At a Glance: Product Listing Ads

Data Feed Basics

What you must know about data feeds

- A data feed is a file containing a list of products you sell online and is the basis for a Google Product Listing Ads (PLA) campaign
- Uses categories of information about each product called “attributes,” e.g.:
 - Title
 - Description
 - Price
 - Availability
- Some attributes can be filled with custom values, e.g.:
 - Title - Mens Grey V-Neck T-Shirt, Size Small
 - Price - $29.99
- Other attributes require standard values, e.g.:
 - Condition - new, used, refurbished
 - Availability - in stock, out of stock, available for order, preorder
- Feeds have required attributes, and others that are only recommended attributes:
 - Attribute requirements
 - All possible attributes

Creating Your Feed

Creating Your Feed

You have 2 main options for creating your data feed

Option 1 - Text

- Recommended for:
 - Merchants w/ small inventory
 - Beginners
- Requires only basic knowledge of creating/editing spreadsheets
- Can create with any spreadsheet editor
 - Microsoft Excel, Google Spreadsheets
- Submit as .txt or .csv file type

Option 2 - XML

- Recommended for:
 - Merchants w/ large inventory
 - Users of eCommerce databases that auto-generate XML files
- Requires XML coding knowledge
- Can be more powerful because easy to include multiple values for a single attribute
- Submit as .xml file type

Creating Your Feed

Example: Option 1 - Text

- Use a spreadsheet editing program - e.g. Google Spreadsheets, Microsoft Excel,
- Type attribute names in the first row
 - Think of theses as your column headers
 - Each should be in its own column and/or separated by a tab
- Enter attribute values for each product in its own row
 - All products should be entered after the first row with attribute names
 - Attribute values
 - Ensure column values correspond to the attribute header
- When complete, save your file as .csv or .txt

Creating Your Feed

Example: Option 2 - XML

- Use any text editing program to create and edit files - e.g. Notepad, SimpleText, etc.
- Google supports extended versions of RSS 2.0 and Atom 1.0
- XML uses tags to define blocks of content
 - Attributes values surround product information, in <angle brackets>
 - Product information is contained within these tags

Simple RSS 2.0 Data Feed Example

<?xml version="1.0"?>
<rss version="2.0" xmlns:g="http://base.google.com/ns/1.0">

      <g:condition>new</g:condition>
      <link>http://www.example.com/SchwinnCruiser</link>

Managing PLA Campaigns

Product Listing Ads Campaigns

You'll use certain attributes to target and track your PLA campaign

Attribute	Definition
id	Unique identification number for every product in feed - useful for bidding on individual products, perhaps best sellers product type	Classification of of your products by category (e.g. Bikes > Road Bikes > Mens) - useful for bidding differently on different product categories Note: while you can customize values in this attribute however you'd like, many merchants simply copy the values they're already using for the "google product category" attribute
brand	Manufacturer's brand name for a product - useful for submitting on particular brands of products adwords labels	Custom tags for products - useful for grouping products in an arbitrary way so that you can bid on them as a group (e.g. "clearance" label to tag shirts, shoes, and handbags that are on sale but share no other attribute values) - can use multiple labels for a single item
adwords grouping	Very similar to "adwords labels" -- only difference is that you can only have 1 grouping tag per item Note: for the CPA% bidding beta, can only use this attribute to target groups of products
adwords redirect	Two main uses: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1) Specify a separate tracking URL to report on traffic coming from Google Shopping 2) Specify a mobile landing page for products In both cases, must ensure URL redirects to the same domain as the item's product page URL

Example: Acme Bikes Shop PLA campaign attributes

- Acme Bikes Shop wants to prioritize their best selling and their high margin items - so, they use labels to tag relevant products in their data feed
- Tip: Important to think about how you want to bid on groups of your products when creating feeds - this way, you can ensure they share at least 1 attribute so you can target them together

id	title	price	availability	adwords labels	adwords labels	product type	brand
1	Schwinn 26" Ladies' Delmar Cruiser Bike	220.99 USD	in stock	bestseller	high margin	Bikes > Cruisers	Schwinn

Tips for success with data feed submission

- When submitting a new feed or a feed with new items, it may take up to 2 business days for your items to be reviewed and approved to run as PLAs
- Must submit your feed at least once every 30 days - for optimal performance, should re-submit your feed whenever product information changes, up to once per day
- If you're using multiple feeds, keep items in the same feed with each submission - in other words, avoid moving items to different feeds
- Upload your feed as a "test feed" to get a report of errors and issues with your feed
 - In Data Feeds tab in Merchant Center, click "New Test Data Feed" to register a new test feed
 - Upload feed in registered test feed slot
