THE FIRST BOOK OF MOSES, CALLED GENESIS.

In the beginning God created heaven, and earth. And 1, 2 the earth was void and empty, and darkness was upon the face of the deep; and the spirit of God moved over the waters. And God said: Be light made. And light 3 was made. And God saw the light that it was good; and he 4 divided the light from the darkness. And he called the light 5 Day, and the darkness Night; and there was evening and morning one day. And God said: Let there be a firmament made amidst 6 the waters: and let it divide the waters from the waters. And 7 god made a firmament, and divided the waters that were under the firmament, from those that were above the firmament, and it was so. And God called the firmament, Heaven; and the 8 evening and morning were the second day. God also said; Let 9 the waters that are under the heaven, be gathered together into one place: and let the dry land appear. And it was so done.
And God called the dry land, Earth; and the gathering together 10 of the waters, he called Seas. And God saw that it was good.
And he said: let the earth bring forth green herb, and such as 11 may seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after its kind, which may have seed in itself upon the earth. And it was so done. And 12 the earth brought forth the green herb, and such as yieldeth seed according to its kind, and the tree that beareth fruit, having seed each one according to its kind. And God saw that it was good.
And the evening and the morning were the third day. And God 13, 14 said: Let there be lights made in the firmament of heaven, to divide the day and the night, and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days and years: To shine in the firmament of 15 heaven, and to give light upon the earth, and it was so done.
And God made two great lights: a greater light to rule the day; 16 and a lesser light to rule the night: and The stars. And he set 17 18 them in the firmament of heaven to shine upon the earth. And to rule the day and the night, and to divide the light and the 19 darkness. And God saw that it was good. And the evening 20 and morning were the fourth day. God also said: let the waters bring forth the creeping creature having life, and the fowl that 21 may fly over the earth under the firmament of heaven. And God created the great whales, and every living and moving creature, which the waaters brought forth, according to their kinds, and every winged fowl according to its kind. And God saw that it 22 was good. And he blessed them, saying: Increase and multiply, and fill the waters of the sea: and let the birds be multiplied 23 upon the earth. And the evening and morning were the fifth 24 day. And God said: Let the earth bring forth the living creature in its kind, cattle and creeping things, and beasts of the earth, 25 according to their kinds. And it was so done. And God made the beasts of the earth according to their kinds, and cattle, and every thing that creepeth on the earth after its kind. And God 26 saw that it was good. And he said: Let us make man to our image and likeness: and let him have dominion over the fishes of the sea, and the fowls of the air, and the beasts, and the whole earth, and every creeping creature that moveth upon the earth.

27 And God created man to his own image: to the image of God 28 he created him: male and female he created them. And God blessed them, saying: Increase and multiply, and fill the earth, and subdue it, and rule over the fishes of the sea, and the fowls of 29 the air, and all living creatures that move upon the earth. And God said: Behold I have given you every herb bearing seed upon the earth, and all trees that have in themselves seed of their own 30 kind, to be your meat: And to all beasts of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to all that move upon the earth, and wherein there is life, that they may have to feed upon. And it 31 was so done. And God saw all the things that he had made, and they were very good. And the evening and morning were the sixth day.

2 So the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the fur-2 niture of them. And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made: and he rested on the seventh day from all 3 his work which he had done. And he blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because in it he had rested from all his work which God created and made. These are the generations of 4 the heaven and the earth, when they were created, in the day that the Lord God made the heaven and the earth: And every 5 plant of the field before it sprung up in the earth, and every herb of the ground before it grew: for the Lord God had not rained 6 upon the earth; and there was not a man to till the earth. But a spring rose out of the earth, watering all the surface of the 7 earth. And the Lord God formed man of the slime of the earth: 8 and breathed into his face the breath of life, and man became a living soul. And the Lord God had planted a paradise of 8 pleasure from the beginning: wherein he placed man whom he had formed. And the Lord God brought forth of the ground 9 manner of trees, fair to behold, and pleasant to eat of: the tree of life also in the midst of paradise: and the tree of knowledge 10 of good and evil. And a river went out of the place of pleasure 11 to water paradise, which from thence is divided into four heads.

The name of the one is Phison: that is it which compasseth all 12 the land of Hevilath, where gold groweth. And the gold of that land is very good: there is found bdellium, and the onyx stone.
And the name of the second river is Gehon: the same is it that 13 compasseth all the land of Ethiopia. And the name of the third 14 river is Tigris: the same passeth along by the Assyrians. And the fourth river is Euphrates. And the Lord God took man, and 15 put him into the paradise of pleasure, to dress it, and to keep it.
And he commanded him, saying: Of every tree of paradise thou 16 shalt eat: But of the tree of knowledge of good and evil, thou 17 shalt not eat. For in what day soever thou shalt eat of it, thou shalt die the death. And the Lord God said: It is not good for 18 man to be alone: let us make him a help like unto himself. And 19 the Lord God having formed out of the ground all the beasts of the earth, and all the fowls of the air, brought them to Adam to see what he would call them: for whatsoever Adam called any living creature the same is its name. And Adam called all the 20 beasts by their names, and all the fowls of the air, and all the cattle of the field: but for Adam there was not found a helper like himself. Then the Lord God cast a deep sleep upon Adam: 21 and when he was fast asleep, he took one of his ribs, and filled up flesh for it. And the Lord God built the rib which he took 22 from Adam into a woman: and brought her to Adam. And 23

Adam said: This now is bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh; she shall be called woman, because she was taken out of man.

24 Wherefore a man shall leave father and mother, and shall cleave 25 to his wife: and they shall be two in one flesh. And they were both naked: to wit, Adam and his wife: and were not ashamed.

3 Now the serpent was more subtle than any of the beasts of the earth which the Lord God had made. And he said to the woman: Why hath God commanded you, that you should not 2 eat of every tree of paradise? And the woman answered him, saying: Of the fruit of the trees that are in paradise we do eat: 3 But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of paradise, God hath commanded us that we should not eat; and that we 4 should not touch it, lest perhaps we die. And the serpent said 5 to the woman: No, you shall not die the death. For God doth know that in what day soever you shall eat thereof, your eyes shall be opened: and you shall be as Gods, knowing good and 6 evil. And the woman saw that the tree was good to eat, and fair to the eyes, and delightful to behold: and she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave to her husband, who did 7 eat. And the eyes of them both were opened: and when they perceived themselves to be naked, they sewed together fig leaves, 8 and made themselves aprons. And when they heard the voice of the Lord God walking in paradise at the afternoon air, Adam and his wife hid themselves from the face of the Lord God, amidst 9 the trees of paradise. And the Lord God called Adam, and 10 said to him: Where art thou? And he said: I heard thy voice in paradise; and I was afraid, because I was naked, and I hid 11 myself. And he said to him: And who hath told thee that thou wast naked, but that thou hast eaten of the tree whereof I 12 commanded thee that thou shouldst not eat? And Adam said:
The woman, whom thou gavest me to be my companion, gave 13 me of the tree, and I did eat. And the Lord God said to the woman: Why hast thou done this? And she answered: The 14 serpent deceived me, and I did eat. And the Lord God said to the serpent: Because thou hast done this thing, thou art cursed among all cattle, and beasts of the earth: upon thy breast shalt 15 thou go, and earth shalt thou eat all the days of thy life. I will put enmities between thee and the woman, and thy seed and her seed: she shall crush thy head, and thou shalt lie in wait for her heel. To the woman also he said: I will multiply thy 16 sorrows, and thy conceptions: in sorrow shalt thou bring forth children, and thou shalt be under thy husband's power, and he shall have dominion over thee. And to Adam he said: Because 17 thou hast hearkened to the voice of thy wife, and hast eaten of the tree, whereof I commanded thee, that thou shouldst not eat, cursed is the earth in thy work: with labour and toil shalt thou eat thereof all the days of thy life. Thorns and thistles shall it 18 bring forth to thee, and thou shalt eat the herbs of the earth.

In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread till thou return to 19 the earth out of which thou wast taken: for dust thou art, and into dust thou shalt return. And Adam called the name of his 20 wife Eve: because she was the mother of all the living. And 21 the Lord God made for Adam and his wife garments of skins, and clothed them. And he said: Behold Adam is become as 22 one of us, knowing good and evil: now therefore lest perhaps he put forth his hand and take also of the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever. And the Lord God sent him out of the paradise 23 of pleasure, to till the earth from which he was taken. And 24 he cast out Adam: and placed before the paradise of pleasure Cherubims, and a flaming sword, turning every way, to keep the way of the tree of life.

And Adam knew Eve his wife; who conceived and brought 4 forth Cain, saying: I have gotten a man through God. And 2 again she brought forth his brother Abel. And Abel was a shepherd, and Cain a husbandman. And it came to pass after many 3 days, that Cain offered, of the fruits of the earth, gifts to the Lord. Abel also offered of the firstlings of his flock, and of 4 their fat: and the Lord had respect to Abel, and to his offerings. But to Cain and his offerings he had no respect: and Cain 5 was exceeding angry, and his countenance fell. And the Lord 6 said to him: Why art thou angry? and why is thy countenance fallen? If thou do well, shalt thou not receive? but if ill, shall 7 not sin forthwith be present at the door? but the lust thereof shall be under thee, and thou shalt have dominion over it. And 8 Cain said to Abel his brother: Let us go forth abroad. And when they were in the field, Cain rose up against his brother Abel, and slew him. And the Lord said to Cain: Where is thy 9 brother Abel? And he answered: I know not: am I my brother's 10 keeper? And he said to him: What hast thou done? the voice 11 of thy brother's blood crieth to me from the earth. Now therefore cursed shalt thou be upon the earth, which hath opened her mouth and recieved the blood of thy brother at thy hand.

12 When thou shalt till it, it shall not yield to thee its fruit: a fugi-13 tive and a vagabond shalt thou be upon the earth. And Cain said to the Lord: My iniquity is greater than that I may deserve 14 pardon. Behold thou dost cast me out this day from the face of the earth, and from thy face I shall be hid, and I shall be a vagabond and a fugitive on the earth: every one therefore that 15 findeth me, shall kill me. And the Lord said to him: No, it shall not so be: but whosoever shall kill Cain, shall be punished seven-fold. And the Lord set a mark upon Cain, that whosoever found 16 him should not kill him. And Cain went out from the face of the Lord, and dwelt as a fugitive on the earth at the east side of 17 Eden. And Cain knew his wife, and she conceived, and brought forth Henoah: and he built a city, and called the name thereof 18 by the name of his son Henoah. And Henoah begot Irad, and Irad begot Maviael, and Maviael begot Mathusael, and Math-19 usael begot Lamech, Who took two wives: the name of the one 20 was Ada, and the name of the other Sella. And Ada brought forth Jabel: who was the father of such as dwell in tents, and 21 of herdsmen. And his brother's name was Jubal: he was the 22 father of them that play upon the harp and the organs. Sella also brought forth Tubalcain, who was a hammerer and artificer in every work of brass and iron. And the sister of Tubalcain was 23 Noema. And Lamech said to his wives Ada and Sella: Hear my voice, ye wives of Lamech, hearken to my speech: for I have slain a man to the wounding of myself, and a stripling to my 24 own bruising. Sevenfold vengeance shall be taken for Cain: but 25 for Lamech seventy times sevenfold. Adam also knew his wife again: and she brought forth a son, and called his name Seth, saying: God hath given me another seed for Abel, whom Cain 26 slew. But to Seth also was born a son, whom he called Enos: this man began to call upon the name of the Lord.

5 This is the book of the generation of Adam. In the day that 2 God created man, he made him to the likeness of God. He created them male and female; and blessed them: and called their 3 name Adam, in the day when they were created. And Adam lived a hundred and thirty years, and begot a son to his own image and likeness, and called his name Seth. And the days of Adam, after he begot Seth, were eight hundred years: and he begot sons and daughters. And all the time that Adam lived, came to nine hundred and thirty years, and he died. Seth also lived a hundred and five years, and begot Enos. And Seth lived after he begot Enos, eight hundred and seven years, and begot sons and daughters. And all the days of Seth were nine hundred and twelve years, and he died. And Enos lived ninety years, and begot Cainan. After whose birth he lived eight hundred and fifteen years, and begot sons and daughters. And all the days of Enos were nine hundred and five years, and he died. And Cainan lived seventy years, and begot Malaleel. And Cainan lived after he begot Malaleel, eight hundred and forty years, and begot sons and daughters. And all the days of Cainan were nine hundred and ten years, and he died. And Malaleel lived sixty-five years and begot Jared. And Malaleel lived after he begot Jared, eight hundred and thirty years, and begot sons and daughters. And all the days of Malaleel were eight hundred and ninety-five years, and he died. And Jared lived a hundred and sixty-two years, and begot Henoch. And Jared lived after he begot Henoch, eight hundred years, and begot sons and daughters. And all the days of Jared were nine hundred and sixty-two years, and he died. And Henoch lived sixty-five years, and begot Mathusala. And Henoch walked with God: and lived after he begot Mathusala, three hundred years, and begot sons and daughters. And all the days of Henoch were three hundred and sixty-five years. And he walked with God, and was seen no more: because God took him. And Mathusala lived a hundred and eighty-seven years, and begot Lamech. And Mathusala lived after he begot Lamech, seven hundred and eighty-two years, and begot sons and daughters. And all the days of Mathusala were nine hundred and sixty-nine years, and he died. And Lamech lived a hundred and eighty-two years, and begot a son. And he called his name Noe, saying: This same shall comfort us from the works and labours of our hands on the earth, which the Lord hath cursed. And Lamech lived after he begot Noe, five hundred and ninety-five years, and begot sons and daughters. And all the days of Lamech came to seven hundred and seventy-seven years, and he died. And Noe, when he was five hundred years old, begot Sem, Cham, and Japheth.

6 And after that men began to be multiplied upon the earth, 2 and daughters were born to them, The sons of God seeing the daughters of men, that they were fair, took to themselves wives 3 of all which they chose. And God said: My spirit shall not remain in man for ever, because he is flesh, and his days shall be 4 a hundred and twenty years. Now giants were upon the earth in those days. For after the sons of God went in to the daughters of men, and they brought forth children, these are the mighty men 5 of old, men of renown. And God seeing that the wickedness of men was great on the earth, and that all the thought of their 6 heart was bent upon evil at all times, It repented him that he had made man on the earth. And being touched inwardly 7 with sorrow of heart, He said: I will destroy man, whom I have created, from the face of the earth, from man even to beasts, from the creeping thing even to the fowls of the air, for it repenteth 8 me that I have made them. But Noe found grace before the 9 Lord. These are the generations of Noe: Noe was a just and 10 perfect man in his generations, he walked with God. And he begot three sons, Sem, Cham, and Japheth. And the earth was 12 corrupted before God, and was filled with iniquity. And when God had seen that the earth was corrupted (for all flesh had 13 corrupted its way upon the earth), He said to Noe: The end of all flesh is come before me, the earth is filled with iniquity 14 through them, and I will destroy them with the earth. Make thee an ark of timber planks: thou shalt make little rooms in 15 the ark, and thou shalt pitch it within and without. And thus shalt thou make it. The length of the ark shall be three hundred cubits: the breadth of it fifty cubits, and the height of it thirty 16 cubits. Thou shalt make a window in the ark, and in a cubit shalt thou finish the top of it: and the door of the ark thou shalt set in the side: with lower, middle chambers, and third stories 17 shalt thou make it. Behold, I will bring the waters of a great flood upon the earth, to destroy all flesh, wherein is the breath of life under heaven. All things that are in the earth shall be 18 consumed. And I will establish my covenant with thee, and thou shalt enter into the ark, thou and thy sons, and thy wife, 19 and the wives of thy sons with thee. And of every living creature of all flesh, thou shalt bring two of a sort into the ark, that they may live with thee: of the male sex, and the female. Of fowls according to their kind, and of beasts in their kind, and of every thing that creepeth on the earth according to its kind: two of every sort shall go in with thee, that they may live. Thou shalt take unto thee of all food that may be eaten, and thou shalt lay it up with thee: and it shall be food for thee and them. And Noe did all things which God commanded him.

And the Lord said to him: Go in, thou and all thy house, into the ark: for thee I have seen just before me in this generation. Of all clean beasts take seven and seven, the male and the female. But of the beasts that are unclean two and two, the male and the female. Of the fowls also of the air seven and seven, the male and the female: that seed may be saved upon the face of the whole earth. For yet a while, and after seven days, I will rain upon the earth forty days and forty nights: and I will destroy every substance that I have made, from the face of the earth. And Noe did all things which the Lord had commanded him. And he was six hundred years old, when the waters of the flood overflowed the earth. And Noe went in and his sons, his wife and the wives of his sons with him into the ark, because of the waters of the flood. And of beasts clean and unclean, and of fowls, and of every thing that moveth upon the earth, Two and two went in to Noe into the ark, male and female, as the Lord had commanded Noe. And after the seven days were passed, the waters of the flood overflowed the earth. In the six hundredth year of the life of Noe, in the second month, in the seventeenth day of the month, all the fountains of the great deep were broken up, and the floodgates of heaven were opened: And the rain fell upon the earth forty days and forty nights. In the selfsame day Noe, and Sem, and Cham, and Japheth, his sons: his wife, and the three wives of his sons with them, went into the ark. They and every beast according to its kind, and all the cattle in their kind, and every thing that moveth upon the earth, according to its kind, and every fowl according to its kind, all birds, and all that fly, Went in to Noe into the ark, two and two of all flesh, wherein was the breath of life. And they that went in, went in male and female of all flesh, as God had commanded him: and the Lord shut him in on the outside. And the flood was forty days upon the earth: and the waters increased, and lifted up the ark on high from the earth. For they overflowed exceedingly: and filled all on the face of the earth: and the ark was carried upon the waters. And the waters prevailed beyond measure upon the earth: and all the high mountains under the whole heaven were covered. The water was fifteen cubits higher than the mountains which it covered. And all flesh was destroyed that moved upon the earth, both of fowl and of cattle, and of beasts, and of all creeping things that creep upon the earth: and all men. And all things wherein there is the breath of life on the earth, died. And he destroyed all the substance that was upon the earth, from man even to beast, and the creeping things and fowls of the air: and they were destroyed from the earth: and Noe only remained, and they that were with him in the ark. And the waters prevailed upon the earth a hundred and fifty days.

8 And God remembered Noe, and all the living creatures, and all the cattle which were with him in the ark, and brought a wind upon the earth, and the waters were abated: The fountains also of the deep, and the floodgates of heaven, were shut up, and the rain from heaven was restrained. And the waters returned from off the earth going and coming: and they began to be abated after a hundred and fifty days. And the ark rested in the seventh month, the seven and twentieth day of the month, upon the mountains of Armenia. And the waters were going and decreasing until the tenth month: for in the tenth month, the first day of the month, the tops of the mountains appeared. And after that forty days were passed, Noe opening the window of the ark, which he had made, sent forth a raven: Which went forth and did not return, till the waters were dried up upon the earth. He sent forth also a dove after him, to see if the waters had now ceased upon the face of the earth. But she not finding where her foot might rest, returned to him into the ark: for the waters were upon the whole earth: and he put forth his hand, and caught her, and brought her into the ark. And having waited yet seven other days, he again sent forth the dove out of the ark. And she came to him in the evening carrying a bough of an olive tree, with green leaves, in her mouth. Noe therefore understood that the waters were ceased upon the earth. And he stayed yet other seven days: and he sent forth the dove, which returned not any more unto him. Therefore in the six hundredth and first year, the first month, the first day of the month, the waters were lessened upon the earth, and Noe opening the covering of the ark, looked, and saw that the face of the earth was dried. In the second month, the seven and twentieth day of the month, the earth was dried. And God spoke to Noe, saying: Go out of the ark, thou and thy wife, thy sons and the wives of thy sons with thee. All living things that are with thee of all flesh, as well in fowls as in beasts, and all creeping things that creep upon the earth, bring out with thee, and go ye upon the earth: increase and multiply upon it. So Noe went out, he and his sons: his wife, and the wives of his sons with him. And all living things, and cattle, and creeping things that creep upon the earth, according to their kinds went out of the ark. And Noe built an altar unto the Lord: and taking of all cattle and fowls that were clean, offered holocausts upon the altar. And the Lord smelled a sweet savour, and said: I will no more curse the earth for the sake of man: for the imagination and thought of man's heart are prone to evil from his youth: therefore I will no more destroy every living soul as I have done. All the days of the earth, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, night and day, shall not cease.

And God blessed Noe and his sons. And he said to them: Increase, and multiply, and fill the earth. And let the fear and dread of you be upon all the beasts of the earth, and upon all the fowls of the air, and all that move upon the earth: all the fishes of the sea are delivered into your hand. And every thing that moveth, and liveth shall be meat for you: even as the green herbs have I delivered them all to you: Saving that flesh with blood you shall not eat. For I will require the blood of your lives at the hand of every beast, and at the hand of man, at the hand of every man, and of his brother, will I require the life of man. Whosoever shall shed man's blood, his blood shall be shed: for man was made to the image of God. But increase you and multiply, and go upon the earth and fill it. Thus also said God to Noe, and to his sons with him: Behold I will establish my covenant with you, and with your seed after you: And with every living soul that is with you, as well in all birds, as in cattle and beasts of the earth, that are come forth out of the ark, and 11 in all the beasts of the earth. I will establish my covenant with you, and all flesh shall be no more destroyed with the waters of a flood, neither shall there be from henceforth a flood to waste the 12 earth. And God said: This is the sign of the covenant which I give between me and you, and to every living soul that is with 13 you, for perpetual generations. I will set my bow in the clouds, and it shall be the sign of a covenant between me and between 14 the earth. And when I shall cover the sky with clouds, my bow shall appear in the clouds: And I will remember my covenant 15 with you, and with every living soul that beareth flesh: and there shall no more be waters of a flood to destroy all flesh. And the 16 bow shall be in the clouds, and I shall see it, and shall remember the everlasting covenant, that was made between God and every 17 living soul of all flesh which is upon the earth. And God said to Noe: This shall be the sign of the covenant, which I have 18 established, between me and all flesh upon the earth. And the sons of Noe, who came out of the ark, were Sem, Cham, and 19 Japheth: and Cham is the father of Chanaan. These three are the sons of Noe: and from these was all mankind spread over the 20 whole earth. And Noe a husbandman began to till the ground, and planted a vineyard. And drinking of the wine was made 21 drunk, and was uncovered in his tent. Which when Cham the father of Chanaan had seen, to wit, that his father's nakedness 22 was uncovered, he told it to his two brethren without. But Sem and Japheth put a cloak upon their shoulders, and going backward, covered the nakedness of their father: and their faces 23 were turned away, and they saw not their father's nakedness.

And Noe awaking from the wine, when he had learned what his 24 younger son had done to him, He said: Cursed be Chanaan, a servant of servants shall he be unto his brethren. And he said: 25 Blessed be the Lord God of Sem, be Chanaan his servant. May God enlarge Japheth, and may he dwell in the tents of Sem, and 26 Chanaan be his servant. And Noe lived after the flood three hundred and fifty years. And all his days were in the whole nine 27 hundred and fifty years: and he died.

10 These are the generations of the sons of Noe: Sem, Cham, and 2 Japheth: and unto them sons were born after the flood. The sons of Japheth: Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Javan, and Thubal, and Mosoch, and Thiras. And the sons of Gomer: As- 3 cenez and Riphath and Thogorma. And the sons of Javan: Elisa 4 and Tharsis, Cetthim and Dodanim. By these were divided the 5 islands of the Gentiles in their lands, every one according to his tongue and their families in their nations. And the Sons of 6 Cham: Chus, and Mesram, and Phuth, and Chanaan. And the 7 sons of Chus: Saba, and Hevila, and Sabatha, and Regma, and Sabatacha. The sons of Regma: Saba, and Dadan. Now Chus 8 begot Nemrod: he began to be mighty on the earth. And he 9 was a stout hunter before the Lord. Hence came a proverb: Even as Nemrod the stout hunter before the Lord. And the begin- 10 ning of his kingdom was Babylon, and Arach, and Achad, and Chalanne in the land of Sennaar. Out of that land came forth 11 Assur, and built Ninive, and the streets of the city, and Chale.

Resen also between Ninive and Chale: this is the great city. 12 And Mesraim begot Ludim, and Anamim and Laabim, Neph- 13 thum. And Phetrusim, and Chasluim; of whom came forth the Philistines, and the Capthorim. And Chanaan begot Sidon his 15 firstborn, the Hethite, And the Jebusite, and the Amorrhite, 16 and the Gergesite. The Hevite and Aracite: the Sinite, And 17, 18 the Aradian, the Samarite, and the Hamathite: and afterwards the families of the Chanaanites were spread abroad. And the 19 limits of Chanaan were from Sidon as one comes to Gerara even to Gaza, until thou enter Sodom and Gomorrha, and Adama, and Seboim even to Lesa. These are the children of Cham in 20 their kindreds and tongues, and generations, and lands, and nations. Of Sem also the father of all the children of Heber, the 21 elder brother of Japheth, sons were born. The sons of Sem: 22 Elam and Assur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram. The sons 23 of Aram: Us, and Hull, and Gether; and Mes. But Arphaxad 24 begot Sale, of whom was born Heber. And to Heber were born 25 two sons: the name of the one was Phaleg, because in his days was the earth divided: and his brother's name Jectan. Which 26 Jectan begot Elmodad, and Saleph, and Asarmoth, Jare, And 27 Aduram, and Uzal, and Decla, And Ebal, and Abimael, Saba, 28
And Ophir, and Hevila, and Jobab. All these were the sons of 29 Jectan. And their dwelling was from Messa as we go on as far 30 as Sephar, a mountain in the east. These are the children of 31 Sem according to their kindreds and tongues, and countries in 32 their nations. These are the families of Noe, according to their people and nations. By these were the nations divided on the earth after the flood.

11 And the earth was of one tongue, and of the same speech.
2 And when they removed from the east, they found a plain in 3 the land of Sennaar, and dwelt in it. And each one said to his neighbour: Come let us make brick, and bake them with fire. And they had brick instead of stones, and slime instead 4 of mortar: And they said: Come, let us make a city and a tower, the top whereof may reach to heaven; and let us make our name famous before we be scattered abroad into all lands.
5 And the Lord came down to see the city and the tower, which 6 the children of Adam were building. And he said: Behold, it is one people, and all have one tongue: and they have begun to do this, neither will they leave off from their designs, till they 7 accomplish them in deed. Come ye, therefore, let us go down, and there confound their tongue, that they may not understand 8 one another's speech. And so the Lord scattered them from 9 that place into all lands, and they ceased to build the city. And therefore the name thereof was called Babel, because there the language of the whole earth was confounded: and from thence the Lord scattered them abroad upon the face of all countries.
10 These are the generations of Sem: Sem was a hundred years old 11 when he begot Arphaxad, two years after the flood. And Sem lived after he begot Arphaxad, five hundred years, and begot 12 sons and daughters. And Arphaxad lived thirty-five years, and 13 begot Sale. And Arphaxad lived after he begot Sale, three 14 hundred and three years, and begot sons and daughters. Sale 15 also lived thirty years, and begot Heber. And Sale lived after he begot Heber, four hundred and three years: and begot sons and 16 daughters. And Heber lived thirty-four years, and begot Phaleg.
17 And Heber lived after he begot Phaleg, four hundred and thirty 18 years: and begot sons and daughters. Phaleg also lived thirty 19 years, and begot Reu. And Phaleg lived after he begot Reu, two 20 hundred and nine years, and begot sons and daughters. And 21 Reu lived thirty-two years, and begot Sarug. And Reu lived after he begot Sarug, two hundred and seven years, and begot 22 sons and daughters. And Sarug lived thirty years, and begot 23 Nachor. And Sarug lived after he begot Nachor, two hundred years, and begot sons and daughters. And Nachor lived nine 24 and twenty years, and begot Thare. And Nachor lived after he 25 begot Thare, a hundred and nineteen years, and begot sons and daughters. And Thare lived seventy years, and begot Abram, 26 and Nachor, and Aran. And these are the generations of Thare: 27 Thare begot Abram, Nachor, and Aran. And Aran begot Lot.

 And Aran died before Thare his father, in the land of his nativity 28 in Ur of the Chaldees. And Abram and Nachor married wives: 29 the name of Abram's wife was Sarai: and the name of Nachor's wife, Melcha, the daughter of Aran, father of Melcha and father of Jescha. And Sarai was barren, and had no children. And 30, 31 Thare took Abram his son, and Lot the son of Aran, his son's son, and Sarai his daughter in law, the wife of Abram his son, and brought them out of Ur of the Chaldees, to go into the land of Chanaan: and they came as far as Haran, and dwelt there.
 And the days of Thare were two hundred and five years, and he 32 died in Haran.

And the Lord said to Abram: Go forth out of thy country, 12 and from thy kindred, and out of thy father's house, and come into the land which I shall shew thee. And I will make of thee 2 a great nation, and I will bless thee, and magnify thy name, and thou shalt be blessed. I will bless them that bless thee, and 3 curse them that curse thee, and IN THEE shall all the kindreds of the earth be blessed. So Abram went out as the Lord had 4 commanded him, and Lot went with him: Abram was seventy-five years old when he went forth from Haran. And he took 5 Sarai his wife, and Lot his brother's son, and all the substance which they had gathered, and the souls which they had gotten in Haran: and they went out to go into the land of Chanaan.
 And when they were come into it, Abram passed through the 6 country unto the place of Sichem, as far as the noble vale: now the Chanaanite was at that time in the land. And the Lord 7 appeared to Abram, and said to him: To thy seed will I give this land. And he built there an altar to the Lord, who had appeared to him. And passing on from thence to a mountain, that was on 8 the east side of Bethel, he there pitched his tent, having Bethel on the west, and Hai on the east: he built there also an altar to the Lord, and called upon his name. And Abram went forward, 9 going and proceeding on to the south. And there came a famine 10 in the country: and Abram went down into Egypt, to sojourn there: for the famine was very grievous in the land. And when he was near to enter into Egypt, he said to Sarai his wife: I know that thou art a beautiful woman: And that when the Egyptians shall see thee, they will say: She is his wife: and they will kill me, and keep thee. Say, therefore, I pray thee, that thou art my sister: that I may be well used for thee, and that my soul may live for thy sake. And when Abram was come into Egypt, the Egyptians saw the woman that she was very beautiful. And the princes told Pharao, and praised her before him: and the woman was taken into the house of Pharao. And they used Abram well for her sake. And he had sheep and oxen and he asses, and men servants, and maid servants, and she asses, and camels. But the Lord scourged Pharao and his house with most grievous stripes for Sarai, Abram's wife. And Pharao called Abram, and said to him: What is this that thou hast done to me? Why didst thou not tell me that she was thy wife? For what cause didst thou say, she was thy sister, that I might take her to my wife? Now therefore there is thy wife, take her, and go thy way. And Pharao gave his men orders concerning Abram: and they led him away and his wife, and all that he had.

13 And Abram went up out of Egypt, he and his wife, and all that he had, and Lot with him into the south. And he was very rich in possession of gold and silver. And he returned by the way, that he came, from the south to Bethel, to the place where before he had pitched his tent between Bethel and Hai, In the place of the altar which he had made before, and there he called upon the name of the Lord. But Lot also, who was with Abram, had flocks of sheep, and herds of beasts, and tents. Neither was the land able to bear them, that they might dwell together: for their substance was great, and they could not dwell together. Whereupon also there arose a strife between the herdsmen of Abram and of Lot. And at that time the Chanaanite and the Pherezite dwelled in that country. Abram therefore said to Lot: Let there be no quarrel, I beseech thee, between me and thee, and between my herdsmen and thy herdsmen: for we are brethren. Behold the whole land is before thee: depart from me, I pray thee: if thou wilt go to the left hand, I will take the right: if thou choose the right hand, I will pass to the left.

And Lot lifting up his eyes, saw all the country about the Jordan, 10 which was watered throughout, before the Lord destroyed Sodom and Gomorrha, as the paradise of the Lord, and like Egypt as one comes to Segor. And Lot chose to himself the country 11 about the Jordan, and he departed from the east: and they were separated one brother from the other. Abram dwelt in the land 12 of Chanaan: and Lot abode in the towns, that were about the Jordan, and dwelt in Sodom. And the men of Sodom were very 13 wicked, and sinners before the face of the Lord beyond measure.
And the Lord said to Abram, after Lot was separated from him: 14 Lift up thy eyes, and look from the place wherein thou now art, to the north and to the south, to the east and to the west. All 15 the land which thou seest, I will give to thee, and to thy seed for ever. And I will make thy seed as the dust of the earth: 16 if any man be able to number the dust of the earth, he shall be able to number thy seed also. Arise and walk through the 17 land in the length, and the breadth thereof: for I will give it to thee. So Abram removing his tent, came, and dwelt by the vale 18 of Mambre, which is in Hebron: and he built there an altar to the Lord.

And it came to pass at that time, that Amraphel, king of 14 Sennaar, and Arioch, king of Pontus, and Chodorlahomor, king of the Elamites, and Thadal, king of nations, Made war against 2 Bara, king of Sodom, and against Bersa, king of Gomorrha, and against Sennaab, king of Adama, and against Semeber, king of Seboim, and against the king of Bala, which is Segor. All these 3 came together into the woodland vale, which now is the salt sea.
For they had served Chodorlahomor twelve years, and in the 4 thirteenth year they revolted from him. And in the fourteenth 5 year came Chodorlahomor, and the kings that were with him:
and they smote the Raphaim in Astarothcarnaim, and the Zuzim with them, and the Emim in Save of Cariathaim. And the 6 Chorreans in the mountains of Seir, even to the plains of Pharan, which is in the wilderness. And they returned, and came to the 7 fountain of Misphat, the same is Cades: and they smote all the country of the Amalecites, and the Amorrhean that dwelt in Asasonthamar. And the king of Sodom, and the king of 8 Gomorrha, and the king of Adama, and the king of Seboim, and the king of Bala, which is Segor, went out: and they set themselves against them in battle array, in the woodland vale: 9 To wit, against Chodorlahomor king of the Elamites, and Thadal king of nations, and Amraphel king of Sennaar, and Arioch king 10 of Pontus: four kings against five. Now the woodland vale had many pits of slime. And the king of Sodom, and the king of Gomorrha turned their backs, and were overthrown there: and 11 they that remained, fled to the mountain. And they took all the substance of the Sodomites, and Gomorrhites, and all their 12 victuals, and went their way: And Lot also, the son of Abram's 13 brother, who dwelt in Sodom, and his substance. And behold one, that had escaped, told Abram the Hebrew, who dwelt in the vale of Mambre the Amorrhite, the brother of Escol, and the brother of Aner: for these had made a league with Abram.

14 Which when Abram had heard, to wit, that his brother Lot was taken, he numbered of the servants born in his house, three hundred and eighteen, well appointed: and pursued them to Dan.
15 And dividing his company, he rushed upon them in the night, and defeated them: and pursued them as far as Hoba, which is 16 on the left hand of Damascus. And he brought back all the substance, and Lot his brother, with his substance, the women 17 also, and the people. And the king of Sodom went out to meet him, after he returned from the slaughter of Chodorlahomor, and of the kings that were with him in the vale of Save, which is 18 the king's vale. But Melchisedech, the king of Salem, bringing forth bread and wine, for he was the priest of the most high God, 19 Blessed him, and said: Blessed be Abram by the most high God, 20 who created heaven and earth. And blessed be the most high God, by whose protection, the enemies are in thy hands. And 21 he gave him the tithes of all. And the king of Sodom said to 22 Abram: Give me the persons, and the rest take to thyself. And he answered him: I lift up my hand to the Lord God the most 23 high, the possessor of heaven and earth, That from the very woofthread unto the shoe latchet, I will not take of any things 24 that are thine, lest thou say: I have enriched Abram. Except such things as the young men have eaten, and the shares of the men that came with me, Aner, Escol, and Mambre: these shall take their shares.

15 Now when these things were done, the word of the Lord came to Abram by a vision, saying: Fear not, Abram, I am thy protector, and thy reward exceeding great. And Abram said: Lord 2 God, what wilt thou give me? I shall go without children: and the son of the steward of my house is this Damascus Eliezer.

And Abram added: But to me thou hast not given seed: and lo 3 my servant born in my house, shall be my heir. And immedi- 4 ately the word of the Lord came to him, saying: He shall not be thy heir: but he that shall come out of thy bowels, him shalt thou have for thy heir. And he brought him forth abroad, and said 5 to him: Look up to heaven and number the stars if thou canst.
And he said to him: So shall thy seed be. Abram believed God, 6 and it was reputed to him unto justice. And he said to him: 7 I am the Lord who brought thee out from Ur of the Chaldees, to give thee this land, and that thou mightest possess it. But 8 he said: Lord God, whereby may I know that I shall possess it?
And the Lord answered, and said: Take me a cow of three years 9 old, and a she goat of three years. and a ram of three years, a turtle also, and a pigeon. And he took all these, and divided 10 them in the midst, and laid the two pieces of each one against the other: but the birds he divided not. And the fowls came down 11 upon the carcasses, and Abram drove them away. And when 12 the sun was setting, a deep sleep fell upon Abram, and a great and darksome horror seized upon him. And it was said unto 13 him: Know thou beforehand that thy seed shall be a stranger in a land not their own, and they shall bring them under bondage, and afflict them four hundred years. But I will judge the nation 14 which they shall serve, and after this they shall come out with great substance. And thou shalt go to thy fathers in peace, and 15 be buried in a good old age. But in the fourth generation they 16 shall return hither: for as yet the iniquities of the Amorrhites are not at the full until this present time. And when the sun was 17 set, there arose a dark mist, and there appeared a smoking furnace, and a lamp of fire passing between those divisions. That 18 day God made a covenant with Abram, saying: To thy seed will I give this land, from the river to Egypt even to the great river Euphrates. The Cineans, and Cenezites, the Cedmonites, And 19, 20 the Hethites, and the Pherezites, the Raphaim also, And the 21 Amorrhites, and the Chanaanites, and the Gergesites, and the Jebusites.

Now Sarai, the wife of Abram, had brought forth no children: 16

2 but having a handmaid, an Egyptian, named Agar, She said to her husband: Behold, the Lord hath restrained me from bearing: go in unto my handmaid, it may be I may have children of her 3 at least. And when he agreed to her request, She took Agar the Egyptian her handmaid, ten years after they first dwelt in 4 the land of Chanaan, and gave her to her husband to wife. And he went in to her. But she perceiving that she was with child, 5 despised her mistress. And Sarai said to Abram: Thou dost unjustly with me: I gave my handmaid into thy bosom, and she perceiving herself to be with child, despiseth me. The Lord 6 judge between me and thee. And Abram made answer, and said to her: Behold thy handmaid is in thy own hand, use her as it pleaseth thee. And when Sarai afflicted her, she ran away.
7 And the angel of the Lord having found her, by a fountain of water in the wilderness, which is in the way to Sur in the desert, 8 He said to her: Agar, handmaid of Sarai, whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And she answered: I flee from the 9 face of Sarai, my mistress. And the angel of the Lord said to her: Return to thy mistress, and humble thyself under her hand.
10 And again he said: I will multiply thy seed exceedingly, and it shall not be numbered for multitude. And again: Behold, said he, thou art with child, and thou shalt bring forth a son: and thou shalt call his name Ismael, because the Lord hath heard 12 thy affliction. He shall be a wild man: his hand will be against all men, and all men's hands against him: and he shall pitch his 13 tents over against all his brethren. And she called the name of the Lord that spoke unto her: Thou the God who hast seen me. For she said: Verily, here have I seen the hinder parts of 14 him that seeth me. Therefore she called that well, the well of him that liveth and seeth me. The same is between Cades and 15 Barad. And Agar brought forth a son to Abram: who called his name Ismael. Abram was four score and six years old when 16 Agar brought him forth Ismael.

17 And after he began to be ninety and nine years old, the Lord appeared to him: and said unto him: I am the Almighty God: 2 walk before me, and be perfect. And I will make my covenant between me and thee: and I will multiply thee exceedingly.
3, 4 Abram fell flat on his face. And God said to him: I am, and my covenant is with thee, and thou shalt be a father of many nations. Neither shall thy name be called any more Abram: 5 but thou shalt be called Abraham: because I have made thee a father of many nations. And I will make thee increase ex- 6 ceedingly, and I will make nations of thee, and kings shall come out of thee. And I will establish my covenant between me and 7 thee, and between thy seed after thee in their generations, by a perpetual covenant: to be a God to thee, and to thy seed after thee. And I will give to thee, and to thy seed, the land of thy 8 sojournment, all the land of Chanaan, for a perpetual possession, and I will be their God. Again God said to Abraham: 9 And thou therefore shalt keep my covenant, and thy seed after thee in their generations. This is my covenant which you shall 10 observe between me and you, and thy seed after thee: All the male kind of you shall be circumcised. And you shall circum- 11 cise the flesh of your foreskin, that it may be for a sign of the covenant between me and you. An infant of eight days old shall 12 be circumcised among you, every manchild in your generations: he that is born in the house, as well as the bought servant, shall be circumcised, and whosoever is not of your stock: And my 13 covenant shall be in your flesh for a perpetual covenant. The male whose flesh of his foreskin shall not be circumcised, that soul shall be destroyed out of his people: because he hath broken my covenant. God said also to Abraham: Sarai thy wife thou 15 shalt not call Sarai, but Sara. And I will bless her, and of her 16 I will give thee a son, whom I will bless, and he shall become nations, and kings of people shall spring from him. Abraham 17 fell upon his face, and laughed, saying in his heart: Shall a son, thinkest thou, be born to him that is a hundred years old? and shall Sara that is ninety years old bring forth? And he said to 18 God: O that Ismael may live before thee. And God said to 19 Abraham: Sara thy wife shall bear thee a son, and thou shalt call his name Isaac, and I will establish my covenant with him for a perpetual covenant, and with his seed after him. And as 20 for Ismael I have also heard thee. Behold, I will bless him, and increase, and multiply him exceedingly: he shall beget twelve chiefs, and I will make him a great nation. But my covenant I 21 will establish with Isaac, whom Sara shall bring forth to thee at this time in the next year. And when he had left off speaking 22 with him, God went up from Abraham. And Abraham took 23

Ismael his son, and all that were born in his house: and all whom he had bought, every male among the men of his house: and he circumcised the flesh of their foreskin forthwith the very 24 same day, as God had commanded him. Abraham was ninety and nine years old, when he circumcised the flesh of his foreskin.
25 And Ismael his son was full thirteen years old at the time of his 26 circumcision. The selfsame day was Abraham circumcised and 27 Ismael his son. And all the men of his house, as well they that were born in his house, as the bought servants and strangers, were circumcised with him.

18 And the Lord appeared to him in the vale of Mambre as he was sitting at the door of his tent, in the very heat of the day.
2 And when he had lifted up his eyes, there appeared to him three men standing near to him: and as soon as he saw them, he ran to meet them from the door of his tent, and adored down 3 to the ground. And he said: Lord, if I have found favour in 4 thy sight, pass not away from thy servant. But I will fetch a little water, and wash ye your feet, and rest ye under the tree.
5 And I will set a morsel of bread, and strengthen ye your heart, afterwards you shall pass on: for therefore are you come aside to 6 your servant. And they said: Do as thou hast spoken. Abraham made haste into the tent to Sara, and said to her: Make haste, temper together three measures of flour, and make cakes upon 7 the hearth. And he himself ran to the herd, and took from thence a calf, very tender and very good, and gave it to a young 8 man, who made haste and boiled it. He took also butter and milk, and the calf which he had boiled, and set before them: but 9 he stood by them under the tree. And when they had eaten, they said to him: Where is Sara thy wife? He answered: Lo she 10 is in the tent. And he said to him: I will return and come to thee at this time, life accompanying, and Sara, thy wife, shall have a son. Which when Sara heard, she laughed behind the 11 door of the tent. Now they were both old, and far advanced in years, and it had ceased to be with Sara after the manner of 12 women. And she laughed secretly, saying: After I am grown old, and my lord is an old man, shall I give myself to pleasure?
13 And the Lord said to Abraham: Why did Sara laugh, saying: 14 Shall I, who am an old woman, bear a child indeed? Is there any thing hard to God? According to appointment I will return to thee at this same time, life accompanying, and Sara shall have a son. Sara denied, saying: I did not laugh: for she was afraid. 15 But the Lord said: Nay; but thou didst laugh. And when 16 the men rose up from thence, they turned their eyes towards Sodom: and Abraham walked with them, bringing them on the way. And the Lord said: Can I hide from Abraham what I am 17 about to do: Seeing he shall become a great and mighty nation, 18 and in him all the nations of the earth shall be blessed? For I 19 know that he will command his children, and his household after him, to keep the way of the Lord, and do judgment and justice: that for Abraham's sake, the Lord may bring to effect all the things he hath spoken unto him. And the Lord said: The cry 20 of Sodom and Gomorrha is multiplied, and their sin is become exceedingly grievous. I will go down and see whether they have 21 done according to the cry that is come to me; or whether it be not so, that I may know. And they turned themselves from thence, 22 and went their way to Sodom: but Abraham as yet stood before the Lord. And drawing nigh, he said: Wilt thou destroy the just 23 with the wicked? If there be fifty just men in the city, shall they 24 perish withal? and wilt thou not spare that place for the sake of the fifty just, if they be therein? Far be it from thee to do this 25 thing, and to slay the just with the wicked, and for the just to be in like case as the wicked; this is not beseeming thee: thou who judgest all the earth, wilt not make this judgment. And 26 the Lord said to him: If I find in Sodom fifty just within the city, I will spare the whole place for their sake. And Abraham 27 answered, and said: Seeing I have once begun, I will speak to my Lord, whereas I am dust and ashes. What if there be five less 28 than fifty just persons? wilt thou for five and forty destroy the whole city: And he said: I will not destroy it, if I find five and forty. And again he said to him: But if forty be found there, 29 what wilt thou do? He said: I will not destroy it for the sake of forty. Lord, saith he, be not angry, I beseech thee, if I speak: 30 What if thirty shall be found there? He answered: I will not do it, if I find thirty there. Seeing, saith he, I have once begun, I 31 will speak to my Lord: What if twenty be found there? He said: I will not destroy it for the sake of twenty. I beseech thee, saith 32 he, be not angry, Lord, if I speak yet once more: What if ten shall be found there? And he said: I will not destroy it for the 33 sake of ten. And the Lord departed, after he had left speaking to Abraham: and Abraham returned to his place.

19 And the two angels came to Sodom in the evening, and Lot was sitting in the gate of the city. And seeing them, he rose up and went to meet them: and worshipped prostrate to the 2 ground. And said: I beseech you, my lords, turn in to the house of your servant, and lodge there: wash your feet, and in the morning you shall go on your way. And they said: No, but 3 we will abide in the street. He pressed them very much to turn in unto him: and when they were come into his house, he made 4 them a feast, and baked unleavened bread, and they ate: But before they went to bed, the men of the city beset the house, 5 both young and old, all the people together. And they called Lot, and said to him: Where are the men that came in to thee 6 at night? bring them out hither, that we may know them: Lot 7 went out to them, and shut the door after him, and said: Do not 8 so, I beseech you, my brethren, do not commit this evil. I have two daughters who, as yet, have not known man; I will bring them out to you, and abuse you them as it shall please you, so that you do no evil to these men, because they are come in under 9 the shadow of my roof. But they said: Get thee back thither. And again: Thou camest in, said they, as a stranger, was it to be a judge? therefore we will afflict thee more than them. And they pressed very violently upon Lot: and they were even at 10 the point of breaking open the doors. And behold the men put out their hand, and drew in Lot unto them, and shut the door.
11 And them, that were without, they struck with blindness from the least to the greatest, so that they could not find the door.
12 And they said to Lot: Hast thou here any of thine? son in law, or sons, or daughters, all that are thine bring them out of this 13 city: For we will destroy this place, because their cry is grown 14 loud before the Lord, who hath sent us to destroy them. So Lot went out, and spoke to his sons in law that were to have his daughters, and said: Arise: get you out of this place, because the Lord will destroy this city. And he seemed to them to speak 15 as it were in jest. And when it was morning, the angels pressed him, saying: Arise, take thy wife, and the two daughters that thou hast: lest thou also perish in the wickedness of the city.
16 And as he lingered, they took his hand, and the hand of his wife, and of his two daughters, because the Lord spared him. And they brought him forth, and set him without the city: and there they spoke to him, saying: Save thy life: look not back, neither stay thou in all the country about: but save thy self in the mountain, lest thou be also consumed. And Lot said to them: I beseech thee, my Lord, Because thy servant hath found grace before thee, and thou hast magnified thy mercy, which thou hast shewn to me, in saving my life, and I cannot escape to the mountain, lest some evil seize me, and I die. There is this city here at hand, to which I may flee, it is a little one, and I shall be saved in it: is it not a little one, and my soul shall live? And he said to him: Behold also in this, I have heard thy prayers, not to destroy the city for which thou hast spoken. Make haste, and be saved there: because I cannot do any thing till thou go in thither. Therefore the name of that city was called Segor. The sun was risen upon the earth, and Lot entered into Segor. And the Lord rained upon Sodom and Gomorrha brimstone and fire from the Lord out of heaven. And he destroyed these cities, and all the country about, all the inhabitants of the cities, and all things that spring from the earth. And his wife looking behind her, was turned into a statue of salt. And Abraham got up early in the morning, and in the place where he had stood before with the Lord: He looked towards Sodom and Gomorrha, and the whole land of that country: and he saw the ashes rise up from the earth as the smoke of a furnace. Now when God destroyed the cities of that country, remembering Abraham, he delivered Lot out of the destruction of the cities wherein he had dwelt. And Lot went up out of Segor, and abode in the mountain, and his two daughters with him (for he was afraid to stay in Segor) and he dwelt in a cave, he and his two daughters with him. And the elder said to the younger: Our father is old, and there is no man left on the earth, to come in unto us after the manner of the whole earth. Come, let us make him drunk with wine, and let us lie with him, that we may preserve seed of our father. And they made their father drink wine that night: and the elder went in, and lay with her father: but he perceived not, neither when his daughter lay down, nor when she rose up. And the next day the elder said to the younger: Behold I lay last night with my father, let us make him drink wine also to night, and thou 35 shalt lie with him, that we may save seed of our father. They made their father drink wine that night also, and the younger daughter went in, and lay with him: and neither then did he 36 perceive when she lay down, nor when she rose up. So the two 37 daughters of Lot were with child by their father. And the elder bore a son, and she called his name Moab: he is the father of 38 the Moabites unto this day. The younger also bore a son, and she called his name Ammon; that is, the son of my people: he is the father of the Ammonites unto this day.

20 Abraham removed from thence to the south country, and 2 dwelt between Cades and Sur, and sojourned in Gerara. And he said of Sara his wife: She is my sister. So Abimelech the king 3 of Gerara sent, and took her. And God came to Abimelech in a dream by night, and he said to him: Lo thou shalt die for the 4 woman that thou hast taken: for she hath a husband. Now Abimelech had not touched her, and he said: Lord, wilt thou 5 slay a nation that is ignorant and just? Did not he say to me:
She is my sister: and she say, He is my brother? in the simplicity 6 of my heart, and cleanness of my hands have I done this. And God said to him: And I know that thou didst it with a sincere heart: and therefore I withheld thee from sinning against me, 7 and I suffered thee not to touch her. Now therefore restore the man his wife, for he is a prophet: and he shall pray for thee, and thou shalt live: but if thou wilt not restore her, know that 8 thou shalt surely die, thou and all that are thine. And Abimelech forthwith rising up in the night, called all his servants: and spoke all these words in their hearing, and all the men were ex-9 ceedingly afraid. And Abimelech called also for Abraham, and said to him: What hast thou done to us? what have we offended thee in, that thou hast brought upon me and upon my kingdom a great sin? thou hast done to us what thou oughtest not 10 to do. And again he expostulated with him, and said: What 11 sawest thou, that thou hast done this? Abraham answered: I thought with myself, saying: Perhaps there is not the fear of God in this place: and they will kill me for the sake of my wife: 12 Howbeit, otherwise also she is truly my sister, the daughter of my father, and not the daughter of my mother, and I took her 13 to wife. And after God brought me out of my father's house, I said to her: Thou shalt do me this kindness: In every place, to which we shall come, thou shalt say that I am thy brother. And 14 Abimelech took sheep and oxen, and servants and handmaids, and gave to Abraham: and restored to him Sara his wife, And 15 said: The land is before you, dwell wheresoever it shall please thee. And to Sara he said: Behold I have given thy brother 16 a thousand pieces of silver, this shall serve thee for a covering of thy eyes to all that are with thee, and whithersoever thou shalt go: and remember thou wast taken. And when Abraham 17 prayed, God healed Abimelech and his wife, and his handmaids, and they bore children: For the Lord had closed up every womb 18 of the house of Abimelech, on account of Sara, Abraham's wife.

And the Lord visited Sara, as he had promised: and fulfilled 21 what he had spoken. And she conceived and bore a son in her 2 old age, at the time that God had foretold her. And Abraham 3 called the name of his son, whom Sara bore him, Isaac. And he 4 circumcised him the eighth day, as God had commanded him, When he was a hundred years old: for at this age of his father, 5 was Isaac born. And Sara said: God hath made a laughter 6 for me: whosoever shall hear of it will laugh with me. And 7 again she said: Who would believe that Abraham should hear that Sara gave suck to a son, whom she bore to him in his old age? And the child grew, and was weaned: and Abraham made 8 a great feast on the day of his weaning. And when Sara had 9 seen the son of Agar, the Egyptian, playing with Isaac, her son, she said to Abraham: Cast out this bondwoman and her son; 10 for the son of the bondwoman shall not be heir with my son Isaac. Abraham took this grievously for his son. And God 11, 12 said to him: Let it not seem grievous to thee for the boy, and for thy bondwoman: in all that Sara hath said to thee, hearken to her voice: for in Isaac shall thy seed be called. But I will make 13 the son also of the bondwoman a great nation, because he is thy seed. So Abraham rose up in the morning, and taking bread 14 and a bottle of water, put it upon her shoulder, and delivered the boy, and sent her away. And she departed, and wandered in the wilderness of Bersabee. And when the water in the bottle 15 was spent, she cast the boy under one of the trees that were there. And she went her way, and sat overagainst him a great 16 way off, as far as a bow can carry, for she said: I will not see the boy die: and sitting overagainst, she lifted up her voice and 17 wept. And God heard the voice of the boy: and an angel of God called to Agar from heaven, saying: What art thou doing, Agar? fear not; for God hath heard the voice of the boy, from 18 the place wherein he is. Arise, take up the boy, and hold him by 19 the hand, for I will make him a great nation. And God opened her eyes: and she saw a well of water, and went and filled the 20 bottle, and gave the boy to drink. And God was with him: and he grew, and dwelt in the wilderness, and became a young man, 21 an archer. And he dwelt in the wilderness of Pharan, and his 22 mother took a wife for him out of the land of Egypt. At the same time Abimelech, and Phicol the general of his army, said 23 to Abraham: God is with thee in all that thou dost. Swear therefore by God, that thou wilt not hurt me, nor my posterity, nor my stock: but according to the kindness that I have done 24, 25 to thee, thou shalt do to me, and to the land wherein thou hast lived a stranger. And Abraham said: I will swear. And he reproved Abimelech for a well of water, which his servants had 26 taken away by force. And Abimelech answered: I knew not who did this thing: and thou didst not tell me, and I heard not of it 27 till today. Then Abraham took sheep and oxen, and gave them 28 to Abimelech: and both of them made a league. And Abraham 29 set apart seven ewelambs of the flock. And Abimelech said to him: What mean these seven ewelambs which thou hast set 30 apart? But he said: Thou shalt take seven ewelambs at my hand: that they may be a testimony for me, that I dug this 31 well. Therefore that place was called Bersabee; because there 32 both of them did swear. And they made a league for the well 33 of oath. And Abimelech and Phicol, the general of his army, arose and returned to the land of the Palestines. But Abraham planted a grove in Bersabee, and there called upon the name of 34 the Lord God eternal. And he was a sojourner in the land of the Palestines many days.

22 After these things, God tempted Abraham, and said to him: 2 Abraham, Abraham. And he answered: Here I am. He said to him: Take thy only begotten son Isaac, whom thou lovest, and go into the land of vision; and there thou shalt offer him for an holocaust upon one of the mountains which I will shew thee.
3 So Abraham rising up in the night, saddled his ass, and took with him two young men, and Isaac his son: and when he had cut wood for the holocaust, he went his way to the place which God had commanded him. And on the third day, lifting up his eyes, he saw the place afar off. And he said to his young men: Stay you here with the ass; I and the boy will go with speed as far as yonder, and after we have worshipped, will return to you. And he took the wood for the holocaust, and laid it upon Isaac his son; and he himself carried in his hands fire and a sword. And as they two went on together, Isaac said to his father: My father. And he answered: What wilt thou, son? Behold, saith he, fire and wood: where is the victim for the holocaust? And Abraham said: God will provide himself a victim for an holocaust, my son. So they went on together. And they came to the place which God had shewn him, where he built an altar, and laid the wood in order upon it; and when he had bound Isaac his son, he laid him on the altar upon the pile of wood. And he put forth his hand, and took the sword, to sacrifice his son. And behold, an angel of the Lord from heaven called to him, saying: Abraham, Abraham. And he answered: Here I am. And he said to him: Lay not thy hand upon the boy, neither do thou any thing to him: now I know that thou fearest God, and hast not spared thy only begotten son for my sake. Abraham lifted up his eyes, and saw behind his back a ram, amongst the briers, sticking fast by the horns, which he took and offered for a holocaust instead of his son. And he called the name of that place, The Lord seeth. Whereupon, even to this day, it is said: In the mountain the Lord will see. And the angel of the Lord called to Abraham a second time from heaven, saying: By my own self have I sworn, saith the Lord: because thou hast done this thing, and hast not spared thy only begotten son for my sake: I will bless thee, and I will multiply thy seed as the stars of heaven, and as the sand that is by the sea shore; thy seed shall possess the gates of their enemies. And in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed, because thou hast obeyed my voice. Abraham returned to his young men, and they went to Bersabee together, and he dwelt there. After these things, it was told Abraham, that Melcha also had borne children to Nachor his brother. Hus, the firstborn, and Buz, his brother, and Camuel the father of the Syrians, And Cased, and Azau, and Pheldas, and Jedlaph, And Bathuel, of whom was born

Rebecca: these eight did Melcha bear to Nachor, Abraham's 24 brother. And his concubine, named Roma, bore Tabee, and Gaham, and Tahas, and Maacha.

23, 2 And Sara lived a hundred and twenty-seven years. And she died in the city of Arbee which is Hebron, in the land of Chanaan: 3 and Abraham came to mourn and weep for her. And after he rose up from the funeral obsequies, he spoke to the children of 4 Heth, saying: I am a stranger and sojourner among you: give me the right of a burying place with you, that I may bury my 5, 6 dead. The children of Heth answered, saying: My lord, hear us, thou art a prince of God among us: bury thy dead in our principal sepulchres: and no man shall have power to hinder thee 7 from burying thy dead in his sepulchre. Abraham rose up, and bowed down to the people of the land, to wit, the children of 8 Heth: And said to them: If it please your soul that I should bury my dead, hear me, and intercede for me to Ephron the son 9 of Seor. That he may give me the double cave, which he hath in the end of his field: For as much money as it is worth he shall 10 give it me before you, for a possession of a burying place. Now Ephron dwelt in the midst of the children of Heth. And Ephron made answer to Abraham in the hearing of all that went in at 11 the gate of the city, saying: Let it not be so, my lord, but do thou rather hearken to what I say: The field I deliver to thee, and the cave that is therein; in the presence of the children of 12 my people, bury thy dead. Abraham bowed down before the 13 people of the land. And he spoke to Ephron, in the presence of the people: I beseech thee to hear me: I will give money 14 for the field; take it, and so will I bury my dead in it. And 15 Ephron answered: My lord, hear me. The ground which thou desirest, is worth four hundred sicles of silver: this is the price 16 between me and thee: but what is this? bury thy dead. And when Abraham had heard this, he weighed out the money that Ephron had asked, in the hearing of the children of Heth, four 17 hundred sicles of silver, of common current money. And the field that before was Ephron's, wherein was the double cave, looking towards Mambre, both it and the cave, and all the trees thereof, 18 in all its limits round about, Was made sure to Abraham for a possession, in the sight of the children of Heth, and of all that 19 went in at the gate of his city. And so Abraham buried Sara, his wife, in the double cave of the field, that looked towards Mambre, this is Hebron in the land of Chanaan. And the field was made sure to Abraham, and the cave that was in it, for a possession to bury in, by the children of Heth.

Now Abraham was old, and advanced in age; and the Lord had blessed him in all things. And he said to the elder servant of his house, who was ruler over all he had: Put thy hand under my thigh, That I may make thee swear by the Lord, the God of heaven and earth, that thou take not a wife for my son, of the daughters of the Chanaanites, among whom I dwell: But that thou go to my own country and kindred, and take a wife from thence for my son Isaac. The servant answered: If the woman will not come with me into this land, must I bring thy son back again to the place from whence thou camest out? And Abraham said: Beware thou never bring my son back again thither. The Lord God of heaven, who took me out of my father's house, and out of my native country, who spoke to me, and swore to me, saying: To thy seed will I give this land: he will send his angel before thee, and thou shalt take from thence a wife for my son. But if the woman will not follow thee, thou shalt not be bound by the oath: only bring not my son back thither again. The servant, therefore, put his hand under the thigh of Abraham, his lord, and swore to him upon his word. And he took ten camels of his master's herd, and departed, carrying something of all his goods with him, and he set forward and went on to Mesopotamia, to the city of Nachor. And when he had made the camels lie down without the town, near a well of water, in the evening, at the time when women are wont to come out to draw water, he said: O Lord, the God of my master, Abraham, meet me today, I beseech thee, and shew kindness to my master, Abraham. Behold, I stand nigh the spring of water, and the daughters of the inhabitants of this city will come out to draw water: Now, therefore, the maid to whom I shall say: Let down thy pitcher that I may drink: and she shall answer, Drink, and I will give thy camels drink also: let it be the same whom thou hast provided for thy servant Isaac: and by this, I shall understand that thou hast shewn kindness to my master. He had not yet ended these words within himself, and behold Rebecca came out, the daughter of Bathuel, son of Melcha, wife to Nachor 16 the brother of Abraham, having a pitcher on her shoulder: An exceeding comely maid, and a most beautiful virgin, and not 17 known to man: and she went down to the spring, and filled her pitcher, and was coming back. And the servant ran to meet her, 18 and said: Give me a little water to drink of thy pitcher. And she answered: Drink, my lord. And quickly she let down the 19 pitcher upon her arm, and gave him drink. And when he had drunk, she said: I will draw water for thy camels also, till they 20 all drink. And pouring out the pitcher into the troughs, she ran back to the well to draw water; and having drawn, she gave to 21 all the camels. But he musing, beheld her with silence, desirous to know whether the Lord had made his journey prosperous or 22 not. And after that the camels had drunk, the man took out golden earrings, weighing two sicles; and as many bracelets, of 23 ten sicles weight. And he said to her: Whose daughter art thou?

24 tell me: is there any place in thy father's house to lodge? And she answered: I am the daughter of Bathuel, the son of Melcha, 25 whom she bore to Nachor. And she said, moreover, to him:
We have good store of both straw and hay, and a large place to 26 lodge in. The man bowed himself down, and adored the Lord, 27 Saying: Blessed be the Lord God of my master Abraham, who hath not taken away his mercy and truth from my master, and hath brought me the straight way into the house of my master's 28 brother. Then the maid ran, and told in her mother's house all 29 that she had heard. And Rebecca had a brother, named Laban, 30 who went out in haste to the man, to the well. And when he had seen the earrings and bracelets in his sister's hands, and had heard all that she related, saying, Thus and thus the man spoke to me: he came to the man who stood by the camels, and near 31 to the spring of water, And said to him: Come in, thou blessed of the Lord; why standest thou without? I have prepared the 32 house, and a place for the camels. And he brought him into his lodging; and he unharnessed the camels, and gave straw and hay, and water to wash his feet, and the feet of the men that 33 were come with him. And bread was set before him. But he said: I will not eat, till I tell my message. He answered him: 34, 35 Speak. And he said: I am the servant of Abraham: And the Lord hath blessed my master wonderfully, and he is become great: and he hath given him sheep and oxen, silver and gold, men servants and women servants, camels and asses. And Sara, 36 my master's wife, hath borne my master a son in her old age, and he hath given him all that he had. And my master made 37 me swear, saying: Thou shalt not take a wife for my son of the Chanaanites, in whose land I dwell: But thou shalt go to my 38 father's house, and shalt take a wife of my own kindred for my son: But I answered my master: What if the woman will not 39 come with me? The Lord, said he, in whose sight I walk, will 40 send his angel with thee, and will direct thy way: and thou shalt take a wife for my son of my own kindred, and of my father's house. But thou shalt be clear from my curse, when thou shalt 41 come to my kindred, if they will not give thee one. And I came 42 today to the well of water, and said: O Lord God of my master, Abraham, if thou hast prospered my way, wherein I now walk, Behold, I stand by the well of water, and the virgin, that shall 43 come out to draw water, who shall hear me say: Give me a little water to drink of thy pitcher: And shall say to me: Both 44 drink thou, and I will also draw for thy camels: let the same be the woman, whom the Lord hath prepared for my master's son. And whilst I pondered these things secretly with myself, 45 Rebecca appeared, coming with a pitcher, which she carried on her shoulder: and she went down to the well and drew water.

And I said to her: Give me a little to drink. And she speedily 46 let down the pitcher from her shoulder, and said to me: Both drink thou, and to thy camels I will give drink. I drank, and she watered the camels. And I asked her, and said: Whose 47 daughter art thou? And she answered: I am the daughter of Bathuel, the son of Nachor, whom Melcha bore to him. So I put earrings on her to adorn her face, and I put bracelets on her hands. And falling down, I adored the Lord, blessing the 48 Lord God of my master, Abraham, who hath brought me the straight way to take the daughter of my master's brother for his son. Wherefore, if you do according to mercy and truth with my 49 master, tell me: but if it please you otherwise, tell me that also, that I may go to the right hand, or to the left. And Laban and 50 Bathuel answered: The word hath proceeded from the Lord: we cannot speak any other thing to thee but his pleasure. Behold, 51 Rebecca is before thee, take her and go thy way, and let her be the wife of thy master's son, as the Lord hath spoken. Which 52 when Abraham's servant heard, falling down to the ground, he 53 adored the Lord. And bringing forth vessels of silver and gold, and garments, he gave them to Rebecca, for a present. He offered 54 gifts also to her brothers, and to her mother. And a banquet was made, and they ate and drank together, and lodged there.

And in the morning, the servant arose, and said: Let me depart, 55 that I may go to my master. And her brother and mother answered: Let the maid stay, at least, ten days with us, and 56 afterwards she shall depart. Stay me not, said he, because the Lord hath prospered my way: send me away, that I may go to 57 my master. And they said: Let us call the maid, and ask her 58 will. And they called her, and when she was come, they asked: 59 Wilt thou go with this man? She said: I will go. So they sent her away, and her nurse, and Abraham's servant, and his 60 company. Wishing prosperity to their sister, and saying: Thou art our sister, mayst thou increase to thousands of thousands; 61 and may thy seed possess the gates of their enemies. So Rebecca and her maids, being set upon camels, followed the man: who 62 with speed returned to his master. At the same time, Isaac was walking along the way to the well which is called Of the living 63 and the seeing: for he dwelt in the south country: And he was gone forth to meditate in the field, the day being now well spent: and when he had lifted up his eyes, he saw camels coming afar 64 off. Rebecca also, when she saw Isaac, lighted off the camel, 65 And said to the servant: Who is that man who cometh towards us along the field? And he said to her: That man is my master.
66 But she quickly took her cloak, and covered herself. And the 67 servant told Isaac all that he had done. Who brought her into the tent of Sara his mother, and took her to wife: and he loved her so much, that it moderated the sorrow which was occasioned by his mother's death.

25, 2 And Abraham married another wife named Cetura: Who bore him Zamram, and Jecsan, and Madan, and Madian, and 3 Jesboc, and Sue. Jecsan also begot Saba, and Dadan. The children of Dadan were Assurim, and Latusim, and Loomim.
4 But of Madian was born Ephra, and Opher, and Henoah, and 5 Abida, and Eldaa: all these were the children of Cetura. And 6 Abraham gave all his possessions to Isaac: And to the children of the concubines he gave gifts, and separated them from Isaac his son, while he yet lived, to the east country. And the days 7 of Abraham's life were a hundred and seventy-five years. And 8 decaying he died in a good old age, and having lived a long time, and being full of days: and was gathered to his people. And 9 Isaac and Ismael his sons buried him in the double cave, which was situated in the field of Ephron the son of Seor the Hethite, over against Mambre, Which he had bought of the children of 10 Heth: there was he buried, and Sara his wife. And after his 11 death, God blessed Isaac his son, who dwelt by the well named Of the living and seeing. These are the generations of Ismael the 12 son of Abraham, whom Agar the Egyptian, Sara's servant, bore unto him: And these are the names of his children according 13 to their calling and generations. The firstborn of Ismael was Nabajoth, then Cedar, and Adbeel, and Mabsam, And Masma, 14 and Duma, and Massa, Hadar, and Thema, and Jethur, and 15 Naphis, and Cedma. These are the sons of Ismael: and these 16 are their names by their castles and towns, twelve princes of their tribes. And the years of Ismael's life were a hundred and thirty- 17 seven, and decaying he died, and was gathered unto his people.

And he dwelt from Hevila as far as Sur, which looketh towards 18 Egypt, to them that go towards the Assyrians. He died in the presence of all his brethren. These also are the generations of 19 Isaac the son of Abraham: Abraham begot Isaac: Who when 20 he was forty years old, took to wife Rebecca the daughter of Bathuel the Syrian of Mesopotamia, sister to Laban. And Isaac 21 besought the Lord for his wife, because she was barren: and he heard him, and made Rebecca to conceive. But the children 22 struggled in her womb, and she said: If it were to be so with me, what need was there to conceive? And she went to consult the Lord. And he answering, said: Two nations are in thy womb, 23 and two peoples shall be divided out of thy womb, and one people shall overcome the other, and the elder shall serve the younger.
And when her time was come to be delivered, behold twins were 24 found in her womb. He that came forth first was red, and hairy 25 like a skin: and his name was called Esau. Immediately the other coming forth, held his brother's foot in his hand: and therefore he was called Jacob. Isaac was threescore years old when the 26 children were born unto him. And when they were grown up, 27 Esau became a skilful hunter, and a husbandman: but Jacob, 28 a plain man, dwelt in tents. Isaac loved Esau, because he ate 29 of his hunting: and Rebecca loved Jacob. And Jacob boiled 30 pottage: to whom Esau, coming faint out of the field, Said: Give me of this red pottage, for I am exceeding faint. For which 31 reason his name was called Edom. And Jacob said to him: Sell 32 me thy first birthright. He answered: Lo I die, what will the 33 first birthright avail me? Jacob said: Swear therefore to me.

34 Esau swore to him, and sold his first birthright. And so taking bread and the pottage of lentils, he ate, and drank, and went on his way; making little account of having sold his first birthright.

26 And when a famine came in the land, after that barrenness which had happened in the days of Abraham, Isaac went to 2 Abimelech, king of the Palestines, to Gerara. And the Lord appeared to him, and said: Go not down into Egypt, but stay in 3 the land that I shall tell thee. And sojourn in it, and I will be with thee, and will bless thee: for to thee and to thy seed I will give all these countries, to fulfil the oath which I swore to Abra-4 ham thy father. And I will multiply thy seed like the stars of heaven: and I will give to thy posterity all these countries: and 5 in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed. Because Abraham obeyed my voice, and kept my precepts and command-6 ments, and observed my ceremonies and laws. So Isaac abode 7 in Gerara. And when he was asked by the men of that place, concerning his wife, he answered: She is my sister: for he was afraid to confess that she was his wife, thinking lest perhaps 8 they would kill him because of her beauty. And when very many days were passed, and he abode there, Abimelech, king of the Palestines, looking out through a window, saw him play-9 ing with Rebecca, his wife. And calling for him, he said: It is evident she is thy wife: why didst thou feign her to be thy sis-10 ter? He answered: I feared lest I should die for her sake. And Abimelech said: Why hast thou deceived us? Some man of the people might have lain with thy wife, and thou hadst brought upon us a great sin. And he commanded all the people, saying: 11 He that shall touch this man's wife, shall surely be put to death.
12 And Isaac sowed in that land, and he found that same year a 13 hundredfold: and the Lord blessed him. And the man was enriched, and he went on prospering and increasing, till he became 14 exceeding great. And he had possessions of sheep and of herds, and a very great family. Wherefore the Palestines envying him, Stopped up at that time all the wells, that the servants of his 15 father, Abraham, had digged, filling them up with earth: In- 16 somuch that Abimelech himself said to Isaac: Depart from us, for thou art become much mightier than we. So he departed, 17 and came to the torrent of Gerara, to dwell there: And he 18 digged again other wells, which the servants of his father, Abraham, had digged, and which, after his death, the Philistines had of old stopped up: and he called them by the same names, by which his father before had called them. And they digged in 19 the torrent, and found living water: But there also the herds- 20 men of Gerara strove against the herdsmen of Isaac, saying: It is our water. Wherefore he called the name of the well, on occasion of that which had happened, Calumny. And they digged 21 also another; and for that they quarrelled likewise, and he called the name of it, Enmity. Going forward from thence, he digged 22 another well, for which they contended not; therefore he called the name thereof, Latitude, saying: Now hath the Lord given us room, and made us to increase upon the earth. And he went up 23 from that place to Bersabee, Where the Lord appeared to him 24 that same night, saying: I am the God of Abraham thy father, do not fear, for I am with thee: I will bless thee, and multiply thy seed for my servant Abraham's sake. And he built there 25 an altar: and called upon the name of the Lord, and pitched his tent; and commanded his servants to dig a well. To which 26 place when Abimelech, and Ochozath his friend, and Phicol chief captain of his soldiers, came from Gerara, Isaac said to them: 27 Why are ye come to me, a man whom you hate, and have thrust out from you? And they answered: We saw that the Lord is 28 with thee, and therefore we said: Let there be an oath between us, and let us make a covenant, That thou do us no harm, as 29 we on our part have touched nothing of thine, nor have done any thing to hurt thee; but with peace have sent thee away, increased with the blessing of the Lord. And he made them a feast, and 30 after they had eaten and drunk: Arising in the morning, they 31 swore one to another: and Isaac sent them away peaceably to their own home. And behold, the same day the servants of Isaac 32 came, telling him of a well which they had digged, and saying:

We have found water. Whereupon he called it Abundance: and 33 34 the name of the city was called Bersabee, even to this day. And Esau being forty years old, married wives, Judith, the daughter of Beeri, the Hethite, and Basemath, the daughter of Elon, of 35 the same place. And they both offended the mind of Isaac and Rebecca.

27 Now Isaac was old, and his eyes were dim, and he could not see: and he called Esau, his elder son, and said to him: My son?
2 And he answered: Here I am. And his father said to him, Thou 3 seest that I am old, and know not the day of my death. Take thy arms, thy quiver, and bow, and go abroad; and when thou hast 4 taken something by hunting, Make me a savoury meat thereof, as thou knowest I like, and bring it that I may eat: and my soul 5 may bless thee, before I die. And when Rebecca had heard this, and he was gone into the field to fulfil his father's commandment, 6 She said to her son Jacob: I heard thy father talking with Esau, 7 thy brother, and saying to him: Bring me of thy hunting, and make me meats that I may eat, and bless thee in the sight of the 8 Lord, before I die. Now therefore, my son, follow my counsel: 9 And go thy way to the flock, bring me two kids of the best, that I may make of them meat for thy father, such as he gladly eateth.
10 Which when thou hast brought in, and he hath eaten, he may 11 bless thee before he die. And he answered her: Thou knowest 12 that Esau, my brother, is a hairy man, and I am smooth: If my father should feel me, and perceive it, I fear lest he will think I would have mocked him, and I shall bring upon me a curse 13 instead of a blessing. And his mother said to him: Upon me be this curse, my son: only hear thou my voice, and go, fetch 14 me the things which I have said. He went, and brought, and gave them to his mother. She dressed meats, such as she knew 15 his father liked. And she put on him very good garments of 16 Esau, which she had at home with her: And the little skins of the kids she put about his hands, and covered the bare of his 17 neck. And she gave him the savoury meat, and delivered him 18 bread that she had baked. Which when he had carried in, he said: My father? But he answered: I hear. Who art thou, my 19 son? And Jacob said: I am Esau, thy firstborn: I have done as thou didst command me: arise, sit and eat of my venison, 20 that thy soul may bless me. And Isaac said to his son: How couldst thou find it so quickly, my son? He answered: It was the will of God, that what I sought came quickly in my way: And 21 Isaac said: Come hither, that I may feel thee, my son, and may prove whether thou be my son Esau, or no. He came near to his 22 father, and when he had felt him, Isaac said: The voice indeed is the voice of Jacob; but the hands, are the hands of Esau.

And he knew him not, because his hairy hands made him like 23 to the elder. Then blessing him, He said: Art thou my son 24 Esau? He answered: I am. Then he said: Bring me the meats 25 of thy hunting, my son, that my soul may bless thee. And when they were brought, and he had eaten, he offered him wine also, which after he had drunk, He said to him: Come near me, and 26 give me a kiss, my son. He came near, and kissed him. And 27 immediately as he smelled the fragrant smell of his garments, blessing him, he said: Behold, the smell of my son is as the smell of a plentiful field, which the Lord hath blessed. God give thee 28 of the dew of heaven, and of the fatness of the earth, abundance of corn and wine. And let peoples serve thee, and tribes worship 29 thee: be thou lord of thy brethren, and let thy mother's children bow down before thee. Cursed be he that curseth thee: and let him that blesseth thee be filled with blessings. Isaac had scarce 30 ended his words, when, Jacob being now gone out abroad, Esau came, And brought in to his father meats, made of what he 31 had taken in hunting, saying: Arise, my father, and eat of thy son's venison; that thy soul may bless me. And Isaac said to 32 him: Why! who art thou? He answered: I am thy firstborn son, Esau. Isaac was struck with fear, and astonished exceedingly; 33 and wondering beyond what can be believed, said: Who is he then that even now brought me venison that he had taken, and I ate of all before thou camest? and I have blessed him, and he shall be blessed. Esau having heard his father's words, roared 34 out with a great cry; and, being in a consternation, said: Bless me also, my father. And he said: Thy brother came deceitfully 35 and got thy blessing. But he said again: Rightly is his name 36 called Jacob; for he hath supplanted me lo this second time: My birthright he took away before, and now this second time he hath stolen away my blessing. And again he said to his father: Hast thou not reserved me also a blessing? Isaac answered: I 37 have appointed him thy lord, and have made all his brethren his servants: I have established him with corn and wine, and 38 after this, what shall I do more for thee, my son? And Esau said to him: Hast thou only one blessing, father? I beseech 39 thee bless me also. And when he wept with a loud cry, Isaac being moved, said to him: In the fat of the earth, and in the 40 dew of heaven from above, Shall thy blessing be. Thou shalt live by the sword, and shalt serve thy brother: and the time shall come, when thou shalt shake off and loose his yoke from 41 thy neck. Esau therefore always hated Jacob, for the blessing wherewith his father had blessed him; and he said in his heart:

The days will come of the mourning for my father, and I will kill 42 my brother Jacob. These things were told to Rebecca: and she sent and called Jacob, her son, and said to him: Behold Esau, 43 thy brother, threateneth to kill thee. Now therefore, my son, hear my voice, arise and flee to Laban, my brother, to Haran: 44 And thou shalt dwell with him a few days, till the wrath of thy brother be assuaged, And his indignation cease, and he forget 45 the things thou hast done to him: afterwards I will send, and bring thee from thence hither. Why shall I be deprived of both 46 my sons in one day? And Rebecca said to Isaac: I am weary of my life, because of the daughters of Heth: if Jacob take a wife of the stock of this land, I choose not to live.

28 And Isaac called Jacob, and blessed him, and charged him, 2 saying: Take not a wife of the stock of Chanaan: But go, and take a journey to Mesopotamia of Syria, to the house of Bathuel, thy mother's father, and take thee a wife thence of the daugh-3 ters of Laban, thy uncle. And God almighty bless thee, and make thee to increase and multiply thee: that thou mayst be a 4 multitude of people. And give the blessings of Araham to thee, and to thy seed after thee: that thou mayst possess the land of 5 thy sojournment, which he promised to thy grandfather. And when Isaac had sent him away, he took his journey and went to Mesopotamia of Syria, to Laban, the son of Bathuel, the Syrian, 6 brother to Rebecca, his mother. And Esau seeing that his father had blessed Jacob, and had sent him into Mesopotamia of Syria, to marry a wife thence; and that after the blessing he had charged him, saying: Thou shalt not take a wife of the daughters 7 of Chanaan: And that Jacob obeying his parents, was gone into 8 Syria: Experiencing also, that his father was not well pleased 9 with the daughters of Chanaan: He went to Ismael, and took to wife, besides them he had before, Maheleth, the daughter of Ismael, Abraham's son, the sister of Nabajoth. But Jacob being departed from Bersabee, went on to Haran. And when he was come to a certain place, and would rest in it after sunset, he took of the stones that lay there, and putting under his head, slept in the same place. And he saw in his sleep a ladder standing upon the earth, and the top thereof touching heaven: the angels also of God ascending and descending by it. And the Lord leaning upon the ladder saying to him: I am the Lord God of Abraham thy father, and the God of Isaac: The land, wherein thou sleepest, I will give to thee and to thy seed. And thy seed shall be as the dust of the earth: thou shalt spread abroad to the west, and to the east, and to the north, and to the south: and IN THEE and thy seed, all the tribes of the earth SHALL BE BLESSED. And I will be thy keeper whithersoever thou goest, and will bring thee back into this land: neither will I leave thee, till I shall have accomplished all that I have said. And when Jacob awaked out of sleep, he said: Indeed the Lord is in this place, and I knew it not. And trembling, he said: How terrible is this place? this is no other but the house of God, and the gate of heaven. And Jacob arising in the morning, took the stone which he had laid under his head, and set it up for a title, pouring oil upon the top of it. And he called the name of the city Bethel, which before was called Luza. And he made a vow, saying: If God shall be with me, and shall keep me in the way, by which I walk, and shall give me bread to eat, and raiment to put on, And I shall return prosperously to my father's house: the Lord shall be my God: And this stone, which I have set up for a title, shall be called the house of God: and of all things that thou shalt give to me, I will offer tithes to thee.

Then Jacob went on in his journey, and came into the east country. And he saw a well in the field, and three flocks of sheep lying by it: for the beasts were watered out of it, and the mouth thereof was closed with a great stone. And the custom was, when all the sheep were gathered together, to roll away the stone, and after the sheep were watered, to put it on the mouth of the well again. And he said to the shepherds: Brethren, whence are you? They answered: Of Haran. And he asked them, saying: Know you Laban, the son of Nachor? They said: We know him.

6 He said: Is he in health? He is in health, say they: and behold, 7 Rachel, his daughter, cometh with his flock. And Jacob said: There is yet much day remaining, neither is it time to bring the flocks into the folds again: first give the sheep drink, and so lead 8 them back to feed. They answered: We cannot, till all the cattle be gathered together, and we remove the stone from the well's 9 mouth, that we may water the flocks. They were yet speaking, and behold Rachel came with her father's sheep; for she fed the 10 flock. And when Jacob saw her, and knew her to be his cousin german, and that they were the sheep of Laban, his uncle: he 11 removed the stone wherewith the well was closed. And having watered the flock, he kissed her: and lifting up his voice wept.
12 And he told her that he was her father's brother, and the son of 13 Rebecca: but she went in haste and told her father. Who, when he heard that Jacob his sister's son was come, ran forth to meet him: and embracing him, and heartily kissing him, brought him into his house. And when he had heard the causes of his journey, 14 He answered: Thou art my bone and my flesh. And after the 15 days of one month were expired, He said to him: Because thou art my brother, shalt thou serve me without wages? Tell me what 16 wages thou wilt have. Now he had two daughters, the name of 17 the elder was Lia; and the younger was called Rachel. But Lia was blear eyed: Rachel was well favoured, and of a beautiful 18 countenance. And Jacob being in love with her, said: I will 19 serve thee seven years for Rachel, thy younger daughter. Laban answered: It is better that I give her to thee than to another 20 man; stay with me. So Jacob served seven years for Rachel:
and they seemed but a few days, because of the greatness of his 21 love. And he said to Laban: Give me my wife; for now the time 22 is fulfilled, that I may go in unto her. And he, having invited a great number of his friends to the feast, made the marriage.
23, 24 And at night he brought in Lia, his daughter, to him, Giving his daughter a handmaid, named Zelpha. Now when Jacob had gone in to her according to custom, when morning was come he 25 saw it was Lia. And he said to his father in law: What is it that thou didst mean to do? did not I serve thee for Rachel? why 26 hast thou deceived me? Laban answered: It is not the custom 27 in this place, to give the younger in marriage first. Make up the week of days of this match: and I will give thee her also, for the service that thou shalt render me other seven years. He yielded 28 to his pleasure: and after the week was past, he married Rachel:

To whom her father gave Bala, for her servant. And having 29, 30 at length obtained the marriage he wished for, he preferred the love of the latter before the former, and served with him other seven years. And the Lord seeing that he despised Lia, opened 31 her womb, but her sister remained barren. And she conceived 32 and bore a son, and called his name Ruben, saying: The Lord saw my affliction: now my husband will love me. And again 33 she conceived and bore a son, and said: Because the Lord heard that I was despised, he hath given this also to me: and she called his name Simeon. And she conceived the third time, and bore 34 another son, and said: Now also my husband will be joined to me, because I have borne him three sons: and therefore she called his name Levi. The fourth time she conceived and bore a son, 35 and said: Now will I praise the Lord: and for this she called him Juda. And she left bearing.

And Rachel seeing herself without children, envied her sister, 30 and said to her husband: Give me children, otherwise I shall die. And Jacob being angry with her, answered: Am I as God, 2 who hath deprived thee of the fruit of thy womb? But she 3 said: I have here my servant Bala: go in unto her, that she may bear upon my knees, and I may have children by her. And 4 she gave him Bala in marriage: who, When her husband had 5 gone in unto her, conceived and bore a son. And Rachel said: 6 The Lord hath judged for me, and hath heard my voice, giving me a son; and therefore she called his name Dan. And again 7 Bala conceived, and bore another, For whom Rachel said: God 8 hath compared me with my sister, and I have prevailed: and she called him Nephthali. Lia perceiving that she had left of 9 bearing, gave Zelpha, her handmaid, to her husband. And when 10 she had conceived, and brought forth a son, She said: Happily. 11 And therefore called his name Gad. Zelpha also bore another. 12 And Lia said: This is for my happiness: for women will call me 13 blessed. Therefore she called him Aser. And Ruben going out 14 in the time of the wheat harvest into the field, found mandrakes: which he brought to his mother Lia. And Rachel said: Give me part of thy son's mandrakes. She answered: Dost thou think 15 it a small matter, that thou hast taken my husband from me, unless thou take also my son's mandrakes? Rachel said: He shall 16 sleep with thee this night, for thy son's mandrakes. And when Jacob returned at even from the field, Lia went out to meet him, and said: Thou shalt come in unto me, because I have hired thee for my son's mandrakes. And he slept with her that night.

17 And God heard her prayers; and she conceived: and bore a fifth 18 son: And said: God hath given me a reward, because I gave my handmaid to my husband. And she called his name Issachar.
19, 20 And Lia conceived again, and bore the sixth son, And said: God hath endowed me with a good dowry; this turn also my husband will be with me, because I have borne him six sons: and therefore 21 she called his name Zabulon. After whom she bore a daughter, 22 named Dina. The Lord also remembering Rachel, heard her, 23 and opened her womb. And she conceived, and bore a son, 24 saying: God hath taken away my reproach. And she called his 25 name Joseph: saying: The Lord give me also another son. And when Joseph was born, Jacob said to his father in law: Send me away, that I may return into my country, and to my land.
26 Give me my wives, and my children, for whom I have served thee, that I may depart: thou knowest the service that I have 27 rendered thee. Laban said to him: Let me find favour in thy sight: I have learned, by experience, that God hath blessed me 28, 29 for thy sake. Appoint thy wages which I shall give thee. But he answered: Thou knowest how I have served thee, and how great 30 thy possession hath been in my hands. Thou hadst but little before I came to thee, and now thou art become rich: and the Lord hath blessed thee at my coming. It is reasonable, therefore, 31 that I should now provide also for my own house. And Laban said: What shall I give thee? But he said: I require nothing; but if thou wilt do what I demand, I will feed and keep thy sheep 32 again. Go round through all thy flocks, and separate all the sheep of divers colours, and speckled; and all that is brown and spotted, and of divers colours, as well among the sheep as among 33 the goats, shall be my wages. And my justice shall answer for me tomorrow before thee, when the time of the bargain shall come; and all that is not of divers colours, and spotted, and brown, as well among the sheep as among the goats, shall accurse 34 me of theft. And Laban said: I like well what thou demandest.
35 And he separated the same day the she goats, and the sheep, and the he goats, and the rams of divers colours, and spotted; and all the flock of one colour, that is, of white and black fleece, he deliverdd into the hands of his sons. And he set the space 36 of three days journey betwixt himself and his son in law, who fed the rest of his flock. And Jacob took green rods of poplar, 37 and of almond, and of plane trees, and pilled them in part: so when the bark was taken off, in the parts that were pilled, there appeared whiteness: but the parts that were whole, remained green: and by this means the colour was divers. And he put 38 them in the troughs, where the water was poured out; that when the flocks should come to drink, they might have the rods before their eyes, and in the sight of them might conceive. And it 39 came to pass, that in the very heat of coition, the sheep beheld the rods, and brought forth spotted, and of divers colours, and speckled. And Jacob separated the flock, and put the rods in 40 the troughs before the eyes of the rams; and all the white and the black were Laban's, and the rest were Jacob's, when the flocks were separated one from the other. So when the ewes went 41 first to ram, Jacob put the rods in the troughs of water before the eyes of the rams, and of the ewes, that they might conceive while they were looking upon them. But when the later coming 42 was, and the last conceiving, he did not put them. And those that were lateward, became Laban's; and they of the first time, Jacob's. And the man was enriched exceedingly, and he had 43 many flocks, maidservants and menservants, camels and asses.

But after that he had heard the words of the sons of Laban, 31 saying: Jacob hath taken away all that was our father's, and being enriched by his substance is become great. And perceiving 2 also, that Laban's countenance was not towards him as yesterday and the other day. Especially the Lord saying to him: Return 3 into the land of thy fathers and to thy kindred, and I will be with thee. He sent, and called Rachel and Lia into the field, 4 where he fed the flocks, And said to them: I see your father's 5 countenance is not towards me as yesterday and the other day: but the God of my father hath been with me. And you know 6 that I have served your father to the uttermost of my power. Yea your father hath also overreached me, and hath changed my 7 wages ten times: and yet God hath not suffered him to hurt me. If at any time, he said: The speckled shall be thy wages: all the 8 sheep brought forth speckled: but when he said on the contrary: Thou shalt take all the white one for thy wages: all the flocks 9 brought forth white ones. And God hath taken your father's 10 substance, and given it to me. For after the time came of the ewes conceiving, I lifted up my eyes, and saw in my sleep, that the males which leaped upon the females were of divers colours, 11 and spotted, and speckled. And the angel of God said to me in 12 my sleep: Jacob. And I answered: Here I am. And he said: Lift up thy eyes, and see that all the males leaping upon the females, are of divers colours, spotted and speckled. For I have seen all 13 that Laban hath done to thee. I am the God of Bethel, where thou didst anoint the stone, and make a vow to me. Now therefore arise, and go out of this land, and return into thy native 14 country. And Rachel and Lia answered: Have we any thing left 15 among the goods and inheritance of our father's house? Hath he not counted us as strangers, and sold us, and eaten up the 16 price of us? But God hath taken our father's riches, and delivered them to us, and to our children: wherefore, do all that God 17 hath commanded thee. Then Jacob rose up, and having set his 18 children and wives upon camels, went his way. And he took all his substance, and flocks, and whatsoever he had gotten in Mesopotamia, and went forward to Isaac, his father, to the land 19 of Chanaan. At that time Laban was gone to shear his sheep, 20 and Rachel stole away her father's idols. And Jacob would not 21 confess to his father in law that he was flying away. And when he was gone, together with all that belonged to him, and hav-22 ing passed the river, was going on towards mount Galaad, It 23 was told Laban on the third day, that Jacob fled. And he took his brethren with him, and pursued after him seven days; and 24 overtook him in the mount of Galaad. And he saw in a dream God, saying to him: Take heed thou speak not any thing harshly 25 against Jacob. Now Jacob had pitched his tent in the mountain: and when he, with his brethren, had overtaken him, he pitched 26 his tent in the same mount of Galaad. And he said to Jacob: Why hast thou done thus, to carry away, without my knowl-27 edge, my daughters as captives taken with the sword? Why wouldst thou run away privately, and not acquaint me, that I might have brought thee on the way with joy, and with songs, 28 and with timbrels, and with harps? Thou hast not suffered me to kiss my sons and daughters; thou hast done foolishly; and now indeed, It is in my power to return thee evil; but the God 29 of your father said to me yesterday: Take heed thou speak not

of your father said to me yesterday: Take heed thou speak not any thing harshly against Jacob. Suppose thou didst desire to 30 go to thy friends, and hadst a longing after thy father's house: why hast thou stolen away my gods? Jacob answered: That 31 I departed unknown to thee, it was for fear lest thou wouldst take away thy daughters by force. But, whereas, thou chargest 32 me with theft: with whomsoever thou shalt find thy gods, let him be slain before our brethren. Search, and if thou find any of thy things with me, take them away. Now when he said this, he knew not that Rachel had stolen the idols. So Laban went into 33 the tent of Jacob, and of Lia, and of both the handmaids, and found them not. And when he was entered into Rachel's tent, She, in haste, hid the idols under the camel's furniture, and sat 34 upon them: and when he had searched all the tent, and found nothing, She said: Let not my lord be angry that I cannot rise 35 up before thee, because it has now happened to me according to the custom of women. So his careful search was in vain. And 36 Jacob being angry, said in a chiding manner: For what fault of mine, and for what offence on my part hast thou so hotly pursued me, And searched all my household stuff? What hast 37 thou found of all the substance of thy house? lay it here before my brethren, and thy brethren, and let them judge between me and thee. Have I, therefore, been with thee twenty years? thy 38 ewes and goats were not barren, the rams of thy flocks I did not eat: Neither did I shew thee that which the beast had torn; I made good all the damage: whatsoever was lost by theft, thou didst exact it of me: Day and night was I parched with heat, 40 and with frost, and sleep departed from my eyes. And in this manner have I served thee in thy house twenty years, fourteen 41 for thy daughters, and six for thy flocks: thou hast changed also my wages ten times. Unless the God of my father, Abraham, 42 and the fear of Isaac, had stood by me, peradventure now thou hadst sent me away naked: God beheld my affliction and the labour of my hands, and rebuked thee yesterday. Laban an- 43 swered him: The daughters are mine, and the children, and thy flocks, and all things that thou seest are mine: what can I do to

into a league; that it may be for a testimony between me and thee. And Jacob took a stone, and set it up for a title. And he said to his brethren: Bring hither stones. And they, gathering stones together, made a heap, and they ate upon it. And Laban called it, The witness heap; and Jacob, The hillock of testimony: each of them according to the propriety of his language. And Laban said: This heap shall be a witness between me and thee this day, and therefore the name thereof was called Galaad, that is, The witness heap. The Lord behold and judge between us, when we shall be gone one from the other. If thou afflict my daughters, and if thou bring in other wives over them: none is witness of our speech but God, who is present and beholdeth. And he said again to Jacob: Behold this heap, and the stone which I have set up between me and thee, Shall be a witness: this heap, I say, and the stone, be they for a testimony, if either I shall pass beyond it going towards thee, or thou shalt pass beyond it thinking harm to me. The God of Abraham, and the God of Nachor, the God of their father, judge between us. And Jacob swore by the fear of his father Isaac: And after he had offered sacrifices in the mountain, he called his brethren to eat bread. And when they had eaten, they lodged there: But Laban arose in the night, and kissed his sons and daughters, and blessed them: and returned to his place.

32 Jacob also went on the journey he had begun: and the angels of God met him. And when he saw them, he said: These are the camps of God, and he called the name of that place Mahanaim, that is, Camps. And he sent messengers before him to Esau, his brother, to the land of Seir, to the country of Edom: And he commanded them, saying: Thus shall ye speak to my lord Esau: Thus saith thy brother Jacob: I have sojourned with Laban, and have been with him until this day: I have oxen, and asses, and sheep, and menservants, and womenservants: and now I send a message to my lord, that I may find favour in thy sight. And the messengers returned to Jacob, saying: We came to Esau, thy brother, and behold he cometh with speed to meet thee with four hundred men. Then Jacob was greatly afraid; and in his fear divided the people that was with him, and the flocks, and the sheep, and the oxen, and the camels, into two companies, Saying: If Esau come to one company, and destroy it, the other company that is left, shall escape. And Jacob said: O God of 9 my father Abraham, and God of my father Isaac: O Lord who saidst to me, Return to thy land, and to the place of thy birth, and I will do well for thee. I am not worthy of the least of all thy 10 mercies, and of thy truth which thou hast fulfilled to thy servant.

With my staff I passed over this Jordan; and now I return with two companies. Deliver me from the hand of my brother Esau, 11 for I am greatly afraid of him; lest perhaps he come, and kill the mother with the children. Thou didst say, that thou wouldst 12 do well by me, and multiply my seed like the sand of the sea, which cannot be numbered for multitude. And when he had 13 slept there that night, he set apart, of the things which he had, presents for his brother Esau, Two hundred she goats, twenty 14 he goats, two hundred ewes, and twenty rams, Thirty milch 15 camels with their colts, forty kine, and twenty bulls, twenty she asses, and ten of their foals. And he sent them by the hands 16 of his servants, every drove by itself, and he said to his servants: Go before me, and let there be a space between drove and drove.
And he commanded the first, saying: If thou meet my brother 17 Esau, and he ask thee: Whose art thou? or whither goest thou? or whose are these before thee? Thou shalt answer: Thy servant 18 Jacob's: he hath sent them as a present to my lord Esau; and he cometh after us. In like manner he commanded the second, 19 and the third, and all that followed the droves, saying: Speak ye the same words to Esau, when ye find him. And ye shall 20 add: Thy servant Jacob himself also followeth after us; for he said: I will appease him with the presents that go before, and afterwards I will see him, perhaps he will be gracious to me.
So the presents went before him, but himself lodged that night 21 in the camp. And rising early, he took his two wives and his two handmaids, with his eleven sons, and passed over the ford of Jaboc. And when all things were brought over that belonged to 23 him, He remained alone; and behold, a man wrestled with him 24 till morning. And when he saw that he could not overcome him, 25 he touched the sinew of his thigh, and forthwith it shrank. And 26 he said to him: Let me go, for it is break of day. He answered: I will not let thee go, except thou bless me. And he said: What 27 is thy name? He answered: Jacob. But he said: Thy name 28 shall not be called Jacob, but Israel; for if thou hast been strong against God, how much more shalt thou prevail against men?

29 Jacob asked him: Tell me by what name art thou called? He answered: Why dost thou ask my name? And he blessed him 30 in the same place. And Jacob called the name of the place Phanuel, saying: I have seen God face to face, and my soul has 31 been saved. And immediately the sun rose upon him, after he 32 was past Phanuel; but he halted on his foot. Therefore the children of Israel, unto this day, eat not the sinew, that shrank in Jacob's thigh: because he touched the sinew of his thigh and it shrank.

33 And Jacob lifting up his eyes, saw Esau coming, and with him four hundred men: and he divided the children of Lia and 2 of Rachel, and of the two handmaids. And he put both the handmaids and their children foremost: and Lia and her children 3 in the second place: and Rachel and Joseph last. And he went forward and bowed down with his face to the ground seven times, 4 until his brother came near. Then Esau ran to meet his brother, and embraced him: and clasping him fast about the neck, and 5 kissing him, wept. And lifting up his eyes, he saw the women and their children, and said: What mean these? And do they belong to thee? He answered: They are the children which God 6 hath given to me, thy servant. Then the handmaids and their 7 children came near and bowed themselves. Lia also, with her children, came near and bowed down in like manner; and last of 8 all, Joseph and Rachel bowed down. And Esau said: What are the droves that I met? He answered: That I might find favour 9 before my lord. But he said: I have plenty, my brother, keep 10 what is thine for thyself. And Jacob said: Do not so I beseech thee, but if I have found favour in thy eyes, receive a little present at my hands: for I have seen thy face, as if I should have seen the 11 countenance of God: be gracious to me, And take the blessing which I have brought thee, and which God hath given me, who giveth all things. He took it with much ado at his brother's 12 earnest pressing him, And said: Let us go on together, and I 13 will accompany thee in thy journey. And Jacob said: My lord, thou knowest that I have with me tender children, and sheep, and kine with young: which if I should cause to be overdriven, 14 in one day all the flocks will die. May it please my lord to go before his servant: and I will follow softly after him, as I shall see my children to be able, until I come to my lord in Seir. Esau 15 answered: I beseech thee, that some of the people, at least, who are with me, may stay to accompany thee in the way. And he said: There is no necessity: I want nothing else but only to find favour, my lord, in thy sight. So Esau returned that day, the 16 way that he came, to Seir. And Jacob came to Socoth: where 17 having built a house, and pitched tents, he called the name of the place Socoth, that is, Tents. And he passed over to Salem, 18 a city of the Schemites, which is in the land of Chanaan, after he returned from Mesopotamia of Syria: and he dwelt by the town. And he bought that part of the field, in which he pitched 19 his tents, of the children of Hemor, the father of Schem, for a hundred lambs. And raising an altar there, he invoked upon it 20 the most mighty God of Israel.

And Dina the daughter of Lia went out to see the women of 34 that country. And when Schem the son of Hemor the Hevite, 2 the prince of that land, saw her, he was in love with her: and took her away, and lay with her, ravishing the virgin. And his soul 3 was fast knit unto her; and whereas she was sad, he comforted her with sweet words. And going to Hemor his father, he said: 4 Get me this damsel to wife. But when Jacob had heard this, 5 his sons being absent, and employed in feeding the cattle, he held his peace till they came back. And when Hemor the father 6 of Schem was come out to speak to Jacob, Behold his sons 7 came from the field: and hearing what had passed, they were exceeding angry, because he had done a foul thing in Israel, and committed an unlawful act, in ravishing Jacob's daughter. And 8 Hemor spoke to them: The soul of my son Schem has a longing for your daughter: give her him to wife: And let us contract 9 marriages one with another: give us your daughters, and take you our daughters. And dwell with us: the land is at your 10 command, till, trade, and possess it. Schem also said to her 11 father and to her brethren: Let me find favour in your sight, and whatsoever you shall appoint I will give: Raise the dowry, and 12 ask gifts, and I will gladly give what you shall demand: only give me this damsel to wife. The sons of Jacob answered Schem and 13 his father deceitfully, being enraged at the deflowering of their sister: We cannot do what you demand, nor give our sister 14 to one that is uncircumcised; which with us is unlawful and 15 abominable. But in this we may be allied with you, if you will 16 be like us, and all the male sex among you be circumcised: Then will we mutually give and take your daughters, and ours; and we 17 will dwell with you, and will be one people: But if you will not 18 be circumcised, we will take our daughter and depart. Their 19 offer pleased Hemor, and Sichem, his son: And the young man made no delay, but forthwith fulfilled what was required: for he loved the damsel exceedingly, and he was the greatest man 20 in all his father's house. And going into the gate of the city, 21 they spoke to the people: These men are peaceable, and are willing to dwell with us: let them trade in the land, and till it, which being large and wide wanteth men to till it: we shall take 22 their daughters for wives, and we will give them ours. One thing there is for which so great a good is deferred: We must circumcise 23 every male among us, following the manner of the nation. And their substance, and cattle, and all that they possess, shall be ours; only in this let us condescend, and by dwelling together, 24 we shall make one people. And they all agreed, and circumcised 25 all the males. And behold the third day, when the pain of the wound was greatest: two of the sons of Jacob, Simeon and Levi, the brothers of Dina, taking their swords, entered boldly into 26 the city and slew all the men. And they killed also Hemor and Sichem, and took away their sister Dina out of Sichem's house.

27 And when they were gone out, the other sons of Jacob came upon the slain; and plundered the city in revenge of the rape.
28 And they took their sheep, and their herds, and their asses, 29 wasting all they had in their houses and in their fields. And 30 their children and wives they took captive. And when they had boldly perpetrated these things, Jacob said to Simeon and Levi: You have troubled me, and made me hateful to the Chanaanites and Pherezites, the inhabitants of this land. We are few: they will gather themselves together and kill me; and both I, and my 31 house shall be destroyed. They answered: Should they abuse our sister as a strumpet?

35 In the mean time God said to Jacob: Arise and go up to Bethel, and dwell there, and make there an altar to God, who appeared to thee when thou didst flee from Esau, thy brother.
2 And Jacob having called together all his household, said: Cast away the strange gods that are among you, and be cleansed, and change your garments. Arise, and let us go up to Bethel, that 3 we may make there an altar to God; who heard me in the day of my affliction, and accompanied me in my journey. So they 4 gave him all the strange gods they had, and the earrings which were in their ears: and he buried them under the turpentine tree, that is behind the city of Sichem. And when they were 5 departed, the terror of God fell upon all the cities round about, and they durst not pursue after them as they went away. And 6 Jacob came to Luza, which is in the land of Chanaan, surnamed Bethel: he and all the people that were with him. And he built 7 there an altar, and called the name of that place, The house of God: for there God appeared to him when he fled from his brother. At the same time Debora, the nurse of Rebecca, died, 8 and was buried at the foot of Bethel, under an oak, and the name of that place was called, The oak of weeping. And God 9 appeared again to Jacob, after he returned from Mesopotamia of Syria, and he blessed him, Saying: Thou shalt not be called 10 any more Jacob, but Israel shall be thy name. And he called him Israel. And said to him: I am God almighty, increase thou and 11 be multiplied. Nations and peoples of nations shall be from thee, and kings shall come out of thy loins. And the land which I gave 12 to Abraham and Isaac, I will give to thee, and to thy seed after thee. And he departed from him. But he set up a monument of 13, 14 stone, in the place where God had spoken to him: pouring drink offerings upon it, and pouring oil thereon: And calling the name of that place Bethel. And going forth from thence, he came in 16 the spring time to the land which leadeth to Ephrata: wherein when Rachel was in travail, By reason of her hard labour, she 17 began to be in danger, and the midwife said to her: Fear not, for thou shalt have this son also. And when her soul was departing 18 for pain, and death was now at hand, she called the name of her son Benoni, that is, the son of my pain: but his father called him Benjamin, that is, the son of the right hand. So Rachel died, 19 and was buried in the highway that leadeth to Ephrata, this is Bethlehem. And Jacob erected a pillar over her sepulchre: 20 this is the pillar of Rachel's monument, to this day. Departing thence, he pitched his tent beyond the Flock tower. And when 22 he dwelt in that country, Ruben went, and slept with Bala the concubine of his father: which he was not ignorant of. Now 23 the sons of Jacob were twelve. The sons of Lia: Ruben the first born, and Simeon, and Levi, and Juda, and Issachar, and 24, 25 Zabulon. The sons of Rachel: Joseph and Benjamin. The sons 26 of Bala, Rachel's handmaid: Dan and Nephthali. The sons of Zelpha, Lia's handmaid: Gad and Aser: these are the sons of 27 Jacob, that were born to him in Mesopotamia of Syria. And he came to Isaac his father in Mambre, the city of Arbee, this is 28 Hebron: wherein Abraham and Isaac sojourned. And the days 29 of Isaac were a hundred and eighty years. And being spent with age he died, and was gathered to his people, being old and full of days: and his sons Esau and Jacob buried him.

36 And these are the generations of Esau, the same is Edom.
2 Esau took wives of the daughters of Chanaan: Ada the daughter of Elon the Hethite, and Oolibama the daughter of Ana, the 3 daughter of Sebeon the Hevite: And Basemath, the daughter 4 of Ismael, sister of Nabajoth. And Ada bore Eliphaz: Base-5 math bore Rahuel. Oolibama bore Jehus, and Ihelon, and Core.
These are the sons of Esau, that were born to him in the land of 6 Chanaan. And Esau took his wives, and his sons and daughters, and every soul of his house, and his substance, and cattle, and all that he was able to acquire in the land of Chanaan: and went 7 into another country, and departed from his brother Jacob. For they were exceeding rich, and could not dwell together: neither was the land in which they sojourned able to bear them, for the 8 multitude of their flocks. And Esau dwelt in mount Seir: he 9 is Edom. And these are the generations of Esau, the father of 10 Edom, in mount Seir. And these the names of his sons: Eliphaz the son of Ada, the wife of Esau: and Rahuel, the son of 11 Basemath, his wife. And Eliphaz had sons: Theman, Omar, 12 Sepho, and Gatham and Cenez. And Thamna was the concu-bine of Eliphaz, the son of Esau: and she bore him Amalech.
13 These are the sons of Ada, the wife of Esau. And the sons of Rahuel were Nahath and Zara, Samma and Meza. These were 14 the sons of Basemath, the wife of Esau. And these were the sons of Oolibama, the daughter of Ana, the daughter of Sebeon, the wife of Esau, whom she bore to him, Jehus, and Ihelon, and 15 Core. These were dukes of the sons of Esau: the sons of Eliphaz, the firstborn of Esau: duke Theman, duke Omar, duke Sepho, 16 duke Cenez, Duke Core, duke Gatham, duke Amalech: these are the sons of Eliphaz, in the land of Edom, and these the sons of Ada. And these were the sons of Rahuel, the son of Esau: 17 duke Nahath, duke Zara, duke Samma, duke Meza. And these are the dukes of Rahuel, in the land of Edom: these the sons of Basemath, the wife of Esau. And these the sons of Oolibama, 18 the wife of Esau: duke Jehus, duke Ihelon, duke Core. These are the dukes of Oolibama, the daughter of Ana, and wife of Esau.

These are the sons of Esau, and these the dukes of them: the 19 same is Edom. These are the sons of Seir, the Horrite, the in- 20 habitants of the land: Lotan, and Sobal, and Sebeon, and Ana, And Dison, and Eser, and Disan. These are dukes of the Hor- 21 rites, the sons of Seir, in the land of Edom. And Lotan had 22 sons: Hori and Heman. And the sister of Lotan was Thamna.
And these the sons of Sobal: Alvan, and Manahat, and Ebal, 23 and Sepho, and Onam. And these the sons of Sebeon: Aia and 24 Ana. This is Ana that found the hot waters in the wilderness, when he fed the asses of Sebeon, his father: And he had a son 25 Dison, and a daughter Oolibama. And these were the sons of 26 Dison: Hamdan, and Eseban, and Jethram, and Charan. These 27 also were the sons of Eser: Balaan, and Zavan, and Acan. And 28 Dison had sons: Hus and Aram. These were dukes of the Hor- 29 rites: duke Lotan, duke Sobal, duke Sebeon, duke Ana, Duke 30 Dison, duke Eser, duke Disan: these were dukes of the Horrites that ruled in the land of Seir. And the kings that ruled in the 31 land of Edom, before the children of Israel had a king, were these: Bela the son of Beor, and the name of his city Denaba. And 32, 33 Bela died, and Jobab, the son of Zara, of Bosra, reigned in his stead. And when Jobab was dead, Husam, of the land of the 34 Themanites, reigned in his stead. And after his death, Adad, 35 the son of Badad, reigned in his stead, who defeated the Madian-ites in the country of Boab; and the name of his city was Avith.
And when Adad was dead, there reigned in his stead, Semla, 36 of Masreca. And he being dead, Saul, of the river Rohoboth, 37 reigned in his stead. And when he also was dead, Balanan, 38 the son of Achobor, succeeded to the kingdom. This man also 39 being dead, Adar reigned in his place; and the name of his city was Phau: and his wife was called Meetabel, the daughter of 40 Matred, daughter of Mezaab. And these are the names of the dukes of Esau in their kindreds, and places, and callings: duke 41 Thamna, duke Alva, duke Jetheth, Duke Oolibama, duke Ela, 42, 43 duke Phinon, Duke Cenez, duke Theman, duke Mabsar, Duke Magdiel, duke Hiram: these are the dukes of Edom dwelling in the land of their government; the same is Esau, the father of the Edomites.

37 And Jacob dwelt in the land of Chanaan, wherein his father 2 sojourned. And these are his generations: Joseph, when he was sixteen years old, was feeding the flock with his brethren, being but a boy: and he was with the sons of Bala and of Zelpha his father's wives: and he accused his brethren to his father of a 3 most wicked crime. Now Israel loved Joseph above all his sons, because he had him in his old age: and he made him a coat of 4 divers colours. And his brethren seeing that he was loved by his father, more than all his sons, hated hem, and could not speak 5 peaceably to him. Now it fell out also that he told his brethren a dream, that he had dreamed: which occasioned them to hate 6 him the more. And he said to them: Hear my dream which I 7 dreamed. I thought we were binding sheaves in the field: and my sheaf arose as it were, and stood, and your sheaves standing 8 about bowed down before my sheaf. His brethren answered: Shalt thou be our king? or shall we be subject to thy dominion?
Therefore this matter of his dreams and words ministered nour-9 ishment to their envy and hatred. He dreamed also another dream, which he told his brethren, saying: I saw in a dream, as it were the sun, and the moon, and eleven stars worshipping me.
10 And when he had told this to his father, and brethren, his father rebuked him and said: What meaneth this dream that thou hast dreamed? shall I and thy mother, and thy brethren worship thee 11 upon the earth? His brethren therefore envied him: but his fa-12 ther considered the thing with himself. And when his brethren 13 abode in Sechem, feeding their father's flocks, Israel said to him: Thy brethren feed the sheep in Sichem: come, I will send thee 14 to them. And when he answered: I am ready: he said to him: Go, and see if all things be well with thy brethren, and the cattle: and bring me word again what is doing. So being sent from 15 the vale of Hebron, he came to Sichem: And a man found him 16 there wandering in the field, and asked what he sought. But he answered: I seek my brethren, tell me where they feed the flocks.
17 And the man said to him: They are departed from this place: for

I heard them say: Let us go to Dothain. And Joseph went forward after his brethren, and found them in Dothain. And when they saw him afar off, before he came nigh them, they thought to kill him: And said one to another: Behold the dreamer cometh. Come, let us kill him, and cast him into some old pit: and we will say: Some evil beast hath devoured him: and then it shall appear what his dreams avail him: And Ruben hearing this, endeavoured to deliver him out of their hands, and said: Do not take away his life, nor shed his blood: but cast him into this pit, that is in the wilderness, and keep your hands harmless: now he said this, being desirous to deliver him out of their hands and to restore him to his father. And as soon as he came to his brethren, they forthwith stript him of his outside coat, that was of divers colours: And cast him into an old pit where there was not water. And sitting down to eat bread, they saw some Ismaelites on their way coming from Galaad, with their camels, carrying spices, and balm, and myrrh to Egypt. And Juda said to his brethren: What will it profit us to kill our brother, and conceal his blood? It is better that he be sold to the Ismaelites, and that our hands be not defiled: for he is our brother and our flesh. His brethren agreed to his words. And when the Madianite merchants passed by, they drew him out of the pit, and sold him to the Ismaelites, for twenty pieces of silver: and they led him into Egypt. And Ruben returning to the pit, found not the boy: And rending his garments he went to his brethren, and said: The boy doth not appear, and whither shall I go? And they took his coat, and dipped it in the blood of a kid, which they had killed: Sending some to carry it to their father, and to say: This we have found: see whether it be thy son's coat, or not. And the father acknowledging it, said: It is my son's coat, an evil wild beast hath eaten him, a beast hath devoured Joseph. And tearing his garments, he put on sackcloth, mourning for his son a long time. And all his children being gathered together to comfort their father in his sorrow, he would not receive comfort, but said: I will go down to my son into hell, mourning. And whilst he continued weeping, The Madianites sold Joseph in Egypt to Putiphar, an eunuch of Pharaoh, captain of the soldiers.

At that time Juda went down from his brethren, and turned in to a certain Odollamite, named Hiras. And he saw there the daughter of a man of Chanaan, called Sue: and taking her 3 to wife, he went in unto her. And she conceived, and bore a 4 son, and called his name Her. And conceiving again, she bore 5 a son, and called him Onan. She bore also a third: whom she called Sela. After whose birth, she ceased to bear any more.

6 And Juda took a wife for Her, his first born, whose name was 7 Thamar. And Her, the first born of Juda, was wicked in the 8 sight of the Lord: and was slain by him. Juda, therefore, said to Onan his son: Go in to thy brother's wife and marry her, 9 that thou mayst raise seed to thy brother. He knowing that the children should not be his, when he went in to his brother's wife, he spilled his seed upon the ground, lest children should 10 be born in his brother's name. And therefore the Lord slew 11 him, because he did a detestable thing: Wherefore Juda said to Thamar his daughter-in-law: Remain a widow in thy father's house, till Sela my son grow up: for he was afraid lest he also might die, as his brethren did. She went her way, and dwelt in her 12 father's house. And after many days were past: the daughter of Sue the wife of Juda died: and when he had taken comfort after his mourning, he went up to Thamnas, to the shearers of his sheep, he and Hiras the Odollamite, the shepherd of his flock.
13 And it was told Thamar that her father-in-law was come up to 14 Thamnas to shear his sheep. And she put off the garments of her widowhood, and took a veil: and changing her dress, sat in the cross way, that leadeth to Thamnas: because Sela was grown 15 up, and she had not been married to him. When Juda saw her, he thought she was a harlot: for she had covered her face, lest 16 she should be known. And going to her, he said: Suffer me to lie with thee: for he knew her not to be his daughter-in-law. And she answered: What wilt thou give me to enjoy my company?
17 He said: I will send thee a kid out of the flock. And when she said again: I will suffer what thou wilt, if thou give me a pledge, 18 till thou send what thou promisest. Juda said: What wilt thou have for a pledge? She answered: Thy ring and bracelet, and the staff which thou holdest in thy hand. The woman therefore at 19 one copulation conceived. And she arose and went her way: and putting off the apparel which she had taken, put on the garments 20 of her widowhood. And Juda sent a kid by his shepherd, the Odollamite, that he might receive the pledge again, which he had given to the woman: but he, not finding her, Asked the men of 21 that place: Where is the woman that sat in the cross way? And when they all made answer: There was no harlot in this place, He returned to Juda, and said to him: I have not found her; 22 moreover, the men of that place said to me, that there never sat a harlot there. Juda said: Let her take it to herself, surely she 23 cannot charge us with a lie, I sent the kid which I promised: and thou didst not find her. And behold, after three months, they 24 told Juda, saying: Thamar, thy daughter-in-law, hath played the harlot, and she appeareth to have a big belly. And Juda said: Bring her out that she may be burnt. But when she was led 25 to execution, she sent to her father in law, saying: By the man, to whom these things belong, I am with child. See whose ring, and bracelet, and staff this is. But he acknowledging the gifts, 26 said: She is juster than I: because I did not give her to Sela, my son. However he knew her no more. And when she was ready 27 to be brought to bed, there appeared twins in her womb: and in the very delivery of the infants, one put forth a hand, whereon the midwife tied a scarlet thread, saying: This shall come forth 28 the first. But he drawing back his hand, the other came forth: 29 and the woman said: Why is the partition divided for thee? and therefore called his name Phares. Afterwards his brother came 30 out, on whose hand was the scarlet thread: and she called his name Zara.

And Joseph was brought into Egypt, and Putiphar, an eu- 39 nuch of Pharaoh, chief captain of the army, an Egyptian, bought him of the Ismaelites, by whom he was brought. And the Lord 2 was with him, and he was a prosperous man in all things: and he dwelt in his master's house: Who knew very well that the 3 Lord was with him, and made all that he did to prosper in his hand. And Joseph found favour in the sight of his master, and 4 ministered to him: and being set over all by him, he governed the house committed to him, and all things that were delivered to him: And the Lord blessed the house of the Egyptian for 5 Joseph's sake, and multiplied all his substance, both at home and in the fields. Neither knew he any other thing, but the 6 bread which he ate. And Joseph was of a beautiful countenance, and comely to behold. And after many days, his mistress cast 7 her eyes on Joseph, and said: Lie with me. But he in no wise 8 consenting to that wicked act said to her: Behold, my master hath delivered all things to me, and knoweth not what he hath 9 in his own house: Neither is there any thing which is not in my power, or that he hath not delivered to me, but thee, who art his wife; how then can I do this wicked thing, and sin against my 10 God? With such words as these day by day, both the woman was importunate with the young man, and he refused the adultery. Now it happened on a certain day, that Joseph went into 11 the house, and was doing some business, without any man with him: And she catching the skirt of his garment, said: Lie with me. But he leaving the garment in her hand, fled, and went out.

12 And when the woman saw the garment in her hands, and herself disregarded, She called to her the men of her house, and said to them: See, he hath brought in a Hebrew, to abuse us: he 13 came in to me, to lie with me; and when I cried out, And he heard my voice, he left the garment that I held, and got him out.
14 For a proof therefore of her fidelity, she kept the garment, and shewed it to her husband when he returned home: And said: The Hebrew servant, whom thou hast brought, came to me to 15 abuse me. And when he heard me cry, he left the garment which I held, and fled out. His master hearing these things, 16 and giving too much credit to his wife's words, was very angry, and cast Joseph into the prison, where the king's prisoners were 17 kept, and he was there shut up. But the Lord was with Joseph, and having mercy upon him gave him favour in the sight of the 18 chief keeper of the prison: Who delivered into his hand all the prisoners that were kept in custody: and whatsoever was done, 19 was under him. Neither did he himself know any thing, having committed all things to him: for the Lord was with him, and made all that he did to prosper.

40 After this, it came to pass, that two eunuchs, the butler and 2 the baker of the king of Egypt, offended their lord. And Pharaoh being angry with them, (now the one was chief butler, the other 3 chief baker,) He sent them to the prison of the commander of the soldiers, in which Joseph also was prisoner. But the keeper of 4 the prison delivered them to Joseph, and he served them. Some little time passed, and they were kept in custody. And they both 5 dreamed a dream the same night, according to the interpretation agreeing to themselves: And when Joseph was come into them in the morning, and saw them sad, He asked them, saying: Why 7 is your countenance sadder today than usual? They answered: 8 We have dreamed a dream, and there is nobody to interpret it to us. And Joseph said to them: Doth not interpretation belong to God? Tell me what you have dreamed: The chief butler first 9 told his dream: I saw before me a vine, On which were three 10 branches, which by little and little sent out buds, and after the blossoms brought forth ripe grapes: And the cup of Pharao was 11 in my hand: and I took the grapes, and pressed them into the cup which I held, and I gave the cup to Pharao. Joseph answered: 12 This is the interpretation of the dream: The three branches, are yet three days: After which Pharao will remember thy service, 13 and will restore thee to thy former place: and thou shalt present him the cup according to thy office, as before thou was wont to do. Only remember me when it shall be well with thee, and do 14 me this kindness: to put Pharao in mind to take me out of this prison: For I was stolen away out of the land of the Hebrews, 15 and here without any fault was cast into the dungeon. The chief baker seeing that he had wisely interpreted the dream, said: I also dreamed a dream, That I had three baskets of meal upon my head: And that in one basket which was uppermost, I carried 17 all meats that are made by the art of baking, and that the birds ate out of it. Joseph answered: This is the interpretation of 18 the dream: The three baskets, are yet three days: After which Pharao will take thy head from thee, and hang thee on a cross, and the birds shall tear thy flesh. The third day after this 20 was the birthday of Pharao: and he made a great feast for his servants, and at the banquet remembered the chief butler, and the chief baker. And he restored the one to his place, to present 21 him the cup: The other he hanged on a gibbet, that the truth 22 of the interpreter might be shewn. But the chief butler, when 23 things prospered with him, forgot his interpreter.

After two years Pharao had a dream. He thought he stood by 41 the river, Out of which came up seven kine, very beautiful and 2 fat: and they fed in marshy places. Other seven also came up 3 out of the river, ill favoured, and lean fleshed: and they fed on the very bank of the river, in green places: And they devoured 4 them, whose bodies were very beautiful and well conditioned.
So Pharao awoke. He slept again, and dreamed another dream: 5 6 Seven ears of corn came up upon one stalk full and fair: Then 7 seven other ears sprung up thin and blasted, And devoured all 8 the beauty of the former. Pharao awaked after his rest: And when morning was come, being struck with fear, he sent to all the interpreters of Egypt, and to all the wise men: and they being called for, he told them his dream, and there was not any one that 9 could interpret it. Then at length the chief butler remembering, 10 said: I confess my sin: The king being angry with his servants, commanded me and the chief baker to be cast into the prison 11 of the captain of the soldiers. Where in one night both of us 12 dreamed a dream forboding things to come. There was there a young man a Hebrew, servant to the same captain of the soldiers: 13 to whom we told our dreams, And we heard what afterwards the event of the thing proved to be so. For I was restored to 14 my office: and he was hanged upon a gibbet. Forthwith at the king's command Joseph was brought out of the prison, and they shaved him: and changing his apparel brought him in to him.

15 And he said to him: I have dreamed dreams, and there is no one that can expound them: Now I have heard that thou art very 16 wise at interpreting them: Joseph answered: Without me, God 17 shall give Pharao a prosperous answer. So Pharao told what he had dreamed: Methought I stood upon the bank of the river, 18 And seven kine came up out of the river, exceeding beautiful and full of flesh: and they grazed on green places in a marshy 19 pasture. And behold, there followed these, other seven kine, so very ill favoured and lean, that I never saw the like in the land of 20, 21 Egypt: And they devoured and consumed the former, And yet gave no mark of their being full: but were as lean and ill favoured 22 as before. I awoke, and then fell asleep again, And dreamed a dream: Seven ears of corn grew up upon one stalk, full and very 23 fair. Other seven also thin and blasted, sprung of the stalk: 24 And they devoured the beauty of the former: I told this dream to the conjecturers, and there is no man that can expound it.
25 Joseph answered: The king's dream is one: God hath shewn to 26 Pharao what he is about to do. The seven beautiful kine, and the seven full ears, are seven years of plenty: and both contain 27 the same meaning of the dream. And the seven lean and thin kine that came up after them, and the seven thin ears that were blasted with the burning wind, are seven years of famine to come:

Which shall be fulfilled in this order. Behold, there shall come 28, 29 seven years of great plenty in the whole land of Egypt: After 30 which shall follow other seven years of so great scarcity, that all the abundance before shall be forgotten: for the famine shall consume all the land, And the greatness of the scarcity shall 31 destroy the greatness of the plenty. And for that thou didst see 32 the second time a dream pertaining to the same thing: it is a token of the certainty, and that the word of God cometh to pass, and is fulfilled speedily. Now therefore let the king provide a 33 wise and industrious man, and make him ruler over the land of Egypt: That he may appoint overseers over all the countries: 34 and gather into barns the fifth part of the fruits, during the seven fruitful years, That shall now presently ensue: and let all the 35 corn be laid up, under Pharaoh's hands, and be reserved in the cities. And let it be in readiness, against the famine of seven 36 years to come, which shall oppress Egypt, and the land shall not be consumed with scarcity. The counsel pleased Pharaoh, 37 and all his servants. And he said to them: Can we find such 38 another man, that is full of the spirit of God? He said therefore 39 to Joseph: Seeing God hath shewn thee all that thou hast said, can I find one wiser and one like unto thee? Thou shalt be over 40 my house, and at the commandment of thy mouth all the people shall obey: only in the kingly throne will I be above thee. And 41 again Pharaoh said to Joseph: Behold, I have appointed thee over the whole land of Egypt. And he took his ring from his own 42 hand, and gave it into his hand: and he put upon him a robe of silk, and put a chain of gold about his neck. And he made 43 him go up into his second chariot, the crier proclaiming that all should bow their knee before him, and that they should know he was made governor over the whole land of Egypt. And the king 44 said to Joseph: I am Pharaoh: without thy commandment no man shall move hand or foot in all the land of Egypt. And he turned 45 his name, and called him in the Egyptian tongue the saviour of the world. And he gave him to wife Aseneth, the daughter of Putiphare, priest of Heliopolis. Then Joseph went out to the land of Egypt. (Now he was thirty years old when he stood before 46 king Pharaoh), and he went round all the countries of Egypt.
And the fruitfulness of the seven years came: and the corn being 47 bound up into sheaves, was gathered together into the barns of 48 Egypt. And all the abundance of grain was laid up in every 49 city. And there was so great abundance of wheat, that it was equal to the sand of the sea, and the plenty exceeded measure.

50 And before the famine came, Joseph had two sons born: whom Aseneth, the daughter of Putiphare, priest of Heliopolis, bore 51 unto him. And he called the name of the firstborn Manasses, saying: God hath made me to forget all my labours, and my 52 father's house. And he named the second Ephraim, saying: 53 God hath made me to grow in the land of my poverty. Now when the seven years of plenty that had been in Egypt were 54 passed: The seven years of scarcity, which Joseph had foretold, began to come: and the famine prevailed in the whole world, but 55 there was bread in all the land of Egypt. And when there also they began to be famished, the people cried to Pharaoh, for food.
And he said to them: Go to Joseph: and do all that he shall 56 say to you. And the famine increased daily in all the land: and Joseph opened all the barns, and sold to the Egyptians: for the 57 famine had oppressed them also. And all provinces came into Egypt, to buy food, and to seek some relief of their want.

42 And Jacob hearing that food was sold in Egypt, said to his 2 sons: Why are ye careless? I have heard that wheat is sold in Egypt: Go ye down, and buy us necessaries, that we may 3 live, and not be consumed with want. So the ten brethren of 4 Joseph went down, to buy corn in Egypt: Whilst Benjamin was kept at home by Jacob, who said to his brethren: Lest perhaps 5 he take any harm in the journey. And they entered into the land of Egypt with others that went to buy. For the famine 6 was in the land of Chanaan. And Joseph was governor in the land of Egypt, and corn was sold by his direction to the people.
7 And when his brethren had bowed down to him, And he knew them, he spoke as it were to strangers, somewhat roughly, asking them: Whence came you? They answered: From the land of 8 Chanaan, to buy necessaries of life. And though he knew his 9 brethren, he was not known by them. And remembering the dreams, which formerly he had dreamed, he said to them: You are spies. You are come to view the weaker parts of the land.
10 But they said: It is not so, my lord; but thy servants are come 11 to buy food. We are all the sons of one man: we are come as 12 peaceable men, neither do thy servants go about any evil. And he answered them: It is otherwise: you are come to consider the unfenced parts of this land. But they said: We thy servants are twelve brethren, the sons of one man in the land of Chanaan: the youngest is with our father, the other is not living. He saith, This is it that I said: You are spies. I shall now presently try what you are: by the health of Pharao, you shall not depart hence, until your youngest brother come. Send one of you to fetch him: and you shall be in prison, till what you have said be proved, whether it be true or false: or else by the health of Pharao you are spies. So he put them in prison three days. And the third day he brought them out of prison, and said: Do as I have said, and you shall live: for I fear God. If you be peaceable men, let one of your brethren be bound in prison: and go ye your ways, and carry the corn that you have bought, unto your houses. And bring your youngest brother to me, that I may find your words to be true, and you may not die. They did as he had said. And they talked one to another: We deserve to suffer these things, because we have sinned against our brother, seeing the anguish of his soul, when he besought us, and we would not hear: therefore is this affliction come upon us. And Ruben, one of them, said: Did not I say to you: Do not sin against the boy; and you would not hear me? Behold his blood is required. And they knew not that Joseph understood, because he spoke to them by an interpreter. And he turned himself away a little while, and wept: and returning, he spoke to them. And taking Simeon, and binding him in their presence, he commanded his servants to fill their sacks with wheat, and to put every man's money again in their sacks, and to give them besides provisions for the way: and they did so. But they having loaded their asses with the corn went their way. And one of them opening his sack, to give his beast provender in the inn, saw the money in the sack's mouth, And said to his brethren: My money is given me again; behold it is in the sack. And they were astonished, and troubled, and said to one another: What is this that God hath done unto us? And they came to Jacob their father in the land of Chanaan, and they told him all things that had befallen them, saying: The lord of the land spoke roughly to us, and took us to be spies of the country. And we answered him: We are peaceable men, and we mean no plot. We are twelve brethren born of one father: one is not living, the youngest is with our 33 father in the land of Chanaan. And he said to us: Hereby shall I know that you are peaceable men: Leave one of your brethren with me, and take ye necessary provision for your houses, and go 34 your ways, And bring your youngest brother to me, that I may know you are not spies: and you may receive this man again, that is kept in prison: and afterwards may have leave to buy 35 what you will. When they had told this, they poured out their corn, and every man found his money tied in the mouth of his 36 sack: and all being astonished together, Their father Jacob said:

You have made me to be without children: Joseph is not living, Simeon is kept in bonds, and Benjamin you will take away: all 37 these evils are fallen upon me. And Ruben answered him: Kill my two sons, if I bring him not again to thee: deliver him into 38 my hand, and I will restore him to thee. But he said: My son shall not go down with you: his brother is dead, and he is left alone: if any mischief befall him in the land to which you go, you will bring down my grey hairs with sorrow to hell.

43 In the mean time the famine was heavy upon all the land.
2 And when they had eaten up all the corn, which they had brought out of Egypt, Jacob said to his sons: Go again, and buy us a 3 little food. Juda answered: The man declared unto us with the attestation of an oath, saying: You shall not see my face, unless 4 you bring your youngest brother with you. If therefore thou wilt send him with us, we will set out together, and will buy 5 necessaries for thee. But if thou wilt not, we will not go: for the man, as we have often said, declared unto us, saying: You 6 shall not see my face without your youngest brother. Israel said to them: You have done this for my misery, in that you told him 7 you had also another brother. But they answered: The man asked us in order concerning our kindred: if our father lived: if we had a brother: and we answered him regularly, according to what he demanded: could we know that he would say: Bring 8 hither your brother with you? And Juda said to his father: Send the boy with me, that we may set forward, and may live: 9 lest both we and our children perish. I take the boy upon me, require him at my hand: unless I bring him again, and restore 10 him to thee, I will be guilty of sin against thee for ever. If delay had not been made, we had been here again the second time.

Then Israel said to them: If it must needs be so, do what you 11 will: take of the best fruits of the land in your vessels, and carry down presents to the man, a little balm, and honey, and storax, myrrh, turpentine, and almonds. And take with you double 12 money, and carry back what you found in your sacks, lest perhaps it was done by mistake. And take also your brother, and 13 go to the man. And may my almighty God make him favourable to you: and send back with you your brother, whom he keepeth, and this Benjamin: and as for me I shall be desolate without 14 children. So the men took the presents, and double money, and 15 Benjamin: and went down into Egypt, and stood before Joseph.
And when he had seen them, and Benjamin with them, he com- 16 manded the steward of his house, saying: Bring in the men into the house, and kill victims, and prepare a feast: because they shall eat with me at noon. He did as he was commanded, and 17 brought the men into the house. And they being much afraid, 18 said there one to another: Because of the money, which we carried back the first time in our sacks, we are brought in: that he may bring upon us a false accusation, and by violence make slaves of us and our asses. Wherefore, going up to the steward 19 of the house, at the door, They said: Sir, we desire thee to 20 hear us. We came down once before to buy food: And when 21 we had bought, and were come to the inn, we opened our sacks, and found our money in the mouths of the sacks: which we have now brought again in the same weight. And we have brought 22 other money besides, to buy what we want: we cannot tell who put it in our bags. But he answered: Peace be with you, fear 23 not: your God, and the God of your father, hath given you treasure in your sacks. For the money, which you gave me, I have for good. And he brought Simeon out to them. And having 24 brought them into the house, he fetched water, and they washed their feet, and he gave provender to their asses. But they made 25 ready the presents, against Joseph came at noon: for they had heard that they should eat bread there. Then Joseph came in 26 to his house, and they offered him the presents, holding them in their hands; and they bowed down with their face to the ground.
But he courteously saluting them again, asked them, saying: Is 27 the old man your father in health, of whom you told me? Is he yet living? And they answered: Thy servant our father, is in 28 health; he is yet living. And bowing themselves, they made obei-29 sance to him. And Joseph lifting up his eyes, saw Benjamin, his brother by the same mother, and said: Is this your young brother, of whom you told me? And he said: God be gracious 30 to thee, my son. And he made haste, because his heart was moved upon his brother, and tears gushed out: and going into 31 his chamber, he wept. And when he had washed his face, coming out again, he refrained himself, and said: Set bread on the 32 table. And when it was set on, for Joseph apart, and for his brethren apart, for the Egyptians also that ate with him apart, (for it is unlawful for the Egyptians to eat with the Hebrews, 33 and they think such a feast profane): They sat before him, the firstborn according to his birthright, and the youngest according 34 to his age. And they wondered very much; Taking the messes which they received of him: and the greater mess came to Benjamin, so that it exceeded by five parts. And they drank, and were merry with him.

44 And Joseph commanded the steward of his house, saying: Fill their sacks with corn, as much as they can hold: and put the 2 money of every one in the top of his sack. And in the mouth of the younger's sack put my silver cup, and the price which 3 he gave for the wheat. And it was so done. And when the 4 morning arose, they were sent away with their asses. And when they were now departed out of the city, and had gone forward a little way: Joseph sending for the steward of his house, said: Arise, and pursue after the men: and when thou hast overtaken 5 them, say to them: Why have you returned evil for good? The cup which you have stolen, is that in which my lord drinketh, and in which he is wont to divine: you have done a very evil thing.
6 He did as he had commanded him. And having overtaken them, 7 he spoke to them the same words. And they answered: Why doth our lord speak so, as though thy servants had committed 8 so heinous a fact? The money, that we found in the top of our sacks, we brought back to thee from the land of Chanaan: 9 how then should it be that we should steal out of thy lord's house, gold or silver? With whomsoever of thy servants shall be found that which thou seekest, let him die, and we will be the 10 bondmen of my lord. And he said to them: Let it be according to your sentence: with whomsoever it shall be found, let him be my servant, and you shall be blameless. Then they speedily 11 took down their sacks to the ground, and every man opened his sack. Which when he had searched, beginning at the eldest, 12 and ending at the youngest, he found the cup in Benjamin's sack. Then they rent their garments, and loading their asses 13 again, returned into the town. And Juda at the head of his brethren went in to Joseph (for he was not yet gone out of the 14 place) and they all together fell down before him on the ground.

And he said to them: Why would you do so? know you not that 15 there is no one like me in the science of divining. And Juda 16 said to him: What shall we answer my lord? or what shall we say, or be able justly to allege? God hath found out the iniquity of thy servants: behold, we are all bondmen to my lord, both 17 we, and he with whom the cup was found. Joseph answered: 17 God forbid that I should do so: he that stole the cup, he shall be my bondman: and go you away free to your father. Then 18 Juda coming nearer, said boldly: I beseech thee, my lord, let thy servant speak a word in thy ears, and be not angry with thy servant: for after Pharaoh thou art. My lord. Thou didst ask 19 thy servants the first time: Have you a father or a brother. And 20 we answered thee, my lord: We have a father an old man, and a young boy, that was born in his old age; whose brother by the mother is dead; and he alone is left of his mother, and his father loveth him tenderly. And thou saidst to thy servants: Bring 21 him hither to me, and I will set my eyes on him. We suggested 22 to my lord: The boy cannot leave his father: for if he leave him, he will die. And thou saidst to thy servants: Except your 23 youngest brother come with you, you shall see my face no more.
Therefore when we were gone up to thy servant our father, we 24 told him all that my lord had said. And our father said: Go 25 again, and buy us a little wheat. And we said to him: We 26 cannot go: if our youngest brother go down with us, we will set out together: otherwise, without him we dare not see the man's face. Whereunto he answered: You know that my wife bore 27 me two. One went out, and you said: A beast devoured him; 28 and hitherto he appeareth not. If you take this also, and any 29 thing befall him in the way, you will bring down my grey hairs with sorrow unto hell. Therefore, if I shall go to thy servant, 30 our father, and the boy be wanting, (whereas his life dependeth 31 upon the life of him,) And he shall see that he is not with us, he will die, and thy servants shall bring down his grey hairs with 32 sorrow unto hell. Let me be thy proper servant, who took him into my trust, and promised, saying: If I bring him not again, I 33 will be guilty of sin against my father for ever. Therefore I, thy servant, will stay instead of the boy in the service of my lord, 34 and let the boy go up with his brethren. For I cannot return to my father without the boy, lest I be a witness of the calamity that will oppress my father.

45 Joseph could no longer refrain himself before many that stood by: whereupon he commanded that all should go out, and no 2 stranger be present at their knowing one another. And he lifted up his voice with weeping, which the Egyptians, and all the house 3 of Pharaoh heard. And he said to his brethren: I am Joseph: Is my father yet living? His brethren could not answer him, being 4 struck with exceeding great fear. And he said mildly to them: Come nearer to me. And when they were come near him, he said: 5 I am Joseph, your brother, whom you sold into Egypt. Be not afraid, and let it not seem to you a hard case that you sold me into these countries: for God sent me before you into Egypt for 6 your preservation. For it is two years since the famine began to be upon the land, and five years more remain, wherein there 7 can be neither ploughing nor reaping. And God sent me before, that you may be preserved upon the earth, and may have food 8 to live. Not by your counsel was I sent hither, but by the will of God: who hath made me as it were a father to Pharaoh, and lord of his whole house, and governor in all the land of Egypt.
9 Make haste, and go ye up to my father, and say to him: Thus saith thy son Joseph: God hath made me lord of the whole land 10 of Egypt; come down to me, linger not. And thou shalt dwell in the land of Gessen: and thou shalt be near me, thou and thy sons, and thy sons' sons, thy sheep, and thy herds, and all things 11 that thou hast. And there I will feed thee, (for there are yet five years of famine remaining) lest both thou perish, and thy house, 12 and all things that thou hast. Behold, your eyes, and the eyes of my brother Benjamin, see that it is my mouth that speaketh 13 to you. You shall tell my father of all my glory, and all things that you have seen in Egypt: make haste and bring him to me.
14 And falling upon the neck of his brother Benjamin, he embraced him and wept: and Benjamin in like manner wept also on his neck. And Joseph kissed all his brethren, and wept upon every one of them: after which they were emboldened to speak to him. And it was heard, and the fame was spread abroad in the king's court: The brethren of Joseph are come; and Pharaoh with all his family was glad. And he spoke to Joseph that he should give orders to his brethren, saying: Load your beasts, and go into the land of Chanaan, And bring away from thence your father and kindred, and come to me; and I will give you all the good things of Egypt, that you may eat the marrow of the land. Give orders also that they take wagons out of the land of Egypt, for the carriage of their children and their wives; and say: Take up your father, and make haste to come with all speed: And leave nothing of your household stuff; for all the riches of Egypt shall be yours. And the sons of Israel did as they were bid. And Joseph gave them wagons according to Pharaoh's commandment: and provisions for the way. He ordered also to be brought out for every one of them two robes: but to Benjamin he gave three hundred pieces of silver, with five robes of the best: Sending to his father as much money and raiment; adding besides, ten he asses, to carry off all the riches of Egypt, and as many she asses, carrying wheat and bread for the journey. So he sent away his brethren, and at their departing said to them: Be not angry in the way. And they went up out of Egypt, and came into the land of Chanaan, to their father Jacob. And they told him, saying: Joseph, thy son, is living; and he is ruler in all the land of Egypt. Which when Jacob heard, he awaked as it were out of a deep sleep, yet did not believe them. They, on the other side, told the whole order of the thing. And when he saw the wagons, and all that he had sent, his spirit revived, And he said: It is enough for me if Joseph, my son, be yet living: I will go and see him before I die.

And Israel taking his journey, with all that he had, came to the well of the oath, and killing victims there to the God of his father Isaac. He heard him, by a vision in the night, calling him, and saying to him: Jacob, Jacob. And he answered him: Lo, here I am. God said to him: I am the most mighty God of thy father; fear not, go down into Egypt, for I will make a great nation of thee there. I will go down with thee thither, and will bring thee back again from thence: Joseph also shall put his 5 hands upon thy eyes. And Jacob rose up from the well of the oath: and his sons took him up, with their children and wives in the wagons, which Pharao had sent to carry the old man, 6 And all that he had in the land of Chanaan: and he came into 7 Egypt with all his seed; His sons, and grandsons, daughters, 8 and all his offspring together. And these are the names of the children of Israel, that entered into Egypt, he and his children.

