or the present value of the minimum lease payments and a liability is created for an equivalent amount. Each lease rental paid is allocated between the liability and the interest cost so as to obtain a constant periodic rate of interest on the outstanding liability for each year.

Lease arrangements, where the risks and rewards incident to ownership of an asset substantially vests with the lessor, are recognised as operating lease. Lease rentals under operating lease are recognised in the profit and loss account on a straight-line basis.

g) Impairment

At each balance sheet date, the management reviews the carrying amounts of assets and goodwill included in each cash generating unit to determine whether there is any indication that those assets were impaired. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset and goodwill is estimated in order to determine the extent of impairment loss. Recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's net selling price and value in use. In assessing value in use, the estimated future cash flows expected from the continuing use of the asset and from its disposal are discounted to their present value using a pre-tax discount rate that reflects the current market assessments of time value of money and risks specific to the asset.

Reversal of impairment loss is recognised immediately as income in the profit and loss account.

h) Investments

Long-term investments are stated at cost, less provision for other than temporary diminution in value. Current investments comprising investments in mutual funds are stated at the lower of cost and fair value, determined on a portfolio basis.

i) Employee benefits (Refer note 7, page 162)

i) Post-employment benefit plans

Payments to defined contribution retirement benefit schemes are charged as an expense as they fall due.

For defined benefit schemes, the cost of providing benefits is determined using the Projected Unit Credit Method, with actuarial valuations being carried out at each balance sheet date. Actuarial gains and losses are recognised in full in the Profit and Loss account for the period in which they occur. Past service cost is recognised immediately to the extent that the benefits are already vested, and otherwise is amortised on a straight-line basis over the average period until the benefits become vested.

The retirement benefit obligation recognised in the balance sheet represents the present value of the defined benefit obligation as adjusted for unrecognised past service cost, and as reduced by the fair value of scheme assets. Any asset resulting from this calculation is limited to past service cost, plus the present value of available refunds and reductions in future contributions to the scheme.

ii) Short-term employee benefits

The undiscounted amount of short-term employee benefits expected to be paid in exchange for the services rendered by employees is recognised during the period when the employee renders the services. These benefits include compensated absences such as paid annual leave, overseas social security contributions and performance incentives.

j) Revenue recognition

Revenues from contracts priced on a time and materials basis are recognised when services are rendered and related costs are incurred.

Revenues from turnkey contracts, which are generally time bound fixed price contracts, are recognised over the life of the contract using the proportionate completion method, with contract costs determining the degree of completion. Foreseeable losses on such contracts are recognised when probable.

Revenues from the sale of equipment are recognised upon delivery, which is when title passes to the customer.

Revenues from maintenance contracts are recognised pro-rata over the period of the contract.

Revenues from Business Process Outsourcing (BPO) services are recognised on time and material, fixed price and unit priced contracts. Revenue on time and material, unit priced contracts is recognised as the related services are rendered. Revenue from fixed price contracts is recognised as per the proportionate completion method with contract cost determining the degree of completion.

Dividends are recorded when the right to receive payment is established. Interest income is recognised on time proportion basis.

k) Research and Development

Research and Development expenditure is recognised in the profit and loss account when incurred. Fixed assets utilised for research and development are capitalised and depreciated in accordance with the depreciation rates set out in paragraph 1(e).

l) Taxation

Current income tax expense comprises of taxes on income from operations in India and in foreign jurisdictions. Income tax payable in India is determined in accordance with the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1961. Tax expense relating to overseas operations is determined in accordance with tax laws applicable in countries where such operations are domiciled.

Deferred tax expense or benefit is recognised on timing differences being the difference between taxable income and accounting income that originate in one period and are capable of reversal in one or more subsequent periods. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using the tax rates and tax laws that have been enacted or substantively enacted by the balance sheet date.

In the event of unabsorbed depreciation and carry forward of losses, deferred tax assets are recognised to the extent that there is virtual certainty that sufficient taxable income will be available to realise these assets. In other situations, deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that there is reasonable certainty that sufficient future taxable income will be available to realise these deferred tax assets.

