Same-sex marriage, transgenderism, and divorce are demonic attacks on the family, Cardinal Robert Sarah warned in his keynote speech for the National Catholic Prayer Breakfast in Washington D.C. early on Tuesday, May 17th, 2016.

“This is about defending ourselves, children, and future generations” he said, according to LifeSiteNews, “from a demonic ideology that says children do not need mothers and fathers. It denies human nature and wants to cut off entire generations from God.”

He listed examples of this evil ideology: “Do we not see signs of this insidious war in this great nation of the United States? [...] The legalization of same-sex marriage, the obligation to accept contraception within health care programs, and even ‘bathroom bills’ that allow men to use the women’s restrooms and locker rooms.”

“Should not a biological man use the men’s restroom? How simpler can that concept be?”

He also pointed to divorce and cohabitation as destructive, especially for children.

“The rupture of the foundational relationships of someone’s life – through separation, divorce, or distorted impositions of the family, such as cohabitation or same sex unions – is a deep wound that closes the heart to self-giving love [unto] death, and even leads to cynicism and despair.”

“These situations cause damage to the little children through inflicting upon them a deep existential doubt about love. They are a scandal – a stumbling block – that prevent the most vulnerable from believing in such love, and a crushing burden that can prevent them from opening to the healing power of the Gospel.”

He lamented that new problems are compounding the old ones. “Sadly, the advent of artificial reproductive technologies, surrogacy, so-called homosexual ‘marriage,’ and other evils of gender ideology, will inflict even more wounds in the midst of generations we live with.”

“This is why,” he concluded, “it is so important to fight to protect the family, the first cell of the life of the Church and every society.”

His speech is reported to have been received with thunderous applause from the audience. The program also included Speaker Paul Ryan, Fr. Paul Scalia (son of the late Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia), and Sr. Constance Veit from the Little Sisters of the Poor.

Celebrations were held last week as both our four-year old pre schoolers and our kindergarten class held "graduation" ceremonies. We congratulate both groups of students on their hard work and effort all year.

Our last day of school for students will be Wednesday, May 30. Students will end the year with a final school Mass at 9 AM on Wednesday at St. Francis Xavier Church.

Step-up Day was held last week for our students as they moved ahead to the following grade and met their teacher for next year.

We wish our ASCS school family a safe, joyous summer and thank all of our supporters, faculty, staff for their time, treasure, and efforts.

Quotes from an article found online at
<https://www.dailywire.com/news/30130/walsh-boy-scouts-matt-walsh>
By Matt Walsh on May 2, 2018

"The process is complete. The Boy Scouts, a once proud and important organization that helped shape boys into young men, is dead. ...

The Boy Scouts giving up its name is the inevitable last step in a devolution that began when the Boy Scouts gave up its spine. First, they ceded to the Left's demands and admitted gay scouts. Then it surrendered again and admitted gay scout leaders. Then it surrendered again and admitted 'transgenders.' Then it surrendered again and admitted girls. ...

I won't let my sons anywhere near this embarrassment of an organization. I want them to be men...

But the Scouts will provide a very helpful example for my boys. I plan to use this sad story as a cautionary tale to teach them one crucial thing: Never, ever, ever, ever surrender to the enemies of truth and reason.

Do not give them an inch. Do not compromise on anything, even the smallest thing. If you are sure that you are standing firmly on solid ground, do not surrender the smallest portion of it. Stand firm, no matter how much they whine about it, and no matter what insults and accusations they throw at you.

The Left is not interested in making minor reforms and changes to things. Rather, it wants to completely obliterate every traditional American institution and rebuild them in its own deformed image. If you show any susceptibility, you will not be left alone until you have been completely torn down and annihilated.

Our godless, evil culture demands conformity above all else. It does not know what it wants or where it is going, but it insists that you join it, nevertheless, in its confusion. The only safe choice is to refuse completely, entirely, and with prejudice."