9 His firstborn Ruben, The sons of Ruben: Henoah and Phallu, 10 and Hesron and Charmi. The sons of Simeon: Jamuel and Jamin and Ahod, and Jachin and Sohar, and Saul, the son of a 11 woman of Chanaan. The sons of Levi: Gerson and Caath, and 12 Merari. The sons of Juda: Her and Onan, and Sela, and Phares and Zara. And Her and Onan died in the land of Chanaan. And 13 sons were born to Phares: Hesron and Hamul. The sons of 14 Issachar: Thola and Phua, and Job and Semron. The sons of 15 Zabulon: Sared, and Elon, and Jahelel. These are the sons of Lia, whom she bore in Mesopotamia of Syria, with Dina, his daughter. All the souls of her sons and daughters, thirty-three.
16 The sons of Gad: Sephion and Haggi, and Suni and Esebon, 17 and Heri and Arodi, and Areli. The sons of Aser: Jamne and Jesua, and Jessuri and Beria, and Sara their sister. The sons of 18 Beria: Heber and Melchiel. These are the sons of Zelpha, whom Laban gave to Lia, his daughter. And these she bore to Jacob, 19 sixteen souls. The sons of Rachel, Jacob's wife: Joseph and 20 Benjamin. And sons were born to Joseph, in the land of Egypt, whom Aseneth, the daughter of Putiphare, priest of Heliopolis, 21 bore him: Manasses and Ephraim. The sons of Benjamin: Bela and Bechor, and Asbel and Gera, and Naaman and Echi, and 22 Ross and Mophim, and Ophim and Ared. These are the sons of 23 Rachel, whom she bore to Jacob: all the souls, fourteen. The 24 sons of Dan: Husim. The sons of Nephthali: Jaziel and Guni, 25 and Jeser and Sallem. These are the sons of Bala, whom Laban gave to Rachel, his daughter: and these she bore to Jacob: all 26 the souls, seven. All the souls that went with Jacob into Egypt, and that came out of his thigh, besides his sons' wives, sixty-27 six. And the sons of Joseph, that were born to him in the land of Egypt, two souls. All the souls of the house of Jacob, that 28 entered into Egypt, were seventy. And he sent Juda before him to Joseph, to tell him; and that he should meet him in Gessen. And when he was come thither, Joseph made ready his chariot, and went up to meet his father in the same place: and seeing him, he fell upon his neck, and embracing him, wept. And the father said to Joseph: Now shall I die with joy, because I have seen thy face, and leave thee alive. And Joseph said to his brethren, and to all his father's house: I will go up, and will tell Pharaoh, and will say to him: My brethren, and my father's house, that were in the land of Chanaan, are come to me: And the men are shepherds, and their occupation is to feed cattle; their flocks, and herds, and all they have, they have brought with them. And when he shall call you, and shall say: What is your occupation? You shall answer: We, thy servants, are shepherds, from our infancy until now, both we and our fathers. And this you shall say, that you may dwell in the land of Gessen, because the Egyptians have all shepherds in abomination.

Then Joseph went in and told Pharaoh, saying: My father and brethren, their sheep and their herds, and all that they possess, are come out of the land of Chanaan: and behold they stay in the land of Gessen. Five men also, the last of his brethren, he presented before the king: And he asked them: What is your occupation? They answered: We, thy servants, are shepherds, both we and our fathers. We are come to sojourn in thy land, because there is no grass for the flocks of thy servants, the famine being very grievous in the land of Chanaan: and we pray thee to give orders that we thy servants may be in the land of Gessen. The king therefore said to Joseph: Thy father and thy brethren are come to thee. The land of Egypt is before thee: and make them dwell in the best place, and give them the land of Gessen. And if thou knowest that there are industrious men among them, make them rulers over my cattle. After this Joseph brought in his father to the king, and presented him before him: and he blessed him. And being asked by him: How many are the days of the years of thy life? He answered: The days of my pilgrimage are a hundred and thirty years, few, and evil, and they are not come up to the days of the pilgrimage of my fathers. And blessing the king, he went out. But Joseph gave a possession to his father and his brethren in Egypt, in the best place of the land, in Ramesses, as Pharaoh had commanded. And he nourished 13 them, and all his father's house, allowing food to every one. For in the whole world there was want of bread, and a famine had 14 oppressed the land, more especially of Egypt and Chanaan; Out of which he gathered up all the money for the corn which they 15 bought, and brought it in to the king's treasure. And when the buyers wanted money, all Egypt came to Joseph, saying: Give us bread: why should we die in thy presence, having now no money?

16 And he answered them: Bring me your cattle, and for them I will give you food, if you have no money. And when they had 17 brought them, he gave them food in exchange for their horses, and sheep, and oxen, and asses: and he maintained them that 18 year for the exchange of their cattle. And they came the second year, and said to him: We will not hide from our lord, how that our money is spent, and our cattle also are gone: neither art thou ignorant that we have nothing now left but our bodies and our 19 lands. Why therefore shall we die before thy eyes? we will be thine, both we and our lands: buy us to be the king's servants, and give us seed, lest for want of tillers the land be turned into a 20 wilderness. So Joseph bought all the land of Egypt, every man selling his possessions, because of the greatness of the famine.
21 And he brought it into Pharaoh's hands: And all its people from one end of the borders of Egypt, even to the other end thereof, 22 Except the land of the priests, which had been given them by the king: to whom also a certain allowance of food was given out of the public stores, and therefore they were not forced to 23 sell their possessions. Then Joseph said to the people: Behold, as you see, both you and your lands belong to Pharaoh; take seed 24 and sow the fields, That you may have corn. The fifth part you shall give to the king; the other four you shall have for seed, and 25 for food for your families and children. And they answered: our life is in thy hand; only let my lord look favourably upon us, and 26 we will gladly serve the king. From that time unto this day, in the whole land of Egypt, the fifth part is paid to the kings, and it is become as a law, except the land of the priests, which was 27 free from this covenant. So Israel dwelt in Egypt, that is, in the land of Gessen, and possessed it; and grew, and was multiplied 28 exceedingly. And he lived in it seventeen years: and all the days 29 of his life came to a hundred and forty-seven years. And when he saw that the day of his death drew nigh, he called his son

Joseph, and said to him: If I have found favour in thy sight, put thy hand under my thigh; and thou shalt shew me this kindness and truth, not to bury me in Egypt. But I will sleep with my 30 fathers, and thou shalt take me away out of this land, and bury me in the burying place of my ancestors. And Joseph answered him: I will do what thou hast commanded. And he said: Swear 31 then to me. And as he was swearing, Israel adored God, turning to the bed's head.

After these things, it was told Joseph that his father was sick; 48 and he set out to go to him, taking his two sons Manasses and Ephraim. And it was told the old man: Behold thy son Joseph 2 cometh to thee. And being strengthened, he sat on his bed. And when Joseph was come in to him, he said: God almighty 3 appeared to me at Luza, which is in the land of Chanaan, and he blessed me, And said: I will cause thee to increase and multiply, 4 and I will make of thee a multitude of people: and I will give this land to thee, and to thy seed after thee for an everlasting possession. So thy two sons, who were born to thee in the land of 5 Egypt before I came hither to thee, shall be mine: Ephraim and Manasses shall be reputed to me as Ruben and Simeon. But the 6 rest whom thou shalt have after them, shall be thine, and shall be called by the name of their brethren in their possessions. For, 7 when I came out of Mesopotamia, Rachel died from me in the land of Chanaan in the very journey, and it was spring time: and I was going to Ephrata, and I buried her near the way of Ephrata, which by another name is called Bethlehem. Then seeing his 8 sons, he said to him: Who are these? He answered: They are 9 my sons, whom God hath given me in this place. And he said: Bring them to me, that I may bless them. For Israel's eyes 10 were dim by reason of his great age, and he could not see clearly. And when they were brought to him, he kissed and embraced them, And said to his son: I am not deprived of seeing thee; 11 moreover God hath shewn me thy seed. And when Joseph had 12 taken them from his father's lap, he bowed down with his face to the ground. And he set Ephraim on his right hand, that is, 13 towards the left hand of Israel; but Manasses on his left hand, to wit, towards his father's right hand, and brought them near to him. But he, stretching forth his right hand, put it upon 14 the head of Ephraim, the younger brother; and the left upon the head of Manasses, who was the elder, changing his hands.

15 And Jacob blessed the sons of Joseph, and said: God, in whose sight my fathers Abraham and Isaac walked, God that feedeth 16 me from my youth until this day: The angel that delivereth me from all evils, bless these boys: and let my name be called upon them, and the names of my fathers Abraham and Isaac; and 17 may they grow into a multitude upon the earth. And Joseph seeing that his father had put his right hand upon the head of Ephraim, was much displeased: and taking his father's hand, he tried to lift it from Ephraim's head, and to remove it to the 18 head of Manasses. And he said to his father: It should not be so, my father; for this is the firstborn, put thy right hand upon 19 his head. But he refusing, said: I know, my son, I know: and this also shall become a people, and shall be multiplied; but his younger brother shall be greater than he; and his seed shall grow 20 into nations. And he blessed them at that time, saying: In thee shall Israel be blessed, and it shall be said: God do to thee as to Ephraim, and as to Manasses. And he set Ephraim before 21 Manasses. And he said to Joseph, his son: Behold I die, and God will be with you, and will bring you back into the land of 22 your fathers. I give thee a portion above thy brethren, which I took out of the hand of the Amorrhite with my sword and bow.

49 And Jacob called his sons, and said to them: Gather yourselves together, that I may tell you the things that shall befall 2 you in the last days. Gather yourselves together, and hear, 3 O ye sons of Jacob, hearken to Israel, your father: Ruben, my firstborn, thou art my strength, and the beginning of my sorrow; 4 excelling in gifts, greater in command. Thou art poured out as water, grow thou not; because thou wentest up to thy father's 5 bed, and didst defile his couch. Simeon and Levi brethren: 6 vessels of iniquity waging war. Let not my soul go into their counsel, nor my glory be in their assembly: because in their fury they slew a man, and in their selfwill they undermined a wall.
7 Cursed be their fury, because it was stubborn: and their wrath, because it was cruel: I will divide them in Jacob, and will scatter 8 them in Israel. Juda, thee shall thy brethren praise: thy hand shall be on the necks of thy enemies; the sons of thy father shall 9 bow down to thee. Juda is a lion's whelp: to the prey, my son, thou art gone up: resting thou hast couched as a lion, and as a lioness, who shall rouse him? The sceptre shall not be taken 10 away from Juda, nor a ruler from his thigh, till he come that is to be sent, and he shall be the expectation of nations. Tying his 11 foal to the vineyard, and his ass, O my son, to the vine. He shall wash his robe in wine, and his garment in the blood of the grape.

His eyes are more beautiful than wine, and his teeth whiter than 12 milk. Zabulon shall dwell on the seashore, and in the road of ships, reaching as far as Sidon. Issachar shall be a strong ass, 13 lying down between the borders. He saw rest that it was good: 15 and the land that it was excellent: and he bowed his shoulder to carry, and became a servant under tribute. Dan shall judge 16 his people like another tribe in Israel. Let Dan be a snake in 17 the way, a serpent in the path, that biteth the horse's heels, that his rider may fall backward. I will look for thy salvation, O 18 Lord. Gad, being girded, shall fight before him: and he himself 19 shall be girded backward. Aser, his bread shall be fat, and he 20 shall yield dainties to kings. Nephthali, a hart let loose, and giving words of beauty. Joseph is a growing son, a growing son 22 and comely to behold: the daughters run to and fro upon the wall; But they that held darts, provoked him, and quarrelled 23 with him, and envied him. His bow rested upon the strong, and 24 the bands of his arms and his hands were loosed, by the hands of the mighty one of Jacob: thence he came forth a pastor, the stone of Israel. The God of thy father shall be thy helper, and 25 the Almighty shall bless thee with the blessings of heaven above, with the blessings of the deep that lieth beneath, with the blessings of the breasts and of the womb. The blessings of thy father 26 are strengthened with the blessings of his fathers: until the desire of the everlasting hills should come: may they be upon the head of Joseph, and upon the crown of the Nazarite among his brethren. Benjamin a ravenous wolf, in the morning shall eat 27 the prey, and in the evening shall divide the spoil. All these 28 are the twelve tribes of Israel: these things their father spoke to them, and he blessed every one with their proper blessings.
And he charged them, saying: I am now going to be gathered to 29 my people: bury me with my fathers in the double cave, which is in the field of Ephron the Hethite, Over against Mambre, in 30 the land of Chanaan, which Abraham bought together with the field, of Ephron the Hethite, for a possession to bury in. There 31 they buried him, and Sara his wife: there was Isaac buried with 32 Rebecca, his wife: there also Lia doth lie buried. And when he had ended the commandments, wherewith he instructed his sons, he drew up his feet upon the bed, and died: and he was gathered to his people.

50 And when Joseph saw this, he fell upon his father's face, 2 weeping and kissing him. And he commanded his servants, the 3 physicians, to embalm his father. And while they were fulfilling his commands, there passed forty days: for this was the manner 4 with bodies that were embalmed, and Egypt mourned for him seventy days. And the time of the mourning being expired, Joseph spoke to the family of Pharao: If I have found favour in 5 your sight, speak in the ears of Pharao: For my father made me swear to him, saying: Behold I die; thou shalt bury me in my sepulchre which I have digged for myself in the land of Chanaan.
6 So I will go up and bury my father, and return. And Pharao said to him: Go up and bury thy father according as he made 7 thee swear. So he went up, and there went with him all the ancients of Pharao's house, and all the elders of the land of 8 Egypt. And the house of Joseph with his brethren, except their children, and their flocks and herds, which they left in the land 9 of Gessen. He had also in his train chariots and horsemen: and 10 it was a great company. And they came to the threshing floor of Atad, which is situated beyond the Jordan: where celebrating the exequies with a great and vehement lamentation, they spent 11 full seven days. And when the inhabitants of Chanaan saw this, they said: This is a great mourning to the Egyptians. And therefore the name of that place was called, The mourning of 12 Egypt. So the sons of Jacob did as he had commanded them.
13 And carrying him into the land of Chanaan, they buried him in the double cave, which Abraham had bought together with the field for a possession of a burying place, of Ehpron, the Hethite, 14 over against Mambre. And Joseph returned into Egypt with his brethren, and all that were in his company, after he had buried 15 his father. Now he being dead, his brethren were afraid, and talked one with another: Lest perhaps he should remember the wrong he suffered, and requite us all the evil that we did to him.
16 And they sent a message to him, saying: Thy father commanded 17 us before he died, That we should say thus much to thee from him: I beseech thee to forget the wickedness of thy brethren, and the sin and malice they practised against thee: we also pray thee, to forgive the servants of the God of thy father this wickedness. And when Joseph heard this, he wept. And his brethren came 18 to him; and worshipping prostrate on the ground, they said: We are thy servants. And he answered them: Fear not: can we 19 resist the will of God? You thought evil against me: but God 20 turned it into good, that he might exalt me, as at present you see, and might save many people. Fear not: I will feed you 21 and your children. And he comforted them, and spoke gently and mildly. And he dwelt in Egypt with all his father's house; 22 and lived a hundred and ten years. And he saw the children of Ephraim to the third generation. The children also of Machir, the sons of Manasses, were born on Joseph's knees. After which 23 he told his brethren: God will visit you after my death, and will make you go up out of this land, to the land which he swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. And he made them swear to him, 24 saying: God will visit you, carry my bones with you out of this place: And he died, being a hundred and ten years old. And 25 being embalmed, he was laid in a coffin in Egypt.

THE SECOND BOOK OF MOSES, CALLED EXODUS.

1 These are the names of the children of Israel, that went into Egypt with Jacob: they went in every man with 2, 3 his household: Ruben, Simeon, Levi, Juda, Issachar, 4 Zabulon, and Benjamin, Dan, and Nephthali, Gad 5 and Aser. And all the souls that came out of Jacob's thigh, 6 were seventy: but Joseph was in Egypt. After he was dead, 7 and all his brethren, and all that generation, The children of Israel increased, and sprung up into multitudes, and growing 8 exceedingly strong they filled the land. In the mean time there 9 arose a new king over Egypt, that knew not Joseph: And he said to his people: Behold the people of the children of Israel are 10 numerous and stronger than we. Come let us wisely oppress them, lest they multiply: and if any war shall rise against us, join with our enemies, and having overcome us, depart out of 11 the land. Therefore he set over them masters of the works, to afflict them with burdens: and they built for Pharao cities 12 of tabernacles, Phithom, and Ramesses. But the more they oppressed them, the more they were multiplied and increased.
13 And the Egyptians hated the children of Israel, and afflicted 14 them and mocked them: And they made their life bitter with hard works in clay and brick, and with all manner of service, 15 wherewith they were overcharged in the works of the earth. And the king of Egypt spoke to the midwives of the Hebrews: of 16 whom one was called Sephora, the other Phua, Commanding them: When you shall do the office of midwives to the Hebrew women, and the time of delivery is come: if it be a man child, kill 17 it: if a woman, keep it alive. But the midwives feared God, and did not do as the king of Egypt had commanded, but saved the 18 men children. And the king called for them and said: What is it that you meant to do, that you would save the men children?

They answered: The Hebrew women are not as the Egyptian 19 women: for they themselves are skilful in the office of a midwife; and they are delivered before we come to them. Therefore God 20 dealt well with the midwives: and the people multiplied and grew exceedingly strong. And because the midwives feared God, he 21 built them houses. Pharao therefore charged all his people, 22 saying: Whatsoever shall be born of the male sex, ye shall cast into the river: whatsoever of the female, ye shall save alive.

After this there went a man of the house of Levi; and took 2 a wife of his own kindred. And she conceived, and bore a son: 2 and seeing him a goodly child, hid him three months. And 3 when she could hide him no longer, she took a basket made of bulrushes, and daubed it with slime and pitch: and put the little babe therein, and laid him in the sedges by the river's brink, His 4 sister standing afar off, and taking notice what would be done.
And behold the daughter of Pharao came down to wash herself in 5 the river: and her maids walked by the river's brink. And when she saw the basket in the sedges she sent one of her maids for it: and when it was brought, She opened it, and seeing within 6 it an infant crying, having compassion on it, she said: This is one of the babes of the Hebrews. And the child's sister said 7 to her: Shall I go, and call to thee a Hebrew woman, to nurse the babe? She answered: Go. The maid went and called her 8 mother. And Pharao's daughter said to her: Take this child, 9 and nurse him for me: I will give thee thy wages. The woman took and nursed the child: and when he was grown up, she delivered him to Pharao's daughter. And she adopted him for 10 a son, and called him Moses, saying: Because I took him out of the water. In those days, after Moses was grown up, he went 11 out to his brethren: and saw their affliction, and an Egyptian striking one of the Hebrews, his brethren. And when he had 12 looked about this way and that way, and saw no one there, he slew the Egyptian and hid him in the sand. And going out the 13 next day, he saw two Hebrews quarrelling: and he said to him that did the wrong: Why strikest thou thy neighbour? But 14 he answered: Who hath appointed thee prince and judge over us? wilt thou kill me, as thou didst yesterday kill the Egyptian?
Moses feared, and said: How is this come to be known? And 15 Pharao heard of this word, and sought to kill Moses: but he fled from his sight, and abode in the land of Madian, and he sat down 16 by a well. And the priest of Madian had seven daughters, who came to draw water: and when the troughs were filled, desired to 17 water their father's flocks. And the shepherds came and drove them away: and Moses arose, and defending the maids, watered 18 their sheep. And when they returned to Raguel their father, 19 he said to them: Why are ye come sooner than usual? They answered: A man of Egypt delivered us from the hands of the shepherds: and he drew water also with us, and gave the sheep 20 to drink. But he said: Where is he? why have you let the man 21 go? call him that he may eat bread. And Moses swore that he would dwell with him. And he took Sephora his daughter to 22 wife: And she bore him a son, whom he called Gersam, saying: I have been a stranger in a foreign country. And she bore another, whom he called Eliezer, saying: For the God of my father, my 23 helper, hath delivered me out of the hand of Pharaoh. Now after a long time the king of Egypt died: and the children of Israel groaning, cried out because of the works: and their cry went up 24 unto God from the works. And he heard their groaning, and remembered the covenant which he made with Abraham, Isaac, 25 and Jacob. And the Lord looked upon the children of Israel, and he knew them.

3 Now Moses fed the sheep of Jethro, his father in law, the priest of Madian: and he drove the flock to the inner parts of 2 the desert, and came to the mountain of God, Horeb. And the Lord appeared to him in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush: 3 and he saw that the bush was on fire, and was not burnt. And Moses said: I will go, and see this great sight, why the bush is 4 not burnt. And when the Lord saw that he went forward to see, he called to him out of the midst of the bush. and said: Moses, 5 Moses. And he answered: Here I am. And he said: Come not nigh hither, put off the shoes from thy feet; for the place, 6 whereon thou standest, is holy ground. And he said: I am the God of thy father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. Moses hid his face: for he durst not look at 7 God. And the Lord said to him: I have seen the affliction of my people in Egypt, and I have heard their cry because of the rigour 8 of them that are over the works; And knowing their sorrow, I am come down to deliver them out of the hands of the Egyptians, and to bring them out of that land into a good and spacious land, into a land that floweth with milk and honey, to the places of the Chanaanite, and Hethite, and Amorrhite, and Pherezite, and Hevite, and Jebusite. For the cry of the children of Israel is come unto me: and I have seen their affliction, wherewith they are oppressed by the Egyptians. But come, and I will send thee to Pharao, that thou mayst bring forth my people, the children of Israel, out of Egypt. And Moses said to God: Who am I that I should go to Pharao, and should bring forth the children of Israel out of Egypt? And he said to him: I will be with thee; and this thou shalt have for a sign that I have sent thee: When thou shalt have brought my people out of Egypt, thou shalt offer sacrifice to God upon this mountain. Moses said to God: Lo, I shall go to the children of Israel, and say to them: The God of your fathers hath sent me to you. If they shall say to me: What is his name? What shall I say to them? God said to Moses: I AM WHO AM. He said: Thus shalt thou say to the children of Israel: HE WHO IS, hath sent me to you. And God said again to Moses: Thus shalt thou say to the children of Israel: The Lord God of your fathers the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob hath sent me to you; this is my name for ever, and this is my memorial unto all generations. Go and gather together the ancients of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: The Lord God of your fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath appeared to me, saying: Visiting I have visited you; and I have seen all that hath befallen you in Egypt. And I have said the word to bring you forth out of the affliction of Egypt, into the land of the Chanaanite, and Hethite, and Amorrhite, and Pherezite, and Hevite, and Jebusite, to a land that floweth with milk and honey. And they shall hear thy voice; and thou shalt go in, thou and the ancients of Israel, to the king of Egypt, and thou shalt say to him: The Lord God of the Hebrews hath called us; we will go three days' journey into the wilderness, to sacrifice unto the Lord our God. But I know that the king of Egypt will not let you go, but by a mighty hand. For I will stretch forth my hand, and will strike Egypt with all my wonders which I will do in the midst of them: after these he will let you go. And I will give favour to this people, in the sight of the Egyptians: and when you go forth, you shall not depart

22 empty: But every woman shall ask of her neighbour, and of her that is in her house, vessels of silver and of gold, and raiment: and you shall put them on your sons and daughters, and shall spoil Egypt.

4 Moses answered, and said: They will not believe me, nor hear my voice, but they will say: The Lord hath not appeared to thee. 2 Then he said to him: What is that thou holdest in thy hand? He 3 answered: A rod. And the Lord said: Cast it down upon the ground. He cast it down, and it was turned into a serpent, so 4 that Moses fled from it. And the Lord said: Put out thy hand, and take it by the tail. He put forth his hand, and took hold of 5 it, and it was turned into a rod. That they may believe, saith he, that the Lord God of their fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, hath appeared to thee. 6 And the Lord said again: Put thy hand into thy bosom. And when he had put it into his bosom, he brought it forth leprous as 7 snow. And he said: Put back thy hand into thy bosom. He put it back, and brought it out again, and it was like the other flesh. 8 If they will not believe thee, saith he, nor hear the voice of the 9 former sign, they will believe the word of the latter sign. But if they will not even believe these two signs, nor hear thy voice: take of the river water, and pour it out upon the dry land, and whatsoever thou drawest out of the river, shall be turned into 10 blood. Moses said: I beseech thee, Lord, I am not eloquent from yesterday and the day before; and since thou hast spoken to thy servant, I have more impediment and slowness of tongue. 11 The Lord said to him: Who made man's mouth? or who made 12 the dumb and the deaf, the seeing and the blind? did not I? Go therefore, and I will be in thy mouth; and I will teach thee what 13 thou shalt speak. But he said: I beseech thee, Lord, send whom 14 thou wilt send. The Lord being angry at Moses, said: Aaron the Levite is thy brother, I know that he is eloquent: behold he cometh forth to meet thee, and seeing thee, shall be glad at 15 heart. Speak to him, and put my words in his mouth: and I will be in thy mouth, and in his month, and will shew you what 16 you must do. He shall speak in thy stead to the people, and shall be thy mouth: but thou shalt be to him in those things 17 that pertain to God. And take this rod in thy hand. wherewith 18 thou shalt do the signs. Moses went his way, and returned to

Jethro his father in law, and said to him; I will go and return to my brethren into Egypt, that I may see if they be yet alive. And Jethro said to him: Go in peace. And the Lord said to Moses, in Madian: Go, and return into Egypt; for they are all dead that sought thy life. Moses therefore took his wife, and his sons, and set them upon an ass; and returned into Egypt, carrying the rod of God in his hand. And the Lord said to him as he was returning into Egypt: See that thou do all the wonders before Pharao, which I have put in thy hand: I shall harden his heart, and he will not let the people go. And thou shalt say to him: Thus saith the Lord: Israel is my son, my firstborn. I have said to thee: Let my son go, that he may serve me, and thou wouldst not let him go: behold I will kill thy son, thy firstborn. And when he was in his journey, in the inn, the Lord met him, and would have killed him. Immediately Sephora took a very sharp stone, and circumcised the foreskin of her son, and touched his feet, and said: A bloody spouse art thou to me. And he let him go after she had said: A bloody spouse art thou to me, because of the circumcision. And the Lord said to Aaron: Go into the desert to meet Moses. And he went forth to meet him in the mountain of God, and kissed him. And Moses told Aaron all the words of the Lord, by which he had sent him, and the signs that he had commanded. And they came together, and they assembled all the ancients of the children of Israel. And Aaron spoke all the words which the Lord had said to Moses: and he wrought the signs before the people. And the people believed. And they heard that the Lord had visited the children of Israel, and that he had looked upon their affliction: and falling down they adored.

After these things, Moses and Aaron went in, and said to Pharao: Thus saith the Lord God of Israel: Let my people go, that they may sacrifice to me in the desert. But he answered: Who is the Lord, that I should hear his voice, and let Israel go? I know not the Lord, neither will I let Israel go. And they said: The God of the Hebrews hath called us, to go three days' journey into the wilderness, and to sacrifice to the Lord our God; lest a pestilence or the sword fall upon us. The king of Egypt said to them: Why do you Moses and Aaron draw off the people from their works? Get you gone to your burdens. And Pharao said:

The people of the land are numerous; you see that the multitude is increased; how much more if you give them rest from their 6 works? Therefore he commanded the same day the overseers 7 of the works, and the task-masters of the people, saying: You shall give straw no more to the people to make brick, as before; 8 but let them go and gather straw. And you shall lay upon them the task of bricks, which they did before; neither shall you diminish any thing thereof, for they are idle, and therefore they 9 cry. saying: Let us go and sacrifice to our God. Let them be oppressed with works, and let them fulfil them; that they may 10 not regard lying words. And the overseers of the works, and the taskmasters, went out and said to the people: Thus saith 11 Pharaoh: I allow you no straw; Go, and gather it where you can 12 find it; neither shall any thing of your work be diminished. And the people was scattered through all the land of Egypt to gather 13 straw. And the overseers of the works pressed them, saying: Fulfil your work every day, as before ye were wont to do, when 14 straw was given you. And they that were over the works of the children of Israel, were scourged by Pharaoh's taskmasters, saying: 15 Why have you not made up the task of bricks, both yesterday and to day, as before? And the officers of the children of Israel came, and cried out to Pharaoh, saying: Why dealest thou so with 16 thy servants? Straw is not given us, and bricks are required of us as before; behold we, thy servants, are beaten with whips, 17 and thy people is unjustly dealt withal. And he said: You are idle, and therefore you say: Let us go and sacrifice to the Lord.
18 Go therefore and work: straw shall not be given you, and you shall deliver the accustomed number of bricks. And the officers of the children of Israel saw that they were in evil case, because it was said to them: There shall not a whit be diminished of 20 the bricks for every day. And they met Moses and Aaron, who stood over against them as they came out from Pharaoh: And they said to them: The Lord see and judge, because you have, made our savour to stink before Pharaoh and his servants, and 22 you have given him a sword, to kill us. And Moses returned to the Lord, and said: Lord, why hast thou afflicted this people?
23 wherefore hast thou sent me? For since the time that I went in to Pharaoh to speak in thy name, he hath afflicted thy people: and thou hast not delivered them.

And the Lord said to Moses: Now thou shalt see what I will 6 do to Pharao: for by a mighty hand shall he let them go, and with a strong hand shall he cast them out of his land. And the 2 Lord spoke to Moses, saying: I am the Lord That appeared to 3 Abraham, to Isaac, and to Jacob, by the name of God Almighty: and my name ADONAI I did not shew them. And I made 4 a covenant with them, to give them the land of Chanaan, the land of their pilgrimage wherein they were strangers. I have 5 heard the groaning of the children of Israel, wherewith the Eryptians have oppressed them: and I have remembered my covenant.
Therefore say to the children of Israel: I am the Lord who will 6 bring you out from the work-prison of the Egyptians, and will deliver you from bondage: and redeem you with a high arm, and great judgments. And I will take you to myself for my 7 people, I will be your God: and you shall know that I am the Lord your God, who brought you out from the work-prison of the Egyptians: And brought you into the land, concerning which 8 I lifted up my hand to give it to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob: and I will give it you to possess: I am the Lord. And Moses 9 told all this to the children of Israel: but they did not hearken to him, for anguish of spirit, and most painful work. And the 10 Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Go in, and speak to Pharao king 11 of Egypt, that he let the children of Israel go out of his land.
Moses answered before the Lord: Behold the children of Israel 12 do not hearken to me: and how will Pharao hear me, especially as I am of uncircumcised lips? And the Lord spoke to Moses 13 and Aaron, and he gave them a charge unto the children of Israel, and unto Pharao the king of Egypt, that they should bring forth the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt. These are 14 the heads of their houses by their families. The sons of Ruben the firstborn of Israel: Henoeh and Phallu, Hesron and Charmi.
These are the kindreds of Ruben. The sons of Simeon, Jamuel 15 and Jamin, and Ahod, and Jachin, and Soar, and Saul the son of a Chanaanitess: these are the families of Simeon. And these 16 are the names of the sons of Levi by their kindreds: Gerson, and Caath, and Merari. And the years of the life of Levi were a hundred and thirty- seven. The sons of Gerson: Lobni and 17 Semei, by their kindreds. The sons of Caath: Amram, and 18 Isaar, and Hebron and Oziel. And the years of Caath's life, were 19 a hundred and thirty-three. The sons of Merari: Moholi and 20 Musi. These are the kindreds of Levi by their families. And Amram took to wife Jochabed his aunt by the father's side: and she bore him Aaron and Moses. And the years of Amram's life, 21 were a hundred and thirty-seven. The sons also of Isaar: Core, 22 and Nepheg, and Zechri. The sons also of Oziel: Mizael, and 23 Elizaphan, and Sethri. And Aaron took to wife Elizabeth the daughter of Aminadab, sister of Nahason, who bore him Nadab, 24 and Abiu, and Eleazar, and Ithamar. The sons also of Core: Aser, and Elcana, and Abiasaph. These are the kindreds of the 25 Corites. But Eleazar the son of Aaron took a wife of the daughters of Phutiel: and she bore him Phinees. These are the heads 26 of the Levitical families by their kindreds. These are Aaron and Moses, whom the Lord commanded to bring forth the children 27 of Israel out of the land of Egypt by their companies. These are they that speak to Pharao, king of Egypt, in order to bring out the children of Israel from Egypt: these are that Moses and 28 Aaron, In the day when the Lord spoke to Moses in the land of 29 Egypt. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: I am the Lord; 30 speak thou to Pharao, king of Egypt, all that I say to thee. And Moses said before the Lord: Lo I am of uncircumcised lips, how will Pharao hear me?

7 And the Lord said to Moses: Behold, I have appointed thee the god of Pharao; and Aaron, thy brother, shall be thy prophet.
2 Thou shalt speak to him all that I command thee; and he shall speak to Pharao, that he let the children of Israel go out of his 3 land. But I shall harden his heart, and shall multiply my signs 4 and wonders in the land of Egypt. And he will not hear you: and I will lay my hand upon Egypt, and will bring forth my army and my people, the children of Israel, out of the land of Egypt, by 5 very great judgments. And the Egyptians shall know that I am the Lord, who have stretched forth my hand upon Egypt, and have brought forth the children of Israel out of the midst of them.
6 And Moses and Aaron did as the Lord had commanded; so did 7 they. And Moses was eighty years old, and Aaron eighty- three, 8 when they spoke to Pharao. And the Lord said to Moses and 9 Aaron: When Pharao shall say to you, Shew signs; thou shalt say to Aaron: Take thy rod, and cast it down before Pharao, 10 and it shall be turned into a serpent. So Moses and Aaron went in unto Pharaoh, and did as the Lord had commanded. And Aaron took the rod before Pharaoh and his servants, and it was turned into a serpent. And Pharaoh called the wise men and the magicians; and they also by Egyptian enchantments and certain secrets, did in like manner. And they every one cast down their rods, and they were turned into serpents: but Aaron's rod devoured their rods. And Pharaoh's heart was hardened, and he did not hearken to them, as the Lord had commanded. And the Lord said to Moses: Pharaoh's heart is hardened, he will not let the people go. Go to him in the morning, behold he will go out to the waters: and thou shalt stand to meet him on the ' bank of the river: and thou shalt take in thy hand the rod that was turned into a serpent. And thou shalt say to him: The Lord God of the Hebrews sent me to thee, saying: Let my people go to sacrifice to me in the desert: and hitherto thou wouldst not hear. Thus therefore saith the Lord: In this thou shalt know that I am the Lord: behold I will strike with the rod, that is in my hand, the water of the river, and it shall be turned into blood. And the fishes that are in the river, shall die, and the waters shall be corrupted, and the Egyptians shall be afflicted when they drink the water of the river. The Lord also said to Moses: Say to Aaron, Take thy rod; and stretch forth thy hand upon the waters of Egypt, and upon their rivers, and streams and pools, and all the ponds of waters, that they may be turned into blood: and let blood be in all the land of Egypt, both in vessels of wood and of stone. And Moses and Aaron did as the Lord had commanded: and lifting up the rod, he struck the water of the river before Pharaoh and his servants: and it was turned into blood. And the fishes that were in the river died; and the river corrupted, and the Egyptians could not drink the water of the river, and there was blood in all the land of Egypt. And the magicians of the Egyptians with their enchantments did in like manner; and Pharaoh's heart was hardened, neither did he hear them, as the Lord had commanded. And he turned himself away, and went into his house, neither did he set his heart to it this time also. And all the Egyptians dug round about the river for water to drink; for they could not drink of the water of the river. And seven days were fully ended, after that the Lord struck the river.

8 And the Lord said to Moses: Go in to Pharaoh, and thou shalt say to him: Thus saith the Lord: Let my people go to sacrifice to 2 me. But if thou wilt not let them go, behold I will strike all thy 3 coasts with frogs. And the river shall bring forth an abundance of frogs; which shall come up and enter into thy house, and thy bedchamber, and upon thy bed, and into the houses of thy servants, and to thy people, and into thy ovens, and into the 4 remains of thy meats: And the frogs shall come in to thee, and 5 to thy people, and to all thy servants. And the Lord said to Moses: Say to Aaron: Stretch forth thy hand upon the streams, and upon the rivers and the pools, and bring forth frogs upon 6 the land of Egypt. And Aaron stretched forth his hand upon the waters of Egypt, and the frogs came up, and covered the 7 land of Egypt. And the magicians also, by their enchantments, did in like manner, and they brought forth frogs upon the land 8 of Egypt. But Pharaoh called Moses and Aaron, and said to them: Pray ye to the Lord to take away the frogs from me and from my people; and I will let the people go to sacrifice to the 9 Lord. And Moses said to Pharaoh: Set me a time when I shall pray for thee, and for thy servants, and for thy people, that the frogs may be driven away from thee and from thy house, and from thy servants, and from thy people; and may remain only 10 in the river. And he answered: To morrow. But he said: I will do according to thy word; that thou mayest know that there 11 is none like to the Lord our God. And the frogs shall depart from thee, and from thy house, and from thy servants, and from 12 thy people; and shall remain only in the river. And Moses and Aaron went forth from Pharaoh: and Moses cried to the Lord for the promise, which he had made to Pharaoh concerning the frogs.
13 And the Lord did according to the word of Moses: and the frogs died out of the houses, and out of the villages, and out of the 14 fields: And they gathered them together into immense heaps, 15 and the land was corrupted. And Pharaoh seeing that rest was given, hardened his own heart, and did not hear them, as the 16 Lord had commanded. And the Lord said to Moses: Say to Aaron: Stretch forth thy rod, and strike the dust of the earth; 17 and may there be sciniphs in all the land of Egypt. And they did so. And Aaron stretched forth his hand, holding the rod; and he struck the dust of the earth, and there came sciniphs on men and on beasts: all the dust of the earth was turned into sciniphs through all the land of Egypt. And the magicians with their enchantments practised in like manner, to bring forth sciniphs, and they could not: and there were sciniphs as well on men as on beasts. And the magicians said to Pharao: This is the finger of God. And Pharao's heart was hardened, and he hearkened not unto them, as the Lord had commanded. The Lord also said to Moses: Arise early, and stand before Pharao; for he will go forth to the waters: and thou shalt say to him: Thus saith the Lord: Let my people go to sacrifice to me. But if thou wilt not let them go, behold I will send in upon thee, and upon thy servants, and upon thy houses, all kind of flies: and the houses of the Egyptians shall be filled with flies of divers kinds, and the whole land wherein they shall be. And I will make the land of Gessen wonderful in that day, so that flies shall not be there: and thou shalt know that I am the Lord in the midst of the earth. And I will put a division between my people and thy people: to morrow shall this sign be. And the Lord did so. And there came a very grievous swarm of flies into the houses of Pharao and of his servants, and into all the land of Egypt: and the land was corrupted by this kind of flies. And Pharao called Moses and Aaron, and said to them: Go and sacrifice to your God in this land. And Moses said: It cannot be so: for we shall sacrifice the abominations of the Egyptians to the Lord our God: now if we kill those things which the Egyptians worship, in their presence, they will stone us. We will go three days' journey into the wilderness; and we will sacrifice to the Lord our God, as he hath commanded us. And Pharao said: I will let you go to sacrifice to the Lord your God in the wilderness, but go no farther: pray for me. And Moses said: I will go out from thee, and will pray to the Lord: and the flies shall depart from Pharao, and from his servants, and from his people to morrow: but do not deceive any more, in not letting the people go to sacrifice to the Lord. So Moses went out from Pharao, and prayed to the Lord. And he did according to his word: and he took away the flies from Pharao, and from his servants, and from his people: there was not left so much as one. And Pharao's heart was hardened, so that neither this time would he let the people go.

And the Lord said to Moses: Go in to Pharao, and speak to 9 him: Thus saith the Lord God of the Hebrews: Let my people go 2 to sacrifice to me. But if thou refuse, and withhold them still: 3 Behold my hand shall be upon thy fields; and a very grievous murrain upon thy horses, and asses, and camels, and oxen, and 4 sheep. And the Lord will make a wonderful difference between the possessions of Israel and the possessions of the Egyptians, that nothing at all shall die of those things that belong to the 5 children of Israel. And the Lord appointed a time, saying: To 6 morrow will the Lord do this thing in the land. The Lord therefore did this thing the next day: and all the beasts of the Eglyptians died, but of the beasts of the children of Israel there died 7 not one. And Pharao sent to see; and there was not any thing dead of that which Israel possessed. And Pharao's heart was 8 hardened, and he did not let the people go. And the Lord said to Moses and Aaron: Take to you handfuls of ashes out of the chimney, and let Moses sprinkle it in the air in the presence of 9 Pharao. And be there dust upon all the land of Egypt: for there shall be boils and swelling blains both in men and beasts, 10 in the whole land of Egypt. And they took ashes out of the chimney, and stood before Pharao, and Moses sprinkled it in the air; and there came boils with swelling blains in men and beasts.

11 Neither could the magicians stand before Moses, for the boils 12 that were upon them, and in all the land of Egypt. And the Lord hardened Pharao's heart, and he hearkened not unto them, 13 as the Lord had spoken to Moses. And the Lord said to Moses: Arise in the morning, and stand before Pharao, and thou shalt say to him: Thus saith the Lord, the God of the Hebrews: Let 14 my people go to sacrifice to me. For I will at this time send all my plagues upon thy heart, and upon thy servants, and upon thy people; that thou mayst know that there is none like me in 15 all the earth. For now I will stretch out my hand to strike thee, and thy people, with pestilence, and thou shalt perish from the 16 earth. And therefore have I raised thee, that I may shew my power in thee, and my name may be spoken of throughout all 17 the earth. Dost thou yet hold back my people; and wilt thou not let them go? Behold I will cause it to rain to morrow at this same hour, an exceeding great hail; such as hath not been in Egypt from the day that it was founded, until this present time.
18 Send therefore now presently, and gather together thy cattle, 19 and all that thou hast in the field; for men and beasts, and all things that shall be found abroad, and not gathered together out of the fields which the hail shall fall upon, shall die. He that 20 feared the word of the Lord among Pharaoh's servants, made his servants and his cattle flee into houses: But he that regarded 21 not the word of the Lord, left his servants, and his cattle in the fields. And the Lord said to Moses: Stretch forth thy hand to- 22 wards heaven, that there may be hail in the whole land of Egypt upon men, and upon beasts, and upon every herb of the field in the land of Egypt. And Moses stretched forth his rod towards 23 heaven, and the Lord sent thunder and hail, and lightnings running along the ground: and the Lord rained hail upon the land of Egypt. And the hail and fire mixt with it drove on together: 24 and it was of so great bigness, as never before was seen in the whole land of Egypt since that nation was founded. And the 25 hail destroyed through all the land of Egypt all things that were in the fields, both man and beast: and the hail smote every herb of the field, and it broke every tree of the country. Only in the 26 land of Gessen, where the children of Israel were, the hail fell not. And Pharaoh sent and called Moses and Aaron, saying to them: I have sinned this time also, the Lord is just: I and my people, are wicked. Pray ye to the Lord that the thunderings of God and 27 the hail may cease: that I may let you go, and that ye may stay here no longer. Moses said: As soon as I am gone out of the 28 city, I will stretch forth my hands to the Lord, and the thunders shall cease, and the hail shall be no more: that thou mayst know that the earth is the Lord's: But I know that neither thou, nor 29 thy servants do yet fear the Lord God. The flax therefore, and 30 the barley were hurt, because the barley was green, and the flax was now balled; But the wheat, and other winter corn were not 31 hurt, because they were lateward. And when Moses was gone 32 from Pharaoh out of the city, he stretched forth his hands to the Lord: and the thunders and the hail ceased, neither did there drop any more rain upon the earth. And Pharaoh seeing that the 33 rain, and the hail, and the thunders were ceased, increased his sin: And his heart was hardened, and the heart of his servants, 34 and it was made exceeding hard: neither did he let the children of Israel go, as the Lord had commanded by the hand of Moses. 35

And the Lord said to Moses: Go in to Pharaoh; for I have 10 hardened his heart, and the heart of his servants: that I may 2 work these my signs in him, And thou mayst tell in the ears of thy sons, and of thy grandsons, how often I have plagued the Egyptians, and wrought my signs amongst them: and you may 3 know that I am the Lord. Therefore Moses and Aaron went in to Pharaο, and said to him: Thus saith the Lord God of the Hebrews: How long refusest thou to submit to me? let my people 4 go, to sacrifice to me. But if thou resist, and wilt not let them go, behold I will bring in to-morrow the locusts into thy coasts; 5 To cover the face of the earth, that nothing thereof may appear, but that which the hail hath left may be eaten: for they shall 6 feed upon all the trees that spring in the fields. And they shall fill thy houses, and the houses of thy servants, and of all the Egyptians: such a number as thy fathers have not seen, nor thy grandfathers, from the time they were first upon the earth, until this present day. And he turned himself away, and went forth 7 from Pharaο. And Pharaο's servants said to him: How long shall we endure this scandal? Let the men go to sacrifice to the 8 Lord their God. Dost thou not see that Egypt is undone? And they called back Moses, and Aaron, to Pharaο; and he said to them: Go, sacrifice to the Lord your God: who are they that 9 shall go? Moses said: We will go with our young and old, with our sons and daughters, with our sheep and herds: for it is the 10 solemnity of the Lord our God. And Pharaο answered: So be the Lord with you, as I shall let you and your children go: who 11 can doubt but that you intend some great evil? It shall not be so. but go ye men only, and sacrifice to the Lord: for this yourselves also desired. And immediately they were cast out 12 from Pharaο's presence. And the Lord said to Moses: Stretch forth thy hand upon the land of Egypt unto the locust, that it come upon it, and devour every herb that is left after the hail.

13 And Moses stretched forth his rod upon the land of Egypt: and the Lord brought a burning wind all that day, and night; and 14 when it was morning, the burning wind raised the locusts. And they came up over the whole land of Egypt; and rested in all the coasts of the Egyptians, innumerable, the like as had not been 15 before that time, nor shall be hereafter. And they covered the whole face of the earth, wasting all things. And the grass of the earth was devoured, and what fruits soever were on the trees, which the hail had left; and there remained not any thing that was green on the trees, or in the herbs of the earth, in all Egypt. Wherefore Pharaoh in haste called Moses and Aaron, and said to them: I have sinned against the Lord your God, and against you. But now forgive me my sin this time also, and pray to the Lord your God, that he take away from me this death. And Moses going forth from the presence of Pharaoh, prayed to the Lord: And he made a very strong wind to blow from the west, and it took the locusts and cast them into the Red Sea: there remained not so much as one in all the coasts of Egypt. And the Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart, neither did he let the children of Israel go. And the Lord said to Moses: Stretch out thy hand towards heaven: and may there be darkness upon the land of Egypt so thick that it may be felt. And Moses stretched forth his hand towards heaven: and there came horrible darkness in all the land of Egypt for three days. No man saw his brother, nor moved himself out of the place where he was: but wheresoever the children of Israel dwelt, there was light. And Pharaoh called Moses and Aaron, and said to them: Go, sacrifice to the Lord: let your sheep only, and herds remain, let your children go with you. Moses said: Thou shalt give us also sacrifices and burnt-offerings, to the Lord our God. All the flocks shall go with us; there shall not a hoof remain of them: for they are necessary for the service of the Lord our God: especially as we know not what must be offered, till we come to the very place. And the Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart, and he would not let them go. And Pharaoh said to Moses: Get thee from me, and beware thou see not my face any more: in what day soever thou shalt come in my sight, thou shalt die. Moses answered: So shall it be as thou hast spoken, I will not see thy face anymore.

And the Lord said to Moses: Yet one plague more will I bring upon Pharaoh and Egypt, and after that he shall let you go, and thrust you out. Therefore thou shalt tell all the people, that every man ask of his friend, and every woman of her neighbour, vessels of silver and of gold. And the Lord will give favour to his people in the sight of the Egyptians. And Moses was a very great man in the land of Egypt, in the sight of Pharaoh's servants, and of all the people. And he said: Thus saith the Lord: At midnight I will enter into Egypt: And every firstborn in the land of the Egyptians shall die, from the firstborn of Pharaoh who sitteth on his throne, even to the firstborn of the handmaid that is at the mill, and all the firstborn of beasts. And there shall be a great cry in all the land of Egypt, such as neither hath been before, nor shall be hereafter. But with all the children of Israel there shall not a dog make the least noise, from man even to beast; that you may know how wonderful a difference the Lord maketh between the Egyptians and Israel. And all these thy servants shall come down to me, and shall worship me, saying: Go forth thou, and all the people that is under thee: after that we will go out. And he went out from Pharaoh exceeding angry. But the Lord said to Moses: Pharaoh will not hear you, that many signs may be done in the land of Egypt. And Moses and Aaron did all the wonders that are written, before Pharaoh. And the Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart, neither did he let the children of Israel go out of his land.

12 And the Lord said to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt: This month shall be to you the beginning of months; it shall be the first in the months of the year. Speak ye to the whole assembly of the children of Israel, and say to them: On the tenth day of this month let every man take a lamb by their families and houses. But if the number be less than may suffice to eat the lamb, he shall take unto him his neighbour that joineth to his house, according to the number of souls which may be enough to eat the lamb. And it shall be a lamb without blemish, a male, of one year; according to which rite also you shall take a kid. And you shall keep it until the fourteenth day of this month; and the whole multitude of the children of Israel shall sacrifice it in the evening. And they shall take of the blood thereof, and put it upon both the side posts, and on the upper door posts of the houses, wherein they shall eat it. And they shall eat the flesh that night roasted at the fire, and unleavened bread with wild lettuce. You shall not eat thereof any thing raw, nor boiled in water, but only roasted at the fire; you shall eat the head with the feet and entrails thereof. Neither shall there remain any thing of it until morning. If there be any thing left, you shall burn it with fire. And thus you shall eat it: you shall gird your reins, and you shall have shoes on your feet, holding staves in your hands, and you shall eat in haste; for it is the Phase (that is the Passage) of the Lord. And I will pass through the land of Egypt 12 that night, and will kill every firstborn in the land of Egypt, both man and beast: and against all the gods of Egypt I will execute judgments; I am the Lord. And the blood shall be unto you for 13 a sign in the houses where you shall be; and I shall see the blood, and shall pass over you; and the plague shall not be upon you to destroy you, when I shall strike the land of Egypt. And this 14 day shall be for a memorial to you; and you shall keep it a feast to the Lord in your generations, with an everlasting observance.

Seven days shall you eat unleavened bread: in the first day there 15 shall be no leaven in your houses; whosoever shall eat any thing leavened, from the first day until the seventh day, that soul shall perish out of Israel. The first day shall be holy and solemn, and 16 the seventh day shall be kept with the like solemnity: you shall do no work in them, except those things that belong to eating.
And you shall observe the feast of the unleavened bread: for 17 in this same day I will bring forth your army out of the land of Egypt, and you shall keep this day in your generations by a perpetual observance. The first month, the fourteenth day of 18 the month, in the evening, you shall eat unleavened bread, until the one and twentieth day of the same month, in the evening.
Seven days there shall not be found any leaven in your houses: 19 he that shall eat leavened bread, his soul shall perish out of the assembly of Israel, whether he be a stranger or born in the land.
You shall not eat any thing leavened: in all your habitations you 20 shall eat unleavened bread. And Moses called all the ancients of the children of Israel, and said to them: Go take a lamb by your 21 families, and sacrifice the Phase. And dip a bunch of hyssop in the blood that is at the door, and sprinkle the transom of the 22 door therewith, and both the door cheeks: let none of you go out of the door of his house till morning. For the Lord will pass 23 through striking the Egyptians: and when he shall see the blood on the transom, and on both the posts, he will pass over the door of the house, and not suffer the destroyer to come into your houses and to hurt you. Thou shalt keep this thing as a law for 24 thee and thy children for ever. And when you have entered into the land which the Lord will give you, as he hath promised, you 25 shall observe these ceremonies. And when your children shall 26 say to you: What is the meaning of this service? You shall say 27 to them: It is the victim of the passage of the Lord, when he passed over the houses of the children of Israel in Egypt, striking the Egyptians, and saving our houses. And the people bowing themselves, adored. And the children of Israel going forth, did as the Lord had commanded Moses and Aaron. And it came to pass at midnight, the Lord slew every firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of Pharaoh, who sat on his throne, unto the firstborn of the captive woman that was in the prison, and all the firstborn of cattle. And Pharaoh arose in the night, and all his servants, and all Egypt: and there arose a great cry in Egypt; for there was not a house wherein there lay not one dead. And Pharaoh calling Moses and Aaron, in the night, said: Arise and go forth from among my people, you and the children of Israel: go, sacrifice to the Lord as you say. Your sheep and herds take along with you, as you demanded, and departing bless me. And the Egyptians pressed the people to go forth out of the land speedily, saying: We shall all die. The people therefore took dough before it was leavened; and tying it in their cloaks, put it on their shoulders. And the children of Israel did as Moses had commanded: and they asked of the Egyptians vessels of silver and gold, and very much raiment. And the Lord gave favour to the people in the sight of the Egyptians, so that they lent unto them: and they stripped the Egyptians. And the children of Israel set forward from Ramesse to Socoth, being about six hundred thousand men on foot, beside children. And a mixed multitude, without number, went up also with them, sheep and herds, and beasts of divers kinds, exceeding many. And they baked the meal, which a little before they had brought out of Egypt in dough: and they made hearth cakes unleavened: for it could not be leavened, the Egyptians pressing them to depart, and not suffering them to make any stay; neither did they think of preparing any meat. And the abode of the children of Israel that they made in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty years. Which being expired, the same day all the army of the Lord went forth out of the land of Egypt. This is the observable night of the Lord, when he brought them forth out of the land of Egypt: this night all the children of Israel must observe in their generations. And the Lord said to Moses and Aaron: This is the service of the Phase; no foreigner shall eat of it. But every bought servant shall be circumcised, and so shall eat. The 45 stranger and the hireling shall not eat thereof. In one house 46 shall it be eaten, neither shall you carry forth of the flesh thereof out of the house, neither shall you break a bone thereof. All 47 the assembly of the children of Israel shall keep it. And if any 48 stranger be willing to dwell among you, and to keep the Phase of the Lord, all his males shall first be circumcised, and then shall he celebrate it according to the manner: and he shall be as he that is born in the land: but if any man be uncircumcised, he shall not eat thereof. The same law shall be to him that is 49 born in the land, and to the proselyte that sojourneth with you.

And all the children of Israel did as the Lord had commanded 50 Moses and Aaron. And the same day the Lord brought forth 51 the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt by their companies.

And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Sanctify unto me every 13, 2 firstborn that openeth the womb among the children of Israel, as well of men as of beasts: for they are all mine. And Moses 3 said to the people: Remember this day in which you came forth out of Egypt, and out of the house of bondage, for with a strong hand hath the Lord brought you forth out of this place: that you eat no leavened bread. This day you go forth in the month 4 of new corn. And when the Lord shall have brought thee into 5 the land of the Chanaanite, and the Hethite, and the Amorrhite, and the Hevite, and the Jebusite, which he swore to thy fathers that he would give thee, a land that floweth with milk and honey, thou shalt celebrate this manner of sacred rites in this month.
Seven days shalt thou eat unleavened bread: and on the seventh 6 day shall be the solemnity of the Lord. Unleavened bread shall 7 you eat seven days: there shall not be seen any thing leavened with thee, nor in all thy coasts. And thou shalt tell thy son 8 in that day, saying: This is what the Lord did to me when I came forth out of Egypt. And it shall be as a sign in thy hand, 9 and as a memorial before thy eyes; and that the law of the Lord be always in thy mouth, for with a strong hand the Lord hath brought thee out of the land of Egypt. Thou shalt keep this 10 observance at the set time from days to days. And when the 11 Lord shall have brought thee into the land of the Chanaanite, as he swore to thee and thy fathers, and shall give it thee: Thou 12 shalt set apart all that openeth the womb for the Lord, and all that is first brought forth of thy cattle: whatsoever thou shalt 13 have of the male sex, thou shalt consecrate to the Lord. The firstborn of an ass thou shalt change for a sheep: and if thou do not redeem it, thou shalt kill it. And every firstborn of men thou 14 shalt redeem with a price. And when thy son shall ask thee to morrow, saying: What is this? thou shalt answer him: With a strong hand did the Lord bring us forth out of the land of Egypt, 15 out of the house of bondage. For when Pharaoh was hardened, and would not let us go, the Lord slew every firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of man to the firstborn of beasts: therefore I sacrifice to the Lord all that openeth the womb of the 16 male sex, and all the firstborn of my sons I redeem. And it shall be as a sign in thy hand, and as a thing hung between thy eyes, for a remembrance: because the Lord hath brought us forth out 17 of Egypt by a strong hand. And when Pharaoh had sent out the people, the Lord led them not by the way of the land of the Philistines, which is near; thinking lest perhaps they would repent, if they should see wars arise against them, and would 18 return into Egypt. But he led them about by the way of the desert, which is by the Red Sea: and the children of Israel went 19 up armed out of the land of Egypt. And Moses took Joseph's bones with him: because he had adjured the children of Israel, saying: God shall visit you, carry out my bones from hence with 20 you. And marching from Socoth, they encamped in Etham, in 21 the utmost coasts of the wilderness. And the Lord went before them to shew the way, by day in a pillar of a cloud, and by night in a pillar of fire; that he might be the guide of their journey at 22 both times. There never failed the pillar of the cloud by day, nor the pillar of fire by night, before the people.

14, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to the children of Israel: Let them turn and encamp over against Pihahiroth, which is between Magdal and the sea over against Beelsephon: 3 you shall encamp before it upon the sea. And Pharaoh will say of the children of Israel: They are straitened in the land, the desert 4 hath shut them in. And I shall harden his heart and he will pursue you: and I shall be glorified in Pharaoh, and in all his army: and the Egyptians shall know that I am the Lord. And they did 5 so. And it was told the king of the Egyptians that the people was fled: and the heart of Pharaoh and of his servants was changed with regard to the people, and they said: What meant we to do, that we let Israel go from serving us? So he made ready his chariot, and took all his people with him. And he took six hundred chosen chariots, and all the chariots that were in Egypt: and the captains of the whole army. And the Lord hardened the heart of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and he pursued the children of Israel; but they were gone forth in a mighty hand. And when the Egyptians followed the steps of them who were gone before, they found them encamped at the sea side: all Pharaoh's horse and chariots and the whole army were in Pihahiroth, before Beelsephon. And when Pharaoh drew near, the children of Israel lifting up their eyes, saw the Egyptians behind them: and they feared exceedingly, and cried to the Lord. And they said to Moses: Perhaps there were no graves in Egypt, therefore thou hast brought us to die in the wilderness: why wouldst thou do this, to lead us out of Egypt? Is not this the word that we spoke to thee in Egypt, saying: Depart from us, that we may serve the Egyptians? for it was much better to serve them, than to die in the wilderness. And Moses said to the people: Fear not: stand, and see the great wonders of the Lord, which he will do this day; for the Egyptians, whom you see now, you shall see no more for ever. The Lord will fight for you, and you shall hold your peace. And the Lord said to Moses: Why criest thou to me? Speak to the children of Israel to go forward. But lift thou up thy rod, and stretch forth thy hand over the sea, and divide it: that the children of Israel may go through the midst of the sea on dry ground. And I will harden the heart of the Egyptians to pursue you: and I will be glorified in Pharaoh, and in all his host, and in his chariots and in his horsemen. And the Egyptians shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall be glorified in Pharaoh, and in his chariots, and in his horsemen. And the angel of God, who went before the camp of Israel, removing, went behind them: and together with him the pillar of the cloud, leaving the forepart, Stood behind, between the Egyptians' camp and the camp of Israel: and it was a dark cloud, and enlightening the night, so that they could not come at one another all the night. And when Moses had stretched forth his hand over the sea, the Lord took it away by a strong and burning wind blowing all the night, and turned it into dry ground: and the water was divided. And the children of Israel went in through the midst of the sea dried up; for the water was as a wall on their right hand and on their 23 left. And the Egyptians pursuing went in after them, and all Pharaoh's horses, his chariots and horsemen, through the midst 24 of the sea. And now the morning watch was come, and behold the Lord looking upon the Egyptian army through the pillar of 25 fire and of the cloud, slew their host. And overthrew the wheels of the chariots, and they were carried into the deep. And the 26 Egyptians said: Let us flee from Israel; for the Lord fighteth for them against us. And the Lord said to Moses: Stretch forth 27 thy hand over the sea, that the waters may come again upon the Egyptians, upon their chariots and horsemen. And when Moses had stretched forth his hand towards the sea, it returned at the first break of day to the former place: and as the Egyptians 28 were fleeing away, the waters came upon them, and the Lord shut them up in the middle of the waves. And the waters returned, and covered the chariots and the horsemen of all the army of Pharaoh, who had come into the sea after them, neither did there 29 so much as one of them remain. But the children of Israel marched through the midst of the sea upon dry land, and the waters were to them as a wall on the right hand and on the 30 left: And the Lord delivered Israel in that day out of the hands of the Egyptians. And they saw the Egyptians dead upon the 31 sea shore, and the mighty hand that the Lord had used against them: and the people feared the Lord, and they believed the Lord, and Moses his servant.

15 Then Moses and the children of Israel sung this canticle to the Lord, and said: Let us sing to the Lord: for he is gloriously mag-2 nified, the horse and the rider he hath thrown into the sea. The Lord is my strength and my praise, and he is become salvation to me: he is my God, and I will glorify him: the God of my father, 3 and I will exalt him. The Lord is as a man of war, Almighty 4 is his name. Pharaoh's chariots and his army he hath cast into 5 the sea: his chosen captains are drowned in the Red Sea. The depths have covered them, they are sunk to the bottom like a 6 stone. Thy right hand, O Lord, is magnified in strength: thy 7 right hand, O Lord, hath slain the enemy. And in the multitude of thy glory thou hast put down thy adversaries: thou hast sent 8 thy wrath, which hath devoured them like stubble. And with the blast of thy anger the waters were gathered together: the flowing water stood, the depths were gathered together in the midst of the sea. The enemy said: I will pursue and overtake, I 9 will divide the spoils, my soul shall have its fill: I will draw my sword, my hand shall slay them. Thy wind blew and the sea 10 covered them: they sunk as lead in the mighty waters. Who 11 is like to thee, among the strong, O Lord? who is like to thee, glorious in holiness, terrible and praise-worthy, doing wonders? Thou stretchedst forth thy hand, and the earth swallowed them. 12 In thy mercy thou hast been a leader to the people which thou 13 hast redeemed: and in thy strength thou hast carried them to thy holy habitation. Nations rose up, and were angry: sorrows took 14 hold on the inhabitants of Philisthiim. Then were the princes of Edom troubled, trembling seized on the stout men of Moab: all the inhabitants of Chanaan became stiff. Let fear and dread 16 fall upon them, in the greatness of thy arm: let them become immoveable as a stone, until thy people, O Lord, pass by: until this thy people pass by, which thou hast possessed. Thou shalt 17 bring them in, and plant them in the mountain of thy inheritance, in thy most firm habitation, which thou hast made, O Lord; thy sanctuary, O Lord, which thy hands have established. The Lord shall reign for ever and ever. For Pharaoh went in 18, 19 on horseback with his chariots and horsemen into the sea: and the Lord brought back upon them the waters of the sea: but the children of Israel walked on dry ground in the midst thereof. So 20 Mary the prophetess, the sister of Aaron, took a timbrel in her hand: and all the women went forth after her with timbrels and with dances. And she began the song to them, saying: Let us 21 sing to the Lord, for he is gloriously magnified, the horse and his rider he hath thrown into the sea. And Moses brought Israel 22 from the Red Sea, and they went forth into the wilderness of Sur: and they marched three days through the wilderness, and found no water. And they came into Mara, and they could not 23 drink the waters of Mara because they were bitter: whereupon he gave a name also agreeable to the place, calling it Mara, that is, bitterness. And the people murmured against Moses, saying: 24 What shall we drink? But he cried to the Lord, and he shewed 25 him a tree, which when he had cast into the waters, they were turned into sweetness. There he appointed him ordinances, and

26 judgments, and there he proved him, Saying: If thou wilt hear the voice of the Lord thy God, and do what is right before him, and obey his commandments, and keep all his precepts, none of the evils that I laid upon Egypt, will I bring upon thee: for I 27 am the Lord thy healer. And the children of Israel came into Elim, where there were twelve fountains of water, and seventy palm trees: and they encamped by the waters.

16 And they set forward from Elim, and all the multitude of the children of Israel came into the desert of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai: the fifteenth day of the second month, after 2 they came out of the land of Egypt. And all the congregation of the children of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron in 3 the wilderness. And the children of Israel said to them: Would to God we had died by the hand of the Lord in the land of Egypt, when we sat over the fleshpots, and ate bread to the full: Why have you brought us into this desert, that you might 4 destroy all the multitude with famine? And the Lord said to Moses: Behold I will rain bread from heaven for you; let the people go forth, and gather what is sufficient for every day: that I may prove them whether they will walk in my law, or not.
5 But the sixth day let them provide for to bring in: and let it be double to that they were wont to gather every day. And Moses and Aaron said to the children of Israel In the evening you shall know that the Lord hath brought you forth out of the 7 land of Egypt: And in the morning you shall see the glory of the Lord: for he hath heard your murmuring against the Lord: but as for us, what are we, that you mutter against us? And Moses said: In the evening the Lord will give you flesh to eat, and in the morning bread to the full: for he hath heard your murmurings, with which you have murmured against him, for what are we? your murmuring is not against us, but against the 9 Lord. Moses also said to Aaron: Say to the whole congregation of the children of Israel: Come before the Lord; for he hath heard 10 your murmuring. And when Aaron spoke to all the assembly of the children of Israel, they looked towards the wilderness; and 11 behold the glory of the Lord appeared in a cloud. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: I have heard the murmuring of the children of Israel, say to them: In the evening you shall eat flesh, and in the morning you shall have your fill of bread; and you shall know that I am the Lord your God. So it came to pass 13 in the evening, that quails coming up, covered the camp: and in the morning a dew lay round about the camp. And when it had 14 covered the face of the earth, it appeared in the wilderness small, and as it were beaten with a pestle, like unto the hoar frost on the ground. And when the children of Israel saw it, they said 15 one to another: Manhu! which signifieth: What is this! for they knew not what it was. And Moses said to them: This is the bread which the Lord hath given you to eat. This is the word 16 that the Lord hath commanded: Let every one gather of it as much as is enough to eat; a gomor for every man, according to the number of your souls that dwell in a tent, so shall you take of it. And the children of Israel did so: and they gathered, one 17 more, another less. And they measured by the measure of a gomor: neither had he more that had gathered more; nor did he find less that had provided less: but every one had gathered, according to what they were able to eat. And Moses said to 19 them: Let no man leave thereof till the morning. And they 20 hearkened not to him, but some of them left until the morning, and it began to be full of worms, and it putrified, and Moses was angry with them. Now every one of them gathered in the 21 morning, as much as might suffice to eat: and after the sun grew hot, it melted. But on the sixth day they gathered twice as 22 much, that is, two gomors every man: and all the rulers of the multitude came, and told Moses. And he said to them: This is 23 what the Lord hath spoken: To morrow is the rest of the sabbath sanctified to the Lord. Whatsoever work is to be done, do it; and the meats that are to be dressed, dress them; and whatsoever shall remain, lay it up until the morning. And they did so as 24 Moses had commanded, and it did not putrify, neither was there worm found in it. And Moses said: Eat it to day, because it 25 is the sabbath of the Lord: to day it shall not be found in the field. Gather it six days; but on the seventh day is the sabbath 26 of the Lord, therefore it shall not be found. And the seventh 27 day came; and some of the people going forth to gather, found none. And the Lord said to Moses: How long will you refuse 28 to keep my commandments, and my law? See that the Lord 29 hath given you the sabbath, and for this reason on the sixth day he giveth you a double provision: let each man stay at home, 30 and let none go forth out of his place the seventh day. And the 31 people kept the sabbath on the seventh day. And the house of Israel called the name thereof Manna: and it was like coriander 32 seed, white, and the taste thereof like to flour with honey. And Moses said: This is the word which the Lord hath commanded: Fill a gomor of it, and let it be kept unto generations to come hereafter; that they may know the bread, wherewith I fed you in the wilderness when you were brought forth out of the land of 33 Egypt. And Moses said to Aaron: Take a vessel, and put manna into it, as much as a gomor can hold; and lay it up before the 34 Lord, to keep unto your generations, As the Lord commanded 35 Moses. And Aaron put it in the tabernacle to be kept. And the children of Israel ate manna forty years, till they came to a habitable land: with this meat were they fed, until they reached 36 the borders of the land of Chanaan. Now a gomor is the tenth part of an ephi.

17 Then all the multitude of the children of Israel setting forward from the desert of Sin, by their mansions, according to the word of the Lord, encamped in Raphidim, where there was no water 2 for the people to drink. And they chode with Moses, and said: Give us water, that we may drink. And Moses answered them: 3 Why chide you with me? Wherefore do you tempt the Lord? So the people were thirsty there for want of water, and murmured against Moses, saying: Why didst thou make us go forth out of Egypt, to kill us and our children, and our beasts with thirst?
4 And Moses cried to the Lord, saying: What shall I do to this 5 people? Yet a little more and they will stone me. And the Lord said to Moses: Go before the people, and take with thee of the ancients of Israel: and take in thy hand the rod wherewith thou 6 didst strike the river, and go. Behold I will stand there before thee, upon the rock Horeb, and thou shalt strike the rock, and water shall come out of it that the people may drink. Moses 7 did so before the ancients of Israel: And he called the name of that place Temptation, because of the chiding of the children of Israel, and for that they tempted the Lord, saying: Is the Lord 8 amongst us or not? And Amalec came, and fought against Israel 9 in Raphidim. And Moses said to Josue: Choose out men; and go out and fight against Amalec: tomorrow I will stand on the 10 top of the hill, having the rod of God in my hand. Josue did as Moses had spoken, and he fought against Amalec; but Moses, and Aaron, and Hur, went up upon the top of the hill. And when Moses lifted up his hands, Israel overcame; but if he let them down a little, Amalec overcame. And Moses's hands were heavy: so they took a stone, and put under him, and he sat on it: and Aaron and Hur stayed up his hands on both sides. And it came to pass, that his hands were not weary until sunset. And Josue put Amalec and his people to flight, by the edge of the sword. And the Lord said to Moses: Write this for a memorial in a book, and deliver it to the ears of Josue; for I will destroy the memory of Amalec from under heaven. And Moses built an altar; and called the name thereof, The Lord, my exaltation, saying: Because the hand of the throne of the Lord, and the war of the Lord shall be against Amalec, from generation to generation.

And when Jethro the priest of Madian, the kinsman of Moses, had heard all the things that God had done to Moses, and to Israel his people, and that the Lord had brought forth Israel out of Egypt: He took Sephora, the wife of Moses, whom he had sent back: And her two sons, of whom one was called Gersam: his father saying, I have been a stranger in a foreign country. And the other Eliezer: For the God of my father, said he, is my helper, and hath delivered me from the sword of Pharaoh. And Jethro, the kinsman of Moses, came with his sons, and his wife to Moses into the desert, where he was camped by the mountain of God. And he sent word to Moses, saying: I Jethro, thy kinsman, come to thee, and thy wife, and thy two sons with her. And he went out to meet his kinsman, and worshipped and kissed him: and they saluted one another with words of peace. And when he was come into the tent, Moses told his kinsman all that the Lord had done to Pharaoh, and the Egyptians in favour of Israel: and all the labour which had befallen them in the journey, and that the Lord had delivered them. And Jethro rejoiced for all the good things that the Lord had done to Israel, because he had delivered them out of the hands of the Egyptians. And he said: Blessed is the Lord, who hath delivered his people out of the hand of Egypt. Now I know, that the Lord is great above all gods; because they dealt proudly against them. So Jethro, the kinsman of Moses, offered holocausts and sacrifices to God: and Aaron and all the 13 ancients of Israel came, to eat bread with him before God. And the next day Moses sat to judge the people, who stood by Moses 14 from morning until night. And when his kinsman had seen all things that he did among the people, he said: What is it that thou dost among the people? Why sittest thou alone, and all 15 the people wait from morning till night? And Moses answered 16 him: The people come to me to seek the judgment of God? And when any controversy falleth out among them, they come to me to judge between them, and to shew the precepts of God, and 17, 18 his laws. But he said: The thing thou dost is not good. Thou art spent with foolish labour, both thou, and this people that is with thee; the business is above thy strength, thou alone canst 19 not bear it. But hear my words and counsels, and God shall be with thee. Be thou to the people in those things that pertain 20 to God, to bring their words to him: And to shew the people the ceremonies, and the manner of worshipping; and the way wherein they ought to walk, and the work that they ought to 21 do. And provide out of all the people able men, such as fear God, in whom there is truth, and that hate avarice, and appoint of them rulers of thousands, and of hundreds, and of fifties, and 22 of tens, Who may judge the people at all times: and when any great matter soever shall fall out, let them refer it to thee, and let them judge the lesser matters only: that so it may be lighter 23 for thee, the burden being shared out unto others. If thou dost this, thou shalt fulfil the commandment of God, and shalt be able to bear his precepts: and all this people shall return to 24 their places with peace. And when Moses heard this, he did all 25 things that he had suggested unto him. And choosing able men out of all Israel, he appointed them rulers of the people, rulers over thousands, and over hundreds, and over fifties, and over 26 tens. And they judged the people at all times: and whatsoever was of greater difficulty they referred to him, and they judged 27 the easier cases only. And he let his kinsman depart: and he returned and went into his own country.

19 In the third month of the departure of Israel out of the land of Egypt, on this day they came into the wilderness of Sinai: 2 For departing out of Raphidim, and coming to the desert of Sinai, they camped in the same place, and there Israel pitched 3 their tents over against the mountain. And Moses went up to God; and the Lord called unto him from the mountain, and said: Thus shalt thou say to the house of Jacob, and tell the children of Israel: You have seen what I have done to the Egyptians, 4 how I have carried you upon the wings of eagles, and have taken you to myself. If therefore you will hear my voice, and keep my 5 covenant, you shall be my peculiar possession above all people: for all the earth is mine. And you shall be to me a priestly 6 kingdom, and a holy nation. These are the words thou shalt speak to the children of Israel. Moses came; and calling together 7 the elders of the people, he declared all the words which the Lord had commanded. And all the people answered together: 8 All that the Lord hath spoken, we will do. And when Moses had related the people's words to the Lord, The Lord said to 9 him: Lo, now will I come to thee in the darkness of a cloud, that the people may hear me speaking to thee, and may believe thee for ever. And Moses told the words of the people to the Lord. And he said to him: Go to the people, and sanctify them 10 to day, and to morrow, and let them wash their garments. And let them be ready against the third day; for on the third day the 11 Lord will come down in the sight of all the people, upon Mount Sinai. And thou shalt appoint certain limits to the people round 12 about, and thou shalt say to them: Take heed ye go not up into the mount, and that ye touch not the borders thereof: every one that toucheth the mount, dying he shall die. No hands shall 13 touch him, but he shall be stoned to death, or he shall be shot through with arrows: whether it be beast, or man, he shall not live. When the trumpet shall begin to sound, then let them go 14 up into the mount. And Moses came down from the mount to the people, and sanctified them. And when they had washed their garments, He said to them: Be ready against the third 15 day, and come not near your wives. And now the third day was come, and the morning appeared: and behold thunders began to be heard, and lightning to flash, and a very thick cloud to cover the mount, and the noise of the trumpet sounded exceeding loud; and the people that was in the camp, feared. And when Moses 17 had brought them forth to meet God, from the place of the camp, they stood at the bottom of the mount. And all Mount Sinai 18 was on a smoke: because the Lord was come down upon it in fire, and the smoke arose from it as out of a furnace: and all

19 the mount was terrible. And the sound of the trumpet grew by degrees louder and louder, and was drawn out to a greater 20 length: Moses spoke, and God answered him. And the Lord came down upon Mount Sinai, in the very top of the mount, and he called Moses unto the top thereof. And when he was gone 21 up thither, He said unto him: Go down, and charge the people; lest they should have a mind to pass the limits to see the Lord, 22 and a very great multitude of them should perish. The priests also that come to the Lord, let them be sanctified, lest he strike 23 them. And Moses said to the Lord: The people cannot come up to Mount Sinai: for thou didst charge, and command, saying: 24 Set limits about the mount, and sanctify it. And the Lord said to him: Go, get thee down; and thou shalt come up, thou and Aaron with thee: but let not the priests and the people pass the 25 limits, nor come up to the Lord, lest he kill them. And Moses went down to the people and told them all.

20, 2 And the Lord spoke all these words: I am the Lord thy God, who brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of 3, 4 bondage. Thou shalt not have strange gods before me. Thou shalt not make to thyself a graven thing, nor the likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or in the earth beneath, nor of 5 those things that are in the waters under the earth. Thou shalt not adore them, nor serve them: I am the Lord thy God, mighty, jealous, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, 6 unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me: And shewing mercy unto thousands to them that love me, and keep 7 my commandments. Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that 8 shall take the name of the Lord his God in vain. Remember that 9 thou keep holy the sabbath day. Six days shalt thou labour, and 10 shalt do all thy works. But on the seventh day is the sabbath of the Lord thy God: thou shalt do no work on it, thou nor thy son, nor thy daughter, nor thy manservant, nor thy maidservant, 11 nor thy beast, nor the stranger that is within thy gates. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, and the sea, and all things that are in them, and rested on the seventh day: therefore 12 the Lord blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it. Honour thy father and thy mother, that thou mayst be longlived upon the 13 land which the Lord thy God will give thee. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not commit adultery. Thou shalt not steal. 14, 15 Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour. Thou 16, 17 shalt not covet thy neighbour's house; neither shalt thou desire his wife, nor his servant, nor his handmaid, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is his. And all the people saw the voices 18 and the flames, and the sound of the trumpet, and the mount smoking; and being terrified and struck with fear, they stood afar off, Saying to Moses: Speak thou to us, and we will hear: 19 let not the Lord speak to us, lest we die. And Moses said to 20 the people: Fear not; for God is come to prove you, and that the dread of him might be in you, and you should not sin. And the 21 people stood afar off. But Moses went to the dark cloud wherein God was. And the Lord said to Moses: Thus shalt thou say to 22 the children of Israel: You have seen that I have spoken to you from heaven. You shall not make gods of silver, nor shall you 23 make to yourselves gods of gold. You shall make an altar of 24 earth unto me, and you shall offer upon it your holocausts and peace offerings, your sheep and oxen, in every place where the memory of my name shall be: I will come to thee, and will bless 25 thee. And if thou make an altar of stone unto me, thou shalt 26 not build it of hewn stones; for if thou lift up a tool upon it, it shall be defiled. Thou shalt not go up by steps unto my altar, 26 lest thy nakedness be discovered.

These are the judgments which thou shalt set before them. 21 If thou buy a Hebrew servant, six years shall he serve thee; in 2 the seventh he shall go out free for nothing. With what raiment 3 he came in, with the like let him go out: if having a wife, his wife also shall go out with him. But if his master gave him a 4 wife, and she hath borne sons and daughters; the woman and her children shall be her master's: but he himself shall go out with his raiment. And if the servant shall say: I love my master 5 and my wife and children, I will not go out free: His master 6 shall bring him to the gods, and he shall be set to the door and the posts, and he shall bore his ear through with an awl: and he shall be his servant for ever. If any man sell his daughter 7 to be a servant, she shall not go out as bondwomen are wont to go out. If she displease the eyes of her master to whom she 8 was delivered, he shall let her go: but he shall have no power to sell her to a foreign nation, if he despise her. But if he have 9 10 betrothed her to his son, he shall deal with her after the manner of daughters. And if he take another wife for him, he shall 11 provide her a marriage, and raiment, neither shall he refuse the price of her chastity. If he do not these three things, she shall 12 go out free without money. He that striketh a man with a will 13 to kill him, shall be put to death. But he that did not lie in wait for him, but God delivered him into his hands: I will appoint 14 thee a place to which he must flee. If a man kill his neighbour on set purpose, and by lying in wait for him: thou shalt take 15 him away from my altar that he may die. He that striketh his 16 father or mother, shall be put to death. He that shall steal a man, and sell him, being convicted of the guilt, shall be put to 17 death. He that curseth his father or mother, shall die the death.

18 If men quarrel, and the one strike his neighbour with a stone, 19 or with his fist, and he die not, but keepeth his bed: If he rise again and walk abroad upon his staff, he that struck him shall be quit, yet so that he make restitution for his work, and for his 20 expenses upon the physicians. He that striketh his bondman, or bondwoman, with a rod, and they die under his hands, shall 21 be guilty of the crime. But if the party remain alive a day or two, he shall not be subject to the punishment, because it is 22 his money. If men quarrel, and one strike a woman with child and she miscarry indeed, but live herself: he shall be answerable for so much damage as the woman's husband shall require, and 23 as arbiters shall award. But if her death ensue thereupon, he 24 shall render life for life, Eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for 25 hand, foot for foot, Burning for burning, wound for wound, 26 stripe for stripe. If any man strike the eye of his manservant or maidservant, and leave them but one eye, he shall let them 27 go free for the eye which he put out. Also if he strike out a tooth of his manservant or maidservant, he shall in like manner 28 make them free. If an ox gore a man or a woman, and they die, he shall be stoned: and his flesh shall not be eaten, but the 29 owner of the ox shall be quit. But if the ox was wont to push with his horn yesterday, and the day before, and they warned his master, and he did not shut him up, and he shall kill a man or a woman: then the ox shall be stoned, and his owner also shall 30 be put to death. And if they set a price upon him, he shall 31 give for his life whatsoever is laid upon him. If he have gored a son, or a daughter, he shall fall under the like sentence. If 32 he assault a bondman or bondwoman, he shall give thirty sicles of silver to their master, and the ox shall be stoned. If a man 33 open a pit, and dig one, and cover it not, and an ox or an ass fall into it, The owner of the pit shall pay the price of the beasts: 34 and that which is dead shall be his own. If one man's ox gore 35 another man's ox, and he die: they shall sell the live ox, and shall divide the price, and the carcass of that which died they shall part between them: But if he knew that his ox was wont 36 to push yesterday, and the day before, and his master did not keep him in; he shall pay ox for ox, and shall take the whole carcass.

If any man steal an ox or a sheep, and kill or sell it: he shall 22 restore five oxen for one ox, and four sheep for one sheep. If 2 a thief be found breaking open a house or undermining it, and be wounded so as to die: he that slew him shall not be guilty of blood. But if he did this when the sun is risen, he hath 3 committed murder, and he shall die. If he have not wherewith to make restitution for the theft, he shall be sold. If that which 4 he stole be found with him, alive, either ox, or ass, or sheep: he shall restore double. If any man hurt a field or a vineyard, 5 and put in his beast to feed upon that which is other men's: he shall restore the best of whatsoever he hath in his own field, or in his vineyard, according to the estimation of the damage. If 6 a fire breaking out light upon thorns, and catch stacks of corn, or corn standing in the fields, he that kindled the fire shall make good the loss. If a man deliver money, or any vessel unto his 7 friend to keep, and they be stolen away from him that received them: if the thief be found, he shall restore double: If the thief 8 be not known, the master of the house shall be brought to the gods, and shall swear that he did not lay his hand upon his neighbour's goods, To do any fraud, either in ox, or in ass, or 9 sheep, or raiment, or any thing that may bring damage: the cause of both parties shall come to the gods: and if they give judgment, he shall restore double to his neighbour. If a man 10 deliver ass, ox, sheep, or any beast, to his neighbour's custody, and it die, or be hurt, or be taken by enemies, and no man saw it: There shall be an oath between them, that he did not put forth 11 his hand to his neighbour's goods: and the owner shall accept of the oath, and he shall not be compelled to make restitution.

12 But if it were taken away by stealth, he shall make the loss good 13 to the owner. If it were eaten by a beast, let him bring to 14 him that which was slain, and he shall not make restitution. If a man borrow of his neighbour any of these things, and it be hurt or die, the owner not being present, he shall be obliged to 15 make restitution. But if the owner be present, he shall not make restitution, especially if it were hired, and came for the hire of his 16 work. If a man seduce a virgin not yet espoused, and lie with 17 her: he shall endow her, and have her to wife. If the maid's father will not give her to him, he shall give money according 18 to the dowry, which virgins are wont to receive. Wizards thou 19 shalt not suffer to live. Whosoever copulateth with a beast; 20 shall be put to death. He that sacrificeth to gods, shall be put to 21 death, save only to the Lord. Thou shalt not molest a stranger, nor afflict him: for yourselves also were strangers in the land of 22, 23 Egypt. You shall not hurt a widow or an orphan. If you hurt 24 them, they will cry out to me, and I will hear their cry: And my rage shall be enkindled, and I will strike you with the sword, 25 and your wives shall be widows, and your children fatherless. If thou lend money to any of my people that is poor, that dwelleth with thee, thou shalt not be hard upon them as an extortioner, 26 nor oppress them with usuries. If thou take of thy neighbour a garment in pledge, thou shalt give it him again before sunset.
27 For that same is the only thing, wherewith he is covered, the clothing of his body, neither hath he any other to sleep in: if he 28 cry to me, I will hear him, because I am compassionate. Thou shalt not speak ill of the gods, and the prince of thy people thou 29 shalt not curse. Thou shalt not delay to pay thy tithes and thy 30 firstfruits: thou shalt give the firstborn of thy sons to me. Thou shalt do the same with the firstborn of thy oxen also and sheep: seven days let it be with its dam: the eighth day thou shalt give 31 it to me. You shall be holy men to me: the flesh that beasts have tasted of before, you shall not eat, but shall cast it to the dogs.
23 Thou shalt not receive the voice of a lie: neither shalt thou 2 join thy hand to bear false witness for a wicked person. Thou shalt not follow the multitude to do evil: neither shalt thou yield in judgment, to the opinion of the most part, to stray from the truth. Neither shalt thou favour a poor man in judgment. If 3, 4 thou meet thy enemy's ox or ass going astray, bring it back to him. If thou see the ass of him that hateth thee lie underneath 5 his burden, thou shalt not pass by, but shalt lift him up with him.

Thou shalt not go aside in the poor man's judgment. Thou shalt 6, 7 fly lying. The innocent and just person thou shalt not put to death: because I abhor the wicked. Neither shalt thou take 8 bribes, which even blind the wise, and pervert the words of the just. Thou shalt not molest a stranger, for you know the hearts 9 of strangers: for you also were strangers in the land of Egypt.
Six years thou shalt sow thy ground, and shalt gather the corn 10 thereof. But the seventh year thou shalt let it alone, and suffer 11 it to rest, that the poor of thy people may eat, and whatsoever shall be left, let the beasts of the field eat it: so shalt thou do with thy vineyard and thy oliveyard. Six days thou shalt work: the 12 seventh day thou shalt cease, that thy ox and thy ass may rest:
and the son of thy handmaid and the stranger may be refreshed.
Keep all things that I have said to you. And by the name of 13 strange gods you shall not swear, neither shall it be heard out of your mouth. Three times every year you shall celebrate feasts 14 to me. Thou shalt keep the feast of unleavened bread. Seven 15 days shalt thou eat unleavened bread, as I commanded thee, in the time of the month of new corn, when thou didst come forth out of Egypt: thou shalt not appear empty before me. And 16 the feast of the harvest of the firstfruits of thy work, whatsoever thou hast sown in the field. The feast also in the end of the year, when thou hast gathered in all thy corn out of the field. Thrice 17 a year shall all thy males appear before the Lord thy God. Thou 18 shalt not sacrifice the blood of my victim upon leaven, neither shall the fat of my solemnity remain until the morning. Thou 19 shalt carry the first-fruits of the corn of thy ground to the house of the Lord thy God. Thou shalt not boil a kid in the milk of his dam. Behold I will send my angel, who shall go before thee, 20 and keep thee in thy journey, and bring thee into the place that I have prepared. Take notice of him, and hear his voice, and 21 do not think him one to be contemned: for he will not forgive when thou hast sinned, and my name is in him. But if thou wilt 22 hear his voice, and do all that I speak, I will be an enemy to thy enemies, and will afflict them that afflict thee. And my angel 23 shall go before thee, and shall bring thee in unto the Amorrhite, and the Hethite, and the Pherexite, and the Chanaanite, and 24 the Hevite, and the Jebuzite, whom I will destroy. Thou shalt not adore their gods, nor serve them. Thou shalt not do their 25 works, but shalt destroy them, and break their statues. And you shall serve the Lord your God, that I may bless your bread and your waters, and may take away sickness from the midst of thee.

26 There shall not be one fruitless nor barren in thy land: I will fill 27 the number of thy days. I will send my fear before thee, and will destroy all the people to whom thou shalt come: and will turn 28 the backs of all thy enemies before thee: Sending out hornets before, that shall drive away the Hevite, and the Chanaanite, and 29 the Hethite, before thou come in. I will not cast them out from thy face in one year; lest the land be brought into a wilderness, 30 and the beasts multiply against thee. By little and little I will drive them out from before thee, till thou be increased, and dost 31 possess the land. And I will set thy bounds from the Red Sea to the sea of the Palestines, and from the desert to the river: I will deliver the inhabitants of the land into your hands, and 32 will drive them out from before you. Thou shalt not enter into league with them, nor with their gods. Let them not dwell in 33 thy land, lest perhaps they make thee sin against me, if thou serve their gods; which, undoubtedly, will be a scandal to thee.

24 And he said to Moses: Come up to the Lord, thou, and Aaron, Nadab and Abiu, and seventy of the ancients of Israel, and you 2 shall adore afar off. And Moses alone shall come up to the Lord, but they shall not come nigh; neither shall the people come up 3 with him. So Moses came and told the people all the words of the Lord, and all the judgments: and all the people answered with one voice: We will do all the words of the Lord, which he 4 hath spoken. And Moses wrote all the words of the Lord: and rising in the morning, he built an altar at the foot of the mount, 5 and twelve titles according to the twelve tribes of Israel. And he sent young men of the children of Israel, and they offered holocausts, and sacrificed pacific victims of calves to the Lord.
6 Then Moses took half of the blood, and put it into bowls; and 7 the rest he poured upon the altar. And taking the book of the covenant, he read it in the hearing of the people: and they said: All things that the Lord hath spoken, we will do, we will be obedient. And he took the blood and sprinkled it upon the 8 people, and he said: This is the blood of the covenant, which the Lord hath made with you concerning all these words. Then 9 Moses and Aaron, Nadab and Abiu, and seventy of the ancients of Israel went up: And they saw the God of Israel: and under his 10 feet as it were a work of sapphire stone, and as the heaven, when clear. Neither did he lay his hand upon those of the children of 11 Israel, that retired afar off, and they saw God, and they did eat and drink. And the Lord said to Moses: Come up to me into 12 the mount, and be there; and I will give thee tables of stone, and the law, and the commandments which I have written; that thou mayest teach them. Moses rose up, and his minister Josue: and 13 Moses going up into the mount of God, Said to the ancients: 14 Wait ye here till we return to you. You have Aaron and Hur with you: if any question shall arise, you shall refer it to them.

And when Moses was gone up, a cloud covered the mount. And 15, 16 the glory of the Lord dwelt upon Sinai, covering it with a cloud six days: and the seventh day he called him out of the midst of the cloud. And the sight of the glory of the Lord, was like 17 a burning fire upon the top of the mount, in the eyes of the children of Israel. And Moses entering into the midst of the 18 cloud, went up into the mountain: And he was there forty days and forty nights.

And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to the children 25, 2 of Israel, that they bring firstfruits to me: of every man that of-fereth of his own accord, you shall take them. And these are the 3 things you must take: Gold, and silver, and brass, Violet and 4 purple, and scarlet twice dyed, and fine linen, and goats' hair, And rams' skins dyed red, and violet skins, and setim wood: 5 Oil to make lights: spices for ointment, and for sweetsmelling incense: Onyx stones, and precious stones to adorn the ephod 6 and the rational. And they shall make me a sanctuary, and I 8 will dwell in the midst of them: According to all the likeness of 9 the tabernacle which I will shew thee, and of all the vessels for the service thereof: and thus you shall make it: Frame an ark of 10 setim wood, the length whereof shall be of two cubits and a half; the breadth, a cubit and a half; the height, likewise, a cubit and a half. And thou shalt overlay it with the purest gold, within 11 and without; and over it thou shalt make a golden crown round 12 about: And four golden rings, which thou shalt put at the four corners of the ark: let two rings be on the one side, and two on 13 the other. Thou shalt make bars also of setim wood, and shalt 14 overlay them with gold. And thou shalt put them in through the rings that are in the sides of the ark, that it may be carried 15 on them: And they shall be always in the rings, neither shall 16 they at any time be drawn out of them. And thou shalt put in 17 the ark the testimony which I will give thee. Thou shalt make also a propitiatory of the purest gold: the length thereof shall be two cubits and a half, and the breadth a cubit and a half.

18 Thou shalt make also two cherubims of beaten gold, on the two 19 sides of the oracle. Let one cherub be on the one side, and the 20 other on the other. Let them cover both sides of the propitiatory, spreading their wings, and covering the oracle, and let them look one towards the other, their faces being turned towards the 21 propitiatory wherewith the ark is to to be covered. In which 22 thou shalt put the testimony that I will give thee. Thence will I give orders, and will speak to thee over the propitiatory, and from the midst of the two cherubims, which shall be upon the ark of the testimony, all things which I will command the children of 23 Israel by thee. Thou shalt make a table also of setim wood, of two cubits in length, and a cubit in breadth, and a cubit and a 24 half in height. And thou shalt overlay it with the purest gold: 25 and thou shalt make to it a golden ledge round about. And to the ledge itself a polished crown, four inches high; and over the 26 same another little golden crown. Thou shalt prepare also four golden rings, and shalt put them in the four corners of the same 27 table, over each foot. Under the crown shall the golden rings be, that the bars may be put through them, and the table may 28 be carried. The bars also themselves thou shalt make of setim wood, and shalt overlay them with gold, to bear up the table.
29 Thou shalt prepare also dishes, and bowls, censers, and cups, 30 wherein the libations are to be offered, of the purest gold. And thou shalt set upon the table loaves of proposition in my sight 31 always. Thou shalt make also a candlestick of beaten work, of the finest gold, the shaft thereof, and the branches, the cups, 32 and the bowls, and the lilies going forth from it. Six branches shall come out of the sides, three out of one side, and three out 33 of the other. Three cups as it were nuts to every branch, and a bowl withal, and a lily: and three cups likewise of the fashion of nuts in the other branch, and a bowl withal, and a lily. Such shall be the work of the six branches, that are to come out from the shaft: And in the candlestick itself shall be four 34 cups in the manner of a nut, and at every one bowls and lilies. Bowls under two branches in three places, which together make 35 six, coming forth out of one shaft. And both the bowls and the 36 branches shall be of the same beaten work of the purest gold. Thou shalt make also seven lamps, and shalt set them upon the 37 candlestick, to give light over against. The snuffers also, and 38 where the snuffings shall be put out, shall be made of the purest gold. The whole weight of the candlestick, with all the furniture 39 thereof, shall be a talent of the purest gold. Look, and make it 40 according to the pattern that was shewn thee in the mount.

And thou shalt make the tabernacle in this manner: Thou 26 shalt make ten curtains of fine twisted linen, and violet and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, diversified with embroidery. The 2 length of one curtain shall be twenty-eight cubits; the breadth shall be four cubits. All the curtains shall be of one measure. Five curtains shall be joined one to another, and the other five 3 shall be coupled together in like manner. Thou shalt make 4 loops of violet in the sides and tops of the curtains, that they may be joined one to another. Every curtain shall have fifty 5 loops on both sides, so set on, that one loop may be against another loop, and one may be fitted to the other. Thou shalt 6 make also fifty rings of gold, wherewith the veils of the curtains are to be joined, that it may be made one tabernacle. Thou 7 shalt make also eleven curtains of goats' hair, to cover the top of the tabernacle. The length of one hair-curtain shall be thirty 8 cubits; and the breadth, four: the measure of all the curtains shall be equal. Five of which thou shalt couple by themselves, 9 and the six others thou shalt couple one to another, so as to double the sixth curtain in the front of the roof. Thou shalt 10 make also fifty loops in the edge of one curtain, that it may be joined with the other: and fifty loops in the edge of the other curtain, that it may be coupled with its fellow. Thou shalt make 11 also fifty buckles of brass, wherewith the loops may be joined, that of all there may be made one covering. And that which 12 shall remain of the curtains, that are prepared for the roof, to wit, one curtain that is over and above, with the half thereof 13 thou shalt cover the back parts of the tabernacle. And there shall hang down a cubit on the one side, and another on the other side, which is over and above in the length of the curtains, 14 fencing both sides of the tabernacle. Thou shalt make also another cover to the roof of rams' skins dyed red: and over that 15 again another cover of violet coloured skins. Thou shalt make also the boards of the tabernacle standing upright of setim wood.

16 Let every one of them be ten cubits in length, and in breadth one 17 cubit and a half. In the sides of the boards shall be made two mortises, whereby one board may be joined to another board: 18 and after this manner shall all the boards be prepared. Of 19 which twenty shall be in the south side southward. For which thou shalt cast forty sockets of silver, that under every board 20 may be put two sockets at the two corners. In the second side also of the tabernacle that looketh to the north, there shall be 21 twenty boards, Having forty sockets of silver, two sockets shall 22 be put under each board. But on the west side of the tabernacle 23 thou shalt make six boards. And again other two which shall 24 be erected in the corners at the back of the tabernacle. And they shall be joined together from beneath unto the top, and one joint shall hold them all. The like joining shall be observed 25 for the two boards also that are to be put in the corners. And they shall be in all eight boards, and their silver sockets sixteen, 26 reckoning two sockets for each board. Thou shalt make also five bars of setim wood, to hold together the boards on one side of 27 the tabernacle. And five others on the other side, and as many 28 at the west side: And they shall be put along by the midst 29 of the boards, from one end to the other. The boards also themselves thou shalt overlay with gold, and shalt cast rings of gold to be set upon them, for places for the bars to hold together the boardwork: which bars thou shalt cover with plates of gold.
30 And thou shalt rear up the tabernacle according to the pattern 31 that was shewn thee in the mount. Thou shalt make also a veil of violet, and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, and fine twisted 32 linen, wrought with embroidered work and goodly variety: And thou shalt hang it up before four pillars of setim wood, which themselves also shall be overlaid with gold, and shall have heads 33 of gold, but sockets of silver. And the veil shall be hanged on with rings, and within it thou shalt put the ark of the testimony, and the sanctuary and the holy of the holies shall be divided with it. And thou shalt set the propitiatory upon the ark of the testimony, in the holy of holies. And the table without the veil, and over against the table the candlestick in the south side of the tabernacle: for the table shall stand in the north side. Thou shalt make also a hanging in the entrance of the tabernacle of violet, and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, and fine twisted linen with embroidered work. And thou shalt overlay with gold five pillars of setim wood, before which the hanging shall be drawn: their heads shall be of gold, and the sockets of brass.

Thou shalt make also an altar of setim wood, which shall be five cubits long, and as many broad, that is four square, and three cubits high. And there shall be horns at the four corners of the same: and thou shalt cover it with brass. And thou shalt make for the uses thereof pans to receive the ashes, and tongs and fleshhooks, and firepans: all its vessels thou shalt make of brass. And a grate of brass in manner of a net; at the four corners of which, shall be four rings of brass, Which thou shalt put under the hearth of the altar: and the grate shall be even to the midst of the altar. Thou shalt make also two bars for the altar, of setim wood, which thou shalt cover with plates of brass: And thou shalt draw them through rings, and they shall be on both sides of the altar to carry it. Thou shalt not make it solid, but empty and hollow in the inside, as it was shewn thee in the mount. Thou shalt make also the court of the tabernacle, in the south side whereof southward there shall be hangings of fine twisted linen of a hundred cubits long for one side. And twenty pillars with as many sockets of brass, the heads of which, with their engraving, shall be of silver. In like manner also on the north side there shall be hangings of a hundred cubits long, twenty pillars, and as many sockets of brass, and their heads with their engraving of silver. But in the breadth of the court, that looketh to the west, there shall be hangings of fifty cubits, and ten pillars, and as many sockets. In that breadth also of the court, which looketh to the east, there shall be fifty cubits. In which there shall be for one side, hangings of fifteen cubits, and three pillars, and as many sockets. And in the other side, there shall be hangings of fifteen cubits, with three pillars, 16 and as many sockets. And in the entrance of the court there shall be made a hanging of twenty cubits of violet and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, and fine twisted linen, with embroidered 17 work: it shall have four pillars, with as many sockets. All the pillars of the court round about shall be garnished with plates 18 of silver, silver heads, and sockets of brass. In length the court shall take up a hundred cubits, in breadth fifty, the height shall be of five cubits, and it shall be made of fine twisted linen, and 19 shall have sockets of brass. All the vessels of the tabernacle for all uses and ceremonies, and the pins both of it and of the court, 20 thou shalt make of brass. Command the children of Israel that they bring thee the purest oil of the olives, and beaten with a 21 pestle: that a lamp may burn always, In the tabernacle of the testimony, without the veil that hangs before the testimony. And Aaron and his sons shall order it, that it may give light before the Lord until the morning. It shall be a perpetual observance throughout their successions among the children of Israel.

28 Take unto thee also Aaron thy brother with his sons, from among the children of Israel, that they may minister to me in the priest's office: Aaron, Nadab, and Abiu, Eleazar, and Ithamar.
2 And thou shalt make a holy vesture for Aaron, thy brother, for 3 glory and for beauty. And thou shalt speak to all the wise of heart, whom I have filled with the spirit of wisdom, that they may make Aaron's vestments, in which he being consecrated, 4 may minister to me. And these shall be the vestments that they shall make: A rational and an ephod, a tunic and a strait linen garment, a mitre and a girdle. They shall make the holy vestments for thy brother Aaron and his sons, that they may 5 do the office of priesthood unto me. And they shall take gold, and violet, and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, and fine linen.
6 And they shall make the ephod of gold, and violet, and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, and fine twisted linen, embroidered with 7 divers colours. It shall have the two edges joined in the top on 8 both sides, that they may be closed together. The very workmanship also, and all the variety of the work, shall be of gold, and violet, and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, and fine twisted 9 linen. And thou shalt take two onyx stones, and shalt grave 10 on them the names of the children of Israel: Six names on one stone, and the other six on the other, according to the order of their birth. With the work of an engraver, and the graving of a jeweller, thou shalt engrave them with the names of the children of Israel, set in gold and compassed about: And thou shalt put them in both sides of the ephod, a memorial for the children of Israel. And Aaron shall bear their names before the Lord upon both shoulders, for a remembrance. Thou shalt make also hooks of gold. And two little chains of the purest gold, linked one to another, which thou shalt put into the hooks. And thou shalt make the rational of judgment with embroidered work of divers colours, according to the workmanship of the ephod, of gold, violet, and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, and fine twisted linen. It shall be four square and doubled: it shall be the measure of a span both in length and in breadth. And thou shalt set in it four rows of stones. In the first row shall be a sardius stone, and a topaz, and an emerald: In the second a carbuncle, a sapphire, and a jasper: In the third a ligurius, an agate, and an amethyst: In the fourth a chrysolite, an onyx, and a beryl. They shall be set in gold by their rows. And they shall have the names of the children of Israel: with twelve names shall they be engraved, each stone with the name of one according to the twelve tribes. And thou shalt make on the rational chains, linked one to another, of the purest gold: And two rings of gold, which thou shalt put in the two ends at the top of the rational. And the golden chains thou shalt join to the rings, that are in the ends thereof. And the ends of the chains themselves, thou shalt join together with two hooks, on both sides of the ephod, which is towards the rational. Thou shalt make also two rings of gold, which thou shalt put in the top parts of the rational, in the borders that are over against the ephod, and look towards the back parts thereof. Moreover also other two rings of gold, which are to be set on each side of the ephod beneath, that looketh towards the nether joining, that the rational may be fitted with the ephod, And may be fastened by the rings thereof unto the rings of the ephod with a violet fillet, that the joining artificially wrought may continue, and the rational and the ephod may not be loosed one from the other. And Aaron shall bear the names of the children of Israel in the rational of judgment upon his breast, when he shall enter into the sanctuary, a memorial before the Lord for ever. And thou shalt put in the rational of judgment doctrine and truth, which shall be on Aaron's breast, when he shall go in before the Lord: and he shall bear the judgment of the children of Israel on his breast, in the sight of the Lord always. And thou shalt make the tunic of the ephod all of violet, In the midst whereof above shall be a hole for the head, and a border round about it woven, as is wont to be made in the outmost parts of garments, that it may not easily be broken. And beneath at the feet of the same tunic, round about, thou shalt make as it were pomegranates, of violet, and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, with little bells set between: So that there shall be a golden bell and a pomegranate, and again another golden bell and a pomegranate. And Aaron shall be vested with it in the office of his ministry, that the sound may be heard, when he goeth in and cometh out of the sanctuary, in the sight of the Lord, and that he may not die. Thou shalt make also a plate of the purest gold: wherein thou shalt grave with engraver's work, Holy to the Lord. And thou shalt tie it with a violet fillet, and it shall be upon the mitre, Hanging over the forehead of the high priest. And Aaron shall bear the iniquities of those things, which the children of Israel have offered and sanctified, in all their gifts and offerings. And the plate shall be always on his forehead, that the Lord may be well pleased with them. And thou shalt gird the tunic with fine linen, and thou shalt make a fine linen mitre, and a girdle of embroidered work. Moreover, for the sons of Aaron thou shalt prepare linen tunics, and girdles and mitres for glory and beauty: And with all these things thou shalt vest Aaron thy brother, and his sons with him. And thou shalt consecrate the hands of them all, and shalt sanctify them, that they may do the office of priesthood unto me. Thou shalt make also linen breeches, to cover the flesh of their nakedness, from the reins to the thighs: And Aaron and his sons shall use them when they shall go into the tabernacle of the testimony, or when they approach to the altar to minister in the sanctuary. lest being guilty of iniquity they die. It shall be a law for ever to Aaron, and to his seed after him.

29 And thou shalt also do this, that they may be consecrated to me in priesthood. Take a calf from the herd, and two rams without blemish, And unleavened bread, and a cake without leaven, tempered with oil, wafers also unleavened, anointed with oil: thou shalt make them all of wheaten flour. And thou shalt 3 put them in a basket, and offer them: and the calf and the two rams. And thou shalt bring Aaron and his sons to the door of 4 the tabernacle of the testimony. And when thou hast washed the father and his sons with water, Thou shalt clothe Aaron with 5 his vestments, that is, with the linen garment and the tunic, and the ephod and the rational, which thou shalt gird with the girdle.

And thou shalt put the mitre upon his head, and the holy plate 6 upon the mitre, And thou shalt pour the oil of unction upon his 7 head: and by this rite shall he be consecrated. Thou shalt bring 8 his sons also, and shalt put on them the linen tunics, and gird them with a girdle: To wit, Aaron and his children, and thou 9 shalt put mitres upon them; and they shall be priests to me by a perpetual ordinance. After thou shalt have consecrated their hands, Thou shalt present also the calf before the tabernacle 10 of the testimony. And Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands upon his head, And thou shalt kill him in the sight of the Lord, 11 beside the door of the tabernacle of the testimony. And taking 12 some of the blood of the calf, thou shalt put it upon the horns of the altar with thy finger, and the rest of the blood thou shalt pour at the bottom thereof. Thou shalt take also all the fat 13 that covereth the entrails, and the caul of the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, and shalt offer a burn offering upon the altar: But the flesh of the calf, and the 14 hide and the dung, thou shalt burn abroad, without the camp, because it is for sin. Thou shalt take also one ram, upon the 15 head whereof Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands. And 16 when thou hast killed him, thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and pour round about the altar. And thou shalt cut the ram in 17 pieces, and having washed his entrails and feet, thou shalt put them upon the flesh that is cut in pieces, and upon his head.
And thou shalt offer the whole ram for a burnt offering upon the 18 altar: it is an oblation to the Lord, a most sweet savour of the victim of the Lord. Thou shalt take also the other ram, upon 19 whose head Aaron and his sons shall lay their hands. And when 20 thou hast sacrificed him, thou shalt take of his blood, and put upon the tip of the right ear of Aaron and of his sons, and upon the thumbs and great toes of their right hand and foot, and thou shalt pour the blood upon the altar round about. And when 21 thou hast taken of the blood that is upon the altar, and of the oil of unction, thou shalt sprinkle Aaron and his vesture, his sons and their vestments. And after they and their vestments are 22 consecrated, Thou shalt take the fat of the ram, and the rump, and the fat that covereth the lungs, and the caul of the liver, and the two kidneys, and the fat that is upon them, and the right 23 shoulder, because it is the ram of consecration: And one roll of bread, a cake tempered with oil, a wafer out of the basket of 24 unleavened bread, which is set in the sight of the Lord: And thou shalt put all upon the hands of Aaron and of his sons, and 25 shalt sanctify them elevating before the Lord. And thou shalt take all from their hands; and shalt burn them upon the altar for a holocaust, a most sweet savour in the sight of the Lord, 26 because it is his oblation. Thou shalt take also the breast of the ram, wherewith Aaron was consecrated, and elevating it thou shalt sanctify it before the Lord, and it shall fall to thy share.

27 And thou shalt sanctify both the consecrated breast, and the 28 shoulder that thou didst separate of the ram, Wherewith Aaron was consecrated and his sons, and they shall fall to Aaron's share, and his sons', by a perpetual right from the children of Israel: because they are the choicest and the beginnings of their peace 29 victims which they offer to the Lord. And the holy vesture, which Aaron shall use, his sons shall have after him, that they 30 may be anointed, and their hands consecrated in it. He of his sons that shall be appointed high priest in his stead, and that shall enter into the tabernacle of the testimony to minister in the 31 sanctuary, shall wear it seven days. And thou shalt take the ram of the consecration, and shalt boil the flesh thereof in the holy 32 place: And Aaron and his sons shall eat it. The loaves also, that are in the basket, they shall eat in the entry of the tabernacle 33 of the testimony, That it may be an atoning sacrifice, and the hands of the offerers may be sanctified. A stranger shall not 34 eat of them, because they are holy. And if there remain of the consecrated flesh, or of the bread, till the morning, thou shalt burn the remainder with fire: they shall not be eaten, because 35 they are sanctified. All that I have commanded thee, thou shalt do unto Aaron and his sons. Seven days shalt thou consecrate 36 their hands: And thou shalt offer a calf for sin every day for expiation. And thou shalt cleanse the altar when thou hast offered the victim of expiation, and shalt anoint it to sanctify it. Seven days shalt thou expiate the altar and sanctify it, and 37 it shall be most holy. Every one, that shall touch it, shall be holy. This is what thou shalt sacrifice upon the altar: Two 38 lambs of a year old every day continually, One lamb in the 39 morning, and another in the evening. With one lamb a tenth 40 part of flour tempered with beaten oil, of the fourth part of a hin, and wine for libation of the same measure. And the other 41 lamb thou shalt offer in the evening, according to the rite of the morning oblation, and according to what we have said, for a savour of sweetness: It is a sacrifice to the Lord, by perpetual 42 oblation unto your generations, at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony before the Lord, where I will appoint to speak unto thee. And there will I command the children of Israel, and 43 the altar shall be sanctified by my glory. I will sanctify also the 44 tabernacle of the testimony with the altar, and Aaron with his sons, to do the office of priesthood unto me. And I will dwell in 45 the midst of the children of Israel, and will be their God: And 46 they shall know that I am the Lord their God, who have brought them out of the land of Egypt, that I might abide among them, I the Lord their God.

Thou shalt make also an altar to burn incense, of setim wood. 30
It shall be a cubit in length, and another in breadth, that is, 2 four square, and two in height. Horns shall go out of the same.
And thou shalt overlay it with the purest gold, as well the grate 3 thereof, as the walls round about, and the horns. And thou shalt make to it a crown of gold round about, And two golden 4 rings under the crown on either side, that the bars may be put into them, and the altar be carried. And thou shalt make the 5 bars also of setim wood, and shalt overlay them with gold. And 6 thou shalt set the altar over against the veil, that hangeth before the ark of the testimony before the propitiatory wherewith the testimony is covered, where I will speak to thee. And Aaron 7 shall burn sweet smelling incense upon it in the morning. When he shall dress the lamps, he shall burn it: And when he shall 8 place them in the evening, he shall burn an everlasting incense before the Lord throughout your generations. You shall not 9 offer upon it incense of another composition, nor oblation, and victim, neither shall you offer libations. And Aaron shall pray 10 upon the horns thereof once a year, with the blood of that which was offered for sin; and shall make atonement upon it in your 11 generations. It shall be most holy to the Lord. And the Lord 12 spoke to Moses, saying: When thou shalt take the sum of the children of Israel, according to their number, every one of them shall give a price for their souls to the Lord, and there shall be 13 no scourge among them, when they shall be reckoned. And this shall every one give that passeth at the naming, half a sicle according to the standard of the temple. A sicle hath twenty 14 obols. Half a sicle shall be offered to the Lord. He that is counted in the number from twenty years and upwards, shall 15 give the price. The rich man shall not add to half a sicle, and the poor man shall diminish nothing. And the money received, which was contributed by the children of Israel, thou shalt deliver 16 unto the uses of the tabernacle of the testimony, that it may be a memorial of them before the Lord, and he may be merciful 17, 18 to their souls. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Thou shalt make also a brazen laver with its foot to wash in: and thou shalt set it between the tabernacle of the testimony and 19 the altar. And water being put into it: Aaron and his sons 20 shall wash their hands and feet in it: When they are going into the tabernacle of the testimony, and when they are to come 21 to the altar, to offer on it incense to the Lord, Lest perhaps they die. It shall be an everlasting law to him, and to his seed 22, 23 by successions. And the Lord spoke to Moses, Saying: Take spices, of principal and chosen myrrh five hundred sicles, and of cinnamon half so much; that is, two hundred and fifty sicles, of 24 calamus in like manner two hundred and fifty, And of cassia five hundred sicles by the weight of the sanctuary, of oil of olives 25 the measure hin: And thou shalt make the holy oil of unction, 26 an ointment compounded after the art of the perfumer, And therewith thou shalt anoint the tabernacle of the testimony, and 27 the ark of the testament, And the table with the vessels thereof, 28 the candlestick and furniture thereof, the altars of incense, And of holocaust, and all the furniture that belongeth to the service 29 of them. And thou shalt sanctify all, and they shall be most 30 holy: he that shall touch them shall be sanctified. Thou shalt anoint Aaron and his sons, and shalt sanctify them, that they 31 may do the office of priesthood unto me. And thou shalt say to the children of Israel: This oil of unction shall be holy unto me throughout your generations. The flesh of man shall not be anointed therewith, and you shall make none other of the same composition, because it is sanctified, and shall be holy unto you. What man soever shall compound such, and shall give thereof to a stranger, he shall be cut off from his people. And the Lord said to Moses: Take unto thee spices, stacte, and onycha, galbanum of sweet savour, and the clearest frankincense, all shall be of equal weight. And thou shalt make incense compounded by the work of the perfumer, well tempered together, and pure, and most worthy of sanctification. And when thou hast beaten all into very small powder, thou shalt set of it before the tabernacle of the testimony, in the place where I will appear to thee. Most holy shall this incense be unto you. You shall not make such a composition for your own uses, because it is holy to the Lord. What man soever shall make the like, to enjoy the smell thereof, he shall perish out of his people.

And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Behold, I have called by name Beseleel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Juda, And I have filled him with the spirit of God, with wisdom and understanding, and knowledge in all manner of work, To devise whatsoever may be artificially made of gold, and silver, and brass, Of marble, and precious stones, and variety of wood. And I have given him for his companion Ooliab, the son of Achisamech, of the tribe of Dan. And I have put wisdom in the heart of every skilful man, that they may make all things which I have commanded thee, The tabernacle of the covenant, and the ark of the testimony, and the propitiatory, that is over it, and all the vessels of the tabernacle, And the table and the vessels thereof, the most pure candlestick with the vessels thereof, and the altars of incense, And of holocaust, and all their vessels, the laver with its foot, The holy vestments in the ministry for Aaron the priest, and for his sons, that they may execute their office, about the sacred things: The oil of unction, and the incense of spices in the sanctuary, all things which I have commanded thee, shall they make. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to the children of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: See that you keep my sabbath; because it is a sign between me and you in your generations that you

14 may know that I am the Lord, who sanctify you. keep you my sabbath: for it is holy unto you: he that shall profane it, shall be put to death: he that shall do any work in it, his soul shall 15 perish out of the midst of his people. Six days shall you do work: in the seventh day is the sabbath, the rest holy to the Lord. Every one that shall do any work on this day, shall die.
16 Let the children of Israel keep the sabbath, and celebrate it in 17 their generations. It is an everlasting covenant Between me and the children of Israel, and a perpetual sign. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, and in the seventh he ceased from 18 work. And the Lord, when he had ended these words in Mount Sinai, gave to Moses two stone tables of testimony, written with the finger of God.

32 And the people seeing that Moses delayed to come down from the mount, gathering together against Aaron, said: Arise, make us gods, that may go before us: For as to this Moses, the man that brought us out of the land of Egypt, we know not what has 2 befallen him. And Aaron said to them: Take the golden earrings from the ears of your wives, and your sons and daughters, and 3 bring them to me. And the people did what he had commanded, 4 bringing the earrings to Aaron. And when he had received them, he fashioned them by founders' work, and made of them a molten calf. And they said: These are thy gods, O Israel, that 5 have brought thee out of the land of Egypt. And when Aaron saw this, he built an altar before it, and made proclamation by a crier's voice, saying To morrow is the solemnity of the Lord.
6 And rising in the morning, they offered holocausts, and peace victims, and the people sat down to eat and drink, and they 7 rose up to play. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Go, get thee down: thy people, which thou hast brought out of the 8 land of Egypt, hath sinned. They have quickly strayed from the way which thou didst shew them: and they have made to themselves a molten calf, and have adored it, and sacrificing victims to it, have said: These are thy gods, O Israel, that have 9 brought thee out of the land of Egypt. And again the Lord 10 said to Moses: I see that this people is stiffnecked: Let me alone, that my wrath may be kindled against them, and that I may destroy them, and I will make of thee a great nation.
11 But Moses besought the Lord his God, saying: Why, O Lord, is thy indignation enkindled against thy people, whom thou hast brought out of the land of Egypt, with great power, and with a mighty hand? Let not the Egyptians say, I beseech thee: 12 He craftily brought them out, that he might kill them in the mountains, and destroy them from the earth: let thy anger cease, and be appeased upon the wickedness of thy people. Remember 13 Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, thy servants, to whom thou sworest by thy own self, saying: I will multiply your seed as the stars of heaven: and this whole land that I have spoken of, I will give to your seed, and you shall possess it for ever: And the Lord was 14 appeased from doing the evil which he had spoken against his people. And Moses returned from the mount, carrying the two 15 tables of the testimony in his hand, written on both sides, And made by the work of God; the writing also of God was graven 16 in the tables. And Josue hearing the noise of the people shouting, said to Moses: The noise of battle is heard in the camp. 17 But he answered: It is not the cry of men encouraging to fight, nor the shout of men compelling to flee: but I hear the voice of 18 singers. And when he came nigh to the camp, he saw the calf, and the dances: and being very angry, he threw the tables out of 19 his hand, and broke them at the foot of the mount: And laying hold of the calf which they had made, he burnt it, and beat it 20 to powder, which he strewed into water, and gave thereof to the children of Israel to drink. And he said to Aaron: What has 21 this people done to thee, that thou shouldst bring upon them a most heinous sin? And he answered him: Let not my lord be 22 offended; for thou knowest this people, that they are prone to evil. They said to me: make us gods, that may go before us; for 23 as to this Moses, who brought us forth out of the land of Egypt, we know not what is befallen him. And I said to them: Which 24 of you hath any gold? and they took and brought it to me; and I cast it into the fire, and this calf came out. And when Moses 25 saw that the people were naked, (for Aaron had stripped them by occasion of the shame of the filth, and had set them naked among their enemies) Then standing in the gate of the camp, 26 he said: If any man be on the Lord's side, let him join with me. And all the sons of Levi gathered themselves together unto him: And he said to them: Thus saith the Lord God of Israel: Put 27 every man his sword upon his thigh: go, and return from gate to gate through the midst of the camp, and let every man kill his 28 brother, and friend, and neighbour. And the sons of Levi did according to the words of Moses, and there were slain that day 29 about three and twenty thousand men. And Moses said: You have consecrated your hands this day to the Lord, every man in his son and in his brother, that a blessing may be given to you.

30 And when the next day was come, Moses spoke to the people: You have sinned a very great sin: I will go up to the Lord, if by 31 any means I may be able to entreat him for your crime. And returning to the Lord, he said: I beseech thee: this people hath sinned a heinous sin, and they have made to themselves gods 32 of gold: either forgive them this trespass, Or if thou do not, 33 strike me out of the book that thou hast written. And the Lord answered him: He that hath sinned against me, him will I strike 34 out of my book: But go thou, and lead this people whither I have told thee: my angel shall go before thee. And I in the day 35 of revenge will visit this sin also of theirs. The Lord therefore struck the people for the guilt, on occasion of the calf which Aaron had made.

33 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Go, get thee up from this place, thou and thy people which thou hast brought out of the land of Egypt, into the land concerning which I swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, saying: To thy seed I will give 2 it: And I will send an angel before thee, that I may cast out the Chanaanite, and the Amorrhite, and the Hethite, and the 3 Pherezite, and the Hevite, and the Jebusite, That thou mayst enter into the land that floweth with milk and honey. For I will not go up with thee, because thou art a stiffnecked people; lest I 4 destroy thee in the way. And the people hearing these very bad tidings, mourned: and no man put on his ornaments according 5 to custom. And the Lord said to Moses: Say to the children of Israel: Thou art a stiffnecked people, once I shall come up in the midst of thee, and shall destroy thee. Now presently lay aside thy ornaments, that I may know what to do to thee.
6 So the children of Israel laid aside their ornaments by Mount 7 Horeb. Moses also taking the tabernacle, pitched it without the camp afar off, and called the name thereof, The tabernacle of the covenant. And all the people, that had any question, went 8 forth to the tabernacle of the covenant, without the camp. And when Moses went forth to the tabernacle, all the people rose up, and every one stood in the door of his pavilion, and they beheld the back of Moses, till he went into the tabernacle. And when 9 he was gone into the tabernacle of the covenant, the pillar of the cloud came down, and stood at the door, and he spoke with Moses. And all saw that the pillar of the cloud stood at the door 10 of the tabernacle. And they stood and worshipped at the doors of their tent. And the Lord spoke to Moses face to face, as a man 11 is wont to speak to his friend. And when he returned into the camp, his servant Josue, the son of Nun, a young man, departed not from the tabernacle. And Moses said to the Lord: Thou 12 commandest me to lead forth this people; and thou dost not let me know whom thou wilt send with me, especially whereas thou hast said: I know thee by name, and thou hast found favour in my sight. If therefore I have found favour in thy sight, shew me 13 thy face, that I may know thee, and may find grace before thy eyes: look upon thy people this nation. And the Lord said: My 14 face shall go before thee, and I will give thee rest. And Moses 15 said: If thou thyself dost not go before, bring us not out of this place. For how shall we be able to know, I and thy people, that 16 we have found grace in thy sight, unless thou walk with us, that we may be glorified by all people that dwell upon the earth? And the Lord said to Moses: This word also, which thou hast 17 spoken, will I do; for thou hast found grace before me, and thee I have known by name. And he said: Shew me thy glory. He 18, 19 answered: I will shew thee all good, and I will proclaim in the name of the Lord before thee: and I will have mercy on whom I will, and I will be merciful to whom it shall please me. And 20 again he said: Thou canst not see my face: for man shall not see me, and live. And again he said: Behold there is a place with 21 me, and thou shalt stand upon the rock. And when my glory 22 shall pass, I will set thee in a hole of the rock, and protect thee with my righthand till I pass: And I will take away my hand, 23 and thou shalt see my back parts: but my face thou canst not see.

And after this he said: Hew thee two tables of stone like unto 34 the former, and I will write upon them the words, which were in the tables, which thou brokest. Be ready in the morning, 2 that thou mayst forthwith go up into Mount Sinai, and thou

3 shalt stand with me upon the top of the mount. Let no man go up with thee, and let not any man be seen throughout all the mount; neither let the oxen nor the sheep feed over against 4 it. Then he cut out two tables of stone, such as had been before; and rising very early he went up into the Mount Sinai, as the Lord had commanded him, carrying with him the tables.
5 And when the Lord was come down in a cloud, Moses stood 6 with him, calling upon the name of the Lord. And when he passed before him, he said: O the Lord, the Lord God, merciful 7 and gracious, patient and of much compassion, and true, Who keepest mercy unto thousands: who takest away iniquity, and wickedness, and sin, and no man of himself is innocent before thee. Who renderest the iniquity of the fathers to the children, and to the grandchildren unto the third and fourth generation.
8 And Moses making haste, bowed down prostrate unto the earth, 9 and adoring, Said: If I have found grace in thy sight, O Lord, I beseech thee that thou wilt go with us, (for it is a stiffnecked people) and take away our iniquities and sin, and possess us.
10 The Lord answered: I will make a covenant in the sight of all, I will do signs such as were never seen upon the earth, nor in any nations; that this people, in the midst of whom thou art, may see 11 the terrible work of the Lord which I will do. Observe all things which this day I command thee: I myself will drive out before thy face the Amorrhite, and the Chanaanite, and the Hethite, 12 and the Pherezite, and the Hevite, and the Jebusite. Beware thou never join in friendship with the inhabitants of that land, 13 which may be thy ruin: But destroy their altars, break their 14 statues and cut down their groves: Adore not any strange god.
15 The Lord his name is jealous, he is a jealous God. Make no covenant with the men of those countries; lest, when they have committed fornication with their gods, and have adored their 16 idols, some one call thee to eat of the things sacrificed. Neither shalt thou take of their daughters a wife for thy son, lest after they themselves have committed fornication, they make thy sons 17 also to commit fornication with their gods. Thou shalt not make 18 to thyself any molten gods. Thou shalt keep the feast of the unleavened bread. Seven days shalt thou eat unleavened bread, as I commanded thee in the time of the month of the new corn: for in the month of the spring time thou camest out from Egypt.

All of the male kind that openeth the womb, shall be mine. Of 19 all beasts; both of oxen and of sheep, it shall be mine. The 20 firstling of an ass thou shalt redeem with a sheep: but if thou wilt not give a price for it, it shall be slain. The firstborn of thy sons thou shalt redeem: neither shalt thou appear before me empty. Six days shalt thou work, the seventh day thou shalt 21 cease to plough and to reap. Thou shalt keep the feast of weeks 22 with the firstfruits of the corn of thy wheat harvest, and the feast when the time of the year returneth that all things are laid in.
Three times in the year all thy males shall appear in the sight 23 of the almighty Lord the God of Israel. For when I shall have 24 taken away the nations from thy face, and shall have enlarged thy borders, no man shall lie in wait against thy land when thou shalt go up, and appear in the sight of the Lord thy God thrice in a year. Thou shalt not offer the blood of my sacrifice upon 25 leaven; neither shall there remain in the morning any thing of the victim of the solemnity of the Phase. The first of the fruits 26 of thy ground thou shalt offer in the house of the Lord thy God.
Thou shalt not boil a kid in the milk of his dam. And the Lord 27 said to Moses: Write thee these words, by which I have made a covenant both with thee and with Israel. And he was there with 28 the Lord forty days and forty nights: he neither ate bread nor drank water, and he wrote upon the tables the ten words of the covenant. And when Moses came down from the Mount Sinai, 29 he held the two tables of the testimony, and he knew not that his face was horned from the conversation of the Lord. And Aaron 30 and the children of Israel seeing the face of Moses horned, were afraid to come near. And being called by him, they returned, 31 both Aaron and the rulers of the congregation. And after that he spoke to them, And all the children of Israel came to him: 32 and he gave them in commandment all that he had heard of the Lord on Mount Sinai. And having done speaking, he put a veil 33 upon his face. But when he went in to the Lord, and spoke with 34 him, he took it away until he came forth, and then he spoke to the children of Israel all things that had been commanded him.
And they saw that the face of Moses when he came out was 35 horned, but he covered his face again, if at any time he spoke to them.

And all the multitude of the children of Israel being gathered 35 together, he said to them: These are the things which the Lord hath commanded to be done: Six days you shall do work; the seventh day shall be holy unto you, the sabbath and the rest of the Lord: he that shall do any work on it, shall be put to death. You shall kindle no fire in any of your habitations on the sabbath day. And Moses said to all the assembly of the children of Israel: This is the word the Lord hath commanded, saying: Set aside with you firstfruits to the Lord. Let every one that is willing and hath a ready heart, offer them to the Lord: gold, and silver, and brass, Violet and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, and fine linen, goats' hair, And rams' skins dyed red, and violet coloured skins, setim wood, And oil to maintain lights, and to make ointment, and most sweet incense, Onyx stones, and precious stones, for the adorning of the ephod and the rational. Whosoever of you is wise, let him come, and make that which the Lord hath commanded: To wit, the tabernacle, and the roof thereof, and the cover, the rings, and the board-work with the bars, the pillars and the sockets: The ark and the staves, the propitiatory, and the veil that is drawn before it: The table with the bars and the vessels, and the loaves of proposition: The candlestick to bear up the lights, the vessels thereof and the lamps, and the oil for the nourishing of fires: The altar of incense, and the bars, and the oil of unction, and the incense of spices: the hanging at the door of the tabernacle: The altar of holocaust, and its grate of brass, with the bars and vessels thereof: the laver and its foot: The curtains of the court, with the pillars and the sockets, the hanging in the doors of the entry. The pins of the tabernacle, and of the court, with their little cords: The vestments that are to be used in the ministry of the sanctuary, the vesture of Aaron the high priest, and of his sons, to do the office of priesthood to me. And all the multitude of the children of Israel going out from the presence of Moses, Offered firstfruits to the Lord with a most ready and devout mind, to make the work of the tabernacle of the testimony. Whatever was necessary to the service and to the holy vestments, Both men and women gave bracelets and earrings, rings and tablets: every vessel of gold was set aside to be offered to the Lord. If any man had violet, and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, fine linen and goats' hair, ramskins dyed red, and violet coloured skins, Metal of silver and brass, they offered it to the Lord, and setim wood for divers uses. The skilful women also gave such things as they had spun, violet, purple, and scarlet, and fine linen, And goats' hair, giving all of their own accord. But the princes offered onyx stones, and precious stones, for the ephod and the rational, And spices and oil for the lights, and for the preparing of ointment, and to make the incense of most sweet savour. All, both men and women, with devout mind offered gifts, that the works might be done which the Lord had commanded by the hand of Moses.

All the children of Israel dedicated voluntary offerings to the Lord. And Moses said to the children of Israel: Behold, the Lord hath called by name Beseleel, the son of Uri, the son of Hur, of the tribe of Juda, And hath filled him with the spirit of God, with wisdom and understanding, and knowledge, and all learning, To devise and to work in gold and silver and brass, And in engraving stones, and in carpenters' work. Whatsoever can be devised artificially, He hath given in his heart: Ooliab also, the son of Achisamech, of the tribe of Dan: Both of them hath he instructed with wisdom, to do carpenters' work, and tapestry, and embroidery in blue and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, and fine linen, and to weave all things, and to invent all new things.

Beseleel therefore, and Ooliab, and every wise man, to whom the Lord gave wisdom and understanding, to know how to work artificially, made the things that are necessary for the uses of the sanctuary, and which the Lord commanded. And when Moses had called them, and every skilful man, to whom the Lord had given wisdom, and such as of their own accord had offered themselves to the making of the work, He delivered all the offerings of the children of Israel unto them. And while they were earnest about the work, the people daily in the morning offered their vows. Whereupon the workmen being constrained to come, Said to Moses: The people offereth more than is necessary. Moses therefore commanded proclamation to be made by the crier's voice: Let neither man nor woman offer any more for the work of the sanctuary. And so they ceased from offering gifts, Because the things that were offered did suffice, and were too much. And all the men that were wise of heart, to accomplish the work of the tabernacle, made ten curtains of twisted fine linen, and violet, and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, with 9 varied work, and the art of embroidering: The length of one curtain was twenty-eight cubits, and the breadth four: all the 10 curtains were of the same size. And he joined five curtains, one 11 to another, and the other five he coupled one to another. He made also loops of violet in the edge of one curtain on both sides, 12 and in the edge of the other curtain in like manner, That the loops might meet one against another, and might be joined each 13 with the other. Whereupon also he cast fifty rings of gold, that might catch the loops of the curtains, and they might be made 14 one tabernacle. He made also eleven curtains of goats' hair, to 15 cover the roof of the tabernacle: One curtain was thirty cubits long, and four cubits broad: all the curtains were of one mea-16 sure. Five of which he joined apart, and the other six apart.

17 And he made fifty loops in the edge of one curtain, and fifty in the edge of another curtain, that they might be joined one to 18 another. And fifty buckles of brass wherewith the roof might be knit together, that of all the curtains there might be made 19 one covering. He made also a cover for the tabernacle of rams' 20 skins dyed red; and another cover over that of violet skins. He made also the boards of the tabernacle of setim wood standing.
21 The length of one board was ten cubits; and the breadth was 22 one cubit and a half. There were two mortises throughout every board, that one might be joined to the other. And in this 23 manner he made for all the boards of the tabernacle. Of which 24 twenty were at the south side southward, With forty sockets of silver, two sockets were put under one board on the two sides of the corners, where the mortises of the sides end in the cor-25 ners. At that side also of the tabernacle, that looketh towards 26 the north, he made twenty boards, With forty sockets of silver, 27 two sockets for every board. But against the west, to wit, at that side of the tabernacle, which looketh to the sea, he made 28 six boards, And two others at each corner of the tabernacle be-29 hind: Which were also joined from beneath unto the top, and went together into one joint. Thus he did on both sides at the 30 corners: So there were in all eight boards, and they had sixteen 31 sockets of silver, to wit, two sockets under every board. He made also bars of setim wood, five to hold together the boards 32 of one side of the tabernacle, And five others to join together the boards of the other side; and besides these, five other bars at the west side of the tabernacle towards the sea. He made also another bar, that might come by the midst of the boards from corner to corner. And the boards themselves he overlaid with gold casting for them sockets of silver. And their rings he made of gold, through which the bars might be drawn: and he covered the bars themselves with plates of gold. He made also a veil of violet, and purple, scarlet and fine twisted linen, varied and distinguished with embroidery: And four pillars of setim wood, which with their heads he overlaid with gold, casting for them sockets of silver. He made also a hanging in the entry of the tabernacle of violet, purple, scarlet, and fine twisted linen, with the work of an embroiderer. And five pillars with their heads, which he covered with gold, and their sockets he cast of brass.

And Beseleel made also, the ark of setim wood: it was two cubits and a half in length, and a cubit and a half in breadth, and the height was of one cubit and a half: and he overlaid it with the purest gold within and without. And he made to it a crown of gold round about, Casting four rings of gold at the four corners thereof: two rings in one side, and two in the other. And he made bars of setim wood, which he overlaid with gold, And he put them into the rings that were at the sides of the ark to carry it. He made also the propitiatory, that is, the oracle, of the purest gold, two cubits and a half in length, and a cubit and a half in breadth. Two cherubims also of beaten gold, which he set on the two sides of the propitiatory: One cherub in the top of one side, and the other cherub in the top of the other side: two cherubims at the two ends of the propitiatory, Spreading their wings, and covering the propitiatory, and looking one towards the other, and towards it. He made also the table of setim wood, in length two cubits, and in breadth one cubit, and in height it was a cubit and a half. And he overlaid it with the finest gold, and he made to it a golden ledge round about, And to the ledge itself he made a polished crown of gold, of four fingers breadth, and upon the same another golden crown. And he cast four rings of gold, which he put in the four corners at each foot of the table, Over against the crown: and he put the bars into them, that the table might be carried. The bars also themselves he made of setim wood, and overlaid them with gold.

16 And the vessels for the divers uses of the table, dishes, bowls, and cups, and censers of pure gold, wherein the libations are to 17 be offered. He made also the candlestick of beaten work of the finest gold. from the shaft whereof its branches, its cups, and 18 bowls, and lilies came out: Six on the two sides: three branches 19 on one side, and three on the other. Three cups in manner of a nut on each branch, and bowls withal and lilies: and three cups of the fashion of a nut in another branch, and bowls withal and lilies. The work of the six branches, that went out from the shaft 20 of the candlestick was equal. And in the shaft itself were four cups after the manner of a nut, and bowls withal at every one, 21 and lilies: And bowls under two branches in three places, which 22 together made six branches going out from one shaft. So both the bowls, and the branches were of the same, all beaten work 23 of the purest gold. He made also the seven lamps with their snuffers, and the vessels where the snuffings were to be put out, 24 of the purest gold. The candlestick with all the vessels thereof 25 weighed a talent of gold. He made also the alter of incense of setim wood, being a cubit on every side foursquare, and in height 26 two cubits: from the corners of which went out horns. And he overlaid it with the purest gold, with its grate, and the sides, 27 and the horns. And he made to it a crown of gold round about, and two golden rings under the crown at each side, that the bars 28 might be put into them, and the altar be carried. And the bars themselves he made also of setim wood, and overlaid them with 29 plates of gold. He compounded also the oil for the ointment of sanctification, and incense of the purest spices, according to the work of a perfumer.

38 He made also the altar of holocaust of setim wood, five cu-2 bits square, and three in height: The horns whereof went out 3 from the corners, and he overlaid it with plates of brass. And for the uses thereof, he prepared divers vessels of brass, caul-4 drons, tongs, fleshhooks, pothooks and firepans. And he made the grate thereof of brass, in manner of a net, and under it in 5 the midst of the altar a hearth, Casting four rings at the four 6 ends of the net at the top, to put in bars to carry it: And he made the bars of setim wood, and overlaid them with plates of 7 brass: And he drew them through the rines that stood out in the sides of the altar. And the altar itself was not solid, but hollow, of boards, and empty within. He made also the laver 8 of brass, with the foot thereof, of the mirrors of the women that watched at the door of the tabernacle. He made also the court, 9 in the south side whereof were hangings of fine twisted linen of a hundred cubits. Twenty pillars of brass with their sockets, 10 the beads of the pillars, and the whole graving of the work, of silver. In like manner at the north side the hangings, the pillars, 11 and the sockets and heads of the pillars were of the same measure, and work and metal. But on that side that looketh to the 12 west, there were hangings of fifty cubits, ten pillars of brass with their sockets, and the heads of the pillars, and all the graving of the work, of silver. Moreover, towards the east he prepared 13 hangings of fifty cubits: Fifteen cubits of which, were on one 14 side with three pillars, and their sockets: And on the other side 15 (for between the two he made the entry of the tabernacle) there were hangings equally of fifteen cubits, and three pillars, and as many sockets. All the hangings of the court were woven with 16 twisted linen. The sockets of the pillars were of brass, and their 17 heads with all their gravings of silver: and he overlaid the pillars of the court also with silver. And he made in the entry 18 thereof an embroidered hanging of violet, purple, scarlet, and fine twisted linen, that was twenty cubits long, and five cubits high, according to the measure of all the hangings of the court.

And the pillars in the entry were four, with sockets of brass, and 19 their heads and gravings of silver. The pins also of the taber- 20 nacle and of the court round about he made of brass. These 21 are the instruments of the tabernacle of the testimony, which were counted according to the commandment of Moses, in the ceremonies of the Levites, by the hand of Ithamar, son of Aaron 22 the priest: Which Beseleel, the son of Uri, the son of Hur of the tribe of Juda, had made, as the Lord commanded by Moses.
Having for his companion Ooliab, the son of Achisamech, of the 23 tribe of Dan: who also was an excellent artificer in wood, and worker in tapestry and embroidery in violet, purple, scarlet, and fine linen. All the gold that was spent in the work of the sanc- 24 tuary, and that was offered in gifts, was nine and twenty talents, and seven hundred and thirty sicles according to the standard of the sanctuary. And it was offered by them that went to be 25 numbered, from twenty years old and upwards, of six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty men able to bear arms.

26 There were moreover a hundred talents of silver, whereof were cast the sockets of the sanctuary, and of the entry where the 27 veil hangeth. A hundred sockets were made of a hundred tal-28 ents, one talent being reckoned for every socket. And of the thousand seven hundred and seventy- five he made the heads of 29 the pillars, which also he overlaid with silver. And there were offered of brass also seventy-two thousand talents, and four hun-30 dred sicles besides, Of which were cast the sockets in the entry of the tabernacle of the testimony, and the altar of brass with the grate thereof, and also the vessels that belong to the use 31 thereof. And the sockets of the court as well round about as in the entry thereof, and the pins of the tabernacle, and of the court round about.

39 And he made, of violet and purple, scarlet and fine linen, the vestments for Aaron to wear when he ministered in the holy 2 places, as the Lord commanded Moses. So he made an ephod of gold, violet, and purple, and scarlet twice dyed, and fine twisted 3 linen, With embroidered work, and he cut thin plates of gold, and drew them small into threads, that they might be twisted 4 with the woof of the foresaid colours, And two borders coupled 5 one to the other in the top on either side, And a girdle of the 6 same colours, as the Lord had commanded Moses. He prepared also two onyx stones, fast set and closed in gold, and graven, by the art of a lapidary, with the names of the children of Israel: 7 And he set them in the sides of the ephod, for a memorial of the 8 children of Israel, as the Lord had commanded Moses. He made also a rational with embroidered work, according to the work of the ephod, of gold, violet, purple, and scarlet twice dyed, and 9 fine twisted linen: Foursquare, double, of the measure of a span.
10 And he set four rows of precious stones in it. In the first row 11 was a sardius, a topaz, an emerald. In the second, a carbuncle, 12 a sapphire, and a jasper. In the third, a ligurius, an agate, and 13 an amethyst. In the fourth, a chrysolite, an onyx, and a beryl, 14 set and enclosed in gold by their rows. And the twelve stones, were engraved with the names of the twelve tribes of Israel, each 15 one with its several name. They made also in the rational little 16 chains, linked one to another, of the purest gold, And two hooks, and as many rings of gold. And they set the rings on either side of the rational, On which rings the two golden chains should 17 hang, which they put into the hooks that stood out in the corners of the ephod. These both before and behind so answered 18 one another, that the ephod and the rational were bound together, Being fastened to the girdle, and strongly coupled with 19 rings, which a violet fillet joined, lest they should flag loose, and be moved one from the other, as the Lord commanded Moses.

They made also the tunic of the ephod all of violet, And a hole 20, 21 for the head in the upper part at the middle, and a woven border round about the hole: And beneath at the feet pomegranates 22 of violet, purple, scarlet, and fine twisted linen: And little bells 23 of the purest gold, which they put between the pomegranates at the bottom of the tunic round about: To wit, a bell of gold, and 24 a pomegranate, wherewith the high priest went adorned, when he discharged his ministry, as the Lord had commanded Moses.
They made also fine linen tunics with woven work for Aaron and 25 his sons: And mitres with their little crowns of fine linen: And 26, 27 linen breeches of fine linen: And a girdle of fine twisted linen, violet, purple, and scarlet twice dyed, of embroidery work, as the Lord had commanded Moses. They made also the plate of 29 sacred veneration of the purest gold, and they wrote on it with the engraving of a lapidary: The Holy of the Lord: And they 30 fastened it to the mitre with a violet fillet, as the Lord had commanded Moses. So all the work of the tabernacle and of the 31 roof of the testimony was finished: and the children of Israel did all things which the Lord had commanded Moses. And they of- 32 fered the tabernacle, and the roof, and the whole furniture, the rings, the boards, the bars, the pillars and their sockets, The 33 cover of rams' skins dyed red, and the other cover of violet skins, The veil, the ark, the bars, the propitiatory, The table, with 34, 35 the vessels thereof, and the loaves of proposition: The candlestick, the lamps, and the furniture of them, with the oil: The 37 altar of gold, and the ointment, and the incense of spices: And 38 the hanging in the entry of the tabernacle: The altar of brass, 39 the grate, the bars, and all the vessels thereof: the laver, with the foot thereof: the hangings of the court, and the pillars, with their sockets: The hanging in the entry of the court, and the 40 little cords, and the pins thereof. Nothing was wanting of the vessels, that were commanded to be made for the ministry of 41 the tabernacle, and for the roof of the covenant. The vestments also, which the priests, to wit, Aaron and his sons, use in the 42 sanctuary, The children of Israel offered, as the Lord had com-43 manded. And when Moses saw all things finished, he blessed them.

40, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: The first month, the first day of the month, thou shalt set up the tabernacle of the 3 testimony, And shalt put the ark in it, and shalt let down the 4 veil before it: And thou shalt bring in the table, and set upon it the things that are commanded according to the rite. The 5 candlestick shall stand with its lamps, And the altar of gold, whereon the incense is burnt before the ark of the testimony.
6 Thou shalt put the hanging in the entry of the tabernacle, And 7 before it the altar of holocaust. The laver between the altar and 8 the tabernacle, and thou shalt fill it with water. And thou shalt 9 encompass the court with hangings, and the entry thereof. And thou shalt take the oil of unction and anoint the tabernacle with 10 its vessels, that they may be sanctified: The altar of holocaust 11 and all its vessels: The laver with its foot: thou shalt consecrate 12 all with the oil of unction, that they may be most holy. And thou shalt bring Aaron and his sons to the door of the tabernacle 13 of the testimony, and having washed them with water, Thou shalt put on them the holy vestments, that they may minister to me, and that the unction of them may prosper to an everlasting 14 priesthood. And Moses did all that the Lord had commanded.
15 So in the first month of the second year, the first day of the 16 month, the tabernacle was set up. And Moses reared it up, and placed the boards and the sockets and the bars, and set up the 17 pillars, And spread the roof over the tabernacle, putting over it 18 a cover, as the Lord had commanded. And he put the testimony in the ark, thrusting bars underneath, and the oracle above.
19 And when he had brought the ark into the tabernacle, he drew 20 the veil before it to fulfil the commandment of the Lord. And he set the table in the tabernacle of the testimony, at the north side, 21 without the veil, Setting there in order the loaves of proposition, 22 as the Lord had commanded Moses. He set the candlestick also in the tabernacle of the testimony, over against the table on 23 the south side, Placing the lamps in order, according to the 24 precept of the Lord. He set also the altar of gold under the roof of the testimony, over against the veil, And burnt upon 25 it the incense of spices, as the Lord had commanded Moses.