Advance taxes and provisions for current income taxes are presented in the balance sheet after off-setting advance tax and income tax provision arising in the same tax jurisdiction and intends to settle the asset and liability on a net basis.

The Company offsets deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities relating to taxes on income levied by the same governing taxation laws.

m) Foreign currency transactions

Income and expenses in foreign currencies are converted at exchange rates prevailing on the date of the transaction. Foreign currency monetary assets and liabilities other than net investments in non-integral foreign operations are translated at the exchange rate prevailing on the balance sheet date. Exchange difference arising on a monetary item that, in substance, forms part of an enterprise's net investments in a non-integral foreign operation are accumulated in a foreign currency translation reserve.

Premium or discount on forward exchange contracts are amortised and recognised in the profit and loss account over the period of the contract. Forward exchange contracts outstanding at the balance sheet date are stated at fair values and any gains or losses are recognised in the profit and loss account.

For the purpose of consolidation, income and expenses are translated at average rates and the assets and liabilities are stated at closing rate. The net impact of such change is disclosed under Foreign exchange translation reserve.

n) Derivative instruments and hedge accounting

The Company uses foreign currency forward contracts to hedge its risks associated with foreign currency fluctuations relating to certain firm commitments and forecasted transactions. The Company designates these as cash flow hedges.

The use of foreign currency forward contracts is governed by the Company's policies approved by the board of directors, which provide written principles on the use of such financial derivatives consistent with the Company's risk management strategy. The Company does not use derivative financial instruments for speculative purposes.

Foreign currency forward contract derivative instruments are initially measured at fair value, and are re-measured at subsequent reporting dates. Changes in the fair value of these derivatives that are designated and effective as hedges of future cash flows are recognised directly in shareholders' funds and the ineffective portion is recognised immediately in the profit and loss account.

Changes in the fair value of derivative financial instruments that do not qualify for hedge accounting are recognised in profit and loss account as they arise.

Hedge accounting is discontinued when the hedging instrument expires or is sold, terminated, or exercised, or no longer qualifies for hedge accounting. At that time for forecasted transactions, any cumulative gain or loss on the hedging instrument recognised in shareholder's funds is retained there until the forecasted transaction occurs. If a hedged transaction is no longer expected to occur, the net cumulative gain or loss recognised in shareholders' funds is transferred to the profit and loss account for the period.

o) Employee Stock Purchase Scheme

In accordance with the Employee Stock Option Scheme and Employee Stock Purchase Scheme Guidelines, 1999 issued by the Securities and Exchange Board of India ("SEBI"), the excess of market price one day prior to the date of issue of the shares over the price at which they are issued is recognised as employee compensation cost.

p) Inventories

Raw materials, sub-assemblies and components are carried at lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost is determined on a weighted average basis. Purchased goods in transit are carried at cost. Work-in-progress is carried at lower of cost and net realisable value. Stores and spare parts are carried at cost, less provision for obsolescence. Finished goods produced or purchased by the Company are carried at lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost includes direct material and labour cost and a proportion of manufacturing overheads.

a) Provident Fund

On November 24, 1998 the Regional Provident Commissioner of Mumbai (RPFC) issued an order stating that erstwhile TCS Division was rendering "expert services" in accordance with a notification issued by Central Government of India under the Provident Funds Act, 1952 (the PF Act), in which the RPFC sought to cover the erstwhile TCS Division under the PF Act and claimed administrative charges. The erstwhile TCS Division filed a legal case against the order in the High Court of Bombay.

Pending resolution of the matter, a provision of Rs. 46.83 crores upto June 30, 2006 (March 31, 2006: Rs. 44.29 crores) was made based on the management's estimate of the claim for administrative charges.

The High Court of Judicature at Bombay, vide its judgement dated September 20, 2006, has upheld the Company's case against the RPFC, setting aside its order dated November 24, 1998. Management is of the opinion that in view of the favourable decision of the High Court of Judicature at Bombay, the provision for administrative charges is no longer required. Accordingly an amount of Rs. 46.83 crores has been credited to "Company's Contribution to Provident Fund Account" in the quarter ended September 30, 2006.
