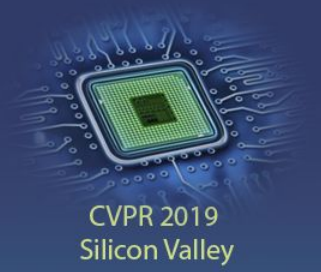
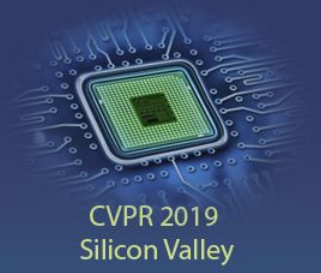
Sponsorship Model & Budget



- We will use the 50/50 CVF/IEEE-CS model
- Budget
  - Member early registration fee = $500
  - Student early registration fee = $300
  - Conservative assumptions about industrial support
- Best practices from recent CVPR's
  - Virtual AC meeting to limit costs
  - Traditional program and layout (2 tracks, orals/posters, spotlights)
  - Special issue of best papers in TPAMI
  - New features, such as babysitting service

Coordination with ICML19



Space is on hold for both CVPR19 and ICML19

CVPR would meet June 16-21, followed by ICML June 21-26

We will schedule a half-day overlap featuring stellar speakers involved in both computer vision and machine learning

Venue

- Space on hold at Santa Clara Convention Center
- 302,000 sq foot center, surrounded by 3,800 hotel rooms

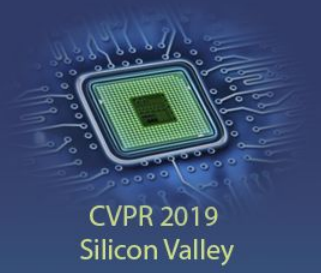
Easy access to the meeting venue

CVPR19 will run free shuttle busses for students

Industrial support will be highlighted



- High tech, computer vision centric companies at Silicon Valley such as Apple, Google, Microsoft, Amazon, Facebook, NVidia can showcase their latest technologies
- A large hallroom for computer vision expo!
  - No longer a peripheral show, but at the center of the conference
- Broad coverage
  - hardware/software, mobile/web/backend, VR
- Potential big announcement from tech titans