And he put also the hanging in the entry of the tabernacle of 26 the testimony, And the altar of holocaust in the entry of the 27 testimony, offering the holocaust, and the sacrifices upon it, as the Lord had commanded. And he set the laver between the 28 tabernacle of the testimony and the altar, filling it with water.
And Moses and Aaron, and his sons, washed their hands and 29 feet, When they went into the tabernacle of the covenant, and 30 went to the altar, as the Lord had commanded Moses. He set up 31 also the court round about the tabernacle and the altar, drawing the hanging in the entry thereof. After all things were perfected, The cloud covered the tabernacle of the testimony, and the glory 32 of the Lord filled it. Neither could Moses go into the tabernacle 33 of the covenant, the cloud covering all things, and the majesty of the Lord shining, for the cloud had covered all. If at any time 34 the cloud removed from the tabernacle, the children of Israel went forward by their troops: If it hung over, they remained 35 in the same place. For the cloud of the Lord hung over the 36 tabernacle by day, and a fire by night, in the sight of all the children of Israel throughout all their mansions.

THE THIRD BOOK OF MOSES, CALLED LEVITICUS.

1 And the Lord called Moses, and spoke to him from the 2 tabernacle of the testimony, saying: Speak to the children of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: The man 3 among you that shall offer to the Lord a sacrifice of the cattle, that is, offering victims of oxen and sheep: If his 4 offering be a holocaust, and of the herd, he shall offer a male without blemish, at the door of the testimony, to make the Lord 5 favourable to him. And he shall put his hand upon the head of the victim: and it shall be acceptable, and help to its expiation.
6 And he shall immolate the calf before the Lord: and the priests the sons of Aaron shall offer the blood thereof, pouring it round 7 about the altar, which is before the door of the tabernacle. And when they have flayed the victim, they shall cut the joints into 8 pieces: And shall put fire on the altar, having before laid in order a pile of wood. And they shall lay the parts that are cut out 9 in order thereupon: to wit, the head, and all things that cleave to the liver; The entrails and feet being washed with water. And 10 the priest shall burn them upon the altar for a holocaust, and a sweet savour to the Lord. And if the offering be of the flocks, 11 a holocaust of sheep or of goats, he shall offer a male without blemish. And he shall immolate it at the side of the altar that 12 looketh to the north, before the Lord: but the sons of Aaron shall pour the blood thereof upon the altar round about. And they shall divide the joints, the head, and all that cleave to the 13 liver: and shall lay them upon the wood, under which the fire is to be put. But the entrails and the feet they shall wash with 14 water. And the priest shall offer it all and burn it all upon the altar for a holocaust, and most sweet savour to the Lord. But 15 if the oblation of a holocaust to the Lord be of birds, of turtles, or of young pigeons: The priest shall offer it at the altar: and twisting back the neck, and breaking the place of the wound, he shall make the blood run down upon the brim of the altar. But 16 the crop of the throat, and the feathers he shall cast beside the altar at the east side, in the place where the ashes are wont to be poured out. And he shall break the pinions thereof, and shall 17 not cut, nor divide it with a knife: and shall burn it upon the altar, putting fire under the wood. It is a holocaust and oblation of most sweet savour to the Lord.

When any one shall offer an oblation of sacrifice to the Lord, 2 his offering shall be of fine flour: and he shall pour oil upon it, and put frankincense, And shall bring it to the sons of Aaron 2 the priests. And one of them shall take a handful of the flour and oil, and all the frankincense; and shall put it a memorial upon the altar for a most sweet savour to the Lord. And the 3 remnant of the sacrifice shall be Aaron's, and his sons', holy of holies of the offerings of the Lord. But when thou offerest 4 a sacrifice baked in the oven of flour, to wit, loaves without leaven, tempered with oil, and unleavened wafers, anointed with oil: If thy oblation be from the fryingpan, of flour tempered 5 with oil, and without leaven: Thou shalt divide it into little 6 pieces, and shalt pour oil upon it. And if the sacrifice be from 7 the gridiron, in like manner the flour shall be tempered with oil.
And when thou offerest it to the Lord, thou shalt deliver it to 8 the hands of the priest. And when he hath offered it, he shall 9 take a memorial out of the sacrifice, and burn it upon the altar for a sweet savour to the Lord. And whatsoever is left, shall 10 be Aaron's, and his sons': holy of holies of the offerings of the Lord. Every oblation that is offered to the Lord shall be made 11 without leaven: neither shall any leaven or honey be burnt in the sacrifice to the Lord. You shall offer only the firstfruits of 12 them and gifts: but they shall not be put upon the altar, for a savour of sweetness. Whatsoever sacrifice thou offerest, thou 13 shalt season it with salt: neither shalt thou take away the salt of the covenant of thy God from thy sacrifice. In all thy oblations thou shalt offer salt. But if thou offer a gift of the firstfruits 14 of thy corn to the Lord, of the ears yet green, thou shalt dry it at the fire, and break it small like meal; and so shalt thou offer thy firstfruits to the Lord: Pouring oil upon it and putting on 15 frankincense, because it is the oblation of the Lord. Whereof 16 the priest shall burn for a memorial of the gift, part of the corn broken small and of the oil, and all the frankincense.

3 And if his oblation be a sacrifice of peace offerings, and he will offer of the herd, whether male or female: he shall offer 2 them without blemish before the Lord. And he shall lay his hand upon the head of his victim, which shall be slain in the entry of the tabernacle of the testimony: and the sons of Aaron the priests shall pour the blood round about upon the altar.
3 And they shall offer of the sacrifice of peace offerings, for an oblation to the Lord: the fat that covereth the entrails, and all 4 the fat that is within, The two kidneys with the fat wherewith the flanks are covered, and the caul of the liver with the two 5 little kidneys. And they shall burn them upon the altar, for a holocaust, putting fire under the wood: for an oblation of most 6 sweet savour to the Lord. But if his oblation and the sacrifice of peace offering be of the flock, whether he offer male or female, 7 they shall be without blemish. If he offer a lamb before the 8 Lord: He shall put his hand upon the head of the victim. And it shall be slain in the entry of the tabernacle of the testimony: and the sons of Aaron shall pour the blood thereof round about 9 upon the altar. And they shall offer of the victim of peace offerings, a sacrifice to the Lord: the fat and the whole rump, 10 With the kidneys, and the fat that covereth the belly and all the vitals and both the little kidneys, with the fat that is about the 11 flanks, and the caul of the liver with the little kidneys. And the priest shall burn them upon the altar, for the food of the fire, 12 and of the oblation of the Lord. If his offering be a goat, and 13 he offer it to the Lord: He shall put his hand upon the head thereof: and shall immolate it in the entry of the tabernacle of the testimony. And the sons of Aaron shall pour the blood 14 thereof round about upon the altar. And they shall take of it for the food of the Lord's fire, the fat that covereth the belly, 15 and that covereth all the vital parts: The two little kidneys with the caul that is upon them which is by the flanks, and the 16 fat of the liver with the little kidneys. And the priest shall burn them upon the altar, for the food of the fire, and of a most sweet 17 savour. All the fat shall be the Lord's. By a perpetual law for your generations, and in all your habitations: neither blood nor fat shall you eat at all.

4, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Say to the children of Israel: The soul that sinneth through ignorance, and doth any thing concerning any of the commandments of the Lord, which he commanded not to be done: If the priest that is anointed shall sin, making the people to offend, he shall offer to the Lord for his sin a calf without blemish. And he shall bring it to the door of the testimony before the Lord: and shall put his hand upon the head thereof, and shall sacrifice it to the Lord. He shall take also of the blood of the calf: and carry it into the tabernacle of the testimony. And having dipped his finger in the blood, he shall sprinkle with it seven times before the Lord, before the veil of the sanctuary. And he shall put some of the same blood upon the horns of the altar of the sweet incense most acceptable to the Lord, which is in the tabernacle of the testimony. And he shall pour all the rest of the blood at the foot of the altar of holocaust in the entry of the tabernacle. And he shall take off the fat of the calf for the sin offering, as well that which covereth the entrails, as all the inwards: The two little kidneys, and the caul that is upon them, which is by the flanks, and the fat of the liver with the little kidneys: As it is taken off from the calf of the sacrifice of peace offerings. And he shall burn them upon the altar of holocaust. But the skin and all the flesh with the head and the feet and the bowels and the dung: And the rest of the body, he shall carry forth without the camp into a clean place where the ashes are wont to be poured out: and he shall burn them upon a pile of wood. They shall be burnt in the place where the ashes are poured out. And if all the multitude of Israel shall be ignorant, and through ignorance shall do that which is against the commandment of the Lord, And afterwards shall understand their sin: they shall offer for their sin a calf, and shall bring it to the door of the tabernacle. And the ancients of the people shall put their hands upon the head thereof before the Lord. And the calf being immolated in the sight of the Lord: The priest that is anointed shall carry of the blood into the tabernacle of the testimony. And shall dip his finger in it and sprinkle it seven times before the veil. And he shall put of the same blood on the horns of the altar that is before the Lord, in the tabernacle of the testimony. And the rest of the blood he shall pour at the foot of the altar of holocaust, which is at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony. And all the fat thereof he shall take off, and shall burn it upon the altar: 20 Doing so with this calf, as he did also with that before. And the priest praying for them, the Lord will be merciful unto them.

21 But the calf itself he shall carry forth without the camp, and shall burn it as he did the former calf: because it is for the sin 22 of the multitude. If a prince shall sin, and through ignorance do any one of the things that the law of the Lord forbiddeth, 23 And afterwards shall come to know his sin: he shall offer a buck 24 goat without blemish, a sacrifice to the Lord. And he shall put his hand upon the head thereof: and when he hath immolated it in the place where the holocaust is wont to be slain before the 25 Lord, because it is for sin, The priest shall dip his finger in the blood of the victim for sin, touching therewith the horns of the altar of holocaust, and pouring out the rest at the foot thereof.
26 But the fat he shall burn upon it, as is wont to be done with the victims of peace offerings. And the priest shall pray for him, 27 and for his sin: and it shall be forgiven him. And if any one of the people of the land shall sin through ignorance, doing any of those things that by the law of the Lord are forbidden, and 28 offending, And shall come to know his sin: he shall offer a she 29 goat without blemish. And he shall put his hand upon the head of the victim that is for sin: and shall immolate it in the place 30 of the holocaust. And the priest shall take of the blood with his finger, and shall touch the horns of the altar of holocaust: 31 and shall pour out the rest at the foot thereof. But taking off all the fat, as is wont to be taken away of the victims of peace offerings, he shall burn it upon the altar, for a sweet savour to the Lord: and he shall pray for him, and it shall be forgiven 32 him. But if he offer of the flock a victim for his sin, to wit, 33 an ewe without blemish: He shall put his hand upon the head thereof, and shall immolate it in the place where the victims of 34 holocausts are wont to be slain. And the priest shall take of the blood thereof with his finger, and shall touch the horns of the altar of holocaust: and the rest he shall pour out at the foot 35 thereof. All the fat also he shall take off, as the fat of the ram that is offered for peace offerings is wont to be taken away: and shall burn it upon the altar, for a burnt sacrifice of the Lord.
And he shall pray for him and his sin, and it shall be forgiven him.

If any one sin, and hear the voice of one swearing, and is a 5 witness either because he himself hath seen, or is privy to it: if he do not utter it, he shall bear his iniquity. Whosoever 2 toucheth any unclean thing, either that which hath been killed by a beast, or died of itself, or any other creeping thing: and forgetteth his uncleanness, he is guilty, and hath offended. And 3 if he touch any thing of the uncleanness of man, according to any uncleanness wherewith he is wont to be defiled: and having forgotten it, come afterwards to know it, he shall be guilty of an offence. The person that sweareth, and uttereth with his 4 lips, that he would do either evil or good, and bindeth the same with an oath, and his word: and having forgotten it afterwards understandeth his offence, Let him do penance for his sin: And 5, 6 offer of the flocks an ewe lamb, or a she goat, and the priest shall pray for him and for his sin. But if he be not able to offer a 7 beast, let him offer two turtles, or two young pigeons to the Lord, one for sin, and the other for a holocaust, And he shall 8 give them to the priest: who shall offer the first for sin, and twist back the head of it to the little pinions, so that it stick to the neck, and be not altogether broken off. And of its blood he 9 shall sprinkle the side of the altar: and whatever is left, he shall let it drop at the bottom thereof, because it is for sin. And 10 the other he shall burn for a holocaust, as is wont to be done.
And the priest shall pray for him, and for his sin, and it shall be forgiven him. And if his hand be not able to offer two turtles, 11 or two young pigeons, he shall offer for his sin the tenth part of an ephi of flour. He shall not put oil upon it, nor put any frankincense thereon, because it is for sin. And he shall deliver 12 it to the priest, who shall take a handful thereof, and shall burn it upon the altar for a memorial of him that offered it: Praying 13 for him and making atonement. But the part that is left, he himself shall have for a gift. And the Lord spoke to Moses, 14 saying: If any one shall sin through mistake, transgressing the 15 ceremonies in those things that are sacrificed to the Lord, he shall offer for his offence a ram without blemish out of the flocks, that may be bought for two sicles, according to the weight of the sanctuary. And he shall make good the damage itself which he 16 hath done, and shall add the fifth part besides, delivering it to the priest, who shall pray for him, offering the ram: and it shall 17 be forgiven him. If any one sin through ignorance, and do one of those things which by the law of the Lord are forbidden, and 18 being guilty of sin, understand his iniquity: He shall offer of the flocks a ram without blemish to the priest, according to the measure and estimation of the sin. And the priest shall pray for him, because he did it ignorantly: And it shall be forgiven him, 19 Because by mistake he trespassed against the Lord.

6, 2 The Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Whosoever shall sin, and despising the Lord, shall deny to his neighbour the thing delivered to his keeping, which was committed to his trust; or shall 3 by force extort any thing, or commit oppression; Or shall find a thing lost, and denying it, shall also swear falsely, or shall do any 4 other of the many things, wherein men are wont to sin: Being 5 convicted of the offence, he shall restore All that he would have gotten by fraud, in the principal, and the fifth part besides, to 6 the owner, whom he wronged. Moreover for his sin he shall offer a ram without blemish out of the flock: and shall give it to the priest, according to the estimation and measure of the offence.
7 And he shall pray for him before the Lord: and he shall have for-8 giveness for every thing in doing of which he bath sinned. And 9 the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Command Aaron and his sons:
This is the law of a holocaust. It shall be burnt upon the altar, 10 all night until morning: the fire shall be of the same altar. The priest shall be vested with the tunick and the linen breeches; and he shall take up the ashes of that which the devouring fire hath 11 burnt: and putting them beside the altar, Shall put off his former vestments, and being clothed with others, shall carry them forth without the camp, and shall cause them to be consumed to 12 dust in a very clean place. And the fire on the altar shall always burn, and the priest shall feed it, putting wood on it every day in the morning: and laying on the holocaust, shall burn thereupon 13 the fat of the peace offerings. This is the perpetual fire which shall never go out on the altar. This is the law of the sacrifice and libations, which the children of Aaron shall offer before the 14 Lord, and before the altar. The priest shall take a handful of the flour that is tempered with oil, and all the frankincense that is put upon the flour: and he shall burn on the altar for a memo-15 rial of most sweet odour to the Lord. And the part of the flour that is left, Aaron and his sons shall eat, without leaven: and he shall eat it in the holy place of the court of the tabernacle. And therefore it shall not be leavened, because part thereof is offered for the burnt sacrifice of the Lord. It shall be most holy, as that which is offered for sin and for trespass. The males only of the race of Aaron shall eat it. It shall be an ordinance everlasting in your generations concerning the sacrifices of the Lord: Every one that toucheth them shall be sanctified. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: This is the oblation of Aaron, and of his sons, which they must offer to the Lord, in the day of their anointing. They shall offer the tenth part of an ephi of flour for a perpetual sacrifice, half of it in the morning, and half of it in the evening. It shall be tempered with oil, and shall be fried in a fryingpan. And the priest that rightfully succeedeth his father, shall offer it hot, for a most sweet odour to the Lord: and it shall he wholly burnt on the altar. For every sacrifice of the priest shall be consumed with fire: neither shall any man eat thereof. And the Lord spoke to Moses. saying: Say to Aaron and his sons: This is the law of the victim for sin. In the place where the holocaust is offered, it shall be immolated before the Lord. It is holy of holies. The priest that offereth it, shall eat it in a holy place, in the court of the tabernacle. Whatsoever shall touch the flesh thereof, shall be sanctified. If a garment be sprinkled with the blood thereof, it shall be washed in a holy place. And the earthen vessel, wherein it was sodden, shall be broken: but if the vessel be of brass, it shall be scoured, and washed with water. Every male of the priestly race shall eat of the flesh thereof, because it is holy of holies. For the victim that is slain for sin, the blood of which is carried into the tabernacle of the testimony to make atonement in the sanctuary, shall not be eaten, but shall be burnt with fire.

This also is the law of the sacrifice for a trespass: it is most holy. Therefore where the holocaust is immolated, the victim also for a trespass shall be slain: the blood thereof shall be poured round about the altar. They shall offer thereof the rump and the fat that covereth the entrails: The two little kidneys, and the fat which is by the flanks, and the caul of the liver with the little kidneys. And the priest shall burn them upon the altar: it is the burnt sacrifice of the Lord for a trespass. Every male of the priestly race, shall eat this flesh in a holy place, 7 because it is most holy. As the sacrifice for sin is offered, so is also that for a trespass: the same shall be the law of both these 8 sacrifices. It shall belong to the priest that offereth it. The priest that offereth the victim of holocaust, shall have the skin 9 thereof. And every sacrifice of flour that is baked in the oven, and whatsoever is dressed on the gridiron, or in the fryingpan, 10 shall be the priest's that offereth it. Whether they be tempered with oil, or dry, all the sons of Aaron shall have one as much 11 as another. This is the law of the sacrifice of peace offerings 12 that is offered to the Lord. If the oblation be for thanksgiving, they shall offer loaves without leaven tempered with oil, and unleavened wafers anointed with oil, and fine flour fried, and cakes 13 tempered and mingled with oil. Moreover loaves of leavened bread with the sacrifice of thanks, which is offered for peace of-14 ferings: Of which one shall be offered to the Lord for firstfruits, and shall be the priest's that shall pour out the blood of the 15 victim. And the flesh of it shall be eaten the same day: neither 16 shall any of it remain until the morning. If any man by vow, or of his own accord offer a sacrifice, it shall in like manner be eaten the same day. And if any of it remain until the morrow, it is law-17 ful to eat it. But whatsoever shall be found on the third day 18 shall be consumed with fire. If any man eat of the flesh of the victim of peace offerings on the third day, the oblation shall be of no effect: neither shall it profit the offerer. Yea rather, whatsoever soul shall defile itself with such meat, shall be guilty of 19 transgression. The flesh that hath touched any unclean thing, shall not be eaten: but shall be burnt with fire. He that is clean 20 shall eat of it. If any one that is defiled shall eat of the flesh of the sacrifice of peace offerings, which is offered to the Lord, 21 he shall be cut off from his people. And he that hath touched the uncleanness of man, or of beast, or of any thing that can defile, and shall eat of such kind of flesh: shall be cut off from 22, 23 his people. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Say to the children of Israel: The fat of a sheep, and of an ox, and of a goat 24 you shall not eat. The fat of a carcass that hath died of itself, and of a beast that was caught by another beast, you shall have 25 for divers uses. If any man eat the fat that should be offered for the burnt sacrifice of the Lord, he shall perish out of his people.

26 Moreover you shall not eat the blood of any creature whatsoever, whether of birds or beasts. Every one that eateth blood, shall 27 perish from among the people. And the Lord spoke to Moses, 28 saying: Speak to the children of Israel, saying: He that offereth 29 a victim of peace offerings to the Lord, let him offer therewith a 30 sacrifice also, that is, the libations thereof. He shall hold in his 30 hands the fat of the victim, and the breast. And when he hath 31 offered and consecrated both to the Lord, he shall deliver them 31 to the priest, Who shall burn the fat upon the altar. But the 32 breast shall be Aaron's and his sons'. The right shoulder also of 32 the victim, of peace offerings shall fall to the priest for firstfruits. 33 He among the sons of Aaron, that offereth the blood, and the 33 fat: he shall have the right shoulder also for his portion. For the 34 breast that is elevated and the shoulder that is separated I have 34 taken of the children of Israel, from off their victims of peace 35 offerings: and have given them to Aaron the priest, and to his 35 sons, by a law for ever, from all the people of Israel. This is the 36 anointing of Aaron and his sons, in the ceremonies of the Lord, 36 in the day when Moses offered them, that they might do the 37 office of priesthood, And the things that the Lord commanded 37 to be given them by the children of Israel, by a perpetual ob- 38 servance in their generations. This is the law of holocaust, and 38 of the sacrifice for sin, and for trespass, and for consecration, 39 and the victims of peace offerings: Which the Lord appointed 39 to Moses in mount Sinai, when he commanded the children of 40 Israel, that they should offer their oblations to the Lord in the 40 desert of Sinai.

And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Take Aaron with his 8, 2 sons, their vestments, and the oil of unction: a calf for sin, two rams, a basket with unleavened bread. And thou shalt gather 3 together all the congregation to the door of the tabernacle. And 4 Moses did as the Lord had commanded. And all the multitude being gathered together before the door of the tabernacle: He 5 said: This is the word that the Lord hath commanded to be done.
And immediately, he offered Aaron and his sons. And when he 6 had washed them, He vested the high priest with the strait 7 linen garment, girding him with the girdle, and putting on him the violet tunick: and over it he put the ephod. And binding it 8 with the girdle, he fitted it to the rational, on which was Doctrine and Truth. He put also the mitre upon his head: and upon the 9 mitre over the forehead, he put the plate of gold, consecrated 10 with sanctification, as the Lord had commanded him. He took also the oil of unction, with which he anointed the tabernacle, 11 with all the furniture thereof. And when he had sanctified and sprinkled the altar seven times, he anointed it, and all the vessels thereof: and the laver with the foot thereof, he sanctified with the 12 oil. And he poured it upon Aaron's head: and he anointed and 13 consecrated him. And after he had offered his sons, he vested them with linen tunicks, and girded them with girdles: and put 14 mitres on them as the Lord had commanded. He offered also the calf for sin: and when Aaron and his sons had put their 15 hands upon the head thereof, He immolated it: and took the blood, and dipping his finger in it, he touched the horns of the altar round about. Which being expiated, and sanctified, he 16 poured the rest of the blood at the bottom thereof. But the fat that was upon the entrails, and the caul of the liver, and the two little kidneys, with their fat, he burnt upon the altar.

17 And the calf with the skin, and the flesh and the dung, he burnt 18 without the camp, as the Lord had commanded. He offered also a ram for holocaust. And when Aaron and his sons had put 19 their hands upon its head: He immolated it, and poured the 20 blood thereof round about the altar. And cutting the ram into pieces, the head thereof, and the joints, and the fat he burnt in 21 the fire. Having first washed the entrails, and the feet, and the whole ram together he burnt upon the altar: because it was a holocaust of most sweet odour to the Lord, as he had commanded 22 him. He offered also the second ram, in the consecration of priests: and Aaron, and his sons put their hands upon the head 23 thereof. And when Moses had immolated it, he took of the blood thereof, and touched the tip of Aaron's right ear, and the thumb of his right hand, and in like manner also the great 24 toe of his right foot. He offered also the sons of Aaron: and when with the blood of the ram that was immolated, he had touched the tip of the right ear of every one of them, and the thumbs of their right hands, and the great toes of their right 25 feet, the rest he poured on the altar round about. But the fat, and the rump, and all the fat that covereth the entrails, and the caul of the liver, and the two kidneys with their fat, and 26 with the right shoulder, he separated. And taking out of the basket of unleavened bread, which was before the Lord, a loaf without leaven, and a cake tempered with oil and a wafer, he put them upon the fat, and the right shoulder: Delivering all 27 to Aaron, and to his sons. Who having lifted them up before the Lord, He took them again from their hands, and burnt 28 them upon the altar of holocaust: because it was the oblation of consecration, for a sweet odour of sacrifice to the Lord. And 29 he took of the ram of consecration, the breast for his portion, elevating it before the Lord, as the Lord had commanded him. And taking the ointment, and the blood that was upon the altar, 30 he sprinkled Aaron, and his vestments, and his sons, and their vestments with it. And when he had sanctified them in their 31 vestments, he commanded them, saying: Boil the flesh before the door of the tabernacle, and there eat it. Eat ye also the loaves of consecration, that are laid in the basket, as the Lord commanded me, saying: Aaron and his sons shall eat them. And whatsoever 32 shall be left of the flesh and the loaves, shall be consumed with fire. And you shall not go out of the door of the tabernacle for 33 seven days, until the day wherein the time of your consecration shall be expired. For in seven days the consecration is finished: As at this present it hath been done, that the rite of the sacrifice 34 might be accomplished. Day and night shall you remain in the tabernacle observing the watches of the Lord, lest you die. For 35 so it hath been commanded me. And Aaron and his sons did 36 all things which the Lord spoke by the hand of Moses.

And when the eighth day was come, Moses called Aaron and 9 his sons, and the ancients of Israel, and said to Aaron: Take of 2 the herd a calf for sin, and a ram for a holocaust, both without blemish, and offer them before the Lord. And to the children of 3 Israel thou shalt say: Take ye a he goat for sin, and a calf, and a lamb, both of a year old, and without blemish for a holocaust. Also a bullock and a ram for peace offerings. And immolate 4 them before the Lord, offering for the sacrifice of every one of them flour tempered with oil: for to day the Lord will appear to you. They brought therefore all things that Moses had com- 5 manded before the door of the tabernacle: where when all the multitude stood, Moses said: This is the word, which the Lord 6 hath commanded. Do it, and his glory will appear to you. And 7 he said to Aaron: Approach to the altar, and offer sacrifice for thy sin. Offer the holocaust, and pray for thyself and for the people: and when thou hast slain the people's victim, pray for 8 them, as the Lord hath commanded. And forthwith Aaron, 9 approaching to the altar, immolated the calf for his sin. And his sons brought him the blood of it: and he dipped his finger therein, and touched the horns of the altar, and poured the rest 10 at the foot thereof. And the fat, and the little kidneys, and the caul of the liver, which are for sin, he burnt upon the altar, as the 11 Lord had commanded Moses. But the flesh and skins thereof he 12 burnt with fire without the camp. He immolated also the victim of holocaust: and his sons brought him the blood thereof, which 13 he poured round about on the altar. And the victim being cut into pieces, they brought to him the head and all the members: 14 all which he burnt with fire upon the altar. Having first washed 15 the entrails and the feet with water. Then offering for the sin of 16 the people, he slew the he goat: and expiating the altar, He of-17 fered the holocaust. Adding in the sacrifice the libations, which are offered withal, and burning them upon the altar, besides the 18 ceremonies of the morning holocaust. He immolated also the bullock and the ram, and peace offerings of the people: and his sons brought him the blood, which he poured upon the altar 19 round about. The fat also of the bullock, and the rump of the ram, and the two little kidneys with their fat, and the caul of 20 the liver, They put upon the breasts. And after the fat was 21 burnt upon the altar, Aaron separated their breasts, and the right shoulders, elevating them before the Lord, as Moses had 22 commanded. And stretching forth his hands to the people, he blessed them. And so the victims for sin, and the holocausts, 23 and the peace offerings being finished, he came down. And Moses and Aaron went into the tabernacle of the testimony, and afterwards came forth and blessed the people. And the glory of 24 the Lord appeared to all the multitude. And, behold, a fire, coming forth from the Lord, devoured the holocaust, and the fat that was upon the altar: which when the multitude saw, they praised the Lord, falling on their faces.

10 And Nadab and Abiu, the sons of Aaron, taking their censers, put fire therein, and incense on it, offering before the Lord 2 strange fire: which was not commanded them. And fire coming out from the Lord destroyed them: and they died before the Lord. And Moses said to Aaron: This is what the Lord hath 3 spoken. I will be sanctified in them that approach to me: and I will be glorified in the sight of all the people. And when Aaron heard this, he held his peace. And Moses called Misael and Elis- 4 aphan, the sons of Oziel, the uncle of Aaron, and said to them: Go and take away your brethren from before the sanctuary, and carry them without the camp. And they went forthwith and 5 took them as they lay, vested with linen tunicks, and cast them forth, as had been commanded them. And Moses said to Aaron, 6 and to Eleazar and Ithamar, his sons: Uncover not your heads, and rend not your garments, lest perhaps you die, and indignation come upon all the congregation. Let your brethren, and all the house of Israel, bewail the burning which the Lord has kindled. But you shall not go out of the door of the tabernacle: 7 otherwise you shall perish, for the oil of the holy unction is on you. And they did all things according to the precept of Moses.

The Lord also said to Aaron: You shall not drink wine nor any 8, 9 thing that may make drunk, thou nor thy sons, when you enter into the tabernacle of the testimony, lest you die. Because it is an everlasting precept; through your generations: And that 10 you may have knowledge to discern between holy and unholy, between unclean and clean: And may teach the children of Is- 11 rael all my ordinances which the Lord hath spoken to them by the hand of Moses. And Moses spoke to Aaron, and to Eleazar 12 and Ithamar, his sons that were left: Take the sacrifice that is remaining of the oblation of the Lord, and eat it without leaven beside the altar, because it is holy of holies. And you shall eat 13 it in a holy place: which is given to thee and thy sons of the oblations of the Lord, as it hath been commanded me. The 14 breast also that is offered, and the shoulder that is separated, you shall eat in a most clean place, thou and thy sons, and thy daughters with thee. For they are set aside for thee and thy children, of the victims of peace offerings of the children of Israel. Because they have elevated before the Lord the shoulder 15 and the breast, and the fat that is burnt on the altar: and they belong to thee and to thy sons by a perpetual law, as the Lord hath commanded. While these things were a doing, when Moses 16 sought for the buck goat, that had been offered for sin, he found it burnt. And being angry with Eleazar and Ithamar, the sons 17 of Aaron that were left, he said: Why did you not eat in the holy place the sacrifice for sin, which is most holy, and given to you, that you may bear the iniquity of the people, and may pray 18 for them in the sight of the Lord. Especially, whereas none of the blood thereof hath been carried within the holy places: and you ought to have eaten it in the sanctuary, as was commanded 19 me? Aaron answered: This day hath been offered the victim for sin, and the holocaust before the Lord: and to me what thou seest has happened. How could I eat it, or please the Lord in 20 the ceremonies, having a sorrowful heart? Which when Moses had heard he was satisfied.

11, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: Say to the children of Israel: These are the animals which you are to 3 eat of all the living things of the earth. Whatsoever hath the hoof divided, and cheweth the cud among the beasts, you shall 4 eat. But whatsoever cheweth indeed the cud, and hath a hoof, but divideth it not, as the camel, and others: that you shall not 5 eat, but shall reckon it among the unclean. The chero grillus which cheweth the cud, but divideth not the hoof, is unclean.
6 The hare also: for that too cheweth the cud, but divideth not 7 the hoof. And the swine, which, though it divideth the hoof, 8 cheweth not the cud. The flesh of these you shall not eat, nor shall you touch their carcasses, because they are unclean 9 to you. These are the things that breed in the waters, and which it is lawful to eat. All that hath fins, and scales, as well 10 in the sea, as in the rivers, and the pools, you shall eat. But whatsoever hath not fins and scales, of those things that move 11 and live in the waters, shall be an abomination to you, And detestable. Their flesh you shall not eat: and their carcasses you 12 shall avoid. All that have not fins and scales, in the waters, shall 13 be unclean. Of birds these are they which you must not eat, and which are to be avoided by you: The eagle, and the griffon, 14 and the osprey. And the kite, and the vulture, according to 15 their kind. And all that is of the raven kind, according to their 16 likeness. The ostrich, and the owl, and the larus, and the hawk 17 according to its kind. The screech owl, and the cormorant, and 18 the ibis. And the swan, and the bittern, and the porphyryon.
19 The heron, and the charadroit according to its kind, the houp 20 also, and the bat. Of things that fly, whatsoever goeth upon four feet, shall be abominable to you. But whatsoever walketh 21 upon four feet, but hath the legs behind longer, wherewith it hoppeth upon the earth, That you shall eat: as the bruchus in 22 its kind, the attacus, and ophimachus, and the locust, every, one according to their kind. But of flying things whatsoever hath 23 four feet only, shall be an abomination to you. And whosoever 24 shall touch the carcasses of them, shall be defiled: and shall be unclean until the evening: And if it be necessary that he 25 carry any of these things when they are dead: he shall wash his clothes, and shall be unclean until the sun set. Every beast that 26 hath a hoof, but divideth it not, nor cheweth the cud shall be unclean: and he that toucheth it, shall be defiled. That which 27 walketh upon hands of all animals which go on all four, shall be unclean: he that shall touch their carcasses shall be defiled until evening. And he that shall carry such carcasses, shall 28 wash his clothes, and shall be unclean until evening: because all these things are unclean to you. These also shall be reckoned 29 among unclean things, of all that move upon the earth. The weasel, and the mouse, and the crocodile, every one according to their kind: The shrew, and the chameleon, and the stellio, 30 and the lizard, and the mole. All these are unclean. He that 31 toucheth their carcasses shall be unclean until the evening. And 32 upon what thing soever any of their carcasses shall fall, it shall be defiled, whether it be a vessel of wood, or a garment, or skins or haircloths: or any thing in which work is done. They shall be dipped in water, and shall be unclean until the evening, and so afterwards shall be clean. But an earthen vessel, into 33 which any of these shall fall, shall be defiled: and therefore is to be broken. Any meat which you eat, if water from such a 34 vessel be poured upon it, shall be unclean; and every liquor that is drunk out of any such vessel, shall be unclean. And upon 35 whatsoever thing any of these dead beasts shall fall, it shall be unclean. Whether it be oven, or pots with feet, they shall be destroyed, and shall be unclean. But fountains and cisterns, 36 and all gatherings together of waters shall be clean. He that toucheth their carcasses shall be defiled. If it fall upon seed 37 corn, it shall not defile it. But if any man pour water upon the seed, and afterwards it be touched by the carcasses, it shall be forthwith defiled. If any beast die, of which it is lawful for you 39 to eat, he that toucheth the carcass thereof, shall be unclean 40 until the evening. And he that eateth or carrieth any thing thereof, shall wash his clothes, and shall be unclean until the 41 evening. All that creepeth upon the earth shall be abominable: 42 neither shall it be taken for meat. Whatsoever goeth upon the breast on four feet, or hath many feet, or traileth on the earth, 43 you shall not eat, because it is abominable. Do not defile your 44 souls, nor touch aught thereof, lest you be unclean, For I am the Lord your God. Be holy because I am holy. Defile not your 45 souls by any creeping thing, that moveth upon the earth. For I am the Lord, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, that I 46 might be your God. You shall be holy, because I am holy. This is the law of beasts and fowls, and of every living creature that 47 moveth in the waters, and creepeth on the earth: That you may know the differences of the clean, and unclean, and know what you ought to eat, and what to refuse.

12, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to the children of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: If a woman having received seed shall bear a man child, she shall be unclean seven days, 3 according to the days of separation of her flowers. And on the 4 eighth day the infant shall be circumcised: But she shall remain three and thirty days in the blood of her purification. She shall touch no holy thing: neither shall she enter into the sanctuary, 5 until the days of her purification, be fulfilled. But if she shall bear a maid child, she shall be unclean two weeks, according to the custom of her monthly courses. And she shall remain 6 in the blood of her purification sixty-six days. And when the days of her purification are expired, for a son, or for a daughter, she shall bring to the door of the tabernacle of the testimony, a lamb of a year old for a holocaust, and a young pigeon or a 7 turtle for sin: and shall deliver them to the priest. Who shall offer them before the Lord, and shall pray for her: and so she shall be cleansed from the issue of her blood. This is the law for 8 her that beareth a man child or a maid child. And if her hand find not sufficiency, and she is not able to offer a lamb, she shall take two turtles, or two young pigeons, one for a holocaust, and another for sin: and the priest shall pray for her, and so she shall be cleansed.

13, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: The man in whose skin or flesh shall arise a different colour or a blister, or as it were something shining, that is the stroke of the leprosy, shall be brought to Aaron the priest, or any or of his sons. And 3 if he see the leprosy in his skin, and the hair turned white and the place where the leprosy appears lower than the skin and the rest of the flesh: it is the stroke of the leprosy, and upon his judgment he shall be separated. But if there be a shining 4 whiteness in the skin, and not lower than the other flesh, and the hair be of the former colour, the priest shall shut him up seven days. And the seventh day he shall look on him: and if 5 the leprosy be grown no farther, and hath not spread itself in the skin, he shall shut him up again other seven days. And on the 6 seventh day, he shall look on him. If the leprosy be somewhat obscure, and not spread in the skin, he shall declare him clean, because it is but a scab: and the man shall wash his clothes, and shall be clean. But, if the leprosy grow again, after he 7 was seen by the priest and restored to cleanness, he shall be brought to him: And shall be condemned of uncleanness. If 8, 9 the stroke of the leprosy be in a man, he shall be brought to the priest: And he shall view him. And when there shall be a white 10 colour in the skin, and it shall have changed the look of the hair, and the living flesh itself shall appear: It shall be judged an 11 inveterate leprosy, and grown into the skin. The priest therefore shall declare him unclean: and shall not shut him up, because he is evidently unclean. But if the leprosy spring out running 12 about in the skin, and cover all the skin from the head to the feet, whatsoever falleth under the sight of the eyes: The priest 13 shall view him, and shall judge that the leprosy which he has is very clean: because it is all turned into whiteness, and therefore the man shall be clean. But when the live flesh shall appear 14 in him: Then by the judgment of the priest he shall be defiled, and shall be reckoned among the unclean. For live flesh, if it be spotted with leprosy, is unclean. And if again it be turned into 15 whiteness, and cover all the man: The priest shall view him, and shall judge him to be clean. When also there has been an 16 ulcer in the flesh and the skin, and it has been healed: And in 17 the place of the ulcer, there appeareth a white scar, or somewhat red, the man shall be brought to the priest. And when he shall 18 see the place of the leprosy lower than the other flesh, and the 19 20

hair turned white: he shall declare him unclean, for the plague 21 of leprosy is broken out in the ulcer. But if the hair be of the former colour, and the scar somewhat obscure, and be not lower than the flesh that is near it: he shall shut him up seven days.
22, 23 And if it spread, he shall judge him to have the leprosy: But if it stay in its place, it is but the scar of an ulcer: and the man 24 shall be clean. The flesh also and skin that hath been burnt, 25 and after it is healed hath a white or a red scar: The priest shall view it, and if he see it turned white, and the place thereof is lower than the other skin: he shall declare him unclean, because 26 the evil of leprosy is broken out in the scar. But if the colour of the hair be not changed, nor the blemish lower than the other flesh, and the appearance of the leprosy be somewhat obscure: 27 he shall shut him up seven days, And on the seventh day he shall view him. If the leprosy be grown farther in the skin, he 28 shall declare him unclean. But if the whiteness stay in its place, and be not very clear, it is the sore of a burning: and therefore he shall be cleansed, because it is only the scar of a burning.
29 If the leprosy break out in the head or the beard of a man or 30 woman, the priest shall see them, And if the place be lower than the other flesh, and the hair yellow, and thinner than usual: he shall declare them unclean, because it is the leprosy of the head 31 and the beard; But if he perceive the place of the spot is equal with the flesh that is near it, and the hair black: he shall shut 32 him up seven days, And on the seventh day he shall look upon it. If the spot be not grown, and the hair keep its colour, and 33 the place of the blemish be even with the other flesh: The man shall be shaven all but the place of the spot: and he shall be 34 shut up other seven days. If on the seventh day the evil seem to have stayed in its place, and not lower than the other flesh, he shall cleanse him: and his clothes being washed he shall be 35 clean. But if after his cleansing the spot spread again in the 36 skin: He shall seek no more whether the hair be turned yellow, 37 because he is evidently unclean. But if the spot be stayed, and the hair be black, let him know that the man is healed: and 38 let him confidently pronounce him clean. If a whiteness appear 39 in the skin of a man or a woman, The priest shall view them.
If he find that a darkish whiteness shineth in the skin, let him know that it is not the leprosy, but a white blemish, and that the man is clean. The man whose hair falleth off from his head, he is bald and clean: And if the hair fall from his forehead, he is bald before and clean. But if in the bald head or in the bald forehead there be risen a white or reddish colour: And the priest perceive this, he shall condemn him undoubtedly of leprosy which is risen in the bald part. Now whosoever shall be defiled with the leprosy, and is separated by the judgment of the priest: Shall have his clothes hanging loose, his head bare, his mouth covered with a cloth: and he shall cry out that he is defiled and unclean. All the time that he is a leper and unclean he shall dwell alone without the camp. A woollen or linen garment that shall have the leprosy In the warp, and the woof: or skin, or whatsoever is made of a skin: If it be infected with a white or red spot, it shall be accounted the leprosy, and shall be shewn to the priest. And he shall look upon it and shall shut it up seven days. And on the seventh day when he looketh on it again, if he find that it is grown, it is a fixed leprosy. He shall judge the garment unclean, and every thing wherein it shall be found. And therefore it shall be burnt with fire. But if he see that it is not grown, He shall give orders, and they shall wash that part wherein the leprosy is: and he shall shut it up other seven days. And when he shall see that the former colour is not returned, nor yet the leprosy spread, he shall judge it unclean: and shall burn it with fire, for the leprosy has taken hold of the outside of the garment, or through the whole. But if the place of the leprosy be somewhat dark, after the garment is washed, he shall tear it off, and divide it from that which is sound. And if after this there appear in those places that before were without spot, a flying and wandering leprosy: it must be burnt with fire. If it cease, he shall wash with water the parts that are pure, the second time: and they shall be clean. This is the law touching the leprosy of any woollen or linen garment, either in the warp or woof, or any thing of skins: how it ought to be cleaned, or pronounced unclean.

And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: This is the rite of a leper, when he is to be cleansed. He shall be brought to the priest: Who going out of the camp, when he shall find that the leprosy is cleansed, Shall command him that is to be purified, to offer for himself two living sparrows, which it is lawful to eat, and 5 cedar wood, and scarlet, and hyssop. And he shall command one of the sparrows to be immolated in an earthen vessel over 6 living waters. But the other that is alive, he shall dip, with the cedar wood, and the scarlet and the hyssop, in the blood 7 of the sparrow that is immolated: Wherewith he shall sprinkle him that is to be cleansed seven times, that he may be rightly purified. And he shall let go the living sparrow, that it may 8 fly into the field. And when the man hath washed his clothes, he shall shave all the hair of his body, and shall be washed with water: and being purified he shall enter into the camp, yet so that 9 he tarry without his own tent seven days. And on the seventh day he shall shave the hair of his head, and his beard and his eyebrows, and the hair of all his body. And having washed again 10 his clothes, and his body, On the eighth day, he shall take two lambs without blemish, and an ewe of a year old without blemish, and three tenths of flour tempered with oil for a sacrifice, and 11 a sextary of oil apart. And when the priest that purifieth the man, hath presented him, and all these things before the Lord, 12 at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony: He shall take a lamb, and offer it for a trespass offering with the sextary of oil.

13 And having offered all before the Lord, He shall immolate the lamb, where the victim for sin is wont to be immolated, and the holocaust, that is, in the holy place. For as that which is for sin, so also the victim for a trespass offering pertaineth to the priest: 14 it is holy of holies. And the priest taking of the blood of the victim that was immolated for trespass, shall put it upon the tip of the right ear of him that is cleansed, and upon the thumb of 15 his right hand and the great toe of his right foot. And he shall pour of the sextary of oil into his own left hand, And shall dip 16 his right finger in it, and sprinkle it before the Lord seven times.
17 And the rest of the oil in his left hand, he shall pour upon the tip of the right ear of him that is cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand and the great toe of his right foot, and upon the 18, 19 blood that was shed for trespass: And upon his head. And he shall pray for him before the Lord, and shall offer the sacrifice 20 for sin. Then shall he immolate the holocaust. And put it on the altar with the libations thereof: and the man shall be rightly 21 cleansed. But if he be poor, and his hand cannot find the things aforesaid: he shall take a lamb for an offering for trespass, that the priest may pray for him, and a tenth part of flour tempered with oil for a sacrifice, and a sextary of oil: And two turtles or 22 two young pigeons, of which one may be for sin, and the other for a holocaust. And he shall offer them on the eighth day of 23 his purification to the priest, at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony before the Lord. And the priest receiving the lamb 24 for trespass, and the sextary of oil, shall elevate them together.

And the lamb being immolated, he shall put of the blood thereof 25 upon the tip of the right ear of him that is cleansed, and upon the thumb of his right hand, and the great toe of his right foot.
But he shall pour part of the oil into his own left hand, And 26, 27 dipping the finger of his right hand in it, he shall sprinkle it seven times before the Lord. And he shall touch the tip of the right 28 ear of him that is cleansed, and the thumb of his right hand and the great toe of his right foot, in the place of the blood that was shed for trespass. And the other part of the oil that is in his 29 left hand, he shall pour upon the head of the purified person, that he may appease the Lord for him. And he shall offer a 30 turtle, or young pigeon: One for trespass, and the other for a 31 holocaust, with their libations. This is the sacrifice of a leper, 32 that is not able to have all things that appertain to his cleansing.
And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: When you 33, 34 shall come into the land of Chanaan, which I will give you for a possession, if there be the plague or leprosy in a house: He 35 whose house it is, shall go and tell the priest, saying: It seemeth to me, that there is the plague of leprosy in my house, And he 36 shall command, that they carry forth all things out of the house, before he go into it, and see whether it have the leprosy, let all things become unclean that are in the house. And afterwards he shall go in to view the leprosy of the house. And if he see in 37 the walls thereof as it were little dints, disfigured with paleness or redness, and lower than all he rest: He shall go out of the 38 door of the house, and forthwith shut it up seven days, And 39 returning on the seventh day, he shall look upon it. If he find that the leprosy is spread, He shall command, that the stones 40 wherein the leprosy is, be taken out, and cast without the city into an unclean place: And that the house be scraped on the 41 inside round about, and the dust of the scrapings be scattered without the city into an unclean place: And that other stones be 42 laid in the place of them that were taken away, and the house be 43 plastered with other mortar. But if after the stones be taken out, and the dust scraped off, and it be plastered with other 44 earth. The priest going in perceive that the leprosy is returned, and the walls full of spots, it is a lasting leprosy, and the house is 45 unclean. And they shall destroy it forthwith, and shall cast the stones and timber thereof, and all the dust without the town into 46 an unclean place. He that entereth into the house when it is 47 shut, shall be unclean until evening, And he that sleepeth in it, 48 and eateth any thing, shall wash his clothes. But if the priest going in perceive that the leprosy is not spread in the house, after it was plastered again, he shall purify it, it being cured.

49 And for the purification thereof he shall take two sparrows, and 50 cedar wood, and scarlet, and hyssop. And having immolated 51 one sparrow in an earthen vessel, over living waters, He shall take the cedar wood, and the hyssop, and the scarlet, and the living sparrow, and shall dip all in the blood of the sparrow that is immolated, and in the living water: and he shall sprinkle 52 the house seven times. And shall purify it as well with the blood of the sparrow, as with the living water, and with the living sparrow, and with the cedar wood, and the hyssop, and 53 the scarlet. And when he hath let go the sparrow to fly freely away into the field, he shall pray for the house: and it shall be 54 rightly cleansed. This is the law of every kind of leprosy and 55, 56 stroke. Of the leprosy of garments and houses, Of a scar and of blisters breaking out of a shining spot, and when the colours 57 are diversely changed: That it may be known when a thing is clean or unclean.

15, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: Speak to the children of Israel, and say to them: The man that hath an 3 issue of seed, shall be unclean. And then shall he be judged subject to this evil, when a filthy humour, at every moment, 4 cleaveth to his flesh, and gathereth there. Every bed on which he sleepeth, shall be unclean, and every place on which he sitteth.
5 If any man touch his bed, he shall wash his clothes and being 6 washed with water, he shall be unclean until the evening. If a man sit where that man hath sitten, he also shall wash his clothes: and being washed with water, shall be unclean until 7 the evening. He that toucheth his flesh, shall wash his clothes:

and being himself washed with water shall be unclean until the evening. If such a man cast his spittle upon him that is clean, 8 he shall wash his clothes: and being washed with water, he shall be unclean until the evening. The saddle on which he hath 9 sitten shall be unclean. And whatsoever has been under him 10 that hath the issue of seed, shall be unclean until the evening. He that carrieth any of these things, shall wash his clothes: and being washed with water, he shall be unclean until the evening. Every person whom such a one shall touch, not having washed 11 his hands before, shall wash his clothes: and being washed with water, shall be unclean until the evening. If he touch a vessel 12 of earth, it shall be broken: but if a vessel of wood, it shall be washed with water. If he who suffereth this disease be healed, he 13 shall number seven days after his cleansing: and having washed his clothes, and all his body in living water, he shall be clean. And on the eighth day he shall take two turtles, or two young 14 pigeons, and he shall come before the Lord, to the door of the tabernacle of the testimony, and shall give them to the priest. Who shall offer one for sin, and the other for a holocaust: and he 15 shall pray for him before the Lord, that he may be cleansed of the issue of his seed. The man from whom the seed of copulation 16 goeth out, shall wash all his body with water: and he shall be unclean until the evening. The garment or skin that he 17 weareth, he shall wash with water: and it shall be unclean until the evening. The woman, with whom he copulateth, shall be 18 washed with water: and shall be unclean until the evening. The woman, who at the return of the month, hath her issue of blood, shall be separated seven days. Every one that toucheth her, 20 shall be unclean until the evening. And every thing that she sleepeth on, or that she sitteth on in the days of her separation, shall be defiled. He that toucheth her bed shall wash his clothes: 22 and being himself washed with water, shall be unclean until the evening. Whosoever shall touch any vessel on which she sitteth, 23 shall wash his clothes: and himself being washed with water, shall be defiled until the evening. If a man copulateth with her 24 in the time of her flowers, he shall be unclean seven days: and every bed on which he shall sleep, shall be defiled. The woman 25 that hath still issue of blood many days out of her ordinary time, or that ceaseth not to flow after the monthly courses, as long as she is subject to this disease, shall be unclean, in the same manner as if she were in her flowers. Every bed on which she sleepeth, and every vessel on which she sitteth, shall be defiled. Whosoever toucheth them shall wash his clothes: and himself being washed with water, shall be unclean until the evening. If the blood stop and cease to run, she shall count seven days of her purification: And on the eighth day she shall offer for herself to the priest, two turtles, or two young pigeons, at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony: And he shall offer one for sin, and the other for a holocaust, and he shall pray for her before the Lord, and for the issue of her uncleanness. You shall teach therefore the children of Israel to take heed of uncleanness, that they may not die in their filth, when they shall have defiled my tabernacle that is among them. This is the law of him that hath the issue of seed, and that is defiled by copulation. And of the woman that is separated in her monthly times, or that hath a continual issue of blood, and of the man that sleepeth with her.

16 And the Lord spoke to Moses, after the death of the two sons of Aaron when they were slain upon their offering strange fire: And he commanded him, saying: Speak to Aaron thy brother, that he enter not at all into the sanctuary, which is within the veil before the propitiatory, with which the ark is covered, lest he die, (for I will appear in a cloud over the oracle), Unless he first do these things. He shall offer a calf for sin, and a ram for a holocaust. He shall be vested with a linen tunick: he shall cover his nakedness with linen breeches: he shall be girded with a linen girdle, and he shall put a linen mitre upon his head. For these are holy vestments: all which he shall put on, after he is washed. And he shall receive from the whole multitude of the children of Israel two buck goats for sin, and one ram for a holocaust. And when he hath offered the cattle and prayed for himself and for his own house: He shall make the two buck goats to stand before the Lord in the door of the tabernacle of the testimony. And casting lots upon them both, one to be offered to the Lord, and the other to be the emissary goat: That whose lot fell to be offered to the Lord, he shall offer for sin. But that whose lot was to be the emissary goat, he shall present before the Lord, that he may pour prayers upon him, and let him go into the wilderness. After these things are duly celebrated, he shall offer the calf: and praying for himself and for his own house, he shall immolate it. And taking the censer, which he hath filled with the burning coals of the altar, and taking up with his hands the compounded perfume for incense, he shall go in within the veil into the holy place: That when the perfumes are put upon the fire, the cloud and vapour thereof may cover the oracle, which is over the testimony, and he may not die. He shall take also of the blood of the calf, and sprinkle with his finger seven times towards the propitiatory to the east. And when he hath killed the buck goat for the sin of the people, he shall carry in the blood thereof within the veil, as he was commanded to do with the blood of the calf, that he may sprinkle it over against the oracle: And may expiate the sanctuary from the uncleanness of the children of Israel, and from their transgressions, and all their sins. According to this rite shall he do to the tabernacle of the testimony, which is fixed among them in the midst of the filth of their habitation. Let no man be in the tabernacle when the high priest goeth into the sanctuary, to pray for himself and his house, and for the whole congregation of Israel, until he come out. And when he is come out to the altar that is before the Lord, let him pray for himself: and taking the blood of the calf, and of the buck goat, let him pour it upon the horns thereof round about. And sprinkling with his finger seven times, let him expiate, and sanctify it from the uncleanness of the children of Israel. After he hath cleaned the sanctuary, and the tabernacle, and the altar, then let him offer the living goat. And putting both hands upon his head, let him confess all the iniquities of the children of Israel, and all their offences and sins. And praying that they may light on its head, he shall turn him out by a man ready for it, into the desert. And when the goat hath carried all their iniquities into an uninhabited land, and shall be let go into the desert: Aaron shall return into the tabernacle of the testimony, and putting off the vestments, which he had on him before when he entered into the sanctuary, and leaving them there, He shall wash his flesh in the holy place, and shall put on his own garments. And after that he is come out and hath offered his own holocaust, and that of the people, he shall pray both for himself, and for the people. And the fat that is offered for sins, he shall burn on the altar. But he that hath let go the emissary goat, shall wash his clothes, and his body with water, 27 and so shall enter into the camp. But the calf and the buck goat, that were sacrificed for sin, and whose blood was carried into the sanctuary, to accomplish the atonement, they shall carry forth without the camp, and shall burn with fire: their skins and 28 their flesh, and their dung. And whosoever burneth them shall wash his clothes, and flesh with water: and so shall enter into 29 the camp. And this shall be to you an everlasting ordinance.

The seventh month, the tenth day of the month, you shall afflict your souls, and shall do no work, whether it be one of your own 30 country, or a stranger that sojourneth among you. Upon this day shall be the expiation for you, and the cleansing from all your 31 sins. You shall be cleansed before the Lord. For it is a sabbath of rest: and you shall afflict your souls by a perpetual religion.
32 And the priest that is anointed, and whose hands are consecrated to do the office of the priesthood in his father's stead, shall make atonement. And he shall be vested with the linen robe and the 33 holy vestments. And he shall expiate the sanctuary and the tabernacle of the testimony and the altar: the priest also and all 34 the people. And this shall be an ordinance for ever, that you pray for the children of Israel, and for all their sins once a year.
He did therefore as the Lord had commanded Moses.

17, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to Aaron and his sons, and to all the children of Israel, saying to them: This is 3 the word, which the Lord hath commanded, saying: Any man whosoever of the house of Israel, if he kill an ox, or a sheep, or a 4 goat in the camp, or without the camp, And offer it not at the door of the tabernacle an oblation to the Lord, shall be guilty of blood. As if he had shed blood, so shall he perish from the 5 midst of his people. Therefore the children of Israel shall bring to the priest their victims, which they kill in the field, that they may be sanctified to the Lord before the door of the tabernacle of the testimony: and they may sacrifice them for peace offerings 6 to the Lord. And the priest shall pour the blood upon the altar of the Lord, at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony: and 7 shall burn the fat for a sweet odour to the Lord. And they shall no more sacrifice their victims to devils, with whom they have committed fornication. It shall be an ordinance for ever to them 8 and to their posterity. And thou shalt say to them: The man of the house of Israel, and of the strangers who sojourn among you, that offereth a holocaust or a victim, And bringeth it not 9 to the door of the tabernacle of the testimony, that it may be offered to the Lord, shall perish from among his people. If any 10 man whosoever of the house of Israel, and of the strangers that sojourn among them, eat blood, I will set my face against his soul, and will cut him off from among his people. Because the 11 life of the flesh is in the blood: and I have given it to you, that you may make atonement with it upon the altar for your souls, and the blood may be for an expiation of the soul. Therefore 12 I have said to the children of Israel: No soul of you, nor of the strangers that sojourn among you, shall eat blood. Any 13 man whosoever of the children of Israel, and of the strangers that sojourn among you, if by hunting or fowling, he take a wild beast or a bird, which is lawful to eat, let him pour out its blood, and cover it with earth. For the life of all flesh is in the blood. 14 Therefore I said to the children of Israel: you shall not eat the blood of any flesh at all, because the life of the flesh is in the blood, and whosoever eateth it, shall be cut off. The soul that 15 eateth that which died of itself, or has been caught by a beast, whether he be one of your own country or a stranger, shall wash his clothes and himself with water, and shall be defiled until the evening: and in this manner he shall be made clean. But if he 16 do not wash his clothes, and his body, he shall bear his iniquity.

And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to the children 18, 2 of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: I am the Lord your God.
You shall not do according to the custom of the land of Egypt, in 3 which you dwelt: neither shall you act according to the manner of the country of Chanaan, into which I will bring you. Nor shall you walk in their ordinances. You shall do my judgments, and 4 shall observe my precepts, and shall walk in them. I am the Lord your God. Keep my laws and my judgments: which if a man 5 do, he shall live in them, I am the Lord. No man shall approach 6 to her that is near of kin to him, to uncover her nakedness. I am the Lord. Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy 7 father, or the nakedness of thy mother: she is thy mother, thou shalt not uncover her nakedness. Thou shalt not uncover the 8 nakedness of thy father's wife: for it is the nakedness of thy father. Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy sister by 9 10 father or by mother: whether born at home or abroad. Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy son's daughter, or thy 11 daughter's daughter: because it is thy own nakedness. Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy father's wife's daughter, 12 whom she bore to thy father: and who is thy sister. Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy father's sister: because she is 13 the flesh of thy father. Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy mother's sister: because she is thy mother's flesh. Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy father's brother: neither shalt thou approach to his wife, who is joined to thee by affinity.

15 Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy daughter in law: because she is thy son's wife, neither shalt thou discover her 16 shame. Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy brother's wife: because it is the nakedness of thy brother. Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy wife and her daughter. Thou shalt not take her son's daughter or her daughter's daughter, to discover her shame: because they are her flesh, and such 18 copulation is incest. Thou shalt not take thy wife's sister for a harlot, to rival her: neither shalt thou discover her nakedness, 19 while she is yet living. Thou shalt not approach to a woman having her flowers: neither shalt thou uncover her nakedness.
20 Thou shalt not lie with thy neighbour's wife: nor be defiled with mingling of seed. Thou shalt not give any of thy seed to be consecrated to the idol Moloch, nor defile the name of 22 thy God. I am the Lord. Thou shalt not lie with mankind as with womankind: because it is an abomination. Thou shalt not copulate with any beast: neither shalt thou be defiled with it. A woman shall not lie down to a beast, nor copulate with 24 it: because it is a heinous crime. Defile not yourselves with any of these things with which all the nations have been defiled, 25 which I will cast out before you, And with which the land is defiled: the abominations of which I will visit, that it may vomit out its inhabitants. Keep ye my ordinances and my judgments: and do not any of these abominations. Neither any of your own 27 nation, nor any stranger that sojourneth among you. For all these detestable things the inhabitants of the land have done, 28 that were before you, and have defiled it. Beware then, lest in like manner, it vomit you also out, if you do the like things: 29 as it vomited out the nation that was before you. Every soul that shall commit any of these abominations, shall perish from the midst of his people. Keep my commandments. Do not the things which they have done, that have been before you: and be not defiled therein. I am the Lord your God.

The Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to all the congregation of the children of Israel. And thou shalt say to them: Be ye holy, because I the Lord your God am holy. Let every one fear his father, and his mother. Keep my sabbaths. I am the Lord your God. Turn ye not to idols: nor make to yourselves molten gods. I am the Lord your God. If ye offer in sacrifice a peace offering to the Lord, that he may be favourable: You shall eat it on the same day it was offered, and the next day. And whatsoever shall be left until the third day, you shall burn with fire. If after two days any man eat thereof, he shall be profane and guilty of impiety: And shall bear his iniquity, because he hath defiled the holy thing of the Lord. And that soul shall perish from among his people. When thou reapest the corn of thy land, thou shalt not cut down all that is on the face of the earth to the very ground: nor shalt thou gather the ears that remain. Neither shalt thou gather the bunches and grapes that fall down in thy vineyard: but shalt leave them to the poor and the strangers to take. I am the Lord your God. You shall not steal. You shall not lie: neither shall any man deceive his neighbour. Thou shalt not swear falsely by my name, nor profane the name of thy God. I am the Lord. Thou shalt not calumniate thy neighbour, nor oppress him by violence. The wages of him that hath been hired by thee shall not abide with thee until the morning. Thou shalt not speak evil of the deaf, nor put a stumbling block before the blind: but thou shalt fear the Lord thy God, because I am the Lord. Thou shalt not do that which is unjust, nor judge unjustly. Respect not the person of the poor: nor honour the countenance of the mighty. But judge thy neighbour according to justice. Thou shalt not be a detractor nor a whisperer among the people. Thou shalt not stand against the blood of thy neighbour. I am the Lord. Thou shalt not hate thy brother in thy heart: But reprove him openly, lest thou incur sin through him. Seek not revenge, nor be mindful of the injury of thy citizens. Thou shalt love thy friend as thyself. I am the Lord. Keep ye my laws. Thou shalt not make thy cattle to gender with beasts of any other kind. Thou shalt not sow thy field with different seeds. Thou shalt not wear a garment that 20 is woven of two sorts. If a man carnally lie with a woman that is a bondservant and marriageable, and yet not redeemed with a price, nor made free: they both shall be scourged: and they shall not be put to death, because she was not a free woman.

21 And for his trespass he shall offer a ram to the Lord, at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony. And the priest shall pray for him: and for his sin before the Lord: and he shall have 22 mercy on him, and the sin shall be forgiven. When you shall be come into the land, and shall have planted in it fruit trees, you shall take away the firstfruits of them. The fruit that comes forth shall be unclean to you: neither shall you eat of them.
24 But in the fourth year, all their fruit shall be sanctified, to the praise of the Lord. And in the fifth year you shall eat the fruits thereof, gathering the increase thereof. I am the Lord your God.
26 You shall not eat with blood. You shall not divine nor observe dreams. Nor shall you cut your hair roundwise: nor shave your 27 beard. You shall not make any cuttings in your flesh, for the dead: neither shall you make in yourselves any figures or marks.
29 I am the Lord. Make not thy daughter a common strumpet, lest the land be defiled, and filled with wickedness. Keep ye my 30 sabbaths, and reverence my sanctuary. I am the Lord. Go not aside after wizards: neither ask any thing of soothsayers, to be 31 defiled by them. I am the Lord your God. Rise up before the hoary head, and honour the person of the aged man: and fear 32 the Lord thy God. I am the Lord. If a stranger dwell in your land, and abide among you, do not upbraid him: But let him 33 be among you as one of the same country. And you shall love him as yourselves: for you were strangers in the land of Egypt.
35 I am the Lord your God. Do not any unjust thing in judgment, in rule, in weight, or in measure. Let the balance be just and 36 the weights equal, the bushel just, and the sextary equal. I am the Lord your God, that brought you out of the land of Egypt.
37 Keep all my precepts, and all my judgments: and do them. I am the Lord.

20, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Thus shalt thou say to the children of Israel: If any man of the children Israel, or of the strangers that dwell in Israel, give of his seed to the idol Moloch, dying let him die. The people of the land shall stone him. And I will set my face against him: and I will cut him 3 off from the midst of his people, because he hath given of his seed to Moloch, and hath defiled my sanctuary, and profaned my holy name. And if the people of the land neglecting, and 4 as it were little regarding my commandment, let alone the man that hath given of his seed to Moloch, and will not kill him: I will set my face against that man, and his kindred, and will 5 cut off both him and all that consented with him, to commit fornication with Moloch, out of the midst of their people. The 6 soul that shall go aside after magicians, and soothsayers, and shall commit fornication with them: I will set my face against that soul, and destroy it out of the midst of its people. Sanctify 7 yourselves, and be ye holy: because I am the Lord your God.

Keep my precepts, and do them. I am the Lord that sanctify 8 you. He that curseth his father, or mother, dying let him die. 9 He hath cursed his father, and mother: let his blood be upon him. If any man commit adultery with the wife of another, and 10 defile his neighbour's wife: let them be put to death, both the adulterer and the adulteress. If a man lie with his stepmother, 11 and discover the nakedness of his father, let them both be put to death: their blood be upon them. If any man lie with his 12 daughter in law: let both die, because they have done a heinous crime. Their blood be upon them. If any one lie with a man 13 as with a woman, both have committed an abomination: let them be put to death. Their blood be upon them. If any man 14 after marrying the daughter, marry her mother, he hath done a heinous crime. He shall be burnt alive with them: neither shall so great an abomination remain in the midst of you. He 15 that shall copulate with any beast or cattle, dying let him die: the beast also ye shall kill. The woman that shall lie under 16 any beast, shall be killed together with the same. Their blood be upon them. If any man take his sister, the daughter of his 17 father, or the daughter of his mother, and see her nakedness, and she behold her brother's shame: they have committed a crime.
They shall be slain, in the sight of their people, because they have discovered one another's nakedness. And they shall bear their iniquity. If any man lie with a woman in her flowers, and 18 uncover her nakedness, and she open the fountain of her blood:

19 both shall be destroyed out of the midst of their people. Thou shalt not uncover the nakedness of thy aunt by thy mother, and of thy aunt by thy father. He that doth this, hath uncovered 20 the shame of his own flesh: both shall bear their iniquity. If any man lie with the wife of his uncle by the father, or of his uncle by the mother, and uncover the shame of his near akin, 21 both shall bear their sin. They shall die without children. He that marrieth his brother's wife, doth an unlawful thing: he hath uncovered his brother's nakedness. They shall be without 22 children. Keep my laws and my judgments, and do them: lest the land into which you are to enter to dwell therein, vomit you 23 also out. Walk not after the laws of the nations, which I will cast out before you. For they have done all these things: and 24 therefore I abhorred them. But to you I say: Possess their land which I will give you for an inheritance, a land flowing with milk and honey. I am the Lord your God, who have separated you 25 from other people. Therefore do you also separate the clean beast from the unclean, and the clean fowl from the unclean. Defile not your souls with beasts, or birds, or any things that move on the earth, and which I have shewn you to be unclean: 26 You shall be holy unto me, because I the Lord am holy: and I have separated you from other people, that you should be mine.
27 A man, or woman, in whom there is a pythonical or divining spirit, dying let them die. They shall stone them. Their blood be upon them.

21 The Lord said also to Moses: Speak to the priests the sons of Aaron, and thou shalt say for them: Let not a priest incur an 2 uncleanness at the death of his citizens. But only for his kin, such as are near in blood: that is to say, for his father and for his mother, and for his son, and for his daughter, for his brother 3, 4 also: And for a maiden sister, who hath had no husband. But not even for the prince of his people shall he do any thing that 5 may make him unclean. Neither shall they shave their head, 6 nor their beard, nor make incisions in their flesh. They shall be holy to their God, and shall not profane his name. For they offer the burnt offering of the Lord, and the bread of their God: 7 and therefore they shall be holy. They shall not take to wife a harlot or a vile prostitute, nor one that has been put away from her husband: because they are consecrated to their God,

And offer the loaves of proposition. Let them therefore be holy 8 because I also am holy: the Lord, who sanctify them. If the 9 daughter of a priest be taken in whoredom and dishonour the name of her father, she shall be burnt with fire. The high 10 priest, that is to say, the priest who is the greatest among his brethren, upon whose head the oil of unction hath been poured; and whose hands have been consecrated for the priesthood; and who hath been vested with the holy vestments. He shall not uncover his head: he shall not rend his garments. Nor shall he 11 go in at all to any dead person: not even for his father, or his mother, shall he be defiled. Neither shall he go out of the holy 12 places, lest he defile the sanctuary of the Lord: because the oil of the holy unction of his God is upon him. I am the Lord. He 13 shall take a virgin unto his wife. But a widow or one that is divorced, or defied, or a harlot, he shall not take: but a maid 14 of his own people. He shall not mingle the stock of his kindred 15 with the common people of this nation: for I am the Lord who sanctify him. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Say to 16, 17 Aaron: Whosoever of thy seed throughout their families, hath a blemish, he shall not offer bread to his God. Neither shall he 18 approach to minister to him: If he be blind; if he be lame; if he have a little, or a great, or a crooked nose; If his foot, or if his 19 hand be broken; If he be crookbacked; or blear eyed; or have a pearl in his eye, or a continual scab, or a dry scurf in his body, 20 or a rupture. Whosoever of the seed of Aaron the priest hath a blemish: he shall not approach to offer sacrifices to the Lord, nor 21 bread to his God. He shall eat nevertheless of the loaves that 22 are offered in the sanctuary. Yet so that he enter not within the 23 veil, nor approach to the altar: because he hath a blemish, and he must not defile my sanctuary. I am the Lord who sanctify them. Moses, therefore spoke to Aaron, and to his sons and to 24 all Israel, all the things that had been commanded him.

And the Lord spoke to Moses saying: Speak to Aaron and to 22, 2 his sons, that they beware of those things that are consecrated of the children of Israel: and defile not the name of the things sanctified to me, which they offer. I am the Lord. Say to them 3 and to their posterity: Every man of your race, that approacheth to those things that are consecrated, and which the children of Israel have offered to the Lord, in whom there is uncleanness, 4 shall perish before the Lord. I am the Lord. The man of the seed of Aaron, that is a leper, or that suffereth a running of the seed, shall not eat of those things that are sanctified to me, until he be healed. He that toucheth any thing unclean by occasion of the dead: and he whose seed goeth from him as in generation: 5 And he that toucheth a creeping thing, or any unclean thing, the 6 touching of which is defiling: Shall be unclean until the evening, and shall not eat those things that are sanctified. But when he 7 hath washed his flesh with water, And the sun is down, then being purified, he shall eat of the sanctified things, because it is 8 his meat. That which dieth of itself, and that which was taken by a beast, they shall not eat, nor be defiled therewith. I am 9 the Lord. Let them keep my precepts, that they may not fall into sin, and die in the sanctuary, when they shall have defiled 10 it. I am the Lord who sanctify them. No stranger shall eat of the sanctified things: a sojourner of the priests, or a hired 11 servant, shall not eat of them. But he whom the priest hath bought, and he that is his servant, born in his house, these shall 12 eat of them. If the daughter of a priest be married to any of the people, she shall not eat of those things that are sanctified 13 nor of the firstfruits. But if she be a widow, or divorced, and having no children return to her father's house, she shall eat of her father's meats, as she was wont to do when she was a 14 maid. No stranger hath leave to eat of them. He that eateth of the sanctified things through ignorance, shall add the fifth part with that which he ate, and shall give it to the priest into 15 the sanctuary. And they shall not profane the sanctified things of the children of Israel, which they offer to the Lord: Lest perhaps they bear the iniquity of their trespass, when they shall have eaten the sanctified things. I am the Lord who sanctify 17, 18 them. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to Aaron, and to his sons, and to all the children of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: The man of the house of Israel, and of the strangers who dwell with you, that offereth his oblation, either paying his vows, or offering of his own accord, whatsoever it be which he 19 presenteth for a holocaust of the Lord, To be offered by you: it shall be a male without blemish of the beeves, or of the sheep, or 20 of the goats. If it have a blemish you shall not offer it: neither 21 shall it be acceptable. The man that offereth a victim of peace offerings to the Lord, either paying his vows, or offering of his own accord, whether of beeves or of sheep, shall offer it without blemish, that it may be acceptable. There shall be no blemish in it. If it be blind, or broken, or have a scar or blisters, or a scab, or a dry scurf: you shall not offer them to the Lord, nor burn any thing of them upon the Lord's altar. An ox or a sheep, that hath the ear and the tail cut off, thou mayst offer voluntarily: but a vow may not be paid with them. you shall not offer to the Lord any beast that hath the testicles bruised, or crushed, or cut and taken away: neither shall you do any such things in your land. you shall not offer bread to your God, from the hand of a stranger, nor any other thing that he would give: because they are all corrupted, and defiled. You shall not receive them. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: When a bullock, or a sheep, or a goat, is brought forth, they shall be seven days under the udder of their dam: but the eighth day, and thenceforth, they may be offered to the Lord. Whether it be a cow, or a sheep, they shall not be sacrificed the same day with their young ones. If you immolate a victim for thanksgiving to the Lord, that he may be favourable, You shall eat it the same day. There shall not any of it remain until the morning of the next day. I am the Lord. Keep my commandments, and do them. I am the Lord. Profane not my holy name, that I may be sanctified in the midst of the children of Israel. I am the Lord who sanctify you: And who brought you out of the land of Egypt, that I might be your God. I am the Lord.

And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to the children of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: These are the feasts of the Lord, which you shall call holy. Six days shall ye do work: the seventh day, because it is the rest of the sabbath, shall be called holy. You shall do no work on that day: it is the sabbath of the Lord in all your habitations. These also are the holy days of the Lord, which you must celebrate in their seasons. The first month, the fourteenth day of the month at evening, is the phase of the Lord. And the fifteenth day of the same month is the solemnity of the unleavened bread of the Lord. Seven days shall you eat unleavened bread. The first day shall be most solemn unto you, and holy: you shall do no servile work therein. But you shall offer sacrifice in fire to the Lord seven days. And the seventh day shall be more solemn, and more holy: and you shall do no servile work therein. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to the children of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: When you shall have entered into the land which I will give you, and shall reap your corn, you shall bring sheaves of ears, the firstfruits of your harvest to the priest. Who shall lift up the sheaf before the Lord, the next day after the sabbath, that it may be acceptable for you, and shall sanctify it. And on the same day that the sheaf is consecrated, a lamb without blemish of the first year shall be killed for a holocaust of the Lord. And the libations shall be offered with it: two tenths of flour tempered with oil, for a burnt offering of the Lord, and a most sweet odour. Libations also of wine, the fourth part of a hin. You shall not eat either bread, or parched corn, or frumenty or the harvest, until the day that you shall offer thereof to your God. It is a precept for ever throughout your generations, and all your dwellings. You shall count therefore from the morrow after the sabbath, wherein you offered the sheaf of firstfruits, seven full weeks. Even unto the morrow after the seventh week be expired, that is to say, fifty days: and so you shall offer a new sacrifice to the Lord. Out of all your dwellings, two loaves of the firstfruits, of two tenths of flour leavened, which you shall bake for the firstfruits of the Lord. And you shall offer with the loaves seven lambs without blemish of the first year, and one calf from the herd, and they shall be for a holocaust with their two rams: and they shall be for a holocaust with their libations for a most sweet odour to the Lord. You shall offer also a buck goat for sin, and two lambs of the first year for sacrifices of peace offerings. And when the priest hath lifted them up with the loaves of the firstfruits before the Lord, they shall fall to his use. And you shall call this day most solemn, and most holy. You shall do no servile work therein. It shall be an everlasting ordinance in all your dwellings and generations. And when you reap the corn of your land, you shall not cut it to the very ground: neither shall you gather the ears that remain. But you shall leave them for the poor and for the strangers. I am the Lord your God. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Say to the children of Israel: The seventh month, on the first day of the month, you shall keep a sabbath, a memorial, with the sound of trumpets, and it shall be called holy. You shall do no servile work therein, and 25 you shall offer a holocaust to the Lord. And the Lord spoke to 26 Moses, saying: Upon the tenth day of this seventh month shall 27 be the day of atonement. It shall be most solemn, and shall be called holy: and you shall await your souls on that day, and shall offer a holocaust to the Lord. You shall do no servile work in 28 the time of this day: because it is a day of propitiation, that the Lord your God may be merciful unto you. Every soul that 29 is not afflicted on this day, shall perish from among his people.

And every soul that shall do any work, the same will I destroy 30 from among his people. You shall do no work therefore on that 31 day: it shall be an everlasting ordinance unto you in all your generations, and dwellings. It is a sabbath of rest, and you 32 shall afflict your souls beginning on the ninth day of the month.
From evening until evening you shall celebrate your sabbaths.
And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Say to the children of 33, 34 Israel: From the fifteenth day of this same seventh month, shall be kept the feast of tabernacles, seven days to the Lord. The 35 first day shall be called most solemn and most holy: you shall do no servile work therein. And seven days you shall offer holocausts to the Lord. The eighth day also shall be most solemn and most 36 holy: and you shall offer holocausts to the Lord. For it is the day of assembly and congregation. You shall do no servile work therein. These are the feasts of the Lord which you shall call 37 most solemn and most holy, and shall offer on them oblations to the Lord: holocausts and libations according to the rite of every day. Besides the sabbaths of the Lord, and your gifts, and those 38 things that you offer by vow, or which you shall give to the Lord voluntarily. So from the fifteenth day of the seventh month, 39 when you shall have gathered in all the fruits of your land, you shall celebrate the feast of the Lord seven days. On the first day and the eighth shall be a sabbath: that is a day of rest. And 40 you shall take to you on the first day the fruits of the fairest tree, and branches of palm trees, and boughs of thick trees, and willows of the brook: And you shall rejoice before the Lord your God. And you shall keep the solemnity thereof seven days in 41 the year. It shall be an everlasting ordinance in your generations.
In the seventh month shall you celebrate this feast. And you 42 shall dwell in bowers seven days. Every one that is of the race 43 of Israel, shall dwell in tabernacles: That your posterity may know, that I made the children of Israel to dwell in tabernacles, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt. I am the Lord 44 your God. And Moses spoke concerning the feasts of the Lord to the children of Israel.

24, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Command the children of Israel, that they bring unto thee the finest and clearest oil of 3 olives, to furnish the lamps continually, Without the veil of the testimony in the tabernacle of the covenant. And Aaron shall set them from evening until morning before the Lord, by a perpetual 4 service and rite in your generations. They shall be set upon the most pure candlestick before the Lord continually. Thou shalt 5 take also fine flour, and shalt bake twelve loaves thereof, two tenths shall be in every loaf. And thou shalt set them six and 6 six, one against another, upon the most clean table before the Lord. And thou shalt put upon them the clearest frankincense, 7 that the bread may be for a memorial of the oblation of the Lord. Every sabbath they shall be changed before the Lord: 8 being received of the children of Israel by an everlasting covenant. And they shall be Aaron's and his sons', that they may eat them 9 in the holy place: because it is most holy of the sacrifices of the Lord by a perpetual right. And behold there went out the son 10 of a woman of Israel, whom she had of an Egyptian, among the children of Israel: and fell at words in the camp with a man 11 of Israel. And when he had blasphemed the name, and had cursed it, he was brought to Moses. (Now his mother was called 12 Salumith, the daughter of Dabri, of the tribe of Dan.) And they put him into prison, till they might know what the Lord would 13, 14 command. And the Lord spoke to Moses, Saying: Bring forth the blasphemer without the camp: and let them that heard him, put their hands upon his head: and let all the people stone him.
15 And thou shalt speak to the children of Israel: The man that curseth his God, shall bear his sin: And he that blasphemeth 16 the name of the Lord, dying let him die. All the multitude shall stone him, whether he be a native or a stranger. He that 17 blasphemeth the name of the Lord, dying let him die. He that striketh and killeth a man: dying let him die. He that killeth 18 a beast, shall make it good that is to say, shall give beast for 19 beast. He that giveth a blemish to any of his neighbours: as he hath done, so shall it be done to him: Breach for breach, 20 eye for eye, tooth for tooth, shall he restore. What blemish he gave, the like shall he be compelled to suffer. He that striketh 21 a beast, shall render another. He that striketh a man shall be punished. Let there be equal judgment among you, whether he 22 be a stranger, or a native that offends: because I am the Lord your God. And Moses spoke to the children of Israel. And they 23 brought forth him that had blasphemed, without the camp: and they stoned him. And the children of Israel did as the Lord had commanded Moses.

And the Lord spoke to Moses in mount Sinai, saying: Speak 25, 2 to the children of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: When you shall have entered into the land which I will give you, observe the rest of the sabbath of the Lord. Six years thou shalt sow 3 thy field and six years thou shalt prune thy vineyard, and shalt gather the fruits thereof. But in the seventh year there shall 4 be a sabbath to the land, of the resting of the Lord. Thou shalt not sow thy field, nor prune thy vineyard. What the ground 5 shall bring forth of itself, thou shalt not reap: neither shalt thou gather the grapes or the firstfruits as a vintage. For it is a year of rest to the land. But they shall be unto you for meat, to thee 6 and to thy manservant, to thy maidservant and thy hireling, and to the strangers that sojourn with thee. All things that grow 7 shall be meat to thy beasts and to thy cattle. Thou shalt also 8 number to thee seven weeks of years: that is to say, seven times seven, which together make forty-nine years. And thou shalt 9 sound the trumpet in the seventh month, the tenth day of the month, in the time of the expiation in all your land. And thou 10 shalt sanctify the fiftieth year, and shalt proclaim remission to all the inhabitants of thy land: for it is the year of jubilee. Every man shall return to his possession, and every one shall go back to his former family: Because it is the jubilee and the fiftieth 11 year. You shall not sow, nor reap the things that grow in the field of their own accord, neither shall you gather the firstfruits of the vines, Because of the sanctification of the jubilee. But 12 as they grow you shall presently eat them. In the year of the 13 jubilee all shall return to their possessions. When thou shalt 14 sell any thing to thy neighbour, or shalt buy of him: grieve not thy brother. But thou shalt buy of him according to the 15 number of years from the jubilee. And he shall sell to thee 16 according to the computation of the fruits. The more years remain after the jubilee, the more shall the price increase: and the less time is counted, so much the less shall the purchase cost.

17 For he shall sell to thee the time of the fruits. Do not afflict your countrymen: but let every one fear his God. Because I am 18 the Lord your God. Do my precepts, and keep my judgments, and fulfil them: that you may dwell in the land without any 19 fear. And the ground may yield you its fruits, of which you 20 may eat your fill, fearing no man's invasion. But if you say: What shall we eat the seventh year, if we sow not, nor gather 21 our fruits? I will give you my blessing the sixth year: and it 22 shall yield the fruits of three years. And the eighth year you shall sow, and shall eat of the old fruits, until the ninth year: till 23 new grow up, you shall eat the old store. The land also shall not be sold for ever: because it is mine, and you are strangers 24 and sojourners with me. For which cause all the country of 25 your possession shall be under the condition of redemption. If thy brother being impoverished sell his little possession, and his 26 kinsman will: he may redeem what he had sold. But if he have no kinsman, and he himself can find the price to redeem it: 27 The value of the fruits shall be counted from that time when he sold it. And the overplus he shall restore to the buyer, and so 28 shall receive his possession again. But if his hands find not the means to repay the price, the buyer shall have what he bought, until the year of the jubilee. For in that year all that is sold 29 shall return to the owner, and to the ancient possessor. He that selleth a house within the walls of a city, shall have the liberty 30 to redeem it, until one year be expired. If he redeem it not, and the whole year be fully out, the buyer shall possess it, and his posterity for ever, and it cannot be redeemed, not even in the 31 jubilee. But if the house be in a village, that hath no walls, it shall be sold according to the same law as the fields. If it be not 32 redeemed before, in the jubilee it shall return to the owner. The houses of Levites, which are in cities, may always be redeemed.
33 If they be not redeemed, in the jubilee they shall all return to the owners: because the houses of the cities of the Levites are 34 for their possessions among the children of Israel. But let not 35 their suburbs be sold, because it is a perpetual possession. If thy brother be impoverished, and weak of hand, and thou receive him as a stranger and sojourner, and he live with thee: Take not 36 usury of him nor more than thou gavest. Fear thy God, that thy brother may live with thee. Thou shalt not give him thy money 37 upon usury: nor exact of him any increase of fruits. I am the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, that I might give you the land of Chanaan, and might be your God. If thy brother constrained by poverty, sell himself to thee: thou 39 shalt not oppress him with the service of bondservants. But 40 he shall be as a hireling, and a sojourner: he shall work with thee until the year of the jubilee. And afterwards he shall go 41 out with his children: and shall return to his kindred and to the possession of his fathers. For they are my servants, and I 42 brought them out of the land of Egypt: let them not be sold as bondmen. Afflict him not by might: but fear thy God. Let 43, 44 your bondmen, and your bondwomen, be of the nations that are round about you: And of the strangers that sojourn among 45 you, or that were born of them in your land. These you shall have for servants: And by right of inheritance shall leave them 46 to your posterity, and shall possess them for ever. But oppress not your brethren the children of Israel by might. If the hand 47 of a stranger or a sojourner grow strong among you, and thy brother being impoverished sell himself to him, or to any of his race: After the sale he may be redeemed. He that will of his 48 brethren shall redeem him: Either his uncle, or his uncle's son, 49 or his kinsman, by blood, or by affinity. But if he himself be able also, he shall redeem himself: Counting only the years from the 50 time of his selling unto the year of the jubilee: and counting the money that he was sold for, according to the number of the years and the reckoning of a hired servant. If there be many 51 years that remain until the jubilee, according to them shall he also repay the price. If few, he shall make the reckoning with 52 him according to the number of the years: and shall repay to the buyer of what remaineth of the years. His wages being allowed 53 for which he served before: he shall not afflict him violently in thy sight. And if by these means he cannot be redeemed, in 54 the year of the jubilee he shall go out with his children. For the children of Israel are my servants, whom I brought forth out of 55 the land of Egypt.

26 I am the Lord your God. You shall not make to yourselves any idol or graven thing: neither shall you erect pillars, nor set up a remarkable stone in your land, to adore it. For I am the 2 Lord your God. Keep my sabbaths, and reverence my sanctuary. I am the Lord. If you walk in my precepts, and keep my 3 commandments, and do them, I will give you rain in due seasons.
4 And the ground shall bring forth its increase: and the trees shall 5 be filled with fruit. The threshing of your harvest shall reach unto the vintage, and the vintage shall reach unto the sowing time: and you shall eat your bread to the full, and dwell in your 6 land without fear. I will give peace in your coasts: you shall sleep, and there shall be none to make you afraid. I will take away evil beasts: and the sword shall not pass through your 7 quarters. You shall pursue your enemies: and they shall fall 8 before you. Five of yours shall pursue a hundred others: and a hundred of you ten thousand. Your enemies shall fall before 9 you by the sword. I will look on you, and make you increase: you shall be multiplied, and I will establish my covenant with 10 you. You shall eat the oldest of the old store: and, new coming 11 on, you shall cast away the old. I will set my tabernacle in the 12 midst of you: and my soul shall not cast you off. I will walk among you, and will be your God: and you shall be my people. I am the Lord your God: who have brought you out of the 13 land of the Egyptians, that you should not serve them: and who have broken the chains of your necks, that you might go upright.
14, 15 But if you will not hear me, nor do all my commandments: If you despise my laws, and contemn my judgments so as not to do those things which are appointed by me, and to make void my 16 covenant: I also will do these things to you. I will quickly visit you with poverty, and burning heat, which shall waste your eyes, and consume your lives. You shall sow your seed in vain, which 17 shall be devoured by your enemies. I will set my face against you, and you shall fall down before your enemies: and shall be made subject to them that hate you. You shall flee when no 18 man pursueth you. But if you will not yet for all this obey me: 19 I will chastise you seven times more for your sins. And I will break the pride of your stubbornness: and I will make to you the 20 heaven above as iron, and the earth as brass. Your labour shall be spent in vain: the ground shall not bring forth her increase:

nor the trees yield their fruit. If you walk contrary to me, and will not hearken to me, I will bring seven times more plagues upon you for your sins. And I will send in upon you the beasts of the field, to destroy you and your cattle, and make you few in number: and that your highways may be desolate. And if even so you will not amend, but will walk contrary to me: I also will walk contrary to you, and will strike you seven times for your sins. And I will bring in upon you the sword that shall avenge my covenant. And when you shall flee into the cities, I will send the pestilence in the midst of you. And you shall be delivered into the hands of your enemies, After I shall have broken the staff of your bread: so that ten women shall bake your bread in one oven, and give it out by weight: and you shall eat, and shall not be filled, But if you will not for all this hearken to me, but will walk against me I will also go against you with opposite fury: and I will chastise you with seven plagues for your sins, So that you shall eat the flesh of your sons and of your daughters. I will destroy your high places, and break your idols. You shall fall among the ruins of your idols, and my soul shall abhor you. Insomuch that I will bring your cities to be a wilderness: and I will make your sanctuaries desolate: and will receive no more your sweet odours. And I will destroy your land: and your enemies shall be astonished at it, when they shall be the inhabitants thereof. And I will scatter you among the Gentiles: and I will draw out the sword after you. And your land shall be desert, and your cities destroyed. Then shall the land enjoy her sabbaths all the days of her desolation. When you shall be In the enemy's land, she shall keep a sabbath, and rest in the sabbaths of her desolation: because she did not rest in your sabbaths, when you dwelt therein. And as to them that shall remain of you I will send fear in their hearts in the countries of their enemies. The sound of a flying leaf shall terrify them: and they shall flee as it were from the sword. They shall fall, when no man pursueth them. And they shall every one fall upon their brethren as fleeing from wars: none of you shall dare to resist your enemies. You shall perish among the Gentiles: and an enemy's land shall consume you. And if of them also some remain, they shall pine away in their iniquities, in the land of their enemies: and they shall be afflicted for the sins of their 40 fathers, and their own. Until they confess their iniquities, and the iniquities of their ancestors, whereby they have transgressed 41 against me, and walked contrary unto me. Therefore I also will walk against them, and bring them into their enemies' land until their uncircumcised mind be ashamed. Then shall they pray for 42 their sins. And I will remember my covenant, that I made with Jacob, and Isaac, and Abraham. I will remember also the land: 43 Which when she shall be left by them, shall enjoy her sabbaths, being desolate for them. But they shall pray for their sins, be-44 cause they rejected my judgments, and despised my laws. And yet for all that when they were in the land of their enemies, I did not cast them off altogether. Neither did I so despise them that they should be quite consumed: and I should make void my 45 covenant with them. For I am the Lord their God. And I will remember my former covenant, when I brought them out of the land of Egypt, in the sight of the Gentiles, to be their God. I am the Lord. These are the judgments, and precepts, and laws, which the Lord gave between him and the children of Israel, in mount Sinai, by the hand of Moses.

27, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to the children of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: The man that shall have made a vow, and promised his soul to God, shall give the price 3 according to estimation. If it be a man from twenty years old unto sixty years old, he shall give fifty sicles of silver, after the 4, 5 weight of the sanctuary: If a woman, thirty. But from the fifth year until the twentieth, a man shall give twenty sicles: a woman 6 ten. From one month until the fifth year, for a male shall be 7 given five sicles: for a female three. A man that is sixty years 8 old or upward, shall give fifteen sicles: a woman ten. If he be poor, and not able to pay the estimation, he shall stand before the priest: and as much as he shall value him at, and see him 9 able to pay, so much shall he give. But a beast that may be 10 sacrificed to the Lord, if any one shall vow, shall be holy, And cannot be changed: that is to say, neither a better for a worse, nor a worse for a better. And if he shall change it: both that which was changed, and that for which it was changed, shall 11 be consecrated to the Lord. An unclean beast, which cannot be sacrificed to the Lord, if any man shall vow, shall be brought 12 before the priest: Who judging whether it be good or bad, shall set the price. Which, if he that offereth it will give, he shall add 13 above the estimation the fifth part. If a man shall vow his house, 14 and sanctify it to the Lord, the priest shall consider it, whether it be good or bad: and it shall be sold according to the price, which he shall appoint. But if he that vowed, will redeem it, he shall 15 give the fifth part of the estimation over and above: and shall have the house. And if he vow the field of his possession, and 16 consecrate it to the Lord, the price shall be rated according to the measure of the seed. If the ground be sown with thirty bushels of barley, let it be sold for fifty sicles of silver. If he vow his field 17 immediately from the year of jubilee that is beginning: as much as it may be worth, at so much it shall be rated. But if some 18 time after, the priest shall reckon the money according to the number of years that remain until the jubilee, and the price shall be abated. And if he that had vowed, will redeem his field, he 19 shall add the fifth part of the money of the estimation, and shall possess it. And if he will not redeem it, but it be sold to any 20 other man, he that vowed it, may not redeem it any more. For when the day of jubilee cometh, it shall be sanctified to the Lord, and as a possession consecrated, pertaineth to the right of the priest. If a field that was bought, and not of a man's ancestors' 22 possession, be sanctified to the Lord: The priest shall reckon 23 the price according to the number of years, unto the jubilee.

And he that had vowed, shall give that to the Lord. But in 24 the jubilee, it shall return to the former owner, who had sold it, and had it in the lot of his possession. All estimation shall 25 be made according to the sicle of the sanctuary. A sicle hath twenty obols. The firstborn, which belong to the Lord, no man 26 may sanctify and vow: whether it be bullock, or sheep, they are the Lord's. And if it be an unclean beast, he that offereth it 27 shall redeem it, according to thy estimation, and shall add the fifth part of the price. If he will not redeem it, it shall be sold to another for how much soever it was estimated by thee. Any 28 thing that is devoted to the Lord, whether it be man, or beast, or field, shall not be sold: neither may it be redeemed. Whatsoever is once consecrated shall be holy of holies to the Lord. And 29 any consecration that is offered by man, shall not be redeemed, but dying shall die. All tithes of the land, whether of corn, or 30 of the fruits of trees, are the Lord's, and are sanctified to him.

31 And if any man will redeem his tithes, he shall add the fifth part 32 of them. Of all the tithes of oxen, and sheep, and goats, that 33 pass under the shepherd's rod, every tenth that cometh shall be sanctified to the Lord. It shall not be chosen neither good nor bad, neither shall it be changed for another. If any man change it: both that which was changed, and that for which it was changed, shall be sanctified to the Lord, and shall not be 34 redeemed. These are the precepts which the Lord commanded Moses for the children of Israel in mount Sinai.

THE FOURTH BOOK OF MOSES, CALLED NUMBERS.

And the Lord spoke to Moses in the desert of Sinai in the 1 tabernacle of the covenant, the first day of the second month, the second year of their going out of Egypt, saying: Take the sum of all the congregation of the 2 children of Israel by their families, and houses, and the names of every one, as many as are of the male sex, From twenty years 3 old and upwards, of all the men of Israel fit for war, and you shall number them by their troops, thou and Aaron. And there shall 4 be with you the princes of the tribes, and of the houses in their kindreds, Whose names are these: Of Ruben, Elisur the son of 5 Sedeur. Of Simeon, Salamiel the son of Surisaddai. Of Juda, 6, 7 Nahasson the son of Aminadab. Of Issachar, Nathanael the son 8 of Suar. Of Zabulon, Eliab the son of Helon. And of the sons of 9, 10 Joseph: of Ephraim, Elisama the son of Ammiud: of Manasses, Gamaliel the son of Phadassur. Of Benjamin, Abidan the son 11 of Gedeon. Of Dan, Ahiezer the son of Ammisaddai. Of Aser, 12, 13 Phegiel the son of Ochran. Of Gad, Eliasaph the son of Duel. 14 Of Nephtali, Ahira the son of Enan. These are the most noble 15, 16 princes of the multitude by their tribes and kindreds, and the chiefs of the army of Israel: Whom Moses and Aaron took with 17 all the multitude of the common people: And assembled them 18 on the first day of the second month, reckoning them up by the kindreds, and houses, and families, and heads, and names of every one from twenty years old and upward, As the Lord had 19 commanded Moses. And they were numbered in the desert of Sinai. Of Ruben the eldest son of Israel, by their generations 20 and families and houses and names of every head, all that were of the male sex, from twenty years old and upward, that were able to go forth to war, Were forty-six thousand five hundred. Of 21, 22 the sons of Simeon by their generations and families, and houses of their kindreds, were reckoned up by the names and heads of every one, all that were of the male sex, from twenty years old and upward, that were able to go forth to war, Fifty-nine thousand three hundred. Of the sons of Gad, by their generations and families and houses of their kindreds were reckoned up by the names of every one from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war, Forty-five thousand six hundred and fifty. Of the sons of Juda, by their generations and families and houses of their kindreds, by the names of every one from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war, Were reckoned up seventy-four thousand six hundred. Of the sons of Issachar, by their generations and families and houses of their kindreds, by the names of every one from twenty years old and upward, all that could go forth to war, Were reckoned up fifty-four thousand four hundred. Of the sons of Zabulon, by the generations and families and houses of their kindreds, were reckoned up by the names of every one from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war, Fifty-seven thousand four hundred. Of the sons of Joseph, namely, of the sons of Ephraim, by the generations and families and houses of their kindreds, were reckoned up by the names of every one, from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war, Forty thousand five hundred. Moreover of the sons of Manasses, by the generations and families and houses of their kindreds, were reckoned up by the names of every one from twenty years old and upward, all that could go forth to war, Thirty-two thousand two hundred. Of the sons of Benjamin, by their generations and families and houses of their kindreds, were reckoned up by the names of every one from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war, Thirty-five thousand four hundred. Of the sons of Dan, by their generations and families and houses of their kindreds, were reckoned up by the names of every one from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war, Sixty-two thousand seven hundred. Of the sons of Aser, by their generations and families and houses of their kindreds, were reckoned up by the names of every one from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war, Forty-one thousand and five hundred. Of the sons of Nephtali, by their generations and families and houses of their kindreds, were reckoned up by the names of every one from twenty years old and upward, were able to go forth to war, Fifty-three thousand four hundred. These are they who were numbered by Moses and Aaron, and the twelve princes of Israel, every one by the houses of their kindreds. And the whole number of the children of Israel by their houses and families, from twenty years old and upward, that were able to go to war, Were six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty men. But the Levites in the tribes of their families were not numbered with them. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Number not the tribe of Levi, neither shalt thou put down the sum of them with the children of Israel: But appoint them over the tabernacle of the testimony, and all the vessels thereof, and whatsoever pertaineth to the ceremonies. They shall carry the tabernacle and all the furniture thereof: and they shall minister, and shall encamp round about the tabernacle. When you are to go forward, the Levites shall take down the tabernacle: when you are to camp, they shall set it up. What stranger soever cometh to it, shall be slain. And the children of Israel shall camp every man by his troops and bands and army. But the Levites shall pitch their tents round about the tabernacle, lest there come indignation upon the multitude of the children of Israel, and they shall keep watch, and guard the tabernacle of the testimony. And the children of Israel did according to all things which the Lord had commanded Moses.

And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: All the children of Israel shall camp by their troops, ensigns, and standards, and the houses of their kindreds, round about the tabernacle of the covenant. On the east Juda shall pitch his tents by the bands of his army: and the prince of his sons; shall be Nahasson the son of Aminadab. And the whole sum of the fighting men of his stock, were seventy-four thousand six hundred. Next unto him they of the tribe of Issachar encamped, whose prince was Nathanael, the son of Suar. And the whole number of his fighting men were fifty-four thousand four hundred. In the tribe of Zabulon the prince was Eliab the son of Helon. And all the army of fighting men of his stock, were fifty-seven thousand four hundred. All that were numbered in the camp of Juda, were a hundred and eighty-six thousand four hundred: and they by 10 their troops shall march first. In the camp of the sons of Ruben, on the south side, the prince shall be Elisur the son of Sedeur: 11 And the whole army of his fighting men, that were numbered, 12 were forty-six thousand five hundred. Beside him camped they of the tribe of Simeon: whose prince was Salamiel the son of 13 Surisaddai. And the whole army of his fighting men, that were 14 numbered, were fifty-nine thousand three hundred. In the tribe 15 of Gad the prince was Eliasaph the son of Duel. And the whole army of his fighting men that were numbered, were forty-five 16 thousand six hundred and fifty. All that were reckoned up in the camp of Ruben, were a hundred and fifty-one thousand four hundred and fifty, by their troops: they shall march in the sec-17 ond place. And the tabernacle of the testimony shall be carried by the officers of the Levites and their troops. As it shall be set up, so shall it be taken down. Every one shall march accord-18 ing to their places, and ranks. On the west side shall be the camp of the sons of Ephraim, whose prince was Elisama the son 19 of Ammiud. The whole army of his fighting men, that were 20 numbered, were forty thousand five hundred. And with them the tribe of the sons of Manasses, whose prince was Gamaliel the 21 son of Phadassur. And the whole army of his fighting men, that 22 were numbered, were thirty-two thousand two hundred. In the tribe of the sons of Benjamin the prince was Abidan the son of 23 Gedeon. And the whole army of fighting men, that were reck-24 oned up, were thirty-five thousand four hundred. All that were numbered in the camp of Ephraim, were a hundred and eight-thousand one hundred by their troops: they shall march in the 25 third place. On the north side camped the sons of Dan: whose 26 prince was Ahiezar the son of Ammisaddai. The whole army of his fighting men, that were numbered, were sixty-two thousand 27 seven hundred. Beside him they of the tribe of Aser pitched 28 their tents: whose prince was Phegiel the son of Ocran. The whole army of his fighting men, that were numbered, were forty-29 one thousand five hundred. Of the tribe of the sons of Nephtali 30 the prince was Ahira the son of Enan. The whole army of his 31 fighting men, were fifty-three thousand four hundred. All that were numbered in the camp of Dan, were a hundred and fifty-32 seven thousand six hundred: and they shall march last. This is the number of the children of Israel, of their army divided according to the houses of their kindreds and their troops, six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty. And the 33 Levites were not numbered among the children of Israel: for so the Lord had commanded Moses. And the children of Israel 34 did according to all things that the Lord had commanded. They camped by their troops, and marched by the families and houses of their fathers.

These are the generations of Aaron and Moses in the day that 3 the Lord spoke to Moses in mount Sinai. And these the names of 2 the sons of Aaron: his firstborn Nadab, then Abiu, and Eleazar, and Ithamar. These the names of the sons of Aaron the priests 3 that were anointed, and whose hands were filled and consecrated, to do the functions of priesthood. Now Nadab and Abiu died, 4 without children, when they offered strange fire before the Lord, in the desert of Sinai: and Eleazar and Ithamar performed the priestly office in the presence of Aaron their father. And the 5 Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Bring the tribe of Levi, and make 6 them stand in the sight of Aaron the priest to minister to him, and let them watch, And observe whatsoever appertaineth to 7 the service of the multitude before the tabernacle of the testimony, And let them keep the vessels of the tabernacle, serving 8 in the ministry thereof. And thou shalt give the Levites for 9 a gift, To Aaron and to his sons, to whom they are delivered 10 by the children of Israel. But thou shalt appoint Aaron and his sons over the service of priesthood. The stranger that approacheth to minister, shall be put to death. And the Lord spoke 11 to Moses, saying: I have taken the Levites from the children 12 of Israel, for every firstborn that openeth the womb among the children of Israel, and the Levites shall be mine. For every first- 13 born is mine: since I struck the firstborn in the land of Egypt: I have sanctified to myself whatsoever is firstborn in Israel both of man and beast, they are mine: I am the Lord. And the Lord 14 spoke to Moses in the desert of Sinai, saying: Number the sons 15 of Levi by the houses of their fathers and their families, every male from one month and upward. Moses numbered them as 16 the Lord had commanded. And there were found sons of Levi 17 by their names, Gerson and Caath Merari. The sons of Ger- 18 son: Lebni and Semei. The sons of Caath: Amram, and Jesaar, 19 Hebron and Oziel: The sons of Merari, Moholi and Musi. Of 20, 21

22 Gerson were two families, the Lebnites, and the Semeites: Of 23 which were numbered, people of the male sex from one month 24 and upward, seven thousand five hundred. These shall pitch 25 behind the tabernacle on the west, Under their prince Eliasaph 26 the son of Lael. And their charge shall be in the tabernacle of the covenant: The tabernacle itself and the cover thereof, the hanging that is drawn before the doors of the tabernacle of the covenant, and the curtains of the court: the hanging also that is hanged in the entry of the court of the tabernacle, and whatsoever belongeth to the rite of the altar, the cords of the tabernacle, 27 and all the furniture thereof. Of the kindred of Caath come the families of the Amramites and Jesaarites and Hebronites and Ozielites. These are the families of the Caathites reckoned up 28 by their names: All of the male sex from one month and upward, eight thousand six hundred: they shall have the guard of 29, 30 the sanctuary, And shall camp on the south side. And their 31 prince shall be Elisaphan the son of Oziel: And they shall keep the ark, and the table and the candlestick, the altars, and the vessels of the sanctuary, wherewith they minister, and the veil, 32 and all the furniture of this kind. And the prince of the princes of the Levites, Eleazar, the son of Aaron the priest, shall be over 33 them that watch for the guard of the sanctuary. And of Merari are the families of the Moholites, and Musites, reckoned up by 34 their names: All of the male kind from one month and upward, 35 six thousand two hundred. Their prince Suriel the son of Abi-36 haiel: their shall camp on the north side. Under their custody shall be the boards of the tabernacle, and the bars, and the pillars and their sockets, and all things that pertain to this kind 37 of service: And the pillars of the court round about with their 38 sockets, and the pins with their cords. Before the tabernacle of the covenant, that is to say on the east side shall Moses and Aaron camp, with their sons, having the custody of the sanctuary, in the midst of the children of Israel. What stranger soever 39 cometh unto it, shall be put to death. All the Levites, that I Moses and Aaron numbered according to the precept of the Lord, by their families, of the male kind from one month and upward, 40 were twenty-two thousand. And the Lord said to Moses: Number the firstborn of the male sex of the children of Israel, from one month and upward, and thou shalt take the sum of them.

And thou shalt take the Levites to me for all the firstborn of 41 the children of Israel, I am the Lord: and their cattle for all the firstborn of the cattle of the children of Israel: Moses reckoned 42 up, as the Lord had commanded, the firstborn of the children of Israel: And the males by their names, from one month and up- 43 ward, were twenty-two thousand two hundred and seventy-three.
And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Take the Levites for the 44, 45 firstborn of the children of Israel, and the cattle of the Levites for their cattle, and the Levites shall be mine. I am the Lord.
But for the price of the two hundred and seventy-three, of the 46 firstborn of the children of Israel, that exceed the number of the Levites, Thou shalt take five sicles for every bead, accord- 47 ing to the weight of the sanctuary. A sicle hath twenty obols.
And thou shalt give the money to Aaron and his sons, the price 48 of them that are above. Moses therefore took the money of 49 them that were above, and whom they had redeemed from the Levites, For the firstborn of the children of Israel, one thousand 50 three hundred and sixty-five sicles, according to the weight of the sanctuary, And gave it to Aaron and his sons according to 51 the word that the Lord had commanded him.

And the Lord spoke to Moses, and Aaron, saying: Take the 4, 2 sum of the sons of Caath from the midst of the Levites, by their houses and families. From thirty years old and upward, to fifty 3 years old, of all that go in to stand and to minister in the tabernacle of the covenant. This is the service of the sons of Caath: 4 When the camp is; to set forward, Aaron and his sons shall go 5 into the tabernacle of the covenant, and the holy of holies, and shall take down the veil that hangeth before the door, and shall 6 wrap up the ark of the testimony in it, And shall cover it again with a cover of violet skins, and shall spread over it a cloth all 6 of violet, and shall put in the bars. They shall wrap up also 7 the table of proposition in a cloth of violet, and shall put with it the censers and little mortars, the cups and bowls to pour out the libations: the loaves shall be always on it: And they shall 8 spread over it a cloth of scarlet, which again they shall cover with a covering of violet skins, and shall put in the bars. They 9 shall take also a cloth of violet wherewith they shall cover the candlestick with the lamps and tongs thereof and the snuffers and all the oil vessels, which are necessary for the dressing of the 10 lamps: And over all they shall put a cover of violet skins and 11 put in the bars. And they shall wrap up the golden altar also in a cloth of violet, and shall spread over it a cover of violet skins, 12 and put in the bars. All the vessels wherewith they minister in the sanctuary, they shall wrap up in a cloth of violet, and shall 13 spread over it a cover of violet skins, and put in the bars. They shall cleanse the altar also from the ashes, and shall wrap it up 14 in a purple cloth, And shall put it with all the vessels that they use in the ministry thereof, that is to say, firepans, fleshhooks and forks, pothooks and shovels. They shall cover all the vessels of the altar together with a covering of violet skins, and shall 15 put in the bars. And when Aaron and his sons have wrapped up the sanctuary and the vessels thereof at the removing of the camp, then shall the sons of Caath enter in to carry the things wrapped up: and they shall not touch the vessels of the sanctuary, lest they die. These are the burdens of the sons of Caath: in 16 the tabernacle of the covenant: And over them shall be Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest, to whose charge pertaineth the oil to dress the lamps, and the sweet incense, and the sacrifice, that is always offered, and the oil of unction, and whatsoever pertaineth to the service of the tabernacle, and of all the vessels 17 that are in the sanctuary. And the Lord spoke to Moses and 18 Aaron, saying: Destroy not the people of Caath from the midst 19 of the Levites: But do this to them, that they may live, and not die, by touching the holies of holies. Aaron and his sons shall go in, and they shall appoint every man his work, and shall 20 divide the burdens that every man is to carry. Let not others by any curiosity see the things that are in the sanctuary before 21 they be wrapped up, otherwise they shall die. And the Lord 22 spoke to Moses, saying: Take the sum of the sons of Gerson also 23 by their houses and families and kindreds. From thirty years old and upward, unto fifty years old. Number them all that go 24 in and minister in the tabernacle of the covenant. This is the 25 office of the family of the Gersonites: To carry the curtains of the tabernacle and the roof of the covenant, the other covering, and the violet covering over all, and the hanging that hangeth 26 in the entry of the tabernacle of the covenant, The curtains of the court, and the veil in the entry that is before tabernacle. All things that pertain to the altar, the cords and the vessels of the ministry, The sons of Gerson shall carry, by the commandment 27 of Aaron and his sons: and each man shall know to what burden he must be assigned. This is the service of the family of the 28 Gersonites in the tabernacle of the covenant, and they shall be under the hand of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest. Thou 29 shalt reckon up the sons of Merari also by the families and houses of their fathers, From thirty years old and upward, unto fifty 30 years old, all that go in to the office of their ministry, and to the service of the covenant of the testimony. These are their 31 burdens: They shall carry the boards of the tabernacle and the bars thereof, the pillars and their sockets, The pillars also of 32 the court round about, with their sockets and pins and cords.

They shall receive by account all the vessels and furniture, and so shall carry them. This is the office of the family of the Mer- 33 arites, and their ministry in the tabernacle of the covenant: and they shall be under the hand of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest. So Moses and Aaron and the princes of the synagogue 34 reckoned up the sons of Caath, by their kindreds and the houses of their fathers, From thirty years old and upward, unto fifty 35 years old, all that go in to the ministry of the tabernacle of the covenant: And they were found two thousand seven hundred 36 and fifty. This is the number of the people of Caath that go in 37 to the tabernacle of the covenant: these did Moses and Aaron number according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses.
The sons of Gerson also were numbered by the kindreds and 38 houses of their fathers, From thirty years old and upward, unto 39 fifty years old, all that go in to minister in the tabernacle of the covenant: And they were found two thousand six hundred 40 and thirty. This is the people of the Gersonites, whom Moses 41 and Aaron numbered according to the word of the Lord. The 42 sons of Merari also were numbered by the kindreds and houses of their fathers, From thirty years old and upward, unto fifty 43 years old, all that go in to fulfil the rites of the tabernacle of the covenant: And they were found three thousand two hun- 44 dred. This is the number of the sons of Merari, whom Moses 45 and Aaron reckoned up according to the commandment of the Lord by the hand of Moses. All that were reckoned up of the 46 Levites, and whom Moses and Aaron and the princes of Israel took by name, by the kindreds and houses of their fathers, From 47 thirty years old and upward, until fifty years old, that go into 48 the ministry of the tabernacle, and to carry the burdens, Were 49 in all eight thousand five hundred and eighty. Moses reckoned them up according to the word of the Lord, every one according to their office and burdens, as the Lord had commanded him.

5, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Command the children of Israel, that they cast out of the camp every leper, and whoso-3 ever hath an issue of seed, or is defiled by the dead: Whether it be man or woman, cast ye them out of the camp, lest they 4 defile it when I shall dwell with you, And the children of Israel did so, and they cast them forth without the camp, as the Lord 5 had spoken to Moses. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: 6 Say to the children of Israel: When a man or woman shall have committed any of all the sins that men are wont to commit, and by negligence shall have transgressed the commandment of the 7 Lord, and offended, They shall confess their sin, and restore the principal itself, and the fifth part over and above, to him against 8 whom they have sinned. But if there be no one to receive it, they shall give it to the Lord, and it shall be the priest's, besides the ram that is offered for expiation, to be an atoning sacrifice.
9 All the firstfruits also, which the children of Israel offer, belong 10 to the priest: And whatsoever is offered into the sanctuary by every one, and is delivered into the hands of the priest, it shall 11, 12 be his. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to the children of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: The man whose 13 wife shall have gone astray, and contemning her husband, Shall have slept with another man, and her husband cannot discover it, but the adultery is secret, and cannot be proved by witnesses, 14 because she was not found in the adultery: If the spirit of jealousy stir up the husband against his wife, who either is defiled, 15 or is charged with false suspicion, He shall bring her to the priest, and shall offer an oblation for her, the tenth part of a measure of barley meal: he shall not pour oil thereon, nor put 16 frankincense upon it: because it is a sacrifice of jealousy, and an oblation searching out adultery. The priest therefore shall offer 17 it, and set it before the Lord. And he shall take holy water in an earthen vessel, and he shall cast a little earth of the pavement of 18 the tabernacle into it. And when the woman shall stand before the Lord, he shall uncover her head, and shall put on her hands the sacrifice of remembrance, and the oblation of jealousy: and he himself shall hold the most bitter waters, whereon he hath heaped curses with execration. And he shall adjure her, and shall say: If another man hath not slept with thee, and if thou be not defiled by forsaking thy husband's bed, these most bitter waters, on which I have heaped curses, shall not hurt thee. But if thou hast gone aside from thy husband, and art defiled, and hast lain with another man: These curses shall light upon thee: The Lord make thee a curse, and an example for all among his people: may he make thy thigh to rot, and may thy belly swell and burst asunder. Let the cursed waters enter into thy belly, and may thy womb swell and thy thigh rot. And the woman shall answer, Amen, amen. And the priest shall write these curses in a book, and shall wash them out with the most bitter waters, upon which he hath heaped the curses, And he shall give them her to drink. And when she hath drunk them up, The priest shall take from her hand the sacrifice of jealousy, and shall elevate it before the Lord, and shall put it upon the altar: yet so as first, To take a handful of the sacrifice of that which is offered, and burn it upon the altar: and so give the most bitter waters to the woman to drink. And when she hath drunk them, if she be defiled, and having despised her husband be guilty of adultery, the malediction shall go through her, and her belly swelling, her thigh shall rot: and the woman shall be a curse, and an example to all the people. But if she be not defiled, she shall not be hurt, and shall bear children. This is the law of jealousy. If a woman hath gone aside from her husband, and be defiled, And the husband stirred up by the spirit of jealousy bring her before the Lord, and the priest do to her according to all things that are here written: The husband shall be blameless, and she shall bear her iniquity.

And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to the children of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: When a man, or woman, shall make a vow to be sanctified, and will consecrate themselves to the Lord: They shall abstain from wine, and from every thing that may make a man drunk. They shall not drink vinegar of wine, or of any other drink, nor any thing that is pressed out of the grape: nor shall they eat grapes either fresh or dried. All the days that they are consecrated to the Lord by vow: they shall eat nothing that cometh of the vineyard, from the raisin even to 5 the kernel. All the time of his separation no razor shall pass over his head, until the day be fulfilled of his consecration to the Lord. He shall be holy, and shall let the hair of his head grow.

6 All the time of his consecration he shall not go in to any dead, 7 Neither shall he make himself unclean, even for his father, or for his mother, or for his brother, or for his sister, when they die, 8 because the consecration of his God is upon his head. All the 9 days of his separation he shall be holy to the Lord. But if any man die suddenly before him: the head of his consecration shall be defiled: and he shall shave it forthwith on the same day of his 10 purification, and again on the seventh day. And on the eighth day he shall bring two turtles, or two young pigeons to the priest 11 in the entry of the covenant of the testimony. And the priest shall offer one for sin, and the other for a holocaust, and shall pray for him, for that he hath sinned by the dead: and he shall 12 sanctify his head that day: And shall consecrate to the Lord the days of his separation, offering a lamb of one year for sin: yet so that the former days be made void, because his sanctification was 13 profaned. This is the law of consecration. When the days which he had determined by vow shall be expired, he shall bring him to 14 the door of the tabernacle of the covenant, And shall offer his oblation to the Lord: one he lamb of a year old without blemish for a holocaust, and one ewe lamb of a year old without blemish for a sin offering, and one ram without blemish for a victim of 15 peace offering, A basket also of unleavened bread, tempered with oil, and wafers without leaven anointed with oil, and the 16 libations of each: And the priest shall present them before the Lord, and shall offer both the sin offering and the holocaust.
17 But the ram he shall immolate for a sacrifice of peace offering to the Lord, offering at the same time the basket of unleavened 18 bread, and the libations that are due by custom. Then shall the hair of the consecration of the Nazarite, be shaved off before the door of the tabernacle of the covenant: and he shall take his hair, and lay it upon the fire, which is under the sacrifice of the peace 19 offerings. And shall take the boiled shoulder of the ram, and one unleavened cake out of the basket, and one unleavened wafer, and he shall deliver them into the hands of the Nazarite, after 20 his head is shaven. And receiving them again from him, he shall elevate them in the sight of the Lord: and they being sanctified shall belong to the priest, as the breast, which was commanded to be separated, and the shoulder. After this the Nazarite may drink wine. This is the law of the Nazarite, when he hath vowed his oblation to the Lord in the time of his consecration, besides those things which his hand shall find, according to that which he had vowed in his mind, so shall he do for the fulfilling of his sanctification. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Say to Aaron and his sons: Thus shall you bless the children of Israel, and you shall say to them: The Lord bless thee, and keep thee. The Lord shew his face to thee, and have mercy on thee. The Lord turn his countenance to thee, and give thee peace. And they shall invoke my name upon the children of Israel, and I will bless them.

And it came to pass in the day that Moses had finished the tabernacle, and set it up, and had anointed and sanctified it with all its vessels, the altar likewise and all the vessels thereof. The princes of Israel and the heads of the families, in every tribe, who were the rulers of them who had been numbered, offered their gifts before the Lord, six wagons covered, and twelve oxen. Two princes offered one wagon, and each one an ox, and they offered them before the tabernacle. And the Lord said to Moses: Receive them from them to serve in the ministry of the tabernacle, and thou shalt deliver them to the Levites according to the order of their ministry. Moses therefore receiving the wagons and the oxen, delivered them to the Levites. Two wagons and four oxen he gave to the sons of Gerson, according to their necessity. The other four wagons, and eight oxen he gave to the sons of Merari, according to their offices and service, under the hand of Ithamar the son of Aaron the priest. But to the sons of Caath he gave no wagons or oxen: because they serve in the sanctuary and carry their burdens upon their own shoulders. And the princes offered for the dedication of the altar on the day when it was anointed, their oblation before the altar. And the Lord said to Moses: Let each of the princes one day after another offer their gifts for the dedication of the altar. The first day Nahasson the son of Aminadab of the tribe of Juda offered his offering: And his offering was a silver dish weighing one hundred and thirty sicles, a silver bowl of seventy sicles according to the weight of 88 old, and their libations: twelve buck goats for sin. And for sacrifices of peace offerings, oxen twenty-four, rams sixty, buck goats sixty, lambs of a year old sixty. These things were offered in the dedication of the altar, when it was anointed. And when 89 Moses entered into the tabernacle of the covenant, to consult the oracle, he heard the voice of one speaking to him from the propitiation, that is over the ark between the two cherubims, and from this place he spoke to him.

And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to Aaron, and 8, 2 thou shalt say to him: When thou shalt place the seven lamps, let the candlestick be set up on the south side. Give orders therefore that the lamps look over against the north, towards the table of the loaves of proposition, over against that part shall they give light, towards which the candlestick looketh. And Aaron did 3 so, and he put the lamps upon the candlestick, as the Lord had commanded Moses. Now this was the work of the candlestick, 4 it was of beaten gold, both the shaft in the middle, and all that came out of both sides of the branches: according to the pattern which the Lord had shewn to Moses, so he made the candlestick.
And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Take the Levites out of 5, 6 the midst of the children of Israel, and thou shalt purify them, According to this rite: Let them be sprinkled with the water of 7 purification, and let them shave all the hairs of their flesh. And when they shall have washed their garments, and are cleansed, They shall take an ox of the herd, and for the offering thereof 8 fine flour tempered with oil: and thou shalt take another ox of the herd for a sin offering: And thou shalt bring the Levites 9 before the tabernacle of the covenant, calling together all the multitude of the children of Israel: And when the Levites are 10 before the Lord, the children of Israel shall put their hands upon them: And Aaron shall offer the Levites, as a gift in the sight of 11 the Lord from the children of Israel, that they may serve in his ministry. The Levites also shall put their hands upon the heads 12 of the oxen, of which thou shalt sacrifice one for sin, and the other for a holocaust to the Lord, to pray for them. And thou 13 shalt set the Levites in the sight of Aaron and of his, and shalt consecrate them being offered to the Lord, And shalt separate 14 them from the midst of the children of Israel, to be mine. And 15 afterwards they shall enter into the tabernacle of the covenant, to serve me. And thus shalt thou purify and consecrate them for an oblation of the Lord: for as a gift they were given me by the children of Israel. I have taken them instead of the firstborn 16 17 that open every womb in Israel, For all the firstborn of the children of Israel, both of men and of beasts, are mine. From the day that I slew every firstborn in the land of Egypt, have I 18 sanctified them to myself: And I have taken the Levites for all 19 the firstborn of the children of Israel: And have delivered them for a gift to Aaron and his sons out of the midst of the people, to serve me for Israel in the tabernacle of the covenant, and to pray for them, lest there should be a plague among the people, 20 if they should presume to approach unto my sanctuary. And Moses and Aaron and all the multitude of the children of Israel did with the Levites all that the Lord had commanded Moses 21 And they were purified, and washed their garments. And Aaron lifted them up in the sight of the Lord, and prayed for them, 22 That being purified they might go into the tabernacle of the covenant to do their services before Aaron and his sons. As the Lord had commanded Moses touching the Levites, so was it 23, 24 done. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: This is the law of the Levites: From twenty-five years old and upwards, they shall 25 go in to minister in the tabernacle of the covenant. And when they shall have accomplished the fiftieth year of their age, they 26 shall cease to serve: And they shall be the ministers of their brethren in the tabernacle of the covenant, to keep the things that are committed to their care, but not to do the works. Thus shalt thou order the Levites touching their charge.

9 The Lord spoke to Moses in the desert of Sinai, the second year after they were come out of the land of Egypt, in the first 2 month, saying: Let the children of Israel make the phase in 3 its due time, The fourteenth day of this month in the evening, 4 according to all the ceremonies and justifications thereof. And Moses commanded the children of Israel that they should make 5 the phase. And they made it in its proper time: the fourteenth day of the month at evening, in mount Sinai. The children of Israel did according to all things that the Lord had commanded 6 Moses. But behold some who were unclean by occasion of the soul of a man, who could not make the phase on that day, coming 7 to Moses and Aaron, Said to them: We are unclean by occasion of the soul of a man. Why are we kept back that we may not offer in its season the offering to the Lord among the children 8 of Israel? And Moses answered them: Stay that I may consult the Lord what he will ordain concerning you. And the Lord 9 spoke to Moses, saying: Say to the children of Israel: The man 10 that shall be unclean by occasion of one that is dead, or shall be in a journey afar off in your nation, let him make the phase to the Lord. In the second month, on the fourteenth day of the 11 month in the evening, they shall eat it with unleavened bread and wild lettuce: They shall not leave any thing thereof until 12 morning, nor break a bone thereof, they shall observe all the ceremonies of the phase. But if any man is clean, and was not 13 on a journey, and did not make the phase, that soul shall be cut off from among his people, because he offered not sacrifice to the Lord in due season: he shall bear his sin. The sojourner also 14 and the stranger if they be among you, shall make the phase to the Lord according to the ceremonies and justifications thereof.

The same ordinances shall be with you both for the stranger, and for him that was born in the land. Now on the day that 15 the tabernacle was reared up, a cloud covered it. But from the evening there was over the tabernacle, as it were, the appearance of fire until the morning. So it was always: by day the 16 cloud covered it, and by night as it were the appearance of fire.
And when the cloud that covered the tabernacle was taken up, 17 then the children of Israel marched forward: and in the place where the cloud stood still, there they camped. At the com- 18 mandment of the Lord they marched, and at his commandment they pitched the tabernacle. All the days that the cloud abode over the tabernacle, they remained in the same place: And if 19 it was so that it continued over it a long time, the children of Israel kept the watches of the Lord, and marched not, For as 20 many days soever as the cloud stayed over the tabernacle. At the commandment of the Lord they pitched their tents, and at his commandment they took them down. If the cloud tarried 21 from evening until morning, and immediately at break of day left the tabernacle, they marched forward: and if it departed after a day and a night, they took down their tents. But if it remained 22 over the tabernacle for two days or a month or a longer time, the children of Israel remained in the same place, and marched not: but immediately as soon as it departed, they removed the camp. By the word of the Lord they pitched their tents, and 23 by his word they marched: and kept the watches of the Lord according to his commandment by the hand of Moses.

10, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Make thee two trumpets of beaten silver, wherewith thou mayest call together the 3 multitude when the camp is to be removed. And when thou shalt sound the trumpets, all the multitude shall gather unto 4 thee to the door of the tabernacle of the covenant. If thou sound but once, the princes and the heads of the multitude of 5 Israel shall come to thee. But if the sound of the trumpets be longer, and with interruptions, they that are on the east side, 6 shall first go forward. And at the second sounding and like noise of the trumpet, they who lie on the south side shall take up their tents. And after this manner shall the rest do, when 7 the trumpets shall sound for a march. But when the people is to be gathered together, the sound of the trumpets shall be 8 plain, and they shall not make a broken sound. And the sons of Aaron the priest shall sound the trumpets: and this shall be 9 an ordinance for ever in your generations. If you go forth to war out of your land against the enemies that fight against you, you shall sound aloud with the trumpets, and there shall be a remembrance of you before the Lord your God, that you may 10 be delivered out of the hands of your enemies. If at any time you shall have a banquet, and on your festival days, and on the first days of your months, you shall sound the trumpets over the holocausts, and the sacrifices of peace offerings, that they may be to you for a remembrance of your God. I am the Lord your 11 God. The second year, in the second month, the twentieth day of the month, the cloud was taken up from the tabernacle of the 12 covenant. And the children of Israel marched by their troops from the desert of Sinai, and the cloud rested in the wilderness of 13 Pharan. And the first went forward according to the commandment of the Lord by the hand of Moses. The sons of Juda by their troops: whose prince was Nahasson the son of Aminadab.
14 In the tribe of the sons of Issachar, the prince was Nathanael the son of Suar. In the tribe of Zabulon, the prince was Eliab the 15 son of Helon. And the tabernacle was taken down, and the sons of Gerson and Merari set forward, bearing it. And the sons of 16 Ruben also marched, by their troops and ranks, whose prince was Helisur the son of Sedeur. And in the tribe of Simeon, the 17 prince was Salamiel the son of Surisaddai. And in the tribe 18 19 20 of Gad, the prince was Eliasaph the son of Duel. Then the 21 Caathites also marched carrying the sanctuary. So long was the tabernacle carried, till they came to the place of setting it up.

The sons of Ephraim also moved their camp by their troops, in 22 whose army the prince was Elisama the son of Ammiud. And 23 in the tribe of the sons of Manasses, the prince was Gamaliel the son of Phadassur. And in the tribe of Benjamin, the prince was 24 Abidan the son of Gedeon. The last of all the camp marched 25 the sons of Dan by their troops, in whose army the prince was Ahiezer the son of Ammisaddai. And in the tribe of the sons 26 of Aser, the prince was Phegiel the son of Ochron. And in the 27 tribe of the sons of Nephtali, the prince was Ahira the son of Enan. This was the order of the camps, and marches of the 28 children of Israel by their troops, when they set forward. And 29 Moses said to Hobab the son of Raguel the Madianite, his kinsman: We are going towards the place which the Lord will give us: come with us, that we may do thee good: for the Lord hath promised good things to Israel. But he answered him: I will 30 not go with thee, but I will return to my country, wherein I was born. And he said: Do not leave us: for thou knowest in what 31 places we should encamp in the wilderness, and thou shalt be our guide. And if thou comest with us, we will give thee what 32 is the best of the riches which the Lord shall deliver to us. So 33 they marched from the mount of the Lord three days' journey, and the ark of the covenant of the Lord went before them, for three days providing a place for the camp. The cloud also of the 34 Lord was over them by day when they marched. And when the 35 ark was lifted up, Moses said: Arise, O Lord, and let thy enemies be scattered, and let them that hate thee, flee from before thy face. And when it was set down, he said: Return, O Lord, to 36 the multitude of the host of Israel.

In the mean time there arose a murmuring of the people 11 against the Lord, as it were repining at their fatigue. And when the Lord heard it he was angry. And the fire of the Lord being kindled against them, devoured them that were at the uttermost part of the camp. And when the people cried to Moses, Moses 2 prayed to the Lord, and the fire was swallowed up. And he 3 called the name of that place, The burning: for that the fire of the Lord had been kindled against them. For a mixt multitude 4 of people, that came up with them, burned with desire, sitting and weeping, the children of Israel also being joined with them, and said: Who shall give us flesh to eat? We remember the fish that we ate in Egypt free cost: the cucumbers come into our mind, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlic. Our soul is dry, our eyes behold nothing else but manna. Now the manna was like coriander seed, of the colour of bdellium. And the people went about, and gathering it, ground it in a mill, or beat it in a mortar, and boiled it in a pot, and made cakes thereof of the taste of bread tempered with oil. And when the dew fell in the night upon the camp, the manna also fell with it. Now Moses heard the people weeping by their families, every one at the door of his tent. And the wrath of the Lord was exceedingly enkindled: to Moses also the thing seemed insupportable. And he said to the Lord: Why hast thou afflicted thy servant? Wherefore do I not find favour before thee? And why hast thou laid the weight of all this people upon me? Have I conceived all this multitude, or begotten them, that thou shouldst say to me: Carry them in thy bosom as the nurse is wont to carry the little infant, and bear them into the land, for which thou hast sworn to their fathers? Whence should I have flesh to give to so great a multitude? They weep against me, saying: Give us flesh that we may eat. I am not able alone to bear all this people, because it is too heavy for me. But if it seem unto thee otherwise, I beseech thee to kill me, and let me find grace in thy eyes, that I be not afflicted with so great evils. And the Lord said to Moses: Gather unto me seventy men of the ancients of Israel, whom thou knowest to be ancients and masters of the people: and thou shalt bring them to the door of the tabernacle of the covenant, and shalt make them stand there with thee, That I may come down and speak with thee: and I will take of thy spirit, and will give to them, that they may bear with thee the burden of the people, and thou mayest not be burthened alone. And thou shalt say to the people: Be ye sanctified: to morrow you shall eat flesh: for I have heard you say: Who will give us flesh to eat? It was well with us in Egypt. That the Lord may give you flesh, and you may eat: Not for one day, nor two, nor five, nor ten, nor for twenty. But even for a month of days, till it come out at your nostrils, and become loathsome to you, because you have cast off the Lord, who is in the midst of you, and have wept before him, saying: Why came we out of Egypt? And Moses said: There are six hundred thousand footmen of this people, and sayest thou: I will give them flesh to eat a whole month? Shall then a multitude of sheep and oxen be killed, that it may suffice for their food? or shall the fishes of the sea be gathered together to fill them? And the Lord answered him: Is the hand of the Lord unable? Thou shalt presently see whether my word shall come to pass or no. Moses therefore came, and told the people the words of the Lord, and assembled seventy men of the ancients of Israel, and made them to stand about the tabernacle. And the Lord came down in a cloud, and spoke to him, taking away of the spirit that was in Moses, and giving to the seventy men. And when the spirit had rested on them they prophesied, nor did they cease afterwards. Now there remained in the camp two of the men, of whom one was called Eldad, and the other Medad, upon whom the spirit rested; for they also had been enrolled, but were not gone forth to the tabernacle. And when they prophesied in the camp, there ran a young man, and told Moses, saying: Eldad and Medad prophesy in the camp. Forthwith Josue the son of Nun, the minister of Moses, and chosen out of many, said: My lord Moses forbid them. But he said: Why hast thou emulation for me? O that all the people might prophesy, and that the Lord would give them his spirit! And Moses returned, with the ancients of Israel, into the camp. And a wind going out from the Lord, taking quails up beyond the sea brought them, and cast them into the camp for the space of one day's journey, on every side of the camp round about, and they flew in the air two cubits high above the ground. The people therefore rising up all that day, and night, and the next day, gathered together of quails, he that did least, ten cores: and they dried them round about the camp. As yet the flesh was between their teeth, neither had that kind of meat failed: when behold the wrath of the Lord being provoked against the people, struck them with an exceeding great plague. And that place was called, The graves of lust: for there they buried the people that had lusted. And departing from the graves of lust, they came unto Haseroth, and abode there.

12 And Mary and Aaron spoke against Moses, because of his wife 2 the Ethiopian, And they said: Hath the Lord spoken by Moses only? Hath he not also spoken to us in like manner? And when 3 the Lord heard this, (For Moses was a man exceeding meek 4 above all men that dwelt upon earth) Immediately he spoke to him, and to Aaron and Mary: Come out you three only to the 5 tabernacle of the covenant. And when they were come out, The Lord came down in a pillar of the cloud, and stood in the entry of the tabernacle calling to Aaron and Mary. And when they 6 were come, He said to them: Hear my words: if there be among you a prophet of the Lord, I will appear to him in a vision, or I 7 will speak to him in a dream. But it is not so with my servant 8 Moses who is most faithful in all my house: For I speak to him mouth to mouth: and plainly, and not by riddles and figures doth he see the Lord. Why then were you not afraid to speak 9 ill of my servant Moses? And being angry with them he went 10 away: The cloud also that was over the tabernacle departed: and behold Mary appeared white as snow with a leprosy. And when Aaron had looked on her, and saw her all covered with 11 leprosy, He said to Moses: I beseech thee, my lord, lay not 12 upon us this sin, which we have foolishly committed: Let her not be as one dead, and as an abortive that is cast forth from the mother's womb. Lo, now one half of her flesh is consumed 13 with the leprosy. And Moses cried to the Lord, saying O God, 14 I beseech thee heal her. And the Lord answered him: If her father had spitten upon her face, ought she not to have been ashamed for seven days at least? Let her be separated seven days without the camp, and afterwards she shall be called again.
15 Mary therefore was put out of the camp seven days: and the people moved not from that place until Mary was called again.

13 And the people marched from Haseroth, and pitched their 2 tents in the desert of Pharan. And there the Lord spoke to 3 Moses, saying. Send men to view the land of Chanaan, which I will give to the children of Israel, one of every tribe, of the 4 rulers. Moses did what the Lord had commanded, sending from 5 the desert of Pharan, principal men, whose names are these: Of 6 the tribe of Ruben, Sammua the son of Zechur. Of the tribe of 7 Simeon, Saphat the son of Huri. Of the tribe of Juda, Caleb 8 the son of Jephone. Of the tribe of Issachar, Igal the son of Joseph. Of the tribe of Ephraim, Osee the son of Nun. Of 9, 10 the tribe of Benjamin, Phalti the son of Raphu. Of the tribe 11 of Zabulon, Geddiel the son of Sodi. Of the tribe of Joseph, of 12 the sceptre of Manasses, Gaddi the son of Susi. Of the tribe of 13 Dan, Ammiel the son of Gemalli. Of the tribe of Aser, Sthur 14 the son of Michael. Of the tribe of Nephtali, Nahabi the son 15 of Vapsi. Of the tribe of Gad, Guel the son of Machi. These 16, 17 are the names of the men, whom Moses sent to view the land: and he called Osee the son of Nun, Josue. And Moses sent 18 them to view the land of Chanaan, and said to them: Go you up by the south side. And when you shall come to the mountains, View the land, of what sort it is, and the people that are the 19 inhabitants thereof, whether they be strong or weak: few in number or many: The land itself, whether it be good or bad: 20 what manner of cities, walled or without walls: The ground, 21 fat or barren, woody or without trees. Be of good courage, and bring us of the fruits of the land. Now it was the time when the firstripe grapes are fit to be eaten. And when they were gone 22 up, they viewed the land from the desert of Sin, unto Rohob as you enter into Emath. And they went up at the south side, and 23 came to Hebron, where were Achiman and Sisai and Tholmai the sons of Enac. For Hebron was built seven years before Tanis the city of Egypt. And forward as far as the torrent of the cluster of 24 grapes, they cut off a branch with its cluster of grapes, which two men carried upon a lever. They took also of the pomegranates and of the figs of that place: Which was called Nehelescol, that 25 is to say, the torrent of the cluster of grapes, because from thence the children of Israel had carried a cluster of grapes. And they 26 that went to spy out the land returned after forty days, having gone round all the country, And came to Moses and Aaron 27 and to all the assembly of the children of Israel to the desert of Pharan, which is in Cades. And speaking to them and to all the multitude, they shewed them the fruits of the land: And they 28 related and said: We came into the land to which thou sentest us, which in very deed floweth with milk and honey as may be known by these fruits: But it hath very strong inhabitants, and 29 the cities are great and walled. We saw there the race of Enac.

Amalec dwelleth in the south, the Hethite and the Jebusite and 30 the Amorrhite in the mountains: but the Chanaanite abideth by 31 the sea and near the streams of the Jordan. In the mean time Caleb, to still the murmuring of the people that rose against Moses, said: Let us go up and possess the land, for we shall be 32 able to conquer it. But the others, that had been with him, said: No, we are not able to go up to this people, because they 33 are stronger than we. And they spoke ill of the land, which they had viewed, before the children of Israel, saying: The land which we have viewed, devoureth its inhabitants: the people, that we 34 beheld are of a tall stature. There we saw certain monsters of the sons of Enac, of the giant kind: in comparison of whom, we seemed like locusts.

14, 2 Therefore the whole multitude crying wept that night. And all the children of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron, 3 saying: Would God that we had died in Egypt: and would God we may die in this vast wilderness, and that the Lord may not bring us into this land, lest we fall by the sword, and our wives and children be led away captives. Is it not better to return 4 into Egypt? And they said one to another: Let us appoint a 5 captain, and let us return into Egypt. And when Moses and Aaron heard this, they fell down flat upon the ground before the 6 multitude of the children of Israel. But Josue the son of Nun, and Caleb the son of Jephone, who themselves also had viewed 7 the land, rent their garments, And said to all the multitude of the children of Israel: The land which we have gone round 8 is very good: If the Lord be favourable, he will bring us into 9 it, and give us a land flowing with milk and honey. Be not rebellious against the Lord: and fear ye not the people of this land, for we are able to eat them up as bread. All aid is gone 10 from them: the Lord is with us, fear ye not. And when all the multitude cried out, and would have stoned them, the glory of the Lord appeared over the tabernacle of the covenant to 11 all the children of Israel. And the Lord said to Moses: How long will this people detract me? how long will they not believe 12 me for all the signs that I have wrought before them? I will strike them therefore with pestilence, and will consume them: but thee I will make a ruler over a great nation, and a mightier 13 than this is. And Moses said to the Lord: That the Egyptians, from the midst of whom thou hast brought forth this people, 14 And the inhabitants of this land, (who have heard that thou, O Lord, art among this people, and art seen face to face, and thy cloud protecteth them, and thou goest before them in a pillar of a cloud by day, and in a pillar of fire by night,) May hear 15 that thou hast killed so great a multitude as it were one man and may say: He could not bring the people into the land for 16 which he had sworn, therefore did he kill them in the wilderness. Let then the strength of the Lord be magnified, as thou hast 17 sworn, saying: The Lord is patient and full of mercy, by taking 18 away iniquity and wickedness, and leaving no man clear, who visitest the sins of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation. Forgive, I beseech thee, the sins of this 19 people, according to the greatness of thy mercy, as thou hast been merciful to them from their going out of Egypt unto this place. And the Lord said: I have forgiven according to thy word. 20 As I live: and the whole earth shall be filled with the glory of the Lord. But yet all the men that have seen my majesty, and 21 the signs that I have done in Egypt, and in the wilderness, and have tempted me now ten times, and have not obeyed my voice, Shall not see the land for which I swore to their fathers, neither 23 shall any one of them that hath detracted me behold it. My servant Caleb, who being full of another spirit hath followed me, I will bring into this land which he hath gone round: and his seed shall possess it. For the Amalecite and the Chanaanite 25 dwell in the valleys. To morrow remove the camp, and return into the wilderness by the way of the Red Sea. And the Lord 26 spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: How long doth this wicked multitude murmur against me? I have heard the murmurings of 27 the children of Israel. Say therefore to them: As I live, saith the Lord: According as you have spoken in my hearing, so will I do to you. In the wilderness shall your carcasses lie. All you 29 that were numbered from twenty years old and upward, and have murmured against me, Shall not enter into the land, over which 30 I lifted up my hand to make you dwell therein, except Caleb the son of Jephone, and Josue the son of Nun. But your children, of 31 whom you said, that they should be a prey to the enemies, will I bring in: that they may see the land which you have despised. Your carcasses shall lie in the wilderness. Your children shall 32, 33 wander in the desert forty years, and shall bear your fornication, until the carcasses of their fathers be consumed in the desert, 34 According to the number of the forty days, wherein you viewed the land: a year shall be counted for a day. And forty years you 35 shall receive your iniquities, and shall know my revenge: For as I have spoken, so will I do to all this wicked multitude, that hath risen up together against me: in this wilderness shall it 36 faint away and die. Therefore all the men, whom Moses had sent to view the land, and who at their return had made the whole multitude to murmur against him, speaking ill of the land 37 that it was naught, Died and were struck in the sight of the 38 Lord. But Josue the son of Nun, and Caleb had gone to view 39 the land. And Moses spoke all these words to all the children of 40 Israel, and the people mourned exceedingly. And behold rising up very early in the morning, they went up to the top of the mountain, and said: We are ready to go up to the place, of which 41 the Lord hath spoken: for we have sinned. And Moses said to them: Why transgress you the word of the Lord, which shall not 42 succeed prosperously with you? Go not up, for the Lord is not 43 with you: lest you fall before your enemies. The Amalecite and the Chanaanite are before you, and by their sword you shall fall, because you would not consent to the Lord, neither will the Lord 44 be with you. But they being blinded went up to the top of the mountain. But the ark of the testament of the Lord and Moses 45 departed not from the camp. And the Amalecite came down, and the Chanaanite that dwelt in the mountain: and smiting and slaying them pursued them as far as Horma.

15, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to the children of Israel and thou shalt say to them: When you shall be come 3 unto the land of your habitation, which I will give you, And shall make an offering to the Lord, for a holocaust, or a victim, paying your vows, or voluntarily offering gifts, or in your solemnities burning a sweet savour unto the Lord, of oxen or of sheep: 4 Whosoever immolateth the victim, shall offer a sacrifice of fine flour, the tenth part of an ephi, tempered with the fourth part 5 of a hin of oil: And he shall give the same measure of wine to pour out in libations for the holocaust or for the victim. For 6 every lamb, And for every ram there shall be a sacrifice of flour of two tenths, which shall be tempered with the third part of a 7 hin of oil: And he shall offer the third part the same measure of 8 wine for the libation, for a sweet savour to the Lord. But when thou offerest a holocaust or sacrifice of oxen, to fulfil thy vow or for victims of peace offerings, Thou shalt give for every ox three 9 tenths of flour tempered with half a hin of oil, And wine for liba- 10 tions of the same measure, for an offering of most sweet savour to the Lord. Thus shalt thou do For every ox and ram and lamb 11, 12 and kid. Both they that are born in the land, and the strangers 13 Shall offer sacrifices after the same rite. There shall be all one 14, 15 law and judgment both for you and for them who are strangers in the land. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak 16, 17 to the children of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: When 18 you are come into the land which I will give you, And shall 19 eat of the bread of that country, you shall separate firstfruits to the Lord, Of the things you eat. As you separate firstfruits of 20 your barnfloors: So also shall you give firstfruits of your dough 21 to the Lord. And if through ignorance you omit any of these 22 things, which the Lord hath spoken to Moses, And by him hath 23 commanded you from the day that he began to command and thenceforward, And the multitude have forgotten to do it: they 24 shall offer a calf out of the herd, a holocaust for a most sweet savour to the Lord, and the sacrifice and libations thereof, as the ceremonies require, and a buck goat for sin: And the priest 25 shall pray for all the multitude of the children of Israel: and it shall be forgiven them, because they sinned ignorantly, offering notwithstanding a burnt offering to the Lord for themselves and for their sin and their Ignorance: And it shall be forgiven all the 26 people of the children of Israel: and the strangers that sojourn among them: because it is the fault of all the people through ignorance. But if one soul shall sin ignorantly, he shall offer a 27 she goat of a year old for his sin. And the priest shall pray for 28 him, because he sinned ignorantly before the Lord: and he shall obtain his pardon, and it shall be forgiven him. The same law 29 shall be for all that sin by ignorance, whether they be natives or strangers. But the soul that committeth any thing through 30 pride, whether he be born in the land or a stranger (because he hath been rebellious against the Lord) shall be cut off from among his people: For he hath contemned the word of the Lord, 31 and made void his precept: therefore shall he be destroyed, and shall bear his iniquity. And it came to pass, when the children 32 of Israel were in the wilderness, and had found a man gather-33 ing sticks on the sabbath day, That they brought him to Moses 34 and Aaron and the whole multitude. And they put him into 35 prison, not knowing what they should do with him. And the Lord said to Moses: Let that man die, let all the multitude stone 36 him without the camp. And when they had brought him out, 37 they stoned him, and he died as the Lord had commanded. The 38 Lord also said to Moses: Speak to the children of Israel, and thou shalt tell them to make to themselves fringes in the corners 39 of their garments, putting in them ribands of blue: That when they shall see them, they may remember all the commandments 40 of the Lord, and not follow their own thoughts and eyes going astray after divers things, But rather being mindful of the pre-41 cepts of the Lord, may do them and be holy to their God. I am the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, that I might be your God.

