Secondary Crosswalk Introduction

The 2021 Oklahoma Academic Standards for English Language Arts were revised based on the 2016 standards. Teachers and school districts can use the following crosswalk documents to compare and contrast the 2021 and 2016 standards and objectives. The documents are organized into three columns: the 2021 standards and objectives on the left, the 2016 standards and objectives in the middle, and a blank column for notes on the right. Bolded words indicate different language in the 2021 standards and objectives compared to the 2016 language. (See the third and fourth rows in the sample table.) Teachers can work individually or with others in their professional learning communities to record their notes in the third column.

Most standards and objectives correlate, but a gray box indicates when an objective does not have a predecessor in 2016 or a continuance in 2021. Furthermore, there is an explanation in those boxes, which says if the objective moved to a different grade, was removed, was created by prior objectives, or did not exist at all in 2016. (See the second row in the sample table.)

Sometimes one objective is represented in multiple objectives in the current or former iteration, which is shown by pairing a single box with multiple boxes. (Note how the third and fourth rows from the first column are paired with the large third row in the second column in the sample table.)

These crosswalk documents can be used to more deeply understand the shifts in the standards, so teachers and school districts can make the necessary changes to their lessons and units to fully educate their students in English language arts.