16 And behold Core the son of Isaar, the son of Caath, the son of Levi, and Dathan and Abiron the sons of Eliab, and Hon the son 2 of Pheleth of the children of Ruben, Rose up against Moses, and with them two hundred and fifty others of the children of Israel, leading men of the synagogue, and who in the time of assembly 3 were called by name. And when they had stood up against Moses and Aaron, they said: Let it be enough for you, that all the multitude consisteth of holy ones, and the Lord is among them: Why lift you up yourselves above the people of the Lord?
4, 5 When Moses heard this, he fell flat on his face: And speaking to Core and all the multitude, he said: In the morning the Lord will make known who belong to him, and the holy he will join to himself: and whom he shall choose, they shall approach to 6 him. Do this therefore: Take every man of you your censers, 7 thou Core, and all thy company. And putting fire in them to morrow, put incense upon it before the Lord: and whomsoever he shall choose, the same shall be holy: you take too much upon 8 you, ye sons of Levi. And he said again to Core: Hear ye sons 9 of Levi. Is it a small thing unto you, that the God of Israel hath spared you from all the people, and joined you to himself, that you should serve him in the service of the tabernacle, and should stand before the congregation of the people, and should minister 10 to him? Did he therefore make thee and all thy brethren the sons of Levi to approach unto him, that you should challenge to yourselves the priesthood also, And that all thy company 11 should stand against the Lord? for what is Aaron that you murmur against him? Then Moses sent to call Dathan and 12 Abiron the sons of Eliab. But they answered: We will not come.

Is it a small matter to thee, that thou hast brought us out of a 13 land that flowed with milk and honey, to kill us in the desert, except thou rule also like a lord over us? Thou hast brought 14 us indeed into a land that floweth with rivers of milk and honey, and hast given us possessions of fields and vineyards; wilt thou also pull out our eyes? We will not come. Moses therefore being 15 very angry, said to the Lord: Respect not their sacrifices: thou knowest that I have not taken of them so much as a young ass at any time, nor have injured any of them. And he said to Core: 16 Do thou and thy congregation stand apart before the Lord to morrow, and Aaron apart. Take every one of you censers, and 17 put incense upon them, offering to the Lord two hundred and fifty censers: let Aaron also hold his censer. When they had 18 done this, Moses and Aaron standing, And had drawn up all 19 the multitude against them to the door of the tabernacle, the glory of the Lord appeared to them all. And the Lord speaking 20 to Moses and Aaron, said: Separate yourselves from among this congregation, that I may presently destroy them. They fell flat 22 on their face, and said: O most mighty, the God of the spirits of all flesh, for one man's sin shall thy wrath rage against all? And 23 the Lord said to Moses: Command the whole people to separate themselves from the tents of Core and Dathan and Abiron. And 25 Moses arose, and went to Dathan and Abiron: and the ancients of Israel following him, He said to the multitude: Depart from 26 the tents of these wicked men, and touch nothing of theirs, lest you be involved in their sins. And when they were departed 27 from their tents round about, Dathan and Abiron coming out stood in the entry of their pavilions with their wives and children, and all the people. And Moses said: By this you shall know that 28 the Lord hath sent me to do all things that you see, and that I have not forged them of my own head: If these men die the 29 common death of men, and if they be visited with a plague, wherewith others also are wont to be visited, the Lord did not send me. But if the Lord do a new thing, and the earth opening 30 her mouth swallow them down, and all things that belong to them, and they go down alive into hell, you shall know that 31 they have blasphemed the Lord. And immediately as he had made an end of speaking, the earth broke asunder under their 32 feet: And opening her mouth, devoured them with their tents 33 and all their substance. And they went down alive into hell, the ground closing upon them, and they perished from among 34 the people. But all Israel, that was standing round about, fled at the cry of them that were perishing: saying: Lest perhaps 35 the earth swallow us up also. And a fire coming out from the Lord, destroyed the two hundred and fifty men that offered the 36, 37 incense. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Command Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest to take up the censers that lie in the burning, and to scatter the fire of one side and the other: 38 because they are sanctified In the deaths of the sinners: and let him beat them into plates, and fasten them to the altar, because incense hath been offered in them to the Lord, and they are sanctified, that the children of Israel may see them for a sign and 39 a memorial. Then Eleazar the priest took the brazen censers, wherein they had offered, whom the burning fire had devoured, 40 and beat them into plates, fastening them to the altar: That the children of Israel might have for the time to come wherewith they should be admonished, that no stranger or any one that is not of the seed of Aaron should come near to offer incense to the Lord, lest he should suffer as Core suffered, and all his congregation, 41 according as the Lord spoke to Moses. The following day all the multitude of the children of Israel murmured against Moses and 42 Aaron, saying: You have killed the people of the Lord. And 43 when there arose a sedition, and the tumult increased, Moses and Aaron fled to the tabernacle of the covenant. And when they were gone into it, the cloud covered it, and the glory of the Lord 44, 45 appeared. And the Lord said to Moses: Get you out from the midst of this multitude, this moment will I destroy them. And 46 as they were lying on the ground, Moses said to Aaron: Take the censer, and putting fire in it from the altar, put incense upon it, and go quickly to the people to pray for them: for already 47 wrath is gone out from the Lord, and the plague rageth. When Aaron had done this, and had run to the midst of the multitude which the burning fire was now destroying, he offered the incense: 48 And standing between the dead and the living, he prayed for the people, and the plague ceased. And the number of them 49 that were slain was fourteen thousand and seven hundred men, besides them that had perished in the sedition of Core. And 50 Aaron returned to Moses to the door of the tabernacle of the covenant after the destruction was over.

And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Speak to the children 17, 2 of Israel, and take of every one of them a rod by their kindreds, of all the princes of the tribes, twelve rods, and write the name of every man upon his rod. And the name of Aaron shall be for the 3 tribe of Levi, and one rod shall contain all their families: And 4 thou shalt lay them up in the tabernacle of the covenant before the testimony, where I will speak to thee. Whomsoever of these 5 I shall choose, his rod shall blossom: and I will make to cease from me the murmurings of the children of Israel, wherewith 6 they murmur against you. And Moses spoke to the children 6 of Israel: and all the princes gave him rods one for every tribe: and there were twelve rods besides the rod of Aaron. And when 7 Moses had Laid them up before the Lord in the tabernacle of the testimony: He returned on the following day, and found that 8 the rod of Aaron for the house of Levi, was budded: and that the buds swelling it hid bloomed blossoms, which spreading the leaves, were formed into almonds. Moses therefore brought out 9 all the rods from before the Lord to all the children of Israel: and they saw, and every one received their rods. And the Lord 10 said to Moses: Carry back the rod of Aaron into the tabernacle of the testimony, that it may be kept there for a token of the rebellious children of Israel, and that their complaints may cease from me lest they die. And Moses did as the Lord had 11 commanded. And the children of Israel said to Moses: Behold 12 we are consumed, we all perish. Whosoever approacheth to the 13 tabernacle of the Lord, he dieth. Are we all to a man to be utterly destroyed?

And the Lord said to Aaron: Thou, and thy sons, and thy 18 father's house with thee shall bear the iniquity of the sanctuary: and thou and thy sons with thee shall bear the sins of your priesthood. And take with thee thy brethren also of the tribe 2 of Levi, and the sceptre of thy father, and let them be ready in hand, and minister to thee: but thou and thy sons shall minister in the tabernacle of the testimony. And the Levites shall watch 3 to do thy commands, and about all the works of the tabernacle: only they shall not come nigh the vessels of the sanctuary nor the 4 altar, lest both they die, and you also perish with them. But let them be with thee, and watch in the charge of the tabernacle, and in all the ceremonies thereof. A stranger shall not join himself 5 with you. Watch ye in the charge of the sanctuary, and in the ministry of the altar: lest indignation rise upon the children of 6 Israel. I have given you your brethren the Levites from among the children of Israel, and have delivered them for a gift to the 7 Lord, to serve in the ministries of the tabernacle. But thou and thy sons look ye to the priesthood: and all things that pertain to the service of the altar, and that are within the veil, shall be executed by the priests. If any stranger shall approach, he shall 8 be slain. And the Lord said to Aaron: Behold I have given thee the charge of my firstfruits. All things that are sanctified by the children of Israel, I have delivered to thee and to thy sons for the 9 priestly office, by everlasting ordinances. These therefore shalt thou take of the things that are sanctified, and are offered to the Lord. Every offering, and sacrifice, and whatsoever is rendered to me for sin and for trespass, and becometh holy of holies, shall 10 be for thee and thy sons. Thou shalt eat it in the sanctuary: the males only shall eat thereof, because it is a consecrated thing to 11 thee. But the firstfruits, which the children of Israel shall vow and offer, I have given to thee, and to thy sons, and to thy daughters, by a perpetual law. He that is clean in thy house, 12 shall eat them. All the best of the oil, and of the wine, and of the corn, whatsoever firstfruits they offer to the Lord, I have given them to thee. All the firstripe of the fruits, that the ground bringeth forth, and which are brought to the Lord, shall be for thy use: he that is clean in thy house, shall eat them.

13 Every thing that the children of Israel shall give by vow, shall be 14 thine. Whatsoever is firstborn of all flesh, which they offer to the Lord, whether it be of men, or of beasts, shall belong to thee: only for the firstborn of man thou shalt take a price, and every 15 beast that is unclean thou shalt cause to be redeemed, And the redemption of it shall be after one month, for five sicles of silver, 16 by the weight of the sanctuary. A sicle hath twenty obols. But the firstling of a cow, and of a sheep and of a goat thou shalt not cause to be redeemed, because they are sanctified to the Lord.

Their blood only thou shalt pour upon the altar, and their fat thou shalt burn for a most sweet odour to the Lord. But the flesh shall fall to thy use, as the consecrated breast, and the right shoulder shall be thine. All the firstfruits of the sanctuary which the children of Israel offer to the Lord, I have given to thee and to thy sons and daughters, by a perpetual ordinance. It is a covenant of salt for ever before the Lord, to thee and to thy sons. And the Lord said to Aaron: You shall possess nothing in their land, neither shall you have a portion among them: I am thy portion and inheritance in the midst of the children of Israel. And I have given to the sons of Levi all the tithes of Israel for a possession, for the ministry wherewith they serve me in the tabernacle of the covenant: That the children of Israel may not approach any more to the tabernacle, nor commit deadly sin, But only the sons of Levi may serve me in the tabernacle, and bear the sins of the people. It shall be an everlasting ordinance in your generations. They shall not possess any other thing, But be content with the oblation or tithes, which I have separated for their uses and necessities. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Command the Levites, and declare unto them: When you shall receive of the children of Israel the tithes, which I have given you, offer the firstfruits of them to the Lord, that is to say, the tenth part of the tenth: That it may be reckoned to you as an oblation of firstfruits, as well of the barnfloors as of the winepresses: And of all the things of which you receive tithes, offer the firstfruits to the Lord, and give them to Aaron the priest. All the things that you shall offer of the tithes, and shall separate for the gifts of the Lord, shall be the best and choicest things. And thou shalt say to them: If you offer all the goodly and the better things of the tithes, it shall be reckoned to you as if you had given the firstfruits of the barnfloor and the winepress: And you shall eat them in all your places, both you and your families: because it is your reward for the ministry, wherewith you serve in the tabernacle of the testimony. And you shall not sin in this point, by reserving the choicest and fat things to yourselves, lest you profane the oblations of the children of Israel, and die.

And the Lord spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: This is the observance of the victim, which the Lord hath ordained. 19, 2

Command the children of Israel, that they bring unto thee a red cow of full age, in which there is no blemish, and which hath 3 not carried the yoke: And you shall deliver her to Eleazar the priest, who shall bring her forth without the camp, and shall 4 immolate her in the sight of all: And dipping his finger in her blood, shall sprinkle it over against the door of the tabernacle 5 seven times, And shall burn her in the sight of all delivering up to the fire her skin, and her flesh, and her blood, and her 6 dung. The priest shall also take cedar wood, and hyssop, and scarlet twice dyed, and cast it into the flame, with which the 7 cow is consumed. And then after washing his garments, and body, he shall enter into the camp, and shall be unclean until the 8 evening. He also that hath burned her, shall wash his garments, and his body, and shall be unclean until the evening. And a 9 man that is clean shall gather up the ashes of the cow, and shall pour them forth without the camp in a most clean place, that they may be reserved for the multitude of the children of 10 Israel, and for a water of aspersion: because the cow was burnt for sin. And when he that carried the ashes of the cow, hath washed his garments, he shall be unclean until the evening. The 11 children of Israel, and the strangers that dwell among them, shall observe this for a holy thing by a perpetual ordinance. He that toucheth the corpse of a man, and is therefore unclean seven 12 days, Shall be sprinkled with this water on the third day, and on the seventh, and so shall be cleansed. If he were not sprinkled 13 on the third day, he cannot be cleansed on the seventh. Every one that toucheth the corpse of a man, and is not sprinkled with this mixture, shall profane the tabernacle of the Lord, and shall perish out of Israel: because he was not sprinkled with the water of expiation, he shall be unclean, and his uncleanness 14 shall remain upon him. This is the law of a man that dieth in a tent: All that go into his tent and all the vessels that are there, shall be unclean seven days. The vessel that hath no cover, nor 15 binding over it, shall be unclean. If any man in the field touch the corpse of a man that was slain, or that died of himself, or his 16 bone, or his grave, he shall be unclean seven days. And they shall take of the ashes of the burning and of the sin offering, 17 and shall pour living waters upon them into a vessel. And a man that is clean shall dip hyssop in them, and shall sprinkle therewith all the tent, and all the furniture, and the men that are defiled with touching any such thing: And in this manner 19 he that is clean shall purify the unclean on the third and on the seventh day. And being expiated the seventh day, he shall wash both himself and his garments, and be unclean until the evening.

If any man be not expiated after this rite, his soul shall perish 20 out of the midst of the church: because he hath profaned the sanctuary of the Lord, and was not sprinkled with the water of purification. This precept shall be an ordinance for ever. He 21 also that sprinkled the water, shall wash his garments. Every one that shall touch the waters of expiation, shall be unclean until the evening. Whatsoever a person toucheth who is unclean, he 22 shall make it unclean: and the person that toucheth any of these things, shall be unclean until the evening.

And the children of Israel, and all the multitude came into 20 the desert of Sin, in the first month: and the people abode in Cades. And Mary died there, and was buried in the same place.
And the people wanting water, came together against Moses and 2 Aaron: And making a sedition, they said: Would God we had 3 perished among our brethren before the Lord. Why have you 4 brought out the church of the Lord into the wilderness, that both we and our cattle should die? Why have you made us come 5 up out of Egypt, and have brought us into this wretched place which cannot be sowed, nor bringeth forth figs, nor vines, nor pomegranates, neither is there any water to drink? And Moses 6 and Aaron leaving the multitude, went into the tabernacle of the covenant, and fell flat upon the ground, and cried to the Lord, and said. O Lord God, hear the cry of this people, and open to them thy treasure, a fountain of living water, that being satisfied, they may cease to murmur. And the glory of the Lord appeared over them. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Take the rod, 7, 8 and assemble the people together, thou and Aaron thy brother, and speak to the rock before them, and it shall yield waters.
And when thou hast brought forth water out of the rock, all the multitude and their cattle shall drink. Moses therefore took 9 the rod, which was before the Lord, as he had commanded him, And having gathered together the multitude before the rock, he 10 said to them: Hear, ye rebellious and incredulous: Can we bring you forth water out of this rock? And when Moses had lifted 11 up his hand, and struck the rock twice with the rod, there came forth water in great abundance, so that the people and their 12 cattle drank, And the Lord said to Moses and Aaron: Because you have not believed me, to sanctify me before the children of Israel, you shall not bring these people into the land, which I 13 will give them. This is the Water of contradiction, where the children of Israel strove with words against the Lord, and he was 14 sanctified in them. In the mean time Moses sent messengers from Cades to the king of Edom, to say: Thus saith thy brother 15 Israel: Thou knowest all the labour that hath come upon us: In what manner our fathers went down into Egypt, and there we dwelt a long time, and the Egyptians afflicted us and our fathers.

16 And how we cried to the Lord, and he heard us, and sent an angel, who hath brought us out of Egypt. Lo, we are now in the 17 city of Cades, which is in the uttermost of thy borders, And we beseech thee that we may have leave to pass through thy country. We will not go through the fields, nor through the vineyards, we will not drink the waters of thy wells, but we will go by the common highway, neither turning aside to the right hand, nor 18 to the left, till we are past thy borders. And Edom answered them: Thou shalt not pass by me: if thou dost I will come out 19 armed against thee. And the children of Israel said: We will go by the beaten way: and if we and our cattle drink of thy waters, we will give thee what is just: there shall be no difficulty 20 in the price, only let us pass speedily. But he answered: Thou shalt not pass. And immediately he came forth to meet them 21 with an infinite multitude, and a strong hand, Neither would he condescend to their desire to grant them passage through his 22 borders. Wherefore Israel turned another way from him. And when they had removed the camp from Cades, they came to 23 mount Hor, which is in the borders of the land of Edom: Where the Lord spoke to Moses: Let Aaron, saith he, go to his people: for he shall not go into the land which I have given the children 24 of Israel, because he was incredulous to my words, at the waters of contradiction. Take Aaron and his son with him, and bring 25 them up into mount Hor: And when thou hast stripped the father of his vesture, thou shalt vest therewith Eleazar his son: 26 Aaron shall be gathered to his people, and die there. Moses did as the Lord had commanded: and they went up into mount

Hor before all the multitude. And when he had stripped Aaron 28 of his vestments, he vested Eleazar his son with them. And 29 Aaron being dead in the top of the mountain, he came down with Eleazar. And all the multitude seeing that Aaron was 30 dead, mourned for him thirty days throughout all their families.

And when king Arad the Chanaanite, who dwelt towards the 21 south, had heard this, to wit, that Israel was come by the way of the spies, he fought against them, and overcoming them carried off their spoils. But Israel binding himself by vow to the 2 Lord, said: If thou wilt deliver thus people into my hand, I will utterly destroy their cities. And the Lord heard the prayers 3 of Israel, and delivered up the Chanaanite, and they cut them off and destroyed their cities: and they called the name of that 4 place Horma, that is to say, Anathema. And they marched 4 from mount Hor, by the way that leadeth to the Red Sea, to compass the land of Edom. And the people began to be weary of their journey and labour: And speaking against God and 5 Moses, they said: Why didst thou bring us out of Egypt, to die in the wilderness? There is no bread, nor have we any waters: our soul now loatheth this very light food. Wherefore the 6 Lord sent among the people fiery serpents, which bit them and killed many of them. Upon which they came to Moses, and 7 said; We have sinned, because we have spoken against the Lord and thee: pray that he may take away these serpents from us.
And Moses prayed for the people. And the Lord said to him: 8 Make a brazen serpent, and set it up for a sign: whosoever being struck shall look on it, shall live. Moses therefore made a 9 brazen serpent, and set it up for a sign: which when they that were bitten looked upon, they were healed. And the children 10 of Israel setting forwards camped in Oboth. And departing thence they pitched their tents in Jeabarim, in the wilderness, 11 that faceth Moab toward the east. And removing from thence, 12 they came to the torrent Zared: Which they left and encamped 13 over against Arnon, which is in the desert and standeth out on the borders of the Amorrhite. For Arnon is the border of Moab, dividing the Moabites and the Amorrhites. Wherefore it is said 14 in the book of the wars of the Lord: As he did in the Red Sea, so will he do in the streams of Arnon. The rocks of the torrents 15 were bowed down that they might rest in Ar, and lie down in 16 the borders of the Moabites. When they went from that place, the well appeared whereof the Lord said to Moses: Gather the 17 people together, and I will give them water. Then Israel sung 18 this song: Let the well spring up. They sung thereto: The well, which the princes dug, and the chiefs of the people prepared by the direction of the lawgiver, and with their staves. And they 19 marched from the wilderness to Mathana. From Mathana unto 20 Nahaliel: from Nahaliel unto Bamoth. From Bamoth, is a valley in the country of Moab, to the top of Phasga, which looked 21 towards the desert. And Israel sent messengers to Sehon king of 22 the Amorrhites, saying: I beseech thee that I may have leave to pass through thy land: we will not go aside into the fields or the vineyards, we will not drink waters of the wells, we will go the 23 king's highway, till we be past thy borders. And he would not grant that Israel should pass by his borders: but rather gathering an army, went forth to meet them in the desert, and came 24 to Jasa and fought against them. And he was slain by them with the edge of the sword, and they possessed his land from the Arnon unto the Jeboc, and to the confines of the children of Ammon: for the borders of the Ammonites, were kept with a strong 25 garrison. So Israel took all his cities, and dwelt in the cities of the Amorrhite, to wit, in Hesebon, and in the villages thereof.

26 Hesebon was the city of Sehon the king of the Amorrhites, who fought against the king of Moab: and took all the land, that 27 had been of his dominion, as far as the Arnon. Therefore it is said in the proverb: Come into Hesebon, let the city of Sehon be 28 built and set up: A fire is gone out of Hesebon, a flame from the city of Sehon, and hath consumed Ar of the Moabites, and 29 the inhabitants of the high places of the Arnon. Woe to thee Moab: thou art undone, O people of Chamos. He hath given his sons to flight, and his daughters into captivity to Sehon the king 30 of the Amorrhites. Their yoke is perished from Hesebon unto 31 Dibon, they came weary to Nophe, and unto Medaba. So Israel 32 dwelt in the land of the Amorrhite. And Moses sent some to take a view of Jazer: and they took the villages of it, and con-33 quered the inhabitants. And they turned themselves, and went up by the way of Basan, and Og the king of Basan came against 34 them with all his people, to fight in Edrai. And the Lord said to Moses: Fear him not, for I have delivered him and all his people, and his country into thy hand: and thou shalt do to him as thou didst to Sehon the king of the Amorrhites, the inhabitant of Hesebon. So they slew him also with his sons, and all his people, not letting any one escape, and they possessed his land. 35

And they went forward and encamped in the plains of Moab, 22 over against where Jericho is situate beyond the Jordan. And Balac the son of Sephor, seeing all that Israel had done to the Amorrhite, And that the Moabites were in great fear of him, 2 and were not able to sustain his assault, He said to the elders of Madian: So will this people destroy all that dwell in our borders, 3 and as the ox is wont to eat the grass to the very roots. Now he was at that time king in Moab. He sent therefore messengers to 4 Balaam the son of Beor, a soothsayer, who dwelt by the river of the land of the children of Ammon, to call him, and to say: Behold a people is come out of Egypt, that hath covered the face of the earth, sitting over against me. Come therefore, and curse 6 this people, because it is mightier than I: if by any means I may beat them and drive them out of my land: for I know that he whom thou shalt bless is blessed, and he whom thou shalt curse is cursed. And the ancients of Moab, and the elders of Madian, 7 went with the price of divination in their hands. And where they were come to Balaam, and had told him all the words of Balac: He answered: Tarry here this night and I will answer whatsoever 8 the Lord shall say to me. And while they stayed with Balaam, God came and said to him: What mean these men that are 9 with thee? He answered: Balac the son of Sephor king of the Moabites hath sent to me, Saying: Behold a people that is come 11 out of Egypt, hath covered the face of the land: come and curse them, if by any means I may fight with them and drive them away. And God said to Balaam: Thou shalt not go with them, 12 nor shalt thou curse the people: because it is blessed. And he rose in the morning and said to the princes: Go into your 13 country, because the Lord hath forbid me to come with you. The princes returning, said to Balac: Balaam would not come 14 with us. Then he sent many more and more noble than he had sent before: Who, when they were come to Balaam, said: Thus 16 saith Balac the son of Sephor, Delay not to come to me: For I am ready to honour thee, and will give thee whatsoever thou wilt: come and curse this people. Balaam answered: If Balac 18 would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot alter the 19 word of the Lord my God, to speak either more or less. I pray you to stay here this night also, that I may know what the Lord 20 will answer me once more. God therefore came to Balaam in the night, and said to him: If these men be come to call thee, arise and go with them: yet so, that thou do what I shall command 21 thee. Balaam arose in the morning, and saddling his ass went 22 with them. And God was angry. And an angel of the Lord stood in the way against Balaam, who sat on the ass, and had 23 two servants with him. The ass seeing the angel standing in the way, with a drawn sword, turned herself out of the way, and went into the field. And when Balaam beat her, and had a mind to 24 bring her again to the way, The angel stood in a narrow place 25 between two walls, wherewith the vineyards were enclosed. And the ass seeing him, thrust herself close to the wall, and bruised 26 the foot of the rider. But he beat her again: And nevertheless the angel going on to a narrow place, where there was no way to turn aside either to the right hand or to the left, stood to 27 meet him. And when the ass saw the angel standing, she fell under the feet of the rider: who being angry beat her sides more 28 vehemently with a staff. And the Lord opened the mouth of the ass, and she said: What have I done to thee? Why strikest 29 thou me, lo, now this third time? Balaam answered: Because thou hast deserved it, and hast served me ill: I would I had a 30 sword that I might kill thee. The ass said: Am not I thy beast, on which thou hast been always accustomed to ride until this present day? tell me if I ever did the like thing to thee. But he 31 said: Never. Forthwith the Lord opened the eyes of Balaam, and he saw the angel standing in the way with a drawn sword, 32 and he worshipped him falling flat on the ground. And the angel said to him: Why beatest thou thy ass these three times?

I am come to withstand thee, because thy way is perverse, and 33 contrary to me: And unless the ass had turned out of the way, giving place to me who stood against thee, I had slain thee, and 34 she should have lived. Balaam said: I have sinned, not knowing that thou didst stand against me: and now if it displease thee 35 that I go, I will return. The angel said: Go with these men, and see thou speak no other thing than what I shall command thee.
36 He went therefore with the princes. And when Balac heard it he came forth to meet him in a town of the Moabites, that is situate in the uttermost borders of Arnon. And he said to 37 Balaam: I sent messengers to call thee, why didst thou not come immediately to me? was it because I am not able to reward thy coming? He answered him: Lo, here I am: shall I have power 38 to speak any other thing but that which God shall put in my mouth? So they went on together, and came into a city, that 39 was in the uttermost borders of his kingdom. And when Balac 40 had killed oxen and sheep, he sent presents to Balaam, and to the princes that were with him. And when morning was come, 41 he brought him to the high places of Baal, and he beheld the uttermost part of the people.

And Balaam said to Balac: Build me here seven altars, and 23 prepare as many calves, and the same number of rams. And 2 when he had done according to the word of Balaam, they laid together a calf and a ram upon every altar. And Balaam said 3 to Balac: Stand a while by thy burnt offering, until I go, to see if perhaps the Lord will meet me, and whatsoever he shall command, I will speak to thee. And when he was gone with 4 speed, God met him. And Balaam speaking to him, said: I have erected seven altars, and have laid on everyone a calf and a ram. And the Lord put the word in his mouth, and said: 5 Return to Balac, and thus shalt thou speak. Returning he found 6 Balac standing by his burnt offering, with all the princes of the Moabites: And taking up his parable, he said: Balac king of the 7 Moabites hath brought me from Aram, from the mountains of the east: Come, said he, and curse Jacob: make haste and detest Israel. How shall I curse him, whom God hath not cursed? By 8 what means should I detest him, whom the Lord detesteth not?
I shall see him from the tops of the rocks, and shall consider him 9 from the hills. This people shall dwell alone, and shall not be reckoned among the nations. Who can count the dust of Jacob, 10 and know the number of the stock of Israel? Let my soul die the death of the just, and my last end be like to them. And 11 Balac said to Balaam: What is this that thou dost? I sent for thee to curse my enemies: and thou contrariwise blessest them.
He answered him: Can I speak any thing else but what the Lord 12 commandeth? Balac therefore said: Come with me to another 13 place from whence thou mayest see part of Israel, and canst 14 not see them all: curse them from thence. And when he had brought him to a high place, upon the top of mount Phasga, Balaam built seven altars, and laying on every one a calf and a 15 ram, He said to Balac: Stand here by thy burnt offering while I 16 go to meet him. And when the Lord had met him, and had put the word in his mouth, he said: Return to Balac, and thus shalt 17 thou say to him. Returning he found him standing by his burnt sacrifice, and the princes of the Moabites with him. And Balac 18 said to him: What hath the Lord spoken? But he taking up his parable, said: Stand, O Balac, and give ear: hear, thou son of 19 Sephor: God is not a man, that he should lie, nor is the son of man, that he should be changed. Hath he said then, and will he 20 not do? hath he spoken, and will he not fulfil? I was brought 21 to bless, the blessing I am not able to hinder. There is no idol in Jacob, neither is there an image god to be seen in Israel. The Lord his God is with him, and the sound of the victory of 22 the king in him. God hath brought him out of Egypt, whose strength is like to the rhinoceros. There is no soothsaying in 23 Jacob, nor divination in Israel. In their times it shall be told to Jacob and to Israel what God hath wrought. Behold the people 24 shall rise up as a lioness, and shall lift itself up as a lion: it shall not lie down till it devour the prey, and drink the blood of the 25 slain. And Balac said to Balaam: Neither curse, nor bless him. And he said: Did I not tell thee, that whatsoever God should 26 command me, that I would do? And Balac said to him: Come and I will bring thee to another place; if peradventure it please 27 God that thou mayest curse them from thence. And when he had brought him upon the top of mount Phogor, which looketh 28 towards the wilderness, Balaam said to him: Build me here seven altars, and prepare as many calves, and the same number 29 of rams. Balac did as Balaam had said: and he laid on every altar, a calf and a ram.

30 24 And when Balaam saw that it pleased the Lord that he should bless Israel, he went not as he had gone before, to seek divination: but setting his face towards the desert, And lifting up his 2 eyes, he saw Israel abiding in their tents by their tribes: and 3 the spirit of God rushing upon him, He took up his parable and said: Balaam the son of Beor hath said: The man hath 4 said, whose eye is stopped up: The bearer of the words of God hath said, he that hath beheld the vision of the Almighty, he that falleth, and so his eyes are opened: How beautiful are thy tabernacles O Jacob, and thy tents, O Israel! As woody valleys, as watered gardens near the rivers, as tabernacles which the Lord hath pitched, as cedars by the waterside. Water shall flow out of his bucket, and his seed shall be in many waters. For Agag his king shall be removed, and his kingdom shall be taken away. God hath brought him out of Egypt, whose strength is like to the rhinoceros. They shall devour the nations that are his enemies, and break their bones, and pierce them with arrows.

Lying down he hath slept as a lion, and as a lioness, whom none shall dare to rouse. He that blesseth thee, shall also himself be blessed: he that curseth thee shall be reckoned accursed. And Balac being angry against Balaam, clapped his hands together and said: I called thee to curse my enemies, and thou on the contrary hast blessed them three times. Return to thy place.
I had determined indeed greatly to honour thee, but the Lord hath deprived thee of the honour designed for thee. Balaam made answer to Balac: Did I not say to thy messengers, whom thou sentest to me: If Balac would give me his house full of silver and gold, I cannot go beyond the word of the Lord my God, to utter any thing of my own head either good or evil: but whatsoever the Lord shall say, that I will speak? But yet going to my people, I will give thee counsel, what this people shall do to thy people in the latter days. Therefore taking up his parable, again he said: Balaam the son of Beor hath said: The man whose eye is stopped up, hath said: The hearer of the words of God hath said, who knoweth the doctrine of the Highest, and seeth the visions of the Almighty, who falling hath his eyes opened: I shall see him, but not now: I shall behold him, but not near. A STAR SHALL RISE out of Jacob and a sceptre shall spring up from Israel: and shall strike the chiefs of Moab, and shall waste all the children of Seth. And he shall possess Idumea: the inheritance of Seir shall come to their enemies, but Israel shall do manfully. Out of Jacob shall he come that shall rule, and shall destroy the remains of the city. And when he saw Amalec, he took up his parable, and said: Amalec the beginning of nations, whose latter ends shall be destroyed. He saw also the Cinite: and took up his parable, and said: Thy habitation 22 indeed is strong: but though thou build thy nest in a rock, And thou be chosen of the stock of Cin, how long shalt thou be able 23 to continue? For Assur shall take thee captive. And taking up his parable, again he said: Alas, who shall live when God shall 24 do these things? They shall come in galleys from Italy, they shall overcome the Assyrians, and shall waste the Hebrews, and 25 at the last they themselves also shall perish. And Balaam rose, and returned to his place: Balac also returned the way that he came.

25 And Israel at that time abode in Settim, and the people committed fornication with the daughters of Moab, Who called them to their sacrifices. And they ate of them, and adored their 3 gods. And Israel was initiated to Beelphegor: upon which the 4 Lord being angry, Said to Moses: Take all the princes of the people, and hang them up on gibbets against the sun: that my 5 fury may be turned away from Israel. And Moses said to the judges of Israel: Let every man kill his neighbours, that have 6 been initiated to Beelphegor. And behold one of the children of Israel went in before his brethren to a harlot of Madian, in the sight of Moses and of all the children of Israel, who were weeping 7 before the door of the tabernacle. And when Phinees the son of Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest saw it, he rose up from the 8 midst of the multitude, and taking a dagger, Went in after the Israelite into the brothel house, and thrust both of them through together, to wit, the man and the woman in the genital parts.
9 And the scourge ceased from the children of Israel. And there 10 were slain four and twenty thousand men. And the Lord said to 11 Moses: Phinees the son of Eleazar the son of Aaron the priest, hath turned away my wrath from the children of Israel: because he was moved with my zeal against them, that I myself might 12 not destroy the children of Israel in my zeal. Therefore say 13 to him: behold I give him the peace of my covenant, And the covenant of the priesthood for ever shall be both to him and his seed, because he hath been zealous for his God, and hath made 14 atonement for the wickedness of the children of Israel. And the name of the Israelite, that was slain with the woman of Madian, was Zambri the son of Salu, a prince of the kindred and tribe of 15 Simeon. And the Madianite woman, that was slain with him, was called Cozbi the daughter of Sur, a most noble prince among the Madianites. And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Let the Madianites find you their enemies, and slay you them: Because they also have acted like enemies against you, and have guilefully deceived you by the idol Phogor, and Cozbi their sister, a daughter of a prince of Madian, who was slain in the day of the plague for the sacrilege of Phogor. 16, 17 18

After the blood of the guilty was shed, the Lord said to Moses and to Eleazar the son of Aaron, the priest: Number the whole sum of the children of Israel from twenty years old and upward, by their houses and kindreds, all that are able to go forth to war. Moses therefore and Eleazar the priest, being in the plains of Moab upon the Jordan over against Jericho, spoke to them that were From twenty years old and upward, as the Lord had commanded: and this is the number of them: Ruben the first-born of Israel. His sons were Henoch, of whom is the family of the Henochites: and Phallu, of whom is the family of the Phaluites: And Hesron, of whom is the family of the Hesronites: and Charmi, of whom is the family of the Charmites. These are the families of the stock of Ruben: whose number was found to be forty-three thousand seven hundred and thirty. The son of Phallu was Eliab. His sons, were Namuel and Dathan and Abiron. These are Dathan and Abiron the princes of the people, that rose against Moses and Aaron in the sedition of Core, when they rebelled against the Lord: And the earth opening her mouth swallowed up Core, many others dying, when the fire burned two hundred and fifty men. the families of Juda, of which the whole number was seventy-six 23 thousand five hundred. The sons of Issachar, by their kindreds:

sons: Jezer, of whom is the family of the Jezerites: and Helec, the family of the Asrielites: and Sechem, of whom is the family 32 of the Sechemites: And Semida, of whom is the family of the Semidaites: and Hepher, of whom is the family of the Hopherites.

33 And Hepher was the father of Salphaad, who had no sons, but only daughters, whose names are these: Maala, and Noa, and 34 Hegla, and Melcha, and Thersa. These are the families of Manasses, and the number of them fifty-two thousand seven hundred.
35 And the sons of Ephraim by their kindreds were these: Suthala, of whom is the family of the Suthalaites: Becher, of whom is the family of the Becherites: Thehen, of whom is the family of 36 the Thehenites. Now the son of Suthala was Heran, of whom is 37 the family of the Heranites. These are the kindreds of the sons of Ephraim: whose number was thirty-two thousand five hun-38 dred. These are the sons of Joseph by their families. The sons

All were Suhamites, whose number was sixty-four thousand four 43 hundred. The sons of Aser by their kindreds: Jemna, of whom 44 is the family of the Jemnaites: Jessui, of whom is the family of the Jessuites: Brie, of whom is the family of the Brieites. The 45 sons of Brie: Heber, of whom is the family of the Heberites: and are the kindreds of the sons of Nephtali by their families: whose number was forty-five thousand four hundred. This is the sum 51 of the children of Israel, that were reckoned up, six hundred and one thousand seven hundred and thirty. And the Lord spoke 52 to Moses, saying: To these shall the land be divided for their 53 possessions according to the number of names. To the greater 54 number thou shalt give a greater portion, and to the fewer a less: to every one, as they have now been reckoned up, shall 55 a possession be delivered: Yet so that by lot the land be di- 56 vided to the tribe and families. Whatsoever shall fall by lot, that shall be taken by the more, or the fewer. This also is the 57 number of the sons of Levi by their families: Gerson, of whom is the family of the Gersonites: Caath, of whom is the family of the Caathites: Merari, of whom is the family of the Merarites.

These are the families of Levi: The family of Lobni, the family of 58 Hebroni, the family of Core. Now Caath begot Amram: Who 59 had to wife Jochabed the daughter of Levi, who was born to him in Egypt. She bore to her husband Amram sons, Aaron and Moses, and Mary their sister. Of Aaron were born Nadab and 60

61 Abiu, and Eleazar and Ithamar: Of whom Nadab and Abiu died, when they had offered the strange fire before the Lord.
62 And all that were numbered, were twenty-three thousand males from one month old and upward: for they were not reckoned up among the children of Israel, neither was a possession given to 63 them with the rest. This is the number of the children of Israel, that were enrolled by Moses and Eleazar the priest, in the plains 64 of Moab upon the Jordan, over against Jericho. Among whom there was not one of them that were numbered before by Moses 65 and Aaron in the desert of Sinai. For the Lord had foretold that they should die in the wilderness. And none remained of them, but Caleb the son of Jephone, and Josue the son of Nun.

27 Then came the daughters of Salphaad, the son of Hephher, the son of Galaad, the son of Machir, the son of Manasses, who was the son of Joseph: and their names are Maala, and Noa, and 2 Hegla, and Melcha, and Thersa. And they stood before Moses and Eleazar the priest, and all the princes of the people at the 3 door of the tabernacle of the covenant, and said: Our father died in the desert, and was not in the sedition, that was raised against the Lord under Core, but he died in his own sin: and he had no male children. Why is his name taken away out of his family, because he had no son? Give us a possession among the 4 kinsmen of our father. And Moses referred their cause to the 5, 6 judgment of the Lord. And the Lord said to him: The daughters of Salphaad demand a just thing: Give them a possession among their father's kindred, and let them succeed him in his 7 inheritance. And to the children of Israel thou shalt speak these 8 things: When a man dieth without a son, his inheritance shall 9 pass to his daughter. If he have no daughter, his brethren shall 10 succeed him. And if he have no brethren, you shall give the 11 inheritance to his father's brethren. But if he have no uncles by the father, the inheritance shall be given to them that are the next akin. And this shall be to the children of Israel sacred by a 12 perpetual law, as the Lord hath commanded Moses. The Lord also said to Moses: Go up into this mountain Abarim, and view from thence the land which I will give to the children of Israel.
13 And when thou shalt have seen it, thou also shalt go to thy peo-14 ple, as thy brother Aaron is gone: Because you offended me in the desert of Sin in the contradiction of the multitude, neither would you sanctify me before them at the waters. These are the waters of contradiction in Cades of the desert of Sin. And 15 Moses answered him: May the Lord the God of the spirits of 16 all flesh provide a man, that may be over this multitude: And 17 may go out and in before them, and may lead them out, or bring them in: lest the people of the Lord be as sheep without a shepherd. And the Lord said to him: take Josue the son of Nun, a 18 man in whom is the Spirit, and put thy hand upon him. And 19 he shall stand before Eleazar the priest and all the multitude: And thou shalt give him precepts in the sight of all, and part of 20 thy glory, that all the congregation of the children of Israel may hear him. If any thing be to be done, Eleazar the priest shall 21 consult the Lord for him. He and all the children of Israel with him, and the rest of the multitude shall go out and go in at his word. Moses did as the Lord had commanded. And, when he 22 had taken Josue, he set him before Eleazar the priest, and all the assembly of the people, And laying his hands on his head, 23 he repeated all things that the Lord had commanded.

The Lord also said to Moses: Command the children of Is- 28, 2 rael, and thou shalt say to them: Offer ye my oblation and my bread, and burnt sacrifice of most sweet odour, in their due seasons. These are the sacrifices which you shall offer: Two lambs 3 of a year old without blemish every day for the perpetual holocaust: One you shall offer in the mornings, and the other in 4 the evening: And the tenth part of an ephi of flour, which shall 5 be tempered with the, purest oil, of the measure of the fourth part of a hin. It is the continual holocaust which you offered in 6 mount Sinai for a most sweet odour of a sacrifice by fire to the Lord. And for a libation you shall offer of wine the fourth part 7 of a hin for every lamb in the sanctuary of the Lord. And you 8 shall offer the other lamb in like manner in the evening according to all the rites of the morning sacrifice, and of the libations thereof, an oblation of most sweet odour to the Lord. And on 9 the sabbath day you shall offer two lambs of a year old without blemish, and two tenths of flour tempered with oil in sacrifice, and the libations, Which regularly are poured out every sab- 10 bath for the perpetual holocaust. And on the first day of the 11 month you shall offer a holocaust to the Lord, two calves of the herd, one ram, and seven lambs of a year old, without blemish, 12 And three tenths of flour tempered with oil in sacrifice for every calf: and two tenths of flour tempered with oil for every ram: 13 And the tenth of a tenth of flour tempered with oil in sacrifice for every lamb. It is a holocaust of most sweet odour and an 14 offering by fire to the Lord. And these shall be the libations of wine that are to be poured out for every victim: Half a hin for every calf, a third for a ram, and a fourth for a lamb. This shall be the holocaust for every month, as they succeed one another in 15 the course of the year. A buck goat also shall be offered to the Lord for a sin offering over and above the perpetual holocaust 16 with its libations. And in the first month, on the four tenth 17 day of the month, shall be the phase of the Lord, And on the fifteenth day the solemn feast: seven days shall they eat unleavened bread. And the first day of them shall be venerable and 18 holy: you shall not do any servile work therein. And you shall offer a burnt sacrifice a holocaust to the Lord, two calves of the 19 herd, one ram, seven lambs of a year old, without blemish: And for the sacrifice of every one three tenths of flour which shall be tempered with oil to every calf, and two tenths to every ram, 20 And the tenth of a tenth, to every lamb, that is to say, to all the 21 seven lambs: And one buck goat for sin, to make atonement 22 for you, Besides the morning holocaust which you shall always 23 offer. So shall you do every day of the seven days for the food of the fire, and for a most sweet odour to the Lord, which shall rise 24 from the holocaust, and from the libations of each. The seventh day also shall be most solemn and holy unto you, you shall 25 do no servile work therein. The day also of firstfruits, when after the weeks are accomplished, you shall offer new fruits to the Lord, shall be venerable and holy: you shall do no servile 26 work therein. And you shall offer a holocaust for a most sweet odour to the Lord, two calves of the herd, one ram, and seven 27 lambs of a year old, without blemish: And in the sacrifices of them three tenths of flour tempered with oil to every calf, two 28 to every ram, The tenth of a tenth to every lamb, which in all 29 are seven lambs: a buck goat also, Which is slain for expiation: 30 besides the perpetual holocaust and the libations thereof. You shall offer them all without blemish with their libations.

31 29 The first day also of the seventh month shall be venerable and holy unto you; you shall do no servile work therein, because it is the day of the sounding and of trumpets. And you shall 2 offer a holocaust for a most sweet odour to the Lord, one calf of the herd, one ram and seven lambs of a year old, without blemish. And for their sacrifices, three tenths of flour tempered 3 with oil to every calf, two tenths to a ram, One tenth to a lamb, 4 which in all are seven lambs: And a buck goat for sin, which 5 is offered for the expiation of the people, Besides the holocaust 6 of the first day of the month with the sacrifices thereof, and the perpetual holocaust with the accustomed libations. With the same ceremonies you shall offer a burnt sacrifice for a most sweet odour to the Lord. The tenth day also of this seventh month 7 shall be holy and venerable unto you, and you shall afflict your souls; you shall do no servile work therein. And you shall offer 8 a holocaust to the Lord for a most sweet odour, one calf of the herd, one ram, and seven lambs of a year old, without blemish:

And for their sacrifices, three tenths of flour tempered with oil 9 to every calf, two tenths to a ram, The tenth of a tenth to 10 every lamb, which are in all seven lambs: And a buck goat for 11 sin, besides the things that are wont to be offered for sin, for expiation, and for the perpetual holocaust with their sacrifice and libations. And on the fifteenth day of the seventh month, 12 which shall be unto you holy and venerable, you shall do no servile work, but shall celebrate a solemnity to the Lord seven days. And you shall offer a holocaust for a most sweet odour 13 to the Lord, thirteen calves of the herd, two rams, and fourteen lambs of a year old, without blemish: And for their libations 14 three tenths of flour tempered with oil to every calf, being in all thirteen calves: and two tenths to each ram, being two rams, And the tenth of a tenth to every lamb, being in all fourteen 15 lambs: And a buck goat for sin, besides the perpetual holocaust, 16 and the sacrifice and the libation thereof. On the second day 17 you shall offer twelve calves of the herd, two rams and fourteen lambs of a year old, without blemish: And the sacrifices and the 18 libations for every one, for the calves and for the rams and for the lambs you shall duly celebrate: And a buck goat for a sin 19 offering besides the perpetual holocaust, and the sacrifice and the libation thereof. The third day you shall offer eleven calves, two 20 rams, and fourteen lambs of a year old, without blemish: And 21 the sacrifices and the libations of every one for the calves and for the rams and for the lambs you shall offer according to the rite: And a buck goat for sin, besides the perpetual holocaust, and the sacrifice, and the libation thereof. The fourth day you shall offer ten calves, two rams, and fourteen lambs of a year old, without blemish: And the sacrifices and the libations of every one for the calves and for the rams and for the lambs you shall celebrate in right manner: And a buck goat for sin, besides the perpetual holocaust, and the sacrifice and the libation thereof. The fifth day you shall offer nine calves, two rams, and fourteen lambs of a year old, without blemish: And the sacrifices and the libations of every one for the calves and for the rams and for the lambs you shall celebrate according to the rite: And a buck goat for sin, besides the perpetual holocaust, and the sacrifice and the libation thereof. The sixth day you shall offer eight calves, two rams, and fourteen lambs of a year old, without blemish: And the sacrifices and the libations of every one for the calves and for the rams and for the lambs you shall celebrate according to the rite: And a buck goat for sin, besides the perpetual holocaust, and the sacrifice and the libation thereof. The seventh day you shall offer seven calves and two rams, and fourteen lambs of a year old, without blemish: And the sacrifices and the libations of every one for the calves and for the rams and for the lambs you shall celebrate according to the rite: And a buck goat for sin, besides the perpetual holocaust, and the sacrifice and the libation thereof. On the eighth day, which is most solemn, you shall do no servile work: But you shall offer a holocaust for a most sweet odour to the Lord, one calf, one ram, and seven lambs of a year old, without blemish: And the sacrifices and the libations of every one for the calves and for the rams and for the lambs you shall celebrate according to the rite: And a buck goat for sin, besides the perpetual holocaust, and the sacrifice and the libation thereof. These things shall you offer to the Lord in your solemnities: besides your vows and voluntary oblations for holocaust, for sacrifice, for libation, and for victims of peace offerings.

30 And Moses told the children of Israel all that the Lord had commanded him: And he said to the princes of the tribes of the children of Israel: This is the word that the Lord hath commanded: If any man make a vow to the Lord, or bind himself by an oath: he shall not make his word void but shall fulfil all that he promised. If a woman vow any thing, and bind herself by an oath, being in her father's house, and but yet a girl in age: if her father knew the vow that she hath promised, and the oath wherewith she hath bound her soul, and held his peace, she shall be bound by the vow: Whatsoever she promised and swore, she shall fulfil in deed. But if her father, immediately as soon as he heard it, gainsaid it, both her vows and her oaths shall be void, neither shall she be bound to what she promised, because her father hath gainsaid it. If she have a husband, and shall vow any thing, and the word once going out of her mouth shall bind her soul by an oath, The day that her husband shall hear it, and not gainsay it, she shall be bound to the vow, and shall give whatsoever she promised. But if as soon as he heareth he gainsay it, and make her promises and the words wherewith she had bound her soul of no effect: the Lord will forgive her. The widow, and she that is divorced, shall fulfil whatsoever they vow. If the wife in the house of her husband, hath bound herself by vow and by oath, If her husband hear, and hold his peace, and doth not disallow the promise, she shall accomplish whatsoever she had promised. But if forthwith he gainsay it, she shall not be bound by the promise: because her husband gainsaid it, and the Lord will be merciful to her. If she vow and bind herself by oath, to afflict her soul by fasting, or abstinence from other things, it shall depend on the will of her husband, whether she shall do it, or not do it. But if the husband hearing it hold his peace, and defer the declaring his mind till another day: whatsoever she had vowed and promised, she shall fulfil: because immediately as he heard it, he held his peace. But if he gainsay it after that he knew it, he shall bear her iniquity. These are the laws which the Lord appointed to Moses between the husband and the wife, between the father and the daughter that is as yet but a girl in age, or that abideth in her father's house.

And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Revenge first the children of Israel on the Madianites, and so thou shalt be gathered to thy people. And Moses forthwith said: Arm of you men to fight, who may take the revenge of the Lord on the Madianites. Let a thousand men be chosen out of every tribe of Israel to be sent to the war. And they gave a thousand of every tribe, that is to say,

6 twelve thousand men well appointed for battle. And Moses sent 7 them with Phinees the son of Eleazar the priest, and he delivered 8 to him the holy vessels, and the trumpets to sound. And when 9 they had fought against the Madianites and had overcome them, 10 they slew all the men. And their kings Evi, and Recem, and 11 Sur, and Hur, and Rebe, five princes of the nation: Balaam also 12 the son of Beor they killed with the sword. And they took their 13 women, and their children captives, and all their cattle, and all 14 their goods: and all their possessions they plundered: And all 15 their cities, and their villages, and castles, they burned. And 16 they carried away the booty, and all that they had taken both 17 of men and of beasts. And they brought them to Moses, and 18 Eleazar the priest, and to all the multitude of the children of Is-19 rael. But the rest of the things for use they carried to the camp 20 on the plains of Moab, beside the Jordan over against Jericho.
21 And Moses and Eleazar the priest and all the princes of the syn-22 agogue went forth to meet them without the camp. And Moses 23 being angry with the chief officers of the army, the tribunes, 24 and the centurions that were come from the battle, Said: Why 25 have you saved the women? Are not these they, that deceived 26 the children of Israel by the counsel of Balaam, and made you transgress against the Lord by the sin of Phogor, for which also the people was punished? Therefore kill all that are of the male sex, even of the children: and put to death the women, that have carnally known men. But the girls, and all the women that are virgins save for yourselves: And stay without the camp seven days. He that hath killed a man, or touched one that is killed, shall be purified the third day and the seventh day. And of all the spoil, every garment, or vessel, or any thing made for use, of the skins, or hair of goats, or of wood, shall be purified.
Eleazar also the priest spoke to the men of the army, that had fought, in this manner: This is the ordinance of the law, which the Lord hath commanded Moses: Gold, and silver, and brass, and iron, and lead, and tin, And all that may pass through the fire, shall be purified by fire, but whatsoever cannot abide the fire, shall be sanctified with the water of expiation: And you shall wash your garments the seventh day, and being purified, you shall afterwards enter into the camp. And the Lord said to Moses: Take the sum of the things that were taken both of man and beast, thou and Eleazar the priest and the princes of the multitude: And thou shalt divide the spoil equally, be- 27 tween them that fought and went out to the war, and between the rest of the multitude. And thou shalt separate a portion 28 to the Lord from them that fought and were in the battle, one soul of five hundred as well of persons as of oxen and asses and sheep. And thou shalt give it to Eleazar the priest, because 29 they are the firstfruits of the Lord. Out of the moiety also of 30 the children of Israel thou shalt take the fiftieth head of persons, and of oxen, and asses, and sheep, and of all beasts, and thou shalt give them to the Levites that watch in the charge of the tabernacle of the Lord. And Moses and Eleazar did as the Lord 31 had commanded. And the spoil which the army had taken, was 32 six hundred seventy-five thousand sheep, Seventy-two thousand 33 oxen, Sixty-one thousand asses: And thirty-two thousand per- 34, 35 sons of the female sex, that had not known men. And one half 36 was given to them that had been in the battle, to wit, three hundred thirty-seven thousand five hundred sheep: Out of which, 37 for the portion of the Lord, were reckoned six hundred seventy five sheep. And out of the thirty-six thousand oxen, seventy-two 38 oxen: Out of the thirty thousand five hundred asses, sixty-one 39 asses: Out of the sixteen thousand persons, there fell to the portion of the Lord, thirty-two souls. And Moses delivered the 41 number of the firstfruits of the Lord to Eleazar the priest, as had been commanded him, Out of the half of the children of Israel, 42 which he had separated for them that had been in the battle.

But out of the half that fell to the rest of the multitude, that is 43 to say, out of the three hundred thirty-seven thousand five hundred sheep, And out of the thirty-six thousand oxen, And out 44, 45 of the thirty thousand five hundred asses, And out of the sixteen thousand persons, Moses took the fiftieth head, and gave 46 it to the Levites that watched in the tabernacle of the Lord, 47 as the Lord had commanded. And when the commanders of 48 the army, and the tribunes and centurions were come to Moses, they said: We thy servants have reckoned up the number of the 49 fighting men, whom we had under our hand, and not so much as one was wanting. Therefore we offer as gifts to the Lord 50 what gold every one of us could find in the booty, in garters and tablets, rings and bracelets, and chains, that thou mayst pray to 51 the Lord for us. And Moses and Eleazar the priest received all 52 the gold in divers kinds, In weight sixteen thousand seven hundred and fifty sicles, from the tribunes and from the centurions.

53 For that which every one had taken in the booty was his own.
54 And that which was received they brought into the tabernacle of the testimony, for a memorial of the children of Israel before the Lord.

32 And the sons of Ruben and Gad had many flocks of cattle, and their substance in beasts was infinite. And when they saw 2 the lands of Jazer and Galaad fit for feeding cattle, They came to Moses and Eleazar the priest, and the princes of the multi-3 tude, and said: Ataroth, and Dibon, and Jazer, and Nemra, 4 Hesebon, and Eleale, and Saban, and Nebo, and Beon, The land, which the Lord hath conquered in the sight of the children of Israel, is a very fertile soil for the feeding of beasts: and we thy 5 servants have very much cattle: And we pray thee, if we have found favour in thy sight, that thou give it to us thy servants in 6 possession, and make us not pass over the Jordan. And Moses answered them: What, shall your brethren go to fight, and will 7 you sit here? Why do ye overturn the minds of the children of Israel, that they may not dare to pass into the place which 8 the Lord hath given them? Was it not thus your fathers did, 9 when I sent from Cadesbarne to view the land? And when they were come as far as the valley of the cluster, having viewed all the country, they overturned the hearts of the children of Israel, that they should not enter into the coasts, which the Lord gave 10, 11 them. And he swore in his anger, saying: If these men, that came up out of Egypt, from twenty years old and upward, shall see the land, which I promised with an oath to Abraham, Isaac, 12 and Jacob: because they would not follow me, Except Caleb the son of Jephone the Cenezite, and Josue the son of Nun: these 13 have fulfilled my will. And the Lord being angry against Israel, led them about through the desert forty years, until the whole generation, that had done evil in his sight, was consumed.
14 And behold, said he, you are risen up instead of your fathers, the increase and offspring of sinful men, to augment the fury of 15 the Lord against Israel. For if you will not follow him, he will leave the people in the wilderness, and you shall be the cause 16 of the destruction of all. But they coming near, said: We will make sheepfolds, and stalls for our cattle, and strong cities for our children: And we ourselves will go armed and ready for battle before the children of Israel, until we bring them in unto their places. Our little ones, and all we have, shall be in walled cities, for fear of the ambushes of the inhabitants. We will not return into our houses until the children of Israel possess their inheritance: Neither will we seek any thing beyond the Jordan, because we have already our possession on the east side thereof, And Moses said to them: If you do what you promise, go on well appointed for war before the Lord: And let every fighting man pass over the Jordan, until the Lord overthrow his enemies:

And all the land be brought under him, then shall you be blameless before the Lord and before Israel, and you shall obtain the countries that you desire, before the Lord. But if you do not what you say, no man can doubt but you sin against God: and know ye, that your sin shall overtake you. Build therefore cities for your children, and folds and stalls for your sheep and beasts, and accomplish what you have promised. And the children of Gad and Ruben said to Moses: We are thy servants, we will do what my lord commandeth. We will leave our children, and our wives and sheep and cattle, in the cities of Galaad: And we thy servants all well appointed will march on to the war, as thou, my lord, speakest. Moses therefore commanded Eleazar the priest, and Josue the son of Nun, and the princes of the families of all the tribes of Israel, and said to them: If the children of Gad, and the children of Ruben pass with you over the Jordan, all armed for war before the Lord, and the land be made subject to you: give them Galaad in possession. But if they will not pass armed with you into the land of Chanaan, let them receive places to dwell in among you. And the children of Gad, and the children of Ruben answered: As the Lord hath spoken to his servants, so will we do: We will go armed before the Lord into the land of Chanaan, and we confess that we have already received our possession beyond the Jordan. Moses therefore gave to the children of Gad and of Ruben, and to the half tribe of Manasses the son of Joseph, the kingdom of Sehon king of the Amorrhites, and the kingdom of Og king of Basan, and their land and the cities thereof round about. And the sons of Gad built Dibon, and Ataroth, and Aroer, And Etroth, and Sophan, and Jazer, 36 and Jegbaa, And Bethnemra, and Betharan, fenced cities, and 37 folds for their cattle. But the children of Ruben built Hesebon, 38 and Eleale, and Cariathaim, And Nabo, and Baalmeon (their names being changed) and Sabama: giving names to the cities 39 which they had built. Moreover the children of Machir, the son of Manasses, went into Galaad, and wasted it, cutting off 40 the Amorrhites, the inhabitants thereof. And Moses gave the land of Galaad to Machir the son of Manasses, and he dwelt in 41 it. And Jair the son of Manasses went, and took the villages thereof, and he called them Havoth Jair, that is to say, the vil-42 lages of Jair. Nobe also went, and took Canath with the villages thereof: and he called it by his own name, Nobe.

33 These are the mansions of the children of Israel, who went out of Egypt by their troops under the conduct of Moses and 2 Aaron, Which Moses wrote down according to the places of their encamping, which they changed by the commandment of 3 the Lord. Now the children of Israel departed from Ramesses the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month, the day after the phase, with a mighty hand, in the sight of all the 4 Egyptians, Who were burying their firstborn, whom the Lord had slain (upon their gods also he had executed vengeance,) 5, 6 And they camped in Soccoth. And from Soccoth they came into Etham, which is in the uttermost borders of the wilder-7 ness. Departing from thence they came over against Pihahiroth, which looketh towards Beelsephon, and they camped be-8 fore Magdalum. And departing from Pihahiroth, they passed through the midst of the sea into the wilderness: and having marched three days through the desert of Etham, they camped 9 in Mara. And departing from Mara, they came into Elim, where there were twelve fountains of waters, and seventy palm trees: 10 and there they camped. But departing from thence also, they pitched their tents by the Red Sea. And departing from the 11, 12 Red Sea, They camped in the desert of Sin. And they re-13 moved from thence, and came to Daphca. And departing from 14 Daphca, they camped in Alus. And departing from Alus, they pitched their tents in Raphidim, where the people wanted water 15 to drink. And departing from Raphidim, they camped in the 16 desert of Sinai. But departing also from the desert of Sinai, 17 they came to the graves of lust. And departing from the graves of lust, they camped in Haseroth. And from Haseroth they 18 came to Rethma. And departing from Rethma, they camped 19 in Remmophares. And they departed from thence and came 20 to Lebna. Removing from Lebna they camped in Ressa. And 21, 22 departing from Ressa, they came to Ceelatha. And they re- 23 moved from thence and camped in the mountain Sepher. De- 24 parting from the mountain Sepher, they came to Arada, From 25 thence they went and camped in Maceloth. And departing from 26 Maceloth, they came to Thahath. Removing from Thahath 27 they camped in Thare. And they departed from thence, and 28 pitched their tents in Methca. And removing from Methca, 29 they camped in Hesmona. And departing from Hesmona, they 30 came to Moseroth. And removing from Moseroth, they camped 31 in Benejaacan. And departing from Benejaacan, they came to 32 mount Gadgad. From thence they went and camped in Jete- 33 batha. And from Jetebatha they came to Hebrona. And de- 34, 35 parting from Hebrona, they camped in Asiongaber. They re- 36 moved from thence and came into the desert of Sin, which is 37 Cades. And departing from Cades, they camped in mount Hor, 38 in the uttermost borders of the land of Edom. And Aaron the 39 priest went up into mount Hor at the commandment of the Lord: and there he died in the fortieth year of the coming forth of the children of Israel out of Egypt, the fifth month, the first day of the month, When he was a hundred and twenty-three years 39 old. And king Arad the Chanaanite, who dwelt towards the 40 south, heard that the children of Israel were come to the land of Chanaan. And they departed from mount Hor, and camped 41 in Salmona. From whence they removed and came to Phunon. 42 And departing from Phunon, they camped in Oboth. And from 43, 44 Oboth they came to Ijeabarim, which is in the borders of the Moabites. And departing from Ijeabarim they pitched their 45 tents in Dibongab. From thence they went and camped in Hel- 46 mondeblathaim. And departing from Helmondeblathaim, they 47 came to the mountains of Abarim over against Nabo. And de- 48 parting from the mountains of Abarim, they passed to the plains of Moab, by the Jordan, over against Jericho. And there they 49 camped from Bethsimoth even to Ablesatim in the plains of the Moabites, Where the Lord said to Moses: Command the chil- 50, 51 dren of Israel, and say to them: When you shall have passed over 52 the Jordan, entering into the land of Chanaan, Destroy all the inhabitants of that land: Beat down their pillars, and break in 53 pieces their statues, and waste all their high places, Cleansing the land, and dwelling in it. For I have given it you for a pos-54 session. And you shall divide it among you by lot. To the more you shall give a larger part, and to the fewer a lesser. To every one as the lot shall fall, so shall the inheritance be given. The 55 possession shall be divided by the tribes and the families. But if you will not kill the inhabitants of the land: they that remain, shall be unto you as nails in your eyes, and spears in your sides, and they shall be your adversaries in the land of your habitation.

56 And whatsoever I had thought to do to them, I will do to you.

34, 2 And the Lord spoke to Moses, saying: Command the children of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: When you are entered into the land of Chanaan, and it shall be fallen into your possession 3 by lot, it shall be bounded by these limits: The south side shall begin from the wilderness of Sin, which is by Edom: and shall 4 have the most salt sea for its furthest limits eastward: Which limits shall go round on the south side by the ascent of the Scorpion and so into Senna, and reach toward the south as far as Cadesbarne, from whence the frontiers shall go out to the town 5 called Adar, and shall reach as far as Asemona. And the limits shall fetch a compass from Asemona to the torrent of Egypt, and 6 shall end in the shore of the great sea. And the west side shall begin from the great sea, and the same shall be the end thereof.
7 But toward the north side the borders shall begin from the great 8 sea, reaching to the most high mountain, From which they shall 9 come to Emath, as far as the borders of Sedada: And the limits shall go as far as Zephrona, and the village of Enan. These shall 10 be the borders on the north side. From thence they shall mark out the grounds towards the east side from the village of Enan 11 unto Sephama. And from Sephama the bounds shall go down to Rebla over against the fountain of Daphnis: from thence they 12 shall come eastward to the sea of Cenereth, And shall reach as far as the Jordan, and at the last shall be closed in by the most salt sea. This shall be your land with its borders round about.
13 And Moses commanded the children of Israel, saying: This shall be the land which you shall possess by lot, and which the Lord hath commanded to be given to the nine tribes, and to the half tribe. For the tribe of the children of Ruben by their families, 14 and the tribe of the children of Gad according to the number of their kindreds, and half of the tribe of Manasses, That is, 15 two tribes and a half, have received their portion beyond the Jordan over against Jericho at the east side. And the Lord said 16 to Moses: These are the names of the men, that shall divide 17 the land unto you: Eleazar the priest, and Josue the son of Nun, And one prince of every tribe, Whose names are these: 18, 19 Of the tribe of Juda, Caleb the son of Jephone. Of the tribe of Simeon, Samuel the son of Ammiud. Of the tribe of Benjamin, 20 Elidad the son of Chaselon. Of the tribe of the children of Dan, 21 Bocci the son of Jogli. Of the children of Joseph of the tribe of Manasses, Hanniel the son of Ephod. Of the tribe of Ephraim, 22 Camuel the son of Sephtan. Of the tribe of Zabulon, Elisaphan 23 the son of Pharnach. Of the tribe of Issachar, Phaltiel the 24 prince, the son of Ozan. Of the tribe of Aser, Ahiud the son of 25 Salomi. Of the tribe of Nephtali: Phedael the son of Ammiud. 26 These are they Whom the Lord hath commanded to divide the 27 land of Chanaan to the children of Israel. 28 29

And the Lord spoke these things also to Moses in the plains 35 of Moab by the Jordan, over against Jericho: Command the 2 children of Israel that they give to the Levites out of their possessions, Cities to dwell in, and their suburbs round about: that 3 they may abide in the towns, and the suburbs may be for them cattle and beasts: Which suburbs shall reach from the walls 4 of the cities outward, a thousand paces on every side: Toward 5 the east shall be two thousand cubits: and toward the south in like manner shall be two thousand cubits: toward the sea also, which looketh to the west, shall be the same extent: and the north side shall be bounded with the like limits. And the cities shall be in the midst, and the suburbs without. And among the 6 cities, which you shall give to the Levites, six shall be separated for refuge to fugitives, that he who hath shed blood may flee to them: and besides these there shall be other forty-two cities, That is, in all forty-eight with their suburbs. And of these cities 7, 8 which shall be given out of the possessions of the children of Israel, from them that have more, more shall be taken: and from them that have less, fewer. Each shall give towns to the Levites according to the extent of their inheritance. The Lord said to 9 10 Moses: Speak to the children of Israel, and thou shalt say to them: When you shall have passed over the Jordan into the land 11 of Chanaan, Determine what cities shall be for the refuge of 12 fugitives, who have shed blood against their will. And when the fugitive shall be in them, the kinsman of him that is slain may not have power to kill him, until he stand before the mul-13 titude, and his cause be judged. And of those cities, that are 14 separated for the refuge of fugitives, Three shall be beyond the 15 Jordan, and three in the land of Chanaan, As well for the children of Israel as for strangers and sojourners, that he may flee to 16 them, who hath shed blood against his will. If any man strike with iron, and he die that was struck: he shall be guilty of mur-17 der, and he himself shall die. If he throw a stone, and he that is 18 struck die: he shall be punished in the same manner. If he that is struck with wood die: he shall be revenged by the blood of him 19 that struck him. The kinsman of him that was slain, shall kill the murderer: as soon as he apprehendeth him, he shall kill him.

20 If through hatred any one push a man, or fling any thing at him 21 with ill design: Or being his enemy, strike him with his hand, and he die: the striker shall be guilty of murder: the kinsman of him that was slain as soon as he findeth him, shall kill him.
22, 23 But if by chance medley, and without hatred, And enmity, he 24 do any of these things, And this be proved in the hearing of the people, and the cause be debated between him that struck, 25 and the next of kin: The innocent shall be delivered from the hand of the revenger, and shall be brought back by sentence into the city, to which he had fled, and he shall abide there until the 26 death of the high priest, that is anointed with the holy oil. If the murderer be found without the limits of the cities that are 27 appointed for the banished, And be struck by him that is the 28 avenger of blood: he shall not be guilty that killed him. For the fugitive ought to have stayed in the city until the death of the high priest: and after he is dead, then shall the manslayer 29 return to his own country. These things shall be perpetual, and 30 for an ordinance in all your dwellings. The murderer shall be punished by witnesses: none shall be condemned upon the ev-31 idence of one man. You shall not take money of him that is 32 guilty of blood, but he shall die forthwith. The banished and fugitives before the death of the high priest may by no means return into their own cities. Defile not the land of your habi- 33 tation, which is stained with the blood of the innocent: neither can it otherwise be expiated, but by his blood that hath shed the blood of another. And thus shall your possession be cleansed, 34 myself abiding with you. For I am the Lord that dwell among the children of Israel.

And the princes of the families of Galaad, the son of Machir, 36 the son of Manasses, of the stock of the children of Joseph, came and spoke to Moses before the princes of Israel, and said: The 2 Lord hath commanded thee, my lord, that thou shouldst divide the land by lot to the children of Israel, and that thou shouldst give to the daughters of Salphaad our brother the possession due to their father: Now if men of another tribe take them to 3 wives, their possession will follow them, and being transferred to another tribe, will be a diminishing of our inheritance. And 4 so it shall come to pass, that when the jubilee, the is, the fiftieth year of remission, is come, the distribution made by the lots shall be confounded, and the possession of the one shall pass to the others. Moses answered the children of Israel, and said by the 5 command of the Lord: The tribe of the children of Joseph hath spoken rightly. And this is the law promulgated by the Lord 6 touching the daughters of Salphaad: Let them marry to whom they will, only so that it be to men of their own tribe. Lest 7 the possession of the children of Israel be mingled from tribe to tribe. For all men shall marry wives of their own tribe and kindred: And all women shall take husbands of the same tribe: 8 that the inheritance may remain in the families. And that the 9 tribes be not mingled one with another, but remain so As they 10 were separated by the Lord. And the daughters of Salphaad did as was commanded: And Maala, and Thersa, and Hegla, 11 and Melcha, and Noa were married to the sons of their uncle by their father Of the family of Manasses, who was the son 12 of Joseph: and the possession that had been allotted to them, remained in the tribe and family of their father. These are the 13 commandments and judgment, which the Lord commanded by the hand of Moses to the children of Israel, in the plains of Moab upon the Jordan over against Jericho.

THE FIFTH BOOK OF MOSES, CALLED DEUTERONOMY.

1 hese are the words, which Moses spoke to all Israel be-2 yond the Jordan, in the plain wilderness, over against 3 the Red Sea, between Pharan and Thophel and Laban 4 and Haseroth, where there is very much gold. Eleven 5 days' journey from Horeb by the way of mount Seir to Cades-6 barne. In the fortieth year, the eleventh month, the first day of 7 the month, Moses spoke to the children of Israel all that the Lord 8 had commanded him to say to them: After that he had slain 9 Sehon king of the Amorrhites, who dwelt in Hesebon: and Og 10 king of Basan who abode in Astaroth, and in Edrai, Beyond the 11 Jordan in the land of Moab. And Moses began to expound the 12 law, and to say: The Lord our God spoke to us in Horeb, saying: 13 You have stayed long enough in this mountain: Turn you, and 14 come to the mountain of the Amorrhites, and to the other places 15 that are next to it, the plains and the hills and the vales towards the south, and by the sea shore, the land of the Chanaanites, and of Libanus, as far as the great river Euphrates. Behold, said he, I have delivered it to you: go in and possess it, concerning which the Lord swore to your fathers Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, that he would give it to them, and to their seed after them. And I said to you at that time: I alone am not able to bear you: for the Lord your God hath multiplied you, and you are this day as the stars of heaven, for multitude. (The Lord God of your fathers add to this number many thousands, and bless you as he hath spoken.) I alone am not able to bear your business, and the charge of you and your differences. Let me have from among you wise and understanding men, and such whose conversation is approved among your tribes, that I may appoint them your rulers. Then you answered me: The thing is good which thou meanest to do. And I took out of your tribes men wise and honourable, and appointed them rulers, tribunes, and centurions, and officers over fifties, and over tens, who might teach you all things. And I commanded them, saying: Hear them, and judge that which is just: whether he be one of your country, or a stranger. There shall be no difference of persons, you shall hear the little as well as the great: neither shall you respect any man's person, because it is the judgment of God. And if any thing seem hard to you, refer it to me, and I will hear it. And I commanded you all things that you were to do. And departing from Horeb, we passed through the terrible and vast wilderness, which you saw, by the way of the mountain of the Amorrhite, as the Lord our God had commanded us. And when we were come into Cadesbarne, I said to you: You are come to the mountain of the Amorrhite, which the Lord our God will give to us. See the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee: go up and possess it, as the Lord our God hath spoken to thy fathers: fear not, nor be any way discouraged. And you came all to me, and said: Let us send men who may view the land, and bring us word what way we shall go up, and to what cities we shall go. And because the saying pleased me, I sent of you twelve men, one of every tribe: Who, when they had set forward and had gone up to the mountains, came as far as the valley of the cluster: and having viewed the land, Taking of the fruits thereof, to shew its fertility, they brought them to us, and said: The land is good, which the Lord our God will give us. And you would not go up, but being incredulous to the word of the Lord our God, You murmured in your tents, and said: The Lord hateth us, and therefore he hath brought us out of the land of Egypt, that he might deliver us into the hand of the Amorrhite, and destroy us. Whither shall we go up? the messengers have terrified our hearts, saying: The multitude is very great, and taller than we: the cities are great, and walled up to the sky, we have seen the sons of the Enacims there. And I said to you: Fear not, neither be ye afraid of them: The Lord God, who is your leader, himself will fight for you, as he did in Egypt in the sight of all. And in the wilderness (as thou hast seen) the Lord thy God hath carried thee, as a man is wont to carry his little son, all the way that you have come, until you came to this place. And yet for all this you did not believe the Lord your God, Who went before you in the way, and marked out the place, wherein you should pitch your tents, in the night shewing you the way by fire, and in 34 the day by the pillar of a cloud. And when the Lord had heard 35 the voice of your words, he was angry and swore, and said: Not one of the men of this wicked generation shall see the good land, 36 which I promised with an oath to your fathers: Except Caleb the son of Jephone: for he shall see it, and to him I will give the land that he hath trodden upon, and to his children, because 37 he hath followed the Lord. Neither is his indignation against the people to be wondered at, since the Lord was angry with me also on your account, and said: Neither shalt thou go in thither.

38 But Josue the son of Nun, thy minister, he shall go in for thee: exhort and encourage him, and he shall divide the land by lot 39 to Israel. Your children, of whom you said that they should be led away captives, and your sons who know not this day the difference of good and evil, they shall go in: and to them I will 40 give the land, and they shall possess it. But return you and 41 go into the wilderness by the way of the Red Sea. And you answered me: We have sinned against the Lord: we will go up and fight, as the Lord our God hath commanded. And when you 42 went ready armed unto the mountain, The Lord said to me: Say to them: Go not up, and fight not, for I am not with you: lest 43 you fall before your enemies. I spoke, and you hearkened not: but resisting the commandment of the Lord, and swelling with 44 pride, you went up into the mountain. And the Amorrhite that dwelt in the mountains coming out, and meeting you, chased you, as bees do: and made slaughter of you from Seir as far as 45 Horma. And when you returned and wept before the Lord, he 46 heard you not, neither would he yield to your voice. So you abode in Cadesbarne a long time.

2 And departing from thence we came into the wilderness that leadeth to the Red Sea, as the Lord had spoken to me: and we 2 compassed mount Seir a long time. And the Lord said to me: 3 You have compassed this mountain long enough: go toward the 4 north: And command thou the people, saying: You shall pass by the borders of your brethren the children of Esau, who dwell 5 in Seir, and they will be afraid of you. Take ye then good heed that you stir not against them. For I will not give you of their land so much as the step of one foot can tread upon, because I have given mount Seir to Esau, for a possession. You shall buy 6 meats of them for money and shall eat: you shall draw waters for money, and shall drink. The Lord thy God hath blessed 7 thee in every work of thy hands: the Lord thy God dwelling with thee, knoweth thy journey, how thou hast passed through this great wilderness, for forty years, and thou hast wanted nothing.

And when we had passed by our brethren the children of 8 Esau, that dwelt in Seir, by the way of the plain from Elath and from Asiongaber, we came to the way that leadeth to the desert of Moab. And the Lord said to me: Fight not against 9 the Moabites, neither go to battle against them: for I will not give thee any of their land, because I have given Ar to the children of Lot in possession. The Emims first were the inhabitants 10 thereof, a people great, and strong, and so tall, that like the race of the Enacims, They were esteemed as giants, and were like the 11 sons of the Enacims. But the Moabites call them Emims. The Horrites also formerly dwelt in Seir: who being driven out and destroyed, the children of Esau dwelt there, as Israel did in the land of his possession, which the Lord gave him. Then rising up 13 to pass the torrent Zared, we came to it. And the time that we 14 journeyed from Cadesbarne till we passed over the torrent Zared, was thirty-eight years: until all the generation of the men that were fit for war was consumed out of the camp, as the Lord had sworn: For his hand was against them, that they should perish 15 from the midst of the camp. And after all the fighting men 16 were dead, The Lord spoke to me, saying: Thou shalt pass 17, 18 this day the borders of Moab, the city named Ar: And when 19 thou comest nigh the frontiers of the children of Ammon, take heed thou fight not against them, nor once move to battle: for I will not give thee of the land of the children of Ammon, because I have given it to the children of Lot for a possession. It was ac- 20 counted a land of giants: and giants formerly dwelt in it, whom the Ammonites call Zomzommims, A people great and many, 21 and of tall stature, like the Enacims whom the Lord destroyed before their face: and he made them to dwell in their stead, As he had done in favour of the children of Esau, that dwell in 22 Seir, destroying the Horrites, and delivering their land to them, which they possess to this day. The Hevites also, that dwelt in 23 Haserim as far as Gaza, were expelled by the Cappadocians: who came out of Cappadocia, and destroyed them and dwelt in their 24 stead. Arise ye, and pass the torrent Arnon: Behold I have delivered into thy hand Sehon king of Hesebon the Amorrhite, and begin thou to possess his land and make war against him.

25 This day will I begin to send the dread and fear of thee upon the nations that dwell under the whole heaven: that when they hear thy name they may fear and tremble, and be in pain like 26 women in travail. So I sent messengers from the wilderness of Cademoth to Sehon the king of Hesebon with peaceable words, 27 saying: We will pass through thy land, we will go along by the highway: we will not turn aside neither to the right hand nor 28 to the left. Sell us meat for money, that we may eat: give us water for money and so we will drink. We only ask that thou 29 wilt let us pass through, As the children of Esau have done, that dwell in Seir, and the Moabites, that abide in Ar: until we come to the Jordan, and pass to the land which the Lord our 30 God will give us. And Sehon the king of Hesebon would not let us pass: because the Lord thy God had hardened his spirit, and fixed his heart, that he might be delivered into thy hands, 31 as now thou seest. And the Lord said to me: Behold I have begun to deliver unto thee Sehon and his land, begin to possess it.
32 And Sehon came out to meet us with all his people to fight at 33 Jasa. And the Lord our God delivered him to us: and we slew 34 him with his sons and all his people. And we took all his cities at that time, killing the inhabitants of them, men and women 35 and children. We left nothing of them: Except the cattle which came to the share of them that took them: and the spoils of the 36 cities, which we took: From Aroer, which is upon the bank of the torrent Arnon, a town that is situate in a valley, as far as Galaad. There was not a village or city, that escaped our hands: 37 the Lord our God delivered all unto us: Except the land of the children of Ammon, to which we approached not: and all that border upon the torrent Jeboc, and the cities in the mountains, and all the places which the Lord our God forbade us.

3 Then we turned and went by the way of Basan: and Og the king of Basan came out to meet us with his people to fight in 2 Edrai. And the Lord said to me: Fear him not: because he is delivered into thy hand, with all his people and his land: and thou shalt do to him as thou hast done to Sehon king of the Amorrhites, that dwelt in Hesebon. So the Lord our God de- 3 livered into our hands, Og also, the king of Basan, and all his people: and we utterly destroyed them, Wasting all his cities 4 at one time, there was not a town that escaped us: sixty cities, all the country of Argob the kingdom of Og in Basan. All the 5 cities were fenced with very high walls, and with gates and bars, besides innumerable towns that had no walls. And we utterly 6 destroyed them, as we had done to Sehon the king of Hesebon, destroying every city, men and women and children: But the 7 cattle and the spoils of the cities we took for our prey. And we 8 took at that time the land out of the hand of the two kings of the Amorrhites, that were beyond the Jordan: from the torrent Arnon unto the mount Hermon, Which the Sidonians call Sar- 9 ion, and the Amorrhites Sanir: All the cities that are situate in 10 the plain, and all the land of Galaad and Basan as far as Selcha and Edrai, cities of the kingdom of Og in Basan. For only Og 11 king of Basan remained of the race of the giants. His bed of iron is shewn, which is in Rabbath of the children of Ammon, being nine cubits long, and four broad after the measure of the cubit of a man's hand. And we possessed the land at that time from 12 Aroer, which is upon the bank of the torrent Arnon, unto the half of mount Galaad: and I gave the cities thereof to Ruben and Gad. And I delivered the other part of Galaad, and all 13 Basan the kingdom of Og to the half tribe of Manasses, all the country of Argob: and all Basan is called the Land of giants.

Jair the son of Manasses possessed all the country of Argob unto 14 the borders of Gessuri, and Machati. And he called Basan by his own name, Havoth Jair, that is to say, the towns of Jair, until this present day. To Machir also I gave Galaad. And to the 15, 16 tribes of Ruben and Gad I gave of the land of Galaad as far as the torrent Arnon, half the torrent, and the confines even unto the torrent Jeboc, which is the border of the children of Ammon:
And the plain of the wilderness, and the Jordan, and the borders 17 of Cenereth unto the sea of the desert, which is the most salt sea, to the foot of mount Phasga eastward. And I commanded you 18 at that time, saying: The Lord your God giveth you this land for an inheritance, go ye well appointed before your brethren the children of Israel, all the strong men of you. Leaving your wives 19 and children and cattle. For I know you have much cattle, and they must remain in the cities, which I have delivered to you.

20 Until the Lord give rest to your brethren, as he hath given to you: and they also possess the land, which he will give them beyond the Jordan: then shall every man return to his possession, 21 which I have given you. I commanded Josue also at that time, saying: Thy eyes have seen what the Lord your God hath done to these two kings: so will he do to all the kingdoms to which 22 thou shalt pass. Fear them not: for the Lord your God will fight for you. And I besought the Lord at that time, saying: 23 Lord God, thou hast begun to shew unto thy servant thy greatness, and most mighty hand, for there is no other God either in 24 heaven or earth, that is able to do thy works, or to be compared to thy strength. I will pass over therefore, and will see this excellent land beyond the Jordan, and this goodly mountain, and 25 Libanus. And the Lord was angry with me on your account and heard me not, but said to me: It is enough: speak no more 26 to me of this matter. Go up to the top of Phasga, and cast thy eyes round about to the west, and to the north, and to the south, and to the east, and behold it, for thou shalt not pass this 27 Jordan. Command Josue, and encourage and strengthen him: for he shall go before this people, and shall divide unto them 28 the land which thou shalt see. And we abode in the valley over against the temple of Phogor.

4 And now, O Israel, hear the commandments and judgments which I teach thee: that doing them, thou mayst live, and entering in mayst possess the land which the Lord the God of your 2 fathers will give you. You shall not add to the word that I speak to you, neither shall you take away from it: keep the command-3 ments of the Lord your God which I command you. Your eyes have seen all that the Lord hath done against Beelphegor, how 4 he hath destroyed all his worshippers from among you. But you that adhere to the Lord your God, are all alive until this 5 present day. You know that I have taught you statutes and justices, as the Lord my God hath commanded me: so shall you 6 do them in the land which you shall possess: And you shall observe, and fulfil them in practice. For this is your wisdom, and understanding in the sight of nations, that hearing all these precepts, they may say: Behold a wise and understanding peo-7 ple, a great nation. Neither is there any other nation so great, that hath gods so nigh them, as our God is present to all our petitions. For what other nation is there so renowned that hath ceremonies, and just judgments, and all the law, which I will set forth this day before our eyes? Keep thyself therefore, and thy soul carefully. Forget not the words that thy eyes have seen, and let them not go out of thy heart all the days of thy life. Thou shalt teach them to thy sons and to thy grandsons, From the day in which thou didst stand before the Lord thy God in Horeb, when the Lord spoke to me, saying: Call together the people unto me, that they may hear my words, and may learn to fear me all the time that they live on the earth, and may teach their children. And you came to the foot of the mount, which burned even unto heaven: and there was darkness, and a cloud and obscurity in it. And the Lord spoke to you from the midst of the fire. You heard the voice of his words, but you saw not any form at all. And he shewed you his covenant, which he commanded you to do, and the ten words that he wrote in two tables of stone. And he commanded me at that time that I should teach you the ceremonies and judgments which you shall do in the land, that you shall possess. Keep therefore your souls carefully. You saw not any similitude in the day that the Lord God spoke to you in Horeb from the midst of the fire: Lest perhaps being deceived you might make you a graven similitude, or image of male or female, The similitude of any beasts, that are upon the earth, or of birds, that fly under heaven, Or of creeping things, that move on the earth, or of fishes, that abide in the waters under the earth: Lest perhaps lifting up thy eyes to heaven, thou see the sun and the moon, and all the stars of heaven, and being deceived by error thou adore and serve them, which the Lord thy God created for the service of all the nations, that are under heaven. But the Lord hath taken you and brought you out of the iron furnaces of Egypt, to make you his people of inheritance, as it is this present day. And the Lord was angry with me for your words, and he swore that I should not pass over the Jordan, nor enter into the excellent land, which he will give you. Behold I die in this land, I shall not pass over the Jordan: you shall pass, and possess the goodly land. Beware lest thou ever forget the covenant of the Lord thy God, which he hath made with thee: and make to thyself a graven likeness of 24 those things which the Lord hath forbid to be made: Because 25 the Lord thy God is a consuming fire, a jealous God. If you shall beget sons and grandsons, and abide in the land, and being deceived, make to yourselves any similitude, committing evil 26 before the Lord your God, to provoke him to wrath: I call this day heaven and earth to witness, that you shall quickly perish out of the land, which, when you have passed over the Jordan, you shall possess. You shall not dwell therein long, but the Lord 27 will destroy you, And scatter you among all nations, and you shall remain a few among the nations, to which the Lord shall 28 lead you. And there you shall serve gods, that were framed with men's hands: wood and stone, that neither see, nor hear, 29 nor eat, nor smell. And when thou shalt seek there the Lord thy God, thou shalt find him: yet so, if thou seek him with all 30 thy heart, and all the affliction of thy soul. After all the things aforesaid shall find thee, in the latter time thou shalt return to 31 the Lord thy God, and shalt hear his voice. Because the Lord thy God is a merciful God: he will not leave thee, nor altogether destroy thee, nor forget the covenant, by which he swore to thy 32 fathers. Ask of the days of old, that have been before thy time from the day that God created man upon the earth, from one end of heaven to the other end thereof, if ever there was done the 33 like thing, or it hath been known at any time, That a people should hear the voice of God speaking out of the midst of fire, as 34 thou hast heard, and lived: If God ever did so as to go, and take to himself a nation out of the midst of nations by temptations, signs, and wonders, by fight, and a strong hand, and stretched out arm, and horrible visions according to all the things that 35 the Lord your God did for you in Egypt, before thy eyes. That thou mightest know that the Lord he is God, and there is no 36 other besides him. From heaven he made thee to hear his voice, that he might teach thee. And upon earth he shewed thee his exceeding great fire, and thou didst hear his words out of the 37 midst of the fire, Because he loved thy fathers, and chose their seed after them. And he brought thee out of Egypt, going before 38 thee with his great power, To destroy at thy coming very great nations, and stronger than thou art, and to bring thee in, and give thee their land for a possession, as thou seest at this present 39 day. Know therefore this day, and think in thy heart that the Lord he is God in heaven above, and in the earth beneath, and there is no other. Keep his precepts and commandments, which I command thee: that it may be well with thee, and thy children after thee, and thou mayst remain a long time upon the land, which the Lord thy God will give thee. Then Moses set aside three cities beyond the Jordan at the east side, That any one might flee to them who should kill his neighbour unwillingly, and was not his enemy a day or two before, and that he might escape to some one of these cities: Bosor in the wilderness, which is situate in the plains of the tribe of Ruben: and Ramoth in Galaad, which is in the tribe of Gad: and Golan in Basan, which is in the tribe of Manasses. This is the law, that Moses set before the children of Israel, And these are the testimonies and ceremonies and judgments, which he spoke to the children of Israel, when they came out of Egypt, Beyond the Jordan in the valley over against the temple of Phogor, in the land of Sehon king of the Amorrhites, that dwelt in Hesebon, whom Moses slew. And the children of Israel coming out of Egypt, Possessed his land, and the land of Og king of Basan, of the two kings of the Amorrhites, who were beyond the Jordan towards the rising of the sun: From Aroer, which is situate upon the bank of the torrent Arnon, unto mount Sion, which is also called Hermon, All the plain beyond the Jordan at the east side, unto the sea of the wilderness, and unto the foot of mount Phasga.

And Moses called all Israel, and said to them: Hear, O Israel, the ceremonies and judgments, which I speak in your ears this day: learn them, and fulfil them in work. The Lord our God made a covenant with us in Horeb. He made not the covenant with our fathers, but with us, who are now present and living. He spoke to us face to face in the mount out of the midst of fire. I was the mediator and stood between the Lord and you at that time, to shew you his words, for you feared the fire, and went not up into the mountain, and he said: I am the Lord thy God, who brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt not have strange gods in my sight. Thou shalt not make to thy self a graven thing, nor the likeness of any things, that are in heaven above, or that are in the earth beneath, or that abide in the waters under the earth. Thou shalt not adore them, and thou shalt not serve them. For I am the Lord thy God, a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon their children unto the third and fourth generation, to them that 10 hate me, And shewing mercy unto many thousands, to them 11 that love me, and keep my commandments. Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for he shall not be 12 unpunished that taketh his name upon a vain thing. Observe the day of the sabbath, to sanctify it, as the Lord thy God hath 13 commanded thee. Six days shalt thou labour, and shalt do all 14 thy works. The seventh is the day of the sabbath, that is, the rest of the Lord thy God. Thou shalt not do any work therein, thou nor thy son nor thy daughter, nor thy manservant nor thy maidservant, nor thy ox, nor thy ass, nor any of thy beasts, nor the stranger that is within thy gates: that thy manservant and 15 thy maidservant may rest, even as thyself. Remember that thou also didst serve in Egypt, and the Lord thy God brought thee out from thence with a strong hand, and a stretched out arm.

Therefore hath he commanded thee that thou shouldst observe 16 the sabbath day. Honour thy father and mother, as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee, that thou mayst live a long time, and it may be well with thee in the land, which the Lord thy God 17, 18 will give thee. Thou shalt not kill. Neither shalt thou commit 19, 20 adultery. And thou shalt not steal. Neither shalt thou bear 21 false witness against thy neighbour. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbour's wife: nor his house, nor his field, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is 22 his. These words the Lord spoke to all the multitude of you in the mountain, out of the midst of the fire and the cloud, and the darkness, with a loud voice, adding nothing more: and he wrote 23 them in two tables of stone, which he delivered unto me. But you, after you heard the voice out of the midst of the darkness, and saw the mountain burn, came to me, all the princes of the 24 tribes and the elders, and you said: Behold the Lord our God hath shewn us his majesty and his greatness, we have heard his voice out of the midst of the fire, and have proved this day 25 that God speaking with man, man hath lived. Why shall we die therefore, and why shall this exceeding great fire consume us: for if we hear the voice of the Lord our God any more, we 26 shall die. What is all flesh, that it should hear the voice of the living God, who speaketh out of the midst of the fire, as we have heard, and be able to live? Approach thou rather: and hear all 27 things that the Lord our God shall say to thee, and thou shalt speak to us, and we will hear and will do them. And when the 28 Lord had heard this, he said to me: I have heard the voice of the words of this people, which they spoke to thee: they have spoken all things well. Who shall give them to have such a mind, to 29 fear me, and to keep all my commandments at all times, that it may be well with them and with their children for ever? Go 30 and say to them: Return into your tents. But stand thou here 31 with me, and I will speak to thee all my commandments, and ceremonies and judgments: which thou shalt teach them, that they may do them in the land, which I will give them for a possession. Keep therefore and do the things which the Lord 32 God hath commanded you: you shall not go aside neither to the right hand, nor to the left. But you shall walk in the way that 33 the Lord your God hath commanded, that you may live, and it may be well with you, and your days may be long in the land of your possession.

These are the precepts, and ceremonies, and judgments, which 6 the Lord your God commanded that I should teach you, and that you should do them in the land into which you pass over to possess it: That thou mayst fear the Lord thy God, and keep 2 all his commandments and precepts, which I command thee, and thy sons, and thy grandsons, all the days of thy life, that thy days may be prolonged. Hear, O Israel, and observe to do the things 3 which the Lord hath commanded thee, that it may be well with thee, and thou mayst be greatly multiplied, as the Lord the God of thy fathers hath promised thee a land flowing with milk and honey. Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God is one Lord. Thou 4, 5 shalt love the Lord thy God with thy whole heart, and with thy whole soul, and with thy whole strength. And these words 6 which I command thee this day, shall be in thy heart: And 7 thou shalt tell them to thy children, and thou shalt meditate upon them sitting in thy house, and walking on thy journey, sleeping and rising. And thou shalt bind them as a sign on 8 thy hand, and they shall be and shall move between thy eyes.
And thou shalt write them in the entry, and on the doors of thy 9 house. And when the Lord thy God shall have brought thee 10 into the land, for which he swore to thy fathers Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob: and shall have given thee great and goodly cities, 11 which thou didst not build, Houses full of riches, which thou didst not set up, cisterns which thou didst not dig, vineyards 12 and oliveyards, which thou didst not plant, And thou shalt 13 have eaten and be full: Take heed diligently lest thou forget the Lord, who brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt fear the Lord thy God, and shalt 14 serve him only, and thou shalt swear by his name. You shall not go after the strange gods of all the nations, that are round 15 about you: Because the Lord thy God is a jealous God in the midst of thee: lest at any time the wrath of the Lord thy God be kindled against thee, and take thee away from the face of 16 the earth. Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God, as thou temptedst him in the place of temptation. Keep the precepts of the Lord thy God, and the testimonies and ceremonies which 18 he hath commanded thee. And do that which is pleasing and good in the sight of the Lord, that it may be well with thee: and going in thou mayst possess the goodly land, concerning which 19 the Lord swore to thy fathers, That he would destroy all thy enemies before thee, as he hath spoken. And when thy son 20 shall ask thee to morrow, saying: What mean these testimonies, and ceremonies and judgments, which the Lord our God hath 21 commanded us? Thou shalt say to him: We were bondmen of Pharao in Egypt, and the Lord brought us out of Egypt with 22 a strong hand. And he wrought signs and wonders great and very grievous in Egypt against Pharao, and all his house, in our 23 sight, And he brought us out from thence, that he might bring us in and give us the land, concerning which he swore to our 24 fathers. And the Lord commanded that we should do all these ordinances, and should fear the Lord our God, that it might be 25 well with us all the days of our life, as it is at this day. And he will be merciful to us, if we keep and do all his precepts before the Lord our God, as he hath commanded us.

7 When the Lord thy God shall have brought thee into the land, which thou art going in to possess, and shall have destroyed many nations before thee, the Hethite, and the Gergezite, and the Amorrhite, and the Chanaanite, and the Pherezite, and the Hevite, and the Jebusite, seven nations much more numerous than thou 2 art, and stronger than thou: And the Lord thy God shall have delivered them to thee, thou shalt utterly destroy them. Thou shalt make no league with them, nor shew mercy to them: Neither shalt thou make marriages with them. Thou shalt not give thy daughter to his son, nor take his daughter for thy son: For she will turn away thy son from following me, that he may rather serve strange gods, and the wrath of the Lord will be kindled, and will quickly destroy thee. But thus rather shall you deal with them: Destroy their altars, and break their statues, and cut down their groves, and burn their graven things. Because thou art a holy people to the Lord thy God. The Lord thy God hath chosen thee, to be his peculiar people of all peoples that are upon the earth. Not because you surpass all nations in number, is the Lord joined unto you, and hath chosen you, for you are the fewest of any people: But because the Lord hath loved you, and hath kept his oath, which he swore to your fathers: and hath brought you out with a strong hand, and redeemed you from the house of bondage, out of the hand of Pharaoh the king of Egypt. And thou shalt know that the Lord thy God, he is a strong and faithful God, keeping his covenant and mercy to them that love him, and to them that keep his commandments, unto a thousand generations: And repaying forthwith them that hate him, so as to destroy them, without further delay immediately rendering to them what they deserve. Keep therefore the precepts and ceremonies and judgments, which I command thee this day to do. If after thou hast heard these judgments, thou keep and do them, the Lord thy God will also keep his covenant to thee, and the mercy which he swore to thy fathers: And he will love thee and multiply thee, and will bless the fruit of thy womb, and the fruit of thy land, thy corn, and thy vintage, thy oil, and thy herds, and the flocks of thy sheep upon the land, for which he swore to thy fathers that he would give it thee. Blessed shalt thou be among all people. No one shall be barren among you of either sex, neither of men nor cattle. The Lord will take away from thee all sickness: and the grievous infirmities of Egypt, which thou knowest, he will not bring upon thee, but upon thy enemies. Thou shalt consume all the people, which the Lord thy God will deliver to thee. Thy eye shall not spare them, neither shalt thou serve their gods, lest they be thy ruin. If thou say in thy heart: These nations are more than I, how shall I be 18 able to destroy them? Fear not, but remember what the Lord 19 thy God did to Pharaoh and to all the Egyptians, The exceeding great plagues, which thy eyes saw, and the signs and wonders, and the strong hand, and the stretched out arm, with which the Lord thy God brought thee out: so will he do to all the peo-20 ple, whom thou fearest. Moreover the Lord thy God will send also hornets among them, until he destroy and consume all that 21 have escaped thee, and could hide themselves. Thou shalt not fear them, because the Lord thy God is in the midst of thee, a 22 God mighty and terrible: He will consume these nations in thy sight by little and little and by degrees. Thou wilt not be able to destroy them altogether: lest perhaps the beasts of the earth 23 should increase upon thee. But the Lord thy God shall deliver them in thy sight: and shall slay them until they be utterly de-24 stroyed. And he shall deliver their kings into thy hands, and thou shalt destroy their names from under Heaven: no man shall 25 be able to resist thee, until thou destroy them. Their graven things thou shalt burn with fire: thou shalt not covet the silver and gold of which they are made, neither shalt thou take to thee any thing thereof, lest thou offend, because it is an abomination 26 to the Lord thy God. Neither shalt thou bring any thing of the idol into thy house, lest thou become an anathema, like it. Thou shalt detest it as dung, and shalt utterly abhor it as uncleanness and filth, because it is an anathema.

8 All the commandments, that I command thee this day, take great care to observe: that you may live, and be multiplied, and going in may possess the land, for which the Lord swore to your 2 fathers. And thou shalt remember all the way through which the Lord thy God hath brought thee for forty years through the desert, to afflict thee and to prove thee, and that the things that were known in thy heart might be made known, whether thou 3 wouldst keep his commandments or no. He afflicted thee with want, and gave thee manna for thy food, which neither thou nor thy fathers knew: to shew that not in bread alone doth man live, but in every word that proceedeth from the mouth of God.
4 Thy raiment, with which thou wast covered, hath not decayed for age, and thy foot is not worn, lo this is the fortieth year, 5 That thou mayst consider in thy heart, that as a man traineth 6 up his son, so the Lord thy God hath trained thee up. That thou shouldst keep the commandments of the Lord thy God, and walk in his ways, and fear him. For the Lord thy God will bring thee into a good land, of brooks and of waters, and of fountains: in the plains of which and the hills deep rivers break out: A land of wheat, and barley, and vineyards, wherein fig trees and pomegranates, and oliveyards grow: a land of oil and honey. Where without any want thou shalt eat thy bread, and enjoy abundance of all things: where the stones are iron, and out of its hills are dug mines of brass: That when thou hast eaten, and art full, thou mayst bless the Lord thy God for the excellent land which he hath given thee. Take heed, and beware lest at any time thou forget the Lord thy God, and neglect his commandments and judgments and ceremonies, which I command thee this day: Lest after thou hast eaten and art filled, hast built goodly houses, and dwelt in them, And shalt have herds of oxen and flocks of sheep, and plenty of gold and of silver, and of all things, Thy heart be lifted up, and thou remember not the Lord thy God, who brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage: And was thy leader in the great and terrible wilderness, wherein there was the serpent burning with his breath, and the scorpion and the dipsas, and no waters at all: who brought forth streams out of the hardest rock, And fed thee in the wilderness with manna which thy fathers knew not. And after he had afflicted and proved thee, at the last he had mercy on thee, Lest thou shouldst say in thy heart: My own might, and the strength of my own hand have achieved all these things for me. But remember the Lord thy God, that he hath given thee strength, that he might fulfil his covenant, concerning which he swore to thy fathers, as this present day sheweth. But if thou forget the Lord thy God, and follow strange gods, and serve and adore them: behold now I foretell thee that thou shalt utterly perish. As the nations, which the Lord destroyed at thy entrance, so shall you also perish, if you be disobedient to the voice of the Lord your God.

Hear, O Israel: Thou shalt go over the Jordan this day; to possess nations very great, and stronger than thyself, cities great, and walled up to the sky, A people great and tall, the sons of the Enacims, whom thou hast seen, and heard of, against whom no man is able to stand. Thou shalt know therefore this day that the Lord thy God himself will pass over before thee, a devouring and consuming fire, to destroy and extirpate and bring them to nothing before thy face quickly, as he hath spoken 4 to thee. Say not in thy heart, when the Lord thy God shall have destroyed them in thy sight: For my justice hath the Lord brought me in to possess this land, whereas these nations are 5 destroyed for their wickedness. For it is not for thy justices, and the uprightness of thy heart that thou shalt go in to possess their lands: but because they have done wickedly, they are destroyed at thy coming in: and that the Lord might accomplish his word, which he promised by oath to thy fathers Abraham, Isaac, and 6 Jacob. Know therefore that the Lord thy God giveth thee not this excellent land in possession for thy justices, for thou art a 7 very stiffnecked people. Remember, and forget not how thou provokedst the Lord thy God to wrath in the wilderness. From the day that thou camest out of Egypt unto this place, thou hast 8 always strove against the Lord. For in Horeb, also thou didst provoke him, and he was angry, and would have destroyed thee, 9 When I went up into the mount to receive the tables of stone, the tables of the covenant which the Lord made with you: and I continued in the mount forty days and nights, neither eating 10 bread, nor drinking water. And the Lord gave me two tables of stone written with the finger of God, and containing all the words that he spoke to you in the mount from the midst of the 11 fire, when the people were assembled together. And when forty days were passed, and as many nights, the Lord gave me the 12 two tables of stone, the tables of the covenant, And said to me: Arise, and go down from hence quickly: for thy people, which thou hast brought out of Egypt, have quickly forsaken the way that thou hast shewn them, and have made to themselves 13 a molten idol. And again the Lord said to me: I see that this 14 people is stiffnecked: Let me alone that I may destroy them, and abolish their name from under heaven, and set thee over 15 a nation, that is greater and stronger than this. And when I came down from the burning mount, and held the two tables of 16 the covenant with both hands, And saw that you had sinned against the Lord your God, and had made to yourselves a molten calf, and had quickly forsaken his way, which he had shewn you: 17 I cast the tables out of my hands, and broke them in your sight.

And I fell down before the Lord as before, forty days and nights 18 neither eating bread, nor drinking water, for all your sins, which you had committed against the Lord, and had provoked him to wrath: For I feared his indignation and anger, wherewith being 19 moved against you, he would have destroyed you. And the Lord heard me this time also. And he was exceeding angry against 20 Aaron also, and would have destroyed him, and I prayed in like manner for him. And your sin that you had committed, that 21 is, the calf, I took, and burned it with fire, and breaking it into pieces, until it was as small as dust, I threw it into the torrent, which cometh down from the mountain. At the burning also, 22 and at the place of temptation, and at the graves of lust you provoked the Lord: And when he sent you from Cadesbarne, 23 saying: Go up, and possess the land that I have given you, and you slighted the commandment of the Lord your God, and did not believe him, neither would you hearken to his voice: But 24 were always rebellious from the day that I began to know you.
And I lay prostrate before the Lord forty days and nights, in 25 which I humbly besought him, that he would not destroy you as he had threatened: And praying, I said: O Lord God, destroy 26 not thy people, and thy inheritance, which thou hast redeemed in thy greatness, whom thou hast brought out of Egypt with a strong hand. Remember thy servants Abraham, Isaac, and 27 Jacob: look not on the stubbornness of this people, nor on their wickedness and sin: Lest perhaps the inhabitants of the land, 28 out of which thou hast brought us, say: The Lord could not bring them into the land that he promised them, and he hated them: therefore he brought them out, that he might kill them in the wilderness, Who are thy people and thy inheritance, whom 29 thou hast brought out by thy great strength, and in thy stretched out arm.

At that time the Lord said to me: Hew thee two tables of 10 stone like the former, and come up to me into the mount: and thou shalt make an ark of wood, And I will write on the tables 2 the words that were in them, which thou brokest before, and thou shalt put them in the ark. And I made an ark of setim 3 wood. And when I had hewn two tables of stone like the former, I went up into the mount, having them in my hands. And he 4 wrote in the tables, according as he had written before, the ten words, which the Lord spoke to you in the mount from the midst of the fire, when the people were assembled: and he gave them 5 to me. And returning from the mount, I came down, and put the tables into the ark, that I had made, and they are there till 6 this present, as the Lord commanded me. And the children of Israel removed their camp from Beroth, of the children of Jacan into Mosera, where Aaron died and was buried, and Eleazar 7 his son succeeded him in the priestly office. From thence they came to Gadgad, from which place they departed, and camped 8 in Jetebatha, in a land of waters and torrents. At that time he separated the tribe of Levi, to carry the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and to stand before him in the ministry, and to bless 9 in his name until this present day. Wherefore Levi hath no part nor possession with his brethren: because the Lord himself is his 10 possession, as the Lord thy God promised him. And I stood in the mount, as before, forty days and nights: and the Lord heard 11 me this time also, and would not destroy thee. And he said to me: Go, and walk before the people, that they may enter, and possess the land, which I swore to their fathers that I would give 12 them. And now, Israel, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but that thou fear the Lord thy God, and walk in his ways, and love him, and serve the Lord thy God, with all thy 13 heart, and with all thy soul: And keep the commandments of the Lord, and his ceremonies, which I command thee this day, 14 that it may be well with thee? Behold heaven is the Lord's thy God, and the heaven of heaven, the earth and all things 15 that are therein. And yet the Lord hath been closely joined to thy fathers, and loved them and chose their seed after them, that is to say, you, out of all nations, as this day it is proved.

16 Circumcise therefore the foreskin of your heart, and stiffen your neck no more. Because the Lord your God he is the God of gods, 17 and the Lord of lords, a great God and mighty and terrible, who accepteth no person nor taketh bribes. He doth judgment to the fatherless and the widow, loveth the stranger, and giveth him 19 food and raiment. And do you therefore love strangers, because you also were strangers in the land of Egypt. Thou shalt fear the Lord thy God, and serve him only: to him thou shalt adhere, 20 and shalt swear by his name. He is thy praise, and thy God, that hath done for thee these great and terrible things, which thy eyes have seen. In seventy souls thy fathers went down into 22 Egypt: and behold now the Lord thy God hath multiplied thee as the stars of heaven.

Therefore love the Lord thy God and observe his precepts and 11 ceremonies, his judgments and commmandments at all times.
Know this day the things that your children know not, who saw 2 not the chastisements of the Lord your God, his great doings and strong hand, and stretched out arm, The signs and works 3 which he did in the midst of Egypt to king Pharao, and to all his land, And to all the host of the Egyptians, and to their horses 4 and chariots: how the waters of the Red Sea covered them, when they pursued you, and how the Lord destroyed them until this present day: And what he hath done to you in the wilderness, 5 til you came to this place: And to Dathan and Abiron the sons 6 of Eliab, who was the son of Ruben: whom the earth, opening her mouth swallowed up with their households and tents, and all their substance, which they had in the midst of Israel. Your 7 eyes have seen all the great works of the Lord, that he hath done, That you may keep all his commandments, which I command 8 you this day, and may go in, and possess the land, to which you are entering, And may live in it a long time: which the 9 Lord promised by oath to your fathers, and to their seed, a land which floweth with milk and honey. For the land, which thou 10 goest to possess, is not like the land of Egypt, from whence thou camest out, where, when the seed is sown, waters are brought in to water it after the manner of gardens. But it is a land 11 of hills and plains, expecting rain from heaven. And the Lord 12 thy God doth always visit it, and his eyes are on it from the beginning of the year unto the end thereof. If then you obey 13 my commandments, which I command you this day, that you love the Lord your God, and serve him with all your heart, and with all your soul: He will give to your land the early rain 14 and the latter rain, that you may gather in your corn, and your wine, and your oil, And your hay out of the fields to feed your 15 cattle, and that you may eat and be filled. Beware lest perhaps 16 your heart be deceived, and you depart from the Lord, and serve strange gods, and adore them: And the Lord being angry shut 17 up heaven, that the rain come not down, nor the earth yield her fruit, and you perish quickly from the excellent land, which 18 the Lord will give you. Lay up these words in your hearts and minds, and hang them for a sign on your hands, and place them 19 between your eyes. Teach your children that they meditate on them, when thou sittest in thy house, and when thou walkest on 20 the way, and when thou liest down and risest up. Thou shalt 21 write them upon the posts and the doors of thy house: That thy days may be multiplied, and the days of thy children in the land which the Lord swore to thy fathers, that he would give them as 22 long as the heaven hangeth over the earth. For if you keep the commandments which I command you, and do them, to love the 23 Lord your God, and walk in all his ways, cleaving unto him, The Lord will destroy all these nations before your face, and you shall 24 possess them, which are greater and stronger than you. Every place, that your foot shall tread upon, shall be yours. From the desert, and from Libanus, from the great river Euphrates unto 25 the western sea shall be your borders. None shall stand against you: the Lord your God shall lay the dread and fear of you upon all the land that you shall tread upon, as he hath spoken to you.

26 Behold I set forth in your sight this day a blessing and a curse: 27 A blessing, if you obey the commandments of the Lord your 28 God, which I command you this day: A curse, if you obey not the commandments of the Lord your God, but revolt from the way which now I shew you, and walk after strange gods which 29 you know not. And when the Lord thy God shall have brought thee into the land, whither thou goest to dwell, thou shalt put the blessing upon mount Garizim, the curse upon mount Hebal: 30 Which are beyond the Jordan, behind the way that goeth to the setting of the sun, in the land of the Chanaanite who dwelleth in the plain country over against Galgala, which is near the valley 31 that reacheth and entereth far. For you shall pass over the Jordan, to possess the land, which the Lord your God will give 32 you, that you may have it and possess it. See therefore that you fulfil the ceremonies and judgments, which I shall set this day before you.

12 These are the precepts and judgments, that you must do in the land, which the Lord the God of thy fathers will give thee, to 2 possess it all the days that thou shalt walk upon the earth. Destroy all the places in which the nations, that you shall possess, worshipped their gods upon high mountains, and hills, and under every shady tree: Overthrow their altars, and break down 3 their statues, burn their groves with fire, and break their idols in pieces: destroy their names out of those places. You shall not 4 do so to the Lord your God: But you shall come to the place, 5 which the Lord your God shall choose out of all your tribes, to put his name there, and to dwell in it: And you shall offer in 6 that place your holocausts and victims, the tithes and firstfruits of your hands and your vows and gifts, the firstborn of your herds and your sheep. And you shall eat there in the sight of 7 the Lord your God: and you shall rejoice in all things, whereunto you shall put your hand, you and your houses wherein the Lord your God hath blessed you. You shall not do there the 8 things we do here this day, every man that which seemeth good to himself. For until this present time you are not come to 9 rest, and to the possession, which the Lord your God will give you. You shall pass over the Jordan, and shall dwell in the 10 land which the Lord your God will give you, that you may have rest from all enemies round about: and may dwell without any fear, In the place, which the Lord your God shall choose, that 11 his name may be therein. Thither shall you bring all the things that I command you, holocausts, and victims, and tithes, and the firstfruits of your hands: and whatsoever is the choicest in the gifts which you shall vow to the Lord. There shall you feast 12 before the Lord your God, you and your sons and your daughters, your menservants and maidservants, and the Levite that dwelleth in your cities. For he hath no other part and possession among you. Beware lest thou offer thy holocausts in every 13 place that thou shalt see: But in the place which the Lord shall 14 choose in one of thy tribes shalt thou offer sacrifices, and shalt do all that I command thee. But if thou desirest to eat, and 15 the eating of flesh delight thee, kill, and eat according to the blessing of the Lord thy God, which he hath given thee, in thy cities: whether it be unclean, that is to say, having blemish or defect: or clean, that is to say, sound and without blemish, such as may be offered, as the roe, and the hart, shalt thou eat it: Only the blood thou shalt not eat, but thou shalt pour it out 16 upon the earth as water. Thou mayst not eat in thy towns the 17 tithes of thy corn, and thy wine, and thy oil, the firstborn of thy herds and thy cattle, nor any thing that thou vowest, and that 18 thou wilt offer voluntarily, and the firstfruits of thy hands: But thou shalt eat them before the Lord thy God in the place which the Lord thy God shall choose, thou and thy son and thy daughter, and thy manservant, and maidservant, and the Levite that dwelleth in thy cities: and thou shalt rejoice and be refreshed 19 thy hand. Take heed thou forsake not the Levite all the time 20 that thou livest in the land. When the Lord thy God shall have enlarged thy borders, as he hath spoken to thee, and thou wilt 21 eat the flesh that thy soul desireth: And if the place which the Lord thy God shall choose, that his name should be there, be far off, thou shalt kill of thy herds and of thy flocks, as I have commanded thee, and shalt eat in thy towns, as it pleaseth thee.

22 Even as the roe and the hart is eaten, so shalt thou eat them: 23 both the clean and unclean shall eat of them alike. Only beware of this, that thou eat not the blood, for the blood is for the soul: 24 and therefore thou must not eat the soul with the flesh: But 25 thou shalt pour it upon the earth as water, That it may be well with thee and thy children after thee, when thou shalt do that 26 which is pleasing in the sight of the Lord. But the things which thou hast sanctified and vowed to the Lord, thou shalt take, and 27 shalt come to the place which the Lord shall choose: And shalt offer thy oblations, the flesh and the blood upon the altar of the Lord thy God: the blood of thy victims thou shalt pour on the 28 altar: and the flesh thou thyself shalt eat. Observe and hear all the things that I command thee, that it may be well with thee and thy children after thee for ever, when thou shalt do what is 29 good and pleasing in the sight of the Lord thy God. When the Lord thy God shall have destroyed before thy face the nations, which thou shalt go in to possess, and when thou shalt possess 30 them, and dwell in their land: Beware lest thou imitate them, after they are destroyed at thy coming in, and lest thou seek after their ceremonies, saying: As these nations have worshipped 31 their gods, so will I also worship. Thou shalt not do in like manner to the Lord thy God. For they have done to their gods all the abominations which the Lord abhorreth, offering their sons 32 and daughters, and burning them with fire. What I command thee, that only do thou to the Lord: neither add any thing, nor diminish.

If there rise in the midst of thee a prophet or one that saith 13 he hath dreamed a dream, and he foretell a sign and a wonder, And that come to pass which he spoke, and he say to thee: Let 2 us go and follow strange gods, which thou knowest not, and let us serve them: Thou shalt not hear the words of that prophet or 3 dreamer: for the Lord your God trieth you, that it may appear whether you love him with all your heart, and with all your soul, or not. Follow the Lord your God, and fear him, and keep his 4 commandments, and hear his voice: him you shall serve, and to him you shall cleave. And that prophet or forger of dreams 5 shall be slain: because he spoke to draw you away from the Lord your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed you from the house of bondage: to make thee go out of the way, which the Lord thy God commanded thee: and thou shalt take away the evil out of the midst of thee. If thy brother 6 the son of thy mother, or thy son, or daughter, or thy wife that is in thy bosom, or thy friend, whom thou lovest as thy own soul, would persuade thee secretly, saying: Let us go, and serve strange gods, which thou knowest not, nor thy fathers, Of all 7 the nations round about, that are near or afar off, from one end of the earth to the other, Consent not to him, hear him not, 8 neither let thy eye spare him to pity and conceal him, But thou 9 shalt presently put him to death. Let thy hand be first upon him, and afterwards the hands of all the people. With stones 10 shall he be stoned to death: because he would have withdrawn thee from the Lord thy God, who brought thee out of the land of Egypt, from the house of bondage: That all Israel hearing 11 may fear, and may do no more any thing like this. If in one of thy cities, which the Lord thy God shall give thee to dwell in, thou hear some say: Children of Belial are gone out of the 13 midst of thee, and have withdrawn the inhabitants of their city, and have said: Let us go, and serve strange gods which you know not: Inquire carefully and diligently, the truth of the thing by 14 looking well into it, and if thou find that which is said to be certain, and that this abomination hath been really committed, Thou shalt forthwith kill the inhabitants of that city with the 15 edge of the sword, and shalt destroy it and all things that are in it, even the cattle. And all the household goods that are there, 16 thou shalt gather together in the midst of the streets thereof, and shall burn them with the city itself, so as to consume all for the Lord thy God, and that it be a heap for ever: it shall be 17 built no more. And there shall nothing of that anathema stick to thy hand: that the Lord may turn from the wrath of his fury, and may have mercy on thee, and multiply thee as he swore to 18 thy fathers, When thou shalt hear the voice of the Lord thy God, keeping all his precepts, which I command thee this day, that thou mayst do what is pleasing in the sight of the Lord thy God.

14 Be ye children of the Lord your God: you shall not cut yourselves, nor make any baldness for the dead; Because thou art a holy people to the Lord thy God: and he chose thee to be 3 his peculiar people of all nations that are upon the earth. Eat 4 not the things that are unclean. These are the beasts that 5 you shall eat, the ox, and the sheep, and the goat, The hart and the roe, the buffle, the chamois, the pygarg, the wild goat, 6 the camelopardalus. Every beast that divideth the hoof in two 7 parts, and cheweth the cud, you shall eat. But of them that chew the cud, but divide not the hoof, you shall not eat, such as the camel, the hare, and the cherogril: because they chew the 8 cud, but divide not the hoof, they shall be unclean to you. The swine also, because it divideth the hoof, but cheweth not the cud, shall be unclean, their flesh you shall not eat, and their car-9 casses you shall not touch. These shall you eat of all that abide 10 in the waters: All that have fins and scales, you shall eat. Such as are without fins and scales, you shall not eat, because they are 11, 12 unclean. All birds that are clean you shall eat. The unclean 13 eat not: to wit, the eagle, and the grype, and the osprey, The ringtail, and the vulture, and the kite according to their kind: 14, 15 And all of the raven's kind: And the ostrich, and the owl, and 16 the larus, and the hawk according to its kind: The heron, and 17 the swan, and the stork, And the cormorant, the porphirion, and the night crow, The bittern, and the charadrion, every one 18 in their kind: the houp also and the bat. Every thing that creepeth, and hath little wings, shall be unclean, and shall not 19 be eaten. All that is clean, you shall eat. But whatsoever is dead of itself, eat not thereof. Give it to the stranger, that is within thy gates, to eat, or sell it to him: because thou art the holy people of the Lord thy God. Thou shalt not boil a kid in 20, 21

the milk of his dam. Every year thou shalt set aside the tithes 22 of all thy fruits that the earth bringeth forth, And thou shalt 23 eat before the Lord thy God in the place which he shall choose, that his name may be called upon therein, the tithe of thy corn, and thy wine, and thy oil, and the firstborn of thy herds and thy sheep: that thou mayst learn to fear the Lord thy God at all times. But when the way and the place which the Lord thy 24 God shall choose, are far off, and he hath blessed thee, and thou canst not carry all these things thither, Thou shalt sell them 25 all, and turn them into money, and shalt carry it in thy hand, and shalt go to the place which the Lord shall choose: And thou 26 shalt buy with the same money whatsoever pleaseth thee, either of the herds or of sheep, wine also and strong drink, and all that thy soul desireth: and thou shalt eat before the Lord thy God, and shalt feast, thou and thy house: And the Levite that is 27 within thy gates, beware thou forsake him not, because he hath no other part in thy possession. The third year thou shalt sepa- 28 rate another tithe of all things that grow to thee at that time, and shalt lay it up within thy gates. And the Levite that hath 29 no other part nor possession with thee, and the stranger and the fatherless and the widow, that are within thy gates, shall come and shall eat and be filled: that the Lord thy God may bless thee in all the works of thy hands that thou shalt do.

In the seventh year thou shalt make a remission, Which shall 15, 2 be celebrated in this order. He to whom any thing is owing from his friend or neighbour or brother, cannot demand it again, because it is the year of remission of the Lord. Of the foreigner 3 or stranger thou mayst exact it: of thy countryman and neighbour thou shalt not have power to demand it again. And there 4 shall be no poor nor beggar among you: that the Lord thy God may bless thee in the land which he will give thee in possession.
Yet so if thou hear the voice of the Lord thy God, and keep all 5 things that he hath ordained, and which I command thee this day, he will bless thee, as he hath promised. Thou shalt lend 6 to many nations, and thou shalt borrow of no man. Thou shalt have dominion over very many nations, and no one shall have dominion over thee. If one of thy brethren that dwelleth within 7 thy gates of thy city in the land which the Lord thy God will give thee, come to poverty: thou shalt not harden thy heart, nor 8 close thy hand, But shalt open it to the poor man, thou shalt 9 lend him, that which thou perceivest he hath need of. Beware lest perhaps a wicked thought steal in upon thee, and thou say in thy heart: The seventh year of remission draweth nigh; and thou turn away thy eyes from thy poor brother, denying to lend him that which he asketh: lest he cry against thee to the Lord, and 10 it become a sin unto thee. But thou shalt give to him: neither shalt thou do any thing craftily in relieving his necessities: that the Lord thy God may bless thee at all times, and in all things to 11 which thou shalt put thy hand. There will not be wanting poor in the land of thy habitation: therefore I command thee to open thy hand to thy needy and poor brother, that liveth in the land.

12 When thy brother a Hebrew man, or Hebrew woman is sold to thee, and hath served thee six years, in the seventh year thou 13 shalt let him go free: And when thou sendest him out free, thou 14 shalt not let him go away empty: But shall give him for his way out of thy flocks, and out of thy barnfloor, and thy winepress, 15 wherewith the Lord thy God shall bless thee. Remember that thou also wast a bondservant in the land of Egypt, and the Lord thy God made thee free, and therefore I now command thee this.
16 But if he say: I will not depart: because he loveth thee, and thy 17 house, and findeth that he is well with thee: Thou shalt take an awl, and bore through his ear in the door of thy house, and he shall serve thee for ever: thou shalt do in like manner to thy 18 womanservant also. Turn not away thy eyes from them when thou makest them free: because he hath served thee six years according to the wages of a hireling: that the Lord thy God may 19 bless thee in all the works that thou dost. Of the firstlings, that come of thy herds and thy sheep, thou shalt sanctify to the Lord thy God whatsoever is of the male sex. Thou shalt not work with the firstling of a bullock, and thou shalt not shear the firstlings 20 of thy sheep. In the sight of the Lord thy God shalt thou eat them every year, in the place that the Lord shall choose, thou 21 and thy house. But if it have a blemish, or be lame, or blind, or in any part disfigured or feeble, it shall not be sacrificed to 22 the Lord thy God. But thou shalt eat it within the gates of thy city: the clean and the unclean shall eat them alike, as the 23 roe and as the hart. Only thou shalt take heed not to eat their blood, but pour it out on the earth as water.

Observe the month of new corn, which is the first of the spring, 16 that thou mayst celebrate the phase to the Lord thy God: because in this month the Lord thy God brought thee out of Egypt by night. And thou shalt sacrifice the phase to the Lord thy 2 God, of sheep, and of oxen, in the place which the Lord thy God shall choose, that his name may dwell there. Thou shalt not 3 eat with it leavened bread: seven days shalt thou eat without leaven, the bread of affliction, because thou camest out of Egypt in fear: that thou mayst remember the day of thy coming out of Egypt, all the days of thy life. No leaven shall be seen in all 4 thy coasts for seven days, neither shall any of the flesh of that which was sacrificed the first day in the evening remain until morning. Thou mayst not immolate the phase in any one of 5 thy cities, which the Lord thy God will give thee: But in the 6 place which the Lord thy God shall choose, that his name may dwell there: thou shalt immolate the phase in the evening, at the going down of the sun, at which time thou camest out of Egypt. And thou shalt dress, and eat it in the place which the 7 Lord thy God shall choose, and in the morning rising up thou shalt go into thy dwellings. Six days shalt thou eat unleavened 8 bread: and on the seventh day, because it is the assembly of the Lord thy God, thou shalt do no work. Thou shalt number 9 unto thee seven weeks from that day, wherein thou didst put the sickle to the corn. And thou shalt celebrate the festival of 10 weeks to the Lord thy God, a voluntary oblation of thy hand, which thou shalt offer according to the blessing of the Lord thy God. And thou shalt feast before the Lord thy God, thou, and 11 thy son, and thy daughter, and thy manservant, and thy maidservant, and the Levite that is within thy gates, and the stranger and the fatherless, and the widow, who abide with you: in the place which the Lord thy God shall choose, that his name may dwell there: And thou shalt remember that thou wast a servant 12 in Egypt: and thou shalt keep and do the things that are commanded. Thou shalt celebrate the solemnity also of tabernacles 13 seven days, when thou hast gathered in thy fruit of the barnfloor and of the winepress. And thou shalt make merry in thy festival 14 time, thou, thy son, and thy daughter, thy manservant, and thy maidservant, the Levite also and the stranger, and the fatherless and the widow that are within thy gates. Seven days shalt 15

thou celebrate feasts to the Lord thy God in the place which the Lord shall choose: and the Lord thy God will belss thee in all thy fruits, and in every work of thy hands, and thou shalt be in joy. Three times in a year shall all thy males appear before the Lord thy God in the place which he shall choose: in the feast of unleavened bread, in the feast of weeks, and in the feast of tabernacles. No one shall appear with his hands empty before the Lord: But every one shall offer according to what he hath, according to the blessing of the Lord his God, which he shall give him. Thou shalt appoint judges and magistrates in all thy gates, which the Lord thy God shall give thee, in all thy tribes: that they may judge the people with just judgment, And not go aside to either part. Thou shalt not accept person nor gifts: for gifts blind the eyes of the wise, and change the words of the just. Thou shalt follow justly after that which is just: that thou mayst live and possess the land, which the Lord thy God shall give thee. Thou shalt plant no grove, nor any tree near the altar of the Lord thy God: Neither shalt thou make nor set up to thyself a statue: which things the Lord thy God hateth.

Thou shalt not sacrifice to the Lord thy God a sheep, or an ox, wherein there is blemish, or any fault: for that is an abomination to the Lord thy God. When there shall be found among you within any of thy gates, which the Lord thy God shall give thee, man or woman that do evil in the sight of the Lord thy God, and transgress his covenant, So as to go and serve strange gods, and adore them, the sun and the moon, and all the host of heaven, which I have not commanded: And this is told thee, and hearing it thou hast inquired diligently, and found it to be true, and that the abomination is committed in Israel: Thou shalt bring forth the man or the woman, who have committed that most wicked thing, to the gates of thy city, and they shall be stoned. By the mouth of two or three witnesses shall he die that is to be slain. Let no man be put to death, when only one beareth witness against him. The hands of the witnesses shall be first upon him to kill him, and afterwards the hands of the rest of the people: that thou mayst take away the evil out of the midst of thee.

If thou perceive that there be among you a hard and doubtful matter in judgment between blood and blood, cause and cause, leprosy and leprosy: and thou see that the words of the judges within thy gates do vary: arise, and go up to the place, which the Lord thy God shall choose. And thou shalt come to the 9 priests of the Levitical race, and to the judge, that shall be at that time: and thou shalt ask of them, and they shall shew thee the truth of the judgment. And thou shalt do whatsoever they 10 shall say, that preside in the place, which the Lord shall choose, and what they shall teach thee, According to his law; and thou 11 shalt follow their sentence: neither shalt thou decline to the right hand nor to the left hand. But he that will be proud, and refuse 12 to obey the commandment of the priest, who ministereth at that time to the Lord thy God, and the decree of the judge, that man shall die, and thou shalt take away the evil from Israel: And 13 all the people hearing it shall fear, that no one afterwards swell with pride. When thou art come into the land, which the Lord 14 thy God will give thee, and possessest it, and shalt say: I will set a king over me, as all nations have that are round about: Thou shalt set him whom the Lord thy God shall choose out 15 of the number of thy brethren. Thou mayst not make a man of another nation king, that is not thy brother. And when he 16 is made king, he shall not multiply horses to himself, nor lead back the people into Egypt, being lifted up with the number of his horsemen, especially since the Lord hath commanded you to return no more the same way. He shall not have many wives, 17 that may allure his mind, nor immense sums of silver and gold. But after he is raised to the throne of his kingdom, he shall copy 18 out to himself the Deuteronomy of this law in a volume, taking the copy of the priests of the Levitical tribe, And he shall have 19 it with him, and shall read it all the days of his life, that he may learn to fear the Lord his God, and keep his words and ceremonies, that are commanded in the law; And that his heart 20 be not lifted up with pride over his brethren, nor decline to the right or to the left, that he and his sons may reign a long time over Israel.

The priests and Levites, and all that are of the same tribe, 18 shall have no part nor inheritance with the rest of Israel, because they shall eat the sacrifices of the Lord, and his oblations, And 2 they shall receive nothing else of the possession of their brethren: for the Lord himself is their inheritance, as he hath said to them. This shall be the priest's due from the people, and from them 3 that offer victims: whether they sacrifice an ox, or a sheep, they shall give to the priest the shoulder and the breast: The first-fruits also of corn, of wine, and of oil, and a part of the wool from the shearing of their sheep. For the Lord thy God hath chosen him of all thy tribes, to stand and to minister to the name of the Lord, him and his sons for ever. If a Levite go out of any one of the cities throughout all Israel, in which he dwelleth, and have a longing mind to come to the place which the Lord shall choose, He shall minister in the name of the Lord his God, as all his brethren the Levites do, that shall stand at that time before the Lord. He shall receive the same portion of food that the rest do: besides that which is due to him in his own city, by succession from his fathers. When thou art come into the land which the Lord thy God shall give thee, beware lest thou have a mind to imitate the abominations of those nations. Neither let there be found among you any one that shall expiate his son or daughter, making them to pass through the fire: or that consulteth soothsayers, or observeth dreams and omens, neither let there be any wizard, Nor charmer, nor any one that consulteth pythonic spirits, or fortune tellers, or that seeketh the truth from the dead. For the Lord abhorreth all these things, and for these abominations he will destroy them at thy coming. Thou shalt be perfect, and without spot before the Lord thy God. These nations, whose land thou shalt possess, hearken to soothsayers and diviners: but thou art otherwise instructed by the Lord thy God. The Lord thy God will raise up to thee a PROPHET of thy nation and of thy brethren like unto me: him thou shalt hear: As thou desiredst of the Lord thy God in Horeb, when the assembly was gathered together, and saidst: Let me not hear any more the voice of the Lord my God, neither let me see any more this exceeding great fire, lest I die. And the Lord said to me: They have spoken all things well. I will raise them up a prophet out of the midst of their brethren like to thee: and I will put my words in his mouth, and he shall speak to them all that I shall command him. And he that will not hear his words, which he shall speak in my name, I will be the revenger. But the prophet, who being corrupted with pride, shall speak in my name things that I did not command him to say, or in the name of strange gods, shall be slain. And if in silent thought thou answer: How shall I know the word that the Lord hath not spoken? Thou shalt have this sign: Whatsoever that same prophet foretelleth in the name of the Lord, and it cometh not to pass: that thing the Lord hath not spoken, but the prophet hath forged it by the pride of his mind: and therefore thou shalt not fear him.

When the Lord thy God hath destroyed the nations, whose land he will deliver to thee, and thou shalt possess it, and shalt dwell in the cities and houses thereof: Thou shalt separate to thee three cities in the midst of the land, which the Lord will give thee in possession, Paving diligently the way: and thou shalt divide the whole province of thy land equally into three parts: that he who is forced to flee for manslaughter, may have near at hand whither to escape. This shall be the law of the slayer that fleeth, whose life is to be saved: He that killeth his neighbor ignorantly, and who is proved to have had no hatred against him yesterday and the day before: But to have gone with him to the wood to hew wood, and in cutting down the tree the axe slipped out of his hand, and the iron slipping from the handle struck his friend, and killed him: he shall flee to one of the cities aforesaid, and live: Lest perhaps the next kinsman of him whose blood was shed, pushed on by his grief should pursue, and apprehend him, if the way be too long, and take away the life of him who is not guilty of death, because he is proved to have had no hatred before against him that was slain. Therefore I command thee, that thou separate three cities at equal distance one from another. And when the Lord thy God shall have enlarged thy borders, as he swore to the fathers, and shall give thee all the land that he promised them, (Yet so, if thou keep his commandments, and do the things which I command thee this day, that thou love the Lord thy God, and walk in his ways at all times) thou shalt add to thee other three cities, and shalt double the number of the three cities aforesaid: That innocent blood may not be shed in the midst of the land which the Lord thy God will give thee to possess, lest thou be guilty of blood. But if any man hating his neighbour, lie in wait for his life, and rise and strike him, and he die, and he flee to one of the cities aforesaid, The ancients of his city shall send, and take him out of the place of refuge, and shall deliver him into the hand of the kinsman of him 13 whose blood was shed, and he shall die. Thou shalt not pity him, and thou shalt take away the guilt of innocent blood out of 14 Israel, that it may be well with thee. Thou shalt not take nor remove thy neighbour's landmark, which thy predecessors have set in thy possession, which the Lord thy God will give thee in 15 the land that thou shalt receive to possess. One witness shall not rise up against any man, whatsoever the sin or wickedness be: but in the mouth of two or three witnesses every word shall 16 stand. If a lying witness stand against a man, accusing him of 17 transgression, Both of them, between whom the controversy is, shall stand before the Lord in the sight of the priests and the 18 judges that shall be in those days. And when after most diligent inquisition, they shall find that the false witness hath told a lie 19 against his brother: They shall render to him as he meant to do to his brother, and thou shalt take away the evil out of the 20 midst of thee: That others hearing may fear, and may not dare 21 to do such things. Thou shalt not pity him, but shalt require life for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

20 If thou go out to war against thy enemies, and see horsemen and chariots, and the numbers of the enemy's army greater than thine, thou shalt not fear them: because the Lord thy God is 2 with thee, who brought thee out of the land of Egypt. And when the battle is now at hand, the priest shall stand before 3 the army, and shall speak to the people in this manner: Hear, O Israel, you join battle this day against your enemies, let not your heart be dismayed, be not afraid, do not give back, fear ye 4 them not: Because the Lord your God is in the midst of you, and will fight for you against your enemies, to deliver you from 5 danger. And the captains shall proclaim through every band in the hearing of the army: What man is there, that hath built a new house, and hath not dedicated it? let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle, and another man dedicate it.
6 What man is there, that hath planted a vineyard, and hath not as yet made it to be common, whereof all men may eat? let him go, and return to his house, lest he die in the battle, and another 7 man execute his office. What man is there, that hath espoused a wife, and not taken her? let him go, and return to his house, 8 lest he die in the war, and another man take her. After these things are declared they shall add the rest, and shall speak to the people: What man is there that is fearful, and faint hearted? let him go, and return to his house, lest he make the hearts of his brethren to fear, as he himself is possessed with fear. And when 9 the captains of the army shall hold their peace, and have made an end of speaking, every man shall prepare their bands to fight. If at any time thou come to fight against a city, thou shalt first 10 offer it peace. If they receive it, and open the gates to thee, all 11 the people that are therein, shall be saved, and shall serve thee paying tribute. But if they will not make peace, and shall begin 12 war against thee, thou shalt besiege it. And when the Lord thy 13 God shall deliver it into thy hands, thou shalt slay all that are therein of the male sex, with the edge of the sword, Excepting 14 women and children, cattle and other things, that are in the city. And thou shalt divide all the prey to the army, and thou shalt eat the spoils of thy enemies, which the Lord thy God shall give thee. So shalt thou do to all cities that are at a great distance 15 from thee, and are not of these cities which thou shalt receive in possession. But of those cities that shall be given thee, thou 16 shalt suffer none at all to live: But shalt kill them with the edge 17 of the sword, to wit, the Hethite, and the Amorrhite, and the Chanaanite, the Pherezite, and the Hevite, and the Jebusite, as the Lord thy God hath commanded thee: Lest they teach you 18 to do all the abominations which they have done to their gods: and you should sin against the Lord your God. When thou 19 hast besieged a city a long time, and hath compassed it with bulwarks, to take it, thou shalt not cut down the trees that may be eaten of, neither shalt thou spoil the country round about with axes: for it is a tree, and not a man, neither can it increase the number of them that fight against thee. But if there be any 20 trees that are not fruitful, but wild, and fit for other uses, cut them down, and make engines, until thou take the city, which fighteth against thee.

When there shall be found in the land, which the Lord thy 21 God will give thee, the corpse of a man slain, and it is not known who is guilty of the murder, Thy ancients and judges shall go 2 out, and shall measure from the place where the body lieth the distance of every city round about: And the ancients of that 3 city which they shall perceive to be nearer than the rest, shall take a heifer of the herd, that hath not drawn in the yoke, nor 4 ploughed the ground, And they shall bring her into a rough and stony valley, that never was ploughed, nor sown: and there they 5 shall strike off the head of the heifer: And the priests the sons of Levi shall come, whom the Lord thy God hath chosen to minister to him, and to bless in his name, and that by their word every matter should be decided, and whatsoever is clean or unclean 6 should be judged. And the ancients of that city shall come to the person slain, and shall wash their hands over the heifer that 7 was killed in the valley, And shall say: Our hands did not shed 8 this blood, nor did our eyes see it. Be merciful to thy people Israel, whom thou hast redeemed, O Lord, and lay not innocent blood to their charge, in the midst of thy people Israel. And the 9 guilt of blood shall be taken from them: And thou shalt be free from the innocent's blood, that was shed, when thou shalt have 10 done what the Lord hath commanded thee. If thou go out to fight against thy enemies, and the Lord thy God deliver them 11 into thy hand, and thou lead them away captives, And seest in the number of the captives a beautiful woman, and lovest her, 12 and wilt have her to wife, Thou shalt bring her into thy house: 13 and she shall shave her hair, and pare her nails, And shall put off the raiment, wherein she was taken: and shall remain in thy house, and mourn for her father and mother one month: and after that thou shalt go in unto her, and shalt sleep with her, 14 and she shall be thy wife. But if afterwards she please thee not, thou shalt let her go free, but thou mayst not sell her for money 15 nor oppress her by might because thou hast humbled her. If a man have two wives, one beloved, and the other hated, and they have had children by him, and the son of the hated be the 16 firstborn, And he meaneth to divide his substance among his sons: he may not make the son of the beloved the firstborn, and 17 prefer him before the son of the hated. But he shall acknowledge the son of the hated for the firstborn, and shall give him a double portion of all he hath: for this is the first of his children, and to 18 him are due the first birthrights. If a man have a stubborn and unruly son, who will not hear the commandments of his father 19 or mother, and being corrected, slighteth obedience: They shall take him and bring him to the ancients of the city, and to the gate 20 of judgment, And shall say to them: This our son is rebellious and stubborn, he slighteth hearing our admonitions, he giveth himself to revelling, and to debauchery and banquetings: The people of the city shall stone him: and he shall die, that you may take away the evil out of the midst of you, and all Israel hearing it may be afraid. When a man hath committed a crime for which he is to be punished with death, and being condemned to die is hanged on a gibbet: His body shall not remain upon the tree, but shall be buried the same day: for he is accursed of God that hangeth on a tree: and thou shalt not defile thy land, which the Lord thy God shall give thee in possession.

Thou shalt not pass by if thou seest thy brother's ox, or his sheep go astray: but thou shalt bring them back to thy brother. And if thy brother be not nigh, or thou know him not: thou shalt bring them to thy house, and they shall be with thee until thy brother seek them, and receive them. Thou shalt do in like manner with his ass, and with his raiment, and with every thing that is thy brother's, which is lost: if thou find it, neglect it not as pertaining to another. If thou see thy brother's ass or his ox to be fallen down in the way, thou shalt not slight it, but shalt lift it up with him. A woman shall not be clothed with man's apparel, neither shall a man use woman's apparel: for he that doth these things is abominable before God. If thou find as thou walkest by the way, a bird's nest in a tree, or on the ground, and the dam sitting upon the young or upon the eggs: thou shalt not take her with her young: But shalt let her go, keeping the young which thou hast caught: that it may be well with thee, and thou mayst live a long time. When thou buildest a new house, thou shalt make a battlement to the roof round about: lest blood be shed in thy house, and thou be guilty, if any one slip, and fall down headlong. Thou shalt not sow thy vineyard with divers seeds: lest both the seed which thou hast sown, and the fruit of the vineyard, be sanctified together. Thou shalt not plough with an ox and an ass together. Thou shalt not wear a garment that is woven of woollen and linen together. Thou shalt make strings in the hem at the four corners of thy cloak, wherewith thou shalt be covered. If a man marry a wife, and afterwards hate her, And seek occasions to put her away, laying to her charge a very ill name, and say: I took this woman to wife, and going in to her, I found her not a virgin: Her father and mother shall take her, and shall bring with them the tokens of her virginity to the ancients of the city that are in the gate: 16 And the father shall say: I gave my daughter unto this man 17 to wife: and because he hateth her, He layeth to her charge a very ill name, so as to say: I found not thy daughter a virgin: and behold these are the tokens of my daughter's virginity. And 18 they shall spread the cloth before the ancients of the city: And the ancients of that city shall take that man, and beat him, 19 Condemning him besides in a hundred sicles of silver, which he shall give to the damsel's father, because he hath defamed by a very ill name a virgin of Israel: and he shall have her to wife, 20 and may not put her away all the days of his life. But if what he charged her with be true, and virginity be not found in the 21 damsel: They shall cast her out of the doors of her father's house, and the men of the city shall stone her to death, and she shall die: because she hath done a wicked thing in Israel, to play the whore in her father's house: and thou shalt take away the 22 evil out of the midst of thee. If a man lie with another man's wife, they shall both die, that is to say, the adulterer and the 23 adulteress: and thou shalt take away the evil out of Israel. If a man have espoused a damsel that is a virgin, and some one find 24 her in the city, and lie with her, Thou shalt bring them both out to the gate of that city, and they shall be stoned: the damsel, because she cried not out, being in the city: the man, because he hath humbled his neighbour's wife. And thou shalt take away 25 the evil from the midst of thee. But if a man find a damsel that is betrothed, in the field, and taking hold of her, lie with her, 26 he alone shall die: The damsel shall suffer nothing, neither is she guilty of death: for as a robber riseth against his brother, 27 and taketh away his life, so also did the damsel suffer: She was alone in the field: she cried, and there was no man to help her.

28 If a man find a damsel that is a virgin, who is not espoused, and 29 taking her, lie with her, and the matter come to judgment: He that lay with her shall give to the father of the maid fifty sicles of silver, and shall have her to wife, because he hath humbled 30 her: he may not put her away all the days of his life. No man shall take his father's wife, nor remove his covering.

23 An eunuch, whose testicles are broken or cut away, or yard 2 cut off, shall not enter into the church of the Lord. A mamzer, that is to say, one born of a prostitute, shall not enter into the church of the Lord, until the tenth generation. The Ammonite 3 and the Moabite, even after the tenth generation shall not enter into the church of the Lord for ever: Because they would not 4 meet you with bread and water in the way, when you came out of Egypt: and because they hired against thee Balaam, the son of Beor, from Mesopotamia in Syria, to curse thee. And the 5 Lord thy God would not hear Balaam, and he turned his cursing into thy blessing, because he loved thee. Thou shalt not make 6 peace with them, neither shalt thou seek their prosperity all the days of thy life for ever. Thou shalt not abhor the Edomite, 7 because he is thy brother: nor the Egyptian, because thou wast a stranger in his land. They that are born of them, in the third 8 generation shall enter into the church of the Lord. When thou 9 goest out to war against thy enemies, thou shalt keep thyself from every evil thing. If there be among you any man, that is 10 defiled in a dream by night, he shall go forth out of the camp, And shall not return, before he be washed with water in the 11 evening: and after sunset he shall return into the camp. Thou 12 shalt have a place without the camp, to which thou mayst go for the necessities of nature, Carrying a paddle at thy girdle. 13 And when thou sittest down, thou shalt dig round about, and with the earth that is dug up thou shalt cover That which thou 14 art eased of: (for the Lord thy God walketh in the midst of thy camp, to deliver thee, and to give up thy enemies to thee:) and let thy camp be holy, and let no uncleanness appear therein, lest he go away from thee. Thou shalt not deliver to his master the 15 servant that is fled to thee. He shall dwell with thee in the place that shall please him, and shall rest in one of thy cities: give him no trouble. There shall be no whore among the daughters of 17 Israel, nor whoremonger among the sons of Israel. Thou shalt 18 not offer the hire of a strumpet, nor the price of a dog, in the house of the Lord thy God, whatsoever it be that thou hast vowed: because both these are an abomination to the Lord thy God. Thou shalt not lend to thy brother money to usury, nor 19 corn, nor any other thing: But to the stranger. To thy brother 20 thou shalt lend that which he wanteth, without usury: that the Lord thy God may bless thee in all thy works in the land, which thou shalt go in to possess. When thou hast made a vow to 21 the Lord thy God, thou shalt not delay to pay it: because the Lord thy God will require it. And if thou delay, it shall be 22 imputed to thee for a sin. If thou wilt not promise, that shalt 23 be without sin. But that which is once gone out of thy lips, thou shalt observe, and shalt do as thou hast promised to the Lord thy God, and hast spoken with thy own will and with thy 24 own mouth. Going into thy neighbour's vineyard, thou mayst eat as many grapes as thou pleasest: but must carry none out 25 with thee: If thou go into thy friend's corn, thou mayst break the ears, and rub them in thy hand: but not reap them with a sickle.

24 If a man take a wife, and have her, and she find not favour in his eyes, for some uncleanness: he shall write a bill of divorce, and shall give it in her hand, and send her out of his house.
2, 3 And when she is departed, and marrieth another husband, And he also hateth her, and hath given her a bill of divorce, and 4 hath sent her out of his house or is dead: The former husband cannot take her again to wife: because she is defiled, and is become abominable before the Lord: lest thou cause thy land to 5 sin, which the Lord thy God shall give thee to possess. When a man hath lately taken a wife, he shall not go out to war, neither shall any public business be enjoined him, but he shall be free at home without fault, that for one year he may rejoice with his 6 wife. Thou shalt not take the nether, nor the upper millstone 7 to pledge: for he hath pledged his life to thee. If any man be found soliciting his brother of the children of Israel, and selling him shall take a price, he shall be put to death, and thou shalt 8 take away the evil from the midst of thee. Observe diligently that thou incur not the stroke of the leprosy, but thou shalt do whatsoever the priests of the Levitical race shall teach thee, according to what I have commanded them, and fulfil thou it 9 carefully. Remember what the Lord your God did to Mary, in 10 the way when you came out of Egypt. When thou shalt demand of thy neighbour any thing that he oweth thee, thou shalt not 11 go into his house to take away a pledge: But thou shalt stand 12 without, and he shall bring out to thee what he hath. But if he 13 be poor, the pledge shall not lodge with thee that night, But thou shalt restore it to him presently before the going down of the sun: that he may sleep in his own raiment and bless thee, and thou mayst have justice before the Lord thy God. Thou shalt not refuse the hire of the needy, and the poor, whether he be thy brother, or a stranger that dwelleth with thee in the land, and is within thy gates: But thou shalt pay him the price of his labour the same day, before the going down of the sun, because he is poor, and with it maintaineth his life: lest he cry against thee to the Lord, and it be reputed to thee for a sin. The fathers shall not be put to death for the children, nor the children for the fathers, but every one shall die for his own sin, Thou shalt not pervert the judgment of the stranger nor of the fatherless, neither shalt thou take away the widow's raiment for a pledge. Remember that thou wast a slave in Egypt, and the Lord thy God delivered thee from thence. Therefore I command thee to do this thing. When thou hast reaped the corn in thy field, and hast forgot and left a sheaf, thou shalt not return to take it away: but thou shalt suffer the stranger, and the fatherless and the widow to take it away: that the Lord thy God may bless thee in all the works of thy hands. If thou have gathered the fruit of thy olive trees, thou shalt not return to gather whatsoever remaineth on the trees: but shalt leave it for the stranger, for the fatherless, and the widow. If thou make the vintage of thy vineyard, thou shalt not gather the clusters that remain, but they shall be for the stranger, the fatherless, and the widow. Remember that thou also wast a bondman in Egypt, and therefore I command thee to do this thing.

If there be a controversy between men, and they call upon the judges: they shall give the prize of justice to him whom they perceive to be just: and him whom they find to be wicked, they shall condemn of wickedness. And if they see that the offender be worthy of stripes: they shall lay him down, and shall cause him to be beaten before them. According to the measure of the sin shall the measure also of the stripes be: Yet so, that they exceed not the number of forty: lest thy brother depart shamefully torn before thy eyes. Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out thy corn on the floor. When brethren dwell together, and one of them dieth without children, the wife of the deceased shall not marry to another: but his brother shall take her, and raise up seed for his brother: And the first son he shall have of her he shall call by his name, that his name be not 7 abolished out of Israel. But if he will not take his brother's wife, who by law belongeth to him, the woman shall go to the gate of the city, and call upon the ancients, and say: My husband's brother refuseth to raise up his brother's name in Israel: and 8 will not take me to wife. And they shall cause him to be sent for forthwith, and shall ask him. If he answer: I will not take 9 her to wife: The woman shall come to him before the ancients, and shall take off his shoe from his foot, and spit in his face, and say: So shall it be done to the man that will not build up 10 his brother's house: And his name shall be called in Israel, the 11 house of the unshod. If two men have words together, and one begin to fight against the other, and the other's wife willing to deliver her husband out of the hand of the stronger, shall put 12 forth her hand, and take him by the secrets, Thou shalt cut off her hand, neither shalt thou be moved with any pity in her 13 regard. Thou shalt not have divers weights in thy bag, a greater 14 and a less: Neither shall there be in thy house a greater bushel 15 and a less. Thou shalt have a just and a true weight, and thy bushel shall be equal and true: that thou mayest live a long time 16 upon the land which the Lord thy God shall give thee. For the Lord thy God abhorreth him that doth these things, and he 17 hateth all injustice. Remember what Amalec did to thee in the 18 way when thou camest out of Egypt: How he met thee: and slew the hindmost of the army, who sat down, being weary, when thou wast spent with hunger and labour, and he feared not God.

19 Therefore when the Lord thy God shall give thee rest, and shall have subdued all the nations round about in the land which he hath promised thee: thou shalt blot out his name from under heaven. See thou forget it not.

26 And when thou art come into the land which the Lord thy God will give thee to possess, and hast conquered it, and dwellest 2 in it: Thou shalt take the first of all thy fruits, and put them in a basket, and shalt go to the place which the Lord thy God 3 shall choose, that his name may be invocated there: And thou shalt go to the priest that shall be in those days, and say to him: I profess this day before the Lord thy God, that I am come into the land, for which he swore to our fathers, that he 4 would give it us. And the priest taking the basket at thy hand, 5 shall set it before the altar of the Lord thy God: And thou shalt 6 speak thus in the sight of the Lord thy God: The Syrian pursued my father, who went down into Egypt, and sojourned there in a very small number, and grew into a nation great and strong and of an infinite multitude. And the Egyptians afflicted us, 6 and persecuted us, laying on us most grievous burdens: And 7 we cried to the Lord God of our fathers: who heard us, and looked down upon our affliction, and labour, and distress: And 8 brought us out of Egypt with a strong hand, and a stretched out arm, with great terror, with signs and wonders: And brought 9 us into this place, and gave us this land flowing with milk and honey. And therefore now I offer the firstfruits of the land 10 which the Lord hath given me. And thou shalt leave them in the sight of the Lord thy God, adoring the Lord thy God. And 11 thou shalt feast in all the good things which the Lord thy God hath given thee, and thy house, thou and the Levite, and the stranger that is with thee. When thou hast made an end of 12 tithing all thy fruits, in the third year of tithes thou shalt give it to the Levite, and to the stranger, and to the fatherless, and to the widow, that they may eat within thy gates, and be filled:

And thou shalt speak thus in the sight of the Lord thy God: 13 I have taken that which was sanctified out of my house, and I have given it to the Levite, and to the stranger, and to the fatherless, and to the widow, as thou hast commanded me: I have not transgressed thy commandments nor forgotten thy precepts. I 14 have not eaten of them in my mourning, nor separated them for any uncleanness, nor spent any thing of them in funerals. I have obeyed the voice of the Lord my God, and have done all things as thou hast commanded me. Look from thy sanctuary, 15 and thy high habitation of heaven, and bless thy people Israel, and the land which thou hast given us, as thou didst swear to our fathers, a land flowing with milk and honey. This day the 16 Lord thy God hath commanded thee to do these commandments and judgments: and to keep and fulfil them with all thy heart, and with all thy soul. Thou hast chosen the Lord this day to 17 be thy God, and to walk in his ways and keep his ceremonies, and precepts, and judgments, and obey his command. And the 18 Lord hath chosen thee this day, to be his peculiar people, as he hath spoken to thee, and to keep all his commandments: And 19 to make thee higher than all nations which he hath created, to his own praise, and name, and glory: that thou mayst be a holy people of the Lord thy God, as he hath spoken.

- 27 And Moses with the ancients of Israel commanded the people, saying: Keep every commandment that I command you this day.
- 2 And when you are passed over the Jordan into the land which the Lord thy God will give thee, thou shalt set up great stones, 3 and shalt plaster them over with plaster, That thou mayst write on them all the words of this law, when thou art passed over the Jordan: that thou mayst enter into the land which the Lord thy God will give thee, a land flowing with milk and honey, as 4 he swore to thy fathers. Therefore when you are passed over the Jordan, set up the stones which I command you this day, in 5 mount Hebal, and thou shalt plaster them with plaster: And thou shalt build there an altar to the Lord thy God, of stones 6 which iron hath not touched, And of stones not fashioned nor polished: and thou shalt offer upon it holocausts to the Lord 7 thy God: And shalt immolate peace victims, and eat there, and 8 feast before the Lord thy God. And thou shalt write upon the 9 stones all the words of this law plainly and clearly. And Moses and the priests of the race of Levi said to all Israel: Attend, and hear, O Israel: This day thou art made the people of the Lord 10 thy God: Thou shalt hear his voice, and do the commandments 11 and justices which I command thee. And Moses commanded 12 the people in that day, saying: These shall stand upon mount Garizim to bless the people, when you are passed the Jordan: 13 Simeon, Levi, Juda, Issachar, Joseph, and Benjamin. And over against them shall stand on mount Hebal to curse: Ruben, Gad, 14 and Aser, and Zabulon, Dan, and Nephtali. And the Levites shall pronounce, and say to all the men of Israel with a loud voice: 15 Cursed be the man that maketh a graven and molten thing, the abomination of the Lord, the work of the hands of artificers, and shall put it in a secret place: and all the people shall answer and 16 say: Amen. Cursed be he that honoureth not his father and 17 mother: and all the people shall say: Amen. Cursed be he that removeth his neighbour's landmarks: and all the people shall 18 say: Amen. Cursed be he that maketh the blind to wander out 19 of his way: and all the people shall say: Amen. Cursed be he that perverteth the judgment of the stranger, of the fatherless 20 and the widow: and all the people shall say: Amen. Cursed be he that lieth with his father's wife, and uncovereth his bed: and all the people shall say: Amen. Cursed be he that lieth 21 with any beast: and all the people shall say: Amen. Cursed 22 be he that lieth with his sister, the daughter of his father, or of his mother: and all the people shall say: Amen. Cursed be he 23 that lieth with his mother-in-law: and all the people shall say: Amen. Cursed be he that secretly killeth his neighbour: and 24 all the people shall say: Amen. Cursed be he that taketh gifts, 25 to slay an innocent person: and all the people shall say: Amen.

Cursed be he that abideth not in the words of this law, and 26 fulfilleth them not in work: and all the people shall say: Amen.

Now if thou wilt hear the voice of all his commandments, 28 which I command thee this day, the Lord thy God will make thee higher than all the nations that are on the earth. And all 2 these blessings shall come upon thee and overtake thee: yet so if thou hear his precepts. Blessed shalt thou be in the city, and 3 blessed in the field. Blessed shall be the fruit of thy womb, and 4 the fruit of thy ground, and the fruit of thy cattle, the droves of thy herds, and the folds of thy sheep. Blessed shall be thy 5 barns and blessed thy stores. Blessed shalt thou be coming in 6 and going out. The Lord shall cause thy enemies, that rise up 7 against thee, to fall down before thy face: one way shall they come out against thee, and seven ways shall they flee before thee. The Lord will send forth a blessing upon thy storehouses, 8 and upon all the works of thy hands: and will bless thee in the land that thou shalt receive. The Lord will raise thee up to be 9 a holy people to himself, as he swore to thee: if thou keep the commandments of the Lord thy God, and walk in his ways. And 10 all the people of the earth shall see that the name of the Lord is invocated upon thee, and they shall fear thee. The Lord will 11 make thee abound with all goods, with the fruit of thy womb, and the fruit of thy cattle, with the fruit of thy land, which the Lord swore to thy fathers that he would give thee. The Lord 12 will open his excellent treasure, the heaven, that it may give rain in due season: and he will bless all the works of thy hands.
And thou shalt lend to many nations, and shalt not borrow of any one. And the Lord shall make thee the head and not the 13 tail: and thou shalt be always above, and not beneath: yet so if thou wilt hear the commandments of the Lord thy God which 14 I command thee this day, and keep and do them, And turn not away from them neither to the right hand, nor to the left, 15 nor follow strange gods, nor worship them. But if thou wilt not hear the voice of the Lord thy God, to keep and to do all his commandments and ceremonies, which I command thee this day, all these curses shall come upon thee, and overtake thee.

16, 17 Cursed shalt thou be in the city, cursed in the field. Cursed 18 shall be thy barn, and cursed thy stores. Cursed shall be the fruit of thy womb, and the fruit of thy ground, the herds of thy 19 oxen, and the flocks of thy sheep. Cursed shalt thou be coming 20 in, and cursed going out. The Lord shall send upon thee famine and hunger, and a rebuke upon all the works which thou shalt do: until he consume and destroy thee quickly, for thy most wicked 21 inventions, by which thou hast forsaken me. May the Lord set the pestilence upon thee, until he consume thee out of the land, 22 which thou shalt go in to possess. May the Lord afflict thee with miserable want, with the fever and with cold, with burning and with heat, and with corrupted air and with blasting, and 23 pursue thee till thou perish. Be the heaven, that is over thee, 24 of brass: and the ground thou treadest on, of iron. The Lord give thee dust for rain upon thy land, and let ashes come down 25 from heaven upon thee, till thou be consumed. The Lord make thee to fall down before thy enemies, one way mayst thou go out against them, and flee seven ways, and be scattered throughout 26 all the kingdoms of the earth. And be thy carcass meat for all the fowls of the air, and the beasts of the earth, and be there 27 none to drive them away. The Lord strike thee with the ulcer of Egypt, and the part of thy body, by which the dung is cast out, with the scab and with the itch: so that thou canst not be 28 healed. The Lord strike thee with madness and blindness and 29 fury of mind. And mayst thou grope at midday as the blind is wont to grope in the dark, and not make straight thy ways.
And mayst thou at all times suffer wrong, and be oppressed with 30 violence, and mayst thou have no one to deliver thee. Mayst thou take a wife, and another sleep with her. Mayst thou build a house, and not dwell therein. Mayest thou plant a vineyard 31 and not gather the vintage thereof. May thy ox be slain before thee, and thou not eat thereof. May thy ass be taken away in thy sight, and not restored to thee. May thy sheep be given to thy enemies, and may there be none to help thee. May thy sons 32 and thy daughters be given to another people, thy eyes looking on, and languishing at the sight of them all the day, and may there be no strength in thy hand. May a people which thou 33 knowest not, eat the fruits of thy land, and all thy labours: and mayst thou always suffer oppression, and be crushed at all times.

And be astonished at the terror of those things which thy eyes 34 shall see: May the Lord strike thee with a very sore ulcer in 35 the knees and in the legs, and be thou incurable from the sole of the foot to the top of the head. The Lord shall bring thee, 36 and thy king, whom thou shalt have appointed over thee, into a nation which thou and thy fathers know not: and there thou shalt serve strange gods, wood and stone. And thou shalt be 37 lost, as a proverb and a byword to all people, among whom the Lord shall bring thee in. Thou shalt cast much seed into the 38 ground, and gather little: because the locusts shall consume all.
Thou shalt plant a vineyard, and dig it, and shalt not drink the 39 wine, nor gather any thing thereof: because it shall be wasted with worms. Thou shalt have olive trees in all thy borders, and 40 shalt not be anointed with the oil: for the olives shall fall off and perish. Thou shalt beget sons and daughters, and shalt not 41 enjoy them: because they shall be led into captivity. The blast 42 shall consume all the trees and the fruits of thy ground. The 43 stranger that liveth with thee in the land, shall rise up over thee, and shall be higher: and thou shalt go down, and be lower. He 44 shall lend to thee, and thou shalt not lend to him. He shall be as the head, and thou shalt be the tail. And all these curses shall 45 come upon thee, and shall pursue and overtake thee, till thou perish: because thou heardst not the voice of the Lord thy God, and didst not keep his commandments and ceremonies which he 46 commanded thee. And they shall be as signs and wonders on 47 thee, and on thy seed for ever. Because thou didst not serve the Lord thy God with joy and gladness of heart, for the abundance 48 of all things: Thou shalt serve thy enemy, whom the Lord will send upon thee, in hunger, and thirst, and nakedness, and in 49 want of all things: and he shall put an iron yoke upon thy neck, till he consume thee. The Lord will bring upon thee a nation from afar, and from the uttermost ends of the earth, like an eagle that flyeth swiftly, whose tongue thou canst not understand, A 50 most insolent nation, that will shew no regard to the ancients, 51 nor have pity on the infant, And will devour the fruit of thy cattle, and the fruits of thy land: until thou be destroyed, and will leave thee no wheat, nor wine, nor oil, nor herds of oxen, 52 nor flocks of sheep: until he destroy thee. And consume thee in all thy cities, and thy strong and high wall be brought down, wherein thou trustedst in all thy land. Thou shalt be besieged within thy gates in all thy land which the Lord thy God will give 53 thee: And thou shalt eat the fruit of thy womb, and the flesh of thy sons and of thy daughters, which the Lord thy God shall give thee, in the distress and extremity wherewith thy enemy 54 shall oppress thee. The man that is nice among you, and very delicate, shall envy his own brother, and his wife, that lieth in 55 his bosom, So that he will not give them of the flesh of his children, which he shall eat: because he hath nothing else in the siege and the want, wherewith thy enemies shall distress 56 thee within all thy gates. The tender and delicate woman, that could not go upon the ground, nor set down her foot for over much niceness and tenderness, will envy her husband who lieth 57 in her bosom, the flesh of her son, and of her daughter, And the filth of the afterbirths, that come forth from between her thighs, and the children that are born the same hour. For they shall eat them secretly for the want of all things, in the siege and distress, wherewith thy enemy shall oppress thee within thy 58 gates. If thou wilt not keep, and fulfil all the words of this law, that are written in this volume, and fear his glorious and terrible 59 name: that is, The Lord thy God: The Lord shall increase thy plagues, and the plagues of thy seed, plagues great and lasting, 60 infirmities grievous and perpetual. And he shall bring back on thee all the afflictions of Egypt, which thou wast afraid of, 61 and they shall stick fast to thee. Moreover the Lord will bring upon thee all the diseases, and plagues, that are not written 62 in the volume of this law till he consume thee: And you shall remain few in number, who before were as the stars of heaven for multitude, because thou heardst not the voice of the Lord 63 thy God. And as the Lord rejoiced upon you before doing good to you, and multiplying you: so he shall rejoice destroying and bringing you to nought, so that you shall be taken away from the 64 land which thou shalt go in to possess. The Lord shall scatter thee among all people, from the farthest parts of the earth to the ends thereof: and there thou shalt serve strange gods, which both thou art ignorant of and thy fathers, wood and stone. Neither shalt thou be quiet, even in those nations, nor shall there be any rest for the sole of thy foot. For the Lord will give thee a fearful heart, and languishing eyes, and a soul consumed with pensiveness: And thy life shall be as it were hanging before thee. Thou shalt fear night and day, neither shalt thou trust thy life. In the morning thou shalt say: Who will grant me evening? and at evening: Who will grant me morning? for the fearfulness of thy heart, wherewith thou shalt be terrified, and for those things which thou shalt see with thy eyes. The Lord shall bring thee again with ships into Egypt, by the way whereof he said to thee that thou shouldst see it no more. There shalt thou be set to sale to thy enemies for bondmen and bondwomen, and no man shall buy you.

These are the words of the covenant which the Lord commanded Moses to make with the children of Israel in the land of Moab: beside that covenant which he made with them in Horeb. And Moses called all Israel, and said to them: You have seen all the things that the Lord did before you in the land of Egypt to Pharaoh, and to all his servants, and to his whole land. The great temptations, which thy eyes have seen, those mighty signs and wonders, And the Lord hath not given you a heart to understand, and eyes to see, and ears that may hear, unto this present day. He hath brought you forty years through the desert: your garments are not worn out, neither are the shoes of your feet consumed with age. You have not eaten bread, nor have you drunk wine or strong drink: that you might know that I am the Lord your God. And you came to this place: and Sehon king of Hesebon, and Og king of Basan, came out against us to fight. And we slew them. And took their land, and delivered it for a possession to Ruben and Gad, and the half tribe of Manasses. Keep therefore the words of this covenant, and fulfil them: that you may understand all that you do. You all stand this day before the Lord your God, your princes, and tribes, and ancients, and doctors, all the people of Israel, Your children and your wives, and the stranger that abideth with thee in the camp, besides the hewers of wood, and them that bring 12 water: That thou mayst pass in the covenant of the Lord thy God, and in the oath which this day the Lord thy God maketh 13 with thee. That he may raise thee up a people to himself, and he may be thy God as he hath spoken to thee, and as he swore 14 to thy fathers Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Neither with you 15 only do I make this covenant, and confirm these oaths, But 16 with all that are present and that are absent. For you know how we dwelt in the land of Egypt, and how we have passed 17 through the midst of nations, and passing through them, You have seen their abominations and filth, that is to say, their idols, 18 wood and stone, silver and gold, which they worshipped. Lest perhaps there should be among you a man or a woman, a family or a tribe, whose heart is turned away this day from the Lord our God, to go and serve the gods of those nations: and there should be among you a root bringing forth gall and bitterness.

19 And when he shall hear the words of this oath, he should bless himself in his heart saying: I shall have peace, and will walk on in the naughtiness of my heart: and the drunken may con-20 sume the thirsty, And the Lord should not forgive him: but his wrath and jealousy against that man should be exceedingly enkindled at that time, and all the curses that are written in this volume should light upon him: and the Lord should blot out his 21 name from under heaven, And utterly destroy him out of all the tribes of Israel, according to the curses that are contained 22 in the book of this law and covenant: And the following generation shall say, and the children that shall be born hereafter, and the strangers that shall come from afar, seeing the plagues of that land and the evils wherewith the Lord hath afflicted it, 23 Burning it with brimstone, and the heat of salt, so that it cannot be sown any more, nor any green thing grow therein, after the example of the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrhah, Adama and Seboim, which the Lord destroyed in his wrath and indignation: 24 And all the nations shall say: Why hath the Lord done thus to this land? what meaneth this exceeding great heat of his wrath?
25 And they shall answer: Because they forsook the covenant of the Lord, which he made with their fathers, when he brought them 26 out of the land of Egypt: And they have served strange gods, and adored them, whom they knew not, and for whom they had 27 not been assigned: Therefore the wrath of the Lord was kindled against this land, to bring upon it all the curses that are written in this volume: And he hath cast them out of their land, 28 in anger and in wrath, and in very great indignation, and hath thrown them into a strange land, as it is seen this day. Secret 29 things to the Lord our God: things that are manifest, to us and to our children for ever, that we may do all the words of this law.

Now when all these things shall be come upon thee, the blessing 30 or the curse, which I have set forth before thee, and thou shalt be touched with repentance of thy heart among all the nations, into which the Lord thy God shall have scattered thee, And 2 shalt return to him, and obey his commandments, as I command thee this day, thou and thy children, with all thy heart, and with all thy soul: The Lord thy God will bring back again 3 thy captivity, and will have mercy on thee, and gather thee again out of all the nations, into which he scattered thee before. If 4 thou be driven as far as the poles of heaven, the Lord thy God will fetch thee back from hence, And will take thee to himself, 5 and bring thee into the land which thy fathers possessed, and thou shalt possess it: and blessing thee, he will make thee more numerous than were thy fathers. The Lord thy God will cir- 6 cumcise thy heart, and the heart of thy seed: that thou mayst love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul, that thou mayst live. And he will turn all these curses upon 7 thy enemies, and upon them that hate and persecute thee. But 8 thou shalt return, and hear the voice of the Lord thy God, and shalt do all the commandments which I command thee this day: And the Lord thy God will make thee abound in all the works of 9 thy hands, in the fruit of thy womb, and in the fruit of thy cattle, in the fruitfulness of thy land, and in the plenty of all things.
For the Lord will return to rejoice over thee in all good things, as he rejoiced in thy fathers: Yet so if thou hear the voice of 10 the Lord thy God, and keep his precepts and ceremonies, which are written in this law: and return to the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul. This commandment, that I 11 command thee this day is not above thee, nor far off from thee: Nor is it in heaven, that thou shouldst say: Which of us can go up to heaven to bring it unto us, and we may hear and fulfil it in work? Nor is it beyond the sea: that thou mayst excuse thyself, 13 and say: Which of us can cross the sea, and bring it unto us: 14 that we may hear, and do that which is commanded? But the word is very nigh unto thee, in thy mouth and in thy heart, that 15 thou mayst do it. Consider that I have set before thee this day 16 life and good, and on the other hand death and evil: That thou mayst love the Lord thy God, and walk in his ways, and keep his commandments and ceremonies and judgments, and bless thee 17 in the land, which thou shalt go in to possess. But if thy heart be turned away, so that thou wilt not hear, and being deceived 18 with error thou adore strange gods, and serve them: I foretell thee this day that thou shalt perish, and shalt remain but a short time in the land, to which thou shalt pass over the Jordan, and 19 shalt go in to possess it. I call heaven and earth to witness this day, that I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing. Choose therefore life, that both thou and thy seed may 20 live: And that thou mayst love the Lord thy God, and obey his voice, and adhere to him (for he is thy life, and the length of thy days,) that thou mayst dwell in the land, for which the Lord swore to thy fathers Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob that he would give it them.

31, 2 And Moses went, and spoke all these words to all Israel, And he said to them: I am this day a hundred and twenty years old, I can no longer go out and come in, especially as the Lord also 3 hath said to me: Thou shalt not pass over this Jordan. The Lord thy God then will pass over before thee: he will destroy all these nations in thy sight, and thou shalt possess them: and this 4 Josue shall go over before thee, as the Lord hath spoken. And the Lord shall do to them as he did to Sehon and Og the kings of the Amorrhites, and to their land, and shall destroy them.
5 Therefore when the Lord shall have delivered these also to you, you shall do in like manner to them as I have commmanded you.
6 Do manfully and be of good heart: fear not, nor be ye dismayed at their sight: for the Lord thy God he himself is thy leader, and 7 will not leave thee nor forsake thee. And Moses called Josue, and said to him before all Israel: Take courage, and be valiant: for thou shalt bring this people into the land which the Lord swore he would give to their fathers, and thou shalt divide it by 8 lot. And the Lord who is your leader, he himself will be with thee: he will not leave thee, nor forsake thee: fear not, neither be dismayed. And Moses wrote this law, and delivered it to the 9 priests the sons of Levi, who carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and to all the ancients of Israel. And he commanded 10 them, saying: After seven years, in the year of remission, in the feast of tabernacles, When all Israel come together, to appear in 11 the sight of the Lord thy God in the place which the Lord shall choose, thou shalt read the words of this law before all Israel, in their hearing. And the people being all assembled together, 12 both men and women, children and strangers, that are within thy gates: that hearing they may learn, and fear the Lord your God, and keep, and fulfil all the words of this law: That their 13 children also, who now are ignorant, may hear, and fear the Lord their God, all the days that they live in the land whither you are going over the Jordan to possess it. And the Lord said to 14 Moses: Behold the days of thy death are nigh: call Josue, and stand ye in the tabernacle of the testimony, that I may give him a charge. So Moses and Josue went and stood in the tabernacle of the testimony: And the Lord appeared there in the pillar of 15 a cloud, which stood in the entry of the tabernacle. And the Lord said to Moses: Behold thou shalt sleep with thy fathers, and this people rising up will go a fornicating after strange gods in the land, to which it goeth in to dwell: there will they forsake me, and will make void the covenant, which I have made with them, And my wrath shall be kindled against them in that day: 17 and I will forsake them, and will hide my face from them, and they shall be devoured: all evils and afflictions shall find them, so that they shall say in that day: In truth it is because God is not with me, that these evils have found me. But I will hide, 18 and cover my face in that day, for all the evils which they have done, because they have followed strange gods. Now therefore 19 write you this canticle, and teach the children of Israel: that they may know it by heart, and sing it by mouth, and this song may be unto me for a testimony among the children of Israel.

For I will bring them into the land, for which I swore to their 20 fathers, that floweth with milk and honey. And when they have eaten, and are full and fat, they will turn away after strange gods, and will serve them: and will despise me, and make void my covenant. And after many evils and afflictions shall have 21 come upon them, this canticle shall answer them for a testimony, which no oblivion shall take away out of the mouth of their seed. For I know their thoughts, and what they are about to do this day, before that I bring them into the land which I have promised 22 them. Moses therefore wrote the canticle, and taught it to the 23 children of Israel. And the Lord commanded Josue the son of Nun, and said: Take courage, and be valiant: for thou shalt bring the children of Israel into the land which I have promised, and I 24 will be with thee. Therefore after Moses had wrote the words 25 of this law in a volume, and finished it: He commanded the Levites, who carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord, saying: 26 Take this book, and put it in the side of the ark of the covenant of the Lord your God: that it may be there for a testimony 27 against thee. For I know thy obstinacy, and thy most stiff neck.

While I am yet living, and going in with you, you have always been rebellious against the Lord: how much more when I shall 28 be dead? Gather unto me all the ancients of your tribes, and your doctors, and I will speak these words in their hearing, and 29 will call heaven and earth to witness against them. For I know that, after my death, you will do wickedly, and will quickly turn aside from the way that I have commanded you: and evils shall come upon you in the latter times, when you shall do evil in the sight of the Lord, to provoke him by the works of your hands.
30 Moses therefore spoke, in the hearing of the whole assembly of Israel, the words of this canticle, and finished it even to the end.
32 Hear, O ye heavens, the things I speak, let the earth give ear 2 to the words of my mouth. Let my doctrine gather as the rain, let my speech distil as the dew, as a shower upon the herb, and 3 as drops upon the grass. Because I will invoke the name of 4 the Lord: give ye magnificence to our God. The works of God are perfect, and all his ways are judgments: God is faithful and 5 without any iniquity, he is just and right. They have sinned against him, and are none of his children in their filth: they are 6 a wicked and perverse generation. Is this the return thou makest to the Lord, O foolish and senseless people? Is not he thy father, that hath possessed thee, and made thee, and created 7 thee? Remember the days of old, think upon every generation: ask thy father, and he will declare to thee: thy elders and they 8 will tell thee. When the Most High divided the nations: when he separated the sons of Adam, he appointed the bounds of people according to the number of the children of Israel. But the 9 Lord's portion is his people: Jacob the lot of his inheritance.

He found him in a desert land, in a place of horror, and of vast 10 wilderness: he led him about, and taught him: and he kept him as the apple of his eye. As the eagle enticing her young to fly, 11 and hovering over them, he spread his wings, and hath taken him and carried him on his shoulders. The Lord alone was his 12 leader: and there was no strange god with him. He set him 13 upon high land: that he might eat the fruits of the fields, that he might suck honey out of the rock, and oil out of the hardest 14 stone, Butter of the herd, and milk of the sheep with the fat of lambs, and of the rams of the breed of Basan: and goats with the 15 marrow of wheat, and might drink the purest blood of the grape.
The beloved grew fat, and kicked: he grew fat, and thick and 16 gross, he forsook God who made him, and departed from God his saviour. They provoked him by strange gods, and stirred 17 him up to anger, with their abominations. They sacrificed to devils and not to God: to gods whom they knew not: that were 18 newly come up, whom their fathers worshipped not. Thou hast forsaken the God that begot thee, and hast forgotten the Lord 19 that created thee. The Lord saw, and was moved to wrath: because his own sons and daughters provoked him. And he said: 20 I will hide my face from them, and will consider what their last end shall be: for it is a perverse generation, and unfaithful children. They have provoked me with that which was no god, and 21 have angered me with their vanities: and I will provoke them with that which is no people, and will vex them with a foolish nation. A fire is kindled in my wrath, and shall burn even to 22 the lowest hell: and shall devour the earth with her increase, and shall burn the foundations of the mountains. I will heap evils 23 upon them, and will spend my arrows among them. They shall be consumed with famine, and birds shall devour them with a 24 most bitter bite: I will send the teeth of beasts upon them, with the fury of creatures that trail upon the ground, and of serpents.
Without, the sword shall lay them waste, and terror within, both 25 the young man and the virgin, the sucking child with the man in years. I said: Where are they? I will make the memory of them 26 to cease from among men. But for the wrath of the enemies I have deferred it: lest perhaps their enemies might be proud, and 27 should say: Our mighty hand, and not the Lord, hath done all 28 these things. They are a nation without counsel, and without 29 wisdom. O that they would be wise and would understand, and 30 would provide for their last end. How should one pursue after a thousand, and two chase ten thousand? Was it not, because 31 their God had sold them, and the Lord had shut them up? For our God is not as their gods: our enemies themselves are judges.

32 Their vines are of the vineyard of Sodom, and of the suburbs of Gomorrha: their grapes are grapes of gall, and their clusters 33 most bitter. Their wine is the gall of dragons, and the venom 34 of asps, which is incurable. Are not these things stored up with 35 me, and sealed up in my treasures? Revenge is mine, and I will repay them in due time, that their foot may slide: the day of 36 destruction is at hand, and the time makes haste to come. The Lord will judge his people, and will have mercy on his servants: he shall see that their hand is weakened, and that they who were shut up have also failed, and they that remained are consumed.
37 And he shall say: Where are their gods, in whom they trusted?
38 Of whose victims they ate the fat, and drank the wine of their drink offerings: let them arise and help you, and protect you in 39 your distress. See ye that I alone am, and there is no other God besides me: I will kill and I will make to live: I will strike, and I 40 will heal, and there is none that can deliver out of my hand. I 41 will lift up my hand to heaven, and I will say: I live for ever. If I shall whet my sword as the lightning, and my hand take hold on judgment: I will render vengeance to my enemies, and repay 42 them that hate me. I will make my arrows drunk with blood, and my sword shall devour flesh, of the blood of the slain and of 43 the captivity, of the bare head of the enemies. Praise his people, ye nations, for he will revenge the blood of his servants: and will render vengeance to their enemies, and he will be merciful to the 44 land of his people. So Moses came and spoke all the words of this canticle in the ears of the people, and Josue the son of Nun.
45, 46 And he ended all these words, speaking to all Israel. And he said to them: Set your hearts on all the words, which I testify to you this day: which you shall command your children to observe 47 and to do, and to fulfil all that is written in this law: For they are not commanded you in vain, but that every one should live in them, and that doing them you may continue a long time in the land whither you are going over the Jordan to possess it. And the Lord spoke to Moses the same day, saying: Go up into this mountain Abarim, (that is to say, of passages,) unto mount Nebo, which is in the land of Moab over against Jericho: and see the land of Chanaan, which I will deliver to the children of Israel to possess, and die thou in the mountain. When thou art gone up into it thou shalt be gathered to thy people, as Aaron thy brother died in mount Hor, and was gathered to his people: Because you trespassed against me in the midst of the children of Israel, at the waters of contradiction, in Cades of the desert of Sin: and you did not sanctify me among the children of Israel. Thou shalt see the land before thee, which I will give to the children of Israel, but thou shalt not enter into it.

This is the blessing, wherewith the man of God, Moses, blessed the children of Israel, before his death. And he said: The Lord came from Sinai, and from Seir he rose up to us: he hath appeared from mount Pharan, and with him thousands of saints. In his right hand a fiery law. He hath loved the people, all the saints are in his hand: and they that approach to his feet, shall receive of his doctrine. Moses commanded us a law, the inheritance of the multitude of Jacob. He shall be king with the most right, the princes of the people, being assembled with the tribes of Israel. Let Ruben live, and not die, and be he small in number. This is the blessing of Juda. Hear, O Lord, the voice of Juda, and bring him in unto his people: his hands shall fight for him, and he shall be his helper against his enemies. To Levi also he said: Thy perfection, and thy doctrine be to thy holy man, whom thou hast proved in the temptation, and judged at the waters of contradiction: Who hath said to his father, and to his mother: I do not know you; and to his bretheren: I know you not: and their own children they have not known. These have kept thy word, and observed thy covenant, Thy judgments, O Jacob, and thy law, O Israel: they shall put incense in thy wrath and holocaust upon thy altar. Bless, O Lord, his strength, and receive the works of his hands. Strike the backs of his enemies, and let not them that hate him rise. And to Benjamin he said: The best beloved of the Lord shall dwell confidently in him: as in a bride chamber shall he abide all the day long, and between his shoulders shall be rest. To Joseph also he said: Of the blessing of the Lord be his land, of the fruits of heaven, and of the dew, 14 and of the deep that lieth beneath. Of the fruits brought forth 15 by the sun and by the moon. Of the tops of the ancient moun-16 tains, of the fruits of the everlasting hills: And of the fruits of the earth, and of the fulness thereof. The blessing of him that appeared in the bush, come upon the head of Joseph, and upon 17 the crown of the Nazarite among his brethren. His beauty as of the firstling of a bullock, his horns as the horns of a rhinoceros: with them shall he push the nations even to the ends of the earth.

These are the multitudes of Ephraim and these the thousands 18 of Manasses. And to Zabulon he said: Rejoice, O Zabulon, 19 in thy going out; and Issachar in thy tabernacles. They shall call the people to the mountain: there shall they sacrifice the victims of justice. Who shall suck as milk the abundance of the 20 sea, and the hidden treasures of the sands. And to Gad he said: Blessed be Gad in his breadth: he hath rested as a lion, and hath 21 seized upon the arm and the top of the head. And he saw his pre-eminence, that in his portion the teacher was laid up: who was with the princes of the people, and did the justices of the 22 Lord, and his judgment with Israel. To Dan also he said: Dan 23 is a young lion, he shall flow plentifully from Basan. And To Nephtali he said: Nephtali shall enjoy abundance, and shall be full of the blessings of the Lord: he shall possess the sea and the 24 south. To Aser also he said: Let Aser be blessed with children, let him be acceptable to his brethren, and let him dip his foot in 25 oil. His shoe shall be iron and brass. As the days of thy youth, 26 so also shall thy old age be. There is no other god like the God of the rightest: he that is mounted upon the heaven is thy helper. By his magnificence the clouds run hither and thither.
27 His dwelling is above, and underneath are the everlasting arms: he shall cast out the enemy from before thee, and shall say: Be 28 thou brought to nought. Israel shall dwell in safety, and alone.
The eye of Jacob in a land of corn and wine, and the heavens 29 shall be misty with dew. Blessed art thou, Israel: who is like to thee, O people, that art saved by the Lord? the shield of thy help, and the sword of thy glory: thy enemies shall deny thee, and thou shalt tread upon their necks.

34 Then Moses went up from the plains of Moab upon mount Nebo, to the top of Phasga over against Jericho: and the Lord shewed him all the land of Galaad as far as Dan. And all 2 Nephtali, and the land of Ephraim and Manasses, and all the land of Juda unto the furthest sea, And the south part, and 3 the breadth of the plain of Jericho the city of palm trees as far as Segor. And the Lord said to him: This is the land, for which I 4 swore to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, saying: I will give it to thy seed. Thou hast seen it with thy eyes, and shalt not pass over to it. And Moses the servant of the Lord died there, in the land of 5 Moab, by the commandment of the Lord: And he buried him 6 in the valley of the land of Moab over against Phogor: and no man hath known of his sepulchre until this present day. Moses 7 was a hundred and twenty years old when he died: his eye was not dim, neither were his teeth moved. And the children of 8 Israel mourned for him in the plains of Moab thirty days: and the days of their mourning in which they mourned Moses were ended. And Josue the son of Nun was filled with the spirit of 9 wisdom, because Moses had laid his hands upon him. And the children of Israel obeyed him, and did as the Lord comanded Moses. And there arose no more a prophet in Israel like unto 10 Moses, whom the Lord knew face to face, In all the signs and 11 wonders, which he sent by him, to do in the land of Egypt to Pharao, and to all his servants, and to his whole land, And all 12 the mighty hand, and great miracles, which Moses did before all Israel.

THE BOOK OF JOSHUA.

1 Now it came to pass after the death of Moses, the servant of the Lord, that the Lord spoke to Josue, the son of 2 Nun, the minister of Moses, and said to him: Moses my servant is dead: arise, and pass over this Jordan, thou and thy people with thee, into the land which I will give to 3 the children of Israel. I will deliver to you every place that the 4 sole of your foot shall tread upon, as I have said to Moses. From the desert, and from Libanus unto the great river Euphrates, all the land of the Hethites, unto the great sea toward the going 5 down of the sun, shall be your border. No man shall be able to resist you all the days of thy life: as I have been with Moses, so 6 will I be with thee: I will not leave thee, nor forsake thee. Take courage, and be strong: for thou shalt divide by lot to this people the land for which I swore to their fathers, that I would deliver 7 it to them. Take courage therefore, and be very valiant: that thou mayst observe and do all the law, which Moses my servant hath commanded thee: turn not from it to the right hand or to the left, that thou mayst understand all things which thou dost.
8 Let not the book of this law depart from thy mouth: but thou shalt meditate on it day and night, that thou mayst observe and do all things that are written in it: then shalt thou direct thy 9 way, and understand it. Behold I command thee, take courage, and be strong. Fear not, and be not dismayed: because the Lord thy God is with thee in all things whatsoever thou shalt go to.
10 And Josue commanded the princes of the people, saying: Pass through the midst of the camp, and command the people, and 11 say: Prepare your victuals: for after the third day you shall pass over the Jordan, and shall go in to possess the land, which 12 the Lord your God will give you. And he said to the Rubenites, 13 and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasses: Remember the word, which Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you, saying: The Lord your God hath given you rest, and all this land. Your wives, and children; and cattle, shall remain in 14 the land which Moses gave you on this side of the Jordan: but pass you over armed before your brethren all of you that are strong of hand, and fight for them, Until the Lord give rest to 15 your brethren, as he hath given you, and they also possess the land which the Lord your God will give them: and so you shall return into the land of your possession, and you shall dwell in it, which Moses the servant of the Lord gave you beyond the Jordan, toward the rising of the sun. And they made answer 16 to Josue, and said: All that thou hast commanded us, we will do: and whither soever thou shalt send us, we will go. As we 17 obeyed Moses in all things, so will we obey thee also: only be the Lord thy God with thee, as he was with Moses. He that 18 shall gainsay thy mouth, and not obey all thy words, that thou shalt command him, let him die: only take thou courage, and do manfully.

And Josue, the son of Nun, sent from Setim two men, to spy 2 secretly: and said to them: Go, and view the land, and the city of Jericho. They went, and entered into the house of a woman that was a harlot, named Rahab, and lodged with her. And it 2 was told the king of Jericho, and was said: Behold there are men come in hither, by night, of the children of Israel, to spy the land.
And the king of Jericho sent to Rahab, saying: Bring forth the 3 men that came to thee, and are entered into thy house: for they are spies, and are come to view all the land. And the woman 4 taking the men, hid them, and said: I confess they came to me, but I knew not whence they were: And at the time of shutting 5 the gate in the dark, they also went out together. I know not whither they are gone: pursue after them quickly, and you will overtake them. But she made the men go up to the top of her 6 house, and covered them with the stalks of flax, which was there.
Now they that were sent, pursued after them, by the way that 7 leadeth to the fords of the Jordan: and as soon as they were gone out, the gate was presently shut. The men that were hid 8 were not yet asleep, when behold the woman went up to them, and said: I know that the Lord hath given this land to you: for 9 the dread of you is fallen upon us, and all the inhabitants of the land have lost all strength. We have heard that the Lord dried 10 up the water of the Red Sea, at your going in, when you came out of Egypt: and what things you did to the two kings of the Amorrhites, that were beyond the Jordan, Sehon and Og whom 11 you slew. And at the hearing these things, we were affrighted, and our heart fainted away, neither did there remain any spirit in us, at your coming in: for the Lord your God he is God in 12 heaven above, and in the earth beneath. Now, therefore, swear ye to me by the Lord, that as I have shewed mercy to you, so you also will shew mercy to my father's house: and give me 13 a true token. That you will save my father and mother, my brethren and sisters, and all things that are theirs, and deliver 14 our souls from death. They answered her: Be our lives for you unto death, only if thou betray us not. And when the Lord shall have delivered us the land, we will shew thee mercy and 15 truth. Then she let them down with a cord out of a window: for her house joined close to the wall. And she said to them: 16 Get ye up to the mountains, lest perhaps they meet you as they return: and there lie ye hid three days, till they come back, and 17 so you shall go on your way. And they said to her: We shall be blameless of this oath, which thou hast made us swear, If, when we come into the land, this scarlet cord be a sign, and thou tie it in the window, by which thou hast let us down: and gather together thy father and mother, and brethren, and all thy 19 kindred into thy house. Whosoever shall go out of the door of thy house, his blood shall be upon his own head, and we shall be quit. But the blood of all that shall be with thee in the house, 20 shall light upon our head, if any man touch them. But if thou wilt betray us, and utter this word abroad, we shall be quit of 21 this oath, which thou hast made us swear. And she answered: As you have spoken, so be it done: and sending them on their 22 way, she hung the scarlet cord in the window. But they went and came to the mountains, and stayed there three days, till they that pursued them were returned. For having sought them 23 through all the way, they found them not. And when they were gone back into the city, the spies returned, and came down from the mountain: and passing over the Jordan, they came to Josue, 24 the son of Nun, and told him all that befel them, And said: the Lord hath delivered all this land into our hands, and all the inhabitants thereof are overthrown with fear.

3 And Josue rose before daylight, and removed the camp: and they departed from Setim, and came to the Jordan: he, and all the children of Israel, and they abode there for three days. After which, the heralds went through the midst of the camp, and began to proclaim: When you shall see the ark of the covenant of the Lord your God, and the priests of the race of Levi carrying it, rise you up also, and follow them as they go before: let there be between you and the ark the space of two thousand cubits: that you may see it afar off, and know which way you must go: for you have not gone this way before: and take care you come not near the ark. And Josue said to the people: Be ye sanctified: for tomorrow the Lord will do wonders among you. And he said to the priests: Take up the ark of the covenant, and go before the people. And they obeyed his commands, and took it up, and walked before them. And the Lord said to Josue: This day will I begin to exalt thee before Israel: that they may know that as I was with Moses, so I am with thee also. And do thou command the priests, that carry the ark of the covenant, and say to them: When you shall have entered into part of the water of the Jordan, stand in it. And Josue said to the children of Israel: Come hither, and hear the word of the Lord your God. And again he said: By this you shall know, that the Lord, the living God, is in the midst of you, and that he shall destroy, before your sight, the Chanaanite and the Hethite, the Hevite and the Pherezite, the Gergesite also, and the Jebusite, and the Amorrhite. Behold, the ark of the covenant of the Lord of all the earth shall go before you into the Jordan. Prepare ye twelve men of the tribes of Israel, one of every tribe. And when the priests, that carry the ark of the Lord the God of the whole earth, shall set the soles of their feet in the waters of the Jordan, the waters that are beneath shall run down and go off: and those that come from above, shall stand together upon a heap. So the people went out of their tents, to pass over the Jordan: and the priests that carried the ark of the covenant, went on before them. And as soon as they came into the Jordan, and their feet were dipped in part of the water, (now the Jordan, it being harvest time, had filled the banks of its channel,) The waters that came down from above stood in one place, and swelling up like a mountain, were seen afar off, from the city that is called Adom, to the place of Sarthan: but those that were beneath, ran down into the sea of the wilderness, (which now is called the 17 Dead Sea) until they wholly failed. And the people marched over against Jericho: and the priests that carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord, stood girded upon the dry ground in the midst of the Jordan, and all the people passed over, through the channel that was dried up.

4 And when they were passed over, the Lord said to Josue: 2, 3 Choose twelve men, one of every tribe: And command them to take out of the midst of the Jordan, where the feet of the priests stood, twelve very hard stones, which you shall set in the place 4 of the camp, where you shall pitch your tents this night. And Josue called twelve men, whom he had chosen out of the children 5 of Israel, one out of every tribe, And he said to them: Go before the ark of the Lord your God to the midst of the Jordan, and carry from thence every man a stone on your shoulders, accord-6 ing to the number of the children of Israel, That it may be a sign among you: and when your children shall ask you tomorrow, 7 saying: What means these stones? You shall answer them: The waters of the Jordan ran off before the ark of the covenant of the Lord when it passed over the same: therefore were these stones 8 set for a monument of the children of Israel forever. The children of Israel therefore did as Josue commanded them, carrying out of the channel of the Jordan twelve stones, as the Lord had commanded him according to the number of the children of Israel unto the place wherein they camped, and there they set them.
9 And Josue put other twelve stones in the midst of the channel of the Jordan, where the priests stood that carried the ark of the 10 covenant: and they are there until this present day. Now the priests that carried the ark, stood in the midst of the Jordan, till all things were accomplished, which the Lord had commanded Josue to speak to the people, and Moses had said to him. And 11 the people made haste, and passed over. And when they had all passed over, the ark also of the Lord passed over, and the priests 12 went before the people. The children of Ruben also, and Gad, and half the tribe of Manasses, went armed before the children 13 of Israel, as Moses had commanded them. And forty thousand fighting men by their troops and bands, marched through the 14 plains and fields of the city of Jericho. In that day the Lord magnified Josue in the sight of all Israel, that they should fear him, as they had feared Moses, while he lived. And he said to 15 him: Command the priests, that carry the ark of the covenant, 16 to come up out of the Jordan. And he commanded them, say- 17 ing: Come ye up out of the Jordan. And when they that carried 18 the ark of the covenant of the Lord, were come up, and began to tread on the dry ground, the waters returned into their channel, and ran as they were wont before. And the people came up out 19 of the Jordan, the tenth day of the first month, and camped in Galgal, over against the east side of the city of Jericho. And 20 the twelve stones, which they had taken out of the channel of the Jordan, Josue pitched in Galgal, And said to the children 21 of Israel: When your children shall ask their fathers tomorrow, and shall say to them: What mean these stones? You shall 22 teach them, and say: Israel passed over this Jordan through the dry channel, The Lord your God drying up the waters thereof 23 in your sight, until you passed over: As he had done before in 24 the Red Sea, which he dried up till we passed through: That 25 all the people of the earth may learn the most mighty hand of the Lord, that you also may fear the Lord your God for ever.

Now when all the kings of the Amorrhites, who dwelt beyond 5 the Jordan, westward, and all the kings of Chanaan, who possessed the places near the great sea, had heard that the Lord had dried up the waters of the Jordan before the children of Israel, till they passed over, their heart failed them, and there remained no spirit in them, fearing the coming in of the children of Israel.
At that time the Lord said to Josue: Make thee knives of stone, 2 and circumcise the second time the children of Israel. He did 3 what the Lord had commanded, and he circumcised the children of Israel in the hill of the foreskins. Now this is the cause of the 4 second circumcision: All the people that came out of Egypt that were males, all the men fit for war, died in the desert, during the time of the long going about in the way: Now these were all 6 circumcised. But the people that were born in the desert, During the forty years of the journey in the wide wilderness, were uncircumcised: till all they were consumed that had not heard the voice of the Lord, and to whom he had sworn before, that he would not shew them the land flowing with milk and honey.
The children of these succeeded in the place of their fathers, and 7 were circumcised by Josue: for they were uncircumcised even as they were born, and no one had circumcised them in the way.

8 Now after they were all circumcised, they remained in the same 9 place of the camp, until they were healed. And the Lord said to Josue: This day have I taken away from you the reproach of Egypt. And the name of that place was called Galgal, until 10 this present day. And the children of Israel abode in Galgal, and they kept the phase, on the fourteenth day of the month at 11 evening, in the plains of Jericho: And they ate on the next day unleavened bread of the corn of the land, and frumenty of the 12 same year. And the manna ceased after they ate of the corn of the land, neither did the children of Israel use that food any more, but they ate of the corn of the present year of the land of 13 Chanaan. And when Josue was in the field of the city of Jericho, he lifted up his eyes, and saw a man standing over against him, holding a drawn sword, and he went to him, and said: Art thou 14 one of ours, or of our adversaries? And he answered: No: but I 15 am prince of the host of the Lord, and now I am come. Josue fell on his face to the ground. And worshipping, said: What 16 saith my lord to his servant? Loose, saith he, thy shoes from off thy feet: for the place whereon thou standest is holy. And Josue did as was commanded him.

6 Now Jericho was close shut up and fenced, for fear of the 2 children of Israel, and no man durst go out or come in. And the Lord said to Josue: Behold I have given into thy hands Jericho, 3 and the king thereof, and all the valiant men. Go round about the city all ye fighting men once a day: so shall ye do for six days.
4 And on the seventh day the priests shall take the seven trumpets, which are used in the jubilee, and shall go before the ark of the covenant: and you shall go about the city seven times, and the 5 priests shall sound the trumpets. And when the voice of the trumpet shall give a longer and broken tune, and shall sound in your ears, all the people shall shout together with a very great shout, and the walls of the city shall fall to the ground, and they shall enter in every one at the place against which they 6 shall stand. Then Josue, the son of Nun, called the priests, and said to them: Take the ark of the covenant: and let seven other priests take the seven trumpets of the jubilee, and march 7 before the ark of the Lord. And he said to the people: Go, and compass the city, armed, marching before the ark of the Lord. And when Josue had ended his words, and the seven 8 priests blew the seven trumpets before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, And all the armed men went before, the rest of the 9 common people followed the ark, and the sound of the trumpets was heard on all sides. But Josue had commanded the people, 10 saying: You shall not shout, nor shall your voice be heard, nor any word go out of your mouth: until the day come wherein I shall say to you: Cry, and shout. So the ark of the Lord went 11 about the city once a day, and returning into the camp, abode there. And Josue rising before day, the priests took the ark of 12 the Lord, And seven of them seven trumpets, which are used in 13 the jubilee: and they went before the ark of the Lord, walking and sounding the trumpets: and the armed men went before them, and the rest of the common people followed the ark, and they blew the trumpets. And they went round about the city 14 the second day once, and returned into the camp. So they did six days. But the seventh day, rising up early, they went about the 15 city, as it was ordered, seven times. And when in the seventh 16 going about the priests sounded with the trumpets, Josue said to all Israel: Shout: for the Lord hath delivered the city to you: And let this city be an anathema, and all things that are in 17 it, to the Lord. Let only Rahab, the harlot, live, with all that are with her in the house: for she hid the messengers whom we sent. But beware ye lest you touch ought of those things that 18 are forbidden, and you be guilty of transgression, and all the camp of Israel be under sin, and be troubled. But whatsoever 19 gold or silver there shall be, or vessels of brass and iron, let it be consecrated to the Lord, laid up in his treasures. So all the 20 people making a shout, and the trumpets sounding, when the voice and the sound thundered in the ears of the multitude, the walls forthwith fell down: and every man went up by the place that was over against him: and they took the city, And killed 21 all that were in it, man and woman, young and old. The oxen also, and the sheep, and the asses, they slew with the edge of the sword. But Josue said to the two men that had been sent 22 for spies: Go into the harlot's house, and bring her out, and all things that are hers, as you assured her by oath. And the 23 young men went in, and brought out Rahab, and her parents, her brethren also, and all her goods, and her kindred, and made them

24 to stay without the camp. But they burned the city, and all things that were therein; except the gold and silver, and vessels of brass and iron, which they consecrated unto the treasury of 25 the Lord. But Josue saved Rahab the harlot, and her father's house, and all she had, and they dwelt in the midst of Israel until this present day: because she hid the messengers whom he had sent to spy out Jericho. At that time, Josue made an 26 imprecation, saying: Cursed be the man before the Lord, that shall raise up and build the city of Jericho. In his firstborn may he lay the foundation thereof, and in the last of his children set 27 up its gates. And the Lord was with Josue, and his name was noised throughout all the land

7 But the children of Israel transgressed the commandment, and took to their own use of that which was accursed. For Achan, the son of Charmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zare, of the tribe of Juda, took something of the anathema: and the Lord was 2 angry against the children of Israel. And when Josue sent men from Jericho against Hai, which is beside Bethaven, on the east side of the town of Bethel, he said to them: Go up, and view the 3 country: and they fulfilled his command, and viewed Hai. And returning, they said to him: Let not all the people go up, but let two or three thousand men go, and destroy the city: why should 4 all the people be troubled in vain, against enemies that are very few? There went up therefore three thousand fighting men:
5 who immediately turned their backs, And were defeated by the men of the city of Hai, and there fell of them six and thirty men: and the enemies pursued them from the gate as far as Sabarim, and they slew them as they fled by the descent: and the heart 6 of the people was struck with fear, and melted like water. But Josue rent his garments, and fell flat on the ground, before the ark of the Lord, until the evening, both he and all the ancients 7 of Israel: and they put dust upon their heads. And Josue said: Alas, O Lord God, why wouldst thou bring this people over the river Jordan, to deliver us into the hand of the Amorrhite, and to destroy us? would God we had stayed beyond the Jordan, 8 as we began. My Lord God, what shall I say, seeing Israel turning their backs to their enemies? The Chanaanites, and all the inhabitants of the land, will hear of it, and being gathered together will surround us, and cut off our name from the earth:

and what wilt thou do to thy great name? And the Lord said 10 to Josue: Arise, why liest thou flat on the ground? Israel hath 11 sinned, and transgressed my covenant: and they have taken of the anathema, and have stolen and lied, and have hid it among their goods. Neither can Israel stand before his enemies, but he 12 shall flee from them: because he is defiled with the anathema. I will be no more with you, till you destroy him that is guilty of this wickedness. Arise, sanctify the people, and say to them: 13 Be ye sanctified against tomorrow: for thus saith the Lord God of Israel: The curse is in the midst of thee, O Israel: thou canst not stand before thy enemies, till he be destroyed out of thee, that is defiled with this wickedness. And you shall come in the 14 morning, every one by your tribes: and what tribe soever the lot shall find, it shall come by its kindreds, and the kindred by its houses and tho house by the men. And whosoever he be that 15 shall be found guilty of this fact, he shall be burnt with fire, with all his substance, because he hath transgressed the covenant of the Lord, and hath done wickedness in Israel. Josue, therefore, 16 when he rose in the morning, made Israel to come by their tribes, and the tribe of Juda was found. Which being brought by in 17 families, it was found to be the family of Zare. Bringing that also by the houses, he found it to be Zabdi: And bringing his 18 house man by man, he found Achan, the son of Charmi, the son of Zabdi, the son of Zare, of the tribe of Juda. And Josue said 19 to Achan: My son, give glory to the Lord God of Israel, and confess, and tell me what thou hast done, hide it not. And 20 Achan answered Josue, and said to him: Indeed I have sinned against the Lord, the God of Israel, and thus and thus have I done. For I saw among the spoils a scarlet garment, exceeding 21 good, and two hundred sicles of silver, and a golden rule of fifty sicles: and I coveted them, and I took them away, and hid them in the ground in the midst of my tent, and the silver I covered with the earth that I dug up. Josue therefore sent ministers: 22 who running to his tent, found all hid in the same place, together with the silver. And taking them away out of the tent, they 23 brought them to Josue, and to all the children of Israel, and threw them down before the Lord. Then Josue, and all Israel 24 with him, took Achan, the son of Zare, and the silver, and the garment, and the golden rule, his sons also, and his daughters, his oxen, and asses, and sheep, the tent also, and all the goods: 25 and brought them to the valley of Achor: Where Josue said: Because thou hast troubled us, the Lord trouble thee this day.

And all Israel stoned him: and all things that were his, were 26 consumed with fire. And they gathered together upon him a great heap of stones, which remaineth until this present day And the wrath of the Lord was turned away from them. And the name of that place was called the Valley of Achor, until this day.

8 And the Lord said to Josue: Fear not, nor be thou dismayed: take with thee all the multitude of fighting men, arise, and go up to the town of Hai: Behold I have delivered into thy hand the 2 king thereof, and the people, and the city, and the land. And thou shalt do to the city of Hai, and to the king thereof, as thou hast done to Jericho, and to the king thereof: but the spoils, and all the cattle, you shall take for a prey to yourselves: lay 3 an ambush for the city behind it. And Josue arose, and all the army of the fighting men with him, to go up against Hai: and 4 he sent thirty thousand chosen valiant men in the night, And commanded them, saying: Lay an ambush behind the city: and 5 go not very far from it: and be ye all ready. But I, and the rest of the multitude which is with me, will approach on the contrary side against the city. And when they shall come out against us, we will flee, and turn our backs, as we did before: 6 Till they pursuing us be drawn farther from the city: for they 7 will think that we flee as before. And whilst we are fleeing, and they pursuing, you shall rise out of the ambush, and shall destroy the city: and the Lord your God will deliver it into your 8 hands. And when you shall have taken it, set it on fire, and 9 you shall do all things so as I have commanded. And he sent them away, and they went on to the place of the ambush, and abode between Bethel and Hai, on the west side of the city of 10 Hai. But Josue staid that night in the midst of the people, And rising early in the morning, he mustered his soldiers, and went up with the ancients in the front of the army, environed with 11 the aid of the fighting men. And when they were come, and were gone up over against the city, they stood on the north side of the city, between which and them there was a valley in the 12 midst. And he had chosen five thousand men, and set them to lie in ambush between Bethel and Hai, on the west side of the same city: But all the rest of the army went in battle array on 13 the north side, so that the last of that multitude reached to the west side of the city. So Josue went that night, and stood in the midst of the valley. And when the king of Hai saw this, he 14 made haste in the morning, and went out with all the army of the city, and set it in battle array, toward the desert, not knowing that there lay an ambush behind his back. But Josue, and all 15 Israel gave back, making as if they were afraid, and fleeing by the way of the wilderness. But they shouting together, and 16 encouraging one another, pursued them. And when they were come from the city, And not one remained in the city of Hai 17 and of Bethel, that did not pursue after Israel, leaving the towns open as they had rushed out, The Lord said to Josue: Lift up 18 the shield that is in thy hand, towards the city of Hai, for I will deliver it to thee. And when he had lifted up his shield towards 19 the city, the ambush, that lay hid, rose up immediately: and going to the city, took it, and set it on fire. And the men of 20 the city, that pursued after Josue, looking back, and seeing the smoke of the city rise up to heaven, had no more power to flee this way or that way: especially as they that had counterfeited flight, and were going toward the wilderness, turned back most 21 valiantly against them that pursued. So Josue, and all Israel, seeing that the city was taken, and that the smoke of the city rose up, returned, and slew the men of Hai. And they also 22 that had taken and set the city on fire, issuing out of the city to meet their own men, began to cut off the enemies who were surrounded by them. So that the enemies being cut off on both 23 sides, not one of so great a multitude was saved. And they took the king of the city of Hai alive and brought him to Josue.

So all being slain that had pursued after Israel, in his flight to 24 the wilderness, and falling by the sword in the same place, the children of Israel returned and laid waste the city. And the 25 number of them that fell that day, both of men and women, was twelve thousand persons, all of the city of Hai. But Josue drew 26 not back his hand, which he had stretched out on high, holding the shield, till all the inhabitants of Hai were slain. And the 27 children of Israel divided among them, the cattle and the prey of the city, as the Lord had commanded Josue. And he burnt 28 the city, and made it a heap forever: And he hung the king 29 thereof on a gibbet, until the evening and the going down of the sun. Then Josue commanded, and they took down his carcass from the gibbet: and threw it in the very entrance of the city, heaping upon it a great heap of stones, which remaineth until 30 this present day. Then Josue built an altar to the Lord, the 31 God of Israel, in Mount Hebal, As Moses, the servant of the Lord, had commanded the children of Israel, and it is written in the book of the law of Moses: an altar of unhewn stones, which iron had not touched: and he offered upon it holocausts to the 32 Lord, and immolated victims of peace offerings. And he wrote upon stones, the Deuteronomy of the law of Moses, which he had 33 ordered before the children of Israel. And all the people, and the ancients, and the princes, and judges, stood on both sides of the ark, before the priests that carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord, both the stranger and he that was born among them, half of them by Mount Garizim, and half by Mount Hebal, as Moses the servant of the Lord, had commanded. And first he 34 blessed the people of Israel. After this, he read all the words of the blessing and the cursing, and all things that were written in 35 the book of the law. He left out nothing of those things which Moses had commanded, but he repeated all before all the people of Israel, with the women and children, and strangers, that dwelt among them.

9 Now when these things were heard of, all the kings beyond the Jordan, that dwelt in the mountains, and in the plains, in the places near the sea, and on the coasts of the great sea, they also that dwell by Libanus, the Hethite, and the Amorrhite, the Chanaanite, the Pherezite, and the Hevite, and the Jebusite, 2 Gathered themselves together, to fight against Josue and Israel 3 with one mind, and one resolution. But they that dwelt in Gabaon, hearing all that Josue had done to Jericho and Hai:
4 Cunningly devising took for themselves provisions, laying old sacks upon their asses, and wine bottles rent and sewed up again, 5 And very old shoes, which for a show of age were clouted with patches, and old garments upon them: the loaves also, which they carried for provisions by the way, were hard, and broken 6 into pieces: And they went to Josue, who then abode in the camp at Galgal, and said to him, and to all Israel with him: We are come from a far country, desiring to make peace with you.

And the children of Israel answered them, and said: Perhaps 7 you dwell in the land which falls to our lot; if so, we can make no league with you. But they said to Josue: We are thy servants. 8 Josue said to them: Who are you? and whence came you? They 9 answered: From a very far country thy servants are come in the name of the Lord thy God. For we have heard the fame of his power, all the things that he did in Egypt. And to the two kings 10 of the Amorrhites, that were beyond the Jordan, Sehon, king of Hesebon, and Og, king of Basan, that was in Astaroth: And 11 our ancients, and all the inhabitants of our country, said to us: Take with you victuals for a long way, and go meet them, and say: We are your servants, make ye a league with us. Behold, 12 these loaves we took hot, when we set out from our houses to come to you, now they are become dry, and broken in pieces by being exceeding old. These bottles of wine when we filled 13 them were new, now they are rent and burst. These garments we have on, and the shoes we have on our feet, by reason of the very long journey, are worn out, and almost consumed. They 14 took therefore of their victuals, and consulted not the mouth of the Lord. And Josue made peace with them, and entering into 15 a league, promised that they should not be slain: the princes also of the multitude swore to them. Now three days after the 16 league was made, they heard that they dwelt nigh, and they should be among them. And the children of Israel removed the 17 camp, and came into their cities on the third day, the names of which are, Gabaon, and Caphira, and Beroth, and Cariathiarim.
And they slew them not, because the princes of the multitude 18 had sworn in the name of the Lord, the God of Israel. Then all the common people murmured against the princes. And they 19 answered them: We have sworn to them in the name of the Lord, the God of Israel, and therefore we may not touch them. But 20 this we will do to them: Let their lives be saved, lest the wrath of the Lord be stirred up against us, if we should be forsworn: But so let them live, as to serve the whole multitude in hewing 21 wood, and bringing in water. As they were speaking these things, Josue called the Gabaonites, and said to them: Why would you 22 impose upon us, saying: We dwell very far off from you, whereas you are in the midst of us? Therefore you shall be under a 23 curse, and your race shall always be hewers of wood, and carriers

24 of water, into the house of my God. They answered: It was told us, thy servants, that the Lord thy God had promised his servant Moses, to give you all the land, and to destroy all the inhabitants thereof. Therefore we feared exceedingly and provided for our lives, compelled by the dread we had of you, and we took this 25 counsel. And now we are in thy hand: deal with us as it seemeth 26 good and right unto thee. So Josue did as he had said, and delivered them from the hand of the children of Israel, that they 27 should not be slain. And he gave orders in that day, that they should be in the service of all the people, and of the altar of the Lord, hewing wood, and carrying water, until this present time, in the place which the Lord hath chosen.

10 When Adonisedec, king of Jerusalem, had heard these things, to wit, that Josue had taken Hai, and had destroyed it, (for as he had done to Jericho and the king thereof, so did he to Hai and its king) and that the Gabaonites were gone over to Israel, 2 and were their confederates, He was exceedingly afraid. For Gabaon was a great city, and one of the royal cities, and greater than the town of Hai, and all its fighting men were most valiant.
3 Therefore Adonisedec, king of Jerusalem, sent to Oham, king of Hebron, and to Pharam, king of Jerimoth, and to Japhia, king 4 of Lachis, and to Dabir, king of Eglon, saying: Come up to me, and bring help, that we may take Gabaon, because it hath gone 5 over to Josue, and to the children of Israel. So the five kings of the Amorrhites being assembled together, went up: the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jerimoth, the king of Lachis, the king of Eglon, they and their armies, and camped 6 about Gabaon, laying siege to it. But the inhabitants of the city of Gabaon, which was besieged, sent to Josue, who then abode in the camp at Galgal, and said to him: Withdraw not thy hands from helping thy servants: come up quickly, and save us, and bring us succour: for all the kings of the Amorrhites, who dwell in the mountains, are gathered together against us.
7 And Josue went up from Galgal, and all the army of the warriors 8 with him, most valiant men. But the Lord said to Josue: Fear them not: for I have delivered them into thy hands: none of 9 them shall be able to stand against thee. So Josue going up 10 from Galgal all the night, came upon them suddenly. And the Lord troubled them, at the sight of Israel: and he slew them with a great slaughter, in Gabaon, and pursued them by the way of the ascent to Bethoron, and cut them off all the way to Azeca and Maceda. And when they were fleeing from the children 11 of Israel, and were in the descent of Bethoron, the Lord cast down upon them great stones from heaven, as far as Azeca: and many more were killed with the hailstones, than were slain by the swords of the children of Israel, Then Josue spoke to the 12 Lord, in the day that he delivered the Amorrhite in the sight of the children of Israel, and he said before them: Move not, O sun, toward Gabaon, nor thou, O moon, toward the valley of Ajalon. And the sun and the moon stood still, till the people revenged 13 themselves of their enemies. Is not this written in the book of the just? So the sun stood still in the midst of heaven, and hasted not to go down the space of one day. There was not before, 14 nor after, so long a day, the Lord obeying the voice of a man, and fighting for Israel. And Josue returned, with all Israel, into 15 the camp of Galgal. For the five kings were fled, and had hid 16 themselves in a cave of the city of Maceda. And it was told 17 Josue, that the five kings were found hid in a cave of the city of Maceda. And he commanded them that were with him, saying: 18 Roll great stones to the mouth of the cave, and set careful men to keep them shut up: And stay you not, but pursue after the 19 enemies, and kill all the hindermost of them as they flee, and do not suffer them whom the Lord God hath delivered into your hands, to shelter themselves in their cities. So the enemies being 20 slain with a great slaughter, and almost utterly consumed, they that were able to escape from Israel, entered into fenced cities. And all the army returned to Josue, in Maceda, where the camp 21 then was, in good health, and without the loss of any one: and no man durst move his tongue against the children of Israel. And Josue gave orders, saying: Open the mouth of the cave, 22 and bring forth to me the five kings that lie hid therein. And 23 the ministers did as they were commanded: and they brought out to him the five kings out of the cave: the king of Jerusalem, the king of Hebron, the king of Jerimoth, the king of Lachis, the king of Eglon. And when they were brought out to him, he 24 called all the men of Israel, and said to the chiefs of the army that were with him: Go, and set your feet on the necks of these kings. And when they had gone, and put their feet upon the 25 necks of them lying under them, He said again to them: Fear not, neither be ye dismayed, take courage, and be strong: for so will the Lord do to all your enemies, against whom you fight.

26 And Josue struck, and slew them, and hanged them upon five 27 gibbets; and they hung until the evening. And when the sun was down, he commanded the soldiers to take them down from the gibbets. And after they were taken down, they cast them into the cave, where they had lain hid, and put great stones at 28 the mouth thereof, which remain until this day. The same day Josue took Maceda, and destroyed it with the edge of the sword, and killed the king and all the inhabitants thereof: he left not in it the least remains. And he did to the king of Maceda, as he 29 had done to the king of Jericho. And he passed from Maceda 30 with all Israel to Lebna, and fought against it: And the Lord delivered it with the king thereof into the hands of Israel: and they destroyed the city with the edge of the sword, and all the inhabitants thereof. They left not in it any remains. And they did to the king of Lebna, as they had done to the king of Jericho.
31 From Lebna he passed unto Lachis, with all Israel: and investing 32 it with his army, besieged it. And the Lord delivered Lachis into the hands of Israel, and he took it the following day, and put it to the sword, and every soul that was in it, as he had done to 33 Lebna. At that time Horam, king of Gazer, came up to succour Lachis: and Josue slew him with all his people so as to leave none 34 alive. And he passed from Lachis to Eglon, and surrounded it, 35 And took it the same day: and put to the sword all the souls 36 that were in it, according to all that he had done to Lachis. He went up also with all Israel from Eglon to Hebron, and fought 37 against it: Took it, and destroyed it with the edge of the sword: the king also thereof, and all the towns of that country, and all the souls that dwelt in it: he left not therein any remains: as he had done to Eglon, so did he also to Hebron, putting to the 38 sword all that he found in it. Returning from thence to Dabir, 39 He took it, and destroyed it: the king also thereof, and all the towns round about, he destroyed with the edge of the sword: he left not in it any remains: as he had done to Hebron and Lebna, and to their kings, so did he to Dabir, and to the king thereof.
40 So Josue conquered all the country of the hills, and of the south, and of the plain, and of Asedoth, with their kings: he left not any remains therein, but slew all that breathed, as the Lord, the God of Israel, had commanded him. From Cadesbarne even to Gaza. All the land of Gosen even to Gabaon, And all their kings, and their lands he took and wasted at one onset: for the Lord the God of Israel fought for him. And he returned with all Israel to the place of the camp in Galgal.

And when Jabin king of Asor had heard these things, he sent to Jobab king of Madon, and to the king of Semeron, and to the king of Achsaph: And to the kings of the north, that dwelt in the mountains and in the plains over against the south side of Ceneroth, and in the levels and the countries of Dor by the sea side: To the Chanaanites also on the east and on the west, and the Amorrhite, and the Hethite, and the Pherezite, and the Jebusite in the mountains: to the Hevite also who dwelt at the foot of Hermon in the land of Maspha. And they all came out with their troops, a people exceeding numerous as the sand that is on the sea shore, their horses also and chariots a very great multitude, And all these kings assembled together at the waters of Merom, to fight against Israel. And the Lord said to Josue: Fear them not: for to morrow at this same hour I will deliver all these to be slain in the sight of Israel: thou shalt hamstring their horses, and thou shalt burn their chariots with fire. And Josue came, and all the army with him, against them to the waters of Merom on a sudden, and fell upon them. And the Lord delivered them into the hands of Israel. And they defeated them, and chased them as far as the great Sidon and the waters of Maserophot, and the field of Masphe, which is on the east thereof. He slew them all, so as to leave no remains of them: And he did as the Lord had commanded him, he hamstrung their horses and burned their chariots. And presently turning back he took Asor: and slew the king thereof with the sword. Now Asor of old was the head of all these kingdoms. And he cut off all the souls that abode there: he left not in it any remains, but utterly destroyed all, and burned the city itself with fire. And he took and put to the sword and destroyed all the cities round about, and their kings, as Moses the servant of God had commanded him. Except the cities that were on hills and high places, the rest Israel burned: only Asor that was very strong he consumed with fire. And the children of Israel divided among themselves all the spoil of these cities and the cattle, killing all 15 the men. As the Lord had commanded Moses his servant, so did Moses command Josue, and he accomplished all: he left not one thing undone of all the commandments which the Lord had 16 commanded Moses. So Josue took all the country of the hills, and of the south, and the land of Gosen, and the plains and the west country, and the mountain of Israel, and the plains thereof: 17 And part of the mountain that goeth up to Seir as far as Baalgad, by the plain of Libanus under mount Hermon: all their kings he 18 took, smote and slew. Josue made war a long time against 19 these kings. There was not a city that delivered itself to the children of Israel, except the Hevite, who dwelt in Gabaon: for 20 he took all by fight. For it was the sentence of the Lord, that their hearts should be hardened, and they should fight against Israel, and fall, and should not deserve any clemency, and should 21 be destroyed as the Lord had commanded Moses. At that time Josue came and cut off the Enancims from the mountains, from Hebron, and Dabir, and Anab, and from all the mountain of 22 Juda and Israel, and destroyed their cities. He left not any of the stock of the Enacims, in the land of the children of Israel: except the cities of Gaza, and Geth, and Azotus, in which alone 23 they were left. So Josue took all the land, as the Lord spoke to Moses, and delivered it in possession to the children of Israel, according to their divisions and tribes. And the land rested from wars.

12 These are the kings, whom the children of Israel slew and possessed their land beyond the Jordan towards the rising of the sun, from the torrent Arnon unto mount Hermon, and all the 2 east country that looketh towards the wilderness. Sehon king of the Amorrhites, who dwelt in Hesebon, and had dominion from Aroer, which is seated upon the bank of the torrent Arnon, and of the middle part in the valley, and of half Galaad, as far as the torrent Jaboc, which is the border of the children of Ammon.
3 And from the wilderness, to the sea of Ceneroth towards the east, and to the sea of the wilderness, which is the most salt sea, on the east side by the way that leadeth to Bethsimoth: and on the 4 south side that lieth under Asedoth, Phasga. The border of Og the king of Basan, of the remnant of the Raphaims who dwelt in Astaroth, and in Edrai, and had dominion in mount Hermon, and in Salecha, and in all Basan, unto the borders Of Gessuri 5 and Machati, and of half Galaad: the borders of Sehon the king of Hesebon. Moses the servant of the Lord, and the children of 6 Israel slew them, and Moses delivered their land in possession to the Rubenites, and Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasses.

 These are the kings of the land, whom Josue and the children of 7 Israel slew beyond the Jordan on the west side from Baalgad in the field of Libanus, unto the mount, part of which goeth up into Seir: and Josue delivered it in possession to the tribes of Israel, to every one their divisions, As well in the mountains as in 8 the plains and the champaign countries. In Asedoth, and in the wilderness, and in the south was the Hethite and the Amorrhite, the Chanaanite and the Pherezite, the Hevite and the Jebusite.
 The king of Jericho one: the king of Hai, which is on the side 9 of Bethel, one: The king of Jerusalem one, the king of Hebron 10 one, The king of Jerimoth one, thee king of Lachis one, The 11, 12 king of Eglon one, the king of Gazer one, The king of Dabir 13 one, the king of Gader one, The king of Herma one, the king 14 of Hered one, The king of Lebna one, the king of Odullam one, 15
 The king of Maceda one, the king of Bethel one, The king of 16, 17 Taphua one, the king of Opher one, The king of Aphec one, the 18 king of Saron one, The king of Madon one, the king of Asor one, 19
 The king of Semeron one, the king of Achsaph one, The king of 20, 21 Thenac one, the king of Mageddo one, Thee king of Cades one, 22 the king of Jachanan of Carmel one, The king of Dor, and of 23 the province of Dor one, the king of the nations of Galgal one,
 The king of Thersa one: all the kings thirty and one. 24

Josue was old, and far advanced in years, and the Lord said 13 to him: Thou art grown old, and advanced in age, and there is a very large country left, which is not yet divided by lot: To 2 wit, all Galilee, Philistia, and all Gessuri. From the troubled 3 river, that watereth Egypt, unto the border of Accaron northward: the land of Chanaan, which is divided among the lords of the Philistines, the Gazites, the Azotians, the Ascalonites, the Gethites, and the Accronites. And on the south side are the 4 Hevites, all the land of Chanaan, and Maara of the Sidonians as far as Apheca, and the borders of the Amorrhite, And his 5 confines. The country also of Libanus towards the east from Baalgad under mount Hermon to the entering into Emath. Of 6 all that dwell in the mountains from Libanus, to the waters of Maserephoth, and all the Sidonians. I am he that will cut them off from before the face of the children of Israel. So let their land come in as a part of the inheritance of Israel, as I have 7 commanded thee. And now divide the land in possession to 8 the nine tribes, and to the half tribe of Manasses, With whom Ruben and Gad have possessed the land, which Moses the servant of the Lord delivered to them beyond the river Jordan, on 9 the east side. From Aroer, which is upon the bank of the torrent Arnon, and in the midst of the valley and all the plains of 10 Medaba, as far as Dibon: And all the cities of Sehon, king of the Amorrhites, who reigned in Hesebon, unto the borders of the 11 children of Ammon. And Galaad, and the borders of Gessuri and Machati, and all mount Hermon, and all Basan as far as 12 Salecha, All the kingdom of Og in Basan, who reigned in As-taroth and Edrai, he was of the remains of the Raphaims: and 13 Moses overthrew and destroyed them. And the children of Israel would not destroy Gessuri and Machati and they have dwelt 14 in the midst of Israel, until this present day. But to the tribe of Levi he gave no possession: but the sacrifices and victims of thee Lord God of Israel, are his inheritance, as he spoke to him.

15 And Moses gave a possession to the children of Ruben according 16 to their kindreds. And their border was from Aroer, which is on the bank of the torrent Arnon, and in the midst of the valley 17 of the same torrent: all the plain, that leadeth to Medaba, And Hesebon, and all their villages, which are in the plains. Dibon 18 also, and Bamothbaal, and the town of Baalmaon, And Jassa, 19 and Cidimoth, and Mephaath, And Cariathaim, and Sabama, 20 and Sarathasar in the mountain of the valley. Bethphogor and 21 Asedoth, Phasga and Bethiesimoth, And all the cities of the plain, and all the kingdoms of Sehon king of the Amorrhites, 22 that reigned in Hesebon, whom Moses slew with the princes of Madian: Hevi, and Recem, and Sur and Hur, and Rebe, dukes 23 of Sehon inhabitants of the land. Balaam also the son of Beor the soothsayer, the children of Israel slew with the sword among 24 the rest that were slain. And the river Jordan was the border of the children of Ruben. This is the possession of the Rubenites, by their kindreds, of cities and villages. And Moses gave to the tribe of Gad and to his children by their kindreds a possession, of which this is the division. The border of Jaser, and all the 25 cities of Galaad, and half the land of the children of Ammon: as far as Aroer which is over against Rabba: And from Hesebon 26 unto Ramoth, Masphe and Betonim: and from Manaim unto the borders of Dabir. And in the valley Betharan and Bethnemra, 27 and Socoth, and Saphon the other part of the kingdom of Sehon king of Hesebon: the limit of this also is the Jordan, as far as the uttermost part of the sea of Cenereth beyond the Jordan on the east side, This is the possession of the children of Gad by their 28 families, their cities, and villages. He gave also to the half tribe 29 of Manasses and his children possession according to their kindreds, The beginning whereof is this: from Manaim all Basan, 30 and all the kingdoms of Og king of Basan, and all the villages of Jair, which are in Basan, threescore towns. And half Galaad, 31 and Astaroth, and Edrai, cities of the kingdom of Og in Basan: to the children of Machir, the son of Manasses, to one half of the children of Machir according to their kindreds. This possession 32 Moses divided in the plains of Moab, beyond the Jordan, over against Jericho on the east side, But to the tribe of Levi he 33 gave no possession: because the Lord the God of Israel himself is their possession, as he spoke to them.

This is what the children of Israel possessed in the land of 14 Chanaan, which Eleazar the priest, and Josue the son of Nun, and the princes of the families by the tribes of Israel gave to them. Dividing all by lot, as the Lord had commanded the 2 hand of Moses, to the nine tribes, and the half tribe. For to 3 two tribes and a half Moses had given possession beyond the Jordan: besides the Levites, who received no land among their brethren: But in their place succeeded the children of Joseph 4 divided into two tribes, of Manasses and Ephraim: neither did the Levites receive other portion of land, but cities to dwell in, and their suburbs to feed their beasts and flocks. As the Lord 5 had commanded Moses so did the children of Israel, and they divided the land. Then the children of Juda came to Josue in 6 Galgal, and Caleb the son of Jephone the Cenezite spoke to him: Thou knowest what the Lord spoke to Moses the man of God concerning me and thee in Cadesbarne. I was forty years old 7 when Moses the servant of the Lord sent me from Cadesbarne, to view the land, and I brought him word again as to me seemed 8 true, But my brethren, that had gone up with me, discouraged the heart of the people: and I nevertheless followed the Lord my 9 God. And Moses swore in that day, saying: The land which thy foot hath trodden upon shall be thy possession, and thy children 10 for ever, because thou hast followed the Lord my God. The Lord therefore hath granted me life, as he promised until this present day, It is forty and five years since the Lord spoke this word to Moses, when Israel journeyed through the wilderness: 11 this day I am eighty-five years old, As strong as I was at that time when I was sent to view the land: the strength of that time continueth in me until this day, as well to fight as to march.

12 Give me therefore this mountain, which the Lord promised, in thy hearing also, wherein are the Enacims, and cities great and strong: if so be the Lord will be with me, and I shall be able to 13 destroy them, as he promised me. And Josue blessed him, and 14 gave him Hebron in possession. And from that time Hebron belonged to Caleb the son of Jephone the Cenezite, until this present day: because he followed the Lord the God of Israel.
15 The name of Hebron before was called Cariath-Arbe: Adam the greatest among the Enacims was laid there and the land rested from wars.

15 Now the lot of the children of Juda by their kindreds was this: From the frontier of Edom, to the desert of Sin southward, 2 and to the uttermost part of the south coast. Its beginning was from the top of the most salt sea, and from the bay thereof, that 3 looketh to the south. And it goeth out towards the ascent of the Scorpion, and passeth on to Sina: and ascendeth into Cadesbarne, and reacheth into Esron, going up to Addar, and compass-4 ing Carcaa. And from thence passing along into Asemona, and reaching the torrent of Egypt: and the bounds thereof shall be 5 the great sea, this shall be the limit of the south coast. But on the east side the beginning shall be the most salt sea even to the end of the Jordan: and towards the north from the bay of the 6 sea unto the same river Jordan. And the border goeth up into Beth-Hagla, and passeth by the north into Beth-Araba: going 7 up to the stone of Boen the son of Ruben. And reaching as far as the borders of Debara from the valley of Achor, and so northward looking towards Galgal, which is opposite to the ascent of Adommin, on the south side of the torrent, and the border passeth the waters that are called the fountain of the sun: and the goings out thereof shall be at the fountain Rogel. And it goeth 8 up by the valley of the son of Ennom on the side of the Jebusite towards the south, the same is Jerusalem: and thence ascending to the top of the mountain, which is over against Geennom to the west in the end of the valley of Raphaim, northward. And 9 it passeth on from the top of the mountain to the fountain of the water of Nephtoa: and reacheth to the towns of mount Ephron: and it bendeth towards Baala, which is Cariathiarim, that is to say, the city of the woods. And it compasseth from Baala west- 10 ward unto mount Seir: and passeth by the side of mount Jarim to the north into Cheslon: and goeth down into Bethsames, and passeth into Thamna. And reacheth northward to a part of Ac- 11 caron at the side: and bendeth to Sechrona, and passeth mount Baala: and cometh into Jebneel, and is bounded westward with the great sea. These are the borders round about of the chil- 12 dren of Juda in their kindreds. But to Caleb the son of Jephone he gave a portion in the midst of the children of Juda, as the Lord had commanded him: Cariath-Arbe the father of Enac, which is Hebron. And Caleb destroyed out of it the three sons 13 of Enac, Sesai and Ahiman, and Tholmai of the race of Enac. And going up from thence he came to the inhabitants of Dabir, which before was called Cariath-Sepher, that is to say, the city of letters. And Caleb said: He that shall smite Cariath-Sepher, 14 and take it, I will give him Axa my daughter to wife. And Othoniel the son of Cenez, the younger brother of Caleb, took it: and he gave him Axa his daughter to wife. And as they 15 were going together, she was moved by her husband to ask a field of her father, and she sighed as she sat on her ass. And Caleb said to her: What aileth thee? But she answered: Give 16 me a blessing: thou hast given me a southern and dry land, give me also a land that Is watered. And Caleb gave her the upper and the nether watery ground. This is the possession of the 17 tribe of the children of Juda by their kindreds. And the cities from the uttermost parts of the children of Juda by the borders of Edom to the south, were Cabseel and Eder and Jagur, 18 And Cina and Dimona and Adada, And Cades and Asor and Jethnam, Ziph and Telem and Baloth, New Asor and Car- 19 ioth, Hesron, which is Asor. Amam, Sama and Molada, And 20 21 22, 23

24, 25
26, 27

28 Asergadda and Hassemon and Bethphelet, And Hasersual and 29, 30 Bersabee and Baziouthia, And Baala and Jim and Esem, And 31 Eltholad and Cesil and Harma, And Siceleg and Medemena and 32 Sensenna, Lebaoth and Selim and Aen and Remmon: all the 33 cities twenty-nine, and their villages. But in the plains: Es-34 taol and Sarea and Asena, And Zanoë and Engannim and Ta-35 phua and Enaim, And Jerimoth and Adullam, Socho and Azeca, 36 And Saraim and Adithaim and Gedera and Gederothaim: four-37 teen cities, and their villages. Sanan and Hadassa and Mag-38, 39 dalgad, Delean and Masepha and Jecthel, Lachis and Bascath 40, 41 and Eglon, Chebbon and Leheman and Cethlis, And Gideroth and Bethdagon and Naama and Maceda: sixteen cities, and their 42, 43 villages. Labana and Ether and Asan, Jephtha and Esna and 44 Nesib, And Ceila and Achzib and Maresa: nine cities, and their 45, 46 villages. Accaron with the towns and villages thereof. From Accaron even to the sea: all places that lie towards Azotus and 47 the villages thereof. Azotus with its towns and villages. Gaza with its towns and villages, even to the torrent of Egypt, and 48 the great sea that is the border thereof. And in the mountain 49 Samir and Jether and Socoth, And Danna and Cariath-senna, 50, 51 this is Dabir: Anab and Istemo and Anim, Gosen and Olon 52 and Gilo: eleven cities and their villages. Arab and Ruma and 53, 54 Esaan, And Janum and Beththaphua and Apeca, Athmatha and Cariath-Arbe, this is Hebron and Sior: nine cities and their 55, 56 villages. Maon and Carmel and Ziph and Jota, Jezrael and Ju-57 cadam and Zanoë, Accain, Gabaa and Thamna: ten cities and 58, 59 their villages. Halhul, and Bessur, and Gedor, Mareth, and 60 Bethanoth, and Eltecon: six cities and their villages. Cariath-baal, the same is Cariathiarim the city of woods, and Arebba: 61 two cities and their villages. In the desert Betharaba, Meddin 62 and Sachacha, And Nebsan, and the city of salt, and Engaddi: 63 six cities and their villages. But the children of Juda could not destroy the Jebusite that dwelt in Jerusalem: and the Jebusite dwelt with the children of Juda in Jerusalem until this present day.

16 And the lot of the sons of Joseph fell from the Jordan over against Jericho and the waters thereof, on the east: the wilderness which goeth up from Jericho to the mountain of Bethel: 2 And goeth out from Bethel to Luza: and passeth the border of Archi, to Ataroth, And goeth down westward, by the border 3 of Jephleti, unto the borders of Beth-horon the nether, and to Gazer: and the countries of it are ended by the great sea: And 4 Manasses and Ephraim the children of Joseph possessed it. And 5 the border of the children of Ephraim was according to their kindreds: and their possession towards the east was Ataroth-addar unto Beth-horon the upper. And the confines go out unto the 6 sea: but Machmethath looketh to the north, and it goeth round the borders eastward into Thanath-selo: and passeth along on the east side to Janoe. And it goeth down from Janoe into 7 Ataroth and Naaratha: and it cometh to Jericho, and goeth out to the Jordan. From Taphua it passeth on towards the sea into 8 the valley of reeds, and the goings out thereof are at the most salt sea. This is the possession of the tribe of the children of Ephraim by their families. And there were cities with their 9 villages separated for the children of Ephraim in the midst of the possession of the children of Manasses. And the children of 10 Ephraim slew not the Chanaanite, who dwelt in Gazer: and the Chanaanite dwelt in the midst of Ephraim until this day, paying tribute.

And this lot fell to the tribe of Manasses for he is the first- 17 born of Joseph to Machir the firstborn of Manasses the father of Galaad, who was a warlike man, and had for possession Galaad and Basan. And to the rest of the children of Manasses accord- 2 ing to their families: to the children of Abiezer, and to the children of Helec, and to the children of Esriel, and to the children of Sechem, and to the children of Hephher, and to the children of Semida: these are the male children of Manasses the son of Joseph, by their kindreds. But Salphaad the son of Hephher the 3 son of Galaad the son of Machir the son of Manasses had no sons, but only daughters: whose names are these, Maala and Noa and Hegla and Melcha and Thersa. And they came in the 4 presence of Eleazar the priest and of Josue the son of Nun, and of the princes, saying: The Lord commanded by the hand of Moses, that a possession should be given us in the midst of our brethren.
And he gave them according to the commandment of the Lord a possession amongst the brethren of their father. And there fell 5 ten portions to Manasses, beside the land of Galaad and Basan beyond the Jordan. For the daughters of Manasses possessed 6 inheritance in the midst of his sons. And the land of Galaad 7 fell to the lot of the rest of the children of Manasses. And the border of Manasses was from Aser, Machmethath which looketh towards Sichem: and it goeth out on the right hand by the in-8 habitants of the fountain of Taphua. For the lot of Manasses took in the land of Taphua, which is on the borders of Manasses, 9 and belongs to the children of Ephraim. And the border goeth down to the valley of the reeds, to the south of the torrent of the cities of Ephraim, which are in the midst of the cities of Manasses: the border of Manasses is on the north side of the torrent, 10 and the outgoings of it are at the sea: So that the possession of Ephraim is on the south, and on the north that of Manasses, and the sea is the border of both, and they are joined together in the tribe of Aser on the north, and in the tribe of Issachar on 11 the east. And the inheritance of Manasses in Issachar and in Aser, was Bethsan and its villages, and Jeblaam with its villages, and the inhabitants of Dor, with the towns thereof: the inhabitants also of Endor with the villages thereof: and in like manner the inhabitants of Thenac with the villages thereof: and the inhabitants of Mageddo with their villages, and the third part of 12 the city of Nopheth. Neither could the children of Manasses overthrow these cities, but the Chanaanite began to dwell in his 13 land. But after that the children of Israel were grown strong, they subdued the Chanaanites, and made them their tributaries, 14 and they did not kill them. And the children of Joseph spoke to Josue, and said: Why hast thou given me but one lot and one portion to possess, whereas I am of so great a multitude, 15 and the Lord hath blessed me? And Josue said to them: If thou be a great people, go up into the woodland, and cut down room for thyself in the land of the Pherezite and the Raphaims: because the possession of mount Ephraim is too narrow for thee.

16 And the children of Joseph answered him: We cannot go up to the mountains, for the Chanaanites that dwell in the low lands, wherein are situate Bethsan with its towns, and Jezrael in the 17 midst of the valley, have chariots of iron. And Josue said to the house of Joseph, to Ephraim and Manasses: Thou art a great people, and of great strength, thou shalt not have one lot only: 18 But thou shalt pass to the mountain, and shalt cut down the wood, and make thyself room to dwell in: and mayst proceed farther, when thou hast destroyed the Chanaanites, who as thou sayest have iron chariots, and are very strong.

And all the children of Israel assembled together in Silo, and there they set up the tabernacle of the testimony, and the land was subdued before them. But there remained seven tribes of the children of Israel, which as yet had not received their possessions. And Josue said to them: How long are you indolent and slack, and go not in to possess the land which the Lord the God of your fathers hath given you? Choose of every tribe three men, that I may send them, and they may go and compass the land, and mark it out according to the number of each multitude: and bring back to me what they have marked out. Divide yourselves the land into seven parts: let Juda be in his bounds on the south side, and the house of Joseph on the north. The land in the midst between these mark ye out into seven parts; and you shall come hither to me, that I may cast lots for you before the Lord your God. For the Levites have no part among you, but the priesthood of the Lord is their inheritance. And Gad and Ruben, and the half tribe of Manasses have already received their possessions beyond the Jordan eastward: which Moses the servant of the Lord gave them. And when the men were risen up, to go to mark out the land, Josue commanded them saying: Go round the land and mark it out, and return to me: that I may cast lots for you before the Lord in Silo. So they went and surveying it divided it into seven parts, writing them down in a book. And they returned to Josue, to the camp in Silo. And he cast lots before the Lord in Silo, and divided the land to the children of Israel into seven parts. And first came up the lot of the children of Benjamin by their families, to possess the land between the children of Juda, and the children of Joseph. And their border northward was from the Jordan: going along by the side of Jericho on the north side, and thence going up westward to the mountains, and reaching to the wilderness of Bethaven, And passing along southward by Luza, the same is Bethel, and it goeth down into Ataroth-addar to the mountain, that is on the south of the nether Beth-horon. And it bendeth thence going round towards the sea, south of the mountain that looketh towards Beth-horon to the southwest: and the outgoings thereof are into Cariathbaal, which is called also Cariathiarim, a city of the children of Juda This is their coast towards the sea, 15 westward. But on the south side the border goeth out from part of Cariathiarim towards the sea, and cometh to the fountain of 16 the waters of Nephtoa. And it goeth down to that part of the mountain that looketh on the valley of the children of Ennom:

and is over against the north quarter in the furthest part of the valley of Raphaim, and it goeth down into Geennom (that is the valley of Ennom) by the side of the Jebusite to the south: and 17 cometh to the fountain of Rogel, Passing thence to the north, and going out to Ensemes, that is to say, the fountain of the sun: 18 And It passeth along to the hills that are over against the ascent of Adommim: and it goeth down to Abenboen, that is, the stone of Boen the son of Ruben: and it passeth on the north side to 19 the champaign countries; and goeth down Into the plain, And it passeth by Bethhagla northward: and the outgoings thereof are towards the north of the most salt sea at the south end of 20 the Jordan. Which is the border of it on the east side. This is the possession of the children of Benjamin by their borders 21 round about, and their families. And their cities were, Jericho 22 and Bethhagla and Vale-Casis, Betharaba and Samaraim and 23, 24 Bethel, And Avim and Aphara and Ophera, The town Emona 25 and Ophni and Gabee: twelve cities, and their villages. Gabam 26 and Rama and Beroth, And Mesphe, and Caphara, and Amosa, 27, 28 And Recem, Jarephel, and Tharella, And Sela, Eleph and Jebus, which is Jerusalem, Gabaath and Cariath: fourteen cities, and their villages. This is the possession of the children of Benjamin by their families.

19 And the second lot came forth for the children of Simeon by 2 their kindreds: and their inheritance was In the midst of the possession of the children of Juda: Bersabee and Sabee and Mo-3, 4 lada And Hasersual, Bala and Asem, And Eltholad, Bethul 5 and Harma, And Siceleg and Bethmarchaboth and Hasersusa, 6 And Bethlebaoth and Sarohen: thirteen cities, and their villages.
7 And Remmon and Athor and Asan: four cities, and their vil-8 lages. And all the villages round about these cities to Baalath Beer Ramath to the south quarter. This is the inheritance of 9 the children of Simeon according to their kindreds, In the possession and lot of the children of Juda: because it was too great, and therefore the children of Simeon had their possession in the midst of their inheritance. And the third lot fell to the children 10 of Zabulon by their kindreds: and the border of their possession was unto Sarid. And It went up from the sea and from Mer- 11 ala, and came to Debbaseth: as far as the torrent, which is over against Jeconam. And it returneth from Sarid eastward to the 12 borders of Ceseleththabor: and it goeth out to Dabereth and ascendeth towards Japhie. And it passeth along from thence 13 to the east side of Gethhepher and Thacasin: and goeth out to Remmon, Amthar and Noa. And it turneth about to the 14 north of Hanathon: and the outgoings thereof are the valley of Jephtahel, And Cateth and Naalol and Semeron and Jedala and 15 Bethlehem: twelve cities and their villages. This is the inheri- 16 tance of the tribe of the children of Zabulon by their kindreds, the cities and their villages. The fourth lot came out to Issachar 17 by their kindreds. And his inheritance was Jezrael and Casaloth 18 and Sunem, And Hapharaim and Seon and Anaharath, And 19, 20 Rabboth and Cesion, Abes, And Rameth and Engannim and 21 Enhadda and Bethpheses. And the border thereof cometh to 22 Thabor and Sehesima and Bethsames: and the outgoings thereof shall be at the Jordan: sixteen cities, and their villages. This is 23 the possession of the sons of Issachar by their kindreds, the cities and their villages. And the fifth lot fell to the tribe of the chil- 24 dren of Aser by their kindreds: And their border was Halcath 25 and Chali and Beten and Axaph, And Elmelech and Amaad 26 and Messal: and it reacheth to Carmel by the sea and Sihor and Labanath, And it returneth towards the east to Bethdagon: and 27 passeth along to Zabulon and to the valley of Jephthael towards the north to Bethemec and Nehiel. And it goeth out to the 28 left side of Cabul, And to Abaran and Rohob and Hamon and Cana, as far as the great Sidon. And it returneth to Horma to 29 the strong city of Tyre, and to Hosa: and the outgoings thereof shall be at the sea from the portion of Achziba: And Amma and 30 Aphec and Rohob: twenty-two cities, and their villages. This 31 is the possession of the children of Aser by their kindreds, and the cities and their villages. The sixth lot came out to the 32 sons of Nephtali by their families: And the border began from 33 Heleph and Elon to Saananim, and Adami, which is Neceb, and Jebnael even to Lecum: And the border returneth westward to 34 Azanotthabor, and goeth out from thence to Hucuca, and passeth along to Zabulon southward, and to Aser westward, and 35 to Juda upon the Jordan towards the rising of the sun. And the strong cities are Assedim, Ser, and Emath, and Reccath and 36, 37 Cenereth, And Edema and Arama, Asor, And Cedes and Edri, 38 Enhasor, And Jeron and Magdalel, Horem, and Bethanath and 39 Bethsames: nineteen cities, and their villages. This is the possession of the tribe of the children of Nephtali by their kindreds, 40 the cities and their villages. The seventh lot came out to the 41 tribe of the children of Dan by their families. And the border of their possession was Saraa and Esthaol, and Hirseemes, that is, 42, 43 the city of the sun, Selebin and Aialon and Jethela, Elon and 44, 45 Themna and Acron, Elthece, Gebbethon and Balaath, And 46 Juda and Bane and Barach and Gethremmon: And Mejarcon 47 and Arecon, with the border that looketh towards Joppe, And is terminated there. And the children of Dan went up and fought against Lesem, and took it: and they put it to the sword, and possessed it, and dwelt in it, calling the name of it Lesem Dan, 48 by the name of Dan their father. This is the possession of the tribe of the sons of Dan, by their kindreds, the cities and their 49 villages. And when he had made an end of dividing the land by lot to each one by their tribes, the children of Israel gave a pos-50 session to Josue the son of Nun in the midst of them, According to the commandment of the Lord, the city which he asked for, Thamnath Saraa, in mount Ephraim: and he built up the city, 51 and dwelt in it. These are the possessions which Eleazar the priest, and Josue the son of Nun, and the princes of the families, and of the tribes of the children of Israel, distributed by lot in Silo, before the Lord at the door of the tabernacle of the testimony, and they divided the land.

20 And the Lord spoke to Josue, saying: Speak to children of 2 Israel and say to them: Appoint cities of refuge, of which I 3 spoke to you by the hand of Moses: That whosoever shall kill a person unawares may flee to them, and may escape the wrath of 4 the kinsman, who is the avenger of blood. And when he shall flee to one of these cities: he shall stand before the gate of the city, and shall speak to the ancients of that city, such things as prove him innocent: and so shall they receive him, and give 5 him a place to dwell in. And when the avenger of blood shall pursue him, they shall not deliver him into his hands, because he slew his neighbour unawares, and is not proved to have been his enemy two or three days before, And he shall dwell in that city, 6 till he stand before judgment to give an account of his fact, and till the death of the high priest, who shall be at that time: then shall the manslayer return, and go into his own city and house from whence he fled. And they appointed Cedes in Galilee of 7 mount Nephtali, and Sichem in mount Ephraim, and Cariath-Arbe, the same is Hebron in the mountain of Juda. And beyond 8 the Jordan to the east of Jericho, they appointed Bosor, which is upon the plain of the wilderness of the tribe of Ruben, and Ramoth in Galaad of the tribe of Gad, and Gaulon in Basan of the tribe of Manasses. These cities were appointed for all the 9 children of Israel, and for the strangers, that dwelt among them, that whosoever had killed a person unawares might flee to them, and not die by the hand of the kinsman, coveting to revenge the blood that was shed, until he should stand before the people to lay open his cause.

Then the princes of the families of Levi came to Eleazar the 21 priest, and to Josue the son of Nun, and to the princes of the kindreds of all the tribes of the children of Israel And they spoke 2 to them in Silo in the land of Chanaan, and said: The Lord commanded by the hand of Moses, that cities should be given us to dwell in, and their suburbs to feed our cattle. And the 3 children of Israel gave out of their possessions according to the commandment of the Lord, cities and their suburbs. And the 4 lot came out for the family of Caath of the children of Aaron the priest out of the tribes of Juda, and of Simeon, and of Benjamin, thirteen cities. And to the rest of the children of Caath, that 5 is, to thee Levites, who remained, out of the tribes of Ephraim, and of Dan, and the half tribe of Manasses, ten cities. And 6 the lot came out to children of Gerson, that they should take of the tribes of Issachar and of Aser and of Nephtali, and of the half tribe of Manasses in Basan, thirteen cities. And to the 7 sons of Merari by their kindreds, of the tribes of Ruben and of Gad and of Zabulon, twelve cities. And the children of Israel 8 gave to the Levites the cities and their suburbs, as the Lord commanded by the hand of Moses, giving to every one by lot. Of the tribes of the children of Juda and of Simeon Josue gave 9 cities: whose names are these, To the sons of Aaron, of the 10 families of Caath of the race of Levi (for the first lot came out 11 for them) The city of Arbe the father of Enac, which is called Hebron, in the mountain of Juda, and the suburbs thereof round 12 about. But the fields and the villages thereof he had given to 13 Caleb the son of Jephone for his possession. He gave therefore to the children of Aaron the priest, Hebron a city of refuge, and the suburbs thereof, and Lebna with the suburbs thereof, 14, 15, 16 And Jether and Estemo, And Holon, and Dabir, And Ain, and Jeta, and Bethsames, with their suburbs: nine cities out 17 of the two tribes, as hath been said. And out of the tribe of 18 the children of Benjamin, Gabaon, and Gabae, And Anathoth 19 and Almon, with, their suburbs: four cities. All the cities to-20 gether of the children of Aaron the priest, were thirteen, with their suburbs, And to the rest of the families of the children 21 of Caath of the race of Levi was given this possession. Of the tribe of Ephraim, Sichem one of the cities of refuge, with the 22 suburbs thereof in mount Ephraim, and Gazer, And Cibsaim, 23 and Beth-horon, with their suburbs, four cities. And of he tribe 24 of Dan, Eltheco and Gabathon, And Aialon and Gethremmon, 25 with their suburbs, four cities. And of the half tribe of Manasses, Thanac and Gethremmon, with their suburbs, two cities.

26 All the cities were ten, with their suburbs, which were given to 27 the children of Caath, of the inferior degree. To the children of Gerson also of the race of Levi out of the half tribe of Manasses, Gaulon in Basan, one of the cities of refuge, and Bosra, with 28 their suburbs, two cities. And of the tribe of Issachar, Cesion, 29 and Dabereth, And Jaramoth, and Engannim, with their sub-30 urbs, four cities. And of the tribe of Aser, Masal and Abdon, 31, 32 And Helcath, and Rohob, with their suburbs, four cities. Of the tribe also of Nephtali, Cedes in Galilee, one of the cities of refuge: and Hammoth Dor, and Carthan, with their suburbs, 33 three cities. All the cities of the families of Gerson, were thir-34 teen, with their suburbs. And to the children of Merari, Levites of the inferior degree, by their families were given of the tribe 35 of Zabulon, Jecnam and Cartha, And Damna and Naalol, four 36 cities with their suburbs. Of the tribe of Ruben beyond the Jordan over against Jericho, Bosor in the wilderness, one of the cities of refuge, Misor and Jaser and Jethson and Mephaath, 37 four cities with their suburbs. Of the tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Galaad, one of the cities of refuge, and Manaim and Hesebon and Jaser, four cities with their suburbs, All the cities of the children of Merari by their families and kindreds, were twelve. So all the cities of the Levites within the possession of the children of Israel were forty-eight, With their suburbs, each distributed by the families. And the Lord God gave to Israel all the land that he had sworn to give to their fathers: and they possessed it, and dwelt in it. And he gave them peace from all nations round about: and none of their enemies durst stand against them, but were brought under their dominion. Not so much as one word, which he had promised to perform unto them, was made void, but all came to pass.

At the same time Josue called the Rubenites, and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasses, And said to them: You have done all that Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you: you have also obeyed me in all things, Neither have you left your brethren this long time, until this present day, keeping the commandment of the Lord your God. Therefore as the Lord your God hath given your brethren rest and peace, as he promised: return, and go to your dwellings, and to the land of your possession, which Moses the servant of the Lord gave you beyond the Jordan: Yet so that you observe attentively, and in work fulfil the commandment and the law which Moses the servant of the Lord commanded you: that you love the Lord your God, and walk in all his ways, and keep all his commandments, and cleave to him, and serve him with all your heart, and with all your soul. And Josue blessed them, and sent them away, and they returned to their dwellings. Now to half the tribe of Manasses, Moses had given a possession in Basan: and therefore to the half that remained, Josue gave a lot among the rest of their brethren beyond the Jordan to the west. And when he sent them away to their dwellings and had blessed them, He said to them: With much substance and riches, you return to your settlements, with silver and gold, brass and iron, and variety of raiment: divide the prey of your enemies with your brethren. So the children of Ruben, and the children of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasses returned, and parted from the children of Israel in Silo, which is in Chanaan, to go into Galaad the land of their possession, which they had obtained according to the com-

10 mandment of the Lord by the hand of Moses. And when they were come to banks of the Jordan, in the land of Chanaan, they 11 built an altar immensely great near the Jordan. And when the children of Israel had heard of it, and certain messengers brought them an account that the children of Ruben, and of Gad, and the half tribe of Manasses had built an altar in the land of Chanaan, upon the banks of the Jordan, over against 12 the children of Israel: They all assembled in Silo, to go up and 13 fight against them. And in the mean time they sent to them into the land of Galaad, Phinees the son of Eleazar the priest, 14, 15 And ten princes with him, one of every tribe. Who came to the children of Ruben, and of Gad, and the half tribe of Man-16 asses, into the land of Galaad, and said to them: Thus saith all the people of the Lord: What meaneth this transgression?
Why have you forsaken the Lord the God of Israel, building a 17 sacrilegious altar, and revolting from the worship of him? Is it a small thing to you that you sinned with Beelphegor, and the stain of that crime remaineth in us to this day? and many of 18 the people perished. And you have forsaken the Lord to day, 19 and to morrow his wrath will rage against all Israel. But if you think the land of your possession to be unclean, pass over to the land wherein is the tabernacle of the Lord, and dwell among us: only depart not from the Lord, and from our society, by building 20 an altar beside the altar of the Lord our God. Did not Achan the son of Zare transgress the commandment of the Lord, and his wrath lay upon all the people of Israel? And he was but one man, and would to God he alone had perished in his wickedness.
21 And the children of Ruben, and of Gad, and of the half tribe of 22 Manasses answered the princes of the embassage of Israel: The Lord the most mighty God, the Lord the most mighty God, he knoweth, and Israel also shall understand: If with the design of transgression we have set up this altar, let him not save us, but 23 punish us immediately: And if we did it with that mind, that we might lay upon it holocausts, and sacrifice, and victims of 24 peace offerings, let him require and judge: And not rather with this thought and design, that we should say: To morrow your children will say to our children: What have you to do with the 25 Lord the God of Israel? The Lord hath put the river Jordan for a border between us and you, O ye children of Ruben, and ye children of Gad: and therefore you have no part in the Lord. And by this occasion your children shall turn away our children from the fear of the Lord. We therefore thought it best, And 26 said: Let us build us an altar, not for holocausts, nor to offer victims, But for a testimony between us and you, and our posterity and yours, that we may serve the Lord, and that we may have a right to offer both holocausts, and victims and sacrifices of peace offerings: and that your children to morrow may not say to our children: You have no part in the Lord. And if they 28 will say so, they shall answer them: Behold the altar of the Lord, which our fathers made, not for holocausts, nor for sacrifice, but for a testimony between us and you. God keep us from any 29 such wickedness that we should revolt from the Lord, and leave off following his steps, by building an altar to offer holocausts, and sacrifices, and victims, beside the altar of the Lord our God, which is erected before his tabernacle. And when Phinees the 30 priest, and the princes of the embassy, who were with him, had heard this, they were satisfied: and they admitted most willingly the words of the children of Ruben, and Gad, and of the half tribe of Manasses, And Phinees the priest the son of 31 Eleazar said to them: Now we know that the Lord is with us, because you are not guilty of this revolt, and you have delivered the children of Israel from the hand of the Lord. And he returned 32 with the princes from the children of Ruben and Gad, out of the land of Galaad, into the land of Chanaan, to the children of Israel, and brought them word again. And the saying pleased all 33 that heard it. And the children of Israel praised God, and they no longer said that they would go up against them, and fight, and destroy the land of their possession. And the children of 34 Ruben, and the children of Gad called the altar which they had built, Our testimony, that the Lord is God,

And when a long time was passed, after that the Lord had 23 given peace to Israel, all the nations round about being subdued. and Josue being now old, and far advanced in years: Josue 2 called for all Israel, and for the elders, and for the princes, and for the judges, and for the masters, and said to them: I am old, and far advanced in years, And you see all that the Lord your 3 God hath done to all the nations round about, how he himself hath fought for you: And now since he hath divided to you by 4 lot all the land, from the east of the Jordan unto the great sea, 5 ant many nations yet remain: The Lord your God will destroy them, and take them away from before your face, and you shall 6 possess the land as he hath promised you. Only take courage, and be careful to observe all things that are written in the book of the law of Moses: and turn not aside from them neither to 7 the right hand nor to the left: Lest after that you are come in among the Gentiles, who will remain among you, you should swear by the name of their gods, and serve them, and adore 8 them: But cleave ye unto the Lord your God, as you have done 9 until this day. And then the Lord God will take away before your eyes nations that are great and very strong, and no man 10 shall be able to resist you. One of you shall chase a thousand men of the enemies: because the Lord your God himself will 11 fight for you, as he hath promised. This only take care of with 12 all diligence, that you love the Lord your God. But if you will embrace the errors of these nations that dwell among you, and 13 make marriages with them, and join friendships: Know ye for a certainty that the Lord your God will not destroy them before your face, but they shall be a pit and a snare in your way, and a stumbling-block at your side, and stakes in your eyes, till he take you away and destroy you from off this excellent land, which 14 he hath given you. Behold this day I am going into the way of all the earth, and you shall know with all your mind that of all the words which the Lord promised to perform for you, not 15 one hath failed, Therefore as he hath fulfilled in deed, what he promised, and all things prosperous have come: so will he bring upon you all the evils he hath threatened, till he take you away and destroy you from off this excellent land, which he hath given 16 you, When you shall have transgressed the covenant of the Lord your God, which he hath made with you, and shall have served strange gods, and adored them: then shall the indignation of the Lord rise up quickly and speedily against you, and you shall be taken away from this excellent land, which he hath delivered to you.

24 And Josue gathered together all the tribes of Israel in Sichem, and called for the ancients, and the princes and the judges, and 2 the masters: and they stood in the sight of the Lord: And he spoke thus to the people: Thus saith the Lord the God of Israel:

Your fathers dwelt of old on the other side of the river, Thare the father of Abraham, and Nachor: and they served strange gods. And I took your father Abraham from the borders of Mesopotamia: and brought him into the land of Chanaan: and I multiplied his seed, And gave him Isaac: and to him again I gave Jacob and Esau. And I gave to Esau mount Seir for his possession: but Jacob and his children went down into Egypt. And I sent Moses and Aaron, and I struck Egypt with many signs and wonders. And I brought you and your fathers out of Egypt, and you came to the sea: and the Egyptians pursued your fathers with chariots and horsemen, as far as the Red Sea. And the children of Israel cried to the Lord: and he put darkness between you and the Egyptians, and brought the sea upon them, and covered them. Your eyes saw all that I did in Egypt, and you dwelt in the wilderness a long time. And I brought you into the land of the Amorrhite, who dwelt beyond the Jordan. And when they fought against you, I delivered them into your hands, and you possessed their land, and slew them. And Balac son of Sefhor king of Moab arose and fought against Israel. And he sent and called for Balaam son of Beor, to curse you: And I would not hear him, but on the contrary I blessed you by him, and I delivered you out of his hand. And you passed over the Jordan, and you came to Jericho. And the men of that city fought against you, the Amorrhite, and the Pherezite, and the Chanaanite, and the Hethite, and the Gergesite, and the Hevite, and the Jebusite: and I delivered them into your hands. And I sent before you and I drove them out from their places, the two kings of the Amorrhites, not with thy sword nor with thy bow, And I gave you a land, in which you had not laboured, and cities to dwell in which you built not, vineyards and oliveyards, which you planted not. Now therefore fear the Lord, and serve him with a perfect and most sincere heart: and put away the gods which your fathers served in Mesopotamia and in Egypt, and serve the Lord. But if it seem evil to you to serve the Lord, you have your choice: choose this day that which pleaseth you, whom you would rather serve, whether the gods which your fathers served in Mesopotamia, or the gods of the Amorrhites, in whose land you dwell: but as for me and my house we will serve thee Lord, And the people answered, and said, God forbid we 17 should leave the Lord, and serve strange gods. The Lord our God he brought us and our fathers out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage: and did very great signs in our sight, and preserved us in all the way by which we journeyed, 18 and among all the people through whom we passed. And he hath cast out all the nations, the Amorrhite the inhabitant of the land into which we are come. Therefore we will serve the 19 Lord, for he is our God. And Josue said to the people: You will not be able to serve the Lord: for he is a holy God, and mighty 20 and jealous, and will not forgive your wickedness and sins. If you leave the Lord, and serve strange gods, he will turn, and will afflict you, and will destroy you after all the good he hath done 21 you. And the people said to Josue: No, it shall not be so as 22 thou sayest, but we will serve the Lord. And Josue said to the people, You are witnesses, that you yourselves have chosen you the Lord to serve him. And they answered: We are witnesses.

23 Now therefore, said he, put away strange gods from among you, 24 and incline your hearts to the Lord the God of Israel. And the people said to Josue: We will serve the Lord our God, and we 25 will be obedient to his commandments. Josue therefore on that day made a covenant, and set before the people commandments 26 and judgments in Sichem. And he wrote all these things in the volume of the law of the Lord: and he took a great stone, and 27 set it under the oak that was in the sanctuary of the Lord. And he said to all the people: Behold this stone shall be a testimony unto you, that it hath heard all the words of the Lord, which he hath spoken to you: lest perhaps hereafter you will deny it, and 28 lie to the Lord your God. And he sent the people away every 29 one to their own possession, And after these things Josue the son of Nun the servant of the Lord died, being a hundred and ten 30 years old: And they buried him in the border of his possession in Thamnathsare, which is situate in mount Ephraim, on the 31 north side of mount Gaas. And Israel served the Lord all the days of Josue, and of the ancients that lived a long time after Josue, and that had known all the works of the Lord which he 32 had done in Israel. And the bones of Joseph which the children of Israel had taken out of Egypt, they buried in Sichem, in that part of the field which Jacob had bought of the sons of Hemor the father of Sichem, for a hundred young ewes, and it was in the possession of the sons of Joseph. Eleazar also the son of 33 Aaron died: and they buried him in Gabaath that belongeth to Phinees his son, which was given him in mount Ephraim.

THE BOOK OF JUDGES.

1 After the death of Josue, the children of Israel consulted the Lord, saying: Who shall go up before us against the Chanaanite, and shall be the leader of the war?
2 And the Lord said: Juda shall go up: behold I have 3 delivered the land into his hands. And Juda said to Simeon, his brother: Come up with me into my lot, and fight against the Chanaanite, that I also may go along with thee into thy lot.
4 And Simeon went with him. And Juda went up, and the Lord delivered the Chanaanite, and the Pherezite into their hands: 5 and they slew of them in Bezec ten thousand men. And they found Adonibezec in Bezec, and fought against him, and they 6 defeated the Chanaanite, and the Pherezite. And Adonibezec fled: and they pursued after him and took him, and cut off his 7 fingers and toes. And Adonibezec said: Seventy kings, having their fingers and toes cut off, gathered up the leavings of the meat under my table: as I have done, so hath God requited me.
8 And they brought him to Jerusalem, and he died there. And the children of Juda besieging Jerusalem, took it, and put it to 9 the sword, and set the whole city on fire. And afterwards they went down and fought against the Chanaanite, who dwelt in 10 the mountains, and in the south, and in the plains. And Juda going forward against the Chanaanite, that dwelt in Hebron, (the name whereof was in former times Cariath-Arbe) slew Sesai, 11 and Ahiman, and Tholmai: And departing from thence, he went to the inhabitants of Dabir, the ancient name of which 12 was Cariath-Sepher, that is, the city of letters. And Caleb said: He that shall take Cariath-Sepher, and lay it waste, to 13 him will I give my daughter Axa to wife. And Othoniel, the son of Cenez, the younger brother of Caleb, having taken it, 14 he gave him Axa his daughter to wife. And as she was going on her way, her husband admonished her to ask a field of her father. And as she sighed sitting on her ass, Caleb said to her:

What aileth thee? But she answered: Give me a blessing, for 15 thou hast given me a dry land: give me also a watery land So Caleb gave her the upper and the nether watery ground. And 16 the children of the Cinite, the kinsman of Moses, went up from the city of palms, with the children of Juda, into the wilderness of his lot, which is at the south side of Arad, and they dwelt 17 with him. And Juda went with Simeon, his brother, and they together defeated the Chanaanites that dwelt in Sephaath, and slew them. And the name of the city was called Horma, that 18 is, Anathema. And Juda took Gaza, with its confines, and Ascalon, and Accaron, with their confines. And the Lord was 19 with Juda, and he possessed the hill country: but was not able to destroy the inhabitants of the valley, because they had many chariots armed with scythes. And they gave Hebron to Caleb, 20 as Moses had said, who destroyed out of it the three sons of Enac. But the sons of Benjamin did not destroy the Jebusites 21 that inhabited Jerusalem: and the Jebusite hath dwelt with the sons of Benjamin in Jerusalem until this present day. The house 22 of Joseph also went up against Bethel, and the Lord was with them. For when they were besieging the city, which before 23 was called Luza, They saw a man coming out of the city, and 24 they said to him: Shew us the entrance into the city, and we will shew thee mercy. And when he had shewed them, they 25 smote the city with the edge of the sword: but that man, and all his kindred, they let go: Who being sent away, went into 26 the land of Hethim, and built there a city, and called it Luza: which is so called until this day. Manasses also did not destroy 27 Bethsan, and Thanac, with their villages; nor the inhabitants of Dor, and Jeblaam, and Mageddo, with their villages. And the Chanaanite began to dwell with them. But after Israel 28 was grown strong, he made them tributaries, and would not destroy them. Ephraim also did not slay the Chanaanite that 29 dwelt in Gazer, bnt dwelt with him. Zabulon destroyed not the inhabitants of Cetron, and Naalol: but the Chanaanite dwelt 30 among them, and became their tributary. Aser also destroyed not the inhabitants of Accho, and of Sidon, of Ahalab, and of 31 Achazib, and of Helba, and of Aphec, and of Rohob: And he dwelt in the midst of the Chanaanites, the inhabitants of that land, and did not slay them. Nephthali also destroyed not the 33 inhabitants of Bethsames, and of Bethanath: and he dwelt in the midst of the Chanaanites, the inhabitants of the land, and 34 the Bethsamites and Bethanites were tributaries to him. And the Amorrhite straitened the children of Dan in the mountain, 35 and gave them not a place to go down to the plain: And he dwelt in the mountain Hares, that is, of potsherds, in Aialon and Salebim. And the hand of the house of Joseph was heavy 36 upon him, and he became tributary to him. And the border of the Amorrhite was from the ascent of the scorpion, the rock, and the higher places.

2 And an angel of the Lord went up from Galgal to the place of weepers, and said: I made you go out of Egypt, and have brought you into the land for which I swore to your fathers: and I promised that I would not make void my covenant with 2 you for ever: On condition that you should not make a league with the inhabitants of this land, but should throw down their altars: and you would not hear my voice: why have you done 3 this? Wherefore I would not destroy them from before your face; that you may have enemies, and their gods may be your 4 ruin. And when the angel of the Lord spoke these words to all 5 the children of Israel: they lifted up their voice, and wept. And the name of that place was called, The place of weepers, or of 6 tears: and there they offered sacrifices to the Lord. And Josue sent away the people, and the children of Israel went every one 7 to his own possession to hold it: And they served the Lord all his days, and the days of the ancients, that lived a long time 8 after him, and who knew all the works of the Lord, which he had done for Israel. And Josue, the son of Nun, the servant of 9 the Lord, died, being a hundred and ten years old; And they buried him in the borders of his possession in Thamnathsare, 10 in Mount Ephraim, on the north side of Mount Gaas. And all that generation was gathered to their fathers: and there arose others that knew not the Lord and the works which he had done 11 for Israel. And the children of Israel did evil in the sight of 12 the Lord, and they served Baalim. And they left the Lord, the God of their fathers, who had brought them out of the land of Egypt: and they followed strange gods, and the gods of the people that dwelt round about them, and they adored them: and 13 they provoked the Lord to anger, Forsaking him, and serving Baal and Astaroth And the Lord being angry against Israel, 14 delivered them into the hands of plunderers: who took them and sold them to their enemies, that dwelt round about: neither could they stand against their enemies: But whithersoever they 15 meant to go, the hand of the Lord was upon them, as he had said, and as he had sworn to them: and they were greatly distressed.

And the Lord raised up judges, to deliver them from the hands 16 of those that oppressed them: but they would not hearken to them, Committing fornication with strange gods, and adoring 17 them. They quickly forsook the way, in which their fathers had walked: and hearing the commandments of the Lord, they did all things contrary. And when the Lord raised them up judges, 18 in their days, he was moved to mercy, and heard the groanings of the afflicted, and delivered them from the slaughter of the oppressors. But after the judge was dead, they returned, and 19 did much worse things than their fathers had done, following strange gods, serving them, and adoring them. They left not their own inventions, and the stubborn way, by which they were accustomed to walk. And the wrath of the Lord was kindled 20 against Israel, and he said: Behold this nation hath made void my covenant, which I had made with their fathers, and hath despised to hearken to my voice: I also will not destroy the 21 nations which Josue left when he died: That through them I 22 may try Israel, whether they will keep the way of the Lord, and walk in it, as their fathers kept it, or not. The Lord therefore left 23 all these nations, and would not quickly destroy them, neither did he deliver them into the hands of Josue.

These are the nations which the Lord left, that by them he 3 might instruct Israel, and all that had not known the wars of the Chanaanites: That afterwards their children might learn 2 to fight with their enemies, and to be trained up to war: The 3 five princes of the Philistines, and all the Chanaanites, and the Sidonians, and the Hevites that dwelt in Mount Libanus, from Mount Baal Hermon to the entering into Emath. And he left 4 them, that he might try Israel by them, whether they would hear the commandments of the Lord, which he had commanded their fathers, by the hand of Moses, or not. So the children of Israel 5 dwelt in the midst of the Chanaanite, and the Hethite, and the Amorrhite, and the Pherezite, and the Hevite, and the Jebusite:

6 And they took their daughters to wives, and they gave their own 7 daughters to their sons, and they served their gods. And they did evil in the sight of the Lord, and they forgot their God, and 8 served Baalim and Astaroth. And the Lord being angry with Israel, delivered them into the hands of Chusan Rasathaim, king 9 of Mesopotamia, and they served him eight years. And they cried to the Lord, who raised them up a saviour, and delivered them; to wit, Othoniel, the son of Cenez, the younger brother of 10 Caleb: And the spirit of the Lord was in him, and he judged Israel. And he went out to fight, and the Lord delivered Chusan 11 Rasathaim, king of Syria, and he overthrew him: And the land 12 rested forty years, and Othoniel, the son of Cenez, died. And the children of Israel did evil again in the sight of the Lord: who strengthened against them Eglon, king of Moab: because 13 they did evil in his sight. And he joined to him the children of Ammon, and Amalec: and he went and overthrew Israel, and 14 possessed the city of palm trees. And the children of Israel 15 served Eglon, king of Moab, eighteen years. And afterwards they cried to the Lord, who raised them up a saviour, called Aod, the son of Cera, the son of Jemini, who used the left hand as well as the right. And the children of Israel sent presents 16 to Eglon, king of Moab, by him. And he made himself a two-edged sword, with a haft in the midst of the length of the palm of the hand, and was girded therewith, under his garment, on the 17 right thigh. And he presented the gifts to Eglon, king of Moab 18 Now Eglon was exceeding fat. And when he had presented the gifts unto him he followed his companions that came along with 19 him. Then returning from Galgal, where the idols were, he said to the king: I have a secret message to thee, O king. And he commanded silence: and all being gone out that were about him, 20 Aod went in to him: now he was sitting in a summer parlour alone, and he said: I have a word from God to thee. And he 21 forthwith rose up from his throne. And Aod put forth his left hand, and took the dagger from his right thigh, and thrust it into 22 his belly, With such force that the haft went in after the blade into the wound, and was closed up with the abundance of fat. So that he did not draw out the dagger, but left it in the body as he had struck it in: and forthwith, by the secret parts of nature, the 23 excrements of the belly came out. And Aod carefully shutting the doors of the parlour, and locking them, Went out by a 24 postern door. And the king's servants going in, saw the doors of the parlour shut, and they said: Perhaps he is easing nature in his summer parlour. And waiting a long time, till they were 25 ashamed, and seeing that no man opened the door, they took a key: and opening, they found their lord lying dead on the ground. But Aod, while they were in confusion, escaped, and 26 passed by the place of the idols from whence he had returned.

And he came to Seirath: And forthwith he sounded the trumpet 27 in Mount Ephraim: and the children of Israel went down with him, he himself going in the front. And he said to them: Follow 28 me: for the Lord hath delivered our enemies, the Moabites, into our hands. And they went down after him, and seized upon the fords of the Jordan, which are in the way to Moab: and they suffered no man to pass over: But they slew of the Moabites at 29 that time, about ten thousand, all strong and valiant men: none of them could escape. And Moab was humbled that day under 30 the hand of Israel: and the land rested eighty years. After him 31 was Samgar, the son of Anath, who slew of the Philistines six hundred men with a ploughshare: and he also defended Israel.

And the children of Israel again did evil in the sight of the 4 Lord after the death of Aod: And the Lord delivered them up 2 into the hands of Jabin, king of Chanaan, who reigned in Asor: and he had a general of his army named Sisara, and he dwelt in Haroseth of the Gentiles. And the children of Israel cried 3 to the Lord: for he had nine hundred chariots set with scythes and for twenty years had grievously oppressed them. And there 4 was at that time Debbora, a prophetess, the wife of Lapidoth, who judged the people. And she sat under a palm tree, which 5 was called by her name, between Rama and Bethel, in Mount Ephraim: and the children of Israel came up to her for all judgment. And she sent and called Barac, the Son of Abinoem, out 6 of Cedes, in Nephthali: and she said to him: The Lord God of Israel hath commanded thee: Go, and lead an army to Mount Thabor, and thou shalt take with thee ten thousand fighting men of the children of Nephthali, and of the children of Zabulon:
And I will bring unto thee in the place of the torrent Cison, 7 Sisara, the general of Jabin's army, and his chariots, and all his multitude, and will deliver them into thy hand. And Barac 8 said to her: If thou wilt come with me, I will go: if thou wilt 9 not come with me, I will not go. She said to him: I will go, indeed, with thee, but at this time the victory shall not be attributed to thee, because Sisara shall be delivered into the hand of a woman. Debbora therefore arose, and went with Barac to 10 Cedes. And he called unto him Zabulon and Nephthali, and went up with ten thousand fighting men, having Debbora in his 11 company. Now Haber, the Cinite, had some time before departed from the rest of the Cinites, his brethren, the sons of Hobab, the kinsman of Moses: and had pitched his tents unto 12 the valley, which is called Sennim, and was near Cedes. And it was told Sisara, that Barac, the son of Abinoem, was gone up 13 to Mount Thabor: And he gathered together his nine hundred chariots armed with scythes, and all his army, from Haroseth of 14 the Gentiles, to the torrent Cison. And Debbora said to Barac: Arise, for this is the day wherein the Lord hath delivered Sisara into thy hands: behold, he is thy leader. And Barac went down from Mount Thabor, and ten thousand fighting men with him.

15 And the Lord struck a terror into Sisara, and all his chariots, and all his multitude, with the edge of the sword, at the sight of Barac; insomuch, that Sisara leaping down from off his chariot, 16 fled away on foot, And Barac pursued after the fleeing char-iots, and the army, unto Haroseth of the Gentiles; and all the 17 multitude of the enemies was utterly destroyed. But Sisara fleeing, came to the tent of Jahel, the wife of Haber, the Cinite, for there was peace between Jabin, the king of Asor, and the house 18 of Haber, the Cinite. And Jahel went forth to meet Sisara, and said to him: Come in to me, my lord; come in, fear not. He went 19 into her tent, and being covered by her with a cloak, Said to her: Give me, I beseech thee, a little water, for I am very thirsty.
She opened a bottle of milk, and gave him to drink, and covered 20 him. And Sisara said to her: Stand before the door of the tent, and when any shall come and inquire of thee, saying: Is there 21 any man here? thou shalt say: There is none. So Jahel, Haber's wife, took a nail of the tent, and taking also a hammer: and going in softly, and with silence, she put the nail upon the temples of his head, and striking it with the hammer, drove it through his brain fast into the ground: and so passing from deep sleep 22 to death, he fainted away and died. And behold, Barac came pursuing after Sisara: and Jahel went out to meet him, and said to him: Come, and I will shew thee the man whom thou seekest. And when he came into her tent, he saw Sisara lying dead, and the nail fastened in his temples. So God that day humbled 23 Jabin, the king of Chanaan, before the children of Israel: Who 24 grew daily stronger, and with a mighty hand overpowered Jabin, king of Chanaan, till they quite destroyed him.

In that day Debbora and Barac, son of Abinoem, sung, and 5 said: O you of Israel, that have willingly offered your lives to 2 danger, bless the Lord. Hear, O ye kings, give ear, O ye princes: 3 It is I, it is I, that will sing to the Lord, I will sing to the Lord, the God of Israel. O Lord, when thou wentest out of Seir, and 4 passedst by the regions of Edom, the earth trembled, and the heavens and clouds dropped water. The mountains melted be- 5 fore the face of the Lord, and Sinai before the face of the Lord the God of Israel. In the days of Samgar, the son of Anath, 6 in the days of Jahel, the paths rested: and they that went by them, walked through bye-ways. The valiant men ceased, and 7 rested in Israel: until Debbora arose, a mother arose in Israel.
The Lord chose new wars, and he himself overthrew the gates 8 of the enemies: a shield and spear was not seen among forty thousand of Israel. My heart loveth the princes of Israel: O 9 you, that of your own good will offered yourselves to danger, bless the Lord. Speak, you that ride upon fair asses, and you 10 that sit in judgment, and walk in the way. Where the chariots 11 were dashed together, and the army of the enemies was choked, there let the justices of the Lord be rehearsed, and his clemency towards the brave men of Israel: then the people of the Lord went down to the gates, and obtained the sovereignty. Arise, 12 arise, O Debbora, arise, arise, and utter a canticle. Arise, Barac, and take hold of thy captives, O son of Abinoem. The rem- 13 nants of the people are saved, the Lord hath fought among the valiant ones. Out of Ephraim he destroyed them into Amalec, 14 and after him out of Benjamin into thy people, O Amalec: Out of Machir there came down princes, and out of Zabulon they that led the army to fight. The captains of Issachar were with 15 Debbora, and followed the steps of Barac, who exposed himself to danger, as one going headlong, and into a pit. Ruben being divided against himself, there was found a strife of courageous 16 men. Why dwellest thou between two borders, that thou mayst hear the bleatings of the flocks? Ruben being divided against 17 himself, there was found a strife of courageous men. Galaad rested beyond the Jordan, and Dan applied himself to ships: 18 Aser dwelt on the sea shore, and abode in the havens. But Zabulon and Nephthali offered their lives to death in the region 19 of Merome. The kings came and fought, the kings of Chanaan fought in Thanac, by the waters of Mageddo and yet they took 20 no spoils. There was war made against them from heaven: the stars, remaining in their order and courses, fought against Sis-21 ara. The torrent of Cison dragged their carcasses, the torrent of Cadumim, the torrent of Cison: tread thou, my soul, upon 22 the strong ones. The hoofs of the horses were broken whilst the stoutest of the enemies fled amain, and fell headlong down.

23 Curse ye the land of Meroz, said the angel of the Lord: curse the inhabitants thereof, because they came not to the help of 24 the Lord, to help his most valiant men. Blessed among women be Jahel, the wife of Haber the Cinite, and blessed be she in her 25 tent. He asked her water, and she gave him milk, and offered 26 him butter in a dish fit for princes. She put her left hand to the nail, and her right hand to the workman's hammer, and she struck Sisara, seeking in his head a place for the wound, and 27 strongly piercing through his temples. Between her feet he fell: he fainted, and he died: he rolled before her feet, and there he 28 lay lifeless and wretched. His mother looked out at a window, and howled: and she spoke from the dining room: Why is his chariot so long in coming back? Why are the feet of his horses so 29 slow? One that was wiser than the rest of his wives, returned 30 this answer to her mother in law: Perhaps he is now dividing the spoils, and the fairest of the women is chosen out for him: garments of divers colours are given to Sisara for his prey, and furniture of different kinds is heaped together to adorn necks.
31 So let all thy enemies perish, O Lord: but let them that love 32 thee shine, as the sun shineth in his rising. And the land rested for forty years.

6 And the children of Israel again did evil in the sight of the Lord: and he delivered them into the hand of Madian seven 2 years, And they were grievously oppressed by them. And they made themselves dens and caves in the mountains, and strong holds to resist. And when Israel had sown, Madian and Amalec, 3 and the rest of the eastern nations, came up: And pitching their 4 tents among them, wasted all things as they were in the blade, even to the entrance of Gaza: and they left nothing at all in Israel for sustenance of life, nor sheep, nor oxen, nor asses. For 5 they and all their flocks came with their tents, and like locusts filled all places, an innumerable multitude of men, and of camels, wasting whatsoever they touched. And Israel was humbled ex- 6 ceedingly in the sight of Madian. And he cried to the Lord, 7 desiring help against the Madianites. And he sent unto them a 8 prophet, and he spoke: Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel: I made you to come up out of Egypt, and brought you out of the house of bondage, And delivered you out of the hands of 9 the Egyptians, and of all the enemies that afflicted you: and I cast them out at your coming in, and gave you their land. And 10 I said: I am the Lord your God, fear not the gods of the Am-orrhites, in whose land you dwell. And you would not hear my voice. And an angel of the Lord came, and sat under an oak 11 that was in Ephra, and belonged to Joas, the father of the family of Ezri. And when Gedeon, his son, was threshing and cleansing wheat by the winepress, to flee from Madian, The angel 12 of the Lord appeared to him, and said: The Lord is with thee, O most valiant of men. And Gedeon said to him: I beseech 13 thee, my lord, if the Lord be with us, why have these evils fallen upon us? Where are his miracles, which our fathers have told us of, saying: The Lord brought us out of Egypt but now the Lord hath forsaken us, and delivered us into the hand of Ma-dian. And the Lord looked upon him, and said: Go, in this 14 thy strength, and thou shalt deliver Israel out of the hand of Madian: know that I have sent thee. He answered, and said: I 15 beseech thee, my lord wherewith shall I deliver Israel? Behold, my family is the meanest in Manasses, and I am the least in my father's house. And the Lord said to him: I will be with thee: 16 and thou shalt cut off Madian as one man. And he said: If I 17 have found grace before thee, give me a sign that it is thou that speakest to me: And depart not hence, till I return to thee, and 18 bring a sacrifice, and offer it to thee. And he answered: I will wait thy coming. So Gedeon went in, and boiled a kid, and 19 made unleavened loaves of a measure of flour: and putting the flesh in a basket, and the broth of the flesh into a pot, he carried 20 all under the oak, and presented to him. And the angel of the Lord said to him: Take the flesh and the unleavened loaves, and lay them upon that rock, and pour out the broth thereon. And 21 when he had done so, The angel of the Lord put forth the tip of the rod, which he held in his hand, and touched the flesh and the unleavened loaves: and there arose a fire from the rock, and consumed the flesh and the unleavened loaves: and the angel of 22 the Lord vanished out of his sight. And Gedeon seeing that it was the angel of the Lord, said: Alas, my Lord God: for I 23 have seen the angel of the Lord face to face. And the Lord said to him: Peace be with thee: fear not, thou shalt not die.

24 And Gedeon built there an altar to the Lord, and called it the Lord's peace, until this present day. And when he was yet in 25 Ephra, which is of the family of Ezri, That night the Lord said to him: Take a bullock of thy father's, and another bullock of seven years, and thou shalt destroy the altar of Baal, which is thy 26 father's: and cut down the grove that is about the altar: And thou shalt build un altar to the Lord thy God, in the top of this rock, whereupon thou didst lay the sacrifice before: and thou shalt take the second bullock, and shalt offer a holocaust upon a pile of the wood, which thou shalt cut down out of the grove.
27 Then Gedeon, taking ten men of his servants, did as the Lord had commanded him. But fearing his father's house, and the men of that city, he would not do it by day, but did all by night.
28 And when the men of that town were risen in the morning, they saw the altar of Baal destroyed, and the grove cut down, and the 29 second bullock laid upon the altar, which then was built. And they said one to another: Who hath done this? And when they inquired for the author of the fact, it was said: Gedeon, the son 30 of Joas, did all this. And they said to Joas: Bring out thy son hither, that he may die: because he hath destroyed the altar of 31 Baal, and hath cut down his grove. He answered them: Are you the avengers of Baal, that you fight for him? he that is his adversary, let him die before to morrow light appear: if he be a god, let him revenge himself on him that hath cast down his 32 altar. From that day Gedeon was called Jerobaal, because Joas had said: Let Baal revenge himself on him that hath cast down 33 his altar. Now all Madian, and Amalec, and the eastern people, were gathered together, and passing over the Jordan, camped in the valley of Jezrael. But the spirit of the Lord came upon Gedeon, and he sounded the trumpet, and called together the house of Abiezer, to follow him. And he sent messengers into all Manasses, and they also followed him: and other messengers into Aser and Zabulon, and Nephthali, and they came to meet him. And Gedeon said to God: If thou wilt save Israel by my hand, as thou hast said, I will put this fleece of wool on the floor: if there be dew in the fleece only, and it be dry on all the ground beside, I shall know that by my hand, as thou hast said, thou wilt deliver Israel. And it was so. And rising before day, wringing the fleece, he filled a vessel with the dew. And he said again to God: Let not thy wrath be kindled against me, if I try once more, seeking a sign in the fleece. I pray that the fleece only may be dry, and all the ground wet with dew. And God did that night as he had requested: and it was dry on the fleece only, and there was dew on all the ground.

Then Jerobaal, who is the same as Gedeon, rising up early, and all the people with him, came to the fountain that is called Harad. Now the camp of Madian was in the valley, on the north side of the high hill. And the Lord said to Gedeon: The people that are with thee are many, and Madian shall not be delivered into their hands: lest Israel should glory against me, and say: I was delivered by my own strength. Speak to the people, and proclaim in the hearing of all: Whosoever is fearful and timorous, let him return. So two and twenty thousand men went away from Mount Galaad and returned home, and only ten thousand remained. And the Lord said to Gedeon: The people are still too many, bring them to the waters, and there I will try them: and of whom I shall say to thee, This shall go with thee, let him go: whom I shall forbid to go, let him return. And when the people were come down to the waters, the Lord said to Gedeon: They that shall lap the water with their tongues, as dogs are wont to lap, thou shalt set apart by themselves: but they that shall drink bowing down their knees, shall be on the other side. And the number of them that had lapped water; casting it with the hand to their mouth, was three hundred men: and all the rest of the multitude had drunk kneeling. And the Lord said to Gedeon: By the three hundred men, that lapped water, I will save you, and deliver Madian into thy hand: but let all the 8 rest of the people return to their place. So taking victuals and trumpets according to their number, he ordered all the rest of the multitude to depart to their tents: and he with the three hundred gave himself to the battle. Now the camp of Madia was 9 beneath him in the valley. The same night the Lord said to him: Arise, and go down into the camp: because I have delivered them 10 into thy hand. But if thou be afraid to go alone, let Phara, thy 11 servant, go down with thee. And when thou shalt hear what they are saying, then shall thy hands be strengthened, and thou shalt go down more secure to the enemies' camp. And he went down with Phara his servant, into part of the camp, where was 12 the watch of men in arms. But Madian and Amalec, and all the eastern people, lay scattered in the valley, as a multitude of locusts: their camels also were innumerable, as the sand that 13 lieth on the sea shore. And when Gedeon was come, one told his neighbour a dream: and in this manner related what he had seen: I dreamt a dream, and it seemed to me as if a hearth cake of barley bread rolled and came down into the camp of Madian: and when it was come to a tent, it struck it, and beat it down flat 14 to the ground. He to whom he spoke, answered: This is nothing else but the sword of Gedeon, the son of Joas, a man of Israel. For the Lord hath delivered Madian, and all their camp into his hand.

15 And when Gedeon had heard the dream, and the interpretation thereof, he adored: and returned to the camp of Israel, and said: Arise, for the Lord hath delivered the camp of Madian into our 16 hands. And he divided the three hundred men into three parts, and gave them trumpets in their hands, and empty pitchers, 17 and lamps within the pitchers. And he said to them: What you shall see me do, do you the same: I will go into one part of 18 the camp, and do you as I shall do. When the trumpet shall sound in my hand, do you also blow the trumpets on every side of the camp, and shout together to the Lord and to Gedeon.
19 And Gedeon, and the three hundred men that were with him, went into part of the camp, at the beginning of the midnight watch, and the watchmen being alarmed, they began to sound their trumpets, and to clap the pitchers one against another.
20 And when they sounded their trumpets in three places round about the camp, and had broken their pitchers, they held their lamps in their left hands, and with their right hands the trumpets which they blew, and they cried out: The sword of the Lord and of Gedeon: Standing every man in his place round about the enemies' camp. So all the camp was troubled, and crying out and howling, they fled away: And the three hundred men nevertheless persisted sounding the trumpets. And the Lord sent the sword into all the camp, and they killed one another, Fleeing as far as Bethsetta, and the border of Abelmahula, in Tebbath. But the men of Israel, shouting from Nephthali, and Aser, and from all Manasses, pursued after Madian. And Gedeon sent messengers into all Mount Ephraim, saying: Come down to meet Madian, and take the waters before them to Bethbera and the Jordan. And all Ephraim shouted, and took the waters before them and the Jordan as far as Bethbera. And having taken two men of Madian, Oreb and Zeb: Oreb they slew in the rock of Oreb, and Zeb in the winepress of Zeb. And they pursued Madian, carrying the heads of Oreb and Zeb to Gedeon, beyond the waters of the Jordan.

And the men of Ephraim said to him: What is this that thou meanest to do, that thou wouldst not call us, when thou wentest to fight against Madian? And they chid him sharply, and almost offered violence. And he answered them: What could I have done like to that which you have done? Is not one bunch of grapes of Ephraim better than the vintages of Abiezer? The Lord hath delivered into your hands the princes of Madian, Oreb and Zeb: what could I have done like to what you have done? And when he had said this, their spirit was appeased, with which they swelled against him. And when Gedeon was come to the Jordan, he passed over it with the three hundred men that were with him: who were so weary that they could not pursue after them that fled. And he said to the men of Soccoth: Give, I beseech you, bread to the people that is with me, for they are faint: that we may pursue Zebee, and Salmana, the kings of Madian. The princes of Soccoth answered: Peradventure the palms of the hands of Zebee and Salmana are in thy hand, and therefore thou demandest that we should give bread to thy army. And he said to them: When the Lord therefore shall have delivered Zebee and Salmana into my hands, I will thresh your flesh with the thorns and briers of the desert. And going up from thence, he came to Phanel: and he spoke the like things to the men of that place. And they also answered him, as the men of Soccoth had answered. He said, therefore, to them also: When I shall return a conqueror in peace, I will destroy this tower. But Zeebee and Salmana were resting with all their army. For fifteen thousand men were left of all the troops of the eastern people, and one hundred and twenty thousand warriors that drew the sword were slain. And Gedeon went up by the way of them that dwelt in tents, on the east of Nobe and Jegbaa, and smote the camp of the enemies, who were secure, and suspected no hurt. And Zeebee and Salmana fled, and Gedeon pursued and took them, all their host being put in confusion. And returning from the battle before the sun rising, He took a boy of the men of Soccoth: and he asked him the names of the princes and ancients of Soccoth, and he described unto him seventy-seven men. And he came to Soccoth, and said to them: Behold Zeebee, and Salmana, concerning whom you upbraided me, saying: Peradventure the hands of Zeebee and Salmana are in thy hands, and therefore thou demandest that we should give bread to the men that are weary and faint. So he took the ancients of the city, and thorns and briers of the desert, and tore them with the same, and cut in pieces the men of Soccoth. And he demolished the tower of Phanel, and slew the men of the city. And he said to Zeebee and Salmana: What manner of men were they, whom you slew in Thabor? They answered: They were like thee, and one of them as the son of a king. He answered them: They were my brethren, the sons of my mother. As the Lord liveth, if you had saved them, I would not kill you. And he said to Jether, his eldest son: Arise, and slay them. But he drew not his sword: for he was afraid, being but yet a boy. And Zeebee and Salmana said: Do thou rise and run upon us: because the strength of a man is according to his age: Gedeon rose up, and slew Zeebee and Salmana: and he took the ornaments and bosses, with which the necks of the camels of kings are wont to be adorned. And all the men of Israel said to Gedeon: Rule thou over us, and thy son, and thy son's son: because thou hast delivered us from the hand of Madian. And he said to them: I will not rule over you, neither shall my son rule over you, but the Lord shall rule over you. And he said to them: I desire one request of you: Give me the earlets of your spoils. For the Ismaelites were accustomed to wear golden earlets. They answered: We will give them most willingly. And spreading a mantle on the ground, they cast upon it the earlets of the spoils. And the weight of the earlets that he requested, was a thousand seven hundred sicles of gold, besides the ornaments, and jewels, and purple raiment, which the kings of Madian were wont to use, and besides the golden chains that were about the camels necks. And Gedeon made an ephod thereof, and put it in his city Ephra. And all Israel committed fornication with it, and it became a ruin to Gedeon, and to all his house. But Madian was humbled before the children of Israel, neither could they any more lift up their heads: but the land rested for forty years, while Gedeon presided. So Jerobaal, the son of Joas, went and dwelt in his own house: And he had seventy sons, who came out of his thigh, for he had many wives. And his concubine, that he had in Sichem, bore him a son, whose name was Abimelech. And Gedeon, the son of Joas died in a good old age, and was buried in the sepulchre of his father, in Ephra, of the family of Ezri. But after Gedeon was dead, the children of Israel turned again, and committed fornication with Baalim. And they made a covenant with Baal, that he should be their god: And they remembered not the Lord their God, who delivered them out of the hands of all their enemies round about: Neither did they shew mercy to the house of Jerobaal Gedeon, according to all the good things he had done to Israel.

And Abimelech, the son of Jerobaal, went to Sichem, to his mother's brethren, and spoke to them, and to all the kindred of his mother's father, saying: Speak to all the men of Sichem: whether is better for you that seventy men, all the sons of Jerobaal, should rule over you, or that one man should rule over you? And withal, consider that I am your bone, and your flesh. And his mother's brethren spoke of him to all the men of Sichem, all these words, and they inclined their hearts after Abimelech, saying: He is our brother: And they gave him seventy weight of silver out of the temple of Baalberith: wherewith he hired to himself men that were needy, and vagabonds, and they followed him. And he came to his father's house in Ephra, and slew his brethren, the sons of Jerobaal, seventy men, upon one stone: and there remained only Joatham, the youngest son of Jerobaal, who

6 was hidden. And all the men of Sichem were gathered together, and all the families of the city of Mello: and they went and 7 made Abimelech king, by the oak that stood in Sichem. This being told to Joatham, he went, and stood on the top of Mount Garizim: and lifting up his voice, he cried, and said: Hear me, 8 ye men of Sichem, so may God hear you. The trees went to anoint a king over them: and they said to the olive tree: Reign 9 thou over us. And it answered: Can I leave my fatness, which both gods and men make use of, to come to be promoted among 10 the trees? And the trees said to the fig tree: Come thou and reign over us. And it answered them: Can I leave my sweetness, 11 and my delicious fruits, and go to be promoted among the other trees? And the trees said to the vine: Come thou and reign 12 over us. And it answered them: Can I forsake my wine, that cheereth God and men, and be promoted among the other trees?
13 And all the trees said to the bramble: Come thou and reign over us. And it answered them: If, indeed, you mean to make me 14 king, come ye, and rest under my shadow: but if you mean it not, let fire come out from the bramble, and devour the cedars of 15 Libanus. Now, therefore, if you have done well, and without sin, in appointing Abimelech king over you, and have dealt well with 16 Jerobaal, and with his house, and have made a suitable return for the benefits of him who fought for you, And exposed his life 17 to dangers, to deliver you from the hand of Madian, And you are now risen up against my father's house, and have killed his 18 sons, seventy men, upon one stone, and have made Abimelech, the son of his handmaid, king over the inhabitants of Sichem, be-19 cause he is your brother: If therefore you have dealt well, and without fault, with Jerobaal and his house, rejoice ye, this day, 20 in Abimelech, and may he rejoice in you. But if unjustly: let fire come out from him, and consume the inhabitants of Sichem, and the town of Mello: and let fire come out from the men of Sichem 21 and from the town of Mello, and devour Abimelech. And when he had said thus, he fled, and went into Bera: and dwelt there 22 for fear of Abimelech, his brother. So Abimelech reigned over Israel three years. And the Lord sent a very evil spirit between 23 Abimelech and the inhabitants of Sichem; who began to detest him, And to lay the crime of the murder of the seventy sons 24 of Jerobaal, and the shedding of their blood, upon Abimelech, their brother, and upon the rest of the princes of the Sichemites, who aided him. And they set an ambush against him on the top of the mountains: and while they waited for his coming, they committed robberies, taking spoils of all that passed by: and it was told Abimelech. And Gaal, the son of Obed, came with his brethren, and went over to Sichem. And the inhabitants of Sichem, taking courage at his coming, Went out into the fields, wasting the vineyards, and treading down the grapes: and singing and dancing, they went into the temple of their god, and in their banquets and cups they cursed Abimelech. And Gaal, the son of Obed, cried: Who is Abimelech, and what is Sichem, that we should serve him? Is he not the son of Jerobaal, and hath made Zebul, his servant, ruler over the men of Emor, the father of Sichem? Why then shall we serve him? Would to God that some man would put this people under my hand, that I might remove Abimelech out of the way. And it was said to Abimelech: Gather together the multitude of an army, and come. For Zebul, the ruler of the city, hearing the words of Gaal, the son of Obed, was very angry, And sent messengers privately to Abimelech, saying: Behold, Gaal, the son of Obed, is come into Sichem with his brethren, and endeavoureth to set the city against thee. Arise, therefore, in the night, with the people that is with thee, and lie hid in the field: And betimes in the morning, at sun rising, set upon the city, and when he shall come out against thee, with his people, do to him what thou shalt be able. Abimelech, therefore, arose with all his army, by night, and laid ambushes near Sichem in four places. And Gaal, the son of Obed, went out, and stood in the entrance of the gate of the city. And Abimelech rose up, and all his army with him, from the places of the ambushes. And when Gaal saw the people, he said to Zebul: Behold, a multitude cometh down from the mountains. And he answered him: Thou seest the shadows of the mountains as if they were the heads of men, and this is thy mistake. Again Gaal said: Behold, there cometh people down from the midst of the land, and one troop cometh by the way that looketh towards the oak. And Zebul said to him: Where is now thy mouth, wherewith thou saidst: Who is Abimelech, that we should serve him? Is not this the people which thou didst despise? Go out, and fight against him. So Gaal went out, in the sight of the people of Sichem, and fought against Abimelech, 40 Who chased and put him to flight, and drove him to the city:

and many were slain of his people, even to the gate of the city: 41 And Abimelech sat down in Ruma: but Zebul drove Gaal, and his companions, out of the city, and would not suffer them to 42 abide in it. So the day following the people went out into the 43 field. And it was told to Abimelech, And he took his army, and divided it into three companies, and laid ambushes in the fields.
And seeing that the people came out of the city, he arose, and 44 set upon them, With his own company, assaulting and besieging the city: whilst the two other companies chased the enemies 45 that were scattered about the field. And Abimelech assaulted the city all that day: and took it, and killed the inhabitants 46 thereof, and demolished it, so that he sowed salt in it. And when they who dwelt in the tower of Sichem, had heard this, they went into the temple of their god Berith, where they had made a covenant with him, and from thence the place had taken 47 its name, and it was exceeding strong. Abimelech also hearing that the men of the tower of Sichem were gathered together, 48 Went up into mount Selmon, he and all his people with him: and taking an axe, he cut down the bough of a tree, and laying it on his shoulder, and carrying it, he said to his companions: What 49 you see me do, do ye out of hand. So they cut down boughs from the trees, every man as fast as he could, and followed their leader. And surrounding the fort, they set it on fire: and so it came to pass, that with the smoke and with the fire a thousand persons were killed, men and women together, of the inhabitants 50 of the town of Sichem. Then Abimelech, departing from thence, came to the town of Thebes, which he surrounded and besieged 51 with his army. And there was in the midst of the city a high tower, to which both the men and the women were fled together, and all the princes of the city, and having shut and strongly barred the gate, they stood upon the battlements of the tower 52 to defend themselves. And Abimelech, coming near the tower, fought stoutly: and, approaching to the gate, endeavoured to 53 set fire to it: And behold, a certain woman casting a piece of a millstone from above, dashed it against the head of Abimelech, 54 and broke his skull. And he called hastily to his armourbearer, and said to him: Draw thy sword, and kill me: lest it should be said that I was slain by a woman. He did as he was commanded, and slew him. And when he was dead all the men of Israel that were with him, returned to their homes. And God repaid the evil that Abimelech had done against his father, killing his seventy brethren. The Sichemites also were rewarded for what they had done, and the curse of Joatham, the son of Jerobaal, came upon them.

After Abimelech, there arose a ruler in Israel, Thola, son of Phua, the uncle of Abimelech, a man of Issachar, who dwelt in Samir of mount Ephraim: And he judged Israel three and twenty years, and he died, and was buried in Samir. To him succeeded Jair, the Galaadite, who judged Israel for two and twenty years, Having thirty sons, that rode on thirty ass colts, and were princes of thirty cities, which from his name were called Havoth Jair, that is, the towns of Jair, until this present day, in the land of Galaad. And Jair died, and was buried in the place which is called Camon. But the children of Israel, adding new sins to their old ones, did evil in the sight of the Lord, and served idols, Baalim and Astaroth, and the gods of Syria, and of Sidon, and of Moab, and of the children of Ammon, and of the Philistines: and they left the Lord, and did not serve him. And the Lord being angry with them, delivered them into the hands of the Philistines, and of the children of Ammon. And they were afflicted, and grievously oppressed for eighteen years, all they that dwelt beyond the Jordan in the land of the Amorrhite, who is in Galaad: Insomuch that the children of Ammon, passing over the Jordan, wasted Juda, and Benjamin, and Ephraim: and Israel was distressed exceedingly. And they cried to the Lord, and said, We have sinned against thee, because we have forsaken the Lord our God, and have served Baalim. And the Lord said to them: Did not the Egyptians, and the Amorrhites, and the children of Ammon, and the Philistines, The Sidonians also, and Amalec, and Chanaan, oppress you, and you cried to me, and I delivered you out of their hand? And yet you have forsaken me, and have worshipped strange gods: therefore I will deliver you no more: Go, and call upon the gods which you have chosen: let them deliver you in the time of distress. And the children of Israel said to the Lord: We have sinned, do thou unto us whatsoever pleaseth thee: only deliver us this time. And saying these things, they cast away out of their coasts all the idols of strange gods, and served the Lord their God: and he was touched with 17 their miseries. And the children of Ammon shouting together, pitched their tents in Galaad: against whom the children of Israel 18 assembled themselves together, and camped in Maspha. And the princes of Galaad said one to another: Whosoever of us shall first begin to fight against the children of Ammon, he shall be the leader of the people of Galaad.

11 There was at that time Jephthe, the Galaadite, a most valiant man, and a warrior, the son of a woman that was a harlot, and 2 his father was Galaad. Now Galaad had a wife of whom he had sons: who, after they were grown up, thrust out Jephthe, saying: Thou canst not inherit in the house of our father, because 3 thou art born of another mother. Then he fled and avoided them, and dwelt in the land of Tob: and there were gathered to him needy men and robbers, and they followed him as their 4 prince. In those days the children of Ammon made war against 5 Israel. And as they pressed hard upon them, the ancients of Galaad went to fetch Jephthe out of the land of Tob to help them: 6 And they said to him: Come thou, and be our prince, and fight 7 against the children of Ammon. And he answered them: Are not you the men that hated me, and cast me out of my father's house, and now you are come to me, constrained by necessity?
8 And the princes of Galaad said to Jephthe: For this cause we are now come to thee, that thou mayst go with us, and fight against the children of Ammon, and be head over all the inhab-9 itants of Galaad. Jephthe also said to them: If you be come to me sincerely, that I should fight for you against the children of Ammon, and the Lord shall deliver them into my hand, shall I 10 be your prince? They answered him: The Lord, who heareth these things, he himself is mediator and witness that we will do 11 as we have promised. Jephthe therefore went with the princes of Galaad, and all the people made him their prince. And Jephthe 12 spoke all his words before the Lord in Maspha. And he sent messengers to the king of the children of Ammon, to say in his name: What hast thou to do with me, that thou art come against me, 13 to waste my land? And he answered them: Because Israel took away my land, when he came up out of Egypt, from the confines of the Arnon unto the Jaboc and the Jordan: now, therefore, restore the same peaceably to me. And Jephthe again sent word 14 by them, and commanded them to say to the king of Ammon: Thus saith Jephthe: Israel did not take away the land of Moab, 15 nor the land of the children of Ammon: But when they came 16 up out of Egypt, he walked through the desert to the Red Sea, and came into Cades. And he sent messengers to the king of 17 Edom, saying: Suffer me to pass through thy land. But he would not condescend to his request. He sent also to the king of Moab, who, likewise, refused to give him passage. He abode, therefore, in Cades, And went round the land of Edom at the side, and the 18 land of Moab: and came over against the east coast of the land of Moab, and camped on the other side of the Arnon: and he would not enter the bounds of Moab. So Israel sent messengers to Se- 19 hon, king of the Amorrhites, who dwelt in Hesebon, and they said to him: Suffer me to pass through thy land to the river. But 20 he, also despising the words of Israel, suffered him not to pass through his borders: but gathering an infinite multitude, went out against him to Jasa, and made strong opposition. And the 21 Lord delivered him, with all his army, into the hands of Israel, and he slew him, and possessed all the land of the Amorrhite, the inhabitant of that country, And all the coasts thereof from 22 the Arnon to the Jaboc, and from the wilderness to the Jordan.

So the Lord, the God of Israel, destroyed the Amorrhite, his 23 people of Israel fighting against him, and wilt thou now possess his land? Are not those things which thy god Chamos posses- 24 seth, due to thee by right? But what the Lord our God hath obtained by conquest, shall be our possession: Unless, perhaps, 25 thou art better than Balac, the son of Sephor, king of Moab: or canst shew that he strove against Israel, and fought against him, Whereas he hath dwelt in Hesebon, and the villages thereof, and 26 in Aroer, and its villages, and in all the cities near the Jordan, for three hundred years. Why have you for so long a time attempted nothing about this claim? Therefore I do not trespass 27 against thee, but thou wrongest me by declaring an unjust war against me. The Lord be judge, and decide this day, between Israel and the children of Ammon. And the king of the children 28 of Ammon would not hearken to the words of Jephthe, which he sent him by the messengers. Therefore the spirit of the Lord 29 came upon Jephthe, and going round Galaad, and Manasses, and Maspha of Galaad, and passing over from thence to the children 30 of Ammon, He made a vow to the Lord, saying: If thou wilt 31 deliver the children of Ammon into my hands, Whosoever shall first come forth out of the doors of my house, and shall meet me, when I return in peace from the children of Ammon, the same 32 will I offer a holocaust to the Lord. And Jephthe passed over to the children of Ammon to fight against them: and the Lord de-33 livered them into his hands. And he smote them from Aroer till you come to Mennith, twenty cities, and as far as Abel, which is set with vineyards, with a very great slaughter: and the children 34 of Ammon were humbled by the children of Israel. And when Jephthe returned into Maspha, to his house, his only daughter met him with timbrels and with dances: for he had no other 35 children. And when he saw her, he rent his garments, and said: Alas! my daughter, thou hast deceived me, and thou thyself art deceived: for I have opened my mouth to the Lord, and I can 36 do no other thing. And she answered him: My father, if thou hast opened thy mouth to the Lord, do unto me whatsoever thou hast promised, since the victory hath been granted to thee, and 37 revenge of thy enemies. And she said to her father: Grant me only this, which I desire: Let me go, that I may go about the mountains for two months, and may bewail my virginity with my 38 companions. And he answered her: Go. And he sent her away for two months. And when she was gone with her comrades and 39 companions, she mourned her virginity in the mountains. And the two months being expired, she returned to her father, and he did to her as he had vowed, and she knew no man. From thence 40 came a fashion in Israel, and a custom has been kept: That, from year to year, the daughters of Israel assemble together, and lament the daughter of Jephthe the Galaadite, for four days.

12 But behold there arose a sedition in Ephraim. And passing towards the north, they said to Jephthe: When thou wentest to fight against the children of Ammon, why wouldst thou not call us, that we might go with thee? Therefore we will burn thy 2 house. And he answered them: I and my people were at great strife with the children of Ammon: and I called you to assist 3 me, and you would not do it. And when I saw this, I put my life in my own hands, and passed over against the children of Ammon and the Lord delivered them into my hands. What have

I deserved, that you should rise up to fight against me? Then 4 calling to him all the men of Galaad, he fought against Ephraim: and the men of Galaad defeated Ephraim, because he had said: Galaad is a fugitive of Ephraim, and dwelleth in the midst of Ephraim and Manasses. And the Galaadites secured the fords 5 of the Jordan, by which Ephraim was to return. And when any one of the number of Ephraim came thither in the flight, and said: I beseech you let me pass: the Galaadites said to him: Art thou not an Ephraimite? If he said: I am not: They asked him: 6 Say then, Scibboleth, which is interpreted, An ear of corn. But he answered, Sibboleth, not being able to express an ear of corn by the same letter. Then presently they took him and killed him in the very passage of the Jordan. And there fell at that time of Ephraim, two and forty thousand. And Jephthe, the Galaadite, 7 judged Israel six years: and he died, and was buried in his city of Galaad. After him Abesan of Bethlehem judged Israel: He 8, 9 had thirty sons, and as many daughters, whom he sent abroad, and gave to husbands, and took wives for his sons, of the same number, bringing them into his house. And he judged Israel seven years: And he died, and was buried in Bethlehem. To 10, 11 him succeeded Ahialon, a Zabulonite: and he judged Israel ten years: And he died, and was buried in Zabulon. After him, 12, 13 Abdon, the son of Illel, a Pharathonite, judged Israel: And he 14 had forty sons, and of them thirty grandsons, mounted upon seventy ass colts, and he judged Israel eight years: And he 15 died, and was buried in Pharathon, in the land of Ephraim, in the mount of Amalech.

And the children of Israel did evil again in the sight of the 13
Lord: and he delivered them into the hands of the Philistines forty years. Now there was a certain man of Saraa, and of the 2 race of Dan, whose name was Manue, and his wife was barren.
And an angel of the Lord appeared to her, and said: Thou art 3 barren and without children: but thou shalt conceive and bear a son. Now therefore beware, and drink no wine nor strong drink, 4 and eat not any unclean thing. Because thou shalt conceive, 6 and bear a son, and no razor shall touch his head: for he shall be a Nazarite of God, from his infancy, and from his mother's womb, and he shall begin to deliver Israel from the hands of the Philistines. And when she was come to her husband, she said to him: A man of God came to me, having the countenance of an angel, very awful. And when I asked him whence he came, and by what name he was called, he would not tell me: But he answered thus: Behold thou shalt conceive and bear a son: beware thou drink no wine, nor strong drink, nor eat any unclean thing: for the child shall be a Nazarite of God from his infancy, from his mother's womb until the day of his death. Then Manue prayed to the Lord, and said: I beseech thee, O Lord, that the man of God, whom thou didst send, may come again, and teach us what we ought to do concerning the child, that shall be born. And the Lord heard the prayer of Manue, and the angel of the Lord appeared again to his wife, as she was sitting in the field. But Manue her husband was not with her. And when she saw the angel, She made haste, and ran to her husband: and told him, saying: Behold the man hath appeared to me, whom I saw before. He rose up, and followed his wife: and coming to the man, said to him: Art thou he that spoke to the woman? And he answered: I am. And Manue said to him: When thy word shall come to pass, what wilt thou that the child should do? or from what shall he keep himself? And the angel of the Lord said to Manue: From all the things I have spoken of to thy wife, let her refrain herself: And let her eat nothing that cometh of the vine, neither let her drink wine or strong drink, nor eat any unclean thing: and whatsoever I have commanded her, let her fulfil and observe. And Manue said to the angel of the Lord: I beseech thee to consent to my request, and let us dress a kid for thee. And the angel answered him: If thou press me I will not eat of thy bread: but if thou wilt offer a holocaust, offer it to the Lord. And Manue knew not it was the angel of the Lord. And he said to him: What is thy name, that, if thy word shall come to pass, we may honour thee? And he answered him: Why askest thou my name, which is wonderful? Then Manue took a kid of the flocks, and the libations, and put them upon a rock, offering to the Lord, who doth wonderful things: and he and his wife looked on. And when the flame from the altar went up towards heaven, the angel of the Lord ascended also in the same. And when Manue and his wife saw this, they fell flat on the ground; And the angel of the Lord appeared to them no more. And forthwith Manue understood that it was an angel of the Lord,

And he said to his wife: We shall certainly die, because we have 22 seen God. And his wife answered him: If the Lord had a mind 23 to kill us, he would not have received a holocaust and libations at our hands; neither would he have shewed us all these things, nor have told us the things that are to come. And she bore a 24 son, and called his name Samson. And the child grew, and the Lord blessed him. And the Spirit of the Lord began to be with 25 him in the camp of Dan, between Saraa and Esthaol.

Then Samson went down to Thamnatha, and seeing there a 14 woman of the daughters of the Philistines, He came up, and told 2 his father and his mother, saying: I saw a woman in Thamnatha of the daughters of the Philistines: I bescech you, take her for me to wife. And his father and mother said to him: Is there 3 no woman among the daughters of thy brethren, or among all my people, that thou wilt take a wife of the Philistines, who are uncircumcised? And Samson said to his father: Take this woman for me; for she hath pleased my eyes. Now his parents knew 4 not that the thing was done by the Lord, and that he sought an occasion against the Philistines: for at that time the Philistines had dominion over Israel. Then Samson went down with his 5 father and mother to Thamnatha. And when they were come to the vineyards of the town, behold a young lion met him, raging and roaring. And the Spirit of the Lord came upon Samson, 6 and he tore the lion as he would have torn a kid in pieces, having nothing at all in his hand: and he would not tell this to his father and mother. And he went down, and spoke to the woman that 7 had pleased his eyes. And after some days, returning to take 8 her, he went aside to see the carcass of the lion, and behold there was a swarm of bees in the mouth of the lion, and a honey-comb.
And when he had taken it in his hands, he went on eating: and 9 coming to his father and mother, he gave them of it, and they ate: but he would not tell them that he had taken the honey from the body of the lion. So his father went down to the woman, and 10 made a feast for his son Samson: for so the young men used to do. And when the citizens of that place saw him, they brought 11 him thirty companions to be with him. And Samson said to 12 them: I will propose to you a riddle, which if you declare unto me within the seven days of the feast, I will give you thirty shirts, and as many coats: But if you shall not be able to declare it, 13 you shall give me thirty shirts and the same number of coats. They answered him: Put forth the riddle, that we may hear it.

14 And he said to them: Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness. And they could not for three 15 days expound the riddle. And when the seventh day came, they said to the wife of Samson: Sooth thy husband, and persuade him to tell thee what the riddle meaneth. But if thou wilt not do it, we will burn thee, and thy father's house. Have you called 16 us to the wedding on purpose to strip us? So she wept before Samson and complained, saying: Thou hatest me, and dost not love me: therefore thou wilt not expound to me the riddle, which thou hast proposed to the sons of my people. But he answered: I would not tell it to my father and mother: and how can I tell it to 17 thee? So she wept before him the seven days of the feast: and, at length, on the seventh day, as she was troublesome to him, he 18 expounded it. And she immediately told her countrymen. And they, on the seventh day before the sun went down, said to him: What is sweeter than honey? and what is stronger than a lion? And he said to them: If you had not ploughed with my heifer, 19 you had not found out my riddle. And the Spirit of the Lord came upon him, and he went down to Ascalon, and slew there thirty men whose garments he took away, and gave to them that had declared the riddle. And being exceeding angry, he went up 20 to his father's house: But his wife took one of his friends and bridal companions for her husband.

15 And a while after, when the days of the wheat harvest were at hand, Samson came, meaning to visit his wife, and he brought her a kid of the flock. And when he would have gone into her 2 chamber, as usual, her father would not suffer him, saying: I thought thou hadst hated her, and therefore I gave her to thy friend: but she hath a sister, who is younger and fairer than 3 she, take her to wife instead of her. And Samson answered him: From this day I shall be blameless in what I do against the 4 Philistines: for I will do you evils. And he went and caught three hundred foxes, and coupled them tail to tail, and fastened 6 torches between the tails: And setting them on fire he let the foxes go, that they might run about hither and thither. And they presently went into the standing corn of the Philistines. Which being set on fire, both the corn that was already carried together, and that which was yet standing, was all burnt, insomuch that the flame consumed also the vineyards and the oliveyards. Then the Philistines said: Who hath done this thing? And it was answered: Samson, the son in law of the Thamnathite, because he took away his wife, and gave her to another, hath done these things. And the Philistines went up and burnt both the woman and her father. But Samson said to them: Although you have done this, yet will I be revenged of you, and then I will be quiet. And he made a great slaughter of them, so that in astonishment they laid the calf of the leg upon the thigh. And going down he dwelt in a cavern of the rock Etam. Then the Philistines going up into the land of Juda, camped in the place which afterwards was called Lechi, that is, the Jawbone, where their army was spread abroad. And the men of the tribe of Juda said to them: Why are you come up against us? They answered: We are come to bind Samson, and to pay him for what he hath done against us. Wherefore three thousand men of Juda went down to the cave of the rock Etam, and said to Samson: Knowest thou not that the Philistines rule over us? Why wouldst thou do thus? And he said to them: As they did to me, so have I done to them. And they said to him: We are come to bind thee, and to deliver thee into the hands of the Philistines. And Samson said to them: Swear to me, and promise me that you will not kill me. They said: We will not kill thee: but we will deliver thee up bound. And they bound him with two new cords, and brought him from the rock Etam. Now when he was come to the place of the Jawbone, and the Philistines shouting went to meet him, the Spirit of the Lord came strongly upon him: and as flax is wont to be consumed at the approach of fire, so the bands with which he was bound were broken and loosed. And finding a jawbone, even the jawbone of an ass, which lay there, catching it up, he slew therewith a thousand men. And he said: With the jawbone of an ass, with the jaw of the colt of asses, I have destroyed them, and have slain a thousand men. And when he had ended these words, singing, he threw the jawbone out of his hand, and called the name of that place Ramathlechi, which is interpreted the lifting up of the jawbone. And being very thirsty, he cried to the Lord, and said: Thou hast given this very great deliverance and victory into the hand of thy servant:

and behold I die for thirst, and shall fall into the hands of the 19 uncircumcised. Then the Lord opened a great tooth in the jaw of the ass and waters issued out of it. And when he had drunk them, he refreshed his spirit, and recovered his strength.
Therefore the name of that place was called The Spring of him 20 that invoked from the jawbone, until this present day. And he judged Israel, in the days of the Philistines, twenty years.

16 He went also into Gaza, and saw there a woman, a harlot, 2 and went in unto her. And when the Philistines had heard this, and it was noised about among them, that Samson was come into the city, they surrounded him, setting guards at the gate of the city, and watching there all the night in silence, that in 3 the morning they might kill him as he went out. But Samson slept till midnight, and then rising, he took both the doors of the gate, with the posts thereof and the bolt, and laying them on his shoulders, carried them up to the top of the hill, which looketh 4 towards Hebron. After this he loved a woman, who dwelt in the 5 valley of Sorec, and she was called Dalila. And the princes of the Philistines came to her, and said: Deceive him, and learn of him wherein his great strength lieth, and how we may be able to overcome him, to bind and afflict him: which if thou shalt do, we will give thee every one of us eleven hundred pieces of silver.
6 And Dalila said to Samson: Tell me, I beseech thee, wherein thy greatest strength lieth, and what it is, wherewith if thou wert 7 bound, thou couldst not break loose. And Samson answered her: If I shall be bound with seven cords, made of sinews not 8 yet dry, but still moist, I shall be weak like other men. And the princes of the Philistines brought unto her seven cords, such as he 9 spoke of, with which she bound him; Men lying privately in wait with her, and in the chamber, expecting the event of the thing, and she cried out to him: The Philistines are upon thee, Samson.
And he broke the bands, as a man would break a thread of tow twined with spittle, when it smelleth the fire: so it was not known 10 wherein his strength lay. And Dalila said to him: Behold thou hast mocked me, and hast told me a false thing: but now at least 11 tell me wherewith thou mayest be bound. And he answered her:
If I shall be bound with new ropes, that were never in work, I 12 shall be weak and like other men. Dalila bound him again with these, and cried out: The Philistines are upon thee, Samson, there being an ambush prepared for him in the chamber. But he broke the bands like threads of webs. And Dalila said to him again: How long dost thou deceive me, and tell me lies? Shew me wherewith thou mayest be bound. And Samson answered her: If thou plattest the seven locks of my head with a lace, and tying them round about a nail, fastenest it in the ground, I shall be weak. And when Dalila had done this, she said to him: The Philistines are upon thee, Samson. And awaking out of his sleep, he drew out the nail with the hairs and the lace. And Dalila said to him: How dost thou say thou lovest me, when thy mind is not with me? Thou hast told me lies these three times, and wouldst not tell me wherein thy greatest strength lieth. And when she pressed him much, and continually hung upon him for many days, giving him no time to rest, his soul fainted away, and was wearied even unto death. Then opening the truth of the thing, he said to her: The razor hath never come upon my head, for I am a Nazarite, that is to say, consecrated to God from my mother's womb: If my head be shaven, my strength shall depart from me, and I shall become weak, and shall be like other men. Then seeing that he had discovered to her all his mind, she sent to the princes of the Philistines, saying: Come up this once more, for now he hath opened his heart to me. And they went up, taking with them the money which they had promised. But she made him sleep upon her knees, and lay his head in her bosom. And she called a barber and shaved his seven locks, and began to drive him away, and thrust him from her: for immediately his strength departed from him. And she said: The Philistines are upon thee, Samson. And awaking from sleep, he said in his mind: I will go out as I did before, and shake myself, not knowing that the Lord was departed from him. Then the Philistines seized upon him, and forthwith pulled out his eyes, and led him bound in chains to Gaza, and shutting him up in prison made him grind. And now his hair began to grow again, And the princes of the Philistines assembled together, to offer great sacrifices to Dagon their god, and to make merry, saying: Our god hath delivered our enemy Samson into our hands. And the people also seeing this, praised their god, and said the same: Our god hath delivered our adversary into our hands, him that destroyed our country, and killed very 25 many. And rejoicing in their feasts, when they had now taken their good cheer, they commanded that Samson should be called, and should play before them. And being brought out of prison, he played before them; and they made him stand between two 26 pillars. And he said to the lad that guided his steps: Suffer me to touch the pillars which support the whole house, and let 27 me lean upon them, and rest a little. Now the house was full of men and women, and all the princes of the Philistines were there. Moreover about three thousand persons of both sexes, from the roof and the higher part of the house, were beholding 28 Samson's play. But he called upon the Lord, saying: O Lord God remember me, and restore to me now my former strength, O my God, that I may revenge myself on my enemies, and for the 29 loss of my two eyes I may take one revenge. And laying hold on both the pillars on which the house rested, and holding the one 30 with his right hand, and the other with his left, He said: Let me die with the Philistines. And when he had strongly shook the pillars, the house fell upon all the princes, and the rest of the multitude, that was there: and he killed many more at his death, 31 than he had killed before in his life. And his brethren and all his kindred, going down took his body, and buried it between Saraa and Esthaol, in the buryingplace of his father Manue: and he judged Israel twenty years.

17 There was at that time a man of mount Ephraim, whose name 2 was Michas. Who said to his mother: The eleven hundred pieces of silver, which thou hadst put aside for thyself, and concerning which thou didst swear in my hearing, behold I have, and they are with me. And she said to him. Blessed be my son by the 3 Lord. So he restored them to his mother, who said to him: I have consecrated and vowed this silver to the Lord, that my son may receive it at my hand, and make a graven and a molten god; 4 so now I deliver it to thee. And he restored them to his mother: and she took two hundred pieces of silver and gave them to the silversmith, to make of them a graven and a molten God, which 5 was in the house of Michas. And he separated also therein a little temple for the god, and made an ephod, and theraphim, that is to say, a priestly garment, and idols: and he filled the 6 hand of one of his sons, and he became his priest. In those days there was no king in Israel, but every one did that which seemed right to himself. There was also another young man of 7 Bethlehem Juda, of the kindred thereof: and he was a Levite, and dwelt there. Now he went out from the city of Bethlehem, and 8 desired to sojourn wheresoever he should find it convenient for him. And when he was come to mount Ephraim, as he was on his journey, and had turned aside a little into the house of Michas, He was asked by him whence he came. And he answered: I am a 9 Levite of Bethlehem Juda, and I am going to dwell where I can, and where I shall find a place to my advantage. And Michas 10 said: Stay with me, and be unto me a father and a priest, and I will give thee every year ten pieces of silver, and a double suit of apparel, and thy victuals. He was content, and abode with the 11 man, and was unto him as one of his sons. And Michas filled 12 his hand, and had the young man with him for his priest, saying: Now I know God will do me good, since I have a priest of the 13 race of the Levites.

In those days there was no king in Israel, and the tribe of 18 Dan sought them an inheritance to dwell in: for unto that day they had not received their lot among the other tribes. So 2 the children of Dan sent five most valiant men, of their stock and family, from Saraa and Esthaol, to spy out the land, and to view it diligently: and they said to them: Go, and view the land. They went on their way, and when they came to mount Ephraim, they went into the house of Michas, and rested there:
And knowing the voice of the young man the Levite, and lodging 3 with him, they said to him: Who brought thee hither? what dost thou here? why wouldst thou come hither? He answered them: 4 Michas hath done such and such things for me, and hath hired me to be his priest. Then they desired him to consult the Lord, that 5 they might know whether their journey should be prosperous, and the thing should have effect. He answered them: Go in 6 peace: the Lord looketh on your way, and the journey that you go. So the five men going on came to Lais: and they saw 7 how the people dwelt therein without any fear, according to the custom of the Sidonians, secure and easy, having no man at all to oppose them, being very rich, and living separated, at a distance from Sidon and from all men. And they returned to 8 their brethren in Saraa and Esthaol, who asked them what they had done: to whom they answered: Arise, and let us go up 9 to them: for we have seen the land which is exceeding rich and fruitful: neglect not, lose no time: let us go and possess it, there 10 will be no difficulty. We shall come to a people that is secure, into a spacious country, and the Lord will deliver the place to us, in which there is no want of any thing that groweth on the 11 earth. There went therefore of the kindred of Dan, to wit, from Saraa and Esthaol, six hundred men, furnished with arms for 12 war. And going up they lodged in Cariathiarim of Juda: which place from that time is called the camp of Dan, and is behind 13 Cariathiarim. From thence they passed into mount Ephraim. And when they were come to the house of Michas, The five 14 men, that before had been sent to view the land of Lais, said to the rest of their brethren: You know that in these houses there is an ephod and theraphim, and a graven and a molten god: 15 see what you are pleased to do. And when they had turned a little aside, they went into the house of the young man the Levite, who was in the house of Michas: and they saluted him 16 with words of peace. And the six hundred men stood before the door, appointed with their arms. But they that were gone 17 into the house of the young man, went about to take away the graven god, and the ephod, and the theraphim, and the molten god, and the priest stood before the door, the six hundred valiant 18 men waiting not far off. So they that were gone in took away the graven thing, the ephod, and the idols, and the molten god, 19 And the priest said to them: What are you doing? And they said to him: Hold thy peace, and put thy finger on thy mouth, and come with us, that we may have thee for a father, and a priest. Whether is better for thee, to be a priest in the house 20 of one man, or in a tribe and family in Israel? When he heard this, he agreed to their words, and took the ephod, and the idols, and the graven god, and departed with them. And when they were going forward, and had put before them the children 21 and the cattle, and all that was valuable, And were now at a distance from the house of Michas, the men that dwelt in the 22 houses of Michas gathering together followed them, And began to shout out after them. They looked back, and said to Michas: What aileth thee? Why dost thou cry? And he answered: You have taken away my gods which I have made me, and the priest, 23 and all that I have, and do you say: What aileth thee? And the children of Dan said to him: See thou say no more to us, lest men enraged come upon thee, and thou perish with all thy house. And so they went on the journey they had begun. But Michas seeing that they were stronger than he, returned to his house. And the six hundred men took the priest, and the things we spoke of before, and came to Lais, to a people that was quiet and secure, and smote them with the edge of the sword: and the city they burnt with fire, There being no man at all who brought them any succour, because they dwelt far from Sidon, and had no society or business with any man. And the city was in the land of Rohob: and they rebuilt it, and dwelt therein, Calling the name of the city Dan, after the name of their father, who was the son of Israel, which before was called Lais. And they set up to themselves the graven idol, and Jonathan the son of Gersam, the son of Moses, he and his sons were priests in the tribe of Dan, until the day of their captivity. And the idol of Michas remained with them all the time that the house of God was in Silo. In those days there was no king in Israel.

There was a certain Levite, who dwelt on the side of mount Ephraim, who took a wife of Bethlehem Juda: And she left him, and returned to her father's house in Bethlehem, and abode with him four months. And her husband followed her, willing to be reconciled with her, and to speak kindly to her, and to bring her back with him, having with him a servant and two asses: and she received him, and brought him into her father's house. And when his father in law had heard this, and had seen him, he met him with joy, And embraced the man. And the son in law tarried in the house of his father in law three days, eating with him and drinking familiarly. But on the fourth day, arising early in the morning, he desired to depart. But his father in law kept him, and said to him: Taste first a little bread, and strengthen thy stomach, and so thou shalt depart. And they sat down together, and ate and drank. And the father of the young woman said to his son in law: I beseech thee to stay here to day, and let us make merry together. But he rising up, began to be for departing. And nevertheless his father in law earnestly pressed him, and made him stay with him. But when morning was come, the Levite prepared to go on his journey. And his father in law said to him again: I beseech thee to take a little meat, and strengthening thyself, till the day be farther advanced, 9 afterwards thou mayest depart. And they ate together. And the young man arose to set forward with his wife and servant.

And his father in law spoke to him again: Consider that the day is declining, and draweth toward evening: tarry with me to day also, and spend the day in mirth, and to morrow thou 10 shalt depart, that thou mayest go into thy house. His son in law would not consent to his words: but forthwith went forward, and came over against Jebus, which by another name is called Jerusalem, leading with him two asses loaden, and his concubine.
11 And now they were come near Jebus, and the day was far spent: and the servant said to his master: Come, I beseech thee, let us 12 turn into the city of the Jebusites, and lodge there. His master answered him: I will not go into the town of another nation, who are not of the children of Israel, but I will pass over to Gabaa: 13 And when I shall come thither, we will lodge there, or at least in 14 the city of Rama. So they passed by Jebus, and went on their journey, and the sun went down upon them when they were by 15 Gabaa, which is in the tribe of Benjamin: And they turned into it to lodge there. And when they were come in, they sat in the 16 street of the city, for no man would receive them to lodge. And behold they saw an old man, returning out of the field and from his work in the evening, and he also was of mount Ephraim, and dwelt as a stranger in Gabaa; but the men of that country were 17 the children of Jemini. And the old man lifting up his eyes, saw the man sitting with his bundles in the street of the city, and 18 said to him: Whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? He answered him: We came out from Bethlehem Juda, and we are going to our home, which is on the side of mount Ephraim, from whence we went to Bethlehem: and now we go to the house of 19 God, and none will receive us under his roof: We have straw and hay for provender of the asses, and bread and wine for the use of myself and of thy handmaid, and of the servant that is with me: 20 we want nothing but lodging. And the old man answered him:
Peace be with thee: I will furnish all things that are necessary: 21 only I beseech thee, stay not in the street. And he brought him into his house, and gave provender to his asses: and after they had washed their feet, he entertained them with a feast.
22 While they were making merry, and refreshing their bodies with meat and drink, after the labour of the journey, the men of that city, sons of Belial (that is, without yoke), came and beset the old man's house, and began to knock at the door, calling to the master of the house, and saying: Bring forth the man that came into thy house, that we may abuse him: And the old man went out to them, and said: Do not so, my brethren, do not so wickedly: because this man is come into my lodging, and cease I pray you from this folly. I have a maiden daughter, and this man hath a concubine, I will bring them out to you, and you may humble them, and satisfy your lust: only, I beseech you, commit not this crime against nature on the man. They would not be satisfied with his words; which the man seeing, brought out his concubine to them, and abandoned her to their wickedness: and when they had abused her all the night, they let her go in the morning. But the woman, at the dawning of the day, came to the door of the house, where her lord lodged, and there fell down. And in the morning the man arose, and opened the door, that he might end the journey he had begun: and behold his concubine lay before the door with her hands spread on the threshold. He thinking she was taking her rest, said to her: Arise, and let us be going. But as she made no answer, perceiving she was dead, he took her up, and laid her upon his ass, and returned to his house. And when he was come home, he took a sword, and divided the dead body of his wife with her bones into twelve parts, and sent the pieces into all the borders of Israel. And when every one had seen this, they all cried out: There was never such a thing done in Israel, from the day that our fathers came up out of Egypt, until this day: give sentence, and decree in common what ought to be done.

Then all the children of Israel went out, and gathered together as one man, from Dan to Bersabee, with the land of Galaad, to the Lord in Maspha: And all the chiefs of the people, and all the tribes of Israel, met together in the assembly of the people of God, four hundred thousand footmen fit for war. (Nor were the children of Benjamin ignorant that the children of Israel were come up to Maspha.) And the Levite, the husband of the woman that was killed being asked, how so great a wickedness had been committed, Answered: I came into Gabaa, of Benjamin, with my wife, and there I lodged: And behold the men of that city, in the night beset the house wherein I was, intending to kill me, and abused my wife with an incredible fury of lust, so that at 6 last she died. And I took her and cut her in pieces, and sent the parts into all the borders of your possession: because there never was so heinous a crime, and so great an abomination committed 7 in Israel. You are all here, O children of Israel, determine what you ought to do. And all the people standing, answered as by 8 the voice of one man: We will not return to our tents, neither shall any one of us go into his own house: But this we will do 9 in common against Gabaa: We will take ten men of a hundred out of all the tribes of Israel, and a hundred out of a thousand, and a thousand out of ten thousand, to bring victuals for the 10 army, that we may fight against Gabaa of Benjamin, and render to it for its wickedness, what it deserveth. And all Israel were 11 gathered together against the city, as one man, with one mind, and one counsel: And they sent messengers to all the tribe of 12 Benjamin, to say to them: Why hath so great an abomination been found among you? Deliver up the men of Gabaa, that have committed this heinous crime, that they may die, and the evil may be taken away out of Israel. But they would not hear-13 ken to the proposition of their brethren the children of Israel: But out of all the cities which were of their lot, they gathered 14 themselves together into Gabaa, to aid them, and to fight against the whole people of Israel. And there were found of Benjamin 15 five and twenty thousand men that drew the sword, besides the inhabitants of Gabaa, Who were seven hundred most valiant 16 men, fighting with the left hand as well as with the right: and slinging stones so sure that they could hit even a hair, and not 17 miss by the stone's going on either side. Of the men of Israel also, beside the children of Benjamin, were found four hundred 18 thousand that drew swords and were prepared to fight. And they arose and came to the house of God, that is, to Silo: and they consulted God, and said: Who shall be in our army the first to go to the battle against the children of Benjamin? And the 19 Lord answered them: Let Juda be your leader. And forthwith the children of Israel rising in the morning, camped by Gabaa: 20 And going out from thence to fight against Benjamin, began to assault the city. And the children of Benjamin coming out 21 of Gabaa slew of the children of Israel that day two and twenty thousand men. Again Israel, trusting in their strength and their number, set their army in array in the same place, where they had fought before: Yet so that they first went up and wept before the Lord until night: and consulted him and said: Shall I go out any more to fight against the children of Benjamin my brethren or not? And he answered them: Go up against them, and join battle. And when the children of Israel went out the next day to fight against the children of Benjamin, The children of Benjamin sallied forth out of the gates of Gabaa: and meeting them, made so great a slaughter of them, as to kill eighteen thousand men that drew the sword. Wherefore all the children of Israel came to the house of God, and sat and wept before the Lord: and they fasted that day till the evening, and offered to him holocausts, and victims of peace offerings, And inquired of him concerning their state. At that time the ark of the covenant of the Lord was there, And Phinees, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron, was over the house. So they consulted the Lord, and said: Shall we go out any more to fight against the children of Benjamin, our brethren, or shall we cease? And the Lord said to them: Go up, for to morrow I will deliver them into your hands. And the children of Israel set ambushes round about the city of Gabaa: And they drew up their army against Benjamin the third time, as they had done the first and second. And the children of Benjamin boldly issued out of the city, and seeing their enemies flee, pursued them a long way, so as to wound and kill some of them, as they had done the first and second day, whilst they fled by two highways, whereof one goeth up to Bethel and the other to Gabaa, and they slew about thirty men: For they thought to cut them off as they did before. But they artfully feigning a flight, designed to draw them away from the city, and by their seeming to flee, to bring them to the highways aforesaid. Then all the children of Israel rising up out of the places where they were, set their army in battle array, in the place which is called Baalthamar. The ambushes also, which were about the city, began by little and little to come forth, And to march from the west side of the city. And other ten thousand men chosen out of all Israel, attacked the inhabitants of the city. And the battle grew hot against the children of Benjamin: and they understood not that present death threatened them on every side.

35 And the Lord defeated them before the children of Israel, and they slew of them in that day five and twenty thousand, and 36 one hundred, all fighting men, and that drew the sword. But the children of Benjamin, when they saw themselves to be too weak, began to flee. Which the children of Israel seeing, gave them place to flee, that they might come to the ambushes that 37 were prepared, which they had set near the city. And they that were in ambush arose on a sudden out of their coverts, and whilst Benjamin turned their backs to the slayers, went into the 38 city, and smote it with the edge of the sword. Now the children of Israel had given a sign to them, whom they had laid in ambushes, that after they had taken the city, they should make a fire: that by the smoke rising on high, they might shew that 39 the city was taken. And when the children of Israel saw this in the battle, (for the children of Benjamin thought they fled, and 40 pursued them vigorously, killing thirty men of their army) And perceived, as it were, a pillar of smoke rise up from the city; and Benjamin looking back, saw that the city was taken, and that 41 the flames ascended on high: They that before had made as if they fled, turning their faces, stood bravely against them. Which 42 the children of Benjamin seeing, turned their backs, And began to go towards the way of the desert, the enemy pursuing them thither also. And they that fired the city came also out to meet 43 them. And so it was, that they were slain on both sides by the enemies, and there was no rest of their men dying. They fell and 44 were beaten down on the east side of the city of Gabaa. And they that were slain in the same place, were eighteen thousand 45 men, all most valiant soldiers. And when they that remained of Benjamin saw this, they fled into the wilderness, and made towards the rock that is called Remmon. In that flight also, as they were straggling, and going different ways; they slew of them five thousand men. And as they went farther, they still pursued 46 them, and slew also other two thousand. And so it came to pass, that all that were slain of Benjamin, in divers places, were five 47 and twenty thousand fighting men, most valiant for war. And there remained of all the number of Benjamin only six hundred men that were able to escape, and flee to the wilderness: and 48 they abode in the rock Remmon four months. But the children of Israel returning, put all the remains of the city to the sword, both men and beasts, and all the cities and villages of Benjamin were consumed with devouring flames.

Now the children of Israel had also sworn in Maspha, saying: 21 None of us shall give of his daughters to the children of Benjamin to wife. And they all came to the house of God in Silo, and 2 sitting before him till the evening, lifted up their voices, and began to lament and weep, saying: O Lord God of Israel, why 3 is so great an evil come to pass in thy people, that this day one tribe should be taken away from among us? And rising early 4 the next day, they built an altar: and offered there holocausts, and victims of peace, and they said: Who is there among all the 5 tribes of Israel that came not up with the army of the Lord? for they had bound themselves with a great oath, when they were in Maspha, that whosoever were wanting should be slain. And the 6 children of Israel being moved with repentance for their brother Benjamin, began to say: One tribe is taken away from Israel. Whence shall they take wives? For we have all in general sworn, 7 not to give our daughters to them. Therefore they said: Who 8 is there of all the tribes of Israel, that came not up to the Lord to Maspha? And, behold, the inhabitants of Jabes Galaad were found not to have been in that army. (At that time also when 9 they were in Silo, no one of them was found there,) So they sent 10 ten thousand of the most valiant men, and commanded them, saying: Go and put the inhabitants of Jabes Galaad to the sword, 11 with their wives and their children. And this is what you shall observe: Every male, and all women that have known men, you shall kill, but the virgins you shall save. And there were found 12 of Jabes Galaad four hundred virgins, that had not known the bed of a man, and they brought them to the camp in Silo, into the land of Chanaan. And they sent messengers to the children 13 of Benjamin, that were in the rock Remmon, and commanded them to receive them in peace. And the children of Benjamin 14 came at that time, and wives were given them of Jabes Galaad: but they found no others, whom they might give in like manner. And all Israel was very sorry, and repented for the destroying 15 of one tribe out of Israel. And the ancients said: What shall 16 we do with the rest, that have not received wives? for all the women in Benjamin are dead. And we must use all care, and 17 provide with great diligence, that one tribe be not destroyed out 18 of Israel. For as to our own daughters we cannot give them, being bound with an oath and a curse, whereby we said: Cursed 19 be he that shall give Benjamin any of his daughters to wife. So they took counsel, and said: Behold, there is a yearly solemnity of the Lord in Silo, which is situate on the north of the city of Bethel, and on the east side of the way, that goeth from Bethel 20 to Sichem, and on the south of the town of Lebona. And they commanded the children of Benjamin and said: Go, and lie hid 21 in the vineyards, And when you shall see the daughters of Silo come out, as the custom is, to dance, come ye on a sudden out of the vineyards, and catch you every man his wife among them, 22 and go into the land of Benjamin. And when their fathers and their brethren shall come, and shall begin to complain against you, and to chide, we will say to them: Have pity on them: for they took them not away as by the right of war or conquest, but when they asked to have them, you gave them not, and the fault 23 was committed on your part. And the children of Benjamin did as they had been commanded: and, according to their number, they carried off for themselves every man his wife of them that were dancing: and they went into their possession, and built 24 up their cities, and dwelt in them. The children of Israel also returned by their tribes, and families, to their dwellings. In those days there was no king in Israel: but every one did that which seemed right to himself.

THE BOOK OF RUTH.

In the days of the judges, when the judges ruled, there 1 came a famine in the land. And a certain man of Bethlehem Juda, went to sojourn in the land of Moab with his wife and his two sons. He was named Elimelech, 2 and his wife Noemi: and his two sons, the one Mahalon, and the other Chelion, Ephrathites of Bethlehem Juda. And entering into the country of Moab, they abode there. And Elimelech 3 the husband of Noemi died: and she remained with her sons.
And they took wives of the women of Moab, of which one was 4 called Orpha, and the other Ruth. And they dwelt their ten years, And they both died, to wit, Mahalon and Chelion: and 5 the woman was left alone, having lost both her sons and her husband. And she arose to go from the land of Moab to her own 6 country, with both her daughters in law: for she had heard that the Lord had looked upon his people, and had given them food.
Wherefore she went forth out of the place of her sojournment, 7 with both her daughters in law: and being now in the way to return into the land of Juda, She said to them: Go ye home 8 to your mothers, the Lord deal mercifully with you, as you have dealt with the dead and with me. May he grant you to find rest 9 in the houses of the husbands whom you shall take. And she kissed them. And they lifted up their voice, and began to weep, And to say: We will go on with thee to thy people. But she 10, 11 answered them: Return, my daughters: why come ye with me? have I any more sons in my womb, that you may hope for husbands of me? Return again, my daughters, and go your ways: 12 for I am now spent with age, and not fit for wedlock. Although I might conceive this night, and bear children, If you would wait 13 till they were grown up, and come to man's estate, you would be old women before you marry. Do not so, my daughters, I beseech you: for I am grieved the more for your distress, and the hand of the Lord is gone out against me. And they lifted up 14 their voice, and began to weep again: Orpha kissed her mother in law, and returned: Ruth stuck close to her mother in law.

15 And Noemi said to her: Behold thy kinswoman is returned to 16 her people, and to her gods, go thou with her. She answered:
Be not against me, to desire that I should leave thee and depart: for whithersoever thou shalt go, I will go: and where thou shalt dwell, I also will dwell. Thy people shall be my people, and thy 17 God my God. The land that shall receive thee dying, in the same will I die: and there will I be buried. The Lord do so and so to me, and add more also, if aught but death part me 18 and thee. Then Noemi seeing that Ruth was steadfastly determined to go with her, would not be against it, nor persuade her 19 any more to return to her friends: So they went together, and came to Bethlehem. And when they were come into the city, the report was quickly spread among all: and the women said: 20 This is that Noemi. But she said to them: Call me not Noemi (that is, beautiful,) but call me Mara (that is, bitter), for the 21 Almighty hath quite filled me with bitterness. I went out full and the Lord hath brought me back empty. Why then do you call me Noemi, whom the Lord hath humbled, and the Almighty 22 hath afflicted? So Noemi came with Ruth, the Moabitess, her daughter in law, from the land of her sojournment: and returned into Bethlehem, in the beginning of the barley harvest.

2 Now her husband Elimelech had a kinsman, a powerful man, 3 and very rich, whose name was Booz. And Ruth, the Moabitess, said to her mother in law: If thou wilt, I will go into the field, and glean the ears of corn that escape the hands of the reapers, wheresoever I shall find grace with a householder, that will be favourable to me. And she answered her: Go, my daughter. She went, therefore, and gleaned the ears of corn after the reapers.
And it happened that the owner of that field was Booz, who 4 was of the kindred of Elimelech. And behold, he came out of Bethlehem, and said to the reapers: The Lord be with you. And 5 they answered him: The Lord bless thee. And Booz said to the young man that was set over the reapers: Whose maid is 6 this? And he answered him: This is the Moabitess, who came 7 with Noemi, from the land of Moab, And she desired leave to glean the ears of corn that remain, following the steps of the reapers: and she hath been in the field from morning till now, and hath not gone home for one moment. And Booz said to 8 Ruth: Hear me, daughter, do not go to glean in any other field, and do not depart from this place: but keep with my maids, And follow where they reap. For I have charged my young men, 9 not to molest thee: and if thou art thirsty, go to the vessels, and drink of the waters whereof the servants drink. She fell on her 10 face, and worshipping upon the ground, said to him: Whence cometh this to me, that I should find grace before thy eyes, and that thou shouldst vouchsafe to take notice of me, a woman of another country? And he answered her: All hath been told 11 me, that thou hast done to thy mother in law after the death of thy husband: and how thou hast left thy parents, and the land wherein thou wast born, and art come to a people which thou knewest not heretofore. The Lord render unto thee for 12 thy work, and mayst thou receive a full reward of the Lord the God of Israel, to whom thou art come, and under whose wings thou art fled. And she said: I have found grace in thy eyes, 13 my lord, who hast comforted me, and hast spoken to the heart of thy handmaid, who am not like to one of thy maids. And 14 Booz said to her: At mealtime come thou hither, and eat of the bread, and dip thy morsel in the vinegar. So she sat at the side of the reapers, and she heaped to herself frumenty, and ate and was filled, and took the leavings. And she arose from thence, 15 to glean the ears of corn as before. And Booz commanded his servants, saying: If she would even reap with you, hinder her not: And let fall some of your handfuls of purpose, and leave 16 them, that she may gather them without shame, and let no man rebuke her when she gathereth them. She gleaned therefore in 17 the field till evening: and beating out with a rod, and threshing what she had gleaned, she found about the measure of an ephi of barley, that is, three bushels: Which she took up, and returned 18 into the city, and shewed it to her mother in law: moreover, she brought out, and gave her of the remains of her meat, wherewith she had been filled. And her mother in law said to her: Where 19 hast thou gleaned today, and where hast thou wrought? blessed be he that hath had pity on thee. And she told her with whom she had wrought: and she told the man's name, that he was called Booz. And Noemi answered her: Blessed be he of the 20 Lord: because the same kindness which he shewed to the living, he hath kept also to the dead. And again she said: The man is 21 our kinsman. And Ruth said: He also charged me, that I should 22 keep close to his reapers, till all the corn should be reaped. And her mother in law said to her: It is better for thee, my daughter, to go out to reap with his maids, lest in another man's field some 23 one may resist thee. So she kept close to the maids of Booz: and continued to glean with them, till all the barley and the wheat were laid up in the barns.

3 After she was returned to her mother in law, Noemi said to her: My daughter, I will seek rest for thee, and will provide that 2 it may be well with thee. This Booz, with whose maids thou wast joined in the field, is our near kinsman, and behold this 3 night he winnoweth barley in the threshingfloor. Wash thyself therefore and anoint thee, and put on thy best garments, and go down to the barnfloor: but let not the man see thee, till he shall 4 have done eating and drinking. And when he shall go to sleep, mark the place wherein he sleepeth: and thou shalt go in, and lift up the clothes wherewith he is covered towards his feet, and shalt lay thyself down there: and he will tell thee what thou must 5 do. She answered: Whatsoever thou shalt command, I will do.
6 And she went down to the barnfloor, and did all that her mother 7 in law had bid her. And when Booz had eaten, and drunk, and was merry, he went to sleep by the heap of sheaves, and she came 8 softly, and uncovering his feet, laid herself down. And behold, when it was now midnight the man was afraid, and troubled: 9 and he saw a woman lying at his feet, And he said to her: Who art thou? And she answered: I am Ruth, thy handmaid: spread 10 thy coverlet over thy servant, for thou art a near kinsman. And he said: Blessed art thou of the Lord, my daughter, and thy latter kindness has surpassed the former: because thou hast not 11 followed young men either poor or rich. Fear not therefore, but whatsoever thou shalt say to me I will do to thee. For all the people that dwell within the gates of my city, know that thou 12 art a virtuous woman. Neither do I deny myself to be near of 13 kin, but there is another nearer than I. Rest thou this night: and when morning is come, if he will take thee by the right of kindred, all is well: but if he will not, I will undoubtedly take 14 thee, so the Lord liveth: sleep till the morning. So she slept at his feet till the night was going off. And she arose before men could know one another, and Booz said: Beware lest any man know that thou camest hither. And again he said: Spread thy mantle, wherewith thou art covered, and hold it with both hands. And when she spread it and held it, he measured six measures of barley, and laid it upon her. And she carried it, and went into the city, And came to her mother in law; who said to her: What hast thou done, daughter? And she told her all that the man had done to her. And she said: Behold he hath given me six measures of barley: for he said: I will not have thee return empty to thy mother in law. And Noemi said: Wait, my daughter, till we see what end the thing will have. For the man will not rest until he have accomplished what he hath said.

Then Booz went up to the gate, and sat there. And when he had seen the kinsman going by, of whom he had spoken before, he said to him, calling him by his name: Turn aside for a little while, and sit down here. He turned aside, and sat down. And Booz, taking ten men of the ancients of the city, said to them: Sit ye down here. They sat down, and he spoke to the kinsman: Noemi, who is returned from the country of Moab will sell a parcel of land that belonged to our brother Elimelech. I would have thee to understand this, and would tell thee before all that sit here, and before the ancients of my people. If thou wilt take possession of it by the right of kindred: buy it, and possess it: but if it please thee not, tell me so, that I may know what I have to do. For there is no near kinsman besides thee, who art first, and me, who am second. But he answered: I will buy the field. And Booz said to him: When thou shalt buy the field at the woman's hand, thou must take also Ruth, the Moabitess, who was the wife of the deceased: to raise up the name of thy kinsman in his inheritance. He answered: I yield up my right of next akin: for I must not cut off the posterity of my own family. Do thou make use of my privilege, which I profess I do willingly forego. Now this in former times was the manner in Israel between kinsmen, that if at any time one yielded his right to another: that the grant might be sure, the man put off his shoe and gave it to his neighbour; this was a testimony of cession of right in Israel. So Booz said to his kinsman: Put off thy shoe. And immediately he took it off from his foot. And he said to the ancients, and to all the people: You are witnesses this day, that I have bought all that was Elimelech's, and Chelion's, and Mahalon's, of the 10 hand of Noemi: And have taken to wife Ruth, the Moabitess, the wife of Mahalon, to raise up the name of the deceased in his inheritance lest his name be cut off, from among his family and his brethren and his people. You, I say, are witnesses of 11 this thing. Then all the people that were in the gate, and the ancients, answered: We are witnesses: The Lord make this woman who cometh into thy house, like Rachel, and Lia, who built up the house of Israel: that she may be an example of virtue 12 in Ephrata, and may have a famous name in Bethlehem: And that the house may be, as the house of Phares, whom Tamar bore unto Juda, of the seed which the Lord shall give thee of this 13 young woman. Booz therefore took Ruth, and married her: and went in unto her, and the Lord gave her to conceive, and to bear 14 a son. And the women said to Noemi: Blessed be the Lord, who hath not suffered thy family to want a successor: that his 15 name should be preserved in Israel. And thou shouldst have one to comfort thy soul, and cherish thy old age. For he is born of thy daughter in law: who loveth thee: and is much better 16 to thee, than if thou hadst seven sons. And Noemi taking the child, laid it in her bosom, and she carried it, and was a nurse 17 unto it. And the women, her neighbours, congratulating with her, and saying, There is a son born to Noemi, called his name 18 Obed: he is the father of Isai, the father of David. These are the 19 generations of Phares: Phares begot Ebron, Ebron begot Aram, 20 Aram begot Aminadab, Aminadab begot Nahasson, Nahasson 21, 22 begot Salmon, Salmon begot Booz, Booz begot Obed, Obed begot Isai, Isai begot David.

THE FIRST BOOK OF SAMUEL, OTHERWISE CALLED,
THE FIRST BOOK OF THE KINGS.

 here was a man of Ramathaimsophim, of Mount Ephraim, and his name was Elcana, the son of Jeroham, the son of Eliu, the son of Thohu, the son of Suph, an Ephraimite: And he had two wives, the name of one 2 was Anna, and the name of the other Phenenna. Phenenna had children: but Anna had no children. And this man went up 3 out of his city upon the appointed days, to adore and to offer sacrifice to the Lord of hosts in Silo. And the two sons of Heli, Ophni and Phinees, were there priests of the Lord. Now the 4 day came, and Elcana offered sacrifice, and gave to Phenenna, his wife, and to all her sons and daughters, portions: But to 5 Anna he gave one portion with sorrow, because he loved Anna. And the Lord had shut up her womb. Her rival also afflicted 6 her, and troubled her exceedingly, insomuch that she upbraided her, that the Lord had shut up her womb: And thus she did 7 every year, when the time returned, that they went up to the temple of the Lord: and thus she provoked her: but Anna wept, and did not eat. Then Elcana, her husband, said to her: Anna, 8 why weepest thou? and why dost thou not eat? and why dost thou afflict thy heart? Am not I better to thee than ten children? So Anna arose after she had eaten and drunk in Silo: 9 And Heli, the priest, sitting upon a stool before the door of the temple of the Lord; As Anna had her heart full of grief, she 10 prayed to the Lord, shedding many tears, And she made a vow, saying: O Lord of hosts, if thou wilt look down, and wilt be 11 mindful of me, and not forget thy handmaid, and wilt give to thy servant a manchild: I will give him to the Lord all the days of his life, and no razor shall come upon his head. And it came 12 to pass, as she multiplied prayers before the Lord, that Heli observed her mouth. Now Anna spoke in her heart, and only her 13 lips moved, but her voice was not heard at all. Heli therefore 14 thought her to be drunk, And said to her: How long wilt thou be drunk? digest a little the wine, of which thou hast taken too 15 much. Anna answering, said: Not so, my lord: for I am an exceeding unhappy woman, and have drunk neither wine nor any strong drink, but I have poured out my soul before the Lord.

16 Count not thy handmaid for one of the daughters of Belial: for out of the abundance of my sorrow and grief have I spoken till 17 now. Then Heli said to her: Go in peace: and the God of Israel 18 grant thee thy petition, which thou hast asked of him. And she said: Would to God thy handmaid may find grace in thy eyes.
So the woman went on her way, and ate, and her countenance 19 was no more changed. And they rose in the morning, and worshipped before the Lord: and they returned, and came into their house at Ramatha. And Elcana knew Anna his wife: And the 20 Lord remembered her. And it came to pass when the time was come about, Anna conceived and bore a son, and called his name 21 Samuel: because she had asked him of the Lord. And Elcana, her husband, went up, and all his house, to offer to the Lord the 22 solemn sacrifice, and his vow. But Anna went not up: for she said to her husband: I will not go till the child be weaned, and till I may carry him, that he may appear before the Lord, and 23 may abide always there. And Elcana, her husband, said to her: Do what seemeth good to thee, and stay till thou wean him: and I pray that the Lord may fulfil his word. So the woman staid at 24 home, and gave her son suck, till she weaned him. And after she had weaned him, she carried him with her, with three calves, and three bushels of flour, and a bottle of wine, and she brought him to the house of the Lord in Silo. Now the child was as yet 25 very young: And they immolated a calf, and offered the child 26 to Heli. And Anna said: I beseech thee, my lord, as thy soul liveth, my lord: I am that woman, who stood before thee here 27 praying to the Lord. For this child did I pray, and the Lord 28 hath granted me my petition, which I asked of him. Therefore I also have lent him to the Lord all the days of his life, he shall be lent to the Lord. And they adored the Lord there. And Anna prayed, and said:

2 My heart hath rejoiced in the Lord, and my horn is exalted in my God: my mouth is enlarged over my enemies: because I have joyed in thy salvation. There is none holy as the Lord is: 2 for there is no other beside thee, and there is none strong like our God. Do not multiply to speak lofty things, boasting: let 3 old matters depart from your mouth: for the Lord is a God of all knowledge, and to him are thoughts prepared. The bow of the 4 mighty is overcome, and the weak are girt with strength. They 5 that were full before, have hired out themselves for bread: and the hungry are filled, so that the barren hath borne many: and she that had many children is weakened. The Lord killeth and 6 maketh alive, he bringeth down to hell, and bringeth back again.

The Lord maketh poor and maketh rich, he humbleth and he 7 exalteth: He raiseth up the needy from the dust, and lifteth up 8 the poor from the dunghill: that he may sit with princes, and hold the throne of glory. For the poles of the earth are the Lord's, and upon them he hath set the world. He will keep the feet of his 9 saints, and the wicked shall be silent in darkness; because no man shall prevail by his own strength. The adversaries of the Lord 10 shall fear him: and upon them shall he thunder in the heavens: The Lord shall judge the ends of the earth, and he shall give empire to his king, and shall exalt the horn of his Christ. And 11 Elcana went to Ramatha, to his house: but the child ministered in the sight of the Lord before the face of Heli the priest. Now 12 the sons of Heli were children of Belial, not knowing the Lord, Nor the office of the priests to the people: but whosoever had 13 offered a sacrifice, the servant of the priest came, while the flesh was in boiling, with a fleshhook of three teeth in his hand, And 14 thrust it into the kettle, or into the cauldron, or into the pot, or into the pan: and all that the fleshhook brought up, the priest took to himself. Thus did they to all Israel that came to Silo.
Also before they burnt the fat, the servant of the priest came, 15 and said to the man that sacrificed: Give me flesh to boil for the priest: for I will not take of thee sodden flesh, but raw.
And he that sacrificed said to him: Let the fat first be burnt 16 to day, according to the custom, and then take to thee as much as thy soul desireth. But he answered, and said to him: Not so: but thou shalt give it me now, or else I will take it by force.
Wherefore the sin of the young men was exceeding great before 17 the Lord: because they withdrew men from the sacrifice of the Lord. But Samuel ministered before the face of the Lord: being 18 19 a child girded with a linen ephod. And his mother made him a little coat, which she brought to him on the appointed days, when she went up with her husband, to offer the solemn sacrifice.

20 And Heli blessed Elcana and his wife: and he said to him: The Lord give thee seed of this woman, for the loan thou hast lent

21 to the Lord. And they went to their own home. And the Lord visited Anna, and she conceived, and bore three sons, and two daughters: and the child Samuel became great before the Lord.

22 Now Heli was very old, and he heard all that his sons did to all Israel: and how they lay with the women that waited at the

23 door of the tabernacle: And he said to them: Why do ye these kinds of things, which I hear, very wicked things, from all the 24 people? Do not so, my sons: for it is no good report that I hear, that you make the people of the Lord to transgress. If one man

25 shall sin against another, God may be appeased in his behalf: but if a man shall sin against the Lord, who shall pray for him? And they hearkened not to the voice of their father, because the

26 Lord would slay them. But the child Samuel advanced, and grew on, and pleased both the Lord and men. And there came

27 a man of God to Heli, and said to him: Thus saith the Lord: Did I not plainly appear to thy father's house, when they were

28 in Egypt in the house of Pharaoh? And I chose him out of all the tribes of Israel to be my priest, to go up to my altar, and burn incense to me, and to wear the ephod before me: and I gave to thy father's house of all the sacrifices of the children of

29 Israel. Why have you kicked away my victims, and my gifts which I commanded to be offered in the temple: and thou hast rather honoured thy sons than me, to eat the firstfruits of every 30 sacrifice of my people Israel? Wherefore thus saith the Lord the God of Israel: I said indeed that thy house, and the house of thy father, should minister in my sight, for ever. But now saith the Lord: Far be this from me: but whosoever shall glorify me, him will I glorify: but they that despise me, shall be despised.

31 Behold the days come: and I will cut off thy arm, and the arm of thy father's house, that there shall not be an old man in thy

32 house. And thou shalt see thy rival in the temple, in all the prosperity of Israel, and there shall not be an old man in thy 33 house for ever. However, I will not altogether take away a man of thee from my altar: but that thy eyes may faint, and thy soul be spent: and a great part of thy house shall die, when they come to man's estate. And this shall be a sign to thee, that 34 shall come upon thy two sons, Ophni and Phinees: in one day they shall both of them die. And I will raise me up a faithful 35 priest, who shall do according to my heart, and my soul and I will build him a faithful house, and he shall walk all days before my anointed. And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall 36 remain in thy house shall come that he may be prayed for, and shall offer a piece of silver, and a roll of bread, and shall say: Put me, I beseech thee, to somewhat of the priestly office, that I may eat a morsel of bread.

Now the child Samuel ministered to the Lord before Heli, and 3 the word of the Lord was precious in those days, there was no manifest vision. And it came to pass one day when Heli lay in 2 his place, and his eyes were grown dim, that he could not see: Before the lamp of God went out, Samuel slept in the temple 3 of the Lord, where the ark of God was. And the Lord called 4 Samuel. And he answered: Here am I. And he ran to Heli, 5 and said: Here am I: for thou didst call me. He said: I did not call: go back and sleep. And he went and slept. And the Lord 6 called Samuel again. And Samuel arose and went to Heli, and said: Here am I: for thou calledst me. He answered: I did not call thee, my son: return and sleep. Now Samuel did not yet 7 know the Lord, neither had the word of the Lord been revealed to him. And the Lord called Samuel again the third time. And 8 he arose up and went to Heli, And said: Here am I: for thou 9 didst call me. Then Heli understood that the Lord called the child, and he said to Samuel: Go, and sleep: and if he shall call thee any more, thou shalt say: Speak, Lord, for thy servant heareth. So Samuel went, and slept in his place. And the Lord 10 came, and stood, and he called, as he had called the other times, Samuel, Samuel. And Samuel said: Speak, Lord, for thy servant heareth. And the Lord said to Samuel: Behold I do a thing in 11 Israel: and whosoever shall hear it, both his ears shall tingle. In 12 that day I will raise up against Heli all the things I have spoken concerning his house: I will begin, and I will make an end. For 13 I have foretold unto him, that I will judge his house for ever, for iniquity, because he knew that his sons did wickedly, and did not chastise them. Therefore have I sworn to the house of Heli, that 14 the iniquity of his house shall not be expiated with victims nor offerings for ever. And Samuel slept till morning, and opened the doors of the house of the Lord. And Samuel feared to tell the vision to Heli. Then Heli called Samuel, and said: Samuel, my son. And he answered: Here am I. And he asked him: What is the word that the Lord hath spoken to thee? I beseech thee hide it not from me. May God do so and so to thee, and add so and so, if thou hide from me one word of all that were said to thee. So Samuel told him all the words, and did not hide them from him. And he answered: It is the Lord: let him do what is good in his sight. And Samuel grew, and the Lord was with him, and not one of his words fell to the ground. And all Israel, from Dan to Bersabee, knew that Samuel was a faithful prophet of the Lord. And the Lord again appeared in Silo, for the Lord revealed himself to Samuel in Silo, according to the word of the Lord. And the word of Samuel came to pass to all Israel.

4 And it came to pass in those days, that the Philistines gathered themselves together to fight: and Israel went out to war against the Philistines, and camped by the Stone of help. And 2 the Philistines came to Aphec, And put their army in array against Israel. And when they had joined battle, Israel turned their backs to the Philistines: and there were slain in that fight, 3 here and there in the fields, about four thousand men. And the people returned to the camp: and the ancients of Israel said: Why hath the Lord defeated us to day before the Philistines? Let us fetch unto us the ark of the covenant of the Lord from Silo, and let it come in the midst of us, that it may save us from 4 the hand of our enemies. So the people sent to Silo, and they brought from thence the ark of the covenant of the Lord of hosts, sitting upon the cherubims: and the two sons of Heli, Ophni and 5 Phinees, were with the ark of the covenant of God. And when the ark of the covenant of the Lord was come into the camp, all Israel shouted with a great shout, and the earth rang again. 6 And the Philistines heard the noise of the shout, and they said: What is this noise of a great shout in the camp of the Hebrews? And they understood that the ark of the Lord was come into the 7 camp. And the Philistines were afraid, saying: God is come into 8 the camp. And sighing, they said: Woe to us: for there was no such great joy yesterday, and the day before: Woe to us. Who shall deliver us from the hand of these high Gods? these are the Gods that struck Egypt with all the plagues in the desert. Take 9 courage, and behave like men, ye Philistines: lest you come to be servants to the Hebrews, as they have served you: take courage and fight. So the Philistines fought, and Israel was overthrown, 10 and every man fled to his own dwelling: and there was an exceeding great slaughter; for there fell of Israel thirty thousand footmen. And the ark of God was taken: and the two sons of Heli, Ophni and Phinees, were slain. And there ran a man of Benjamin out of the army, and came to Silo the same day, with his clothes rent, and his head strewed with dust. And when he 13 was come, Heli sat upon a stool over against the way, watching. For his heart was fearful for the ark of God. And when the man was come into the city, he told it: and all the city cried out. And Heli heard the noise of the cry, and he said: What meaneth 14 the noise of this uproar? But he made haste, and came, and told Heli. Now Heli was ninety and eight years old, and his eyes 15 were dim, and he could not see. And he said to Heli: I am he 16 that came from the battle, and have fled out of the field this day. And he said to him: What is there done, my son? And he that 17 brought the news answered, and said: Israel is fled before the Philistines, and there has been a great slaughter of the people: moreover thy two sons, Ophni and Phinees, are dead: and the ark of God is taken. And when he had named the ark of God, 18 he fell from his stool backwards by the door, and broke his neck and died. For he was an old man, and far advanced in years: And he judged Israel forty years. And his daughter in law, the 19 wife of Phinees, was big with child, and near her time: and hearing the news that the ark of God was taken, and her father in law, and her husband, were dead, she bowed herself and fell in labour: for her pains came upon her on a sudden. And when 20 she was upon the point of death, they that stood about her said to her: Fear not, for thou hast borne a son. She answered them not, nor gave heed to them. And she called the child Ichabod, 21 saying: The glory is gone from Israel, because the ark of God was taken, and for her father in law, and for her husband: And 22 she said: The glory is departed from Israel, because the ark of God was taken.

And the Philistines took the ark of God, and carried it from 5 2 the Stone of help into Azotus. And the Philistines took the ark of God, and brought it into the temple of Dagon, and set 3 it by Dagon. And when the Azotians arose early the next day, behold Dagon lay upon his face on the ground before the ark of the Lord: and they took Dagon, and set him again in his 4 place. And the next day again, when they rose in the morning, they found Dagon lying upon his face on the earth before the ark of the Lord: and the head of Dagon, and both the palms 5 of his hands, were cut off upon the threshold: And only the stump of Dagon remained in its place. For this cause neither the priests of Dagon, nor any that go into the temple, tread 6 on the threshold of Dagon in Azotus unto this day. And the hand of the Lord was heavy upon the Azotians, and he destroyed them, and afflicted Azotus and the coasts thereof with emerods.

And in the villages and fields in the midst of that country, there came forth a multitude of mice, and there was the confusion of a 7 great mortality in the city. And the men of Azotus seeing this kind of plague, said: The ark of the God of Israel shall not stay with us: for his hand is heavy upon us, and upon Dagon, our 8 god. And sending, they gathered together all the lords of the Philistines to them, and said: What shall we do with the ark of the God of Israel? And the Gethites answered: Let the ark of the God of Israel be carried about. And they carried the ark of 9 the God of Israel about. And while they were carrying it about, the hand of the Lord came upon every city with an exceeding great slaughter: and he smote the men of every city, both small and great, and they had emerods in their secret parts. And the Gethites consulted together, and made themselves seats of skins.
10 Therefore they sent the ark of God into Accaron. And when the ark of God was come into Accaron, the Accaronites cried out, saying: They have brought the ark of the God of Israel to us, 11 to kill us and our people. They sent therefore, and gathered together all the lords of the Philistines: and they said: Send away the ark of the God of Israel, and let it return into its own 12 place, and not kill us and our people. For there was the fear of death in every city, and the hand of God was exceeding heavy.
The men also that did not die, were afflicted with the emerods:
and the cry of every city went up to heaven.

6 Now the ark of God was in the land of the Philistines seven months. And the Philistines called for the priests and the diviners, saying: What shall we do with the ark of the Lord? tell us how we are to send it back to its place. And they said: If you send back the ark of the God of Israel, send it not away empty, but render unto him what you owe for sin, and then you shall be healed: and you shall know why his hand departeth not from you. They answered: What is it we ought to render unto him for sin? and they answered: According to the number of the provinces of the Philistines you shall make five golden emerods, and five golden mice: for the same plague hath been upon you all, and upon your lords. And you shall make the likeness of your emerods, and the likeness of the mice, that have destroyed the land, and you shall give glory to the God of Israel: to see if he will take off his hand from you, and from your gods, and from your land. Why do you harden your hearts, as Egypt and Pharaoh hardened their hearts? did not he, after he was struck, then let them go, and they departed? Now, therefore, take and make a new cart: and two kine that have calved, on which there hath come no yoke, tie to the cart, and shut up their calves at home. And you shall take the ark of the Lord, and lay it on the cart, and the vessels of gold, which you have paid him for sin, you shall put into a little box at the side thereof: and send it away, that it may go. And you shall look: and if it go up by the way of his own coasts, towards Bethsames, then he hath done us this great evil: but if not, we shall know that it is not his hand hath touched us, but it hath happened by chance. They did therefore in this manner: and taking two kine, that had sucking calves, they yoked them to the cart, and shut up their calves at home. And they laid the ark of God upon the cart, and the little box that had in it the golden mice, and the likeness of the emerods. And the kine took the straight way, that leadeth to Bethsames, and they went along the way, lowing as they went: and turned not aside neither to the right hand nor to the left: and the lords of the Philistines followed them as far as the borders of Bethsames. Now the Bethsamites were reaping wheat in the valley: and lifting up their eyes, they saw the ark, and rejoiced to see it. And the cart came into the field of Josue, a Bethsamite, and stood there. And there was a great stone, and they cut in pieces the wood of the cart, and laid the kine upon it

15 a holocaust to the Lord. And the Levites took down the ark of God, and the little box that was at the side of it, wherein were the vessels of gold, and they put them upon the great stone. The men also of Bethsames offered holocausts, and sacrificed victims 16 that day to the Lord. And the five princes of the Philistines 17 saw, and they returned to Accaron the same day. And these are the golden emerods, which the Philistines returned for sin to the Lord: For Azotus one, for Gaza one, for Ascalon one, for 18 Geth one, for Accaron one: And the golden mice, according to the number of the cities of the Philistines, of the five provinces, from the fenced city to the village that was without wall, and to the great Abel (the stone) whereon they set down the ark of the Lord, which was till that day in the field of Josue the Beth-19 samite. But he slew of the men of Bethsames, because they had seen the ark of the Lord, and he slew of the people seventy men, and fifty thousand of the common people. And the people lamented, because the Lord had smitten the people with a great 20 slaughter. And the men of Bethsames said: Who shall be able to stand before the Lord this holy God? and to whom shall he 21 go up from us? And they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Cariathiarim, saying: The Philistines have brought back the ark of the Lord, come ye down and fetch it up to you.

7 And the men of Cariathiarim came, and fetched up the ark of the Lord, and carried it into the house of Abinadab, in Gabaa:
and they sanctified Eleazar, his son, to keep the ark of the Lord.
2 And it came to pass, that from the day the ark of the Lord abode in Cariathiarim, days were multiplied (for it was now the twentieth year) and all the house of Israel rested, following the 3 Lord. And Samuel spoke to all the house of Israel, saying: If you turn to the Lord with all your heart, put away the strange gods from among you, Baalim and Astaroth: and prepare your hearts unto the Lord, and serve him only, and he will deliver you 4 out of the hand of the Philistines. Then the children of Israel 5 put away Baalim and Astaroth, and served the Lord only. And Samuel said: Gather all Israel to Masphath, that I may pray to 6 the Lord for you. And they gathered together to Masphath, and they drew water, and poured it out before the Lord, and they fasted on that day, and they said there: We have sinned against the Lord. And Samuel judged the children of Israel in Masphath. And the Philistines heard that the children of Israel were gathered together to Masphath, and the lords of the Philistines went up against Israel. And when the children of Israel heard this, they were afraid of the Philistines. And they said to Samuel: Cease not to cry to the Lord our God for us, that he may save us out of the hand of the Philistines. And Samuel took a sucking lamb, and offered it whole for a holocaust to the Lord: and Samuel cried to the Lord for Israel, and the Lord heard him. And it came to pass, when Samuel was offering the holocaust, the Philistines began the battle against Israel: but the Lord thundered with a great thunder on that day upon the Philistines, and terrified them, and they were overthrown before the face of Israel. And the men of Israel going out of Masphath, pursued after the Philistines, and made slaughter of them till they came under Bethchar. And Samuel took a stone, and laid it between Masphath and Sen: and he called the place The stone of help. And he said: Thus far the Lord hath helped us. And the Philistines were humbled, and they did not come any more into the borders of Israel. And the hand of the Lord was against the Philistines, all the days of Samuel. And the cities which the Philistines had taken from Israel, were restored to Israel, from Accaron to Geth, and their borders: and he delivered Israel from the hand of the Philistines, and there was peace between Israel and the Amorrhites. And Samuel judged Israel all the days of his life: And he went every year about to Bethel and to Galgal and to Masphath, and he judged Israel in the foresaid places. And he returned to Ramatha: for there was his house, and there he judged Israel: he built also there an altar to the Lord.

And it came to pass, when Samuel was old, that he appointed his sons to be judges over Israel. Now the name of his firstborn son was Joel: and the name of the second was Abia, judges in Bersabee. And his sons walked not in his ways: but they turned aside after lucre, and took bribes, and perverted judgment. Then all the ancients of Israel being assembled came to Samuel to Ramatha. And they said to him: Behold thou art old, and thy sons walk not in thy ways: make us a king, to judge us, as all nations have. And the word was displeasing in the eyes of Samuel, that they should say: Give us a king to judge us.

7 And Samuel prayed to the Lord. And the Lord said to Samuel: Harken to the voice of the people in all that they say to thee. For they have not rejected thee, but me, that I should not reign 8 over them. According to all their works, they have done from the day that I brought them out of Egypt until this day: as they have forsaken me, and served strange gods, so do they also unto 9 thee. Now, therefore, hearken to their voice: but yet testify to them, and foretell them the right of the king, that shall reign 10 over them. Then Samuel told all the words of the Lord to the 11 people that had desired a king of him, And said: This will be the right of the king that shall reign over you: He will take your sons, and put them in his chariots, and will make them his horse-12 men, and his running footmen, to run before his chariots, And he will appoint of them to be his tribunes, and his centurions, and to plough his fields, and to reap his corn, and to make him 13 arms and chariots. Your daughters also he will take to make 14 him ointments, and to be his cooks, and bakers. And he will take your fields, and your vineyards, and your best oliveyards, 15 and give them to his servants. Moreover he will take the tenth of your corn, and of the revenues of your vineyards, to give to his eunuchs and servants. Your servants also, and handmaids, and 16 your goodliest young men, and your asses, he will take away, and 17 put them to his work. Your flocks also he will tithe, and you 18 shall be his servants. And you shall cry out in that day from the face of the king, whom you have chosen to yourselves: and the Lord will not hear you in that day, because you desired unto 19 yourselves a king. But the people would not hear the voice of Samuel, and they said, Nay: but there shall be a king over us, 20 And we also will be like all nations: and our king shall judge us, and go out before us, and fight our battles for us. And Samuel heard all the words of the people, and rehearsed them in the ears 21 of the Lord. And the Lord said to Samuel: Harken to their voice, and make them a king. And Samuel said to the men of Israel: Let every man go to his city.

9 Now there was a man of Benjamin, whose name was Cis, the son of Abiel, the son of Seror, the son of Bechorath, the son of 2 Aphia, the son of a man of Jemini, valiant and strong. And he had a son whose name was Saul, a choice and goodly man, and there was not among the children of Israel a goodlier person than he: from his shoulders and upward he appeared above all the people. And the asses of Cis, Saul's father, were lost: and 3 Cis said to his son Saul: Take one of the servants with thee, and arise, go, and seek the asses. And when they had passed through Mount Ephraim, And through the land of Salisa, and 4 had not found them, they passed also through the land of Salim, and they were not there: and through the land of Jemini, and found them not. And when they were come to the land of Suph, 5 Saul said to the servant that was with him: Come, let us return, lest perhaps my father forget the asses, and be concerned for us.

And he said to him: Behold there is a man of God in this city, 6 a famous man: all that he saith, cometh certainly to pass. Now, therefore, let us go thither, perhaps he may tell us of our way, for which we are come. And Saul said to his servant: Behold we 7 will go: but what shall we carry to the man of God? the bread is spent in our bags: and we have no present to make to the man of God, nor any thing at all. The servant answered Saul 8 again, and said: Behold there is found in my hand the fourth part of a sicle of silver, let us give it to the man of God, that he may tell us our way. Now in time past in Israel, when a 9 man went to consult God, he spoke thus: Come, let us go to the seer. For he that is now called a prophet, in time past was called a seer. And Saul said to his servant: Thy word is very 10 good, come let us go. And they went into the city, where the man of God was. And when they went up the ascent to the 11 city, they found maids coming out to draw water, and they said to them: Is the seer here? They answered and said to them: 12 He is: behold he is before you, make haste now: for he came to day into the city, for there is a sacrifice of the people to day in the high place. As soon as you come into the city, you shall 13 immediately find him, before he go up to the high place to eat: for the people will not eat till he come; because he blesseth the victim, and afterwards they eat that are invited. Now, therefore, go up, for to day you shall find him. And they went up into 14 the city. And when they were walking in the midst of the city, behold Samuel was coming out over against them, to go up to the high place. Now the Lord had revealed to the ear of Samuel 15 the day before Saul came, saying: To morrow about this same 16 hour I will send thee a man of the land of Benjamin, and thou shalt anoint him to be ruler over my people Israel: and he shall save my people out of the hand of the Philistines: for I have looked down upon my people, because their cry is come to me.

17 And when Samuel saw Saul, the Lord said to him: Behold the man, of whom I spoke to thee, this man shall reign over my 18 people. And Saul came to Samuel in the midst of the gate, and said: Tell me, I pray thee, where is the house of the seer?
19 And Samuel answered Saul, saying: I am the seer; go up before me to the high place, that you may eat with me to day, and I will let thee go in the morning: and tell thee all that is in thy 20 heart. And as for the asses, which were lost three days ago, be not solicitous, because they are found. And for whom shall be all the best things of Israel? Shall they not be for thee and 21 for all thy father's house? And Saul answering, said: Am not I a son of Jemini of the least tribe of Israel, and my kindred the last among all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? Why then 22 hast thou spoken this word to me? Then Samuel taking Saul, and his servant, brought them into the parlour, and gave them a place at the head of them that were invited. For there were 23 about thirty men. And Samuel said to the cook: Bring the portion which I gave thee, and commanded thee to set it apart 24 by thee. And the cook took up the shoulder, and set it before Saul. And Samuel said: Behold what is left, set it before thee, and eat; because it was kept of purpose for thee, when I invited 25 the people. And Saul ate with Samuel that day. And they went down from the high place into the town, and he spoke with Saul upon the top of the house: and he prepared a bed for Saul on 26 the top of the house and he slept. And when they were risen in the morning, and it began now to be light, Samuel called Saul on the top of the house, saying: Arise, that I may let thee go. And Saul arose: and they went out both of them: to wit, he and 27 Samuel. And as they were going down in the end of the city, Samuel said to Saul: Speak to the servant to go before us, and pass on: but stand thou still a while, that I may tell thee the word of the Lord.

10 And Samuel took a little vial of oil, and poured it upon his head, and kissed him, and said: Behold, the Lord hath anointed thee to be prince over his inheritance, and thou shalt deliver his people out of the hands of their enemies, that are round about them. And this shall be a sign unto thee, that God hath anointed thee to be prince. When thou shalt depart from me this day, 2 thou shalt find two men by the sepulchre of Rachel in the borders of Benjamin to the south, and they shall say to thee: The asses are found which thou wentest to seek: and thy father, thinking no more of the asses, is concerned for you, and saith: What shall I do for my son? And when thou shalt depart from thence, and go 3 farther on, and shalt come to the oak of Thabor, there shall meet thee three men going up to God to Bethel, one carrying three kids, and another three loaves of bread, and another carrying a bottle of wine. And they will salute thee, and will give thee 4 two loaves, and thou shalt take them at their hand. After that thou shalt come to the hill of God, where the garrison of the Philistines is: and when thou shalt be come there into the city, thou shalt meet a company of prophets coming down from the high place, with a psaltery, and a timbrel, and a pipe, and a harp before them, and they shall be prophesying. And the Spirit of 6 the Lord shall come upon thee, and thou shalt prophesy with them, and shalt be changed into another man. When therefore 7 these signs shall happen to thee, do whatsoever thy hand shall find, for the Lord is with thee. And thou shalt go down before 8 me to Galgal, (for I will come down to thee), that thou mayst offer an oblation, and sacrifice victims of peace: seven days shalt thou wait, till I come to thee, and I will shew thee what thou art to do. So when he had turned his back to go from Samuel, 9 God gave unto him another heart, and all these things came to pass that day. And they came to the foresaid hill, and behold a 10 company of prophets met him: and the Spirit of the Lord came upon him, and he prophesied in the midst of them. And all 11 that had known him yesterday and the day before, seeing that he was with the prophets, and prophesied, said to each other: What is this that hath happened to the son of Cis? is Saul also among the prophets? And one answered another, saying: 12 And who is their father? therefore it became a proverb: Is Saul also among the prophets? And when he had made an end of 13 prophesying, he came to the high place. And Saul's uncle said 14 to him, and to his servant: Whither went you? They answered: To seek the asses: and not finding them, we went to Samuel. And his uncle said to him: Tell me what Samuel said to thee. 15 16 And Saul said to his uncle: He told us that the asses were found.

But of the matter of the kingdom of which Samuel had spoken 17 to him, he told him not. And Samuel called together the people 18 to the Lord in Maspha: And he said to the children of Israel: Thus saith the Lord the God of Israel: I brought up Israel out of Egypt, and delivered you from the hand of the Egyptians, and 19 from the hand of all the kings who afflicted you. But you this day have rejected your God, who only hath saved you out of all your evils and your tribulations: and you have said: Nay: but set a king over us. Now therefore stand before the Lord by your 20 tribes, and by your families. And Samuel brought to him all the 21 tribes of Israel, and the lot fell on the tribe of Benjamin. And he brought the tribe of Benjamin and the kindreds thereof, and the lot fell upon the kindred of Metri, and it came to Saul, the son of Cis. They sought him therefore, and he was not found.
22 And after this they consulted the Lord whether he would come thither. And the Lord answered: Behold he is hidden at home.
23 And they ran and fetched him thence: and he stood in the midst of the people, and he was higher than any of the people from 24 the shoulders and upward. And Samuel said to all the people: Surely you see him whom the Lord hath chosen, that there is none like him among all the people. And all the people cried 25 and said: God save the king. And Samuel told the people the law of the kingdom, and wrote it in a book, and laid it up before the Lord: and Samuel sent away all the people, every one to his 26 own house. Saul also departed to his own house in Gabaa: and there went with him a part of the army, whose hearts God had 27 touched. But the children of Belial said: Shall this fellow be able to save us? And they despised him, and brought him no presents; but he dissembled as though he heard not.

11 And it came to pass about a month after this, that Naas, the Ammonite, came up, and began to fight against Jabes Galaad.
And all the men of Jabes said to Naas: Make a covenant with 2 us, and we will serve thee. And Naas, the Ammonite, answered them: On this condition will I make a covenant with you, that I may pluck out all your right eyes, and make you a reproach 3 in all Israel. And the ancients of Jabes said to him: Allow us seven days, that we may send messengers to all the coasts of Israel: and if there be no one to defend us, we will come out to thee. The messengers therefore came to Gabaa of Saul: and they spoke these words in the hearing of the people: and all the people lifted up their voices, and wept. And behold Saul came, following oxen out of the field, and he said: What aileth the people that they weep? And they told him the words of the men of Jabes. And the Spirit of the Lord came upon Saul, when he had heard these words, and his anger was exceedingly kindled. And taking both the oxen, he cut them in pieces, and sent them into all the coasts of Israel, by messengers, saying: Whosoever shall not come forth, and follow Saul and Samuel, so shall it be done to his oxen. And the fear of the Lord fell upon the people, and they went out as one man. And he numbered them in Bezec: and there were of the children of Israel three hundred thousand: and of the men of Juda thirty thousand. And they said to the messengers that came: Thus shall you say to the men of Jabes Galaad: To morrow, when the sun shall be hot, you shall have relief. The messengers therefore came, and told the men of Jabes, and they were glad. And they said: In the morning we will come out to you: and you shall do what you please with us. And it came to pass, when the morrow was come, that Saul put the people in three companies: and he came into the midst of the camp in the morning watch, and he slew the Ammonites until the day grew hot, and the rest were scattered, so that two of them were not left together. And the people said to Samuel: Who is he that said: Shall Saul reign over us? Bring the men, and we will kill them. And Saul said: No man shall be killed this day: because the Lord this day hath wrought salvation in Israel: And Samuel said to the people: Come, and let us go to Galgal, and let us renew the kingdom there. And all the people went to Galgal, and there they made Saul king, before the Lord in Galgal, and they sacrificed there victims of peace before the Lord. And there Saul and all the men of Israel rejoiced exceedingly.

And Samuel said to all Israel: Behold I have hearkened to your voice in all that you said to me, and have made a king over you. And now the king goeth before you: but I am old and greyheaded: and my sons are with you: having then conversed with you from my youth until this day, behold here I am. Speak of me before the Lord, and before his anointed, whether I have taken any man's ox, or ass: if I have wronged any man, if I have oppressed any man, if I have taken a bribe at any man's hand: and I will despise it this day, and will restore it to you.

4 And they said: Thou hast not wronged us, nor oppressed us, 5 nor taken ought at any man's hand. And he said to them: The Lord is witness against you, and his anointed is witness this day, that you have not found any thing in my hand. And they 6 said: He is witness. And Samuel said to the people: It is the Lord who made Moses and Aaron, and brought our fathers out 7 of the land of Egypt. Now, therefore, stand up, that I may plead in judgment against you before the Lord, concerning all the kindness of the Lord, which he hath shewn to you, and to 8 your fathers: How Jacob went into Egypt, and your fathers cried to the Lord: and the Lord sent Moses and Aaron, and brought your fathers out of Egypt, and made them dwell in this place.
9 And they forgot the Lord their God, and he delivered them into the hands of Sisara, captain of the army of Hasor, and into the hands of the Philistines, and into the hand of the king of Moab, 10 and they fought against them. But afterwards they cried to the Lord, and said: We have sinned, because we have forsaken the Lord, and have served Baalim and Astaroth: but now deliver us 11 from the hand of our enemies, and we will serve thee. And the Lord sent Jerobaal, and Badan, and Jephte, and Samuel, and delivered you from the hand of your enemies round about, and 12 you dwelt securely. But seeing that Naas, king of the children of Ammon, was come against you, you said to me: Nay, but a king shall reign over us: whereas the Lord your God was your 13 king. Now, therefore, your king is here, whom you have chosen and desired: Behold the Lord hath given you a king. If you will 14 fear the Lord, and serve him, and hearken to his voice, and not provoke the mouth of the Lord: then shall both you, and the king who reigneth over you, be followers of the Lord your God.
15 But if you will not hearken to the voice of the Lord, but will rebel against his words, the hand of the Lord shall be upon you, and upon your fathers. Now then stand, and see this great thing 16 upon your fathers. Now then stand, and see this great thing 17 which the Lord will do in your sight. Is it not wheat harvest to day? I will call upon the Lord, and he shall send thunder and rain: and you shall know, and see that you yourselves have done a great evil in the sight of the Lord, in desiring a king over you.

And Samuel cried unto the Lord, and the Lord sent thunder and 18 rain that day. And all the people greatly feared the Lord and 19 Samuel. And all the people said to Samuel: Pray for thy servants to the Lord thy God, that we may not die, for we have added to all our sins this evil, to ask for a king. And Samuel said to 20 the people: Fear not, you have done all this evil: but yet depart not from following the Lord, but serve the Lord with all your heart. And turn not aside after vain things, which shall never 21 profit you, nor deliver you, because they are vain. And the Lord 22 will not forsake his people for his great name's sake: because the Lord hath sworn to make you his people. And far from me be 23 this sin against the Lord, that I should cease to pray for you: and I will teach you the good and right way. Therefore fear the 24 Lord, and serve him in truth, and with your whole heart, for you have seen the great works which he hath done among you. But 25 if you will still do wickedly: both you and your king shall perish together.

Saul was a child of one year when he began to reign, and 13 he reigned two years over Israel. And Saul chose him three 2 thousand men of Israel: and two thousand were with Saul in Machmas, and in mount Bethel: and a thousand with Jonathan in Gabaa of Benjamin: and the rest of the people he sent back every man to their dwellings. And Jonathan smote the gar- 3 rison of the Philistines which was in Gabaa. And when the Philistines had heard of it, Saul sounded the trumpet over all the land, saying: Let the Hebrews hear. And all Israel heard 4 this report: Saul hath smitten the garrison of the Philistines: and Israel took courage against the Philistines. And the people were called together after Saul to Galgal. The Philistines also 5 were assembled to fight against Israel, thirty thousand chariots, and six thousand horsemen, and a multitude of people besides, like the sand on the seashore for number. And going up they camped in Machmas, at the east of Bethaven. And when the 6 men of Israel saw that they were straitened (for the people were distressed), they hid themselves in caves, and in thickets, and in rocks, and in dens, and in pits. And some of the Hebrews 7 passed over the Jordan into the land of Gad and Galaad. And when Saul was yet in Galgal, all the people that followed him were greatly afraid. And he waited seven days, according to 8 the appointment of Samuel, and Samuel came not to Galgal, 9 and the people slipt away from him. Then Saul said: Bring me the holocaust, and the peace offerings. And he offered the 10 holocaust. And when he had made an end of offering the holocaust, behold Samuel came: and Saul went forth to meet him 11 and salute him. And Samuel said to him: What hast thou done? Saul answered: Because I saw that the people slipt from me, and thou wast not come according to the days appointed, 12 and the Philistines were gathered together in Machmas, I said: Now will the Philistines come down upon me to Galgal, and I have not appeased the face of the Lord. Forced by necessity, 13 I offered the holocaust. And Samuel said to Saul: Thou hast done foolishly, and hast not kept the commandments of the Lord thy God, which he commanded thee. And if thou hadst not done thus, the Lord would now have established thy kingdom over Is-14 rael for ever: But thy kingdom shall not continue. The Lord hath sought him a man according to his own heart: and him hath the Lord commanded to be prince over his people, because 15 thou hast not observed that which the Lord commanded. And Samuel arose and went up from Galgal to Gabaa of Benjamin.

And the rest of the people went up after Saul, to meet the people who fought against them, going from Galgal to Gabaa, in the hill of Benjamin. And Saul numbered the people, that were found 16 with him, about six hundred men. And Saul, and Jonathan his son, and the people that were present with them, were in Gabaa 17 of Benjamin: But the Philistines encamped in Machmas. And there went out of the camp of the Philistines three companies to plunder. One company went towards the way of Ephra 18 the land of Sual; And another went by the way of Bethoron, and the third turned to the way of the border, above the valley 19 of Seboim towards the desert. Now there was no smith to be found in all the land of Israel, for the Philistines had taken this precaution, lest the Hebrews should make them swords or spears.
20 So all Israel went down to the Philistines, to sharpen every man 21 his ploughshare, and his spade, and his axe, and his rake. So that their shares, and their spades, and their forks, and their axes, were blunt, even to the goad, which was to be mended.
22 And when the day of battle was come, there was neither sword nor spear found in the hand of any of the people that were with Saul and Jonathan, except Saul and Jonathan his son. And the 23 army of the Philistines went out in order to advance further in Machmas.

Now it came to pass one day that Jonathan, the son of Saul, 14 said to the young man that bore his armour: Come, and let us go over to the garrison of the Philistines, which is on the other side of yonder place. But he told not this to his father. And Saul 2 abode in the uttermost part of Gabaa, under the pomegranate tree, which was in Magron: and the people with him were about six hundred men. And Achias, the son of Achitob, brother 3 of Ichabod the son of Phinees, the son of Heli, the priest of the Lord in Silo, wore the ephod. And the people knew not whither Jonathan was gone. Now there were between the as- 4 cents, by which Jonathan sought to go over to the garrison of the Philistines, rocks standing up on both sides, and steep cliffs like teeth on the one side, and on the other, the name of the one was Boses, and the name of the other was Sene: One rock stood out 5 toward the north, over against Machmas, and the other to the south, over against Gabaa. And Jonathan said to the young 6 man that bore his armour: Come, let us go over to the garrison of these uncircumcised, it may be the Lord will do for us: because it is easy for the Lord to save either by many, or by few. And his armourbearer said to him: Do all that pleaseth 7 thy mind: go whither thou wilt, and I will be with thee whereso-ever thou hast a mind. And Jonathan said: Behold we will go 8 over to these men. And when we shall be seen by them, If they 9 shall speak thus to us: Stay till we come to you: let us stand still in our place, and not go up to them. But if they shall say: 10 Come up to us: let us go up, because the Lord hath delivered them into our hands, this shall be a sign unto us. So both of 11 them discovered themselves to the garrison of the Philistines: and the Philistines said: Behold the Hebrews come forth out of the holes wherein they were hid. And the men of the garrison 12 spoke to Jonathan, and to his armourbearer, and said: Come up to us, and we will shew you a thing. And Jonathan said to his armourbearer: Let us go up, follow me: for the Lord hath delivered them into the hands of Israel. And Jonathan went up 13 creeping on his hands and feet, and his armourbearer after him.
And some fell before Jonathan, others his armourbearer slew as 14 he followed him. And the first slaughter which Jonathan and his armourbearer made, was of about twenty men, within half an acre of land, which a yoke of oxen is wont to plough in a 15 day. And there was a miracle in the camp, in the fields: and all the people of their garrison, who had gone out to plunder, were amazed, and the earth trembled: and it happened as a miracle 16 from God. And the watchmen of Saul, who were in Gabaa of Benjamin looked, and behold a multitude overthrown, and fleeing this way and that. And Saul said to the people that were 17 with him: Look, and see who is gone from us. And when they had sought, it was found that Jonathan and his armourbearer 18 were not there. And Saul said to Achias: Bring the ark of the Lord. (For the ark of God was there that day with the children 19 of Israel.) And while Saul spoke to the priest, there arose a great uproar in the camp of the Philistines: and it increased by degrees, and was heard more clearly. And Saul said to the priest: 20 Draw in thy hand. Then Saul, and all the people that were with him, shouted together, and they came to the place of the fight: and behold every man's sword was turned upon his neighbour, 21 and there was a very great slaughter. Moreover, the Hebrews that had been with the Philistines yesterday and the day before, and went up with them into the camp, returned to be with 22 the Israelites, who were with Saul and Jonathan. And all the Israelites that had hid themselves in mount Ephraim, hearing that the Philistines fled, joined themselves with their countrymen in the fight. And there were with Saul about ten thousand 23 men. And the Lord saved Israel that day. And the fight went 24 on as far as Bethaven. And the men of Israel were joined together that day: and Saul adjured the people, saying: Cursed be the man that shall eat food till evening, till I be revenged 25 of my enemies. So none of the people tasted any food. And all the common people came into a forest, in which there was 26 honey upon the ground. And when the people came into the forest, behold the honey dropped, but no man put his hand to his mouth. For the people feared the oath. But Jonathan had 27 not heard when his father adjured the people: and he put forth the end of the rod, which he had in his hand, and dipt it in a honeycomb: and he carried his hand to his mouth, and his eyes 28 were enlightened. And one of the people answering, said: Thy father hath bound the people with an oath, saying: Cursed be the man that shall eat any food this day. (And the people were faint.) And Jonathan said: My father hath troubled the land: 29 you have seen yourselves that my eyes are enlightened, because I tasted a little of this honey: How much more if the people had 30 eaten of the prey of their enemies, which they found? had there not been made a greater slaughter among the Philistines? So 31 they smote that day the Philistines, from Machmas to Aialon. And the people were wearied exceedingly. And falling upon the 32 spoils, they took sheep, and oxen, and calves, and slew them on the ground: and the people ate them with the blood. And they 33 told Saul that the people had sinned against the Lord, eating with the blood. And he said: You have transgressed: roll here to me now a great stone. And Saul said: Disperse yourselves 34 among the people, and tell them to bring me every man his ox and his ram and slay them upon this stone, and eat, and you shall not sin against the Lord, in eating with the blood. So all the people brought every man his ox with him till the night: and slew them there. And Saul built an altar to the Lord: and he 35 then first began to build an altar to the Lord. And Saul said: 36 Let us fall upon the Philistines by night, and destroy them till the morning light, and let us not leave a man of them. And the people said: Do all that seemeth good in thy eyes. And the priest said: Let us draw near hither unto God. And Saul consulted 37 the Lord: Shall I pursue after the Philistines? wilt thou deliver them into the hands of Israel? And he answered him not that day. And Saul said: Bring hither all the corners of the people: 38 and know, and see by whom this sin hath happened to day. As 39 the Lord liveth, who is the Saviour of Israel, if it was done by Jonathan, my son, he shall surely die. In this none of the people gainsayed him. And he said to all Israel: Be you on one side 40 and I, with Jonathan, my son, will be on the other side. And the people answered Saul: Do what seemeth good in thy eyes. And Saul said to the Lord: O Lord God of Israel, give a sign, by 41 which we may know, what the meaning is, that thou answerest not thy servant to day: If this iniquity be in me, or in my son Jonathan, give a proof: or if this iniquity be in thy people, give holiness. And Jonathan and Saul were taken, and the people escaped. And Saul said: (Cast lots between me, and Jonathan, 42

43 my son. And Jonathan was taken. And Saul said to Jonathan: Tell me what thou hast done. And Jonathan told him, and said:
I did but taste a little honey with the end of the rod, which was 44 in my hand, and behold I must die. And Saul said: May God do so and so to me, and add still more: for dying thou shalt 45 die, O Jonathan. And the people said to Saul: Shall Jonathan then die, who hath wrought this great salvation in Israel? this must not be: As the Lord liveth, there shall not one hair of his head fall to the ground, for he hath wrought with God this day.
46 So the people delivered Jonathan, that he should not die. And Saul went back, and did not pursue after the Philistines: and 47 the Philistines went to their own places. And Saul having his kingdom established over Israel, fought against all his enemies round about, against Moab, and against the children of Ammon, and Edom, and the kings of Soba, and the Philistines: and 48 whithersoever he turned himself, he overcame. And gathering together an army, he defeated Amalec, and delivered Israel from 49 the hand of them that spoiled them. And the sons of Saul, were Jonathan, and Jessui, and Melchisua: and the names of his two daughters, the name of the firstborn was Merob, and the name 50 of the younger Michol. And the name of Saul's wife was Achinoam, the daughter of Achimaas; and the name of the captain of his army was Abner, the son of Ner, the cousin german of Saul.
51 For Cis was the father of Saul, and Ner, the father of Abner, was 52 son of Abiel. And there was a great war against the Philistines all the days of Saul. For whomsoever Saul saw to be a valiant man, and fit for war, he took him to himself.

15 And Samuel said to Saul: The Lord sent me to anoint thee king over his people Israel: now therefore hearken thou unto the 2 voice of the Lord: Thus saith the Lord of hosts: I have reckoned up all that Amalec hath done to Israel: how he opposed 3 them in the way when they came up out of Egypt. Now therefore go, and smite Amalec, and utterly destroy all that he hath: spare him not, nor covet anything that is his: but slay both man and woman, child and suckling, ox and sheep, camel and ass.
4 So Saul commanded the people, and numbered them as lambs: two hundred thousand footmen, and ten thousand of the men 5 of Juda. And when Saul was come to the city of Amalec, he 6 laid ambushes in the torrent. And Saul said to the Cinite: Go, depart, and get ye down from Amalec: lest I destroy thee with him. For thou hast shewn kindness to all the children of Israel, when they came up out of Egypt. And the Cinite departed from the midst of Amalec. And Saul smote Amalec from Hevila, 7 until thou comest to Sur, which is over against Egypt. And 8 he took Agag, the king of Amalec, alive: but all the common people he slew with the edge of the sword. And Saul and the 9 people spared Agag, and the best of the flocks of sheep, and of the herds, and the garments and the rams, and all that was beautiful, and would not destroy them: but every thing that was vile, and good for nothing, that they destroyed. And the word 10 of the Lord came to Samuel, It repenteth me that I have made 11 Saul king: for he hath forsaken me, and hath not executed my commandments. And Samuel was grieved, and he cried unto the Lord all night. And when Samuel rose early, to go to Saul in 12 the morning, it was told Samuel that Saul was come to Carmel, and had erected for himself a triumphant arch, and returning had passed on, and gone down to Galgal. And Samuel came to Saul, and Saul was offering a holocaust to the Lord, out of the choicest of the spoils, which he had brought from Amalec. And 13 when Samuel was come to Saul, Saul said to him: Blessed be thou of the Lord, I have fulfilled the word of the Lord. And 14 Samuel said: What meaneth then this bleating of the flocks, which soundeth in my ears, and the lowing of the herds, which I hear? And Saul said: They have brought them from Amalec: 15 for the people spared the best of the sheep and of the herds, that they might be sacrificed to the Lord thy God, but the rest we have slain. And Samuel said to Saul: Suffer me, and I will tell 16 thee what the Lord hath said to me this night. And he said to him: Speak. And Samuel said: When thou wast a little one 17 in thy own eyes, wast thou not made the head of the tribes of Israel? And the Lord anointed thee to be king over Israel. And 18 the Lord sent thee on the way, and said: Go, and kill the sinners of Amalec, and thou shalt fight against them until thou hast utterly destroyed them. Why then didst thou not hearken to the 19 voice of the Lord: but hast turned to the prey, and hast done evil in the eyes of the Lord? And Saul said to Samuel: Yea, 20 I have hearkened to the voice of the Lord, and have walked in the way by which the Lord sent me, and have brought Agag, the

- 21 king of Amalec, and Amalec I have slain. But the people took of the spoils, sheep and oxen, as the firstfruits of those things that were slain, to offer sacrifice to the Lord their God in Galgal.
- 22 And Samuel said: Doth the Lord desire holocausts and victims, and not rather that the voice of the Lord should be obeyed? For obedience is better than sacrifices: and to hearken rather than to offer the fat or rams. Because it is like the sin of witchcraft, to rebel: and like the crime of idolatry, to refuse to obey. Forasmuch, therefore, as thou hast rejected the word of the Lord, the
- 24 Lord hath also rejected thee from being king. And Saul said to Samuel: I have sinned, because I have transgressed the commandment of the Lord, and thy words, fearing the people, and
- 25 obeying their voice. But now bear, I beseech thee, my sin, and return with me, that I may adore the Lord. And Samuel said to Saul: I will not return with thee, because thou hath rejected the word of the Lord, and the Lord hath rejected thee from being
- 27 king over Israel. And Samuel turned about to go away: but he laid hold upon the skirt of his mantle, and it rent. And Samuel said to him: The Lord hath rent the kingdom of Israel from thee this day, and hath given it to thy neighbour who is
- 29 better than thee. But the triumpher in Israel will not spare, and will not be moved to repentance: for he is not a man that he should repent. Then he said: I have sinned: yet honour me now before the ancients of my people, and before Israel, and return with me, that I may adore the Lord thy God. So Samuel
- 32 turned again after Saul: and Saul adored the Lord. And Samuel said: Bring hither to me Agag, the king of Amalec. And Agag was presented to him very fat, and trembling. And Agag said:
- 33 Doth bitter death separate in this manner? And Samuel said: As thy sword hath made women childless, so shall thy mother be childless among women. And Samuel hewed him in pieces
- 34 before the Lord in Galgal. And Samuel departed to Ramatha: but Saul went up to his house in Gabaa. And Samuel saw Saul no more till the day of his death: nevertheless, Samuel mourned for Saul, because the Lord repented that he had made him king over Israel.
- 16 And the Lord said to Samuel: How long wilt thou mourn for Saul, whom I have rejected from reigning over Israel? fill thy horn with oil, and come, that I may send thee to Isai, the

Bethlehemite: for I have provided me a king among his sons. And Samuel said: How shall I go? for Saul will hear of it, and he will kill me. And the Lord said: Thou shalt take with thee a calf of the herd, and thou shalt say: I am come to sacrifice to the Lord. And thou shalt call Isai to the sacrifice, and I will shew thee what thou art to do, and thou shalt anoint him whom I shall shew to thee. Then Samuel did as the Lord had said to him. And he came to Bethlehem, and the ancients of the city wondered, and meeting him, they said: Is thy coming hither peaceable? And he said: It is peaceable: I am come to offer sacrifice to the Lord, be ye sanctified, and come with me to the sacrifice. And he sanctified Isai and his sons, and called them to the sacrifice. And when they were come in, he saw Eliab, and said: Is the Lord's anointed before him? And the Lord said to Samuel: Look not on his countenance, nor on the height of his stature: because I have rejected him, nor do I judge according to the look of man: for man seeth those things that appear, but the Lord beholdeth the heart. And Isai called Abinadab, and brought him before Samuel. And he said: Neither hath the Lord chosen this, And Isai brought Samma, and he said of him: Neither hath the Lord chosen this. Isai therefore brought his seven sons before Samuel: and Samuel said to Isai: The Lord hath not chosen any one of these. And Samuel said to Isai: Are here all thy sons? He answered: There remaineth yet a young one, who keepeth the sheep. And Samuel said to Isai: Send, and fetch him: for we will not sit down till he come hither. He sent therefore and brought him. Now he was ruddy and beautiful to behold, and of a comely face. And the Lord said: Arise, and anoint him, for this is he. Then Samuel took the horn of oil, and anointed him in the midst of his brethren: and the Spirit of the Lord came upon David from that day forward: and Samuel rose up, and went to Ramatha. But the Spirit of the Lord departed from Saul, and an evil spirit from the Lord troubled him. And the servants of Saul said to him: Behold now an evil spirit from God troubleth thee. Let our lord give orders, and thy servants who are before thee, will seek out a man skilful in playing on the harp, that when the evil spirit from the Lord is upon thee, he may play with his hand, and thou mayst bear it more easily. And Saul said to his servants: Provide me then 18 some man that can play well, and bring him to me. And one of the servants answering, said: Behold I have seen a son of Isai, the Bethlehemite, a skilful player, and one of great strength, and a man fit for war, and prudent in his words, and a comely person: 19 and the Lord is with him. Then Saul sent messengers to Isai, 20 saying: Send me David, thy son, who is in the pastures. And Isai took an ass laden with bread, and a bottle of wine, and a kid of the flock, and sent them by the hand of David, his son, to 21 Saul. And David came to Saul, and stood before him: and he 22 loved him exceedingly, and made him his armourbearer. And Saul sent to Isai, saying: Let David stand before me: for he hath 23 found favour in my sight. So whensoever the evil spirit from the Lord was upon Saul, David took his harp, and played with his hand, and Saul was refreshed, and was better, for the evil spirit departed from him.

17 Now the Philistines gathering together their troops to battle, assembled at Socho of Juda: and camped between Socho 2 and Azeca, in the borders of Dommim. And Saul and the children of Israel being gathered together, came to the valley of Terebinth, and they set the army in array to fight against the 3 Philistines. And the Philistines stood on a mountain on the one side, and Israel stood on a mountain on the other side: and there 4 was a valley between them. And there went out a man base-born from the camp of the Philistines, named Goliath, of Geth, 5 whose height was six cubits and a span: And he had a helmet of brass upon his head, and he was clothed with a coat of mail with scales, and the weight of his coat of mail was five thousand sicles 6 of brass: And he had greaves of brass on his legs, and a buckler 7 of brass covered his shoulders. And the staff of his spear was like a weaver's beam, and the head of his spear weighed six hun-8 dred sicles of iron: and his armourbearer went before him. And standing, he cried out to the bands of Israel, and said to them: Why are you come out prepared to fight? am not I a Philistine, and you the servants of Saul? Choose out a man of you, and let 9 him come down and fight hand to hand. If he be able to fight with me, and kill me, we will be servants to you: but if I prevail against him, and kill him, you shall be servants, and shall serve 10 us. And the Philistine said: I have defied the bands of Israel this day: give me a man, and let him fight with me hand to hand.

And Saul and all the Israelites hearing these words of the Philistine, were dismayed, and greatly afraid. Now David was the son of that Ephrathite, of Bethlehem Juda, before mentioned, whose name was Isai, who had eight sons, and was an old man in the days of Saul, and of great age among men. And his three eldest sons followed Saul to the battle: and the names of his three sons that went to the battle, were Eliab, the firstborn, and the second, Abinadab, and the third Samma: But David was the youngest. So the three eldest having followed Saul, David went, and returned from Saul, to feed his father's flock at Bethlehem. Now the Philistine came out morning and evening, and presented himself forty days. And Isai said to David, his son: Take for thy brethren an ephi of frumenty, and these ten loaves, and run to the camp to thy brethren, And carry these ten little cheeses to the tribune: and go see thy brethren, if they are well: and learn with whom they are placed. But Saul, and they, and all the children of Israel, were in the valley of Terebinth, fighting against the Philistines. David, therefore, arose in the morning, and gave the charge of the flock to the keeper: and went away loaded, as Isai had commanded him. And he came to the place of Magala, and to the army, which was going out to fight, and shouted for the battle. For Israel had put themselves in array, and the Philistines who stood against them were prepared. And David leaving the vessels which he had brought, under the care of the keeper of the baggage, ran to the place of the battle, and asked if all things went well with his brethren. And as he talked with them, that baseborn man, whose name was Goliath, the Philistine, of Geth, shewed himself coming up from the camp of the Philistines: and he spoke according to the same words, and David heard them, And all the Israelites, when they saw the man, fled from his face, fearing him exceedingly. And some one of Israel said: Have you seen this man that is come up, for he is come up to defy Israel. And the man that shall slay him, the king will enrich with great riches, and will give him his daughter, and will make his father's house free from tribute in Israel. And David spoke to the men that stood by him, saying: What shall be given to the man that shall kill this Philistine, and shall take away the reproach from Israel? for who is this uncircumcised Philistine, that he should defy the armies of the living 27 God? And the people answered him the same words, saying: 28 These things shall be given to the man that shall slay him. Now when Eliab his eldest brother heard this, when he was speaking with others, he was angry with David, and said: Why camest thou hither? and why didst thou leave those few sheep in the desert? I know thy pride, and the wickedness of thy heart: that 29 thou art come down to see the battle. And David said: What 30 have I done? is there not cause to speak? And he turned a little aside from him to another: and said the same word. And 31 the people answered him as before. And the words which David 32 spoke were heard, and were rehearsed before Saul. And when he was brought to Saul, he said to him. Let not any man's heart be dismayed in him: I thy servant will go, and will fight against 33 the Philistine. And Saul said to David: Thou art not able to withstand this Philistine, nor to fight against him: for thou art 34 but a boy, but he is a warrior from his youth. And David said to Saul: Thy servant kept his father's sheep, and there came a lion, or a bear, and took a ram out of the midst of the flock: 35 And I pursued after them, and struck them, and delivered it out of their mouth: and they rose up against me, and I caught them 36 by the throat, and I strangled, and killed them. For I thy servant have killed both a lion and a bear: and this uncircumcised Philistine shall be also as one of them. I will go now, and take away the reproach of the people: for who is this uncircumcised Philistine, who hath dared to curse the army of the living God?

37 And David said: The Lord who delivered me out of the paw of the lion, and out of the paw of the bear, he will deliver me out of the hand of this Philistine. And Saul said to David: Go, and the 38 Lord be with thee. And Saul clothed David with his garments, and put a helmet of brass upon his head, and armed him with 39 a coat of mail. And David having girded his sword upon his armour, began to try if he could walk in armour: for he was not accustomed to it. And David said to Saul: I cannot go thus, for 40 I am not used to it. And he laid them off, And he took his staff, which he had always in his hands: and chose him five smooth stones out of the brook, and put them into the shepherd's scrip, which he had with him, and he took a sling in his hand, and 41 went forth against the Philistine. And the Philistine came on, and drew nigh against David, and his armourbearer went before him. And when the Philistine looked, and beheld David, he 42 despised him. For he was a young man, ruddy, and of a comely countenance. And the Philistine said to David: Am I a dog, 43 that thou comest to me with a staff? And the Philistine cursed David by his gods. And he said to David: Come to me, and I 44 will give thy flesh to the birds of the air, and to the beasts of the earth. And David said to the Philistine: Thou comest to me 45 with a sword, and with a spear, and with a shield: but I come to thee in the name of the Lord of hosts, the God of the armies of Israel, which thou hast defied. This day, and the Lord will 46 deliver thee into my hand, and I will slay thee, and take away thy head from thee: and I will give the carcasses of the army of the Philistines this day to the birds of the air, and to the beasts of the earth: that all the earth may know that there is a God in Israel. And all this assembly shall know that the Lord saveth 47 not with sword and spear: for it is his battle, and he will deliver you into our hands. And when the Philistine arose, and was 48 coming, and drew nigh to meet David, David made haste, and ran to the fight to meet the Philistine. And he put his hand 49 into his scrip, and took a stone, and cast it with the sling, and fetching it about, struck the Philistine in the forehead, and he fell on his face upon the earth. And David prevailed over the 50 Philistine, with a sling and a stone, and he struck, and slew the Philistine. And as David had no sword in his hand, He ran, 51 and stood over the Philistine, and took his sword, and drew it out of the sheath, and slew him, and cut off his head. And the Philistines seeing that their champion was dead, fled away. And 52 the men of Israel and Juda rising up shouted, and pursued after the Philistines till they came to the valley and to the gates of Accaron, and there fell many wounded of the Philistines in the way of Saraim, and as far as Geth, and as far as Accaron.

And the children of Israel returning, after they had pursued the 53 Philistines, fell upon their camp. And David taking the head of 54 the Philistine, brought it to Jerusalem: but his armour he put in his tent. Now at the time that Saul saw David going out against 55 the Philistines, he said to Abner, the captain of the army: Of what family is this young man descended, Abner? And Abner said: As thy soul liveth, O king, I know not. And the king said: 56 Inquire thou, whose son this young man is. And when David 57 was returned, after the Philistine was slain, Abner took him, and brought him in before Saul, with the head of the Philistine in his hand. And Saul said to him: Young man, of what family art thou? And David said: I am the son of thy servant Isai the Bethlehemite.

18 And it came to pass, when he had made an end of speaking to Saul, the son of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul. And Saul took him that day, and would not let him return to his father's house. And David and Jonathan made a covenant, for he loved him as his own soul. And Jonathan stripped himself of the coat with which he was clothed, and gave it to David, and the rest of his garments, even to his sword, and to his bow, and to his girdle. And David went out to whatsoever business Saul sent him, and he behaved himself prudently: and Saul set him over the soldiers, and he was acceptable in the eyes of all the people, and especially in the eyes of Saul's servants. Now when David returned, after he slew the Philistine, the women came out of all the cities of Israel, singing and dancing, to meet king Saul, with timbrels of joy, and cornets. And the women sung as they played, and they said: Saul slew his thousands, and David his ten thousands. And Saul was exceeding angry, and this word was displeasing in his eyes, and he said: They have given David ten thousands, and to me they have given but a thousand, what can he have more but the kingdom? And Saul did not look on David with a good eye from that day and forward. And the day after, the evil spirit from God came upon Saul, and he prophesied in the midst of his house. And David played with his hand as at other times. And Saul held a spear in his hand, and threw it, thinking to nail David to the wall: and David stept aside out of his presence twice. And Saul feared David, because the Lord was with him, and was departed from Saul himself. Therefore Saul removed him from him, and made him a captain over a thousand men, and he went out and came in before the people. And David behaved wisely in all his ways, and the Lord was with him. And Saul saw that he was exceeding prudent, and began to beware of him. But all Israel and Juda loved David, for he came in and went out before them. And Saul said to David: Behold my elder daughter Merob, her will I give thee to wife: only be a valiant man, and fight the battles of the Lord. Now Saul said within himself: Let not my hand be upon him, but let the hands of the Philistines be upon him. And 18 David said to Saul: Who am I, or what is my life, or my father's family in Israel, that I should be son in law of the king? And 19 it came to pass at the time when Merob, the daughter of Saul, should have been given to David, that she was given to Hadriel, the Molathite, to wife. But Michol, the other daughter of Saul, 20 loved David. And it was told Saul, and it pleased him. And Saul 21 said: I will give her to him, that she may be a stumblingblock to him, and that the hand of the Philistines may be upon him. And Saul said to David: In two things thou shalt be my son in law this day. And Saul commanded his servants to speak to 22 David privately, saying: Behold, thou pleasest the king, and all his servants love thee. Now, therefore be the king's son in law. And the servants of Saul spoke all these words in the ear of David. 23 And David said: Doth it seem to you a small matter to be the king's son in law? But I am a poor man, and of small ability. And the servants of Saul told him, saying: Such words as these 24 hath David spoken. And Saul said: Speak thus to David: The king desireth not any dowry, but only a hundred foreskins of the Philistines, to be avenged of the king's enemies. Now Saul 25 thought to deliver David into the hands of the Philistines. And 26 when his servants had told David the words that Saul had said, the word was pleasing in the eyes of David to be the king's son in law. And after a few days David rose up, and went with 27 the men that were under him, and he slew of the Philistines two hundred men, and brought their foreskins and numbered them out to the king, that he might be his son in law. Saul therefore gave him Michol, his daughter, to wife. And Saul saw, and 28 understood that the Lord was with David. And Michol, the daughter of Saul, loved him. And Saul began to fear David 29 more: and Saul became David's enemy continually. And the 30 princes of the Philistines went forth: and from the beginning of their going forth, David behaved himself more wisely than all the servants of Saul, and his name became very famous.

And Saul spoke to Jonathan, his son, and to all his servants, 19 that they should kill David. But Jonathan, the son of Saul, loved David exceedingly. And Jonathan told David, saying: Saul, my 2 father, seeketh to kill thee: wherefore look to thyself, I beseech thee, in the morning and thou shalt abide in a secret place, and 3 shalt be hid. And I will go out and stand beside my father in the field where thou art: and I will speak of thee to my father, and 4 whatsoever I shall see, I will tell thee. And Jonathan spoke good things of David to Saul, his father: and said to him: Sin not, O king, against thy servant, David, because he hath not sinned 5 against thee, and his works are very good towards thee. And he put his life in his hand, and slew the Philistine, and the Lord wrought great salvation for all Israel. Thou sawest it and didst rejoice. Why therefore wilt thou sin against innocent blood, by 6 killing David, who is without fault? And when Saul heard this, he was appeased with the words of Jonathan, and swore: As the 7 Lord liveth, he shall not be slain. Then Jonathan called David, and told him all these words: and Jonathan brought in David to Saul, and he was before him, as he had been yesterday and the 8 day before. And the war began again, and David went out, and fought against the Philistines, and defeated them with a great 9 slaughter, and they fled from his face. And the evil spirit from the Lord came upon Saul; and he sat in his house, and held a 10 spear in his hand: and David played with his hand. And Saul endeavoured to nail David to the wall with his spear. And David slipt away out of the presence of Saul: and the spear missed him, and was fastened in the wall, and David fled, and escaped that 11 night. Saul therefore sent his guards to David's house to watch him, that he might be killed in the morning. And when Michol, David's wife, had told him this, saying: Unless thou save thyself 12 this night, to morrow thou wilt die: She let him down through 13 a window. And he went and fled away, and escaped. And Michol took an image, and laid it on the bed, and put a goat's skin, with the hair at the head of it, and covered it with clothes.

14 And Saul sent officers to seize David; and it was answered that 15 he was sick. And again Saul sent to see David, saying: Bring 16 him to me in the bed, that he may be slain. And when the messengers were come in, they found an image upon the bed, 17 and a goat skin at his head. And Saul said to Michol: Why hast thou deceived me so, and let my enemy go and flee away?
And Michol answered Saul: Because he said to me: Let me go, 18 or else I will kill thee. But David fled and escaped, and came to Samuel in Ramatha, and told him all that Saul had done to him: and he and Samuel went and dwelt in Najoth. And it was told Saul by some, saying: Behold David is in Najoth, in Ramatha. So Saul sent officers to take David: and when they saw a company of prophets prophesying, and Samuel presiding over them, the Spirit of the Lord came also upon them, and they likewise began to prophesy. And when this was told Saul, he sent other messengers: but they also prophesied. And again Saul sent messengers the third time: and they prophesied also. And Saul being exceeding angry, Went also himself to Ramatha, and came as far as the great cistern, which is in Socho, and he asked, and said: In what place are Samuel and David? And it was told him: Behold they are in Najoth, in Ramatha. And he went to Najoth, in Ramatha, and the Spirit of the Lord came upon him also, and he went on, and prophesied till he came to Najoth, in Ramatha. And he stripped himself also of his garments, and prophesied with the rest before Samuel, and lay down naked all that day and night. This gave occasion to a proverb: What! is Saul too among the prophets?

But David fled from Najoth, which is in Ramatha, and came and said to Jonathan: What have I done? what is my iniquity, and what is my sin against thy father, that he seeketh my life? And he said to him: (God forbid, thou shalt not die: for my father will do nothing, great or little, without first telling me: hath then my father hid this word only from me? no, this shall not be. And he swore again to David. And David said: Thy father certainly knoweth that I have found grace in thy sight, and he will say: Let not Jonathan know this, lest he be grieved. But truly as the Lord liveth, and thy soul liveth, there is but one step (as I may say) between me and death. And Jonathan said to David: Whatsoever thy soul shall say to me, I will do for thee. And David said to Jonathan: Behold to morrow is the new moon, and I, according to custom, am wont to sit beside the king to eat: let me go then that I may be hid in the field till the evening of the third day. If thy father look and inquire for me, thou shalt answer him: David asked me that he might run to Bethlehem, his own city: because there are solemn sacrifices there for all of his tribe. If he shall say: It is well: thy servant shall have peace: but if he be angry, know that his malice is 8 come to its height. Deal mercifully then with thy servant: for thou hast brought me, thy servant, into a covenant of the Lord with thee. But if there be any iniquity in me, do thou kill me, 9 and bring me not in to thy father. And Jonathan said: Far be this from thee: for if I should certainly know that evil is determined by my father against thee, I could do no otherwise 10 than tell thee. And David answered Jonathan: Who shall bring me word, if thy father should answer thee harshly concerning 11 me? And Jonathan said to David: Come, and let us go out into the field. And when they were both of them gone out into 12 the field, Jonathan said to David: O Lord God of Israel, if I shall discover my father's mind, to morrow, or the day after, and there be any thing good for David, and I send not immediately 13 to thee, and make it known to thee, May the Lord do so and so to Jonathan, and add still more. But if my father shall continue in malice against thee, I will discover it to thy ear, and will send thee away, that thou mayst go in peace, and the Lord be with 14 thee, as he hath been with my father. And if I live, thou shalt shew me the kindness of the Lord: but if I die, Thou shalt not take away thy kindness from my house for ever, when the Lord shall have rooted out the enemies of David, every one of them from the earth, may he take away Jonathan from his house, and may the Lord require it at the hands of David's enemies.

16 Jonathan therefore made a covenant with the house of David: and the Lord required it at the hands of David's enemies. And Jonathan swore again to David, because he loved him: for he 18 loved him as his own soul. And Jonathan said to him: To morrow is the new moon, and thou wilt be missed: For thy seat will be empty till after to morrow. So thou shalt go down quickly, and come to the place where thou must be hid, on the day when it is lawful to work, and thou shalt remain beside the 20 stone, which is called Ezel. And I will shoot three arrows near it, and will shoot as if I were exercising myself at a mark. And I will send a boy, saying to him: Go and fetch me the arrows.
22 If I shall say to the boy: Behold the arrows are on this side of thee, take them up: come thou to me, because there is peace to thee, and there is no evil, as the Lord liveth. But if I shall speak thus to the boy: Behold the arrows are beyond thee: go 23 in peace, for the Lord hath sent thee away. And concerning the word which I and thou have spoken, the Lord be between thee and me forever. So David was hid in the field, and the new moon came, and the king sat down to eat bread. And when the king sat down upon his chair, (according to custom) which was beside the wall, Jonathan arose, and Abner sat by Saul's side, and David's place appeared empty. And Saul said nothing that day, for he thought it might have happened to him, that he was not clean, nor purified. And when the second day after the new moon was come, David's place appeared empty again. And Saul said to Jonathan, his son: Why cometh not the son of Isai to meat neither yesterday, nor to day? And Jonathan answered Saul: He asked leave of me earnestly to go to Bethlehem. And he said: Let me go, for there is a solemn sacrifice in the city, one of my brethren hath sent for me: and now if I have found favour in thy eyes, I will go quickly, and see my brethren. For this cause he came not to the king's table. Then Saul being angry against Jonathan, said to him: Thou son of a woman that is the ravisher of a man, do I not know that thou lovest the son of Isai to thy own confusion, and to the confusion of thy shameless mother? For as long as the son of Isai liveth upon earth, thou shalt not be established, nor thy kingdom. Therefore now presently send, and fetch him to me: for he is the son of death. And Jonathan answering Saul, his father, said: Why shall he die? What hath he done? And Saul caught up a spear to strike him. And Jonathan understood that it was determined by his father to kill David. So Jonathan rose from the table in great anger, and did not eat bread on the second day after the new moon. For he was grieved for David, because his father had put him to confusion. And when the morning came, Jonathan went into the field according to the appointment with David, and a little boy with him. And he said to his boy: Go, and fetch me the arrows which I shoot. And when the boy ran, he shot another arrow beyond the boy. The boy therefore came to the place of the arrow which Jonathan had shot: and Jonathan cried after the boy, and said: Behold the arrow is there further beyond thee. And Jonathan cried again after the boy, saying: Make haste speedily, stand not. And Jonathan's boy gathered up the arrows, and brought them to his master: And he knew not at all what was doing: for only Jonathan and David knew 40 the matter. Jonathan therefore gave his arms to the boy, and 41 said to him: Go, and carry them into the city. And when the boy was gone, David rose out of his place, which was toward the south, and falling on his face to the ground, adored thrice: and 42 kissing one another, they wept together; but David more. And Jonathan said to David: Go in peace: and let all stand that we have sworn both of us in the name of the Lord, saying: The Lord be between me and thee, and between my seed and thy seed for 43 ever. And David arose, and departed: and Jonathan went into the city.

21 And David came to Nob, to Achimelech, the priest and Achimelech was astonished at David's coming. And he said to 2 him: Why art thou alone, and no man with thee? And David said to Achimelech, the priest: The king hath commanded me a business, and said: Let no man know the thing for which thou art sent by me, and what manner of commands I have given thee:
and I have appointed my servants to such and such a place.
3 Now therefore if thou have any thing at hand, though it were 4 but five loaves, give me, or whatsoever thou canst find. And the priest answered David, saying: I have no common bread at hand, but only holy bread, if the young men be clean, especially 5 from women? And David answered the priest, and said to him: Truly, as to what concerneth women, we have refrained ourselves from yesterday and the day before, when we came out, and the vessels of the young men were holy. Now this way is defiled, 6 but it shall also be sanctified this day in the vessels. The priest therefore gave him hallowed bread: for there was no bread there, but only the loaves of proposition, which had been taken away from before the face of the Lord, that hot loaves might be set 7 up. Now a certain man of the servants of Saul was there that day, within the tabernacle of the Lord: and his name was Doeg, 8 an Edomite, the chiefest of Saul's herdsmen. And David said to Achimelech: Hast thou here at hand a spear, or a sword? for I brought not my own sword, nor my own weapons with me, for 9 the king's business required haste. And the priest said: Lo, here is the sword of Goliath, the Philistine, whom thou slewest in the valley of Terebinth, wrapped up in a cloth behind the ephod: if thou wilt take this, take it, for here there is no other but 10 this. And David said: There is none like that, give it me. And David arose and fled that day from the face of Saul: and came to Achis, the king of Geth: And the servants of Achis, when they saw David, said to him: Is not this David, the king of the land? Did they not sing to him in their dances, saying: Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands? But David laid up these words in his heart, and was exceedingly afraid at the face of Achis, the king of Geth. And he changed his countenance before them, and slipt down between their hands: and he stumbled against the doors of the gate, and his spittle ran down upon his beard. And Achis said to his servants: You saw the man was mad: why have you brought him to me? Have we need of mad men, that you have brought in this fellow, to play the madman in my presence? shall this fellow come into my house?

David therefore went from thence, and fled to the cave of Odollam. And when his brethren, and all his father's house, had heard of it, they went down to him thither. And all that were in distress, and oppressed with debt, and under affliction of mind, gathered themselves unto him: and he became their prince, and there were with him about four hundred men. And David departed from thence into Maspha of Moab: and he said to the king of Moab: Let my father and my mother tarry with you, I beseech thee, till I know what God will do for me. And he left them under the eyes of the king of Moab, and they abode with him all the days that David was in the hold. And Gad the prophet said to David: Abide not in the hold, depart, and go into the land of Juda. And David departed, and came into the forest of Haret. And Saul heard that David was seen, and the men that were with him. Now whilst Saul abode in Gabaa, and was in the wood, which is by Rama, having his spear in his hand, and all his servants were standing about him, He said to his servants that stood about him: Hear me now, ye sons of Jemini: will the son of Isai give every one of you fields, and vineyards, and make you all tribunes, and centurions: That all of you have conspired against me, and there is no one to inform me, especially when even my son hath entered into league with the son of Isai? There is not one of you that pitieth my case, nor that giveth me any information: because my son hath raised up my servant against me, plotting against me to this day. And Doeg, the Edomite, who stood by, and was the chief among the servants of Saul, answering, said: I saw the son of Isai, in 10 Nobe, with Achimelech, the son of Achitob, the priest. And he consulted the Lord for him, and gave him victuals, and gave 11 him the sword of Goliath, the Philistine. Then the king sent to call for Achimelech, the priest, the son of Achitob, and all his father's house, the priests that were in Nobe, and they came 12 all of them to the king. And Saul said to Achimelech: Hear, 13 thou son of Achitob. He answered: Here I am, my lord. And Saul said to him: Why have you conspired against me, thou, and the son of Isai, and thou hast given him bread and a sword, and hast consulted the Lord for him, that he should rise up 14 against me, continuing a traitor to this day. And Achimelech answering the king, said: And who amongst all thy servants is so faithful as David, who is the king's son in law, and goeth forth 15 at thy bidding, and is honourable in thy house? Did I begin to day to consult the Lord for him? far be this from me: let not the king suspect such a thing against his servant, or any one in all my father's house: for thy servant knew nothing of this 16 matter, either little or great. And the king said: Dying thou 17 shalt die, Achimelech, thou and all thy father's house. And the king said to the messengers that stood about him: Turn, and kill the priests of the Lord, for their hand is with David, because they knew that he was fled, and they told it not to me. And the king's servants would not put forth their hands against the 18 priests of the Lord. And the king said to Doeg: Turn thou, and fall upon the priests. And Doeg, the Edomite, turned, and fell upon the priests, and slew in that day eighty-five men that wore 19 the linen ephod. And Nobe, the city of the priests, he smote with the edge of the sword, both men and women, children and sucklings, and ox, and ass, and sheep, with the edge of the sword.

20 But one of the sons of Achimelech, the son of Achitob, whose name was Abiathar, escaped, and fled to David, And told him 21 that Saul had slain the priests of the Lord. And David said to Abiathar: I knew that day when Doeg, the Edomite, was there, that without doubt he would tell Saul: I have been the occasion 22 of the death of all the souls of thy father's house. Abide thou 23 with me, fear not: for he that seeketh my life, seeketh thy life also, and with me thou shalt be saved.

23 And they told David, saying: Behold the Philistines fight against Ceila, and they rob the barns. Therefore David con- 2 sulted the Lord, saying: Shall I go and smite these Philistines?

And the Lord said to David: Go, and thou shalt smite the Philistines, and shalt save Ceila. And the men that were with 3 David, said to him: Behold we are in fear here in Judea, how much more if we go to Ceila against the bands of the Philistines?
Therefore David consulted the Lord again. And he answered 4 and said to him: Arise, and go to Ceila: for I will deliver the Philistines into thy hand. David, therefore, and his men, went 5 to Ceila, and fought against the Philistines, and brought away their cattle, and made a great slaughter of them: and David saved the inhabitants of Ceila. Now at that time, when Abi- 6 athar, the son of Achimelech, fled to David, to Ceila, he came down, having an ephod with him. And it was told Saul that 7 David was come to Ceila: and Saul said: The Lord hath delivered him into my hands, and he is shut up, being come into a city that hath gates and bars. And Saul commanded all the people 8 to go down to fight against Ceila, and to besiege David and his men. Now when David understood that Saul secretly prepared 9 evil against him, he said to Abiathar, the priest: Bring hither the ephod. And David said: O Lord God of Israel, thy servant 10 hath heard a report, that Saul designeth to come to Ceila, to destroy the city for my sake: Will the men of Ceila deliver me 11 into his hands? and will Saul come down, as thy servant hath heard? O Lord God of Israel, tell thy servant. And the Lord said: He will come down. And David said: Will the men of 12 Ceila deliver me and my men into the hands of Saul? And the Lord said: They will deliver thee up. Then David and his men, 13 who were about six hundred, arose, and departing from Ceila, wandered up and down, uncertain where they should stay: and it was told Saul that David was fled from Ceila, and had escaped: wherefore he forbore to go out. But David abode in the desert 14 in strong holds, and he remained in a mountain of the desert of Ziph, in a woody hill. And Saul sought him always: but the Lord delivered him not into his hands. And David saw that Saul was 15 come out to seek his life. And David was in the desert of Ziph, in a wood. And Jonathan, the son of Saul, arose, and went to 16 David, into the wood, and strengthened his hands in God: and he said to him: Fear not: for the hand of my father, Saul, shall 17 not find thee, and thou shalt reign over Israel, and I shall be 18 next to thee; yea and my father knoweth this. And they two made a covenant before the Lord: and David abode in the wood: 19 but Jonathan returned to his house. And the Ziphites went up to Saul, in Gabaa, saying: Lo, doth not David lie hid with us in the strong holds of the wood, in mount Hachila, which is on 20 the right hand of the desert. Now therefore come down, as thy soul hath desired to come down: and it shall be our business to 21 deliver him into the king's hands. And Saul said: Blessed be ye of the Lord, for you have pitied my case. Go, therefore, I pray 22 you, and use all diligence, and curiously inquire, and consider the place where his foot is, and who hath seen him there: for he 23 thinketh of me, that I lie craftily in wait for him. Consider, and see all his lurking holes, wherein he is hid, and return to me with the certainty of the thing, that I may go with you. And if he should even go down into the earth to hide himself, I will search 24 him out in all the thousands of Juda. And they arose, and went to Ziph before Saul: and David and his men were in the desert 25 of Maon, in the plain at the right hand of Jesimon. Then Saul and his men went to seek him: and it was told David, and forthwith he went down to the rock, and abode in the wilderness of Maon: and when Saul had heard of it, he pursued after David 26 in the wilderness of Maon. And Saul went on this side of the mountain: and David and his men were on the other side of the mountain: and David despaired of being able to escape from the face of Saul: and Saul and his men encompassed David and his 27 men round about, to take them. And a messenger came to Saul, saying: Make haste to come, for the Philistines have poured in 28 themselves upon the land. Wherefore Saul returned, leaving the pursuit of David, and went to meet the Philistines. For this cause they called that place the rock of division.

24 Then David went up from thence, and dwelt in strong holds 2 of Engaddi. And when Saul was returned from following the Philistines, they told him, saying: Behold, David is in the desert 3 of Engaddi. Saul, therefore, took three thousand chosen men out of all Israel, and went out to seek after David and his men, even upon the most craggy rocks, which are accessible only to 4 wild goats. And he came to the sheepcotes which were in his way. And there was a cave, into which Saul went, to ease nature:

now David and his men lay hid in the inner part of the cave. And the servants of David said to him: Behold the day, of which the Lord said to thee: I will deliver thy enemy unto thee, that thou mayst do to him as it shall seem good in thy eyes. Then David arose, and secretly cut off the hem of Saul's robe. After which David's heart struck him, because he had cut off the hem of Saul's robe. And he said to his men: The Lord be merciful unto me, that I may do no such thing to my master, the Lord's anointed, as to lay my hand upon him, because he is the Lord's anointed. And David stopped his men with his words, and suffered them not to rise against Saul: but Saul, rising up out of the cave, went on his way. And David also rose up after him: and going out of the cave, cried after Saul, saying: My lord the king. And Saul looked behind him: and David bowing himself down to the ground, worshipped, And said to Saul: Why dost thou hear the words of men that say: David seeketh thy hurt? Behold this day thy eyes have seen, that the Lord hath delivered thee into my hand, in the cave, and I had a thought to kill thee, but my eye hath spared thee. For I said: I will not put out my hand against my lord, because he is the Lord's anointed. Moreover, see and know, O my father, the hem of thy robe in my hand, that when I cut off the hem of thy robe, I would not put out my hand against thee. Reflect, and see, that there is no evil in my hand, nor iniquity, neither have I sinned against thee: but thou liest in wait for my life, to take it away. The Lord judge between me and thee and the Lord revenge me of thee: but my hand shall not be upon thee. As also it is said in the old proverb: From the wicked shall wickedness come forth: therefore my hand shall not be upon thee. After whom dost thou come out, O king of Israel? After whom dost thou pursue? After a dead dog, after a flea. Be the Lord judge, and judge between me and thee, and see, and judge my cause, and deliver me out of thy hand. And when David had made an end of speaking these words to Saul, Saul said: Is this thy voice, my son David? And Saul lifted up his voice, and wept: And he said to David: Thou art more just than I: for thou hast done good to me, and I have rewarded thee with evil. And thou hast shewed this day what good things thou hast done to me: how the Lord delivered me into thy hand, and thou hast not killed me. For who when he hath found his enemy, will let him go well away? But the Lord reward thee for this good turn, for what thou hast done to me 21 this day. And now as I know that thou shalt surely be king, 22 and have the kingdom of Israel in thy hand: Swear to me by the Lord, that thou wilt not destroy my seed after me, nor take 23 away my name from the house of my father. And David swore to Saul. So Saul went home: and David and his men went up into safer places.

25 And Samuel died, and all Israel was gathered together, and they mourned for him, and buried him in his house in Ramatha.
And David rose, and went down into the wilderness of Pharan.
2 Now there was a certain man in the wilderness of Maon, and his possessions were in Carmel, and the man was very great: and he had three thousand sheep, and a thousand goats: and it hap-3 poned that he was shearing his sheep in Carmel. Now the name of the man was Nabal: and the name of his wife was Abigail.
And she was a prudent and very comely woman: but her husband was churlish, and very bad and ill natured: and he was of 4 the house of Caleb. And when David heard in the wilderness, 5 that Nabal was shearing his sheep, He sent ten young men, and said to them: Go up to Carmel, and go to Nabal, and salute him 6 in my name with peace. And you shall say: Peace be to my brethren, and to thee, and peace to thy house, and peace to all 7 that thou hast. I have heard that thy shepherds that were with us in the desert were shearing: we never molested them, neither was there ought missing to them of the flock at any time, all 8 the while they were with us in Carmel. Ask thy servants, and they will tell thee. Now therefore let thy servants find favour in thy eyes: for we are come in a good day, whatsoever thy hand 9 shall find give to thy servants, and to thy son David. And when David's servants came, they spoke to Nabal all these words in 10 David's name, and then held their peace. But Nabal answering the servants of David, said: Who is David? and what is the son of Isai? servants are multiplied now days who flee from their 11 masters. Shall I then take my bread, and my water, and the flesh of my cattle, which I have killed for my shearers, and give 12 to men whom I know not whence they are? So the servants of David went back their way, and returning came and told him all 13 the words that he said. Then David said to his young men: Let every man gird on his sword. And they girded on every man his sword. And David also girded on his sword: and there followed David about four hundred men, and two hundred remained with the baggage. But one of the servants told, Abigail, the wife of Nabal, saying: Behold, David sent messengers out of the wilderness, to salute our master: and he rejected them. These men were very good to us, and gave us no trouble: Neither did we ever lose any thing all the time that we conversed with them in the desert. They were a wall unto us, both by night and day, all the while we were with them keeping the sheep. Wherefore consider, and think what thou hast to do: for evil is determined against thy husband, and against thy house, and he is a son of Belial, so that no man can speak to him. Then Abigail made haste and took two hundred loaves, and two vessels of wine, and five sheep ready dressed, and five measures of parched corn, and a hundred clusters of raisins, and two hundred cakes of dry figs, and laid them upon asses: And she said to her servants: Go before me: behold, I will follow after you: but she told not her husband, Nabal. And when she had gotten upon an ass, and was coming down to the foot of the mountain, David and his men came down over against her, and she met them. And David said: Truly in vain have I kept all that belonged to this fellow in the wilderness, and nothing was lost of all that pertained unto him: and he hath returned me evil for good. May God do so and so, and add more to the foes of David, if I leave of all that belong to him till the morning, any that pisseth against the wall. And when Abigail saw David, she made haste and lighted off the ass, and fell before David, on her face, and adored upon the ground. And she fell at his feet, and said: Upon me let this iniquity be, my lord: let thy handmaid speak, I beseech thee, in thy ears, and hear the words of thy servant. Let not my lord the king, I pray thee, regard this naughty man, Nabal: for according to his name, he is a fool, and folly is with him: but I, thy handmaid, did not see thy servants, my lord, whom thou sentest. Now therefore, my lord, the Lord liveth, and thy soul liveth, who hath withholden thee from coming to blood, and hath saved thy hand to thee: and now let thy enemies be as Nabal, and all they that seek evil to my lord. Wherefore receive this blessing, which thy handmaid hath brought to thee, my lord: and give it to the young men that follow thee, my lord.

28 Forgive the iniquity of thy handmaid: for the Lord will surely make for my lord a faithful house, because thou, my lord, fightest the battles of the Lord: let not evil therefore be found in thee 29 all the days of thy life. For if a man at any time shall rise, and persecute thee, and seek thy life, the soul of my lord shall be kept, as in the bundle of the living, with the Lord thy God: but the souls of thy enemies shall be whirled, as with the violence 30 and whirling of a sling. And when the Lord shall have done to thee, my lord, all the good that he hath spoken concerning thee, 31 and shall have made thee prince over Israel, This shall not be an occasion of grief to thee, and a scruple of heart to my lord, that thou hast shed innocent blood, or hast revenged thyself:
and when the Lord shall have done well by my lord, thou shalt 32 remember thy handmaid. And David said to Abigail: Blessed be the Lord the God of Israel, who sent thee this day to meet 33 me, and blessed be thy speech: And blessed be thou, who hast kept me to day from coming to blood, and revenging me with 34 my own hand. Otherwise, as the Lord liveth, the God of Israel, who hath withholden me from doing thee any evil, if thou hadst not quickly come to meet me, there had not been left to Nabal 35 by the morning light, any that pisseth against the wall. And David received at her hand all that she had brought him, and said to her: Go in peace into thy house, behold I have heard thy 36 voice, and honoured thy face. And Abigail came to Nabal: and behold he had a feast in his house, like the feast of a king: and Nabal's heart was merry, for he was very drunk: and she told 37 him nothing less or more until morning. But early in the morning, when Nabal had digested his wine, his wife told him these words, and his heart died within him, and he became as a stone.
38 And after ten days had passed, the Lord struck Nabal, and he died. And when David had heard that Nabal was dead, he said: 39 Blessed be the Lord, who hath judged the cause of my reproach, at the hand of Nabal, and hath kept his servant from evil, and the Lord hath returned the wickedness of Nabal upon his head.
Then David sent and treated with Abigail, that he might take 40 her to himself for a wife. And David's servants came to Abigail, to Carmel, and spoke to her, saying: David hath sent us to thee, 41 to take thee to himself for a wife. And she arose, and bowed herself down with her face to the earth, and said: Behold, let thy servant be a handmaid, to wash the feet of the servants of my lord. And Abigail arose, and made haste, and got upon an ass, and five damsels went with her, her waiting maids, and she followed the messengers of David, and became his wife. Moreover David took also Achinoam of Jezrahel: and they were both of them his wives. But Saul gave Michol, his daughter, David's wife, to Phalti, the son of Lais, who was of Gallim.

And the men of Ziph came to Saul in Gabaa, saying: Behold David is hid in the hill of Hachila, which is over against the wilderness. And Saul arose, and went down to the wilderness of Ziph having with him three thousand chosen men of Israel, to seek David in the wilderness of Ziph. And Saul encamped in Gabaa Hachila, which was over against the wilderness in the way: and David abode in the wilderness. And seeing that Saul was come after him into the wilderness, He sent spies, and learned that he was most certainly come thither. And David arose secretly, and came to the place where Saul was: and when he had beheld the place, wherein Saul slept, and Abner, the son of Ner, the captain of his army, and Saul sleeping in a tent, and the rest of the multitude round about him, David spoke to Achimelech, the Hethite, and Abisai, the son of Sarvia, the brother of Joab, saying: Who will go down with me to Saul into the camp? And Abisai said: I will go with thee. So David and Abisai came to the people by night, and found Saul lying and sleeping in the tent, and his spear fixed in the ground at his head: and Abner and the people sleeping round about him. And Abisai said to David: God hath shut up thy enemy this day into thy hands: now then I will run him through with my spear, even to the earth at once, and there shall be no need of a second time. And David said to Abisai: Kill him not: for who shall put forth his hand against the Lord's anointed, and shall be guiltless? And David said: As the Lord liveth, unless the Lord shall strike him, or his day shall come to die, or he shall go down to battle, and perish: The Lord be merciful unto me, and keep me that I never put forth my hand against the Lord's anointed. But now take the spear which is at his head, and the cup of water, and let us go. So David took the spear, and the cup of water which was at Saul's head, and they went away: and no man saw it, or knew it, or awaked, but they were all asleep, 13 for a deep sleep from the Lord was fallen upon them. And when David was gone over to the other side, and stood on the top of 14 the hill afar off, and a good space was between them, David cried to the people, and to Abner, the son of Ner, saying: Wilt thou not answer, Abner? And Abner answering, said: Who art 15 thou, that criest, and disturbest the king? And David said to Abner: Art not thou a man? and who is like unto thee in Israel?

why then hast thou not kept thy lord the king? for there came 16 one of the people in to kill the king thy lord. This thing is not good, that thou hast done: as the Lord liveth, you are the sons of death, who have not kept your master, the Lord's anointed. And now where is the king's spear, and the cup of water, which was 17 at his head? And Saul knew David's voice, and said: Is this thy voice, my son David? And David said: It is my voice, my lord 18 the king. And he said: Wherefore doth my lord persecute his servant? What have I done? or what evil is there in my hand?
19 Now therefore hear, I pray thee, my lord the king, the words of thy servant: If the Lord stir thee up against me, let him accept of sacrifice: but if the sons of men, they are cursed in the sight of the Lord, who have cast me out this day, that I should not 20 dwell in the inheritance of the Lord, saying: Go, serve strange gods. And now let not my blood be shed upon the earth before the Lord: for the king of Israel is come out to seek a flea, as the 21 partridge is hunted in the mountains. And Saul said: I have sinned; return, my son David, for I will no more do thee harm, because my life hath been precious in thy eyes this day: for it 22 appeareth that I have done foolishly, and have been ignorant in very many things. And David answering, said: Behold the king's spear: let one of the king's servants come over and fetch 23 it. And the Lord will reward every one according to his justice, and his faithfulness: for the Lord hath delivered thee this day into my hand, and I would not put forth my hand against the 24 Lord's anointed. And as thy life hath been much set by this day in my eyes, so let my life be much set by in the eyes of the 25 Lord, and let him deliver me from all distress. Then Saul said to David: Blessed art thou, my son David: and truly doing thou shalt do, and prevailing thou shalt prevail. And David went on his way, and Saul returned to his place.

And David said in his heart: I shall one day or other fall 27 into the hands of Saul: is it not better for me to flee, and to be saved in the land of the Philistines, that Saul may despair of me, and cease to seek me in all the coasts of Israel? I will flee then out of his hands. And David arose, and went away, both 2 he and the six hundred men that were with him, to Achis, the son of Maoch, king of Geth. And David dwelt with Achis at 3 Geth, he and his men; every man with his household, and David with his two wives, Achinoam, the Jezrahelitess, and Abigail, the wife of Nabal of Carmel. And it was told Saul that David 4 was fled to Geth, and he sought no more after him. And David 5 said to Achis: If I have found favour in thy sight, let a place be given me in one of the cities of this country, that I may dwell there: for why should thy servant dwell in the royal city with thee? Then Achis gave him Siceleg that day: for which reason 6 Siceleg belongeth to the kings of Juda unto this day. And the 7 time that David dwelt in the country of the Philistines, was four months. And David and his men went up, and pillaged 8 Gessuri, and Gerzi, and the Amalecites: for these were of old the inhabitants of the countries, as men go to Sur, even to the land of Egypt. And David wasted all the land, and left neither 9 man nor woman alive: and took away the sheep, and the oxen, and the asses, and the camels, and the apparel, and returned and came to Achis. And Achis said to him: Whom hast thou 10 gone against to day? David answered: Against the south of Juda, and against the south of Jerameel, and against the south of Ceni. And David saved neither man nor woman, neither 11 brought he any of them to Geth, saying: Lest they should speak against us. So did David, and such was his proceeding all the days that he dwelt in the country of the Philistines. And Achis 12 believed David, saying: He hath done much harm to his people Israel: Therefore he shall be my servant for ever.

And it came to pass in those days, that the Philistines gath- 28 ered together their armies, to be prepared for war against Israel:
And Achis said to David: Know thou now assuredly, that thou shalt go out with me to the war, thou, and thy men. And David 2 said to Achis: Now thou shalt know what thy servant will do.
And Achis said to David: And I will appoint thee to guard my life for ever. Now Samuel was dead, and all Israel mourned for 3 him, and buried him in Ramatha, his city. And Saul had put 4 away all the magicians and soothsayers out of the land. And the Philistines were gathered together, and came and encamped in Sunam: and Saul also gathered together all Israel, and came 5 to Gelboe. And Saul saw the army of the Philistines, and was 6 afraid, and his heart was very much dismayed. And he consulted the Lord, and he answered him not, neither by dreams, 7 nor by priests, nor by prophets. And Saul said to his servants: Seek me a woman that hath a divining spirit, and I will go to her, and enquire by her. And his servants said to him: There 8 is a woman that hath a divining spirit at Endor. Then he disguised himself: and put on other clothes, and he went, and two men with him, and they came to the woman by night, and he said to her: Divine to me by thy divining spirit, and bring me 9 up him whom I shall tell thee. And the woman said to him: Behold thou knowest all that Saul hath done, and how he hath rooted out the magicians and soothsayers from the land: why then dost thou lay a snare for my life, to cause me to be put 10 to death? And Saul swore unto her by the Lord, saying: As the Lord liveth, there shall no evil happen to thee for this thing.

11 And the woman said to him: Whom shall I bring up to thee?
12 And he said, Bring me up Samuel. And when the woman saw Samuel, she cried out with a loud voice, and said to Saul: Why 13 hast thou deceived me? for thou art Saul. And the king said to her: Fear not: what hast thou seen? and the woman said to 14 Saul: I saw gods ascending out of the earth. And he said to her: What form is he of? And she said: An old man cometh up, and he is covered with a mantle. And Saul understood that it was Samuel, and he bowed himself with his face to the ground, and 15 adored. And Samuel said to Saul: Why hast thou disturbed my rest, that I should be brought up? And Saul said: I am in great distress: for the Philistines fight against me, and God is departed from me, and would not hear me, neither by the hand of prophets, nor by dreams: therefore I have called thee, that 16 thou mayst shew me what I shall do. And Samuel said: Why askest thou me, seeing the Lord has departed from thee, and is 17 gone over to thy rival? For the Lord will do to thee as he spoke by me, and he will rend thy kingdom out of thy hand, and will 18 give it to thy neighbour David: Because thou didst not obey the voice of the Lord, neither didst thou execute the wrath of his indignation upon Amalec. Therefore hath the Lord done to thee what thou sufferest this day. And the Lord also will deliver Israel with thee into the hands of the Philistines: and to morrow thou and thy sons shall be with me: and the Lord will also deliver the army of Israel into the hands of the Philistines. And forthwith Saul fell all along on the ground; for he was frightened with the words of Samuel, and there was no strength in him, for he had eaten no bread all that day. And the woman came to Saul, (for he was very much troubled) and said to him: Behold thy handmaid hath obeyed thy voice, and I have put my life in my hand: and I hearkened unto the words which thou spokest to me. Now therefore, I pray thee, hearken thou also to the voice of thy handmaid, and let me set before thee a morsel of bread, that thou mayst eat and recover strength, and be able to go on thy journey. But he refused, and said: I will not eat. But his servants and the woman forced him, and at length hearkening to their voice, he arose from the ground, and sat upon the bed. Now the woman had a fatted calf in the house, and she made haste and killed it: and taking meal, kneaded it, and baked some unleavened bread, And set it before Saul, and before his servants. And when they had eaten they rose up, and walked all that night.

Now all the troops of the Philistines were gathered together to Aphec: and Israel also encamped by the fountain, which is in Jezrahel. And the lords of the Philistines marched with their hundreds and their thousands: but David and his men were in the rear with Achis. And the princes of the Philistines said to Achis: What mean these Hebrews? And Achis said to the princes of the Philistines: Do you not know David who was the servant of Saul, the king of Israel, and hath been with me many days, or years, and I have found no fault in him, since the day that he fled over to me until this day? But the princes of the Philistines were angry with him, and they said to him: Let this man return, and abide in his place, which thou hast appointed him, and let him not go down with us to battle, lest he be an adversary to us, when we shall begin to fight: for how can he otherwise appease his master, but with our heads? Is not this David, to whom they sung in their dances, saying: Saul slew his 6 thousands, and David his ten thousands? Then Achis called David, and said to him: As the Lord liveth, thou art upright and good in my sight: and so is thy going out, and thy coming in with me in the army: and I have not found any evil in thee, since the day that thou camest to me unto this day: but thou 7 pleasest not the lords. Return therefore, and go in peace, and 8 offend not the eyes of the princes of the Philistines. And David said to Achis: But what have I done, or what hast thou found in me thy servant, from the day that I have been in thy sight until this day, that I may not go and fight against the enemies of my 9 lord the king? And Achis answering, said to David: I know that thou art good in my sight, as an angel of God: But the princes of the Philistines have said: He shall not go up with us to the 10 battle. Therefore arise in the morning, thou, and the servants of thy lord, who came with thee: and when you are up before 11 day, and it shall begin to be light, go on your way. So David and his men arose in the night, that they might set forward in the morning, and returned to the land of the Philistines: and the Philistines went up to Jezrahel.

30 Now when David and his men were come to Siceleg on the third day, the Amalecites had made an invasion on the south side upon Siceleg, and had smitten Siceleg, and burnt it with 2 fire, And had taken the women captives that were in it, both little and great: and they had not killed any person, but had carried them with them, and went on their way. So when David and his men came to the city, and found it burnt with fire, and that their wives, and their sons, and their daughters, were taken 4 captives, David and the people that were with him, lifted up 5 their voices, and wept till they had no more tears. For the two wives also of David were taken captives, Achinoam, the Jezrahelites, and Abigail, the wife of Nabal of Carmel. And David was greatly afflicted: for the people had a mind to stone him, for the soul of every man was bitterly grieved for his sons and 7 daughters: but David took courage in the Lord his God. And he said to Abiathar, the priest, the son of Achimelech: Bring me hither the ephod. And Abiathar brought the ephod to David.
8 And David consulted the Lord, saying: Shall I pursue after these robbers, and shall I overtake them, or not? And the Lord said to him: Pursue after them: for thou shalt surely overtake them and recover the prey. So David went, he and the six hundred men 9 that were with him, and they came to the torrent Besor: and some, being weary, stayed there. But David pursued, he and 10 four hundred men: for two hundred stayed, who, being weary, could not go over the torrent Besor. And they found an Egyp- 11 tian in the field, and brought him to David: and they gave him bread to eat, and water to drink, As also a piece of a cake of 12 figs, and two bunches of raisins. And when he had eaten them, his spirit returned, and he was refreshed: for he had not eaten bread, nor drunk water, three days and three nights. And David 13 said to him: To whom dost thou belong; or whence dost thou come? and whither art thou going? He said: I am a young man of Egypt, the servant of an Amalecite: and my master left me, because I began to be sick three days ago. For we made an 14 invasion on the south side of Cerethi, and upon Juda, and upon the south of Caleb, and we burnt Siceleg with fire. And David 15 said to him: Canst thou bring me to this company? and he said: Swear to me by God, that thou wilt not kill me, nor deliver me into the hands of my master, and I will bring thee to this company. And David swore to him. And when he had brought 16 him, behold they were lying spread abroad upon all the ground, eating and drinking, and as it were keeping a festival day, for all the prey and the spoils which they had taken out of the land of the Philistines, and out of the land of Juda. And David slew 17 them from the evening unto the evening of the next day, and there escaped not a man of them, but four hundred young men, who had gotten upon camels, and fled. So David recovered all 18 that the Amalecites had taken, and he rescued his two wives.

And there was nothing missing small or great, neither of their 19 sons or their daughters, nor of the spoils, and whatsoever they had taken, David recovered all. And he took all the flocks and 20 the herds, and made them go before him: and they said: This is the prey of David. And David came to the two hundred 21 men, who, being weary, had stayed, and were not able to follow David, and he had ordered them to abide at the torrent Besor: and they came out to meet David, and the people that were with him. And David coming to the people, saluted them peaceably.
Then all the wicked and unjust men, that had gone with David, 22 answering, said: Because they came not with us, we will not give them any thing of the prey which we have recovered: but let every man take his wife, and his children, and be contented with 23 them, and go his way. But David said: You shall not do so, my brethren, with these things, which the Lord hath given us, who hath kept us, and hath delivered the robbers that invaded 24 us into our hands: And no man shall hearken to you in this matter. But equal shall be the portion of him that went down to battle, and of him that abode at the baggage, and they shall 25 divide alike. And this hath been done from that day forward, and since was made a statute and an ordinance, and as a law 26 in Israel. Then David came to Siceleg, and sent presents of the prey to the ancients of Juda, his neighbours, saying: Receive a 27 blessing of the prey of the enemies of the Lord. To them that were in Bethel, and that were in Ramoth to the south, and to 28 them that were in Jether. And to them that were in Aroer, and 29 that were in Sephamoth, and that were in Esthamo, And that were in Rachal, and that were in the cities of Jerameel, and that 30 were in the cities of Ceni, And that were in Arama, and that 31 were in the lake Asan, and that were in Athach, And that were in Hebron, and to the rest that were in those places, in which David had abode with his men.

31 And the Philistines fought against Israel, and the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines, and fell down slain in mount Gel-2 boe. And the Philistines fell upon Saul, and upon his sons, and they slew Jonathan, and Abinadab, and Melchisua, the sons of 3 Saul. And the whole weight of the battle was turned upon Saul: and the archers overtook him, and he was grievously wounded 4 by the archers. Then Saul said to his armourbearer: Draw thy sword, and kill me: lest these uncircumcised come, and slay me, and mock at me. And his armourbearer would not: for he was struck with exceeding great fear. Then Saul took his sword, and 5 fell upon it. And when his armourbearer saw this, to wit, that Saul was dead, he also fell upon his sword and died with him.
6 So Saul died, and his three sons, and his armourbearer, and all 7 his men that same day together. And the men of Israel, that were beyond the valley, and beyond the Jordan, seeing that the Israelites were fled, and that Saul was dead, and his sons, forsook their cities, and fled: and the Philistines came and dwelt there.
8 And on the morrow the Philistines came to strip the slain, and they found Saul and his three sons lying in mount Gelboe. And 9 they cut off Saul's head, and stripped him of his armour, and sent into the land of the Philistines round about, to publish it in the temples of their idols and among their people. And they put 10 his armour in the temple of Astaroth, but his body they hung on the wall of Bethsan. Now when the inhabitants of Jabes Galaad 11 had heard all that the Philistines had done to Saul, All the most 12 valiant men arose, and walked all the night, and took the body of Saul, and the bodies of his sons, from the wall of Bethsan: and they came to Jabes Galaad, and burnt them there. And 13 they took their bones, and buried them in the wood of Jabes: and fasted seven days.

THE SECOND BOOK OF SAMUEL, OTHERWISE CALLED,
THE SECOND BOOK OF THE KINGS.

1 Now it came to pass, after Saul was dead, that David returned from the slaughter of the Amalecites, and 2 abode two days in Siceleg. And on the third day, there appeared a man who came out of Saul's camp, with his garments rent, and dust strewed on his head: and when 3 he came to David, he fell upon his face, and adored. And David said to him: From whence comest thou? And he said to him: I 4 am fled out of the camp of Israel. And David said unto him:
What is the matter that is come to pass? tell me: He said:
The people are fled from the battle, and many of the people are fallen and dead: moreover Saul and Jonathan his son are slain.
5 And David said to the young man that told him: How knowest 6 thou that Saul and Jonathan his son, are dead? And the young man that told him, said: I came by chance upon mount Gelboe, and Saul leaned upon his spear: and the chariots and horsemen 7 drew nigh unto him, And looking behind him, and seeing me, 8 he called me. And I answered, Here am I. And he said to me: Who art thou? And I said to him: I am an Amalecite.
9 And he said to me: Stand over me, and kill me: for anguish is 10 come upon me, and as yet my whole life is in me. So standing over him, I killed him: for I knew that he could not live after the fall: and I took the diadem that was on his head, and the bracelet that was on his arm, and have brought them hither to 11 thee, my lord. Then David took hold of his garments and rent 12 them, and likewise all the men that were with him. And they mourned, and wept, and fasted until evening for Saul, and for Jonathan his son, and for the people of the Lord, and for the 13 house of Israel, because they were fallen by the sword. And David said to the young man that told him: Whence art thou?
14 He answered: I am the son of a stranger of Amalec. David said to him: Why didst thou not fear to put out thy hand to kill the Lord's anointed? And David calling one of his servants, said: 15 Go near and fall upon him. And he struck him so that he died. And David said to him: Thy blood be upon thy own head: for 16 thy own mouth hath spoken against thee, saying: I have slain the Lord's anointed. And David made this kind of lamentation 17 over Saul, and over Jonathan his son. (Also he commanded that they should teach the children of Juda the use of the bow, 18 as it is written in the book of the just.) And he said: Consider, O Israel, for them that are dead, wounded on thy high places. The illustrious of Israel are slain upon thy mountains: how are 19 the valiant fallen? Tell it not in Geth, publish it not in the streets of Ascalon: lest the daughters of the Philistines rejoice, 20 lest the daughters of the uncircumcised triumph. Ye mountains of Gelboe, let neither dew, nor rain come upon you, neither be 21 they fields of firstfruits: for there was cast away the shield of the valiant, the shield of Saul as though he had not been anointed with oil. From the blood of the slain, from the fat of the valiant, 22 the arrow of Jonathan never turned back, and the sword of Saul did not return empty. Saul and Jonathan, lovely, and comely in 23 their life, even in death they were not divided: they were swifter than eagles, stronger than lions. Ye daughters of Israel, weep 24 over Saul, who clothed you with scarlet in delights, who gave ornaments of gold for your attire. How are the valiant fallen 25 in battle? Jonathan slain in the high places? I grieve for thee, my brother Jonathan: exceeding beautiful, and amiable to me 26 above the love of women. As the mother loveth her only son, so did I love thee. How are the valiant fallen, and the weapons of 27 war perished?

And after these things David consulted the Lord, saying: 2 Shall I go up into one of the cities of Juda? And the Lord said to him: Go up. And David said: Whither shall I go up? And he answered him: Into Hebron. So David went up, and his 2 two wives Achinoam the Jezrahelites, and Abigail the wife of Nabal of Carmel: And the men also that were with him, David 3 brought up every man with his household: and they abode in the towns of Hebron. And the men of Juda came, and anointed 4 David there, to be king over the house of Juda. And it was told David that the men of Jabes Galaad had buried Saul. David 5 therefore sent messengers to the men of Jabes Galaad, and said to them: Blessed be you to the Lord, who have shewn this mercy 6 to your master Saul, and have buried him. And now the Lord surely will render you mercy and truth, and I also will requite you 7 for this good turn, because you have done this thing. Let your hands be strengthened, and be ye men of valour: for although your master Saul be dead, yet the house of Juda hath anointed 8 me to be their king. But Abner the son of Ner, general of Saul's army, took Isboseth the son of Saul, and led him about through 9 the camp, And made him king over Galaad, and over Gessuri, and over Jezrahel, and over Ephraim, and over Benjamin, and 10 over all Israel. Isboseth the son of Saul was forty years old when he began to reign over Israel, and he reigned two years; and only 11 the house of Juda followed David. And the number of the days that David abode, reigning in Hebron over the house of Juda, 12 was seven years and six months. And Abner the son of Ner, and the servants of Isboseth the son of Saul, went out from the 13 camp to Gabaon. And Joab the son of Sarvia, and the servants of David went out, and met them by the pool of Gabaon. And when they were come together, they sat down over against one 14 the other side. And Abner said to Joab: Let the young men rise, and play before us. And Joab answered: Let them rise.

15 Then there arose and went over twelve in number of Benjamin, of the part of Isboseth the son of Saul, and twelve of the servants 16 of David. And every one catching his fellow by the head, thrust his sword into the side of his adversary, and they fell down together: and the name of the place was called: The field of the 17 valiant, in Gabaon. And there was a very fierce battle that day: and Abner was put to flight, with the men of Israel, by 18 the servants of David. And there were the three sons of Sarvia there, Joab, and Abisai, and Asael: now Asael was a most swift 19 runner, like one of the roes that abide in the woods. And Asael pursued after Abner, and turned not to the right hand nor to the left from following Abner. And Abner looked behind him, and 20 said: Art thou Asael? And he answered: I am. And Abner said to him: Go to the right hand or to the left, and lay hold on one 21 of the young men and take thee his spoils. But Asael would not leave off following him close. And again Abner said to Asael: 22

Go off, and do not follow me, lest I be obliged to stab thee to the ground, and I shall not be able to hold up my face to Joab thy brother. But he refused to hearken to him, and would not turn 23 aside: wherefore Abner struck him with his spear with a back stroke in the groin, and thrust him through, and he died upon the spot: and all that came to the place where Asael fell down and died stood still. Now while Joab and Abisai pursued after 24 Abner, the sun went down: and they came as far as the hill of the aqueduct, that lieth over against the valley by the way of the wilderness in Gabaon. And the children of Benjamin gathered 25 themselves together to Abner: and being joined in one body, they stood on the top of a hill. And Abner cried out to Joab, 26 and said: Shall thy sword rage unto utter destruction? knowest thou not that it is dangerous to drive people to despair? how long dost thou defer to bid the people cease from pursuing after their brethren? And Joab said: As the Lord liveth, if thou 27 hadst spoke sooner, even in the morning the people should have retired from pursuing after their brethren. Then Joab sounded 28 the trumpet, and all the army stood still, and did not pursue after Israel any farther, nor fight any more. And Abner and his 29 men walked all that night through the plains: and they passed the Jordan, and having gone through all Beth-horon, came to the camp. And Joab returning, after he had left Abner, assembled 30 all the people: and there were wanting of David's servants nineteen men, beside Asael. But the servants of David had killed of 31 Benjamin, and of the men that were with Abner, three hundred and sixty, who all died. And they took Asael, and buried him 32 in the sepulchre of his father in Bethlehem and Joab, and the men that were with him, marched all the night, and they came to Hebron at break of day.

Now there was a long war between the house of Saul and the 3 house of David: David prospering and growing always stronger and stronger, but the house of Saul decaying daily. And sons 2 were born to David in Hebron: and his firstborn was Ammon of Achinoam the Jezrahelites: And his second Cheleab of Abigail 3 the wife of Nabal of Carmel: and the third Absalom the son of Maacha the daughter of Tholmai king of Gessur: And the 4 fourth Adonias, the son of Haggith: and the fifth Saphathia the son of Abital: And the sixth Jethraam of Eglia the wife of David: 5 6 these were born to David In Hebron. Now while there was war between the house of Saul and the house of David, Abner the 7 son of Ner ruled the house of Saul. And Saul had a concubine named Respha, the daughter of Aia. And Isboseth said to Abner: 8 Why didst thou go in to my father's concubine? And he was exceedingly angry for the words of Isboseth, and said: Am I a dog's head against Juda this day, who have shewn mercy to the house of Saul thy father, and to his brethren and friends, and have not delivered thee into the hands of David, and hast thou sought this day against me to charge me with a matter 9 concerning a woman? So do God to Abner, and more also, 10 unless as the Lord hath sworn to David, so I do to him, That the kingdom be translated from the house of Saul, and the throne of David be set up over Israel, and over Juda from Dan to Bersabee.

11 And he could not answer him a word, because he feared him.
12 Abner therefore sent messengers to David for himself, saying: Whose is the land? and that they should say: Make a league with me, and my hand shall be with thee: and I will bring all 13 Israel to thee. And he said: Very well: I will make a league with thee: but one thing I require of thee, saying: Thou shalt not see my face before thou bring Michol the daughter of Saul: and so 14 thou shalt come, and see me. And David sent messengers to Isboseth the son of Saul, saying: Restore my wife Michol, whom 15 I espoused to me for a hundred foreskins of the Philistines. And Isboseth sent, and took her from her husband Phaltiel, the son of 16 Lais. And her husband followed her, weeping as far as Bahurim: 17 and Abner said to him: Go and return. And he returned. Abner also spoke to the ancients of Israel, saying: Both yesterday and the day before you sought for David that he might reign over you.
18 Now then do it: because the Lord hath spoken to David, saying:
By the hand of my servant David I will save my people Israel 19 from the hands of the Philistines, and of all their enemies. And Abner spoke also to Benjamin. And he went to speak to David in Hebron all that seemed good to Israel, and to all Benjamin.
20 And he came to David in Hebron with twenty men: and David 21 made a feast for Abner, and his men that came with him. And Abner said to David: I will rise, that I may gather all Israel unto thee my lord the king, and may enter into a league with thee, and that thou mayst reign over all as thy soul desireth. Now when David had brought Abner on his way, and he was gone in peace, Immediately, David's servants and Joab came, after 22 having slain the robbers, with an exceeding great booty. And Abner was not with David in Hebron, for he had now sent him away, and he was gone in peace. And Joab and all the army 23 that was with him, came afterwards: and it was told Joab, that Abner the son of Ner came to the king, and he hath sent him away, and he is gone in peace. And Joab went in to the king, 24 and said: What hast thou done? Behold Abner came to thee: Why didst thou send him away, and he is gone and departed? Knowest thou not Abner the son of Ner, that to this end he 25 came to thee, that he might deceive thee, and to know thy going out, and thy coming in, and to know all thou dost? Then Joab 26 going out from David, sent messengers after Abner, and brought him back from the cistern of Sira, David knowing nothing of it. And when Abner was returned to Hebron, Joab took him aside 27 to the middle of the gate, to speak to him treacherously: and he stabbed him there in the groin, and he died, in revenge of the blood of Asael his brother. And when David heard of it, 28 after the thing was now done, he said: I, and my kingdom are innocent before the Lord for ever of the blood of Abner the son of Ner: And may it come upon the head of Joab, and upon all his 29 father's house: and let there not fail from the house of Joab one that hath an issue of seed, or that is a leper, or that holdeth the distaff, or that falleth by the sword, or that wanteth bread. So 30 Joab and Abisai his brother slew Abner, because he had killed their brother Asael at Gabaon in the battle. And David said 31 to Joab, and to all the people that were with him: Rend your garments, and gird yourselves with sackcloths, and mourn before the funeral of Abner. And king David himself followed the bier. And when they had buried Abner in Hebron, king David lifted 32 up his voice, and wept at the grave of Abner: and all the people also wept. And the king mourning and lamenting over Abner, 33 said: Not as cowards are wont to die, hath Abner died. Thy 34 hands were not bound, nor thy feet laden with fetters: but as men fall before the children of iniquity, so didst thou fall. And all the people repeating it wept over him. And when all the 35 people came to take meat with David, while it was yet broad day, David swore, saying: So do God to me, and more also, if I

36 taste bread or any thing else before sunset. And all the people heard, and they were pleased, and all that the king did seemed 37 good in the sight of all the people. And all the people, and all Israel understood that day that it was not the king's doing, 38 that Abner the son of Ner was slain. The king also said to his servants: Do you not know that a prince and a great man is 39 slain this day in Israel? But I as yet am tender, though anointed king. And these men the sons of Sarvia are too hard for me: the Lord reward him that doth evil according to his wickedness.

4 And Isboseth the son of Saul heard that Abner was slain in Hebron: and his hands were weakened, and all Israel was 2 troubled. Now the son of Saul had two men captains of his bands, the name of the one was Baana, and the name of the other Rechab, the sons of Remmon a Berothite of the children 3 of Benjamin: for Beroth also was reckoned in Benjamin. And the Berothites fled into Gethaim, and were sojourners there until 4 that time. And Jonathan the son of Saul had a son that was lame of his feet: for he was five years old when the tidings came of Saul and Jonathan from Jezrahel. And his nurse took him up and fled: and as she made haste to flee, he fell and became 5 lame: and his name was Miphiboseth. And the sons of Remmon the Berothite, Rechab and Baana coming, went into the house of Isboseth in the heat of the day: and he was sleeping upon his bed at noon. And the doorkeeper of the house, who was 6 cleansing wheat, was fallen asleep. And they entered into the house secretly taking ears of corn, and Rechab and Baana his 7 brother stabbed him in the groin, and fled away. For when they came into the house, he was sleeping upon his bed in a parlour, and they struck him and killed him and taking away his head they went off by the way of the wilderness, walking 8 all night. And they brought the head of Isboseth to David to Hebron: and they said to the king: Behold the head of Isboseth the son of Saul thy enemy who sought thy life: and the Lord hath revenged my lord the king this day of Saul, and of his seed.
9 But David answered Rechab, and Baana his brother, the sons of Remmon the Berothite, and said to them: As the Lord liveth, 10 who hath delivered my soul out of all distress, The man that told me, and said: Saul is dead, who thought he brought good tidings, I apprehended, and slew him in Siceleg, who should have been rewarded for his news. How much more now when wicked 11 men have slain an innocent man in his own house, upon his bed, shall I not require his blood at your hand, and take you away from the earth? And David commanded his servants and they 12 slew them: and cutting off their hands and feet, hanged them up over the pool in Hebron: but the head of Isboseth they took and buried in the sepulchre of Abner in Hebron.

Then all the tribes of Israel came to David in Hebron, saying: 5 Behold we are thy bone and thy flesh. Moreover yesterday also 2 and the day before, when Saul was king over us, thou wast he that did lead out and bring in Israel: and the Lord said to thee: Thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt be prince over Israel. The ancients also of Israel came to the king of Hebron, 3 and king David made a league with them in Hebron before the Lord: and they anointed David to be king over Israel. David 4 was thirty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years. In Hebron he reigned over Juda seven years and six 5 months: and in Jerusalem he reigned three and thirty years over all Israel and Juda. And the king and all the men that were 6 with him went to Jerusalem to the Jebusites the inhabitants of the land: and they said to David: Thou shalt not come in hither unless thou take away the blind and the lame that say: David shall not come in hither. But David took the castle of 7 Sion, the same is the city of David. For David had offered that 8 day a reward to whosoever should strike the Jebusites and get up to the gutters of the tops of the houses, and take away the blind and the lame that hated the soul of David: therefore it is said in the proverb: The blind and the lame shall not come into the temple. And David dwelt in the castle, and called 9 it, The city of David: and built round about from Mello and inwards. And he went on prospering and growing up, and the 10 Lord God of hosts was with him. And Hiram the king of Tyre 11 sent messengers to David, and cedar trees, and carpenters, and masons for walls: and they built a house for David. And David 12 knew that the Lord had confirmed him king over Israel, and that he had exalted his kingdom over his people Israel. And 13 David took more concubines and wives of Jerusalem, after he was come from Hebron: and there were born to David other sons also and daughters: And these are the names of them, that were 14 born to him in Jerusalem, Samua, and Sobab, and Nathan, and 15, 16 Solomon, And Jebahar, and Elisua, and Nepheg, And Japhia, 17 and Elisama, and Elioda, and Eliphaleth. And the Philistines heard that they had anointed David to be king over Israel: and they all came to seek David: and when David heard of it, he 18 went down to a strong hold. And the Philistines coming spread 19 themselves in the valley of Raphaim. And David consulted the Lord, Saying: Shall I go up to the Philistines? and wilt thou deliver them into my hand? And the Lord said to David: Go 20 up, for I will surely deliver the Philistines into thy hand. And David came to Baal Pharisim: and defeated them there, and he said, The Lord hath divided my enemies before me, as waters are divided. Therefore the name of the place was called Baal 21 Pharisim. And they left there their idols: which David and his 22 men took away. And the Philistines came up again and spread 23 themselves into the valley of Raphaim. And David consulted the Lord: Shall I go up against the Philistines, and wilt thou deliver them into my hands? He answered: Go not up against them but fetch a compass behind them, and thou shalt come 24 upon them over against the pear trees. And when thou shalt hear the sound of one going in the tops of the pear trees, then shalt thou join battle: for then will the Lord go out before thy 25 face to strike the army of the Philistines. And David did as the Lord had commanded him, and he smote the Philistines from Gabaa until thou come to Gezer.

6 And David again gathered together all the chosen men of 2 Israel, thirty thousand. And David arose and went, with all the people that were with him of the men of Juda to fetch the ark of God, upon which the name of the Lord of Hosts is invoked, who 3 sitteth over it upon the cherubims. And they laid the ark of God upon a new cart: and took it out of the house of Abinadab, who was in Gabaa, and Oza and Ahio, the sons of Abinadab, 4 drove the new cart. And when they had taken it out of the house of Abinadab, who was in Gabaa, Ahio having care of the 5 ark of God went before the ark. But David and all Israel played before the Lord on all manner of instruments made of wood, on 6 harps and lutes and timbrels and cornets and cymbals. And when they came to the floor of Nachon, Oza put forth his hand to the ark of God, and took hold of it: because the oxen kicked and made it lean aside. And the indignation of the Lord was 7 enkindled against Oza, and he struck him for his rashness: and he died there before the ark of God. And David was grieved 8 because the Lord had struck Oza, and the name of that place was called: The striking of Oza, to this day. And David was afraid 9 of the Lord that day, saying: How shall the ark of the Lord come to me? And he would not have the ark of the Lord brought in 10 to himself into the city of David: but he caused it to be carried into the house of Obedom the Gethite. And the ark of the 11 Lord abode in the house of Obedom the Gethite three months: and the Lord blessed Obedom, and all his household. And it 12 was told king David, that the Lord had blessed Obedom, and all that he had, because of the ark of God. So David went, and brought away the ark of God out of the house of Obedom into the city of David with joy. And there were with David seven choirs, and calves for victims. And when they that carried the 13 ark of the Lord had gone six paces, he sacrificed an ox and a ram: And David danced with all his might before the Lord: 14 and David was girded with a linen ephod. And David and all 15 the house of Israel brought the ark of the covenant of the Lord with joyful shouting, and with sound of trumpet. And when 16 the ark of the Lord was come into the city of David, Michol the daughter of Saul, looking out through a window, saw king David leaping and dancing before the Lord: and she despised him in her heart. And they brought the ark of the Lord, and set it in 17 its place in the midst of the tabernacle, which David had pitched for it: and David offered holocausts, and peace offerings before the Lord. And when he had made an end of offering holocausts 18 and peace offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the Lord of hosts. And he distributed to all the multitude of Israel, 19 both men and women, to every one, a cake of bread, and a piece of roasted beef, and fine flour fried with oil: and all the people departed every one to his own house. And David returned to 20 bless his own house: and Michol the daughter of Saul coming out to meet David, said: How glorious was the king of Israel to day, uncovering himself before the handmaids of his servants, and was naked, as if one of the buffoons should be naked. And David 21 said to Michol: Before the Lord, who chose me rather than thy father, and than all his house, and commanded me to be ruler 22 over the people of the Lord in Israel, I will both play and make myself meaner than I have done: and I will be little in my own eyes: and with the handmaids of whom thou speakest, I shall 23 appear more glorious. Therefore Michol the daughter of Saul had no child to the day of her death.

7 And it came to pass when the king sat in his house, and the 2 Lord had given him rest on every side from all his enemies, He said to Nathan the prophet: Dost thou see that I dwell in a 3 house of cedar, and the ark of God is lodged within skins? And Nathan said to the king: Go, do all that is in thy heart: because 4 the Lord is with thee. But it came to pass that night, that the 5 word of the Lord came to Nathan, saying: Go, and say to my servant David: Thus saith the Lord: Shalt thou build me a house 6 to dwell in? Whereas I have not dwelt in a house from the day that I brought the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt even to this day: but have walked in a tabernacle, and in a tent.
7 In all the places that I have gone through with all the children of Israel, did ever I speak a word to any one of the tribes of Israel, whom I commanded to feed my people Israel, saying: Why have 8 you not built me a house of cedar? And now thus shalt thou speak to my servant David: Thus saith the Lord of hosts: I took thee out of the pastures from following the sheep to be ruler 9 over my people Israel: And I have been with thee wheresoever thou hast walked, and have slain all thy enemies from before thy face: and I have made thee a great man, like unto the name 10 of the great ones that are on the earth. And I will appoint a place for my people Israel, and I will plant them, and they shall dwell therein, and shall be disturbed no more: neither shall the children of iniquity afflict them any more as they did before, 11 From the day that I appointed judges over my people Israel: and I will give thee rest from all thy enemies. And the Lord foretelleth to thee, that the Lord will make thee a house. And when thy days shall be fulfilled, and thou shalt sleep with thy fathers, I will raise up thy seed after thee, which shall proceed out 12 of the bowels, and I will establish his kingdom. He shall build a house to my name, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom 13 fore ever. I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son: and if he commit any iniquity, I will correct him with the rod of 14 men, and with the stripes of the children of men. But my mercy

I will not take away from him, as I took it from Saul, whom I removed from before my face. And thy house shall be faithful, and thy kingdom for ever before thy face, and thy throne shall be firm for ever. According to all these words and according to all this vision so did Nathan speak to David. And David went in, and sat before the Lord, and said: Who am I, O Lord God, and what is my house, that thou hast brought me thus far? Bur yet this hath seemed little in thy sight, O Lord God, unless thou didst also speak of the house of thy servant for a long time to come: for this is the law of Adam, O Lord God: And what can David say more unto thee? for thou knowest thy servant, O Lord God: For thy word's sake, and according to thy own heart thou has done all these great things, so that thou wouldst make it known to thy servant. Therefore thou art magnified, O Lord God, because there is none like to thee, neither is there any God besides thee, in all the things that we have heard with our ears. And what nation is there upon earth, as thy people Israel, whom God went to redeem for a people to himself, and to make him a name, and to do for them great and terrible things, upon the earth, before the face of thy people, whom thou redeemedst to thyself out of Egypt, from the nations and their gods. For thou hast confirmed to thyself thy people Israel to be an everlasting people: and thou, O Lord God, art become their God. And now, O Lord God, raise up for ever the word that thou hast spoken, concerning thy servant and concerning his house: and do as thou hast spoken, That thy name may be magnified for ever, and it may be said: The Lord of hosts is God over Israel. And the house of thy servant David shall be established before the Lord. Because thou, O Lord of hosts, God of Israel, hast revealed to the ear of thy servant, saying: I will build thee a house: therefore hath thy servant found in his heart to pray this prayer to thee. And now, O Lord God, thou art God, and thy words shall be true: for thou hast spoken to thy servant these good things. And now begin, and bless the house of thy servant, that it may endure for ever before thee: because thou, O Lord God, hast spoken it, and with thy blessing let the house of thy servant be blessed for ever.

And it came to pass after this that David defeated the Philistines, and brought them down, and David took the bridle of tribute

2 out of the hand of the Philistines, And he defeated Moab, and measured them with a line, casting them down to the earth: and he measured with two lines, one to put to death, and one to save alive: and Moab was made to serve David under tribute.

3 David defeated also Adarezer the son of Rohob king of Soba, when he went to extend his dominion over the river Euphrates.

4 And David took from him a thousand and seven hundred horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen, and houghed all the chariot horses: and only reserved of them for one hundred chariots.

5 And the Syrians of Damascus came to succour Adarezer the king of Soba: and David slew of the Syrians two and twenty thousand

6 men. And David put garrisons in Syria of Damascus: and Syria served David under tribute, and the Lord preserved David in all

7 his enterprises, whithersoever he went. And David took the arms of gold, which the servants of Adarezer wore and brought

8 them to Jerusalem. And out of Bete, and out of Beroth, cities of Adarezer, king David took and exceeding great quantity of 9 brass. And Thou the king of Emath heard that David had defeated all the forces of Adarezer. And Thou sent Joram his son

10 to king David, to salute him, and to congratulate with him, and to return him thanks: because he had fought against Adarezer, and had defeated him. For Thou was an enemy to Adarezer, and in his hand were vessels of gold, and vessels of silver, and

11 vessels of brass: And king David dedicated them to the Lord, together with the silver and gold that he had dedicated of all the

12 nations, which he had subdued: Of Syria, and of Moab, and of the children Ammon, and of the Philistines, and of Amalec, and

13 of the spoils of Adarezer the son of Rohob king of Soba. David also made himself a name, when he returned after taking Syria

14 in the valley of the saltpits, killing eighteen thousand: And he put guards in Edom, and placed there a garrison: and all Edom was made to serve David: and the Lord preserved David in all

15 enterprises he went about. And David reigned over all Israel: and David did judgment and justice to all his people. And Joab the son Sarvia was over the army: and Josaphat the son

17 of Ahilud was recorder: And Sadoc the son of Achitob, and Achimelech the son of Abiathar, were the priests: and Saraias was the scribe: And Banaias the son of Joiada was over the 18 Cerethi and Phelethi: and the sons of David were the princes.

And David said: Is there any one, think you, left of the house 9 of Saul, that I may shew kindness to him for Jonathan's sake?
Now there was of the house of Saul, a servant named Siba: and 2 when the king had called him to him, he said to him: Art thou Siba? And he answered: I am Siba thy servant. And the king 3 said: Is there any one left of the house of Saul, that I may shew the mercy of God unto Him? And Siba said to the king: There is a son of Jonathan left, who is lame of his feet. Where is 4 he? said he. And Siba said to the king: Behold he is in the house of Machir the son of Ammiel in Lodabar. Then King 5 David sent, and brought him out of the house of Machir the son of Ammiel of Lodabar. And when Miphiboseth the son 6 of Jonathan the son of Saul was come to David, he fell on his face and worshipped. And David said: Miphiboseth? And he answered: Behold thy servant. And David said to him: Fear 7 not, for I will surely shew thee mercy for Jonathan thy father's sake, and I will restore the lands of Saul the father, and thou shalt eat bread at my table always. He bowed down to him, 8 and said: Who am I thy servant, that thou shouldst look upon such a dead dog as I am? Then the King called Siba the servant 9 of Saul, and said to him: All that belonged to Saul, and all his house, I have given to thy master's son. Thou therefore and the 10 sons and thy servants shall till the land for him: and thou shalt bring in food for thy master's son, that he may be maintained: and Miphiboseth the son of thy master shall always eat bread at my table. And Siba had fifteen sons and twenty servants. And 11 Siba said to the king: As thou my lord the hast commanded thy servant, so will thy servant do: and Miphiboseth shall eat at my table, as one of the sons of the King. And Miphiboseth had a 12 young son whose name was Micha: and all that kindred of the house of Siba served Miphiboseth. But Miphiboseth dwelt in 13 Jerusalem: because he ate always of the king's table: and he was lame of both feet.

And it came to pass after this, that the king of the children 10 of Ammon died, and Hanon his son reigned in his stead. And 2 David said: I will shew kindness to Hanon the son of Daas, as his father shewed kindness to me. So David sent his servants to comfort him for the death of his father. But when the servants of David were come into the land of the children of Ammon,

3 The princes of the children of Ammon said to Hanon their lord: Thinkest thou that for the honour of thy father, David hath sent comforters to thee, and hath not David rather sent his servants to thee to search, and spy into the city, and overthrow it?

4 Wherefore Hanon took the servants of David, and shaved off the one half of their beards, and cut away half of their garments

5 even to the buttocks, and sent them away. When this was told David, he sent to meet them: for the men were sadly put to confusion, and David commanded them, saying: Stay at Jericho,

6 till your beards be grown, and then return. And the children of Ammon seeing that they had done an injury to David, sent and hired the Syrians of Rohob, and the Syrians of Soba, twenty thousand footmen, and of the king of Maacha a thousand men,

7 and of Istob twelve thousand men. And when David heard this, he sent Joab and the whole army of warriors. And the children of Ammon came out, and set their men in array at the entering in of the gate: but the Syrians of Soba, and of Rohob, and of 9 Istob, and of Maacha were by themselves in the field. Then Joab seeing that the battle was prepared against him, both before and behind, chose of all the choice men of Israel, and put

10 them in array against the Syrians: And the rest of the people he delivered to Abisai his brother, who set them in array against 11 the children of Ammon. And Joab said: If the Syrians are too strong for me, then thou shalt help me, but if the children of 12 Ammon are too strong for thee, then I will help thee. Be of good courage, and let us fight for our people, and for the city of 13 our God: and the Lord will do what is good in his sight. And Joab and the people that were with him, began to fight against 14 the Syrians: and they immediately fled before him. And the children of Ammon seeing that the Syrians were fled, they fled also before Abisai, and entered into the city: and Joab returned 15 from the children of Ammon, and came to Jerusalem. Then the Syrians seeing that they had fallen before Israel, gathered themselves together. And Adarezer sent and fetched the Syrians, 16 that were beyond the river, and brought over their army: and Sobach, the captain of the host of Adarezer, was their general.

17 And when this was told David, he gathered all Israel together, and passed over the Jordan, and came to Helam: and the Syrians set themselves in array against David, and fought against him.

And the Syrians fled before Israel, and David slew of the Syrians 18 the men of seven hundred chariots, and forty thousand horsemen: and smote Sobach the captain of the army, who presently died. And all the kings that were auxiliaries of Adarezer, seeing 19 themselves overcome by Israel, were afraid and fled away, eight and fifty thousand men before Israel. And they made peace with Israel: and served them, and all the Syrians were afraid to help the children of Ammon any more.

And it came to pass at the return of the year, at the time when 11 kings go forth to war, that David sent Joab and his servants with him, and all Israel, and they spoiled the children of Ammon, and besieged Rabba: but David remained in Jerusalem. In 2 the mean time it happened that David arose from his bed after noon, and walked upon the roof of the king's house: And he saw from the roof of his house a woman washing herself, over against him: and the woman was very beautiful. And the king 3 sent, and inquired who the woman was. And it was told him, that she was Bethsabee the daughter of Eliam, the wife of Urias the Hethite. And David sent messengers, and took her, and 4 she came in to him, and he slept with her: and presently she was purified from her uncleanness: And she returned to her 5 house having conceived. And she sent and told David, and said: I have conceived. And David sent to Joab, saying: Send me 6 Urias the Hethite. And Joab sent Urias to David. And Urias 7 came to David. And David asked how Joab did, and the people, and how the war was carried on. And David said to Urias: Go 8 into thy house, and wash thy feet. And Urias went out from the king's house, and there went out after him a mess of meat from the king. But Urias slept before the gate of the king's house, 9 with the other servants of his lord, and went not down to his own house. And it was told David by some that said: Urias went not 10 to his house. And David said to Urias: Didst thou not come from thy journey? why didst thou not go down to thy house? And 11 Urias said to David: The ark of God and Israel and Juda dwell in tents, and my lord Joab and the servants of my lord abide upon the face of the earth: and shall I go into my house, to eat and to drink, and to sleep with my wife? By thy welfare and by the welfare of thy soul I will not do this thing. Then David said 12 to Urias: Tarry here to day, and to morrow I will send thee away.

13 Urias tarried in Jerusalem that day and the next. And David called him to eat and to drink before him, and he made him drunk: and he went out in the evening, and slept on his couch with the servants of his lord, and went not down into his house.

14 And when the morning was come, David wrote a letter to Joab: 15 and sent it by the hand of Urias, Writing in the letter: Set ye Urias in the front of the battle, where the fight is strongest: and 16 leave ye him, that he may be wounded and die. Wherefore as Joab was besieging the city, he put Urias in the place where he 17 knew the bravest men were. And the men coming out of the city, fought against Joab, and there fell some of the people of the 18 servants of David, and Urias the Hethite was killed also. Then 19 Joab sent, and told David all things concerning the battle. And he charged the messenger, saying: When thou hast told all the 20 words of the battle to the king, If thou see him to be angry, and he shall say: Why did you approach so near to the wall to fight? knew you not that many darts are thrown from above 21 off the wall? Who killed Abimelech the son of Jerobaal? did not a woman cast a piece of a millstone upon him from the wall and slew him in Thebes? Why did you go near the wall? Thou 22 shalt say: Thy servant Urias the Hethite is also slain. So the messenger departed, and came and told David all that Joab had 23 commanded him. And the messenger said to David: The men prevailed against us, and they came out to us into the field: and we vigorously charged and pursued them even to the gate of the 24 city. And the archers shot their arrows at thy servants from off the wall above: and some of the king's servants are slain, 25 and thy servant Urias the Hethite is also dead. And David said to the messenger: Thus shalt thou say to Joab: Let not this thing discourage thee: for various is the event of war: and sometimes one, sometimes another is consumed by the sword: encourage thy warriors against the city, and exhort them that 26 thou mayest overthrow it. And the wife of Urias heard that 27 Urias her husband was dead, and she mourned for him. And the mourning being over, David sent and brought her into his house, and she became his wife, and she bore him a son: and this thing which David had done, was displeasing to the Lord.

12 And the Lord sent Nathan to David: and when he was come to him, he said to him: There were two men in one city, the one rich, and the other poor. The rich man had exceeding 2 many sheep and oxen. But the poor man had nothing at all 3 but one little ewe lamb, which he had bought and nourished up, and which had grown up in his house together with his children, eating of his bread, and drinking of his cup, and sleeping in his bosom: and it was unto him as a daughter. And when a 4 certain stranger was come to the rich man, he spared to take of his own sheep and oxen, to make a feast for that stranger, who was come to him, but took the poor man's ewe, and dressed it for the man that was come to him. And David's anger being 5 exceedingly kindled against that man, he said to Nathan: As the Lord liveth, the man that hath done this is a child of death. He 6 shall restore the ewe fourfold, because he did this thing, and had no pity. And Nathan said to David: Thou art the man. Thus 7 saith the Lord the God of Israel: I anointed thee king over Israel, and I delivered thee from the hand of Saul, And gave thee thy 8 master's house and thy master's wives into thy bosom, and gave thee the house of Israel and Juda: and if these things be little, I shall add far greater things unto thee. Why therefore hast thou 9 despised the word of the Lord, to do evil in my sight? Thou hast killed Urias the Hethite with the sword, and hast taken his wife to be thy wife, and hast slain him with the sword of the children of Ammon. Therefore the sword shall never depart from thy 10 house, because thou hast despised me, and hast taken the wife of Urias the Hethite to be thy wife. Thus saith the Lord: Behold, 11 I will raise up evil against thee out of thy own house, and I will take thy wives before thy eyes and give them to thy neighbour, and he shall lie with thy wives in the sight of this sun. For thou 12 didst it secretly: but I will do this thing in the sight of all Israel, and in the sight of the sun. And David said to Nathan: I have 13 sinned against the Lord. And Nathan said to David: The Lord also hath taken away thy sin: thou shalt not die. Nevertheless, 14 because thou hast given occasion to the enemies of the Lord to blaspheme, for this thing, the child that is born to thee, shall surely die. And Nathan returned to his house. The Lord also 15 struck the child which the wife of Urias had borne to David, and his life was despaired of. And David besought the Lord for the child: and David kept a fast, and going in by himself lay upon the ground. And the ancients of his house came, to make him 17 rise from the ground: but he would not, neither did he eat meat 18 with them. And it came to pass on the seventh day that the child died: and the servants of David feared to tell him, that the child was dead. For they said: Behold when the child was yet alive, we spoke to him, and he would not hearken to our voice: 19 how much more will he afflict himself if we tell him that the child is dead? But when David saw his servants whispering, he understood that the child was dead: and he said to his servants: 20 Is the child dead? They answered him He is dead. Then David arose from the ground, and washed and anointed himself: and when he had changed his apparel, he went into the house of the Lord: and worshipped, and then he came into his own house, 21 and he called for bread, and ate. And his servants said to him: What thing is this that thou hast done? thou didst fast and weep for the child, while it was alive, but when the child was 22 dead, thou didst rise up, and eat bread. And he said: While the child was yet alive, I fasted and wept for him: for I said: Who knoweth whether the Lord may not give him to me, and 23 the child may live? But now that he is dead, why should I fast?

Shall I be able to bring him back any more? I shall go to him 24 rather: but he shall not return to me. And David comforted Bethsabee his wife, and went in unto her, and slept with her: and she bore a son, and he called his name Solomon, and the Lord 25 loved him. And he sent by the hand of Nathan the prophet, and called his name, Amiable to the Lord, because the Lord 26 loved him. And Joab fought against Rabbath of the children of 27 Ammon, and laid close siege to the royal city. And Joab sent messengers to David, saying: I have fought against Rabbath, and 28 the city of waters is about to be taken. Now therefore gather thou the rest of the people together, and besiege the city and take it: lest when the city shall be wasted by me, the victory 29 be ascribed to my name. Then David gathered all the people together, and went out against Rabbath: and after fighting, he 30 took it. And he took the crown of their king from his head, the weight of which was a talent of gold, set with most precious stones, and it was put upon David's head, and the spoils of the 31 city which were very great he carried away. And bringing forth the people thereof he sawed them, and drove over them chariots armed with iron: and divided them with knives, and made them pass through brickkilns: so did he to all the cities of the children of Ammon: and David returned, with all the army to Jerusalem.

And it came to pass after this that Ammon the son of David 13 loved the sister of Absalom the son of David, who was very beautiful, and her name was Thamar. And he was exceedingly fond 2 of her, so that he fell sick for the love of her: for as she was a virgin, he thought it hard to do any thing dishonestly with her. Now Ammon had a friend, named Jonadab the son of Semmaa 3 the brother of David, a very wise man: And he said to him: 4 Why dost thou grow so lean from day to day, O son of the king? why dost thou not tell me the reason of it? And Ammon said to him: I am in love with Thamar the sister of my brother Absalom. And Jonadab said to him: Lie down upon thy bed, and 5 feign thyself sick: and when thy father shall come to visit thee, say to him: Let my sister Thamar, I pray thee, come to me, to give me to eat, and to make me a mess, that I may eat it at her hand. So Ammon lay down, and made as if he were sick: 6 and when the king came to visit him, Ammon said to the king: I pray thee let my sister Thamar come, and make in my sight two little messes, that I may eat at her hand. Then David sent 7 home to Thamar, saying: Come to the house of thy brother Ammon, and make him a mess. And Thamar came to the house 8 of Ammon her brother: but he was laid down: and she took meal and tempered it: and dissolving it in his sight she made little messes. And taking what she had boiled, she poured it 9 out, and set it before him, but he would not eat: and Ammon said: Put out all persons from me. And when they had put all persons out, Ammon said to Thamar: Bring the mess into the 10 chamber, that I may eat at thy hand. And Thamar took the little messes which she had made, and brought them in to her brother Ammon in the chamber. And when she had presented 11 him the meat, he took hold of her, and said: Come lie with me, my sister. She answered him: Do not so, my brother, do not 12 force me: for no such thing must be done in Israel. Do not thou this folly. For I shall not be able to bear my shame, and thou 13 shalt be as one of the fools in Israel: but rather speak to the king, and he will not deny me to thee. But he would not hearken to 14 her prayers, but being stronger overpowered her and lay with her. Then Ammon hated her with an exceeding great hatred: 15 so that the hatred wherewith he hated her was greater than the love with which he had loved her before. And Ammon said to 16 her: Arise, and get thee gone. She answered him: The evil which now thou dost against me, in driving me away, is greater than that which thou didst before. And he would not hearken 17 to her: But calling the servants that ministered to him, he said: Thrust this woman out from me: and shut the door after her.

18 And she was clothed with a long robe: for the king's daughters that were virgins, used such kind of garments. Then his servant 19 thrust her out: and shut the door after her. And she put ashes on her head, and rent her long robe and laid her hands upon her 20 head, and went on crying. And Absalom her brother said to her: Hath thy brother Ammon lain with thee? but now, sister, hold thy peace, he is thy brother: and afflict not thy heart for this thing. So Tamar remained pining away in the house of Absalom her brother. And when king David heard of these things he was exceedingly grieved: and he would not afflict the spirit of his son Ammon, for he loved him, because he was his first-born. But Absalom spoke not to Ammon neither good nor evil: for Absalom hated Ammon because he had ravished his sister 23 Tamar. And it came to pass after two years, that the sheep of Absalom were shorn in Baalhasor, which is near Ephraim: and 24 Absalom invited all the king's sons: And he came to the king, and said to him: Behold thy servant's sheep are shorn. Let the 25 king, I pray, with his servants come to his servant. And the king said to Absalom: Nay, my son, do not ask that we should all come, and be chargeable to thee. And when he pressed him, 26 and he would not go, he blessed him. And Absalom said: If thou wilt not come, at least let my brother Ammon, I beseech thee, come with us. And the king said to him: It is not necessary that he should go with thee. But Absalom pressed him, 27 so that he let Ammon and all the king's sons go with him. And Absalom made a feast as it were the feast of a king. And Absalom had commanded his servants, saying: Take notice when Ammon shall be drunk with wine, and when I shall say to you: Strike him, and kill him, fear not: for it is I that command you: 28 take courage, and be valiant men. And the servants of Absalom did to Ammon as Absalom had commanded them. And all the king's sons arose and got up every man upon his mule, and fled.

And while they were yet in the way, a rumour came to David, 30 saying: Absalom hath slain all the king's sons, and there is not one them left. Then the king rose up, and rent his garments: 31 and fell upon the ground, and all his servants, that stood about him, rent their garments. But Jonadab the son of Semmaa 32 David's brother answering, said: Let not my lord the king think that all the king's sons are slain: Ammon only is dead, for he was appointed by the mouth of Absalom from the day that he 33 ravished his sister Tamar. Now therefore let not my lord the king take this thing into his heart, saying: All the king's sons are slain: for Ammon only is dead. But Absalom fled away: 34 and the young man that kept the watch, lifted up his eyes and looked, and behold there came much people by a by-way on the side of the mountain. And Jonadab said to the king: Behold 35 the king's sons are come: as thy servant said, so it is. And when 36 he made an end of speaking, the king's sons also appeared: and coming in they lifted up their voice, and wept: and the king also and all his servants wept very much. But Absalom fled, and 37 went to Tholomai the son of Ammiud the king of Gessur. And David mourned for his son every day. And Absalom after he 38 was fled, and come into Gessur, was there three years. And king David ceased to pursue after Absalom, because he was comforted concerning the death of Ammon.

And Joab the son of Sarvia, understanding that the king's 14 heart was turned to Absalom, Sent to Thecua, and fetched from 2 thence a wise woman: and said to her: Feign thyself to be a mourner, and put on mourning apparel, and be not anointed with oil, that thou mayest be as a woman that had a long time been mourning for one dead. And thou shalt go in to the king, 3 and shalt speak to him in this manner. And Joab put the words in her mouth. And when the woman of Thecua was come in to 4 the king, she fell before him upon the ground, and worshipped, and said: Save me, O king. And the king said to her: What is 5 the matter with thee? She answered: Alas, I am a widow woman: for my husband is dead. And thy handmaid had two sons: and 6 they quarrelled with each other in the field, and there was none to part them: and the one struck the other, and slew him. And 7 behold the whole kindred rising against thy handmaid, saith: Deliver him that hath slain his brother, that we may kill him for the life of his brother, whom he slew, and that we may destroy the heir: and they seek to quench my spark which is left, and will leave my husband no name, nor remainder upon the earth.

8 And the king said to the woman: Go to thy house, and I will 9 give charge concerning thee. And the woman of Thecua said to 10 the king: Upon me, my lord be the iniquity, and upon the house 11 of my father: but may the king and his throne be guiltless. And 12 the king said: If any one shall say ought against thee, bring him 13 to me, and he shall not touch thee any more. And she said: Let 14 the king remember the Lord his God, that the next of kin be not 15 multiplied to take revenge, and that they may not kill my son.
16 And he said: As the Lord liveth, there shall not one hair of thy 17 son fall to the earth. The woman said: Let thy hand maid speak 18 one word to my lord the king. And he said: Speak. And the 19 woman said: Why hast thou thought such a thing against the 20 people of God, and why hath the king spoken this word, to sin, and not bring home again his own exile? We all die, and like waters that return no more, we fall down into the earth: neither will God have a soul to perish, but recalleth, meaning that he that is cast off should not altogether perish. Now therefore I am come, to speak this word to my lord the king before the people. And thy handmaid said: I will speak to the king, it maybe the king will perform the request of his handmaid. And the king hath hearkened to me to deliver his handmaid out of the hand of all that would destroy me and my son together out of the inheritance of God. Then let thy handmaid say, that the word of the Lord the king be made as a sacrifice. For even as an angel of God, so is my lord the king, that he is neither moved with blessing nor cursing: wherefore the Lord thy God is also with thee. And the king answering, said to the woman: Hide not from me the thing that I ask thee. And the woman said to him: Speak, my lord the king. And the king said: Is not the hand of Joab with thee in all this? The woman answered, and said: By the health of thy soul, my lord, O king, it is neither on the left hand, nor on the right, in all these things which my lord the king hath spoken: for thy servant Joab, he commanded me, and he put all these words into the mouth of thy handmaid.
That I should come about with this form of speech, thy servant Joab commanded this: but thou, my lord, O king, art wise, according to the wisdom of an angel of God, to understand all things upon earth. And the king said to Joab: Behold I am 21 appeased and have granted thy request: Go therefore and fetch back the boy Absalom. And Joab falling down to the ground 22 upon his face, adored, and blessed the king: and Joab said: This day thy servant hath understood, that I have found grace in thy sight, my lord, O king: for thou hast fulfilled the request of thy servant. Then Joab arose and went to Gessur, and brought 23 Absalom to Jerusalem. But the king said: Let him return into 24 his house, and let him not see my face. So Absalom returned into his house, and saw not the king's face. But in all Israel 25 there was not a man so comely, and so exceedingly beautiful as Absalom: from the sole of the foot to the crown of his head there was no blemish in him. And when he polled his hair (now he 26 was polled once a year, because his hair was burdensome to him) he weighed the hair of his head at two hundred sicles, according to the common weight. And there were born to Absalom three 27 sons: and one daughter, whose name was Thamar, and she was very beautiful. And Absalom dwelt two years in Jerusalem, and 28 saw not the king's face. He sent therefore to Joab, to send him to the king: but he would not come to him. And when he had sent the second time, and he would not come to him, He said to 30 his servants: You know the field of Joab near my field, that hath a crop of barley: go now and set it on fire. So the servants of Absalom set the corn on fire. And Joab's servants coming with their garments rent, said: The servants of Absalom have set part of the field on fire. Then Joab arose, and came to Absalom to 31 his house, and said: Why have thy servants set my corn on fire?

And Absalom answered Joab: I sent to thee beseeching thee to 32 come to me, that I might send thee to the king, to say to him: Wherefore am I come from Gessur? it had been better for me to be there: I beseech thee therefore that I may see the face of the king: and if he be mindful of my iniquity, let him kill me. So 33 Joab going in to the king, told him all: and Absalom was called for, and, he went in to the king: and prostrated himself on the ground before him: and the king kissed Absalom.

Now after these things Absalom made himself chariots, and 15 horsemen, and fifty men to run before him. And Absalom rising 2 up early stood by the entrance of the gate, and when any man had business to come to the king's judgment, Absalom called him to him, and said: Of what city art thou? He answered, and said: Thy servant is of such tribe of Israel. And Absalom answered him: Thy words seem to me good and just. But there is no man appointed by the king to hear thee. And Absalom said: O that they would make me judge over the land, that all that have business might come to me, that I might do them justice. Moreover when any man came to him to salute him, he put forth his hand, and took him, and kissed him. And this he did to all Israel that came for judgment, to be heard by the king, and he enticed the hearts of the men of Israel. And after forty years, Absalom said to king David: Let me go, and pay my vows which I have vowed to the Lord in Hebron. For thy servant made a vow, when he was in Gessur of Syria, saying: If the Lord shall bring me again into Jerusalem, I will offer sacrifice to the Lord. And king David said to him: Go in peace. And he arose, and went to Hebron. And Absalom sent spies into all the tribes of Israel, saying: As soon as you shall hear the sound of the trumpet, say ye: Absalom reigneth in Hebron. Now there went with Absalom two hundred men out of Jerusalem that were called, going with simplicity of heart, and knowing nothing of the design. Absalom also sent for Achitophel the Gilonite, David's counsellor, from his city Gilo. And while he was offering sacrifices, there was a strong conspiracy, and the people running together increased with Absalom. And there came a messenger to David, saying: All Israel with their whole heart followeth Absalom. And David said to his servants, that were with him in Jerusalem: Arise and let us flee: for we shall not escape else from the face of Absalom: make haste to go out, lest he come and overtake us, and bring ruin upon us, and smite the city with the edge of the sword. And the king's servants said to him: Whatsoever our lord the king shall command, we thy servants will willingly execute. And the king went forth, and all his household on foot: and the king left ten women his concubines to keep the house: And the king going forth and all Israel on foot, stood afar off from the house: And all his servants walked by him, and the bands of the Cerethi, and the Phelethi, and all the Gethites, valiant warriors, six hundred men who had followed him from Geth on foot, went before the king. And the king said to Ethai the Gethite: Why comest thou with us: return and dwell with the king, for thou art a stranger, and art come out of thy own place. Yesterday thou camest, and to day shalt thou be forced to go forth with us? but I shall go whither I am going: return thou, and take back thy brethren with thee, and the Lord will shew thee mercy, and truth, because thou hast shewn grace and fidelity. And Ethai answered the king, saying: As the Lord liveth, and as my lord the king liveth: in what place soever thou shalt be, my lord, O king, either in death, or in life, there will thy servant be. And David said to Ethai: Come, and pass over. And Ethai the Gethite passed, and all the men that were with him, and the rest of the people. And they all wept with a loud voice, and all the people passed over: the king also himself went over the brook Cedron, and all the people marched towards the way that looketh to the desert. And Sadoc the priest also came, and all the Levites with him carrying the ark of the covenant of God, and they set down the ark of God: and Abiathar went up, till all the people that was come out of the city had done passing. And the king said to Sadoc: Carry back the ark of God into the city: if I shall find grace in the sight of the Lord, he will bring me again, and he will shew me it, and his tabernacle. But if he shall say to me: Thou pleasest me not: I am ready, let him do that which is good before him. And the king said to Sadoc the priest: O seer, return into the city in peace: and let Achimaas thy son, and Jonathan the son of Abiathar, your two sons, be with you. Behold I will lie hid in the plains of the wilderness, till there come word from you to certify me. So Sadoc and Abiathar carried back the ark of God into Jerusalem: and they tarried there. But David went up by the ascent of mount Olivet, going up and weeping, walking barefoot, and with his head covered, and all the people that were with them, went up with their heads covered weeping. And it was told David that Achitophel also was in the conspiracy with Absalom, and David said: Infatuate, O Lord, I beseech thee, the counsel of Achitophel. And when David was come to the top of the mountain, where he was about to adore the Lord, behold Chusai the Arachite, came to meet him with his garment rent and his head covered with earth. And David said to him: If thou come with me, thou wilt be a burden to me: But if thou return into the city, and wilt say to Absalom: I am thy servant, O king: as I have been thy father's servant, so I will be thy 35 servant: thou shalt defeat the counsel of Achitophel. And thou hast with thee Sadoc, and soever thou shalt hear out of the king's 36 house, thou shalt tell it to Sadoc and Abiathar the priests. And there are with them their two sons Achimaas; the son of Sadoc, and Jonathan the son of Abiathar: and you shall send by them 37 to me every thing that you shall hear. Then Chusai the friend of David went into the city, and Absalom came into Jerusalem.

16 And when David was a little past the top of the hill, behold Siba the servant of Miphiboseth came to meet him with two asses, laden with two hundred loaves of bread, and a hundred bunches of raisins, a hundred cakes of figs, and a vessel of wine.
2 And the king said to Siba: What mean these things? And Siba answered: The asses are for the king's household to sit on: and the loaves and the figs for thy servants to eat, and the wine to 3 drink if any man be faint in the desert. And the king said: Where is thy master's son? And Siba answered the king: He remained in Jerusalem, saying: To day, will the house of Israel 4 restore me the kingdom of my father. And the king said to Siba: I give thee all that belonged to Miphiboseth. And Siba said: I beseech thee let me find grace before thee, my lord, O 5 king. And king David came as far as Bahurim: and behold there came out from thence a man of the kindred of the house of Saul named Semei, the son of Gera, and coming out he cursed 6 as he went on, And he threw stones at David, and at all the servants of king David: and all the people, and all the warriors 7 walked on the right, and on the left side of the king. And thus said Semei when he cursed the king: Come out, come out, thou 8 man of blood, and thou man of Belial. The Lord hath repaid thee for all the blood of the house of Saul: because thou hast usurped the kingdom in his stead, and the Lord hath given the kingdom into the hand of Absalom thy son: and behold thy evils 9 press upon thee, because thou art a man of blood. And Abisai the son of Sarvia said to the king: Why should this dead dog 10 curse my lord the king? I will go, and cut off his head. And the king said: What have I to do with you, ye sons of Sarvia? Let him alone and let him curse: for the Lord hath bid him curse David: and who is he that shall dare say, why hath he done so?

And the king said to Abisai, and to all his servants: Behold my son, who came forth from my bowels, seeketh my life: how much more now a son of Jemini? let him alone that he may curse as the Lord hath bidden him. Perhaps the Lord may look upon my affliction, and the Lord may render me good for the cursing of this day. And David and his men with him went by the way. And Semei by the hill's side went over against him, cursing, and casting stones at him, and scattering earth. And the king and all the people with him came weary, and refreshed themselves there. But Absalom and all his people came into Jerusalem, and Achitophel was with him. And when Chusai the Arachite, David's friend, was come to Absalom, he said to him: God save thee, O king, God save thee, O king. And Absalom said to him, Is this thy kindness to thy friend? Why wentest thou not with thy friend? And Chusai answered Absalom: Nay: for I will be his, whom the Lord hath chosen, and all this people, and all Israel, and with him will I abide. Besides this, whom shall I serve? is it not the king's son? as I have served thy father, so will I serve thee also. And Absalom said to Achitophel: Consult what we are to do. And Achitophel said to Absalom: Go in to the concubines of thy father, whom he hath left to keep the house: that when all Israel shall hear that thou hast disgraced thy father, their hands may be strengthened with thee. So they spread a tent for Absalom on the top of the house, and he went in to his father's concubines before all Israel. Now the counsel of Achitophel, which he gave in those days, was as if a man should consult God: so was all the counsel of Achitophel, both when he was with David, and when he was with Absalom.

And Achitophel said to Absalom: I will choose me twelve thousand men, and I will arise and pursue after David this night. And coming upon him (for he is now weary, and weak handed) I will defeat him: and when all the people is put to flight that is with him, I will kill the king who will be left alone. And I will bring back all the people, as if they were but one man: for thou seekest but one man: and all the people shall be in peace. And his saying pleased Absalom, and all the ancients of Israel. But Absalom said: Call Chusai the Arachite, and let us hear what he also saith. And when Chusai was come to Absalom, Absalom said to him: Achitophel hath spoken after this manner: shall we do it or not? what counsel dost thou give?

7 And Chusai said to Absalom: The counsel that Achitophel hath 8 given this time is not good. And again Chusai said: Thou knowest thy father, and the men that are with him, that they are very valiant, and bitter in their mind, as a bear raging in the wood when her whelps are taken away: and thy father is a 9 warrior, and will not lodge with the people. Perhaps he now lieth hid in pits, or in some other place where he liest: and when any one shall fall at the first, every one that heareth it shall say: There is a slaughter among the people that followed Absalom.
10 And the most valiant man whose heart is as the heart of a lion, shall melt for fear: for all the people of Israel know thy father to be a valiant man, and that all who are with him are valiant.
11 But this seemeth to me to be good counsel: Let all Israel be gathered to thee, from Dan to Bersabee, as the sand of the sea which cannot be numbered: and thou shalt be in the midst of 12 them. And we shall come upon him in what place soever he shall be found: and we shall cover him, as the dew falleth upon the ground, and we shall not leave of the men that are with him, 13 not so much as one. And if he shall enter into any city, all Israel shall cast ropes round about that city, and we will draw it into the river, so that there shall not be found so much as one small 14 stone thereof. And Absalom, and all the men of Israel said:
The counsel of Chusai the Arachite is better than the counsel of Achitophel: and by the will of the Lord the profitable counsel of Achitophel was defeated, that the Lord might bring evil upon 15 Absalom. And Chusai said to Sadoc and Abiathar the priests: Thus and thus did Achitophel counsel Absalom, and the ancients 16 of Israel: and thus and thus did I counsel them. Now therefore send quickly, and tell David, saying: Tarry not this night in the plains of the wilderness, but without delay pass over: lest the 17 king be swallowed up, and all the people that is with him. And Jonathan and Achimaas stayed by the fountain Rogel: and there went a maid and told them: and they went forward, to carry the message to king David, for they might not be seen, nor enter 18 into the city. But a certain boy saw them, and told Absalom: but they making haste went into the house of a certain man in Bahurim, who had a well in his court, and they went down 19 into it. And a woman took, and spread a covering over the mouth of the well, as it were to dry sodden barley and so the thing was not known. And when Absalom's servants were come 20 into the house, they said to the woman: Where is Achimaas and Jonathan? and the woman answered them: They passed on in haste, after they had tasted a little water. But they that sought them, when they found them not, returned into Jerusalem. And 21 when they were gone, they came up out of the well, and going on told king David, and said: Arise, and pass quickly over the river: for this manner of counsel has Achitophel given against you. So 22 David arose, and all the people that were with him, and they passed over the Jordan, until it grew light, and not one of them was left that was not gone over the river. But Achitophel seeing 23 that his counsel was not followed, saddled his ass, and arose and went home to his house and to his city, and putting his house in order, hanged himself, and was buried in the sepulchre of his father. But David came to the camp, and Absalom passed over 24 the Jordan, he and all the men of Israel with him. Now Absalom 25 appointed Amasa in Joab's stead over the army: and Amasa was the son of a man who was called Jethra, of Jezrael, who went in to Abigail the daughter of Naas, the sister of Sarvia who was the mother of Joab. And Israel camped with Absalom in the land 26 of Galaad. And when David was come to the camp, Sobi the 27 son of Naas of Rabbath of the children of Ammon, and Machir the son of Ammihel of Lodabar and Berzellai the Galaadite of Rogelim, Brought him beds, and tapestry, and earthen vessels, 28 and wheat, and barley, and meal, and parched corn, and beans, and lentils, and fried pulse, And honey, and butter, and sheep, 29 and fat calves, and they gave to David and the people that were with him, to eat: for they suspected that the people were faint with hunger and thirst in the wilderness.

And David, having reviewed his people, appointed over them 18 captains of thousands and of hundreds, And sent forth a third 2 part of the people under the hand of Joab, and a third part under the hand of Abisai the son of Sarvia Joab's brother, and a third part under the hand of Ethai, who was of Geth: and the king said to the people: I also will go forth with you. And the people 3 answered: Thou shalt not go forth: for if we flee away, they will not much mind us: or if half of us should fall, they will not greatly care: for thou alone art accounted for ten thousand: it is better

4 therefore that thou shouldst be in the city to succour us. And the king said to them: What seemeth good to you, that will I do. And the king stood by the gate: and all the people went forth 5 by their troops, by hundreds and by thousands. And the king commanded Joab, and Abisai, and Ethai, saying: Save me the boy Absalom. And all the people heard the king giving charge to 6 all the princes concerning Absalom. So the people went out into the field against Israel, and the battle was fought in the forest 7 of Ephraim. And the people of Israel were defeated there by David's army, and a great slaughter was made that day of twenty 8 thousand men. And the battle there was scattered over the face of all the country, and there were many more of the people whom the forest consumed, than whom the sword devoured that day.
9 And it happened that Absalom met the servants of David, riding on a mule: and as the mule went under a thick and large oak, his head stuck in the oak: and while he hung between the heaven 10 and the earth, the mule on which he rode passed on. And one saw this and told Joab, saying: I saw Absalom hanging upon an 11 oak. And Joab said to the man that told him: If thou sawest him, why didst thou not stab him to the ground, and I would 12 have given thee ten sicles of silver, and a belt? And he said to Joab: If thou wouldst have paid down in my hands a thousand pieces of silver, I would not lay my hands upon the king's son for in our hearing the king charged thee, and Abisai, and Ethai, 13 saying: Save me the boy Absalom. Yea and if I should have acted boldly against my own life, this could not have been hid 14 from the king, and wouldst thou have stood by me? And Joab said: Not as thou wilt, but I will set upon him in thy sight. So he took three lances in his hand, and thrust them into the heart of 15 Absalom: and whilst he yet panted for life, sticking on the oak, Ten young men, armourbearers of Joab, ran up, and striking him 16 slew him. And Joab sounded the trumpet, and kept back the people from pursuing after Israel in their flight, being willing to 17 spare the multitude. And they took Absalom, and cast him into a great pit in the forest, and they laid an exceeding great heap of stones upon him: but all Israel fled to their own dwellings.
18 Now Absalom had reared up for himself, in his lifetime, a pillar, which is in the king's valley: for he said: I have no son, and this shall be the monument of my name. And he called the pillar by his own name, and it is called the hand of Absalom, to this day. And Achimaas the son of Sadoc said: I will run and tell the king, that the Lord hath done judgment for him from the hand of his enemies. And Joab said to him: Thou shalt not be the messenger this day, but shalt bear tidings another day: this day I will not have thee bear tidings, because the king's son is dead. And Joab said to Chusai: Go, and tell the king what thou hast seen. Chusai bowed down to Joab, and ran. Then Achimaas the son of Sadoc said to Joab again: Why might not I also run after Chusai? And Joab said to him: Why wilt thou run, my son? thou wilt not be the bearer of good tidings. He answered: But what if I run? And he said to him: Run. Then Achimaas running by a nearer way passed Chusai. And David sat between the two gates: and the watchman that was on the top of the gate upon the wall, lifting up his eyes, saw a man running alone. And crying out he told the king: and the king said: If he be alone, there are good tidings in his mouth. And as he was coming apace, and drawing nearer, The watchman saw another man running, and crying aloud from above, he said: I see another man running alone. And the king said: He also is a good messenger. And the watchman said: The running of the foremost seemeth to me like the running of Achimaas the son of Sadoc. And the king said: He is a good man: and cometh with good news. And Achimaas crying out, said to the king: God save thee, O king. And falling down before the king with his face to the ground, he said: Blessed be the Lord thy God, who hath shut up the men that have lifted up their hands against the lord my king. And the king said: Is the young man Absalom safe? And Achimaas said: I saw a great tumult, O king, when thy servant Joab sent me thy servant: I know nothing else. And the king said to him: Pass, and stand here. And when he had passed, and stood still, Chusai appeared and coming up he said: I bring good tidings, my lord, the king, for the Lord hath judged for thee this day from the hand of all that have risen up against thee. And the king said to Chusai: Is the young man Absalom safe? And Chusai answering him, said: Let the enemies of my lord, the king, and all that rise against him unto evil, be as the young man is. The king therefore being much moved, went up to the high chamber over the gate, and wept. And as he went he spoke in this manner: My son Absalom, Absalom my son: would to God that I might die for thee, Absalom my son, my son Absalom.

- 19 And it was told Joab, that the king wept and mourned for 2 his son: And the victory that day was turned into mourning unto all the people: for the people heard say that day: The king 3 grieveth for his son. And the people shunned the going into the city that day as a people would do that hath turned their 4 backs, and fled away from the battle. And the king covered his head, and cried with a loud voice: O my son Absalom, O 5 Absalom my son, O my son. Then Joab going into the house to the king, said: Thou hast shamed this day the faces of all thy servants, that have saved thy life, and the lives of thy sons, and of thy daughters, and the lives of thy wives, and the lives 6 of thy concubines. Thou lovest them that hate thee, and thou hatest them that love thee: and thou hast shewn this day that thou carest not for thy nobles, nor for thy servants: and I now 7 plainly perceive that if Absalom had lived, and all we had been slain, then it would have pleased thee. Now therefore arise, and go out, and speak to the satisfaction of thy servants: for I swear to thee by the Lord, that if thou wilt not go forth, there will not tarry with thee so much as one this night: and that will be worse to thee, than all the evils that have befallen thee 8 from thy youth until now. Then the king arose and sat in the gate: and it was told to all the people that the king sat in the gate: and all the people came before the king, but Israel fled to 9 their own dwellings. And all the people were at strife in all the tribes of Israel, saying: The king delivered us out of the hand of our enemies, and he saved us out of the hand of the Philistines: 10 and now he is fled out of the land for Absalom. But Absalom, whom we anointed over us, is dead in the battle: how long are 11 you silent, and bring not back the king? And king David sent to Sadoc, and Abiathar the priests, saying: Speak to the ancients of Juda, saying: Why are you the last to bring the king back to his house? (For the talk of all Israel was come to the king 12 in his house.) You are my brethren, you are my bone, and my flesh, why are you the last to bring back the king? And say ye 13 to Amasa: Art not thou my bone, and my flesh? So do God to me and add more, if thou be not the chief captain of the army before me always in the place of Joab. And he inclined the heart of all the men of Juda, as it were of one man: and they sent to the king, saying: Return thou, and all thy servants. And the king returned and came as far as the Jordan, and all Juda came as far as Galgal to meet the king, and to bring him over the Jordan. And Semei the son of Gera the son of Jemini of Bahurim, made haste and went down with the men of Juda to meet king David, With a thousand men of Benjamin, and Siba the servant of the house of Saul: and his fifteen sons, and twenty servants were with him: and going over the Jordan, passed the fords before the king, that they might help over the king's household, and do according to his commandment. And Semei the son of Gera falling down before the king, when he was come over the Jordan, Said to him: Impute not to me, my lord, the iniquity, nor remember the injuries of thy servant on the day that thou, my lord, the king, wentest out of Jerusalem, nor lay it up in thy heart, O king. For I thy servant acknowledge my sin: and therefore I am come this day the first of all the house of Joseph, and am come down to meet my lord the king. But Abisai the son of Sarvia answering, said: Shall Semei for these words not be put to death, because he cursed the Lord's anointed? And David said: What have I to do with you, ye sons of Sarvia? why are you a satan this day to me? shall there any man be killed this day in Israel? do not I know that this day I am made king over Israel? And the king said to Semei: Thou shalt not die. And he swore unto him. And Miphiboseth the son of Saul came down to meet the king, and he had neither washed his feet, nor trimmed his beard: nor washed his garments from the day that the king went out, until the day of his return in peace. And when he met the king at Jerusalem, the king said to him: Why camest thou not with me, Miphiboseth? And he answering, said: My lord, O king, my servant despised me: for I thy servant spoke to him to saddle me an ass, that I might get on and go with the king: for I thy servant am lame. Moreover he hath also accused me thy servant to thee, my lord the king: but thou my lord the king art as an angel of God, do what pleaseth thee. For all of my father's house were no better than worthy of death before my lord the king; and thou hast set me thy servant among the guests of thy table: what just complaint therefore have I? or what right 29 to cry any more to the king? Then the king said to him: Why speakest thou any more? what I have said is determined: thou 30 and Siba divide the possessions. And Miphiboseth answered the king: Yea, let him take all, forasmuch as my lord the king is 31 returned peaceably into his house. Berzellai also the Galaadite coming down from Rogelim, brought the king over the Jordan, 32 being ready also to wait on him beyond the river. Now Berzellai the Galaadite was of a great age, that is to say, fourscore years old, and he provided the king with sustenance when he abode in 33 the camp: for he was a man exceeding rich. And the king said to Berzellai: Come with me that thou mayest rest secure with 34 me in Jerusalem. And Berzellai said to the king: How many are the days of the years of my life, that I should go up with the king 35 to Jerusalem? I am this day fourscore years old, are my senses quick to discern sweet and bitter? or can meat or drink delight thy servant? or can I hear any more the voice of singing men and singing women? why should thy servant be a burden to my lord, 36 the king? I thy servant will go on a little way from the Jordan with thee: I need not this recompense. But I beseech thee let thy servant return, and die in my own city, and be buried by the sepulchre of my father, and of my mother. But there is thy servant Chamaam, let him go with thee, my lord, the king, and 38 do to him whatsoever seemeth good to thee. Then the king said to him: Let Chamaam go over with me, and I will do for him whatsoever shall please thee, and all that thou shalt ask of me, 39 thou shalt obtain. And when all the people and the king had passed over the Jordan, the king kissed Berzellai, and blessed 40 him: and he returned to his own place. So the king went on to Galgal, and Chamaam with him. Now all the people of Juda had brought the king over, and only half of the people of Israel 41 were there. Therefore all the men of Israel running together to the king, said to him: Why have our brethren the men of Juda stolen thee away, and have brought the king and his household 42 over the Jordan, and all the men of David with him? And all the men of Juda answered the men of Israel: Because the king is nearer to me: why art thou angry for this matter? have we eaten any thing of the king's, or have any gifts been given us?

43 And the men of Israel answered the men of Juda, and said: I have ten parts in the king more than thou, and David belongeth to me more than to thee: why hast thou done me a wrong, and why was it not told me first, that I might bring back my king? And the men of Juda answered more harshly than the men of Israel.

And there happened to be there a man of Belial, whose name was Seba, the son of Bochri, a man of Jemini: and he sounded the trumpet, and said: We have no part in David, nor inheritance in the son of Isai: return to thy dwellings, O Israel. And all Israel departed from David, and followed Seba the son of Bochri: but the men of Juda stuck to their king from the Jordan unto Jerusalem. And when the king was come into his house at Jerusalem, he took the ten women his concubines, whom he had left to keep the house, and put them inward, allowing them provisions: and he went not in unto them, but they were shut up unto the day of their death living in widowhood. And the king said to Amasa: Assemble to me all the men of Juda against the third day, and be thou here present. So Amasa went to assemble the men of Juda, but he tarried beyond the set time which the king had appointed him. And David said to Abisai: Now will Seba the son of Bochri do us more harm than did Absalom: take thou therefore the servants of thy lord, and pursue after him, lest he find fenced cities, and escape us. So Joab's men went out with him, and the Cerethi and the Phelethi: and all the valiant men went out of Jerusalem to pursue after Seba the son of Bochri. And when they were at the great stone which is in Gabaon, Amasa coming met them. And Joab had on a close coat of equal length with his habit, and over it was girded with a sword hanging down to his flank, in a scabbard, made in such manner as to come out with the least motion and strike. And Joab said to Amasa: God save thee, my brother. And he took Amasa by the chin with his right hand to kiss him. But Amasa did not take notice of the sword, which Joab had, and he struck him in the side, and shed out his bowels to the ground, and gave him not a second wound, and he died. And Joab, and Abisai his brother pursued after Seba the son of Bochri. In the mean time some men of Joab's company stopping at the dead body of Amasa, said: Behold he that would have been in Joab's stead the companion of David. And Amasa imbrued with blood, lay in the midst of the way. A certain man saw this that all the people stood still to look upon him, so he removed Amasa out of the highway into the field, and covered him with a garment, that they who passed might, not stop on his account. And when he was removed out of the way, all the people went on following Joab to pursue after Seba the son of Bochri. Now he had passed through all the tribes of Israel unto Abela and Bethmaacha: and all the chosen men were gathered together unto him. And they came, and besieged him in Abela, and in Bethmaacha, and they cast up works round the city, and the city was besieged: and all the people that were with Joab, laboured to throw down the walls. And a wise woman cried out from the city: Hear, hear, and say to Joab: Come near hither, and I will speak with thee. And when he was come near to her, she said to him: Art thou Joab? And he answered: I am. And she spoke thus to him: Hear the words of thy handmaid. He answered: I do hear. And she again said: A saying was used in the old proverb: They that inquire, let them inquire in Abela: and so they made an end. Am not I she that answer truth in Israel, and thou seekest to destroy the city, and to overthrow a mother in Israel? Why wilt thou throw down the inheritance of the Lord? And Joab answering said: God forbid, God forbid that I should, I do not throw down, nor destroy. The matter is not so, but a man of mount Ephraim, Seba the son of Bochri by name, hath lifted up his hand against king David: deliver him only, and we will depart from the city. And the woman said to Joab: Behold his head shall be thrown to thee from the wall. So she went to all the people, and spoke to them wisely: and they cut off the head of Seba the son of Bochri, and cast it out to Joab. And he sounded the trumpet, and they departed from the city, every one to their home: and Joab returned to Jerusalem to the king. So Joab was over all the army of Israel: and Banaias the son of Joiada was over the Cerethites and Phelethites, But Aduram over the tributes: and Josaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder. And Siva was scribe: and Sadoc and Abiathar, priests. And Ira the Jairite was the priest of David.

21 And there was a famine in the days of David for three years successively: and David consulted the oracle of the Lord. And the Lord said: It is for Saul, and his bloody house, because he slow the Gabaonites. Then the king, calling for the Gabaonites, said to them: (Now the Gabaonites were not of the children of Israel, but the remains of the Amorrhites: and the children of Israel had sworn to them, and Saul sought to slay them out of zeal, as it were for the children of Israel and Juda:) David therefore said to the Gabaonites: What shall I do for you? and what shall be the atonement or you, that you may bless the inheritance of the Lord? And the Gabaonites said to him: We have no contest about silver and gold, but against Saul and against his house: neither do we desire that any man be slain of Israel. And the king said to them: What will you then that I should do for you? And they said to the king: The man that crushed us and oppressed us unjustly, we must destroy in such manner that there be not so much as one left of his stock in all the coasts of Israel. Let seven men of his children be delivered unto us, that we may crucify them to the Lord in Gabaa of Saul, once the chosen of the Lord. And the king said: I will give them. And the king spared Miphiboseth the son of Jonathan the son of Saul, because of the oath of the Lord, that had been between David and Jonathan the son of Saul. So the king took the two sons of Respha the daughter of Aia, whom she bore to Saul, Armoni, and Miphiboseth: and the five sons of Michol the daughter of Saul, whom she bore to Hadriel the son of Berzellai, that was of Molathi: And gave them into the hands of the Gabaonites: and they crucified them on a hill before the Lord: and these seven died together in the first days of the harvest, when the barley began to be reaped. And Respha the daughter of Aia took hair-cloth, and spread it under her upon the rock from the beginning of the harvest, till water dropped upon them out of heaven: and suffered neither the birds to tear them by day, nor the beasts by night. And it was told David, what Respha the daughter of Aia, the concubine of Saul, had done. And David went, and took the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his son from the men of Jabes Galaad, who had stolen them from the street of Bethsan, where the Philistines had hanged them when they had slain Saul in Gelboe. And he brought from thence the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his son, and they gathered up the bones of them that were crucified, And they buried them with the bones of Saul, and of Jonathan his son in the land of Benjamin, in the side, in the sepulchre of Cis his father: and they did all that the king had commanded, and God shewed mercy 15 again to the land after these things. And the Philistines made war again against Israel, and David went down, and his servants with him, and fought against the Philistines. And David grow-16 ing faint, Jesbibenob, who was of the race of Arapha, the iron of whose spear weighed three hundred ounces, being girded with 17 a new sword, attempted to kill David. And Abisai the son of Sarvia rescued him, and striking the Philistine killed him. Then David's men swore unto him saying: Thou shalt go no more out 18 with us to battle, lest thou put out the lamp of Israel. There was also a second battle in Gob against the Philistines: then Sobochai of Husathi slew Saph of the race of Arapha of the fam-19 ily of the giants. And there was a third battle in Gob against the Philistines, in which Adeodatus the son of the Forrest an embroiderer of Bethlehem slew Goliath the Gethite, the shaft 20 of whose spear was like a weaver's beam. A fourth battle was in Geth: where there was a man of great stature, that had six fingers on each hand, and six toes on each foot, four and twenty 21 in all, and he was of the race of Arapha. And he reproached Israel: and Jonathan the son of Samae the brother of David slew 22 him. These four were born of Arapha in Geth, and they fell by the hand of David, and of his servants.

22 And David spoke to the Lord the words of this canticle, in the day that the Lord delivered him out of the hand of all his 2 enemies, and out of the hand of Saul, And he said: The Lord is 3 my rock, and my strength, and my saviour. God is my strong one, in him will I trust: my shield, and the horn of my salvation: he lifteth me up, and is my refuge: my saviour, thou wilt deliver 4 me from iniquity. I will call on the Lord who is worthy to 5 be praised: and I shall be saved from my enemies. For the pangs of death have surrounded me: the floods of Belial have 6 made me afraid. The cords of hell compassed me: the snares 7 of death prevented me. In my distress I will call upon the Lord, and I will cry to my God: and he will hear my voice 8 out of his temple, and my cry shall come to his ears. The earth shook and trembled, the foundations of the mountains were 9 moved, and shaken, because he was angry with them. A smoke went up from his nostrils, and a devouring fire out of his mouth: 10 coals were kindled by it. He bowed the heavens, and came down: and darkness was under his feet. And he rode upon the cherubims, and flew: and slid upon the wings of the wind. He made darkness a covering round about him: dropping waters out of the clouds of the heavens. By the brightness before him, the coals of fire were kindled. The Lord shall thunder from heaven: and the most high shall give forth his voice. He shot arrows and scattered them: lightning, and consumed them. And the overflowings of the sea appeared, and the foundations of the world were laid open at the rebuke of the Lord, at the blast of the spirit of his wrath. He sent from on high, and took me, and drew me out of many waters. He delivered me from my most mighty enemy, and from them that hated me: for they were too strong for me. He prevented me in the day of my affliction, and the Lord became my stay. And he brought me forth into a large place, he delivered me, because I pleased him.

The Lord will reward me according to my justice: and according to the cleanness of my hands he will render to me. Because I have kept the ways of the Lord, and have not wickedly departed from my God. For all his judgments are in my sight: and his precepts I have not removed from me. And I shall be perfect with him: and shall keep myself from my iniquity. And the Lord will recompense me according to my justice: and according to the cleanness of my hands in the sight of his eyes. With the holy one thou wilt be holy: and with the valiant perfect.
With the elect thou wilt be elect: and with the perverse thou wilt be perverted. And the poor people thou wilt save: and with thy eyes thou shalt humble the haughty. For thou art my lamp O Lord: and thou, O Lord, wilt enlighten my darkness.
For in thee I will run girded: in my God I will leap over the wall. God, his way is immaculate, the word of the Lord is tried by fire: he is the shield of all that trust in him. Who is God but the Lord: and who is strong but our God? God who hath girded me with strength, and made my way perfect. Making my feet like the feet of harts, and setting me upon my high places.
He teacheth my hands to war: and maketh my arms like a bow of brass. Thou hast given me the shield of my salvation: and thy mildness hath multiplied me. Thou shalt enlarge my steps under me: and my ankles shall not fail. I will pursue after my enemies, and crush them: and will not return again till I consume 39 them. I will consume them and break them in pieces, so that 40 they shall not rise: they shall fall under my feet. Thou hast girded me with strength to battle: thou hast made them that 41 resisted me to bow under me. My enemies thou hast made to turn their back to me: them that hated me, and I shall destroy 42 them. They shall cry, and there shall be none to save: to the 43 Lord, and he shall not hear them. I shall beat them as small as the dust of the earth: I shall crush them and spread them 44 abroad like the mire of the streets. Thou wilt save me from the contradictions of my people: thou wilt keep me to be the head of the Gentiles: the people which I know not, shall serve me, 45 The sons of the stranger will resist me, at the hearing of the ear 46 they will obey me. The strangers are melted away, and shall 47 be straitened in their distresses. The Lord liveth, and my God is blessed: and the strong God of my salvation shall be exalted: 48 God who giveth me revenge, and bringest down people under 49 me, Who bringest me forth from my enemies, and liftest me up from them that resist me: from the wicked man thou shalt 50 deliver me. Therefore will I give thanks to thee, O Lord, among 51 the Gentiles, and will sing to thy name. Giving great salvation to his king, and shewing mercy to David his anointed, and to his seed for ever.

23 Now these are David's last words. David the son of Isai said:
The man to whom it was appointed concerning the Christ of the 2 God of Jacob, the excellent psalmist of Israel said: The spirit of 3 the Lord hath spoken by me and his word by my tongue. The God of Israel said to me, the strong one of Israel spoke, the ruler 4 of men, the just ruler in the fear of God. As the light of the morning, when the sun riseth, shineth in the morning without 5 clouds, and as the grass springeth out of the earth by rain. Neither is my house so great with God, that he should make with me an eternal covenant, firm in all things and assured. For he is all my salvation, and all my will: neither is there ought thereof 6 that springeth not up. But transgressors shall all of them be plucked up as thorns: which are not taken away with hands.
7 And if a man will touch them, he must be armed with iron and with the staff of a lance: but they shall be set on fire and burnt 8 to nothing. These are the names of the valiant men of David: Jesbham sitting in the chair was the wisest chief among the three, he was like the most tender little worm of the wood, who killed eight hundred men at one onset. After him was Eleazar 9 the son of Dodo the Ahohite, one of the three valiant men that were with David when they defied the Philistines, and they were there gathered together to battle. And when the men of Israel 10 were gone away, he stood and smote the Philistines till his hand was weary, and grew stiff with the sword: and the Lord wrought a great victory that day: and the people that were fled away, returned to take spoils of them that were slain. And after him 11 was Semma the son of Age of Arari. And the Philistines were gathered together in a troop: for there was a field full of lentils. And when the people were fled from the face of the Philistines, He stood in the midst of the field, and defended it, and defeated 12 the Philistines: and the Lord gave a great victory. Moreover 13 also before this the three who were princes among the thirty, went down and came to David in the harvest time into the cave of Odollam: and the camp of the Philistines was in the valley of the giants. And David was then in a hold: and there was 14 a garrison of the Philistines then in Bethlehem. And David 15 longed, and said: O that some man would get me a drink of the water out of the cistern, that is in Bethlehem, by the gate. And 16 the three valiant men broke through the camp of the Philistines, and drew water out of the cistern of Bethlehem, that was by the gate, and brought it to David: but he would not drink, but offered it to the Lord, Saying: The Lord be merciful to me, that I 17 may not do this: shall I drink the blood of these men that went, and the peril of their lives? therefore he would not drink. These things did these three mighty men. Abisai also the brother of 18 Joab, the son of Sarvia, was chief among three: and he lifted up his spear against three hundred whom he slew, and he was renowned among the three, And the noblest of three, and was 19 their chief, but to the three first he attained not. And Banaias 20 the son of Joiada a most valiant man, of great deeds, of Cabseel: he slew the two lions of Moab, and he went down, and slew a lion in the midst of a pit, in the time of snow. He also 21 slew an Egyptian, a man worthy to be a sight, having a spear in his hand: but he went down to him with a rod, and forced the spear out of the hand of the Egyptian, and slew him with his own spear. These things did Banaias the son of Joiada. And he was 22, 23 renowned among the three valiant men, who were the most honourable among the thirty: but he attained not to the first three: and David made him of his privy council. Asael the brother of Joab was one of the thirty, Elehanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem. Semma of Harodi, Elica of Harodi, Heles of Phalti, Hira the son of Acces of Thecua, Abiezer of Anathoth, Mobonnai of Husati, Selmon the Ahohite, Maharai the Netophathite, Heled the son of Baana, also a Netophathite, Ithai the son of Ribai of Gabaath of the children of Benjamin, Banaia the Pharathonite, Heddai of the torrent Gaas, Abialbon the Arbathite, Azmaveth of Beromi, Eliaba of Salaboni. The sons of Jassen, Jonathan, Semma of Orori, Aliam the son of Sarar the Arorite, Eliphelet the son of Aasbai the son of Machati, Eliam the son of Achitophel the Gelonite, Hesrai of Carmel, Pharai of Arbi, Igaal the son of Nathan of Soba, Bonni of Gadi, Selec of Ammoni, Naharai the Berothite, armourbearer of Joab the son of Sarvia, Ira the Jethrite, Gareb also a Jethrite; Urias the Hethite, thirty and seven in all.

And the anger of the Lord was again kindled against Israel, and stirred up David among them, saying: Go, number Israel and Juda. And the king said to Joab the general of his army: Go through all the tribes of Israel from Dan to Bersabee, and number ye the people that I may know the number of them. And Joab said to the king: The Lord thy God increase thy people, and make them as many more as they are now, and again multiply them a hundredfold in the sight of my lord the king: but what meaneth my lord the king by this kind of thing? But the king's words prevailed over the words of Joab, and of the captains of the army: and Joab, and the captains of the soldiers went out from the presence of the king, to number the people of Israel. And when they had passed the Jordan, they came to Aroer to the right side of the city, which is in the vale of Gad. And by Jazer they passed into Galaad, and to the lower land of Hodsi, and they came into the woodlands of Dan. And going about by Sidon, They passed near the walls of Tyre, and all the land of the Hevite, and the Chanaanite, and they came to the south of Juda into Bersabee: And having gone through the whole land, after nine months and twenty days, they came to Jerusalem. And Joab gave up the sum of the number of the people to the king, and there were found of Israel eight hundred thousand valiant men that drew the sword: and of Juda five hundred thousand fighting men. But David's heart struck him, after the people were numbered: and David said to the Lord: I have sinned very much in what I have done: but I pray thee, O Lord, to take away the iniquity of thy servant, because I have done exceeding foolishly. And David arose in the morning, and the word of the Lord came to Gad the prophet and the seer of David, saying: Go, and say to David: Thus saith the Lord: I give thee thy choice of three things, choose one of them which thou wilt, that I may do it to thee. And when Gad was come to David, he told him, saying: Either seven years of famine shall come to thee in thy land: or thou shalt flee three months before thy adversaries, and they shall pursue thee: or for three days there shall be a pestilence in thy land. Now therefore deliberate, and see what answer I shall return to him that sent me. And David said to Gad: I am in a great strait: but it is better that I should fall into the hands of the Lord (for his mercies are many) than into the hands of men. And the Lord sent a pestilence upon Israel, from the morning unto the time appointed, and there died of the people from Dan to Bersabee seventy thousand men. And when the angel of the Lord had stretched out his hand over Jerusalem to destroy it, the Lord had pity on the affliction, and said to the angel that slew the people: It is enough: now hold thy hand. And the angel of the Lord was by the thrashingfloor of Areuna the Jebusite. And David said to the Lord, when he saw the angel striking the people: It is I; I am he that have sinned, I have done wickedly: these that are the sheep, what have they done? let thy hand, I beseech thee, be turned against me, and against my father's house. And Gad came to David that day, and said: Go up, and build an altar to the Lord in the thrashingfloor of Areuna the Jebusite. And David went up according to the word of Gad which the Lord had commanded him. And Areuna looked, and saw the king and his servants coming towards him: And going out he worshipped the king, bowing with his face to the earth, and said: Wherefore is my lord the king come to his servant? And David said to him: To buy the thrashingfloor of thee, and build an altar to the Lord, that the plague, which rageth among the people, may 22 cease. And Areuna said to David: Let my lord the king take, and offer, as it seemeth good to him: thou hast here oxen for a holocaust, and the wain, and the yokes of the oxen for wood.

23 All these things Areuna as a king gave to the king: and Areuna 24 said to the king: The Lord thy God receive thy vow. And the king answered him, and said: Nay, but I will buy it of thee, at a price, and I will not offer to the Lord my God holocausts free cost. So David bought the floor, and the oxen, for fifty sicles of 25 silver: And David built there an altar to the Lord, and offered holocausts and peace offerings: and the Lord became merciful to the land, and the plague was stayed from Israel.

THE FIRST BOOK OF THE KINGS,
OTHERWISE CALLED,
THE THIRD BOOK OF THE KINGS.

Now king David was old, and advanced in years: and 1 when he was covered with clothes he was not warm.
His servants therefore, said to him: Let us seek for our 2 Lord the king, a young virgin, and let her stand before the king, and cherish him, and sleep in his bosom and warm our lord the king. So they sought a beautiful young woman, in all 3 the coasts of Israel and they found Abisag, a Sunamitess, and brought her to the king. And the damsel was exceedingly beau- 4 tiful, and she slept with the king, and served him, but the king did not know her. And Adonias, the son of Haggith, exalted 5 himself, saying: I will be king. And he made himself chariots and horsemen, and fifty men to run before him. Neither did 6 his father rebuke him at any time, saying: Why hast thou done this? And he also was very beautiful, the next in birth after Absalom. And he conferred with Joab, the son of Sarvia, and 7 with Abiathar, the priest, who furthered Adonias's side. But 8 Sadoc, the priest, and Banaias, the son of Joiada, and Nathan, the prophet, and Semei, and Rei, and the strength of David's army, was not with Adonias. And Adonias having slain rams 9 and calves, and all fat cattle, by the stone of Zoheleth, which was near the fountain Rogel, invited all his brethren, the king's sons, and all the men of Juda, the king's servants: But Nathan, 10 the prophet, and Banaias, and all the valiant men, and Solomon, his brother, he invited not. And Nathan said to Bethsabee, the mother of Solomon: Hast thou not heard that Adonias, the son of Haggith, reigneth, and our lord David knoweth it not? Now 11 then, come, take my counsel, and save thy life, and the life of thy son Solomon. Go, and get thee in to king David, and say to him: 12 Didst not thou, my lord, O king, swear to me, thy handmaid, saying: Solomon, thy son, shall reign after me, and he shall sit 13 14 on my throne? why then doth Adonias reign? And while thou art yet speaking there with the king, I will come in after thee, 15 and will fill up thy words. So Bethsabee went in to the king into the chamber. Now the king was very old, and Abisag, the 16 Sunamitess, ministered to him. Bethsabee bowed herself, and worshipped the king. And the king said to her: What is thy 17 will? She answered, and said: My lord, thou didst swear to thy handmaid, by the Lord thy God, saying: Solomon, thy son, shall 18 reign after me, and he shall sit on my throne. And behold, now Adonias reigneth, and thou, my lord the king, knowest nothing 19 of it. He hath killed oxen, and all fat cattle, and many rams, and invited all the king's sons, and Abiathar, the priest, and Joab, the general of the army: but Solomon, thy servant, he 20 invited not. And now, my lord, O king, the eyes of all Israel are upon thee, that thou shouldst tell them, who shall sit on thy 21 throne, my lord the king, after thee. Otherwise it shall come to pass, when my lord the king sleepeth with his fathers, that I, 22 and my son, Solomon, shall be accounted offenders. As she was 23 yet speaking with the king, Nathan, the prophet, came. And they told the king, saying: Nathan, the prophet, is here. And when he was come in before the king, and had worshipped, bow-24 ing down to the ground, Nathan said: My lord, O king, hast thou said: Let Adonias reign after me, and let him sit upon my 25 throne? Because he is gone down to day, and hath killed oxen, and fatlings, and many rams, and invited all the king's sons, and the captains of the army, and Abiathar the priest: and they are eating and drinking before him, and saying: God save king Ado-26 nias: But me, thy servant, and Sadoc, the priest, and Banaias, the son of Joiada, and Solomon, thy servant, he hath not invited.

27 Is this word come out from my lord the king, and hast thou not told me, thy servant, who should sit on the throne of my lord 28 the king after him? And king David answered, and said: Call to me Bethsabee. And when she was come in to the king, and 29 stood before him, The king swore, and said: As the Lord liveth, 30 who hath delivered my soul out of all distress, Even as I swore to thee, by the Lord, the God of Israel, saying: Solomon thy son, shall reign after me, and he shall sit upon my throne in my stead, 31 so will I do this day. And Bethsabee, bowing with her face to the earth, worshipped the king, saying: May my lord David live for ever. King David also said: Call me Sadoc, the priest, and Nathan, the prophet, and Banaias, the son of Joiada. And when they were come in before the king, He said to them: Take with you the servants of your lord, and set my son Solomon upon my mule: and bring him to Gihon: And let Sadoc, the priest, and Nathan, the prophet, anoint him there king over Israel: and you shall sound the trumpet, and shall say: God save king Solomon. And you shall come up after him, and he shall come, and shall sit upon my throne, and he shall reign in my stead: and I will appoint him to be ruler over Israel, and over Juda. And Banaias, the son of Joiada, answered the king, saying: Amen: so say the Lord, the God of my lord the king. As the Lord hath been with my lord the king, so be he with Solomon, and make his throne higher than the throne of my lord king David. So Sadoc, the priest, and Nathan, the prophet, went down, and Banaias, the son of Joiada, and the Cerethi, and Phelethi: and they set Solomon upon the mule of king David, and brought him to Gihon. And Sadoc, the priest, took a horn of oil out of the tabernacle, and anointed Solomon: and they sounded the trumpet, and all the people said: God save king Solomon. And all the multitude went up after him, and the people played with pipes, and rejoiced with a great joy, and the earth rang with the noise of their cry. And Adonias, and all that were invited by him, heard it, and now the feast was at an end. Joab also, hearing the sound of the trumpet, said: What meaneth this noise of the city in an uproar? While he yet spoke, Jonathan, the son of Abiathar, the priest, came: and Adonias said to him: Come in, because thou art a valiant man, and bringest good news. And Jonathan answered Adonias: Not so: for our lord, king David, hath appointed Solomon king; And hath sent with him Sadoc, the priest, and Nathan, the prophet, and Banaias, the son of Joiada, and the Cerethi, and the Phelethi, and they have set him upon the king's mule: And Sadoc, the priest, and Nathan, the prophet, have anointed him king, in Gihon: and they are gone up from thence rejoicing, so that the city rang again: this is the noise that you have heard. Moreover, Solomon sitteth upon the throne of the kingdom. And the king's servants going in, have blessed our lord king David, saying: May God make the name of Solomon greater than thy name, and make his throne 48 greater than thy throne. And the king adored in his bed: And he said: Blessed be the Lord, the God of Israel, who hath given 49 this day one to sit on my throne, my eyes seeing it. Then all the guests of Adonias were afraid, and they all arose, and every man 50 went his way. And Adonias fearing Solomon, arose and went, 51 and took hold of the horn of the altar. And they told Solomon, saying: Behold Adonias fearing king Solomon, hath taken hold of the horn of the altar, saying: Let king Solomon swear to me 52 this day, that he will not kill his servant with the sword. And Solomon said: If he be a good man, there shall not so much as one hair of his head fall to the ground: but if evil be found in 53 him, he shall die. Then king Solomon sent, and brought him out from the altar: and going in, he worshipped king Solomon: and Solomon said to him: Go to thy house.

2 And the days of David drew nigh that he should die, and 2 he charged his son Solomon, saying: I am going the way of all 3 flesh: take thou courage and shew thyself a man. And keep the charge of the Lord thy God, to walk in his ways, and observe his ceremonies, and his precepts, and judgments, and testimonies, as it is written in the law of Moses: that thou mayst understand 4 all thou dost, and whithersoever thou shalt turn thyself: That the Lord may confirm his words, which he hath spoken of me, saying: If thy children shall take heed to their ways, and shall walk before me in truth, with all their heart, and with all their soul, there shall not be taken away from thee a man on the throne 5 of Israel. Thou knowest also what Joab, the son of Sarvia, hath done to me, what he did to the two captains of the army of Israel, to Abner, the son of Ner, and to Amasa, the son of Jether: whom he slew, and shed the blood of war in peace, and put the blood of war on his girdle that was about his loins, and in his shoes that 6 were on his feet. Do, therefore, according to thy wisdom, and let 7 not his hoary head go down to hell in peace. But shew kindness to the sons of Berzellai, the Galaadite, and let them eat at thy table: for they met me when I fled from the face of Absalom, thy 8 brother. Thou hast also with thee Semei, the son of Gera, the son of Jemini, of Bahurim, who cursed me with a grievous curse, when I went to the camp: but because he came down to meet me when I passed over the Jordan, and I swore to him by the 9 Lord, saying: I will not kill thee with the sword: Do not thou hold him guiltless. But thou art a wise man, and knowest what to do with him, and thou shalt bring down his grey hairs with blood to the grave. So David slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David. And the days that David reigned in Israel, were forty years: in Hebron he reigned seven years, in Jerusalem thirty-three. And Solomon sat upon the throne of his father David, and his kingdom was strengthened exceedingly. And Adonias, the son of Haggith, came to Bethsabee the mother of Solomon. And she said to him: Is thy coming peaceable? He answered: It is peaceable. And he added: I have a word to speak with thee. She said to him: Speak. And he said: Thou knowest that the kingdom was mine, and all Israel had preferred me to be their king: but the kingdom is transferred, and is become my brother's: for it was appointed him by the Lord. Now therefore, I ask one petition of thee; turn not away my face. And she said to him: Say on. And he said I pray thee speak to king Solomon (for he cannot deny thee any thing) to give me Abisag, the Sunamitess, to wife. And Bethsabee said: Well, I will speak for thee to the king. Then Bethsabee came to king Solomon, to speak to him for Adonias: and the king arose to meet her, and bowed to her, and sat down upon his throne: and a throne was set for the king's mother, and she sat on his right hand. And she said to him: I desire one small petition of thee; do not put me to confusion. And the king said to her: My mother ask, for I must not turn away thy face. And she said: Let Abisag, the Sunamitess, be given to Adonias, thy brother, to wife. And king Solomon answered, and said to his mother: Why dost thou ask Abisag, the Sunamitess, for Adonias? ask for him also the kingdom; for he is my elder brother, and hath Abiathar, the priest, and Joab, the son of Sarvia. Then king Solomon swore by the Lord, saying: So and so may God do to me, and add more, if Adonias hath not spoken this word against his own life. And now, as the Lord liveth, who hath established me, and placed me upon the throne of David, my father, and who hath made me a house, as he promised, Adonias shall be put to death this day. And king Solomon sent by the hand of Banaias, the son of Joiada, who slew him, and he died. And the king said also to Abiathar, the priest: Go to Anathoth, to thy lands, for indeed thou art worthy of death: but I will not at this time put thee to death, because thou didst carry the ark of the Lord God before David, my father, and hast endured 27 trouble in all the troubles my father endured. So Solomon cast out Abiathar from being the priest of the Lord, that the word of the Lord might be fulfilled, which he spoke concerning the house 28 of Heli in Silo. And the news came to Joab, because Joab had turned after Adonias, and had not turned after Solomon: and Joab fled into the tabernacle of the Lord, and took hold on the 29 horn of the altar. And it was told king Solomon, that Joab was fled into the tabernacle of the Lord, and was by the altar: and Solomon sent Banaias, the son of Joiada, saying. Go, kill him.

30 And Banaias came to the tabernacle of the Lord, and said to him: Thus saith the king: Come forth. And he said: I will not come forth, but here I will die. Banaias brought word back to the 31 king, saying: Thus saith Joab, and thus he answered me. And the king said to him: Do as he hath said; and kill him, and bury him, and thou shalt remove the innocent blood which hath been 32 shed by Joab, from me, and from the house of my father: And the Lord shall return his blood upon his own head; because he murdered two men, just and better than himself: and slew them with the sword, my father, David, not knowing it; Abner, the son of Ner, general of the army of Israel, and Amasa, the son of 33 Jether general of the army of Juda; And their blood shall return upon the head of Joab, and upon the head of his seed for ever. But to David and his seed, and his house, and to his throne, be 34 peace for ever from the Lord. So Banaias, the son of Joiada, went up, and setting upon him slew him, and he was buried in his house in the desert. And the king appointed Banaias, the son of Joiada in his room over the army; and Sadoc, the priest, 36 he put in the place of Abiathar. The king also sent, and called for Semei, and said to him: Build thee a house in Jerusalem, and dwell there: and go not out from thence any where. For 37 on what day soever thou shalt go out, and shalt pass over the brook Cedron, know that thou shalt be put to death: thy blood shall be upon thy own head. And Semei said to the king: The saying is good: as my lord the king hath said, so will thy servant 38 do. And Semei dwelt in Jerusalem many days. And it came to pass after three years, that the servants of Semei ran away to Achis, the son of Maacha, the king of Geth: and it was told Semei that his servants were gone to Geth. And Semei arose, and saddled his ass, and went to Achis, to Geth, to seek his servants, and he brought them out of Geth. And it was told Solomon, that Semei had gone from Jerusalem to Geth, and was come back. And sending he called for him, and said to him: Did I not protest to thee by the Lord, and tell thee before: On what day soever thou shalt go out and walk abroad any where, know that thou shalt die? And thou answeredst me: The word that I have heard is good. Why then hast thou not kept the oath of the Lord, and the commandment that I laid upon thee? And the king said to Semei: Thou knowest all the evil, of which thy heart is conscious, which thou didst to David, my father: the Lord hath returned thy wickedness upon thy own head. And king Solomon shall be blessed, and the throne of David shall be established before the Lord for ever. So the king commanded Banaias, the son of Joiada: and he went out and struck him; and he died.

And the kingdom was established in the hand of Solomon, and he made affinity with Pharao, the king of Egypt: for he took his daughter, and brought her into the city of David: until he had made an end of building his own house, and the house of the Lord, and the wall of Jerusalem round about. But yet the people sacrificed in the high places: for there was no temple built to the name of the Lord until that day. And Solomon loved the Lord, walking in the precepts of David, his father; only he sacrificed in the high places, and burnt incense. He went therefore to Gabaon, to sacrifice there: for that was the great high place: a thousand victims for holocausts, did Solomon offer upon that altar, in Gabaon. And the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream by night, saying: Ask what thou wilt that I should give thee. And Solomon said: Thou hast shewed great mercy to thy servant David, my father, even as he walked before thee in truth, and justice, and an upright heart with thee: and thou hast kept thy great mercy for him, and hast given him a son to sit on his throne, as it is this day. And now, O Lord God, thou hast made thy servant king instead of David, my father: and I am but a child, and know not how to go out and come in; And thy servant is in the midst of the people which thou hast chosen, an immense people, which cannot be numbered

9 nor counted for multitude. Give therefore to thy servant an understanding heart, to judge thy people, and discern between good and evil. For who shall be able to judge this people, thy 10 people, which is so numerous? And the word was pleasing to 11 the Lord, that Solomon had asked such a thing. And the Lord said to Solomon: Because thou hast asked this thing, and hast not asked for thyself long life nor riches, nor the lives of thy enemies, but hast asked for thyself wisdom to discern judgment; 12 Behold I have done for thee according to thy words, and have given thee a wise and understanding heart, in so much that there hath been no one like thee before thee, nor shall arise after thee.
13 Yea, and the things also which thou didst not ask, I have given thee; to wit, riches and glory: so that no one hath been like thee 14 among the kings in all days heretofore. And if thou wilt walk in my ways, and keep my precepts and my commandments, as thy 15 father walked, I will lengthen thy days. And Solomon awaked, and perceived that it was a dream: and when he was come to Jerusalem, he stood before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and offered holocausts, and sacrificed victims of peace offerings, 16 and made a great feast for all his servants. Then there came two women that were harlots, to the king, and stood before him.
17 And one of them said: I beseech thee, my lord, I and this woman dwelt in one house, and I was delivered of a child with her in 18 the chamber. And the third day after I was delivered, she also was delivered; and we were together, and no other person with 19 us in the house; only we two. And this woman's child died in 20 the night: for in her sleep she overlaid him. And rising in the dead time of the night, she took my child from my side, while I, thy handmaid, was asleep, and laid it in her bosom: and laid 21 her dead child in my bosom. And when I arose in the morning, to give my child suck, behold it was dead: but considering him more diligently, when it was clear day, I found that it was not 22 mine which I bore. And the other woman answered: It is not so as thou sayst, but thy child is dead, and mine is alive. On the contrary, she said; Thou liest: for my child liveth, and thy child 23 is dead. And in this manner they strove before the king. Then said the king: The one saith, My child is alive, and thy child is dead. And the other answereth: Nay; but thy child is dead, 24 and mine liveth. The king therefore said: Bring me a sword.

And when they had brought a sword before the king, Divide, 25 said he, the living child in two, and give half to the one and half to the other. But the woman, whose child was alive, said to 26 the king; (for her bowels were moved upon her child) I beseech thee, my lord, give her the child alive, and do not kill it. But the other said: Let it be neither mine nor thine; but divide it. The 27 king answered, and said: Give the living child to this woman, and let it not be killed; for she is the mother thereof. And all 28 Israel heard the judgment which the king had judged, and they feared the king, seeing that the wisdom of God was in him to do judgment.

And king Solomon reigned over all Israel: And these were 4, 2 the princes which he had: Azarias, the son of Sadoc, the priest: Elihoreph, and Ahia, the sons of Sisa, scribes: Josaphat, the 3 son of Ahilud, recorder: Banaias, the son of Joiada, over the 4 army: and Sadoc, and Abiathar, priests. Azarias, the son of 5 Nathan, over them that were about the king: Zabud, the son of Nathan, the priest, the king's friend: And Ahisar, governor 6 of the house: and Adoniram, the son of Abda, over the tribute. And Solomon had twelve governors over all Israel, who 7 provided victuals for the king and for his house hold: for every one provided necessaries, each man his month in the year. And 8 these are their names: Benhur, in mount Ephraim. Bendecar, 9 in Macces, and in Salebim, and in Bethsames, and in Elon, and in Bethanan. Benhesed, in Aruboth: his was Socho, and all the 10 land of Epher. Benabinadab, to whom belonged all Nephath-Dor: he had Tapheth, the daughter of Solomon, to wife. Bana, 12 the son of Ahilud, who governed Thanac, and Mageddo, and all Bethsan, which is by Sarthana, beneath Jezrael, from Bethsan unto Abelmehula, over against Jecmaan. Bengaber, in Ramoth 13 Galaad: he had the town of Jair, the son of Manasses, in Galaad: he was chief in all the country of Argob, which is in Basan, three-score great cities with walls, and brazen bolts. Ahinadab, the 14 son of Addo, was chief in Manaim. Achimaas, in Nephthali: he 15 also had Basemath, the daughter of Solomon, to wife. Baana, 16 the son of Husi, in Aser, and in Baloth. Josaphat, the son of Pharue, in Issachar. Semei, the son of Ela, in Benjamin. 18 Gaber, the son of Uri, in the land of Galaad, in the land of Se- 19 hon, the king of the Amorrhites, and of Og, the king of Basan, 20 over all that were in that land. Juda and Israel were innumerable, as the sand of the sea in multitude; eating and drinking, 21 and rejoicing. And Solomon had under him all the kingdoms, from the river to the land of the Philistines, even to the border of Egypt: and they brought him presents, and served him 22 all the days of his life. And the provision of Solomon, for each day, was thirty measures of fine flour, and threescore measures of 23 meal; Ten fat oxen, and twenty out of the pastures, and a hundred rams; besides venison of harts, roes, and buffles, and fatted 24 fowls. For he had all the country which was beyond the river, from Thaphsa to Gazan, and all the kings of those countries: 25 and he had peace on every side round about. And Juda, and Israel, dwelt without any fear, every one under his vine, and under his fig tree, from Dan to Bersabee, all the days of Solomon.

26 And Solomon had forty thousand stalls of chariot horses, and 27 twelve thousand for the saddle. And the foresaid governors of the king fed them; and they furnished the necessaries also 28 for king Solomon's table, with great care, in their time. They brought barley also, and straw for the horses and beasts, to the place where the king was, according as it was appointed them.
29 And God gave to Solomon wisdom, and understanding exceeding much, and largeness of heart, as the sand that is on the sea 30 shore. And the wisdom of Solomon surpassed the wisdom of 31 all the Orientals, and of the Egyptians; And he was wiser than all men: wiser than Ethan, the Ezrahite, and Heman, and Chalcol, and Dorda, the sons of Mahol, and he was renowned in all 32 nations round about. Solomon also spoke three thousand parables: and his poems were a thousand and five. And he treated 33 about trees, from the cedar that is in Libanus, unto the hyssop that cometh out of the wall: and he discoursed of beasts, and 34 of fowls, and of creeping things, and of fishes. And they came from all nations to hear the wisdom of Solomon, and from all the kings of the earth, who heard of his wisdom.

5 And Hiram, king of Tyre, sent his servants to Solomon: for he heard that they had anointed him king in the room of his father: 2 for Hiram had always been David's friend. Solomon sent to 3 Hiram, saying: Thou knowest the will of David, my father, and that he could not build a house to the name of the Lord his God, because of the wars that were round about him, until the Lord put them under the soles of his feet. But now the Lord my God 4 hath given me rest round about; and there is no adversary nor evil occurrence. Wherefore I purpose to build a temple to the 5 name of the Lord my God, as the Lord spoke to David my father, saying: Thy son, whom I will set upon the throne, in thy place, he shall build a house to my name. Give orders, therefore, that 6 thy servants cut me down cedar trees, out of Libanus, and let my servants be with thy servants: and I will give thee the hire of thy servants whatsoever thou wilt ask: for thou knowest how there is not among my people a man that has skill to hew wood like to the Sidonians. Now when Hiram had heard the words of 7 Solomon, he rejoiced exceedingly, and said: Blessed be the Lord God this day, who hath given to David a very wise son over this numerous people. And Hiram sent to Solomon, saying: I 8 have heard all thou hast desired of me; and I will do all thy desire concerning cedar trees, and fir trees. My servants shall 9 bring them down from Libanus to the sea: and I will put them together in floats, on the sea, and convey them to the place, which thou shalt signify to me, and will land them there, and thou shalt receive them: and thou shalt allow me necessaries to furnish food for my household. So Hiram gave Solomon cedar 10 trees, and fir trees, according to all his desire. And Solomon 11 allowed Hiram twenty thousand measures of wheat, for provision for his house, and twenty measures of the purest oil: thus gave Solomon to Hiram every year. And the Lord gave wisdom to 12 Solomon, as he promised him: and there was peace between Hiram and Solomon, and they two made a league together. And 13 king Solomon chose workmen out of all Israel, and the levy was of thirty thousand men. And he sent them to Libanus, ten 14 thousand every month, by turns, so that two months they were at home: and Adoniram was over this levy. And Solomon had 15 seventy thousand to carry burdens, and eighty thousand to hew stones in the mountain: Besides the overseers who were over 16 every work, in number three thousand and three hundred, that ruled over the people, and them that did the work. And the king 17 commanded that they should bring great stones, costly stones, for the foundation of the temple, and should square them: And 18 the masons of Solomon, and the masons of Hiram, hewed them: and the Giblyans prepared timber and stones to build the house.

6 And it came to pass in the four hundred and eightieth year after the children of Israel came out of the land of Egypt, in the fourth year of the reign of Solomon over Israel, in the month Zio, (the same is the second month) he began to build a house to the 2 Lord. And the house, which king Solomon built to the Lord, was threescore cubits in length, and twenty cubits in breadth, 3 and thirty cubits in height. And there was a porch before the temple, of twenty cubits in length, according to the measure of the breadth of the temple: and it was ten cubits in breadth, be-4 fore the face of the temple. And he made in the temple oblique 5 windows. And upon the wall of the temple, he built floors round about, in the walls of the house, round about the temple and the 6 oracle, and he made chambers in the sides round about. The floor that was underneath was five cubits in breadth, and the middle floor was six cubits in breadth, and the third floor was seven cubits in breadth. And he put beams in the house round about on the outside, that they might not be fastened in the 7 walls of the temple. And the house, when it was in building, was built of stones, hewed and made ready: so that there was neither hammer nor axe, nor any tool of iron heard in the house 8 when it was in building. The door, for the middle side, was on the right hand of the house: and by winding stairs they went 9 up to the middle room, and from the middle to the third. So he built the house, and finished it: and he covered the house 10 with roofs of cedar. And he built a floor over all the house, five cubits in height, and he covered the house with timber of cedar.
11, 12 And the word of the Lord came to Solomon, As for this house, which thou art building, if thou wilt walk in my statutes, and execute my judgments, and keep all my commandments, walking in them, I will fulfil my word to thee, which I spoke to David thy 13 father. And I will dwell in the midst of the children of Israel, and I will not forsake my people Israel. So Solomon built the 14 house, and finished it. And he built the walls of the house on the inside, with boards of cedar, from the floor of the house to the top of the walls, and to the roofs, he covered it with boards of cedar on the inside: and he covered the floor of the house with 15 planks of fir. And he built up twenty cubits with boards of cedar at the hinder part of the temple, from the floor to the top: and made the inner house of the oracle to be the holy of holies.

And the temple itself, before the doors of the oracle, was forty cubits long. And all the house was covered within with cedar, having the turnings, and the joints thereof artfully wrought, and carvings projecting out: all was covered with boards of cedar: and no stone could be seen in the wall at all. And he made the oracle in the midst of the house, in the inner part, to set there the ark of the covenant of the Lord. Now the oracle was twenty cubits in length, and twenty cubits in breadth, and twenty cubits in height. And he covered it, and overlaid it with most pure gold. And the altar also he covered with cedar. And the house before the oracle he overlaid with most pure gold, and fastened on the plates with nails of gold. And there was nothing in the temple that was not covered with gold: the whole altar of the oracle he covered also with gold. And he made in the oracle two cherubims of olive tree, of ten cubits in height. One wing of the cherub was five cubits, and the other wing of the cherub was five cubits: that is, in all ten cubits, from the extremity of one wing to the extremity of the other wing. The second cherub also was ten cubits: and the measure, and the work was the same in both the cherubims: That is to say, one cherub was ten cubits high, and in like manner the other cherub. And he set the cherubims in the midst of the inner temple: and the cherubims stretched forth their wings, and the wing of the one touched one wall, and the wing of the other cherub touched the other wall: and the other wings in the midst of the temple touched one another. And he overlaid the cherubims with gold. And all the walls of the temple round about he carved with divers figures and carvings: and he made in them cherubims and palm trees, and divers representations, as it were standing out, and coming forth from the wall. And the floor of the house he also overlaid with gold within and without. And in the entrance of the oracle, he made little doors of olive tree, and posts of five corners, And two doors of olive tree: and he carved upon them figures of cherubims, and figures of palm trees, and carvings very much projecting; and he overlaid them with gold: and he covered both the cherubims and the palm trees, and the other things, with gold. And he made in the entrance of the temple posts of olive tree foursquare: And two doors of fir tree, one of each side: and each door was double, and so opened with folding leaves. And he carved cherubims, and palm trees, and carved work standing very much out: and he overlaid all with golden plates in square work by rule. And he built the inner court with three rows of polished stones, and one row of beams of cedar. In the fourth year was the house of the Lord founded, in the month Zio: And in the eleventh year, in the month Bul. (which is the eighth month) the house was finished in all the works thereof, and in all the appurtenances thereof: and he was seven years in building it.

And Solomon built his own house in thirteen years, and brought it to perfection. He built also the house of the forest of Libanus; the length of it was a hundred cubits, and the breadth fifty cubits, and the height thirty cubits: and four galleries between pillars of cedar: for he had cut cedar trees into pillars. And he covered the whole vault with boards of cedar, and it was held up with five and forty pillars. And one row had fifteen pillars, Set one against another, And looking one upon another, with equal space between the pillars, and over the pillars were square beams in all things equal. And he made a porch of pillars of fifty cubits in length, and thirty cubits in breadth: and another porch before the greater porch, and pillars, and chapiters upon the pillars. He made also the porch of the throne wherein is the seat of judgment; and covered it with cedar wood from the floor to the top. And in the midst of the porch, was a small house, where he sat in judgment of the like work. He made also a house for the daughter of Pharao (whom Solomon had taken to wife) of the same work, as this porch; All of costly stones, which were sawed by a certain rule and measure, both within and without: from the foundation to the top of the walls, and without, unto the great court. And the foundations were of costly stones, great stones of ten cubits or eight cubits. And above there were costly stones of equal measure hewed, and in like manner planks of cedar. And the great court was made round with three rows of hewed stones, and one row of planks of cedar, which also was observed in the inner court of the house of the Lord, and in the porch of the house. And king Solomon sent, and brought Hiram from Tyre, The son of a widow woman, of the tribe of Nephthali, whose father was a Tyrian, an artificer in brass, and full of wisdom, and understanding, and skill to work all work in brass. And when he was come to king Solomon, he wrought all his work. And he cast two pillars in brass, each 15 pillar was eighteen cubits high: and a line of twelve cubits com-passed both the pillars. He made also two chapiters of molten 16 brass, to be set upon the tops of the pillars: the height of one chapiter was five cubits, and the height of the other chapiter was five cubits: And a kind of network, and chain work wreathed 17 together with wonderful art. Both the chapiters of the pillars were cast: seven rows of nets were on one chapiter, and seven nets on the other chapiter. And he made the pillars, and two 18 rows round about each network to cover the chapiters, that were upon the top, with pomegranates: and in like manner did he to the other chapiter. And the chapiters that were upon the 19 top of the pillars, were of lily work, in the porch of four cubits.

And again there were other chapiters on the top of the pillars 20 above, according to the measure of the pillar over against the network: and of pomegranates there were two hundred, in rows round about the other chapiter. And he set up the two pillars 21 in the porch of the temple: and when he had set up the pillar on the right hand, he called the name thereof Jachin: in like manner he set up the second pillar, and called the name thereof Booz. And upon the tops of the pillars he made lily work: so 22 the work of the pillars was finished. He made also a molten sea, 23 of ten cubits, from brim to brim, round all about; the height of it was five cubits, and a line of thirty cubits compassed it round about. And a graven work, under the brim of it, compassed it 24 for ten cubits going about the sea: there were two rows cast of chamfered sculptures. And it stood upon twelve oxen, of which 25 three looked towards the north, and three towards the west, and three towards the south, and three towards the east: and the sea was above upon them, and their hinder parts were all hid within. And the laver was a hand breadth thick: and the brim 26 thereof was like the brim of a cup, or the leaf of a crisped lily: it contained two thousand bates. And he made ten bases of brass, 27 every base was four cubits in length, and four cubits in breadth, and three cubits high. And the work itself of the bases, was in- 28 tergraven: and there were gravings between the joinings. And between the little crowns and the ledges, were lions, and oxen, 29 and cherubims; and in the joinings likewise above: and under the lions and oxen, as it were bands of brass hanging down. And 30 every base had four wheels, and axletrees of brass: and at the four sides were undersetters, under the laver molten, looking one 31 against another. The mouth also of the laver within, was in the top of the chapter: and that which appeared without, was of one cubit all round, and together it was one cubit and a half: and in the corners of the pillars were divers engravings: and the 32 spaces between the pillars were square, not round. And the four wheels, which were at the four corners of the base, were joined one to another under the base: the height of a wheel was a cubit and a half. And they were such wheels as are used to be 33 made in a chariot: and their axletrees, and spokes, and strakes, and naves, were all cast. And the four undersetters, that were at every corner of each base, were of the base itself, cast and 34 joined together. And on the top of the base, there was a round compass of half a cubit, so wrought that the laver might be set thereon, having its gravings, and divers sculptures of itself. He 35 engraved also in those plates, which were of brass, and in the corners, cherubims, and lions, and palm trees, in likeness of a man standing, so that they seemed not to be engraven, but added 36 round about. After this manner, he made ten bases, of one casting and measure, and the like graving. He made also ten 37 lavers of brass: one laver contained four bates, and was of four cubits: and upon every base, in all ten, he put as many lavers.

38 And he set the ten bases, five on the right side of the temple, and five on the left: and the sea he put on the right side of the temple, over against the east southward. And Hiram made 39 cauldrons, and shovels, and basins, and finished all the work of king Solomon in the temple of the Lord. The two pillars and the two cords of the chapters, upon the chapters of the pillars: and the two networks, to cover the two cords, that were upon 40 the top of the pillars. And four hundred pomegranates for the two networks: two rows of pomegranates for each network, to cover the cords of the chapters, which were upon the tops of 41 the pillars. And the ten bases, and the ten lavers on the bases.
42 And one sea, and twelve oxen under the sea. And the cauldrons, and the shovels, and the basins. All the vessels that Hiram made for king Solomon, for the house of the Lord, were of fine brass.
43 In the plains of the Jordan, did the king cast them in a clay 44, 45 ground, between Socoth and Sartham. And Solomon placed 46

all the vessels: but for its exceeding great multitude the brass could not be weighed. And Solomon made all the vessels for the house of the Lord: the altar of gold, and the table of gold, upon which the loaves of proposition should be set: And the golden candlesticks, five on the right hand, and five on the left, over against the oracle, of pure gold: and the flowers like lilies, and the lamps over them of gold: and golden snuffers, And pots, and fleshhooks, and bowls, and mortars, and censers, of most pure gold: and the hinges for the doors of the inner house of the holy of holies, and for the doors of the house of the temple, were of gold. And Solomon finished all the work that he made in the house of the Lord, and brought in the things that David, his father, had dedicated, the silver and the gold, and the vessels, and laid them up in the treasures of the house of the Lord.

Then all the ancients of Israel, with the princes of the tribes, and the heads of the families of the children of Israel, were assembled to king Solomon, in Jerusalem: that they might carry the ark of the covenant of the Lord, out of the city of David, that is, out of Sion. And all Israel assembled themselves to king Solomon, on the festival day, in the month of Ethanim, the same is the seventh month. And all the ancients of Israel came, and the priests took up the ark, And carried the ark of the Lord, and the tabernacle of the covenant, and all the vessels of the sanctuary, that were in the tabernacle: and the priests and the Levites carried them. And king Solomon, and all the multitude of Israel, that were assembled unto him, went with him before the ark, and they sacrificed sheep and oxen, that could not be counted or numbered. And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the Lord into its place, into the oracle of the temple, into the holy of holies, under the wings of the cherubims. For the cherubims spread forth their wings over the place of the ark, and covered the ark, and the staves thereof above. And whereas the staves stood out, the ends of them were seen without, in the sanctuary before the oracle, but were not seen farther out, and there they have been unto this day. Now in the ark there was nothing else but the two tables of stone, which Moses put there at Horeb, when the Lord made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of the land of Egypt. And it came to pass, when the priests were come out of the sanctuary, that a cloud filled the house of the 11 Lord, And the priests could not stand to minister because of the cloud: for the glory of the Lord had filled the house of the 12 Lord. Then Solomon said: The Lord said that he would dwell 13 in a cloud. Building, I have built a house for thy dwelling, to 14 be thy most firm throne for ever. And the king turned his face, and blessed all the assembly of Israel: for all the assembly of 15 Israel stood. And Solomon said: Blessed be the Lord the God of Israel, who spoke with his mouth to David, my father, and 16 with his own hands hath accomplished it, saying: Since the day that I brought my people Israel, out of Egypt, I chose no city out of all the tribes of Israel, for a house to be built, that my name might be there: but I chose David to be over my people Israel.

17 And David, my father, would have built a house to the name of 18 the Lord, the God of Israel: And the Lord said to David, my father: Whereas, thou hast thought in thy heart to build a house to my name, thou hast done well in having this same thing in 19 thy mind. Nevertheless, thou shalt not build me a house, but thy son, that shall come forth out of thy loins, he shall build a 20 house to my name. The Lord hath performed his word which he spoke. And I stand in the room of David, my father, and sit upon the throne of Israel, as the Lord promised: and have 21 built a house to the name of the Lord, the God of Israel. And I have set there a place for the ark, wherein is the covenant of the Lord, which he made with our fathers, when they came out of 22 the land of Egypt. And Solomon stood before the altar of the Lord, in the sight of the assembly of Israel, and spread forth his 23 hands towards heaven, And said: Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee, in heaven above, or on the earth beneath: who keepest covenant and mercy with thy servants, that have walked 24 before thee with all their heart: Who hast kept with thy servant David, my father, what thou hast promised him: with thy mouth thou didst speak, and with thy hands thou hast performed, as 25 this day proveth. Now, therefore, O Lord God of Israel, keep with thy servant David, my father, what thou hast spoken to him, saying: There shall not be taken away of thee a man in my sight, to sit on the throne of Israel: yet so that thy children take heed to their way, that they walk before me as thou hast walked 26 in my sight. And now, Lord God of Israel, let thy words be established, which thou hast spoken to thy servant David, my father. Is it then to be thought that God should indeed dwell 27 upon earth? for if heaven, and the heavens of heavens, cannot contain thee, how much less this house which I have built? But 28 have regard to the prayer of thy servant, and to his supplications, O Lord, my God: hear the hymn and the prayer, which thy servant prayeth before thee this day: That thy eyes may be open 29 upon this house, night and day: upon the house of which thou hast said: My name shall be there: that thou mayst hearken to the prayer which thy servant prayeth, in this place to thee: That thou mayst hearken to the supplication of thy servant, and 30 of thy people Israel, whatsoever they shall pray for in this place, and hear them in the place of thy dwelling in heaven; and when thou hearest, shew them mercy. If any man trespass against his 31 neighbour, and have an oath upon him, wherewith he is bound, and come, because of the oath, before thy altar, to thy house, Then hear thou in heaven: and do and judge thy servants, con- 32 demning the wicked, and bringing his way upon his own head, and justifying the just, and rewarding him according to his justice. If thy people Israel shall fly before their enemies (because 33 they will sin against thee) and doing penance, and confessing to thy name, shall come and pray, and make supplications to thee in this house: Then hear thou in heaven, and forgive the sin of 34 thy people Israel, and bring them back to the land which thou gavest to their fathers. If heaven shall be shut up, and there 35 shall be no rain, because of their sins, and they, praying in this place, shall do penance to thy name, and shall be converted from their sins, by occasion of their afflictions: Then hear thou them 36 in heaven, and forgive the sins of thy servants, and of thy people Israel: and shew them the good way wherein they should walk, and give rain upon thy land, which thou hast given to thy people in possession. If a famine arise in the land, or a pestilence, 37 or corrupt air, or blasting, or locust, or mildew; if their enemy afflict them, besieging the gates, whatsoever plague, whatsoever infirmity, Whatsoever curse or imprecation shall happen to any 38 man of thy people Israel: when a man shall know the wound of his own heart, and shall spread forth his hands in this house; Then hear thou in heaven, in the place of thy dwelling, and for- 39 give, and do so as to give to every one according to his ways, as thou shalt see his heart (for thou only knowest the heart of all 40 the children of men) That they may fear thee all the days that they live upon the face of the land, which thou hast given to our 41 fathers. Moreover also the stranger, who is not of thy people Israel, when he shall come out of a far conuntry for thy name's sake, (for they shall hear every where of thy great name, and 42 thy mighty hand, And thy stretched out arm) so when he shall 43 come, and shall pray in this place, Then hear thou in heaven, in the firmament of thy dwelling place, and do all those things, for which that stranger shall call upon thee: that all the people of the earth may learn to fear thy name, as do thy people Israel, and may prove that thy name is called upon on this house, 44 which I have built. If thy people go out to war against their enemies, by what way soever thou shalt send them, they shall pray to thee towards the way of the city, which thou hast chosen, 45 and towards the house, which I have built to thy name: And then hear thou in heaven their prayers, and their supplications, 46 and do judgment for them. But if they sin against thee, (for there is no man who sinneth not) and thou being angry, deliver them up to their enemies, so that they be led away captives into 47 the land of their enemies, far or near; Then if they do penance in their heart, in the place of captivity, and being converted, make supplication to thee in their captivity, saying: We have sinned, we have done unjustly, we have committed wickedness: 48 And return to thee with all their heart, and all their soul, in the land of their enemies, to which they have been led captives: and pray to thee towards the way of their land, which thou gavest to their fathers, and of the city which thou hast chosen, and of 49 the temple which I have built to thy name: Then hear thou in heaven, in the firmament of thy throne, their prayers, and their 50 supplications, and do judgment for them: And forgive thy people, that have sinned against thee, and all their iniquities, by which they have transgressed against thee: and give them mercy before them that have made them captives, that they may have 51 compassion on them. For they are thy people, and thy inheritance, whom thou hast brought out of the land of Egypt, from 52 the midst of the furnace of iron. That thy eyes may be open to the supplication of thy servant, and of thy people Israel, to hear 53 them in all things for which they shall call upon thee. For thou hast separated them to thyself for an inheritance, from amongst all the people of the earth, as thou hast spoken by Moses, thy servant, when thou broughtest our fathers out of Egypt, O Lord God. And it came to pass, when Solomon had made an end of 54 praying all this prayer and supplication to the Lord, that he rose from before the altar of the Lord: for he had fixed both knees on the ground, and had spread his hands towards heaven. And he 55 stood, and blessed all the assembly of Israel with a loud voice, saying: Blessed be the Lord, who hath given rest to his people 56 Israel, according to all that he promised: there hath not failed so much as one word of all the good things that he promised by his servant Moses. The Lord our God be with us, as he was with 57 our fathers, and not leave us, nor cast us off: But may he incline our hearts to himself, that we may walk in all his ways, and keep 58 his commandments, and his ceremonies, and all his judgments, which he commanded our fathers. And let these my words, 59 wherewith I have prayed before the Lord, be nigh unto the Lord our God day and night, that he may do judgment for his servant, and for his people Israel, day by day: That all the people of the 60 earth may know, that the Lord he is God, and there is no other besides him. Let our hearts also be perfect with the Lord our 61 God, that we may walk in his statutes, and keep his commandments, as at this day. And the king, and all Israel with him, 62 offered victims before the Lord. And Solomon slew victims of peace offerings, which he sacrificed to the Lord, two and twenty 63 thousand oxen, and a hundred and twenty thousand sheep so the king, and all the children of Israel, dedicated the temple of the Lord. In that day the king sanctified the middle of the court, 64 that was before the house of the Lord for there he offered the holocaust, and sacrifice, and the fat of the peace offerings: because the brazen altar that was before the Lord, was too little to receive the holocaust, and sacrifice, and the fat of the peace offerings. And Solomon made at the same time a solemn feast, 65 and all Israel with him, a great multitude, from the entrance of Emath to the river of Egypt, before the Lord our God, seven days and seven days, that is, fourteen days. And on the eighth 66 day, he sent away the people: and they blessed the king, and went to their dwellings, rejoicing, and glad in heart, for all the good things that the Lord had done for David, his servant, and for Israel, his people.

9 And it came to pass when Solomon had finished the building of the house of the Lord, and the king's house, and all that he 2 desired and was pleased to do, That the Lord appeared to him 3 the second time, as he had appeared to him in Gabaon. And the Lord said to him: I have heard thy prayer and thy supplication, which thou hast made before me: I have sanctified this house, which thou hast built, to put my name there for ever; and my 4 eyes, and my heart, shall be there always. And if thou wilt walk before me, as thy father walked, in simplicity of heart, and in uprightness: and wilt do all that I have commanded thee, and 5 wilt keep my ordinances, and my judgments, I will establish the throne of thy kingdom over Israel for ever, as I promised David, thy father, saying: There shall not fail a man of thy 6 race upon the throne of Israel. But if you and your children, revolting, shall turn away from following me, and will not keep my commandments, and my ceremonies, which I have set before 7 you, but will go and worship strange gods, and adore them: I will take away Israel from the face of the land which I have given them; and the temple which I have sanctified to my name, I will cast out of my sight; and Israel shall be a proverb, and 8 a byword among all people. And this house shall be made an example of: every one that shall pass by it, shall be astonished, and shall hiss, and say: Why hath the Lord done thus to this 9 land, and to this house? And they shall answer: Because they forsook the Lord their God, who brought their fathers out of the land of Egypt, and followed strange gods, and adored them, and worshipped them: therefore hath the Lord brought upon them 10 all this evil. And when twenty years were ended, after Solomon had built the two houses; that is, the house of the Lord, and the 11 house of the king, (Hiram, the king of Tyre, furnishing Solomon with cedar trees, and fir trees, and gold, according to all he had need of) then Solomon gave Hiram twenty cities in the land of 12 Galilee. And Hiram came out of Tyre, to see the towns which 13 Solomon had given him, and they pleased him not; And he said: Are these the cities which thou hast given me, brother? And he 14 called them the land of Chabul, unto this day. And Hiram sent 15 to king Solomon a hundred and twenty talents of gold. This is the sum of the expenses, which king Solomon offered to build the house of the Lord, and his own house, and Mello, and the wall of Jerusalem, and Hesar, and Mageddo, and Gazer. Pharaoh, the king of Egypt, came up and took Gazer, and burnt it with fire: and slew the Chanaanite that dwelt in the city, and gave it for a dowry to his daughter, Solomon's wife. So Solomon built Gazer, and Bethhoron the nether, And Baalath, and Palmira, in the land of the wilderness. And all the towns that belonged to himself, and were not walled, he fortified; the cities also of the chariots, and the cities of the horsemen, and whatsoever he had a mind to build in Jerusalem, and in Libanus, and in all the land of his dominion. All the people that were left of the Amorrhites, and Hethites, and Pherezites, and Hevites, and Jebusites, that are not of the children of Israel: Their children, that were left in the land; to wit, such as the children of Israel had not been able to destroy, Solomon made tributary unto this day. But of the children of Israel, Solomon made not any to be bondmen, but they were warriors, and his servants, and his princes, and captains, and overseers of the chariots and horses. And there were five hundred and fifty chief officers set over all the works of Solomon, and they had people under them, and had charge over the appointed works. And the daughter of Pharaoh came up out of the city of David to her house, which Solomon had built for her: then did he build Mello. Solomon also offered three times every year holocausts, and victims of peace offerings, upon the altar which he had built to the Lord, and he burnt incense before the Lord: and the temple was finished. And king Solomon made a fleet in Asiongaber, which is by Ailath, on the shore of the Red Sea, in the land of Edom. And Hiram sent his servants in the fleet, sailors that had knowledge of the sea, with the servants of Solomon. And they came to Ophir; and they brought from thence to king Solomon four hundred and twenty talents of gold.

And the queen of Saba having heard of the fame of Solomon in the name of the Lord, came to try him with hard questions. And entering into Jerusalem with a great train, and riches, and camels that carried spices, and an immense quantity of gold, and precious stones, she came to king Solomon, and spoke to him all that she had in her heart. And Solomon informed her of all the things she proposed to him: there was not any word the king was ignorant of, and which he could not answer her. And when the queen of Saba saw all the wisdom of Solomon, and the 5 house which he had built, And the meat of his table, and the apartments of his servants, and the order of his ministers, and their apparel, and the cupbearers, and the holocausts, which he 6 offered in the house of the Lord, she had no longer any spirit in her; And she said to the king: The report is true, which I heard 7 in my own country, Concerning thy words, and concerning thy wisdom. And I did not believe them that told me, till I came myself, and saw with my own eyes, and have found that the half 8 hath not been told me: thy wisdom and thy works exceed the fame which I heard. Blessed are thy men, and blessed are thy servants, who stand before thee always, and hear thy wisdom.

9 Blessed be the Lord thy God, whom thou hast pleased, and who hath set thee upon the throne of Israel, because the Lord hath loved Israel for ever, and hath appointed thee king, to do judg-10 ment and justice. And she gave the king a hundred and twenty talents of gold, and of spices a very great store, and precious stones: there was brought no more such abundance of spices as 11 these which the queen of Saba gave to king Solomon. (The navy also of Hiram, which brought gold from Ophir, brought from 12 Ophir great plenty of thyine trees, and precious stones. And the king made of the thyine trees the rails of the house of the Lord, and of the king's house: and citterns and harps for singers: there were no such thyine trees as these brought nor seen unto 13 this day.) And king Solomon gave the queen of Saba all that she desired, and asked of him: besides what he offered her of himself of his royal bounty. And she returned, and went to her own 14 country, with her servants. And the weight of the gold that was brought to Solomon every year, was six hundred and sixty-six 15 talents of gold: Besides that which the men brought him that were over the tributes, and the merchants, and they that sold by retail, and all the kings of Arabia, and the governors of the 16 country. And Solomon made two hundred shields of the purest gold: he allowed six hundred sicles of gold for the plates of one shield. And three hundred targets of fine gold: three hundred 17 pounds of gold covered one target: and the king put them in the house of the forest of Libanus. King Solomon also made a great 18 throne of ivory: and overlaid it with the finest gold. It had six steps: and the top of the throne was round behind: and there were two hands on either side holding the seat: and two lions stood, one at each hand, And twelve little lions stood upon the six steps, on the one side and on the other: there was no such work made in any kingdom. Moreover, all the vessels out of which king Solomon drank, were of gold: and all the furniture of the house of the forest of Libanus was of most pure gold: there was no silver, nor was any account made of it in the days of Solomon: For the king's navy, once in three years, went with the navy of Hiram by sea to Tharsis, and brought from thence gold, and silver, and elephants' teeth, and apes, and peacocks. And king Solomon exceeded all the kings of the earth in riches and wisdom. And all the earth desired to see Solomon's face, to hear his wisdom, which God had given in his heart. And every one brought him presents, vessels of silver and of gold, garments, and armour, and spices, and horses, and mules, every year. And Solomon gathered together chariots and horsemen, and he had a thousand four hundred chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen: and he bestowed them in fenced cities, and with the king in Jerusalem. And he made silver to be as plentiful in Jerusalem as stones: and cedars to be as common as sycamores which grow in the plains. And horses were brought for Solomon out of Egypt, and Coa: for the king's merchants bought them out of Coa, and brought them at a set price. And a chariot of four horses came out of Egypt, for six hundred sicles of silver, and a horse for a hundred and fifty. And after this manner did all the kings of the Hethites, and of Syria, sell horses.

And king Solomon loved many strange women, besides the daughter of Pharaoh, and women of Moab, and of Ammon, and of Edom, and of Sidon, and of the Hethites: Of the nations concerning which the Lord said to the children of Israel: You shall not go in unto them, neither shall any of them come into yours: for they will most certainly turn away your hearts to follow their gods. And to these was Solomon joined with a most ardent love. And he had seven hundred wives as queens, and three hundred concubines: and the women turned away his heart. And when he was now old, his heart was turned away by women to follow strange gods: and his heart was not perfect with the Lord his God, as was the heart of David, his father. But Solomon worshipped Astarte, the goddess of the Sidonians, and Moloch, the 6 idol of the Ammonites. And Solomon did that which was not pleasing before the Lord, and did not fully follow the Lord, as 7 David, his father. Then Solomon built a temple for Chamos, the idol of Moab, on the hill that is over against Jerusalem, and 8 for Moloch, the idol of the children of Ammon. And he did in this manner for all his wives that were strangers, who burnt 9 incense, and offered sacrifice to their gods. And the Lord was angry with Solomon, because his mind was turned away from the Lord, the God of Israel, who had appeared to him twice; 10 And had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not follow strange gods: but he kept not the things which the 11 Lord commanded him. The Lord therefore said to Solomon: Because thou hast done this, and hast not kept my covenant, and my precepts, which I have commanded thee, I will divide 12 and rend thy kingdom, and will give it to thy servant. Nevertheless, in thy days I will not do it, for David thy father's sake: 13 but I will rend it out of the hand of thy son. Neither will I take away the whole kingdom; but I will give one tribe to thy son, for the sake of David, my servant, and Jerusalem, which I have cho-14 sen. And the Lord raised up an adversary to Solomon, Adad, 15 the Edomite, of the king's seed, in Edom. For when David was in Edom, and Joab, the general of the army, was gone up to bury 16 them that were slain, and had killed every male in Edom, (For Joab remained there six months with all Israel, till he had slain 17 every male in Edom,) Then Adad fled, he and certain Edomites of his father's servants, with him, to go into Egypt: and Adad 18 was then a little boy. And they arose out of Madian, and came into Pharan, and they took men with them from Pharan, and went into Egypt, to Pharao, the king of Egypt: who gave him a 19 house, and appointed him victuals, and assigned him land. And Adad found great favour before Pharao, insomuch that he gave 20 him to wife the own sister of his wife, Taphnes, the queen. And the sister of Taphnes bore him his son, Genubath; and Taphnes brought him up in the house of Pharao: and Genubath dwelt 21 with Pharao among his children. And when Adad heard in Egypt that David slept with his fathers, and that Joab, the general of the army, was dead, he said to Pharao: Let me depart, 22 that I may go to my own country. And Pharao said to him:

Why, what is wanting to thee with me, that thou seekest to go to thy own country? But he answered: Nothing; yet I beseech thee to let me go. God also raised up against him an adversary, Razon, the son of Eliada, who had fled from his master, Adarezer, the king of Soba. And he gathered men against him, and he became a captain of robbers, when David slew them of Soba: and they went to Damascus, and dwelt there, and they made him king in Damascus. And he was an adversary to Israel all the days of Solomon: and this is the evil of Adad, and his hatred against Israel; and he reigned in Syria. Jeroboam also, the son of Nabat, an Ephrathite, of Sareda, a servant of Solomon, whose mother was named Sarua, a widow woman, lifted up his hand against the king. And this is the cause of his rebellion against him; for Solomon built Mello, and filled up the breach of the city of David, his father. And Jeroboam was a valiant and mighty man: and Solomon seeing him a young man ingenious and industrious, made him chief over the tributes of all the house of Joseph. So it came to pass at that time, that Jeroboam went out of Jerusalem, and the prophet Ahias, the Silonite, clad with a new garment, found him in the way: and they two were alone in the field. And Ahias taking his new garment, wherewith he was clad, divided it into twelve parts: And he said to Jeroboam: Take to thee ten pieces: for thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel: Behold, I will rend the kingdom out of the hand of Solomon, and will give thee ten tribes. But one tribe shall remain to him for the sake of my servant, David, and Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel: Because he hath forsaken me, and hath adored Astarthe, the goddess of the Sidonians, and Chamos, the god of Moab, and Moloch, the god of the children of Ammon: and hath not walked in my ways, to do justice before me, and to keep my precepts, and judgments, as did David, his father. Yet I will not take away all the kingdom out of his hand, but I will make him prince all the days of his life, for David my servant's sake, whom I chose, who kept my commandments, and my precepts. But I will take away the kingdom out of his son's hand, and will give thee ten tribes: And to his son I will give one tribe, that there may remain a lamp for my servant, David, before me always in Jerusalem, the city which I have chosen, that my name might be there. And I will take thee, and thou shalt reign over all that 38 thy soul desireth, and thou shalt be king over Israel. If then thou wilt hearken to all that I shall command thee, and wilt walk in my ways, and do what is right before me, keeping my commandments and my precepts, as David, my servant, did: I will be with thee, and will build thee up a faithful house, as I built 39 a house for David, and I will deliver Israel to thee: And I will 40 for this afflict the seed of David, but yet not for ever. Solomon, therefore, sought to kill Jeroboam: but he arose, and fled into Egypt, to Sesac, the king of Egypt, and was in Egypt till the 41 death of Solomon. And the rest of the words of Solomon, and all that he did and his wisdom: behold they are all written in the 42 book of the words of the days of Solomon. And the days that Solomon reigned in Jerusalem, over all Israel, were forty years.

43 And Solomon slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David, his father; and Roboam, his son, reigned in his stead.
12 And Roboam went to Sichem: for thither were all Israel come 2 together to make him king. But Jeroboam, the son of Nabat, who was yet in Egypt, a fugitive from the face of king Solomon, 3 hearing of his death, returned out of Egypt. And they sent and called him: and Jeroboam came, and all the multitude of Israel, 4 and they spoke to Roboam, saying: Thy father laid a grievous yoke upon us: now, therefore, do thou take off a little of the grievous service of thy father, and of his most heavy yoke, which 5 he put upon us, and we will serve thee. And he said to them: Go till the third day, and come to me again. And when the 6 people was gone, King Roboam took counsel with the old men, that stood before Solomon, his father, while he yet lived, and he said: What counsel do you give me, that I may answer this 7 people? They said to him: If thou wilt yield to this people to day, and condescend to them, and grant their petition, and wilt speak gentle words to them, they will be thy servants always.
8 But he left the counsel of the old men, which they had given him, and consulted with the young men that had been brought 9 up with him, and stood before him. And he said to them: What counsel do you give me, that I may answer this people, who have said to me: Make the yoke, which thy father put upon 10 us, lighter? And the young men that had been brought up with him, said: Thus shalt thou speak to this people, who have spoken to thee, saying: Thy father made our yoke heavy, do thou ease us. Thou shalt say to them: My little finger is thicker than the back of my father. And now my father put a heavy yoke upon you, but I will add to your yoke: my father beat you with whips, but I will beat you with scorpions. So Jeroboam, and all the people, came to Roboam the third day, as the king had appointed, saying: Come to me again the third day. And the king answered the people roughly, leaving the counsel of the old men, which they had given him, And he spoke to them according to the counsel of the young men, saying: My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to your yoke: My father beat you with whips, but I will beat you with scorpions. And the king condescended not to the people: for the Lord was turned away from him, to make good his word, which he had spoken in the hand of Ahias, the Silonite, to Jeroboam, the son of Nabat. Then the people, seeing that the king would not hearken to them, answered him, saying: What portion have we in David? or what inheritance in the son of Isai? Go home to thy dwellings, O Israel: now, David, look to thy own house. So Israel departed to their dwellings. But as for all the children of Israel that dwelt in the cities of Juda, Roboam reigned over them. Then king Roboam sent Aduram, who was over the tribute: and all Israel stoned him, and he died. Wherefore king Roboam made haste to get him up into his chariot, and he fled to Jerusalem: And Israel revolted from the house of David, unto this day. And it came to pass when all Israel heard that Jeroboam was come again, that they gathered an assembly, and sent and called him, and made him king over all Israel, and there was none that followed the house of David but the tribe of Juda only. And Roboam came to Jerusalem, and gathered together all the house of Juda, and the tribe of Benjamin, a hundred fourscore thousand chosen men for war, to fight against the house of Israel, and to bring the kingdom again under Roboam, the son of Solomon. But the word of the Lord came to Semeias, the man of God, saying: Speak to Roboam, the son of Solomon, the king of Juda, and to all the house of Juda, and Benjamin, and the rest of the people, saying: Thus saith the Lord: You shall not go up, nor fight against your brethren, the children of Israel: let every man return to his house, for this thing is from me. They hearkened to the word of the Lord, and returned from their journey, as the 25 Lord had commanded them. And Jeroboam built Sichem in mount Ephraim, and dwelt there, and going out from thence, he 26 built Phanuel. And Jeroboam said in his heart: Now shall the 27 kingdom return to the house of David, If this people go up to offer sacrifices in the house of the Lord at Jerusalem: and the heart of this people will turn to their lord Roboam, the king of 28 Juda, and they will kill me, and return to him. And finding out a device, he made two golden calves, and said to them: Go ye up no more to Jerusalem: Behold thy gods, O Israel, who brought 29 thee out of the land of Egypt. And he set the one in Bethel, 30 and the other in Dan: And this thing became an occasion of 31 sin: for the people went to adore the calf as far as Dan. And he made temples in the high places, and priests of the lowest of 32 the people, who were not of the sons of Levi. And he appointed a feast in the eighth month, on the fifteenth day of the month, after the manner of the feast that was celebrated in Juda. And going up to the altar, he did in like manner in Bethel, to sacrifice to the calves, which he had made: and he placed in Bethel priests 33 of the high places, which he had made. And he went up to the altar, which he had built in Bethel, on the fifteenth day of the eighth month, which he had devised of his own heart: and he ordained a feast to the children of Israel, and went up on the altar to burn incense.

13 And behold there came a man of God out of Juda, by the word of the Lord, to Bethel, when Jeroboam was standing upon 2 the altar, and burning incense. And he cried out against the altar in the word of the Lord, and said: O altar, altar, thus saith the Lord: Behold a child shall be born to the house of David, Josias by name, and he shall immolate upon thee the priests of the high places, who now burn incense upon thee, and he shall 3 burn men's bones upon thee. And he gave a sign the same day, saying: This shall be the sign, that the Lord hath spoken: Behold the altar shall be rent, and the ashes that are upon it, 4 shall be poured out. And when the king had heard the word of the man of God, which he had cried out against the altar in Bethel, he stretched forth his hand from the altar, saying: Lay hold on him. And his hand which he stretched forth against him, withered: and he was not able to draw it back again to 5 him. The altar also was rent, and the ashes were poured out from the altar, according to the sign which the man of God had given before in the word of the Lord. And the king said to the man of God: Entreat the face of the Lord thy God, and pray for me, that my hand may be restored to me. And the man of God besought the face of the Lord, and the king's hand was restored to him, and it became as it was before. And the king said to the man of God: Come home with me to dine, and I will make thee presents. And the man of God answered the king: If thou wouldst give me half thy house, I will not go with thee, nor eat bread, nor drink water in this place: For so it was enjoined me by the word of the Lord commanding me: Thou shalt not eat bread, nor drink water, nor return by the same way that thou camest. So he departed by another way, and returned not by the way that he came into Bethel. Now a certain old prophet dwelt in Bethel, and his sons came to him, and told him all the works that the man of God had done that day in Bethel: and they told their father the words which he had spoken to the king. And their father said to them: What way went he? His sons shewed him the way by which the man of God went, who came out of Juda. And he said to his sons: Saddle me the ass. And when they had saddled it, he got up, And went after the man of God, and found him sitting under a turpentine tree: and he said to him: Art thou the man of God who camest from Juda? He answered: I am. And he said to him: Come home with me to eat bread. But he said: I must not return, nor go with thee, neither will I eat bread, or drink water in this place: Because the Lord spoke to me, in the word of the Lord, saying: Thou shalt not eat bread, and thou shalt not drink water there, nor return by the way thou wentest. He said to him: I also am a prophet like unto thee: and an angel spoke to me, in the word of the Lord, saying: Bring him back with thee into thy house, that he may eat bread, and drink water. He deceived him, And brought him back with him: so he ate bread, and drank water in his house. And as they sat at table, the word of the Lord came to the prophet that brought him back: And he cried out to the man of God who came out of Juda, saying: Thus saith the Lord: Because thou hast not been obedient to the Lord, and hast not kept the commandment which the Lord thy God commanded thee, And hast returned, and eaten bread, and drunk water in the place wherein he commanded thee that thou shouldst not eat bread, nor drink water, thy dead body shall not be brought 23 into the sepulchre of thy fathers. And when he had eaten and drunk, he saddled his ass for the prophet, whom he had brought 24 back. And when he was gone, a lion found him in the way, and killed him, and his body was cast in the way: and the ass stood 25 by him, and the lion stood by the dead body. And behold, men passing by, saw the dead body cast in the way, and the lion standing by the body. And they came and told it in the city, 26 wherein that old prophet dwelt. And when that prophet, who had brought him back out of the way, heard of it, he said: It is the man of God, that was disobedient to the mouth of the Lord, and the Lord hath delivered him to the lion, and he hath torn him, and killed him, according to the word of the Lord, which 27 he spoke to him. And he said to his sons: Saddle me an ass. And when they had saddled it, And he was gone, he found the 28 dead body cast in the way, and the ass and the lion standing by the carcass: the lion had not eaten of the dead body, nor 29 hurt the ass. And the prophet took up the body of the man of God, and laid it upon the ass, and going back brought it into 30 the city of the old prophet, to mourn for him. And he laid his dead body in his own sepulchre: and they mourned over him, 31 saying: Alas! alas, my brother. And when they had mourned over him, he said to his sons: When I am dead, bury me in the sepulchre wherein the man of God is buried: lay my bones beside 32 his bones. For assuredly the word shall come to pass which he hath foretold in the word of the Lord, against the altar that is in Bethel: and against all the temples of the high places, that 33 are in the cities of Samaria. After these words, Jeroboam came not back from his wicked way: but on the contrary, he made of the meanest of the people priests of the high places: whosoever would, he filled his hand, and he was made a priest of the high 34 places. And for this cause did the house of Jeroboam sin, and was cut off, and destroyed from the face of the earth.

14, 2 At that time Abia, the son of Jeroboam, fell sick. And Jeroboam said to his wife: Arise, and change thy dress, that thou be not known to be the wife of Jeroboam, and go to Silo, where Ahias, the prophet is, who told me that I should reign over this 3 people. Take also with thee ten loaves, and cracknels, and a pot of honey, and go to him: for he will tell thee what will become of this child. Jeroboam's wife did as he told her: and rising up, 4 went to Silo, and came to the house of Ahias; but he could not see, for his eyes were dim by reason of his age. And the Lord 5 said to Ahias: Behold the wife of Jeroboam cometh in, to consult thee concerning her son, that is sick: thus and thus shalt thou speak to her. So when she was coming in, and made as if she were another woman, Ahias heard the sound of her feet, coming in at 6 the door, and said: Come in, thou wife of Jeroboam: why dost thou feign thyself to be another? But I am sent to thee with heavy tidings. Go, and tell Jeroboam: Thus saith the Lord, 7 the God of Israel: For as much as I exalted thee from among the people, and made thee prince over my people Israel; And 8 rent the kingdom away from the house of David, and gave it to thee, and thou hast not been as my servant, David, who kept my commandments, and followed me with all his heart, doing that which was well pleasing in my sight: But hast done evil above 9 all that were before thee, and hast made thee strange gods, and molten gods, to provoke me to anger, and hast cast me behind thy back: Therefore, behold I will bring evils upon the house 10 of Jeroboam, and will cut off from Jeroboam him that pisseth against the wall, and him that is shut up, and the last in Israel: and I will sweep away the remnant of the house of Jeroboam, as dung is swept away till all be clean. Them that shall die of 11 Jeroboam in the city, the dogs shall eat: and them that shall die in the field, the birds of the air shall devour: for the Lord hath spoken it. Arise thou, therefore, and go to thy house: and when 12 thy feet shall be entering into the city, the child shall die, And 13 all Israel shall mourn for him, and shall bury him: for he only of Jeroboam shall be laid in a sepulchre, because in his regard there is found a good word from the Lord, the God of Israel, in the house of Jeroboam. And the Lord hath appointed himself a 14 king over Israel, who shall cut off the house of Jeroboam in this day, and in this time: And the Lord God shall strike Israel as 15 a reed is shaken in the water: and he shall root up Israel out of this good land, which he gave to their fathers, and shall scatter them beyond the river: because they have made to themselves groves, to provoke the Lord. And the Lord shall give up Israel 16 for the sins of Jeroboam, who hath sinned, and made Israel to 17 sin. And the wife of Jeroboam arose, and departed, and came to Thersa: and when she was coming in to the threshold of the 18 house, the child died, And they buried him. And all Israel mourned for him, according to the word of the Lord, which he 19 spoke by the hand of his servant Ahias, the prophet. And the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, how he fought, and how he reigned, behold they are written in the book of the words of the days of 20 the kings of Israel. And the days that Jeroboam reigned, were two and twenty years: and he slept with his fathers: and Nadab, 21 his son, reigned in his stead. And Roboam, the son of Solomon, reigned in Juda: Roboam was one and forty years old when he began to reign: and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the Lord chose out of all the tribes of Israel to put his name there. And his mother's name was Naama, an 22 Ammonitess. And Juda did evil in the sight of the Lord, and provoked him above all that their fathers had done, in their sins 23 which they committed. For they also built them altars, and statues, and groves, upon every high hill, and under every green 24 tree: There were also the effeminate in the land, and they did according to all the abominations of the people, whom the Lord 25 had destroyed before the face of the children of Israel. And in the fifth year of the reign of Roboam, Sescac, king of Egypt, 26 came up against Jerusalem. And he took away the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the king's treasures, and carried all 27 off: as also the shields of gold which Solomon had made: And Roboam made shields of brass instead of them, and delivered them into the hand of the captains of the shieldbearers, and of 28 them that kept watch before the gate of the king's house. And when the king went into the house of the Lord, they whose office it was to go before him, carried them: and afterwards they 29 brought them back to the armoury of the shieldbearers. Now the rest of the acts of Roboam, and all that he did, behold they are written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of 30 Juda. And there was war between Roboam and Jeroboam al-31 ways. And Roboam slept with his fathers, and was buried with them, in the city of David: and his mother's name was Naama, an Ammonitess: and Abiam, his son, reigned in his stead.

15 Now in the eighteenth year of the reign of Jeroboam, the son 2 of Nabat, Abiam reigned over Juda. He reigned three years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Maacha, the daughter of Abessalom. And he walked in all the sins of his father, which 3 he had done before him: and his heart was not perfect with the Lord his God, as was the heart of David, his father. But for 4 David's sake the Lord his God gave him a lamp in Jerusalem, to set up his son after him, and to establish Jerusalem: Because 5 David had done that which was right in the eyes of the Lord, and had not turned aside from any thing that he commanded him, all the days of his life, except the matter of Urias, the Hethite. But there was war between Roboam and Jeroboam all the time 6 of his life. And the rest of the words of Abiam, and all that 7 he did, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Juda? And there was war between Abiam and Jeroboam. And Abiam slept with his fathers, and they 8 buried him in the city of David: and Asa, his son, reigned in his stead. So in the twentieth year of Jeroboam, king of Israel, 9 reigned Asa, king of Juda, And he reigned one and forty years 10 in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Maacha, the daughter of Abessalom. And Asa did that which was right in the sight of the 11 Lord, as did David, his father: And he took away the effeminate out of the land, and removed all the filth of the idols, which his fathers had made. Moreover, he also removed his mother, 12 Maacha, from being the princess in the sacrifices of Priapus, and in the grove which she had consecrated to him: and he destroyed her den, and broke in pieces the filthy idol, and burnt it by the torrent Cedron: But the high places he did not take 13 away. Nevertheless, the heart of Asa was perfect with the Lord all his days: And he brought in the things which his father had 14 dedicated, and he had vowed, into the house of the Lord, silver and gold, and vessels. And there was war between Asa, and 15 Baasa, king of Israel, all their days. And Baasa, king of Israel, went up against Juda, and built Rama, that no man might go out or come in of the side of Asa, king of Juda. Then Asa 16 took all the silver and gold that remained in the treasures of the house of the Lord, and in the treasures of the king's house, and delivered it into the hands of his servants: and sent them to Benadad, son of Tabremon, the son of Hezion, king of Syria, who dwelt in Damascus, saying: There is a league between me and 17 thee, and between my father and thy father: therefore I have sent 18 19 thee presents of silver and gold: and I desire thee to come, and break thy league with Baasa, king of Israel, that he may depart 20 from me. Benadad, hearkening to king Asa, sent the captains of his army against the cities of Israel, and they smote Ahion, and Dan, and Abeldomum Maacha, and all Cenneroth; that is 21 all the land of Nephthali. And when Baasa had heard this, he left off building Rama, and returned into Thersa. But king Asa sent word into all Juda, saying: Let no man be excused: and they took away the stones from Rama, and the timber thereof, wherewith Baasa had been building, and with them king Asa 22 built Gabaa of Benjamin, and Maspha. But the rest of all the acts of Asa, and all his strength, and all that he did, and the cities that he built, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Juda? But in the time of his old age he 23 was diseased in his feet. And he slept with his fathers, and was buried with them in the city of David, his father. And Josaphat, his son, reigned in his place. But Nadab, the son of Jeroboam, reigned over Israel the second year of Asa, king of Juda: and he 24 reigned over Israel two years. And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the ways of his father, and in his sins, wherewith he made Israel to sin. And Baasa, the son of Ahias, of the house of Issachar, conspired against him, and slew him in Gebbethon, which is a city of the Philistines: for Nadab and 25 all Israel besieged Gebbethon. So Baasa slew him in the third year of Asa, king of Juda, and reigned in his place. And when he was king, he cut off all the house of Jeroboam: he left not so much as one soul of his seed, till he had utterly destroyed him, according to the word of the Lord, which he had spoken in the 26 hand of Ahias, the Silonite: Because of the sin of Jeroboam, which he had sinned, and wherewith he had made Israel to sin, and for the offence wherewith he provoked the Lord, the God of 27 Israel. But the rest of the acts of Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the 28 kings of Israel? And there was war between Asa and Baasa, the king of Israel, all their days. In the third year of Asa, king of Juda, Baasa, the son of Ahias, reigned over all Israel, in Thersa, 29 four and twenty years. And he did evil before the Lord, and walked in the ways of Jeroboam, and in his sins, wherewith he made Israel to sin.

Then the word of the Lord came to Jehu, the son of Hanani, 16 against Baasa, saying: For as much as I have exalted thee out of 2 the dust and made thee prince over my people Israel, and thou hast walked in the way of Jeroboam, and hast made my people Israel to sin, to provoke me to anger with their sins: Behold 3 I will cut down the posterity of Baasa, and the posterity of his house, and I will make thy house as the house of Jeroboam, the son of Nabat. Him that dieth of Baasa, in the city, the dogs 4 shall eat: and him that dieth of his in the country, the fowls of the air shall devour. But the rest of the acts of Baasa, and all 5 that he did, and his battles, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? So Baasa slept 6 with his fathers, and was buried in Thersa: and Ela, his son, reigned in his stead. And when the word of the Lord came in 7 the hand of Jehu, the son of Hanani, the prophet, against Baasa, and against his house, and against all the evil that he had done before the Lord, to provoke him to anger by the works of his hands, to become as the house of Jeroboam: for this cause he slew him; that is to say, Jehu, the son of Hanani, the prophet.
In the six and twentieth year of Asa, king of Juda, Ela, the son 8 of Baasa, reigned over Israel, in Thersa, two years. And his 9 servant Zambri, who was captain of half the horsemen, rebelled against him: now Ela was drinking in Thersa, and drunk in the house of Arsa, the governor of Thersa. And Zambri rushing 10 in, struck him, and slew him, in the seven and twentieth year of Asa, king of Juda and he reigned in his stead. And when 11 he was king, and sat upon his throne, he slew all the house of Baasa, and he left not one thereof to piss against a wall and all his kinsfolks and friends. And Zambri destroyed all the house 12 of Baasa, according to the word of the Lord, that he had spoken to Baasa, in the hand of Jehu, the prophet, For all the sins 13 of Baasa, and the sins of Ela, his son, who sinned, and made Israel to sin, provoking the Lord, the God of Israel, with their vanities. But the rest of the acts of Ela, and all that he did, 14 are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? In the seven and twentieth year of Asa, 15 king of Juda, Zambri reigned seven days in Thersa: now the army was besieging Gebbethon, a city of the Philistines. And 16 when they heard that Zambri had rebelled, and slain the king, all Israel made Amri their king, who was general over Israel in 17 the camp that day. And Amri went up, and all Israel with 18 him, from Gebbethon, and they besieged Thersa. And Zambri, seeing that the city was about to be taken, went into the palace, 19 and burnt himself with the king's house: and he died. In his sins, which he had sinned, doing evil before the Lord, and walking in the way of Jeroboam, and in his sin, wherewith he made Israel 20 to sin. But the rest of the acts of Zambri, and of his conspiracy and tyranny, are they not written in the book of the words of 21 the days of the kings of Israel? Then were the people of Israel divided into two parts: one half of the people followed Thebni, the son of Gineth, to make him king: and one half followed 22 Amri. But the people that were with Amri, prevailed over the people that followed Thebni, the son of Gineth: and Thebni 23 died, and Amri reigned. In the one and thirtieth year of Asa, king of Juda, Amri reigned over Israel twelve years: in Thersa he 24 reigned six years. And he bought the hill of Samaria of Semer, for two talents of silver: and he built upon it, and he called the city which he built Samaria, after the name of Semer, the owner 25 of the hill. And Amri did evil in the sight of the Lord, and 26 acted wickedly above all that were before him. And he walked in all the way of Jeroboam, the son of Nabat, and in his sins, wherewith he made Israel to sin: to provoke the Lord, the God 27 of Israel, to anger with their vanities. Now the rest of the acts of Amri, and the battles he fought, are they not written in the 28 book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? And Amri slept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria, and Achab, his 29 son, reigned in his stead. Now Achab, the son of Amri, reigned over Israel in the eight and thirtieth year of Asa, king of Juda.

And Achab, the son of Amri, reigned over Israel in Samaria two 30 and twenty years. And Achab, the son of Amri, did evil in the 31 sight of the Lord above all that were before him. Nor was it enough for him to walk in the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nabat: but he also took to wife Jezabel, daughter of Ethbaal, king of the Sidonians. And he went, and served Baal, and adored him.
32 And he set up an altar for Baal, in the temple of Baal, which he 33 had built in Samaria; And he planted a grove: and Achab did more to provoke the Lord, the God of Israel, than all the kings 34 of Israel that were before him. In his days Hiel, of Bethel, built Jericho: in Abiram, his firstborn, he laid its foundations: and in his youngest son, Segub, he set up the gates thereof: according to the word of the Lord, which he spoke in the hand of Josue, the son of Nun.

And Elias the Thesbite, of the inhabitants of Galaad, said to Achab: As the Lord liveth, the God of Israel, in whose sight I stand, there shall not be dew nor rain these years, but according to the words of my mouth. And the word of the Lord came to him, saying: Get thee hence, and go towards the east, and hide thyself by the torrent of Carith, which is over against the Jordan; And there thou shalt drink of the torrent: and I have commanded the ravens to feed thee there. So he went, and did according to the word of the Lord: and going, he dwelt by the torrent Carith, which is over against the Jordan. And the ravens brought him bread and flesh in the morning, and bread and flesh in the evening; and he drank of the torrent. But after some time the torrent was dried up: for it had not rained upon the earth. Then the word of the Lord came to him, saying: Arise, and go to Sarephta of the Sidonians, and dwell there: for I have commanded a widow woman there to feed thee. He arose, and went to Sarephta. And when he was come to the gate of the city, he saw the widow woman gathering sticks, and he called her, and said to her: Give me a little water in a vessel, that I may drink. And when she was going to fetch it, he called after her, saying: Bring me also, I beseech thee, a morsel of bread in thy hand. And she answered: As the Lord thy God liveth, I have no bread, but only a handful of meal in a pot, and a little oil in a cruise: behold I am gathering two sticks, that I may go in and dress it, for me and my son, that we may eat it and die. And Elias said to her: Fear not; but go, and do as thou hast said but first make for me of the same meal a little hearth cake, and bring it to me, and after make for thyself and thy son. For thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel: The pot of meal shall not waste, nor the cruise of oil be diminished, until the day wherein the Lord will give rain upon the face of the earth. She went, and did according to the word of Elias: and he ate, and she, and her house: and from that day The pot of meal wasted not, and the cruise of oil was not diminished according to the word of the Lord, which he spoke in the hand of Elias. And it came to pass after this, that the son of the woman, the mistress of the house, fell sick, and the sickness was very grievous, so that there was 18 no breath left in him. And she said to Elias: What have I to do with thee, thou man of God? art thou come to me, that my iniquities should be remembered, and that thou shouldst kill my 19 son? And Elias said to her: Give me thy son. And he took him out of her bosom, and carried him into the upper chamber 20 where he abode, and laid him upon his own bed. And he cried to the Lord, and said: O Lord, my God, hast thou afflicted also the widow, with whom I am after a sort maintained, so as to 21 kill her son? And he stretched, and measured himself upon the child three times, and cried to the Lord, and said: O Lord, my God, let the soul of this child, I beseech thee, return into his 22 body. And the Lord heard the voice of Elias: and the soul of the child returned into him, and he revived. And Elias took 23 the child, and brought him down from the upper chamber to the house below, and delivered him to his mother, and said to her:

24 Behold thy son liveth. And the woman said to Elias: Now by this I know that thou art a man of God, and the word of the Lord in thy mouth is true.

18 After many days, the word of the Lord came to Elias, in the third year, saying: Go, and shew thyself to Achab, that 2 I may give rain upon the face of the earth. And Elias went to shew himself to Achab, and there was a grievous famine in 3 Samaria. And Achab called Abdias the governor of his house: now Abdias feared the Lord very much. For when Jezabel killed 4 the prophets of the Lord, he took a hundred prophets, and hid them by fifty and fifty in caves, and fed them with bread and 5 water. And Achab said to Abdias: Go into the land unto all fountains of waters, and into all valleys, to see if we can find 6 grass, and save the horses and mules, that the beasts may not utterly perish. And they divided the countries between them, 7 that they might go round about them: Achab went one way, and Abdias another way by himself. And as Abdias was in the 8 way, Elias met him: and he knew him, and fell on his face, and said: Art thou my lord Elias? And he answered: I am. Go, 9 and tell thy master: Elias is here. And he said: What have I sinned, that thou wouldst deliver me, thy servant, into the hand 10 of Achab, that he should kill me? As the Lord thy God liveth, there is no nation or kingdom, whither my lord hath not sent to seek thee: and when all answered: He is not here: he took an oath of every kingdom and nation, because thou wast not found. And now thou sayest to me: Go and tell thy master: 11 Elias is here. And when I am gone from thee, the Spirit of the Lord will carry thee into a place that I know not: and I shall 12 go in and tell Achab; and he, not finding thee, will kill me: but thy servant feareth the Lord from his infancy. Hath it not been 13 told thee, my lord, what I did when Jezabel killed the prophets of the Lord; how I hid a hundred men of the prophets of the Lord, by fifty and fifty in caves, and fed them with bread and water? And now thou sayest: Go and tell thy master: Elias is 14 here: that he may kill me. And Elias said: As the Lord of hosts liveth, before whose face I stand, this day I will shew myself unto him. Abdias therefore went to meet Achab, and told him: 16 and Achab came to meet Elias. And when he had seen him, 17 he said: Art thou he that troublest Israel? And he said: I have not troubled Israel, but thou and thy father's house, who have forsaken the commandments of the Lord, and have followed Baalim. Nevertheless send now, and gather unto me all Israel, 19 unto Mount Carmel, and the prophets of Baal four hundred and fifty, and the prophets of the groves four hundred, who eat at Jezabel's table. Achab sent to all the children of Israel, and 20 gathered together the prophets unto mount Carmel. And Elias coming to all the people, said: How long do you halt between two sides? If the Lord be God, follow him: but if Baal, then follow him. And the people did not answer him a word. And 22 Elias said again to the people: I only remain a prophet of the Lord: but the prophets of Baal are four hundred and fifty men. Let two bullocks be given us, and let them choose one bullock for 23 themselves, and cut it in pieces, and lay it upon wood, but put no fire under: and I will dress the other bullock, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under it. Call ye on the names of your gods, 24 and I will call on the name of my Lord: and the God that shall answer by fire, let him be God. And all the people answering, said: A very good proposal. Then Elias said to the prophets 25 of Baal: Choose you one bullock and dress it first, because you are many: and call on the names of your gods; but put no fire under. And they took the bullock, which he gave them, and 26 dressed it: and they called on the name of Baal from morning even until noon, saying: O Baal, hear us. But there was no voice, nor any that answered: and they leaped over the altar that they 27 had made. And when it was now noon, Elias jested at them, saying: Cry with a louder voice: for he is a god; and perhaps he is talking, or is in an inn, or on a journey; or perhaps he is 28 asleep, and must be awaked. So they cried with a loud voice, and cut themselves after their manner with knives and lancets, 29 till they were all covered with blood. And after midday was past, and while they were prophesying, the time was come of offering sacrifice, and there was no voice heard, nor did any one 30 answer, nor regard them as they prayed. Elias said to all the people: Come ye unto me. And the people coming near unto him, he repaired the altar of the Lord, that was broken down: 31 And he took twelve stones, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob to whom the word of the Lord came, saying: 32 Israel shall be thy name. And he built with the stones an altar to the name of the Lord: and he made a trench for water, of the 33 breadth of two furrows, round about the altar. And he laid the wood in order, and cut the bullock in pieces, and laid it upon 34 the wood. And he said: Fill four buckets with water, and pour it upon the burnt offering, and upon the wood. And again he said: Do the same the second time. And when they had done it the second time, he said: Do the same also the third time. And 35 they did so the third time. And the water run round about the altar, and the trench was filled with water. And when it was 36 now time to offer the holocaust, Elias, the prophet, came near and said: O Lord God of Abraham, and Isaac, and Israel, shew this day that thou art the God of Israel, and I thy servant, and that according to thy commandment I have done all these things.

37 Dear me, O Lord, hear me: that this people may learn that thou art the Lord God, and that thou hast turned their heart again.
38 Then the fire of the Lord fell, and consumed the holocaust, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water 39 that was in the trench. And when all the people saw this, they fell on their faces, and they said: The Lord, he is God; the Lord, 40 he is God. And Elias said to them: Take the prophets of Baal, and let not one of them escape. And when they had taken them, Elias brought them down to the torrent Cison, and killed them there. And Elias said to Achab: Go up, eat and drink: for 41 there is a sound of abundance of rain. Achab went up to eat 42 and drink: and Elias went up to the top of Carmel, and casting himself down upon the earth, put his face between his knees, And he said to his servant: Go up, and look towards the sea. 43 And he went up, and looked, and said: There is nothing. And again he said to him: Return seven times. And at the seventh 44 time: Behold a little cloud arose out of the sea like a man's foot.

And he said: Go up, and say to Achab: Prepare thy chariot, and go down, lest the rain prevent thee. And while he turned 45 himself this way and that way, behold the heavens grew dark, with clouds and wind, and there fell a great rain. And Achab getting up, went away to Jezrahel: And the hand of the Lord 46 was upon Elias, and he girded up his loins, and ran before Achab, till he came to Jezrahel.

And Achab told Jezabel all that Elias had done, and how he 19 had slain all the prophets with the sword. And Jezabel sent a 2 messenger to Elias, saying: Such and such things may the gods do to me, and add still more, if by this hour to morrow I make not thy life as the life of one of them. Then Elias was afraid, 3 and rising up, he went whithersoever he had a mind: and he came to Bersabee of Juda, and left his servant there, And he 4 went forward, one day's journey into the desert. And when he was there, and sat under a juniper tree, he requested for his soul that he might die, and said: It is enough for me, Lord; take away my soul: for I am no better than my fathers. And he 5 cast himself down, and slept in the shadow of the juniper tree: and behold an angel of the Lord touched him, and said to him: Arise and eat. He looked, and behold there was at his head 6 hearth cake, and a vessel of water: and he ate and drank, and he fell asleep again. And the angel of the Lord came again the 7 second time, and touched him, and said to him: Arise, eat: for thou hast yet a great way to go. And he arose, and ate and 8 drank, and walked in the strength of that food forty days and forty nights, unto the mount of God, Horeb. And when he was 9 come thither, he abode in a cave. and behold the word of the Lord came unto him, and he said to him: What dost thou here, Elias? And he answered: With zeal have I been zealous for the 10 Lord God of hosts: for the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant: they have thrown down thy altars, they have slain thy prophets with the sword, and I alone am left, and they seek my 11 life to take it away. And he said to him: Go forth, and stand upon the mount before the Lord: and behold the Lord passeth, and a great and strong wind before the Lord, overthrowing the mountains, and breaking the rocks in pieces: but the Lord is not in the wind. And after the wind, an earthquake: but the 12 Lord is not in the earthquake. And after the earthquake, a fire: but the Lord is not in the fire. And after the fire, a whistling of a gentle air. And when Elias heard it, he covered his face with his mantle, and coming forth, stood in the entering in of the cave, and behold a voice unto him, saying: What dost thou here, 13 Elias? And he answered: With zeal have I been zealous for the Lord God of hosts: because the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant: they have destroyed thy altars, they have slain thy prophets with the sword; and I alone am left, and they seek my 14 life to take it away. And the Lord said to him: Go, and return on thy way, through the desert, to Damascus: and when thou art come thither, thou shalt anoint Hazael to be king over Syria; and thou shalt anoint Jehu, the son of Namsi, to be king over 15 Israel: and Eliseus, the son of Saphat, of Abelmeula, thou shalt anoint to be prophet in thy room. And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall escape the sword of Hazael, shall be slain by Jehu: and whosoever shall escape the sword of Jehu, shall be 16 slain by Eliseus. And I will leave me seven thousand men in Israel, whose knees have not been bowed before Baal, and every mouth that hath not worshipped him, kissing the hands. And Elias departing from thence, found Eliseus, the son of Saphat, ploughing with twelve yoke of oxen: and he was one of them that were ploughing with, twelve yoke of oxen: and when Elias came 17 up to him, he cast his mantle upon him. And he forthwith left the oxen, and run after Elias, and said: Let me, I pray thee, kiss my father and my mother, and then I will follow thee. And he said to him: Go, and return back: for that which was my part, 18 I have done to thee. And returning back from him, he took a yoke of oxen, and killed them, and boiled the flesh with the plough of the oxen, and gave to the people, and they ate: and rising up, he went away, and followed Elias, and ministered to 19 him.

And Benadad, king of Syria, gathered together all his host, 20 and there were two and thirty kings with him, and horses, and chariots: and going up, he fought against Samaria, and besieged it. And sending messengers to Achab, king of Israel, into the 2 city, He said: Thus saith Benadad: Thy silver and thy gold is 3 mine: and thy wives and thy goodliest children are mine. And 4 the king of Israel answered: According to thy word, my lord, O king, I am thine, and all that I have. And the messengers came 5 again, and said: Thus saith Benadad, who sent us unto thee: Thy silver and thy gold, and thy wives and thy children, thou shalt deliver up to me. To morrow, therefore, at this same hour, 6 I will send my servants to thee, and they shall search thy house, and the houses of thy servants: and all that pleaseth them, they shall put in their hands, and take away. And the king of Israel 7 called all the ancients of the land, and said: Mark, and see that he layeth snares for us. For he sent to me for my wives, and for my children, and for my silver and gold: and I said not nay.
And all the ancients, and all the people said to him: Hearken 8 not to him, nor consent to him. Wherefore he answered the 9 messengers of Benadad: Tell my lord, the king: All that thou didst send for to me, thy servant at first, I will do: but this thing I cannot do. And the messengers returning brought him word. 10 And he sent again, and said: Such and such things may the gods do to me, and more may they add, if the dust of Samaria shall suffice for handfuls for all the people that follow me. And the 11 king of Israel answering, said: Tell him: Let not the girded boast himself as the ungirded. And it came to pass, when Benadad 12 heard this word, that he and the kings were drinking in pavilions, and he said to his servants: Beset the city. And they beset it.
And behold a prophet coming to Achab, king of Israel, said to 13 him: Thus saith the Lord: Hast thou seen all this exceeding great multitude? behold I will deliver them into thy hand this day: that thou mayst know that I am the Lord. And Achab said: 14 By whom? And he said to him: Thus saith the Lord: By the servants of the princes of the provinces. And he said: Who shall begin to fight? And he said: Thou. So he mustered the servants 15 of the princes of the provinces, and he found the number of two hundred and thirty-two: and he mustered after them the people, all the children of Israel, seven thousand: And they went out at 16 noon. But Benadad was drinking himself drunk in his pavilion, and the two and thirty kings with him, who were come to help 17 him. And the servants of the princes of the provinces went out first. And Benadad sent. And they told him, saying: There are 18 men come out of Samaria. And he said: Whether they come for peace, take them alive: or whether they come to fight, take 19 them alive. So the servants of the princes of the provinces went out, and the rest of the army followed: And every one slew the 20 man that came against him: and the Syrians fled, and Israel pursued after them. And Benadad, king of Syria, fled away on 21 horseback with his horsemen. But the king of Israel going out overthrew the horses and chariots, and slew the Syrians with a 22 great slaughter. (And a prophet coming to the king of Israel, said to him: Go, and strengthen thyself, and know, and see what thou dost: for the next year the king of Syria will come up 23 against thee.) But the servants of the king of Syria said to him: Their gods are gods of the hills, therefore they have overcome us: but it is better that we should fight against them in the 24 plains, and we shall overcome them. Do thou, therefore, this thing: Remove all the kings from thy army, and put captains 25 in their stead: And make up the number of soldiers that have been slain of thine, and horses, according to the former horses, and chariots, according to the chariots which thou hadst before: and we will fight against them in the plains, and thou shalt see that we shall overcome them. He believed their counsel, and did 26 so. Wherefore, at the return of the year, Benadad mustered the Syrians, and went up to Aphec, to fight against Israel. And the children of Israel were mustered, and taking victuals, went out on the other side, and encamped over against them, like two 28 little flocks of goats: but the Syrians filled the land. (And a man of God coming, said to the king of Israel: Thus saith the Lord: Because the Syrians have said: The Lord is God of the hills, but is not God of the valleys: I will deliver all this great multitude into thy hand, and you shall know that I am the Lord.) 29 And both sides set their armies in array one against the other seven days, and on the seventh day the battle was fought: and the children of Israel slew, of the Syrians, a hundred thousand 30 footmen in one day. And they that remained fled to Aphec, into the city: and the wall fell upon seven and twenty thousand men, that were left. And Benadad fleeing, went into the city, into a chamber that was within a chamber. And his servants 31 said to him: Behold, we have heard that the kings of the house of Israel are merciful; so let us put sackcloths on our loins, and ropes on our heads, and go out to the king of Israel: perhaps he will save our lives. So they girded sackcloths on their loins, and 32 put ropes on their heads, and came to the king of Israel, and said to him: Thy servant, Benadad, saith: I beseech thee let me have my life. And he said: If he be yet alive, he is my brother.

The men took this for good luck: and in haste caught the word 33 out of his mouth, and said: Thy brother Benadad. And he said to them: Go, and bring him to me. Then Benadad came out to him, and he lifted him up into his chariot. And he said to him: 34 The cities which my father took from thy father, I will restore: and do thou make thee streets in Damascus, as my father made in Samaria and having made a league, I will depart from thee.
So he made a league with him, and let him go. Then a certain 35 man of the sons of the prophets, said to his companion, in the word of the Lord: Strike me. But he would not strike. Then 36 he said to him: Because thou wouldst not hearken to the word of the Lord, behold thou shalt depart from me, and a lion shall slay thee. And when he was gone a little from him, a lion found him, and slew him. Then he found another man, and said to 37 him: Strike me. And he struck him and wounded him. So the prophet went, and met the king in the way, and disguised himself 38 by sprinkling dust on his face and his eyes. And as the king passed by, he cried to the king, and said: Thy servant went out to fight hand to hand: and when a certain man was run away, one brought him to me, and said: Keep this man: and if he shall slip away, thy life shall be for his life, or thou shalt pay a talent of silver. And whilst I, in the hurry, turned this way and that, 40 on a sudden he was not to be seen. And the king of Israel said to him: This is thy judgment, which thyself hast decreed. But 41 he forthwith wiped off the dust from his face, and the king of Israel knew him, that he was one of the prophets. And he said 42 to him: Thus saith the Lord. Because thou hast let go out of thy hand a man worthy of death, thy life shall be for his life, and thy people for his people. And the king of Israel returned 43 to his house, slighting to hear, and raging came into Samaria.

21 And after these things, Naboth the Jezrahelite, who was in Jezrahel, had at that time a vineyard, near the palace of Achab, king of Samaria. And Achab spoke to Naboth, saying: Give me thy vineyard, that I may make me a garden of herbs, because it is nigh, and adjoining to my house; and I will give thee for it a better vineyard: or if thou think it more convenient for thee, I will give thee the worth of it in money. Naboth answered him: The Lord be merciful to me, and not let me give thee the inheritance of my fathers. And Achab came into his house angry and fretting, because of the word that Naboth, the Jezrahelite, had spoken to him, saying: I will not give thee the inheritance of my fathers. And casting himself upon his bed, he turned away his face to the wall, and would eat no bread. And Jezabel, his wife, went in to him, and said to him: What is the matter that thy soul is so grieved? and why eatest thou no bread? And he answered her: I spoke to Naboth, the Jezrahelite, and said to him: Give me thy vineyard, and take money for it: or if it please thee, I will give thee a better vineyard for it. And he said: I will not give thee my vineyard. Then Jezabel, his wife, said to him. Thou art of great authority indeed, and governest well the kingdom of Israel. Arise, and eat bread, and be of good cheer; I will give thee the vineyard of Naboth, the Jezrahelite. So she wrote letters in Achab's name, and sealed them with his ring, and sent them to the ancients, and the chief men that were in his city, and that dwelt with Naboth. And this was the tenor of the letters: Proclaim a fast, and make Naboth sit among the chief of the people; And suborn two men, sons of Belial, against him. and let them bear false witness; that he hath blasphemed God and the king: and then carry him out, and stone him, and so let him die. And the men of his city, the ancients and nobles, that dwelt with him in the city, did as Jezabel had commanded them, and as it was written in the letters which she had sent to them; They proclaimed a fast, and made Naboth sit among the chief of the people. And bringing two men, sons of the devil, they made them sit against him: and they, like men of the devil, bore witness against him before the people: saying: Naboth hath blasphemed God and the king. Wherefore they brought him forth without the city, and stoned him to death. And they sent to Jezabel, saying: Naboth is stoned, and is dead. And it came to pass, when Jezabel heard that Naboth was stoned, and dead, that she said to Achab: Arise, and take possession of the vineyard of Naboth, the Jezrahelite, who would not agree with thee, and give it thee for money: for Naboth is not alive, but dead. And when Achab heard this, to wit, that Naboth 16 was dead, he arose, and went down into the vineyard of Naboth, the Jezrahelite, to take possession of it. And the word of the Lord came to Elias, the Thesbite, saying: Arise, and go down 17 to meet Achab, king of Israel, who is in Samaria: behold he is going down to the vineyard of Naboth, to take possession of it: And thou shalt speak to him, saying: Thus saith the Lord: Thou 18 hast slain: moreover also thou hast taken possession. And after these words thou shalt add: Thus saith the Lord: In this place, wherein the dogs have licked the blood of Naboth, they shall lick thy blood also. And Achab said to Elias: Hast thou found me 20 thy enemy? He said: I have found thee because thou art sold, to do evil in the sight of the Lord. Behold I will bring evil upon 21 thee, and I will cut down thy posterity, and I will kill of Achab him that pisseth against the wall, and him that is shut up, and the last in Israel. And I will make thy house like the house of 22 Jeroboam the son of Nabat, and like the house of Baasa the son of Ahias: for what thou hast done to provoke me to anger, and for making Israel to sin. And of Jezabel also, the Lord spoke, 23 saying: The dogs shall eat Jezabel in the field of Jezrahel. If 24 Achab die in the city, the dogs shall eat him: but if he die in the field, the birds of the air shall eat him. Now, there was not such 25 another as Achab, who was sold to do evil in the sight of the Lord: for his wife, Jezabel, set him on, And he became abominable, 26 insomuch that he followed the idols which the Amorrhites had made, whom the Lord destroyed before the face of the children of Israel. And when Achab had heard these words, he rent 27 his garments, and put haircloth upon his flesh, and fasted, and slept in sackcloth, and walked with his head cast down. And 28 the word of the Lord came to Elias, the Thesbite, saying: Hast 29 thou not seen Achab humbled before me? therefore, because he hath humbled himself, for my sake, I will not bring the evil in his days, but in his son's days will I bring the evil upon his house.

And there passed three years without war between Syria and 22 Israel. And in the third year, Josaphat, king of Juda, came 2 3 down to the king of Israel. (And the king of Israel said to his servants: Know ye not that Ramoth Galaad is ours, and we 4 neglect to take it out of the hand of the king of Syria?) And he said to Josaphat: Wilt thou come with me to battle to Ramoth 5 Galaad? And Josaphat said to the king of Israel: As I am, so art thou: my people and thy people are one: and my horsemen are thy horsemen. And Josaphat said to the king of Israel: Inquire, 6 I beseech thee, this day the word of the Lord. Then the king of Israel assembled the prophets, about four hundred men, and he said to them: Shall I go to Ramoth Galaad to fight, or shall I forbear? They answered: Go up, and the Lord will deliver it 7 into the hand of the king. And Josaphat said: Is there not here 8 some prophet of the Lord, that we may inquire by him? And the king of Israel said to Josaphat. There is one man left, by whom we may inquire of the Lord; Micheas, the son of Jemla: but I hate him, for he doth not prophecy good to me, but evil.

9 And Josaphat said: Speak not so, O king. Then the king of Israel called an eunuch, and said to him: Make haste, and bring 10 hither Micheas, the son of Jemla. And the king of Israel, and Josaphat, king of Juda, sat each on his throne, clothed with royal robes, in a court, by the entrance of the gate of Samaria, and 11 all the prophets prophesied before them. And Sedecias, the son of Chanaana, made himself horns of iron, and said: Thus saith the Lord: With these shalt thou push Syria, till thou destroy it.
12 And all the prophets prophesied in like manner, saying: Go up to Ramoth Galaad, and prosper, for the Lord will deliver it into 13 the king's hands. And the messenger that went to call Micheas, spoke to him, saying: Behold the words of the prophets with one mouth declare good things to the king: let thy word, therefore, 14 be like to theirs, and speak that which is good. But Micheas said to him: As the Lord liveth, whatsoever the Lord shall say to 15 me, that will I speak. So he came to the king, and the king said to him: Micheas, shall we go to Ramoth Galaad to battle, or shall we forbear? He answered him: Go up, and prosper, and the Lord 16 shall deliver it into the king's hands. But the king said to him: I adjure thee again and again, that thou tell me nothing but that 17 which is true, in the name of the Lord. And he said: I saw all Israel scattered upon the hills, like sheep that have no shepherd; and the Lord said: These have no master: let every man of them return to his house in peace. (Then the king of Israel said to 18 Josaphat: Did I not tell thee, that he prophesieth no good to me, but always evil?) And he added and said: Hear thou, therefore, 19 the word of the Lord: I saw the Lord sitting on his throne, and all the army of heaven standing by him on the right hand and on the left: And the Lord said: Who shall deceive Achab, king of 20 Israel, that he may go up, and fall at Ramoth Galaad? And one spoke words of this manner, and another otherwise. And there 21 came forth a spirit, and stood before the Lord, and said: I will deceive him. And the Lord said to him: By what means? And 22 he said: I will go forth, and be a lying spirit, in the mouth of all his prophets. And the Lord said: Thou shalt deceive him, and shalt prevail: go forth, and do so. Now, therefore, behold the 23 Lord hath given a lying spirit in the mouth of all thy prophets that are here, and the Lord hath spoken evil against thee. And 24 Sedecias, the son of Chanaana, came, and struck Micheas on the cheek, and said: Hath then the spirit of the Lord left me, and spoken to thee? And Micheas said: Thou shalt see in the day 25 when thou shalt go into a chamber within a chamber to hide thyself. And the king of Israel said: Take Micheas and let him 26 abide with Amon, the governor of the city, and with Joas, the son of Amalech; And tell them: Thus saith the king: Put this 27 man in prison, and feed him with bread of affliction, and water of distress till I return in peace. And Micheas said: If thou 28 return in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me. And he said: Hear, all ye people. So the king of Israel, and Josaphat, king of 29 Juda, went up to Ramoth-Galaad. And the king of Israel said 30 to Josaphat: Take thy armour, and go into the battle, and put on thy own garments. But the king of Israel changed his dress, and went into the battle. And the king of Syria had commanded 31 the two and thirty captains of the chariots, saying: You shall not fight against any, small or great, but against the king of Israel only. So when the captains of the chariots saw Josaphat, they 32 suspected that he was the king of Israel, and making a violent assault, they fought against him: and Josaphat cried out. And 33 the captains of the chariots perceived that he was not the king of Israel, and they turned away from him. And a certain man bent 34 his bow, shooting at a venture, and chanced to strike the king of Israel, between the lungs and the stomach. But he said to the driver of his chariot: Turn thy hand, and carry me out of the 35 army, for I am grievously wounded. And the battle was fought that day, and the king of Israel stood in his chariot against the Syrians, and he died in the evening: and the blood ran out of the 36 wound into the midst of the chariot. And the herald proclaimed through all the army, before the sun set, saying: Let every man 37 return to his own city, and to his own country. And the king died, and was carried into Samaria: and they buried the king in 38 Samaria. And they washed his chariot in the pool of Samaria and the dogs licked up his blood, and they washed the reins 39 according to the word of the Lord which he had spoken. But the rest of the acts of Achab, and all that he did, and the house of ivory that he made, and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings 40 of Israel? So Achab slept with his fathers; and Ochozias, his 41 son, reigned in his stead. But Josaphat, the son of Asa, began to reign over Juda, in the fourth year of Achab, king of Israel.

42 He was five and thirty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned five and twenty years in Jerusalem: the name of his 43 mother was Azuba, the daughter of Salai. And he walked in all the way of Asa, his father, and he declined not from it: and he 44 did that which was right in the sight of the Lord. Nevertheless, he took not away the high places for as yet the people offered 45 sacrifice, and burnt incense in the high places. And Josaphat had peace with the king of Israel. But the rest of the acts of 46 Josaphat, and his works which he did, and his battles, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of 47 Juda? And the remnant also of the effeminate, who remained 48 in the days of Asa, his father, he took out of the land. And 49 there was then no king appointed in Edom. But king Josaphat made navies on the sea, to sail into Ophir for gold: but they 50 could not go, for the ships were broken in Asiongaber. Then Ochozias, the son of Achab, said to Josaphat: Let my servants go 51 with thy servants in the ships. And Josaphat would not. And Josaphat slept with his fathers, and was buried with them in the city of David, his father: and Joram, his son, reigned in his 52 stead. And Ochozias, the son of Achab, began to reign over Israel, in Samaria, in the seventeenth year of Josaphat, king of 53 Juda, and he reigned over Israel two years. And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the way of his father and his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam, the son of Nabat, who made Israel to sin. He served also Baal, and worshipped him, ⁵⁴ and provoked the Lord, the God of Israel, according to all that his father had done.

THE SECOND BOOK OF THE KINGS,
OTHERWISE CALLED,
THE FOURTH BOOK OF THE KINGS.

1 And Moab rebelled against Israel, after the death of 2 Achab. And Ochozias fell through the lattices of his upper chamber, which he had in Samaria, and was sick: and he sent messengers, saying to them: Go, consult 3 Beelzebub, the god of Accaron, whether I shall recover of this my illness. And an angel of the Lord spoke to Elias, the Thesbite, 4 saying: Arise, and go up to meet the messengers of the king of Samaria, and say to them: Is there not a God in Israel, that ye go to consult Beelzebub, the god of Accaron? Wherefore, 5 thus saith the Lord: From the bed, on which thou art gone up, thou shalt not come down, but thou shalt surely die. And Elias 6 went away. And the messengers turned back to Ochozias. And he said to them: Why are you come back? But they answered 7 him: A man met us, and said to us: Go, and return to the king, that sent you, and you shall say to him: Thus saith the Lord:
Is it because there was no God in Israel, that thou sendest to 8 Beelzebub, the god of Accaron? Therefore thou shalt not come down from the bed, on which thou art gone up, but thou shalt 9 surely die. And he said to them: What manner of man was he who met you, and spoke these words? But they said: A hairy man, with a girdle of leather about his loins. And he said: It 10 is Elias, the Thesbite. And he sent to him a captain of fifty, and the fifty men that were under him. And he went up to him, and as he was sitting on the top of a hill, he said to him: Man of God, the king hath commanded that thou come down. And Elias answering, said to the captain of fifty: If I be a man of God, 11 let fire come down from heaven and consume thee, and thy fifty.
And there came down fire from heaven and consumed him, and the fifty that were with him. And he again sent to him another captain of fifty men, and his fifty with him. And he said to him:

Man of God: Thus saith the king: Make haste and come down. Elias answering, said: If I be a man of God, let fire come down 12 from heaven, and consume thee, and thy fifty. And fire came down from heaven, and consumed him and his fifty. Again he 13 sent a third captain of fifty men, and the fifty that were with him. And when he was come, he fell upon his knees before Elias, and besought him, and said: Man of God, despise not my life, and the lives of thy servants that are with me. Behold fire came 14 down from heaven, and consumed the two first captains of fifty men, and the fifties that were with them: but now I beseech thee to spare my life. And the angel of the Lord spoke to Elias, say- 15 ing: Go down with him, fear not. He arose therefore, and went down with him to the king, And said to him: Thus saith the 16 Lord: Because thou hast sent messengers to consult Beelzebub, the god of Accaron, as though there were not a God in Israel, of whom thou mightest inquire the word; therefore, from the bed on which thou art gone up, thou shalt not come down, but thou shalt surely die. So he died, according to the word of the Lord, 17 which Elias spoke; and Joram, his brother, reigned in his stead, in the second year of Joram, the son of Josaphat, king of Juda, because he had no son. But the rest of the acts of Ochozias, 18 which he did, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel?

And it came to pass, when the Lord would take up Elias, into 2 heaven, by a whirlwind, that Elias and Eliseus were going from Galgal. And Elias said to Eliseus: Stay thou here, because the 2 Lord hath sent me as far as Bethel. And Eliseus said to him:
As the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee.
And when they were come down to Bethel, The sons of the 3 prophets, that were at Bethel, came forth to Eliseus, and said to him: Dost thou know that, this day, the Lord will take away thy master from thee? And he answered: I also know it: hold your peace. And Elias said to Eliseus: Stay here, because the 4 Lord hath sent me to Jericho. And he said: As the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. And when they were come to Jericho, The sons of the prophets, that were at 5 Jericho, came to Eliseus, and said to him: Dost thou know that, this day, the Lord will take away thy master from thee? And he said: I also know it: hold your peace. And Elias said to him: 6

Stay here, because the Lord hath sent me as far as the Jordan. And he said: as the Lord liveth, and as thy soul liveth, I will 7 not leave thee. And they two went on together. And fifty men, of the sons of the prophets, followed them, and stood in sight, 8 at a distance: but they two stood by the Jordan. And Elias took his mantle, and folded it together, and struck the waters, and they were divided hither and thither, and they both passed 9 over on dry ground. And when they were gone over, Elias said to Eliseus: Ask what thou wilt have me to do for thee, before I be taken away from thee. And Eliseus said: I beseech thee, that 10 in me may be thy double spirit. And he answered: Thou hast asked a hard thing; nevertheless, if thou see me when I am taken from thee, thou shalt have what thou hast asked: but if thou see 11 me not, thou shalt not have it. And as they went on, walking and talking together, behold, a fiery chariot and fiery horses parted them both asunder: and Elias went up by a whirlwind 12 into heaven. And Eliseus saw him, and cried: My father, my father, the chariot of Israel, and the driver thereof. And he saw him no more: and he took hold of his own garments, and rent 13 them in two pieces. And he took up the mantle of Elias, that fell from him: and going back, he stood on the bank of the Jordan; 14 And he struck the waters with the mantle of Elias, that had fallen from him, and they were not divided. And he said: Where is now the God of Elias? And he struck the waters, and they 15 were divided hither and thither, and Eliseus passed over. And the sons of the prophets, at Jericho, who were over against him, seeing it, said: The spirit of Elias hath rested upon Eliseus. And coming to meet him, they worshipped him, falling to the ground.
16 And they said to him: Behold, there are with thy servants, fifty strong men, that can go, and seek thy master, lest, perhaps, the spirit of the Lord, hath taken him up and cast him upon some 17 mountain, or into some valley. And he said: Do not send. But they pressed him, till he consented, and said: Send. And they sent fifty men: and they sought three days, but found him not.
18 And they came back to him: for he abode at Jericho, and he said 19 to them: Did I not say to you? Do not send. And the men of the city, said to Eliseus. Behold the situation of this city is very good, as thou, my lord, seest: but the waters are very bad, and 20 the ground barren. And he said: Bring me a new vessel, and put salt into it. And when they had brought it, He went out 21 to the spring of the waters, and cast the salt into it, and said: Thus saith the Lord: I have healed these waters, and there shall be no more in them death or barrenness. And the waters were 22 healed unto this day, according to the word of Eliseus, which he spoke. And he went up from thence to Bethel: and as he was 23 going up by the way, little boys came out of the city and mocked him, saying: Go up, thou bald head, go up, thou bald head.

And looking back, he saw them, and cursed them in the name of 24 the Lord: and there came forth two bears out of the forest, and tore of them, two and forty boys. And from thence he went to 25 mount Carmel, and from thence he returned to Samaria.

And Joram the son of Achab, reigned over Israel, in Samaria, 3 in the eighteenth year of Josaphat, king of Juda. And he reigned twelve years. And he did evil before the Lord, but not like his 2 father and his mother: for he took away the statues of Baal, which his father had made. Nevertheless, he stuck to the sins 3 of Jeroboam, the son of Nabat, who made Israel to sin, nor did he depart from them. Now Mesa, king of Moab, nourished many 4 sheep, and he paid to the king of Israel a hundred thousand lambs, and a hundred thousand rams, with their fleeces. And 5 when Achab was dead, he broke the league which he had made with the king of Israel. And king Joram went out that day from 6 Samaria, and mustered all Israel. And he sent to Josaphat; king 7 of Juda, saying: The king of Moab is revolted from me: come with me against him to battle. And he answered: I will come up: he that is mine, is thine: my people are thy people: and my horses, thy horses. And he said: Which way shall we go 8 up? But he answered: By the desert of Edom. So the king of 9 Israel, and the king of Juda, and the king of Edom, went, and they fetched a compass of seven days journey, and there was no water for the army, and for the beasts, that followed them. And 10 the king of Israel said: Alas, alas, alas, the Lord hath gathered us three kings together, to deliver us into the hands of Moab.
And Josaphat said: Is there not here a prophet of the Lord, that 11 we may beseech the Lord by him? And one of the servants of the king of Israel answered: Here is Eliseus, the son of Saphat, who poured water on the hands of Elias. And Josaphat said: 12 The word of the Lord is with him. And the king of Israel, and Josaphat, king of Juda, and the king of Edom, went down to him.

13 And Eliseus said to the king of Israel: What have I to do with thee? go to the prophets of thy father, and thy mother. And the king of Israel said to him: Why hath the Lord gathered together

14 these three kings, to deliver them into the hands of Moab? And Eliseus said to him: As the Lord of hosts liveth, in whose sight I stand, if I did not reverence the face of Josaphat, king of Juda, 15 I would not have hearkened to thee, nor looked on thee. But now bring me hither a minstrel. And when the minstrel played,

16 the hand of the Lord came upon him, and he said: Thus saith the Lord: Make the channel of this torrent full of ditches. For thus saith the Lord: You shall not see wind, nor rain: and yet this channel shall be filled with waters, and you shall drink, you

18 and your families, and your beasts. And this is a small thing in the sight of the Lord: moreover, he will deliver, also, Moab

19 into your hands. And you shall destroy every fenced city, and every choice city, and shall cut down every fruitful tree, and shall stop up all the springs of waters, and every goodly field you shall

20 cover with stones. And it came to pass, in the morning, when the sacrifices used to be offered, that behold, water came by

21 the way of Edom, and the country was filled with water. And all the Moabites hearing that the kings were come up to fight against them, gathered together all that were girded with a belt

22 upon them, and stood in the borders. And they rose early in the morning, and the sun being now up, and shining upon the waters, the Moabites saw the waters over against them red,

23 like blood, And they said: It is the blood of the sword: the kings have fought among themselves, and they have killed one 24 another: go now, Moab, to the spoils. And they went into the camp of Israel: but Israel rising up, defeated Moab, who fled before them. And they being conquerors, went and smote Moab.

25 And they destroyed the cities: And they filled every goodly field, every man casting his stone: and they stopt up all the springs of waters: and cut down all the trees that bore fruit, so that brick walls only remained: and the city was beset by the slingers, and

26 a great part thereof destroyed. And when the king of Moab saw this, to wit, that the enemies had prevailed, he took with him seven hundred men that drew the sword, to break in upon

27 the king of Edom: but they could not. Then he took his eldest son, that should have reigned in his stead, and offered him for a burnt offering upon the wall: and there was great indignation in Israel, and presently they departed from him, and returned into their own country.

Now a certain woman of the wives of the prophets, cried to Eliseus, saying: Thy servant, my husband, is dead, and thou knowest that thy servant was one that feared God, and behold the creditor is come to take away my two sons to serve him. And Eliseus said to her: What wilt thou have me do for thee? Tell me, what hast thou in thy house? And she answered: I, thy handmaid, have nothing in my house but a little oil, to anoint me. And he said to her: Go, borrow of all thy neighbours empty vessels, not a few. And go in, and shut thy door, when thou art within, and thy sons: and pour out thereof into all those vessels: and when they are full, take them away. So the woman went, and shut the door upon her, and upon her sons: they brought her the vessels, and she poured in. And when the vessels were full, she said to her son: Bring me yet a vessel. And he answered: I have no more. And the oil stood. And she came, and told the man of God. And he said: Go, sell the oil, and pay thy creditor: and thou and thy sons live of the rest. And there was a day when Eliseus passed by Sunam: now there was a great woman there, who detained him to eat bread: and as he passed often that way, he turned into her house to eat bread. And she said to her husband: I perceive that this is a holy man of God, who often passeth by us. Let us, therefore, make him a little chamber, and put a little bed in it for him, and a table, and a stool, and a candlestick, that when he cometh to us he may abide there. Now, there was a certain day, when he came and turned into the chamber, and rested there. And he said to Giezi, his servant: Call this Sunamitess. And when he had called her, and she stood before him, He said to his servant: Say to her: Behold, thou hast diligently served us in all things; what wilt thou have me to do for thee? Hast thou any business, and wilt thou, that I speak to the king, or to the general of the army? And she answered: I dwell in the midst of my own people. And he said: What will she then that I do for her? And Giezi said: Do not ask, for she hath no son, and her husband is old. Then he bid him call her. And when she was called, and stood

16 before the door, He said to her: At this time, and this same hour, if life be in company, thou shalt have a son in thy womb. But she answered: Do not, I beseech thee, my lord, thou man of 17 God, do not lie to thy handmaid. And the woman conceived, and brought forth a son in the time, and at the same hour that 18 Eliseus had said. And the child grew. And on a certain day, when he went out to his father to the reapers, He said to his 19 father: My head acheth, my head acheth. But he said to his servant. Take him, and carry him to his mother. And when 20 he had taken him, and brought him to his mother, she sat him on her knees, until noon, and then he died. And she went up, 21 and laid him upon the bed of the man of God, and shut the door: and going out, She called her husband, and said: Send 22 with me, I beseech thee, one of thy servants, and an ass, that I may run to the man of God, and come again. And he said to 23 her: Why dost thou go to him? to day is neither new moon nor sabbath. She answered: I will go. And she saddled an ass, and 24 commanded her servant: Drive, and make haste, make no stay in going: And do that which I bid thee. So she went forward, and 25 came to the man of God, to mount Carmel: and when the man of God saw her coming towards, he said to Giezi, his servant: 26 Behold that Sunamitess. Go, therefore, to meet her, and say to her: Is all well with thee, and with thy husband, and with thy 27 son? And she answered: Well. And when she came to the man of God, to the mount, she caught hold on his feet: and Giezi 28 came to remove her. And the man of God said: Let her alone for her soul is in anguish, and the Lord hath hid it from me, 29 and hath not told me. And she said to him: Did I ask a son of my lord? did I not say to thee: Do not deceive me? Then he 30 said to Giezi: Gird up thy loins, and take my staff in thy hand, and go. If any man meet thee, salute him not: and if any man 31 salute thee, answer him not: and lay my staff upon the face of the child. But the mother of the child said: As the Lord liveth, 32 and as thy soul liveth, I will not leave thee. He arose, therefore, and followed her. But Giezi was gone before them, and laid the 33 staff upon the face of the child, and there was no voice nor sense: and he returned to meet him, and told him, saying: The child is not risen. Eliseus, therefore, went into the house, and behold the child lay dead on his bed: And going in, he shut the door upon him, and upon the child, and prayed to the Lord. And 34 he went up, and lay upon the child: and put his mouth upon his mouth, and his eyes upon his eyes, and his hands upon his hands: and he bowed himself upon him, and the child's flesh grew warm. Then he returned and walked in the house, once 35 to and fro: and he went up, and lay upon him: and the child gaped seven times, and opened his eyes. And he called Giezi, 36 and said to him: Call this Sunamitess. And she being called, went in to him: and he said: Take up thy son. She came and 37 fell at his feet, and worshipped upon the ground: and took up her son, and went out. And Eliseus returned to Galgal, and 38 there was a famine in the land, and the sons of the prophets dwelt before him: And he said to one of his servants: Set on the great pot, and boil pottage for the sons of the prophets. And 39 one went out into the field to gather wild herbs: and he found something like a wild vine, and gathered of it wild gourds of the field, and filled his mantle, and coming back, he shred them into the pot of pottage; for he knew not what it was. And they 40 poured it out for their companions to eat: and when they had tasted of the pottage, they cried out, saying: Death is in the pot, O man of God. And they could not eat thereof. But he 41 said: Bring some meal. And when they had brought it, he cast it into the pot, and said: Pour out for the people, that they may eat. And there was now no bitterness in the pot. And a certain 42 man came from Baalsalisa, bringing to the man of God, bread of the firstfruits, twenty loaves of barley, and new corn in his scrip.

And he said: Give to the people, that they may eat. And his 43 servant answered him: How much is this, that I should set it before a hundred men? He said again: Give to the people, that they may eat: for thus saith the Lord: They shall eat, and there shall be left. So he set it before them: and they ate, and there 44 was left, according to the word of the Lord.

Naaman, general of the army, of the king of Syria, was a great 5 man with his master, and honourable: for by him the Lord gave deliverance to Syria: and he was a valiant man, and rich, but a leper. Now there had gone out robbers from Syria, and had 2 led away captive out of the land of Israel, a little maid, and she waited upon Naaman's wife. And she said to her mistress: I 3 wish my master had been with the prophet that is in Samaria:

he would certainly have healed him of the leprosy which he hath.

4 Then Naaman went in to his lord, and told him, saying: Thus 5 and thus said the girl from the land of Israel. And the king of Syria said to him: Go; and I will send a letter to the king of Israel. And he departed, and took with him ten talents of silver, and six thousand pieces of gold, and ten changes of raiment;

6 And brought the letter to the king of Israel, in these words:
When thou shalt receive this letter, know that I have sent to thee Naaman, my servant, that thou mayst heal him of his leprosy.

7 And when the king of Israel had read the letter, he rent his garments, and said: Am I God, to be able to kill and give life, that this man hath sent to me to heal a man of his leprosy?

8 mark, and see how he seeketh occasions against me. And when Eliseus, the man of God, had heard this, to wit, that the king of Israel had rent his garments, he sent to him, saying: Why hast thou rent thy garments? let him come to me, and let him 9 know that there is a prophet in Israel. So Naaman came with his horses and chariots, and stood at the door of the house of Eliseus:

10 And Eliseus sent a messenger to him, saying: Go, and wash seven times in the Jordan, and thy flesh shall recover health, and thou 11 shalt be clean. Naaman was angry, and went away, saying: I thought he would have come out to me, and standing, would have invoked the name of the Lord his God, and touched with his hand 12 the place of the leprosy, and healed me. Are not the Abana, and the Pharphar, rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel, that I may wash in them, and be made clean? So as he 13 turned, and was going away with indignation, His servants came to him, and said to him: Father, if the prophet had bid thee do some great thing, surely thou shouldst have done it: how much rather what he now hath said to thee: Wash, and thou shalt be 14 clean? Then he went down, and washed in the Jordan seven times, according to the word of the man of God; and his flesh was restored, like the flesh of a little child: and he was made 15 clean. And returning to the man of God, with all his train, he came, and stood before him, and said: In truth, I know there is no other God, in all the earth, but only in Israel: I beseech thee, 16 therefore, take a blessing of thy servant. But he answered: As the Lord liveth, before whom I stand, I will receive none. And 17 when he pressed him, he still refused. And Naaman said: As thou wilt: but I beseech thee, grant to me, thy servant, to take from hence two mules' burden of earth: for thy servant will not henceforth offer holocaust, or victim, to other gods, but to the Lord. But there is only this, for which thou shalt entreat the Lord for thy servant; when my master goeth into the temple of Remmon, to worship there, and he leaneth on my hand: if I bow down in the temple of Remmon, when he boweth down in the same place, that the Lord pardon me, thy servant, for this thing. And he said to him: Go in peace. So he departed from him, in the spring time of the earth. But Giezi, the servant of the man of God, said: My master hath spared Naaman this Syrian, in not receiving of him that which he brought: as the Lord liveth, I will run after him, and take something of him. And Giezi followed after Naaman: and when he saw him running after him, he leapt down from his chariot to meet him, and said: Is all well? And he said: Well: my master hath sent me to thee, saying: Just now there are come to me from mount Ephraim, two young men of the sons of the prophets: give them a talent of silver, and two changes of garments. And Naaman said: It is better that thou take two talents. And he forced him, and bound two talents of silver in two bags, and two changes of garments, and laid them upon two of his servants, and they carried them before him. And when he was come, and now it was the evening, he took them from their hands, and laid them up in the house, and sent the men away, and they departed. But he went in, and stood before his master. And Eliseus said: Whence comest thou, Giezi? He answered: Thy servant went no whither. But he said: Was not my heart present, when the man turned back, from his chariot, to meet thee? So now thou hast received money, and received garments, to buy oliveyards and vineyards, and sheep, and oxen, and men-servants, and maid-servants. But the leprosy of Naaman, shall also stick to thee, and to thy seed for ever. And he went out from him a leper, as white as snow.

And the sons of the prophets said to Eliseus: Behold, the place where we dwell with thee is too strait for us. Let us go as far as the Jordan, and take out of the wood every man a piece of timber, that we may build us there a place to dwell in. And he said: Go. And one of them said: But come thou also with thy servants. He answered: I will come. So he went with them. And when they were come to the Jordan, they cut down 5 wood. And it happened, as one was felling some timber, that the head of the ax fell into the water: and he cried out, and said: 6 Alas, alas, alas, my lord, for this same was borrowed. And the man of God said: Where did it fall? and he shewed him the place: Then he cut off a piece of wood, and cast it in thither: 7 and the iron swam. And he said: Take it up. And he put out 8 his hand, and took it. And the king of Syria warred against Israel, and took counsel with his servants, saying: In such and 9 such a place, let us lay an ambush. And the man of God sent to the king of Israel, saying: Beware that thou pass not to such 10 a place: for the Syrians are there in ambush. And the king of Israel, sent to the place which the man of God had told him, and prevented him, and looked well to himself there not once 11 nor twice. And the heart of the king of Syria, was troubled for this thing. And calling together his servants, he said: Why do you not tell me who it is that betrays me to the king of Israel?

12 And one of his servants said: No one, my lord, O king: but Eliseus, the prophet, that is in Israel, telleth the king of Israel 13 all the words, that thou speakest in thy privy chamber. And he said to them: Go, and see where he is: that I may send and take him. And they told him: saying: Behold he is in Dothan.
14 Therefore, he sent thither horses, and chariots, and the strength of an army: and they came by night, and beset the city. And 15 the servant of the man of God, rising early went out, and saw an army round about the city, and horses and chariots: and he told 16 him, saying: Alas, alas, alas, my lord, what shall we do? But he answered: Fear not: for there are more with us than with 17 them. And Eliseus prayed, and said: Lord, open his eyes, that he may see. And the Lord opened the eyes of the servant, and he saw: and behold, the mountain was full of horses, and chariots 18 of fire round about Eliseus. And the enemies came down to him: but Eliseus prayed to the Lord, saying: Strike, I beseech thee, this people with blindness: and the Lord struck them with 19 blindness, according to the word of Eliseus. And Eliseus said to them: This is not the way, neither is this the city: follow me, and I will shew you the man whom you seek. So he led them 20 into Samaria. And when they were come into Samaria, Eliseus said: Lord, open the eyes of these men, that they may see. And the Lord opened their eyes, and they saw themselves to be in the midst of Samaria. And the king of Israel said to Eliseus, when he saw them: My father, shall I kill them? And he said: Thou shalt not kill them: for thou didst not take them with thy sword, or thy bow, that thou mayst kill them: but set bread and water before them, that they may eat and drink, and go to their master. And a great provision of meats was set before them, and they ate and drank; and he let them go: and they went away to their master: and the robbers of Syria came no more into the land of Israel. And it came to pass, after these things, that Benadad, king of Syria, gathered together all his army, and went up and besieged Samaria. And there was a great famine in Samaria: and so long did the siege continue, till the head of an ass was sold for fourscore pieces of silver, and the fourth part of a cab of pigeons' dung, for five pieces of silver. And as the king of Israel was passing by the wall, a certain woman cried out to him, saying: Save me, my lord, O king. And he said: If the Lord doth not save thee, how can I save thee? out of the barnfloor, or out of the winepress? And the king said to her: What aileth thee? And she answered: This woman said to me: Give thy son, that we may eat him today, and we will eat my son tomorrow. So we boiled my son, and ate him. And I said to her on the next day: Give thy son, that we may eat him. And she hath hid her son. When the king heard this, he rent his garments, and passed by upon the wall. And all the people saw the haircloth which he wore within next to his flesh. And the king said: May God do so and so to me, and may he add more, if the head of Eliseus, the son of Saphat, shall stand on him this day. But Eliseus sat in his house, and the ancients sat with him. So he sent a man before: and before that messenger came, he said to the ancients: Do you know that this son of a murderer hath sent to cut off my head? Look then when the messenger shall come, shut the door, and suffer him not to come in: for behold the sound of his master's feet is behind him. While he was yet speaking to them, the messenger appeared, who was coming to him. And he said: Behold, so great an evil is from the Lord: what shall I look for more from the Lord?

And Eliseus said: Hear ye the word of the Lord: Thus saith the Lord: Tomorrow, about this time, a bushel of fine flour shall be sold for a stater, and two bushels of barley for a stater, in the 2 gate of Samaria. Then one of the lords, upon whose hand the king leaned, answering the man of God, said: If the Lord should make flood-gates in heaven, can that possibly be which thou sayest? And he said: Thou shalt see it with thy eyes, but shalt 3 not eat thereof. Now there were four lepers, at the entering in of the gate: and they said one to another: What mean we to 4 stay here till we die? If we will enter into the city, we shall die with the famine: and if we will remain here, we must also die: come therefore, and let us run over to the camp of the Syrians.

If they spare us, we shall live: but if they kill us, we shall but 5 die. So they arose in the evening, to go to the Syrian camp.
And when they were come to the first part of the camp of the 6 Syrians, they found no man there. For the Lord had made them hear, in the camp of Syria, the noise of chariots, and of horses, and of a very great army: and they said one to another: Behold, 7 the king of Israel hath hired against us the kings of the Hethites, and of the Egyptians; and they are come upon us. Wherefore they arose, and fled away in the dark, and left their tents, and their horses and asses in the camp, and fled, desiring to save 8 their lives. So when these lepers were come to the beginning of the camp, they went into one tent, and ate and drank: and they took from thence silver, and gold, and raiment, and went, and hid it: and they came again, and went into another tent, 9 and carried from thence in like manner, and hid it. Then they said one to another: We do not well: for this is a day of good tidings. If we hold our peace, and do not tell it till the morning, we shall be charged with a crime: come, let us go, and tell it 10 in the king's court. So they came to the gate of the city, and told them, saying: We went to the camp of the Syrians, and we found no man there, but horses, and asses tied, and the tents 11 standing. Then the guards of the gate went, and told it within 12 in the king's palace. And he arose in the night, and said to his servants: I tell you what the Syrians have done to us: They know that we suffer great famine, and therefore they are gone out of the camp, and lie hid in the fields, saying: When they come out of the city, we shall take them alive, and then we may get into 13 the city. And one of his servants answered: Let us take the five horses that are remaining in the city (because there are no more in the whole multitude of Israel, for the rest are consumed), and let us send and see. They brought therefore two horses, and the king sent into the camp of the Syrians, saying: Go, and see. And they went after them, as far as the Jordan: and behold, all the way was full of garments, and vessels, which the Syrians had cast away, in their fright, and the messengers returned, and told the king. And the people going out, pillaged the camp of the Syrians: and a bushel of fine flour was sold for a stater, and two bushels of barley for a stater, according to the word of the Lord. And the king appointed that lord on whose hand he leaned, to stand at the gate: and the people trod upon him in the entrance of the gate; and he died, as the man of God had said, when the king came down to him. And it came to pass, according to the word of the man of God, which he spoke to the king, when he said: Two bushels of barley shall be for a stater, and a bushel of fine flour for a stater, at this very time tomorrow, in the gate of Samaria. When that lord answered the man of God, and said: Although the Lord should make flood-gates in heaven, could this come to pass which thou sayest? And he said to him: Thou shalt see it with thy eyes, and shalt not eat thereof. And so it fell out to him, as it was foretold, and the people trod upon him in the gate, and he died.

Eliseus spoke to the woman, whose son he had restored to life, saying: Arise, and go thou, and thy household, and sojourn wheresoever thou canst find: for the Lord hath called a famine, and it shall come upon the land seven years. And she arose, and did according to the word of the man of God: and going with her household, she sojourned in the land of the Philistines many days. And when the seven years were ended, the woman returned out of the land of the Philistines, and she went forth to speak to the king for her house and for her lands. And the king talked with Giezi, the servant of the man of God, saying: Tell me all the great things that Eliseus hath done. And when he was telling the king how he had raised one dead to life, the woman appeared, whose son he had restored to life, crying to the king for her house, and her lands. And Giezi said: My lord, O king, this is the woman, and this is her son, whom Eliseus raised to life. And the king asked the woman: and she told him. And the king appointed her an eunuch, saying: Restore her all that is hers, and all the revenues of the lands, from the 7 day that she left the land to this present. Eliseus also came to Damascus, and Benadad, king of Syria was sick; and they told 8 him, saying: The man of God is come hither. And the king said to Hazael: Take with thee presents, and go to meet the man of 9 God, and consult the Lord by him, saying: Can I recover of this my illness? And Hazael went to meet him, taking with him presents, and all the good things of Damascus, the burdens of forty camels. And when he stood before him, he said: Thy son, Benadad, the king of Syria, hath sent me to thee, saying: Can 10 I recover of this my illness? And Eliseus said to him: Go tell him: Thou shalt recover: but the Lord hath shewed me that he 11 shall surely die. And he stood with him, and was troubled so 12 far as to blush: and the man of God wept. And Hazael said to him: Why doth my lord weep? And he said: Because I know the evil that thou wilt do to the children of Israel. Their strong cities thou wilt burn with fire, and their young men thou wilt kill with the sword, and thou wilt dash their children, and rip up 13 their pregnant women. And Hazael said: But what am I, thy servant, a dog, that I should do this great thing? And Eliseus said: The Lord hath shewed me that thou shalt be king of Syria.

14 And when he was departed from Eliseus he came to his master, who said to him: What said Eliseus to thee? And he answered: 15 He told me: Thou shalt recover. And on the next day, he took a blanket, and poured water on it, and spread it upon his face: 16 and he died, and Hazael reigned in his stead. In the fifth year of Joram, son of Achab, king of Israel, and of Josaphat, king of 17 Juda, reigned Joram, son of Josaphat, king of Juda. He was two and thirty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eight 18 years in Jerusalem. And he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, as the house of Achab had walked: for the daughter of Achab was his wife: and he did that which was evil in the sight 19 of the Lord. But the Lord would not destroy Juda, for David his servant's sake, as he had promised him, to give him a light, 20 and to his children always. In his days Edom revolted from 21 being under Juda, and made themselves a king. And Joram came to Seira, and all the chariots with him: and he arose in the night, and defeated the Edomites that had surrounded him, and the captains of the chariots, but the people fled into their tents.

So Edom revolted from being under Juda, unto this day. Then 22 Lobna also revolted at the same time. But the rest of the acts 23 of Joram, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Juda? And Joram slept 24 with his fathers, and was buried with them in the city of David, and Ochozias, his son, reigned in his stead. In the twelfth year 25 of Joram, the son of Achab, king of Israel, reigned Ochozias, son of Joram, king of Juda. Ochozias was two and twenty years old 26 when he began to reign, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Athalia the daughter of Amri king of Israel. And he walked in the ways of the house of Achab: and 27 he did evil before the Lord, as did the house of Achab: for he was the son in law of the house of Achab. He went also with Joram, 28 son of Achab, to fight against Hazael, king of Syria, in Ramoth Galaad, and the Syrians wounded Joram: And he went back to 29 be healed, in Jezrahel: because the Syrians had wounded him in Ramoth, when he fought against Hazael, king of Syria And Ochozias, the son of Joram, king of Juda, went down to visit Joram, the son of Achab, in Jezrahel, because he was sick there.

And Eliseus the prophet, called one of the sons of the prophets, 9 and said to him: Gird up thy loins, and take this little bottle of oil in thy hand, and go to Ramoth Galaad. And when thou art 2 come thither, thou shalt see Jehu the son of Josaphat the son of Namsi: and going in, thou shalt make him rise up from amongst his brethren, and carry him into an inner chamber. Then tak- 3 ing the little bottle of oil, thou shalt pour it on his head, and shalt say: Thus saith the Lord: I have anointed thee king over Israel. And thou shalt open the door and flee, and shalt not stay there. So the young man, the servant of the prophet, went 4 away to Ramoth Galaad, And went in thither: and behold, the 5 captains of the army were sitting, and he said: I have a word to thee, O prince. And Jehu said: Unto whom of us all? And he said: To thee, O prince. And he arose, and went into the 6 chamber: and he poured the oil upon his head, and said: Thus saith the Lord God of Israel: I have anointed thee king over Israel, the people of the Lord. And thou shalt cut off the house of 7 Achab, thy master, and I will revenge the blood of my servants, the prophets, and the blood of all the servants of the Lord, at the hand of Jezabel. And I will destroy all the house of Achab, 8 and I will cut off from Achab, him that pisseth against the wall, 9 and him that is shut up, and the meanest in Israel. And I will make the house of Achab, like the house of Jeroboam, the son of 10 Nabat, and like the house of Baasa, the son of Ahias. And the dogs shall eat Jezabel, in the field of Jezrahel, and there shall 11 be no one to bury her. And he opened the door and fled. Then Jehu went forth to the servants of his Lord: and they said to him: Are all things well? why came this madman to thee? And 12 he said to them: You know the man, and what he said. But they answered: It is false; but rather do thou tell us. And he said to them: Thus and thus did he speak to me: and he said: Thus 13 saith the Lord: I have anointed thee king over Israel. Then they made haste, and taking every man his garment, laid it under his feet, after the manner of a judgment seat, and they sounded the 14 trumpet, and said: Jehu is king. So Jehu, the son of Josaphat, the son of Namsi, conspired against Joram. Now Joram had besieged Ramoth Galaad, he, and all Israel, fighting with Hazael, 15 king of Syria: And was returned to be healed in Jezrahel of his wounds; for the Syrians had wounded him, when he fought with Hazael, king of Syria. And Jehu said: If it please you, let no man go forth or flee out of the city, lest he go, and tell in 16 Jezrahel. And he got up, and went into Jezrahel for Joram was sick there, and Ochozias king of Juda, was come down to visit 17 Joram. The watchman therefore, that stood upon the tower of Jezrahel, saw the troop of Jehu coming, and said: I see a troop.

And Joram said: Take a chariot, and send to meet them, and let 18 him that goeth say: Is all well? So there went one in a chariot to meet him, and said: Thus saith the king: Are all things peaceable? And Jehu said: What hast thou to do with peace? go behind and follow me. And the watchman told, saying: The 19 messenger came to them, but he returneth not. And he sent a second chariot of horses: and he came to them, and said: Thus saith the king: Is there peace? And Jehu said: What hast thou 20 to do with peace? pass, and follow me. And the watchman told, saying: He came even to them, but returneth not: and the driving is like the driving of Jehu, the son of Namsi; for he drives 21 furiously. And Joram said: Make ready the chariot. And they made ready his chariot: and Joram, king of Israel, and Ochozias, king of Juda, went out, each in his chariot, and they went out to meet Jehu, and met him in the field of Naboth, the Jezrahellite. And when Joram saw Jehu, he said: Is there peace, Jehu? 22 And he answered: What peace? so long as the fornications of Jezebel, thy mother, and her many sorceries, are in their vigour.

And Joram turned his hand, and fleeing, said to Ochozias: There 23 is treachery, Ochozias. But Jehu bent his bow with his hand, 24 and shot Joram between the shoulders: and the arrow went out through his heart, and immediately he fell in his chariot. And 25 Jehu said to Badacer, his captain: Take him, and cast him into the field of Naboth, the Jezrahelite: for I remember, when I and thou, sitting in a chariot, followed Achab, this man's father, that the Lord laid this burden upon him, saying: If I do not requite 26 thee in this field, saith the Lord, for the blood of Naboth, and for the blood of his children, which I saw yesterday, saith the Lord. So now take him, and cast him into the field, according to the word of the Lord. But Ochozias, king of Juda, seeing 27 this, fled by the way of the garden house: and Jehu pursued him, and said: Strike him also in his chariot. And they struck him in the going up to Gaver, which is by Jebelaam: and he fled into Mageddo, and died there. And his servants laid him upon 28 his chariot, and carried him to Jerusalem: and they buried him in his sepulchre with his fathers, in the city of David. In the 29 eleventh year of Joram, the son of Achab, Ochozias reigned over Juda; And Jehu came into Jezrahel. But Jezebel, hearing of 30 his coming in, painted her face with stibic stone, and adorned her head, and looked out of a window. At Jehu coming in at 31 the gate, and said: Can there be peace for Zambri, that hath killed his master? And Jehu lifted up his face to the window, 32 and said: Who is this? And two or three eunuchs bowed down to him. And he said to them: Throw her down headlong; And 33 they threw her down, and the wall was sprinkled with her blood, and the hoofs of the horses trod upon her. And when he was 34 come in to eat, and to drink, he said: Go, and see after that cursed woman, and bury her; because she is a king's daughter.
And when they went to bury her, they found nothing but the 35 skull, and the feet, and the extremities of her hands. And com- 36 ing back they told him. And Jehu said: It is the word of the Lord, which he spoke by his servant Elias, the Thesbite, saying:
In the field of Jezrahel the dogs shall eat the flesh of Jezebel.

37 And the flesh of Jezebel shall be as dung upon the face of the earth in the field of Jezrahel; so that they who pass by shall say: Is this that same Jezebel?

10 And Achab had seventy sons in Samaria: so Jehu wrote letters, and sent to Samaria, to the chief men of the city, and to the ancients, and to them that brought up Achab's children, saying:
2 As soon as you receive these letters, ye that have your master's sons, and chariots, and horses, and fenced cities, and armour, 3 Choose the best, and him that shall please you most of your master's sons, and set him on his father's throne, and fight for 4 the house of your master. But they were exceedingly afraid, and said: Behold two kings could not stand before him, and how 5 shall we be able to resist? Therefore they that were over the king's house, and the rulers of the city, and the ancients, and the bringers up of the children, sent to Jehu, saying: We are thy servants: whatsoever thou shalt command us we will do; we will 6 not make us any king: do thou all that pleaseth thee. And he wrote letters the second time to them, saying: If you be mine, and will obey me, take the heads of the sons of your master, and come to me to Jezrahel by tomorrow at this time. Now the king's sons, being seventy men, were brought up with the chief 7 men of the city. And when the letters came to them, they took the king's sons, and slew seventy persons, and put their heads 8 in baskets, and sent them to him to Jezrahel. And a messenger came, and told him, saying: They have brought the heads of the king's sons. And he said: Lay ye them in two heaps by the entering in of the gate until the morning. And when it was light, he went out, and standing, said to all the people: You are just: if I conspired against my master, and slew him; who hath slain 10 all these? See therefore now that there hath not fallen to the ground any of the words of the Lord, which the Lord spoke concerning the house of Achab, and the Lord hath done that which 11 he spoke in the hand of his servant Elias. So Jehu slew all that were left of the house of Achab in Jezrahel, and all his chief men, and his friends, and his priests, till there were no remains 12 left of him. And he arose, and went to Samaria: and when he 13 was come to the shepherds' cabin in the way, He met with the brethren of Ochozias, king of Juda, and he said to them: Who are you? And they answered: We are the brethren of Ochozias, and are come down to salute the sons of the king, and the sons of the queen. And he said: Take them alive. And they took 14 them alive, and killed them at the pit by the cabin, two and forty men, and he left not any of them. And when he was departed 15 thence, he found Jonadab, the son of Rechab, coming to meet him, and he blessed him. And he said to him: Is thy heart right as my heart is with thy heart? And Jonadab said: It is. If it be, said he, give me thy hand. He gave him his hand. And he lifted him up to him into the chariot, And said to him: Come 16 with me, and see my zeal for the Lord. So he made him ride in his chariot, And brought him into Samaria. And he slew all 17 that were left of Achab, in Samaria, to a man, according to the word of the Lord which he spoke by Elias. And Jehu gathered 18 together all the people, and said to them: Achab worshipped Baal a little, but I will worship him more. Now therefore call 19 to me all the prophets of Baal, and all his servants, and all his priests: let none be wanting, for I have a great sacrifice to offer to Baal: whosoever shall be wanting, shall not live. Now Jehu did this craftily, that he might destroy the worshippers of Baal. And he said: Proclaim a festival for Baal. And he called, And 20, 21 he sent into all the borders of Israel; and all the servants of Baal came: there was not one left that did not come. And they went into the temple of Baal: and the house of Baal was filled, from one end to the other. And he said to them that were over the 22 wardrobe: Bring forth garments for all the servants of Baal. And they brought them forth garments. And Jehu, and Jonadab, the 23 son of Rechab, went to the temple of Baal, and said to the worshippers of Baal: Search, and see that there be not any with you of the servants of the Lord, but that there be the servants of Baal only. And they went in to offer sacrifices and burnt offerings: 24 but Jehu had prepared him fourscore men without, and said to them: If any of the men escape, whom I have brought into your hands, he that letteth him go, shall answer life for life. And 25 it came to pass, when the burnt offering was ended, that Jehu commanded his soldiers and captains, saying: Go in, and kill them: let none escape. And the soldiers and captains slew them with the edge of the sword, and cast them out: and they went 26 into the city of the temple of Baal, And brought the statue out of Baal's temple, and burnt it, And broke it in pieces. They 27 destroyed also the temple of Baal, and made a jakes in its place 28, 29 unto this day. So Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel: But yet he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nabat, who made Israel to sin, nor did he forsake the golden calves that 30 were in Bethel, and Dan. And the Lord said to Jehu: because thou hast diligently executed that which was right and pleasing in my eyes, and hast done to the house of Achab according to all that was in my heart: thy children shall sit upon the throne 31 of Israel to the fourth generation. But Jehu took no heed to walk in the law of the Lord, the God of Israel, with all his heart: for he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam, who had made 32 Israel to sin. In those days the Lord began to be weary of Israel: 33 and Hazeel ravaged them in all the coasts of Israel, From the Jordan eastward, all the land of Galaad, and Gad, and Ruben, and Manasses, from Aroer, which is upon the torrent Arnon, and 34 Galaad, and Basan. But the rest of the acts of Jehu, and all that he did, and his strength, are they not written in the book 35 of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? And Jehu slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria: and Joachaz, 36 his son, reigned in his stead. And the time that Jehu reigned over Israel, in Samaria, was eight and twenty years.

11 Now Athalia, the mother of Ochozias, seeing that her son 2 was dead, arose and slew all the royal seed. But Josaba the daughter of king Joram, sister of Ochozias, took Joas, the son of Ochozias, and stole him from among the king's sons that were slain, out of the bedchamber with his nurse: and hid him from 3 the face of Athalia; so that he was not slain. And he was with her six years, hid in the house of the Lord. And Athalia 4 reigned over the land. And in the seventh year Joiada sent, and taking the centurions and soldiers, brought them in to him into the temple of the Lord, and made a covenant with them: and taking an oath of them in the house of the Lord, shewed 5 them the king's son: And he commanded them, saying: This 6 is the thing that you must do. Let a third part of you go in on the sabbath, and keep the watch of the king's house. And let a third part be at the gate of Sur; and let a third part be at the gate behind the dwelling of the shieldbearers; and you 7 shall keep the watch of the house of Messa. But let two parts of you all that go forth on the sabbath, keep the watch of the house of the Lord about the king. And you shall compass him 8 round about, having weapons in your hands: and if any man shall enter the precinct of the temple, let him be slain: and you shall be with the king, coming in and going out. And the 9 centurions did according to all things that Joiada the priest, had commanded them: and takiug every one their men, that went in on the sabbath, with them that went out in the sabbath, came to Joiada, the priest. And he gave them the spears, and the 10 arms of king David, which were in the house of the Lord. And 11 they stood, having every one their weapons in their hands, from the right side of the temple, unto the left side of the altar, and of the temple, about the king. And he brought forth the king's 12 son, and put the diadem upon him, and the testimony: and they made him king, and anointed him: and clapping their hands, they said: God save the king. And Athalia heard the noise of 13 the people running: and going in to the people into the temple of the Lord, She saw the king standing upon a tribunal, as the 14 manner was, and the singers, and the trumpets near him, and all the people of the land rejoicing, and sounding the trumpets:

and she rent her garments, and cried: A conspiracy, a conspiracy.
But Joiada commanded the centurions that were over the army, 15 and said to them: Have her forth without the precinct of the temple, and whosoever shall follow her, let him be slain with the sword. For the priest had said: Let her not be slain in the temple of the Lord. And they laid hands on her: and thrust 16 her out by the way by which the horses go in, by the palace, and she was slain there. And Joiada made a covenant between 17 the Lord, and the king, and the people, that they should be the people of the Lord; and between the king and the people. And 18 all the people of the land went into the temple of Baal, and broke down his altars, and his images they broke in pieces thoroughly: they slew also Mathan the priest of Baal before the altar. And the priest set guards in the house of the Lord. And he took the 19 centurions, and the bands of the Cerethi, and the Phelethi, and all the people of the land, and they brought the king from the house of the Lord: and they came by the way of the gate of the shieldbearers into the palace, and he sat on the throne of the kings. And all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was 20 quiet: but Athalia was slain with the sword in the king's house.

21 Now Joas was seven years old when he began to reign.

12 In the seventh year of Jehu, Joas began to reign: and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem. The name of his mother was 2 Sebia, of Bersabee. And Joas did that which was right before 3 the Lord all the days that Joiada, the priest, taught him. But yet he took not away the high places: for the people still sac- 4 rificed and burnt incense in the high places. And Joas said to the priests: all the money of the sanctified things, which is brought into the temple of the Lord by those that pass, which is offered for the price of a soul, and which of their own accord, and of their own free heart, they bring into the temple of the 5 Lord: Let the priests take it according to their order and repair the house, wheresoever they shall see any thing that wanteth 6 repairing. Now till the three and twentieth year of king Joas 7 the priests did not make the repairs of the temple. And king Joas called Joiada, the high priest, and the priests, saying to them: Why do you not repair the temple? Take you, therefore, money no more according to your order, but restore it for the 8 repairing of the temple. And the priests were forbidden to take any more money of the people, and to make the repairs of the 9 house. And Joiada, the high priest, took a chest, and bored a hole in the top, and set it by the altar at the right hand of them that came into the house of the Lord; and the priests that kept the doors, put therein all the money that was brought to 10 the temple of the Lord. And when they saw that there was very much money in the chest, the king's scribe, and the high priest, came up, and poured it out, and counted the money that 11 was found in the house of the Lord. And they gave it out by number and measure into the hands of them that were over the builders of the house of the Lord: and they laid it out to the carpenters, and the masons, that wrought in the house of the 12 Lord, And made the repairs: and to them that cut stones, and to buy timber, and stones to be hewed, that the repairs of the house of the Lord might be completely finished, and whereso- 13 ever there was need of expenses to uphold the house. But there were not made of the same money for the temple of the Lord, bowls, or fleshhooks, or censers, or trumpets, or any vessel of gold and silver, of the money that was brought into the temple 14 of the Lord: For it was given to them that did the work, that the temple of the Lord might be repaired. And they reckoned 15 not with the men that received the money to distribute it to the workmen, but they bestowed it faithfully. But the money for 16 trespass, and the money for sins, they brought not into the temple of the Lord, because it was for the priests. Then Hazael, 17 king of Syria, went up, and fought against Geth, and took it, and set his face to go up to Jerusalem. Wherefore Joas, king of 18 Juda, took all the sanctified things, which Josaphat, and Joram, and Ochozias, his fathers, the kings of Juda, had dedicated to holy uses, and which he himself had offered: and all the silver that could be found in the treasures of the temple of the Lord, and in the king's palace: and sent it to Hazael, king of Syria, and he went off from Jerusalem. And the rest of the acts of 19 Joas, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Juda? And his servants arose, 20 and conspired among themselves, and slew Joas, in the house of Mello, in the descent of Sella. For Josachar the son of Semaath, 21 and Jozabad the son of Somer his servant, struck him, and he died: and they buried him with his fathers in the city of David; and Amasias, his son, reigned in his stead.

In the three and twentieth year of Joas son of Ochozias, king 13 of Juda, Joachaz, the son of Jehu, reigned over Israel, in Samaria, seventeen years. And he did evil before the Lord, and followed 2 the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nabat, who made Israel to sin; and he departed not from them. And the wrath of the Lord 3 was kindled against Israel, and he delivered them into the hand of Hazael, the king of Syria, and into the hand of Benadad, the son of Hazael, all days. But Joachaz besought the face of 4 the Lord, and the Lord heard him: for he saw the distress of Israel, because the king of Syria had oppressed them: And the 5 Lord gave Israel a saviour, and they were delivered out of the hand of the king of Syria: and the children of Israel dwelt in their pavilions as yesterday and the day before. But yet they 6 departed not from the sins of the house of Jeroboam, who made Israel to sin, but walked in them: and there still remained a grove also in Samaria. And Joachaz had no more left of the 7 people than fifty horsemen, and ten chariots, and ten thousand footmen: for the king of Syria had slain them, and had brought them low as dust by threshing in the barnfloor. But the rest of 8 the acts of Joachaz, and all that he did, and his valour, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? And Joachaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria: and Joas, his son, reigned in his stead. In the seven and thirtieth year of Joas, king of Juda, Joas the son of Joachaz reigned over Israel, in Samaria, sixteen years. And he did that which is evil in the sight of the Lord: he departed not from all the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nabat, who made Israel to sin; but he walked in them. But the rest of the acts of Joas, and all that he did, and his valour wherewith he fought against Amasias, king of Juda, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? And Joas slept with his fathers; and Jeroboam sat upon his throne. But Joas was buried in Samaria, with the kings of Israel. Now Eliseus was sick of the illness whereof he died: and Joas, king of Israel, went down to him, and wept before him, and said: O my father, my father, the chariot of Israel, and the guider thereof. And Eliseus said to him: Bring a bow and arrows. And when he had brought him a bow and arrows, He said to the king of Israel: Put thy hand upon the bow. And when he had put his hand, Eliseus put his hands over the king's hands, And said: Open the window to the east. And when he had opened it, Eliseus said: Shoot an arrow. And he shot. And Eliseus said: The arrow of the Lord's deliverance, and the arrow of the deliverance from Syria: and thou shalt strike the Syrians in Aphec, till thou consume them. And he said: Take the arrows. And when he had taken them, he said to him: Strike with an arrow upon the ground. And he struck three times, and stood still. And the man of God was angry with him, and said: If thou hadst smitten five or six or seven times, thou hadst smitten Syria even to utter destruction: but now three times shalt thou smite it. And Eliseus died, and they buried him. And the rovers from Moab came into the land the same year. And some that were burying a man, saw the rovers, and cast the body into the sepulchre of Eliseus. And when it had touched the bones of Eliseus, the man came to life and stood upon his feet. Now Hazael, king of Syria, afflicted Israel all the days of Joachaz. And the Lord had mercy on them, and returned to them, because of his covenant, which he had made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob: and he would not destroy them, nor utterly cast them away, unto this present time. And Hazael, king of Syria, died; and Benadad, his son, 24 reigned in his stead. Now Joas the son of Joachaz, took the 25 cities out of the hand of Benadad, the son of Hazael, which he had taken out of the hand of Joachaz, his father, by war; three times did Joas beat him, and he restored the cities to Israel.

In the second year of Joas son of Joachaz, king of Israel, 14 reigned Amasias son of Joas, king of Juda. He was five and 2 twenty years old when he began to reign; and nine and twenty years he reigned in Jerusalem; the name of his mother was Joadan, of Jerusalem. And he did that which was right before 3 the Lord, but yet not like David his father. He did according to all things that Joas his father, did: But this only, that he 4 took not away the high places; for yet the people sacrificed, and burnt incense in the high places: And when he had possession 5 of the kingdom, he put his servants to death that had slain the king, his father. But the children of the murderers he did not 6 put to death, according to that which is written in the book of the law of Moses, wherein the Lord commanded, saying: The fathers shall not be put to death for the children, neither shall the children be put to death for the fathers: but every man shall die for his own sin. He slew of Edom in the valley of the Salt- 7 pits, ten thousand men, and took the rock by war, and called the name thereof Jectehel, unto this day. Then Amasias sent 8 messengers to Joas, son of Joachaz, son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying: Come, let us see one another. And Joas, king of Israel, 9 sent again to Amasias, king of Juda, saying: A thistle of Libanus sent to a cedar tree, which is in Libanus, saying: Give thy daughter to my son to wife. And the beasts of the forest, that are in Libanus, passed, and trod down the thistle. Thou hast beaten 10 and prevailed over Edom, and thy heart hath lifted thee up; be content with this glory, and sit at home; why provokest thou evil, that thou shouldst fall, and Juda with thee? But Amasias 11 did not rest satisfied. So Joas, king of Israel, went up; and he and Amasias, king of Juda, saw one another in Bethsames, a town in Juda. And Juda was put to the worse before Israel, 12 and they fled every man to their dwellings. But Joas, king of Israel, took Amasias, king of Juda, the son of Joas, the son of Ochozias, in Bethsames, and brought him into Jerusalem; and 13 he broke down the wall of Jerusalem, from the gate of Ephraim 14 to the gate of the corner, four hundred cubits. And he took all the gold and silver, and all the vessels that were found in the house of the Lord, and in the king's treasures, and hostages, and 15 returned to Samaria. But the rest of the acts of Joas, which he did, and his valour, wherewith he fought against Amasias, king of Juda, are they not written in the book of the words of the 16 days of the kings of Israel? And Joas slept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria, with the kings of Israel: and Jeroboam, 17 his son, reigned in his stead. And Amasias, the son of Joas, king of Juda, lived after the death of Joas, son of Joachaz, king 18 of Israel, fifteen years. And the rest of the acts of Amasias, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the 19 kings of Juda? Now they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem: and he fled to Lachis. And they sent after him to 20 Lachis, and killed him there. And they brought him away upon horses, and he was buried in Jerusalem with his fathers, in the 21 city of David. And all the people of Juda took Azarias, who was sixteen years old, and made him king instead of his father, 22 Amasias. He built Elath, and restored it to Juda, after that the king slept with his fathers. In the fifteenth year of Amasias, 23 son of Joas, king of Juda, reigned Jeroboam, the son of Joas, 24 king of Israel, in Samaria, one and forty years: And he did that which is evil before the Lord. He departed not from all the sins 25 of Jeroboam, the son of Nabat, who made Israel to sin. He restored the borders of Israel from the entrance of Emath, unto the sea of the wilderness, according to the word of the Lord, the God of Israel, which he spoke by his servant, Jonas, the son of 26 Amathi, the prophet, who was of Geth, which is in Opher. For the Lord saw the affliction of Israel, that it was exceedingly bitter, and that they were consumed even to them that were shut up in prison, and the lowest persons, and that there was no one 27 to help Israel. And the Lord did not say that he would blot out the name of Israel from under heaven; but he saved them by 28 the hand of Jeroboam, the son of Joas. But the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, and all that he did, and his valour, wherewith he fought, and how he restored Damascus and Emath to Juda, in Israel, are they not written in the book of the words of the days 29 of the kings of Israel? And Jeroboam slept with his fathers, the kings of Israel; and Zacharias, his son, reigned in his stead.

In the seven and twentieth year of Jeroboam, king of Israel, 15 reigned Azarias, son of Amasias, king of Juda. He was sixteen 2 years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two and fifty years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Jechelia, of Jerusalem. And he did that which was pleasing before the Lord, 3 according to all that his father, Amasias, had done. But the 4 high places he did not destroy, for the people sacrificed, and burnt incense in the high places. And the Lord struck the king, 5 so that he was a leper unto the day of his death, and he dwelt in a free house apart: but Joatham, the king's son, governed the palace, and judged the people of the land. And the rest of the 6 acts of Azarias, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Juda? And Azarias 7 slept with his fathers: and they buried him with his ancestors in the city of David, and Joatham, his son, reigned in his stead.
In the eight and thirtieth year of Azarias, king of Juda, reigned 8 Zacharias, son of Jeroboam, over Israel, in Samaria, six months:
And he did that which is evil before the Lord, as his fathers 9 had done: he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nabat, who made Israel to sin. And Sellum, the son of Jabes, 10 conspired against him: and struck him publicly, and killed him, and reigned in his place. Now the rest of the acts of Zacharias, 11 are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? This was the word of the Lord, which he spoke 12 to Jehu, saying: Thy children, to the fourth generation, shall sit upon the throne of Israel. And so it came to pass. Sellum, the 13 son of Jabes, began to reign in the nine and thirtieth year of Azarias, king of Juda: and reigned one month in Samaria. And 14 Manahem, the son of Gadi, went up from Thersa, and he came into Samaria, and struck Sellum, the son of Jabes, in Samaria, and slew him, and reigned in his stead. And the rest of the 15 acts of Sellum, and his conspiracy which he made, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel?
Then Manahem destroyed Thapsa and all that were in it, and 16 the borders thereof from Thersa, because they would not open to him: and he slew all the women thereof that were with child, and ripped them up. In the nine and thirtieth year of Azarias, king 17 of Juda, reigned Manahem, son of Gadi, over Israel, ten years, 18 in Samaria. And he did that which was evil before the Lord: he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nabat, who 19 made Israel to sin, all his days. And Phul, king of the Assyrians, came into the land, and Manahem gave Phul a thousand talents 20 of silver to aid him and to establish him in the kingdom. And Manahem laid a tax upon Israel, on all that were mighty and rich, to give the king of the Assyrians, each man fifty sicles of silver: so the king of the Assyrians turned back, and did not stay 21 in the land. And the rest of the acts of Manahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the words of the days 22 of the kings of Israel? And Manahem slept with his fathers: and Phaceia, his son, reigned in his stead. In the fiftieth year of Azarias, king of Juda, reigned Phaceia, the son of Manahem, 24 over Israel, in Samaria, two years. And he did that which was evil before the Lord: he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam, 25 the son of Nabat, who made Israel to sin. And Phacee the son of Romelia, his captain, conspired against him, and smote him in Samaria, in the tower of the king's house, near Argob, and near Arie, and with him fifty men of the sons of the Galaadites, 26 and he slew him, and reigned in his stead. And the rest of the acts of Phaceia, and all that he did, are they not written in the 27 book of the words of the days of the kings of Israel? In the two and fiftieth year of Azarias, king of Juda, reigned Phacee, the 28 son of Romelia, over Israel, in Samaria, twenty years. And he did that which was evil before the Lord: he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam, the son of Nabat, who made Israel to sin.

29 In the days of Phacee, king of Israel, came Theglathphalasar, king of Assyria, and took Aion, and Abel Domum Maacha, and Janoe, and Cedee, and Asor, and Galaad, and Galilee, and all the 30 land of Nephthali: and carried them captives into Assyria. Now Osee, son of Ela, conspired, and formed a plot against Phacee, the son of Romelia, and struck him, and slew him: and reigned in his stead in the twentieth year of Joatham, the son of Ozias.
31 But the rest of the acts of Phacee, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings 32 of Israel? In the second year of Phacee, the son of Romelia king of Israel, reigned Joatham, son of Ozias, king of Juda. He was five and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Jerusa, the daughter of Sadoc. And he did that which was right 34 before the Lord: according to all that his father Ozias had done, so did he. But the high places he took not away: the people 35 still sacrificed, and burnt incense in the high places: he built the highest gate of the house of the Lord. But the rest of the acts 36 of Joatham, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Juda? In those days the 37 Lord began to send into Juda, Rasin king of Syria, and Phacee the son of Romelia. And Joatham slept with his fathers, and 38 was buried with them in the city of David, his father; and Achaz, his son, reigned in his stead.

In the seventeenth year of Phacee, the son of Romelia reigned 16 Achaz, the son of Joatham, king of Juda. Achaz was twenty 2 years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem: he did not that which was pleasing in the sight of the Lord, his God, as David, his father. But he walked in 3 the way of the kings of Israel: moreover, he consecrated also his son, making him pass through the fire, according to the idols of the nations which the Lord destroyed before the children of Israel. He sacrificed also, and burnt incense in the high places, 4 and on the hills, and under every green tree. Then Rasin, king 5 of Syria, and Phacee, son of Romelia, king of Israel, came up to Jerusalem to fight: and they besieged Achaz, but were not able to overcome him. At that time Rasin, king of Syria, restored 6 Aila to Syria, and drove the men of Juda out of Aila: and the Edomites came into Aila, and dwelt there unto this day. And 7 Achaz sent messengers to Theglathphalasar, king of the Assyrians, saying: I am thy servant, and thy son: come up, and save me out of the hand of the king of Syria, and out of the hand of the king of Israel, who are risen up together against me. And when 8 he had gathered together the silver and gold that could be found in the house of the Lord, and in the king's treasures, he sent it for a present to the king of the Assyrians. And he agreed to his 9 desire: for the king of the Assyrians went up against Damascus, and laid it waste: and he carried away the inhabitants thereof to Cyrene; but Rasin he slew. And king Achaz went to Damas- 10 cus to meet Theglathphalasar, king of the Assyrians, and when he had seen the altar of Damascus, king Achaz sent to Urias, the priest, a pattern of it, and its likeness, according to all the 11 work thereof. And Urias, the priest, built an altar according to all that king Achaz had commanded from Damascus so did 12 Urias, the priest, until king Achaz came from Damascus. And when the king was come from Damascus, he saw the altar and worshipped it: and went up and offered holocausts, and his own 13 sacrifice; And he offered libations, and poured the blood of the 14 peace offerings, which he had offered, upon the altar. But the altar of brass that was before the Lord, he removed from the face of the temple, and from the place of the altar, and from the place of the temple of the Lord: and he set it at the side 15 of the altar towards the north. And king Achaz commanded Urias, the priest, saying: Upon the great altar offer the morning holocaust, and the evening sacrifice, and the king's holocaust, and his sacrifice, and the holocaust of the whole people of the land, and their sacrifices, and their libations: and all the blood of the holocaust, and all the blood of the victim, thou shalt pour out upon it: but the altar of brass shall be ready at my plea-16 sure. So Urias, the priest, did according to all that king Achaz 17 had commanded him. And king Achaz took away the graven bases, and the laver that was upon them: and he took down the sea from the brazen oxen that held it up, and put it upon a 18 pavement of stone. The Musach also for the sabbath, which he had built in the temple, and the king's entry from without, he turned into the temple of the Lord, because of the king of the 19 Assyrians. Now the rest of the acts of Achaz which he did, are they not written in the book of the words of the of the days of 20 the kings of Juda? And Achaz slept with his fathers, and was buried with them in the city of David, and Ezechias, his son, reigned in his stead.

17 In the twelfth year of Achaz king of Juda, Osee the son of 2 Ela reigned in Samaria, over Israel, nine years. And he did evil before the Lord: but not as the kings of Israel that had 3 been before him. Against him came up Salmanasar, king of the Assyrians; and Osee became his servant, and paid him tribute.
4 And when the king of the Assyrians found that Osee, endeavouring to rebel, had sent messengers to Sua, the king of Egypt, that he might not pay tribute to the king of the Assyrians, as he had done every year, he besieged him, bound him, and cast him 5 into prison. And he went through all the land: and going up to Samaria, he besieged it three years. And in the ninth year of 6 Osee, the king of the Assyrians took Samaria, and carried Israel away to Assyria: and he placed them in Hala, and Habor, by the river of Gozan, in the cities of the Medes. For so it was that the 7 children of Israel had sinned against the Lord, their God, who brought them out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharao, king of Egypt; and they worshipped strange gods. And 8 they walked according to the way of the nations which the Lord had destroyed in the sight of the children of Israel, and of the kings of Israel: because they had done in like manner. And the 9 children of Israel offended the Lord, their God, with things that were not right: and built them high places in all their cities, from the tower of the watchmen to the fenced city. And they 10 made them statues and groves on every high hill, and under every shady tree: And they burnt incense there upon altars, after the 11 manner of the nations which the Lord had removed from their face: and they did wicked things, provoking the Lord. And 12 they worshipped abominations, concerning which the Lord had commanded them that they should not do this thing. And the 13 Lord testified to them in Israel, and in Juda, by the hand of all the prophets and seers, saying: Return from your wicked ways, and keep my precepts, and ceremonies, according to all the law which I commanded your fathers: and as I have sent to you in the hand of my servants the prophets. And they hearkened not, 14 but hardened their necks like to the neck of their fathers, who would not obey the Lord, their God. And they rejected his 15 ordinances, and the covenant that he made with their fathers, and the testimonies which he testified against them: and they followed vanities, and acted vainly: and they followed the nations that were round about them, concerning which the Lord had commanded them that they should not do as they did. And 16 they forsook all the precepts of the Lord, their God: and made to themselves two molten calves, and groves, and adored all the host of heaven: and they served Baal, And consecrated their sons, 17 and their daughters, through fire: and they gave themselves to divinations, and soothsayings: and they delivered themselves up to do evil before the Lord, to provoke him. And the Lord was 18 very angry with Israel, and removed them from his sight, and there remained only the tribe of Juda. But neither did Juda 19 itself keep the commandments of the Lord, their God: but they 20 walked in the errors of Israel, which they had wrought. And the Lord cast off all the seed of Israel, and afflicted them, and delivered them into the hand of spoilers, till he cast them away 21 from his face: Even from that time, when Israel was rent from the house of David, and made Jeroboam, son of Nabat, their king: for Jeroboam separated Israel from the Lord, and made 22 them commit a great sin. And the children of Israel walked in all the sins of Jeroboam, which he had done: and they departed 23 not from them, Till the Lord removed Israel from his face, as he had spoken in the hand of all his servants, the prophets: and Israel was carried away out of their land to Assyria, unto this 24 day. And the king of the Assyrians brought people from Babylon, and from Cutha, and from Avah, and from Emath, and from Sepharvaim: and placed them in the cities of Samaria instead of the children of Israel: and they possessed Samaria, and dwelt in 25 the cities thereof. And when they began to dwell there, they feared not the Lord: and the Lord sent lions among them, which 26 killed them. And it was told the king of the Assyrians, and it was said: The nations which thou hast removed, and made to dwell in the cities of Samaria, know not the ordinances of the God of the land: and the Lord hath sent lions among them: and behold they kill them, because they know not the manner of the 27 God of the land. And the king of the Assyrians commanded, saying: Carry thither one of the priests whom you brought from thence captive, and let him go, and dwell with them: and let 28 him teach them the ordinances of the God of the land. So one of the priests, who had been carried away captive from Samaria, came and dwelt in Bethel, and taught them how they should wor-29 ship the Lord. And every nation made gods of their own and put them in the temples of the high places, which the Samaritans 30 had made, every nation in their cities where they dwelt. For the men of Babylon made Sochothbenoth: and the Cuthites made 31 Nergel: and the men of Emath made Asima. And the Hevites made Nebahaz, and Tharthac. And they that were of Sephar-vaim burnt their children in fire, to Adramelech and Anamelech, 32 the gods of Sepharvaim. And nevertheless they worshipped the Lord. And they made to themselves, of the lowest of the people, priests of the high places, and they placed them in the temples of the high places. And when they worshipped the Lord, they 33 served also their own gods, according to the custom of the nations 34 out of which they were brought to Samaria: Unto this day they follow 34 the old manner: they fear not the Lord, neither do they keep his ceremonies, 34 and judgments, and law, and the commandment, which the Lord commanded 35 the children of Jacob, whom he surnamed Israel: With whom he made a covenant, 35 and charged them, saying: You shall not fear strange gods, nor shall you 35 adore them, nor worship them, nor sacrifice to them. But the Lord, your God, 36 who brought you out of the land of Egypt, with great power, and a stretched 36 out arm, him shall you fear, and him shall you adore, and to him shall you sacrifice. 37 And the ceremonies, and judgments, and law, and the commandment, which he 37 wrote for you, you shall observe to do them always: and you shall not fear 38 strange gods. And the covenant that he made with you, you shall not forget: 38 neither shall ye worship strange Gods, But fear the Lord, your God, 39 and he shall deliver you out of the hand of all your enemies. But they did 40 not hearken to them, but did according to their old custom. So these nations 41 feared the Lord, but nevertheless served also their idols: their children 41 also, and grandchildren, as their fathers did, so do they unto this day.

In the third year of Osee, the son of Ela, king of Israel, reigned 18 Ezechias, the son of Achaz, king of Juda. He was five and 2 twenty years old when he began to reign: and he reigned nine and 2 twenty years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Abi, the daughter 3 of Zacharias. And he did that which was good before the Lord, according 3 to all that David, his father, had done. He destroyed the high places, and 4 broke the statues in pieces, and cut down the groves, and broke the brazen 4 serpent, which Moses had made: for till that time the children of Israel burnt incense to it: and he called its name Nohestan. He trusted 5 in the Lord, the God of Israel: so that after him there was none like 5 him among all the kings of Juda, nor any of them that were before him: 6 And he stuck to the Lord, and departed not from his steps, but kept 6 his commandments, which the Lord commanded Moses. Wherefore the 7 Lord also was with him, and in all things, to which he went forth, he 7 behaved himself wisely. And he rebelled against the king of the Assyrians, and 8 served him not. He smote the Philistines as far as Gaza, and all their borders, from the tower of the watchmen to the fenced city.

9 In the fourth year of king Ezechias, which was the seventh year of Osee, the son of Ela, king of Israel, Salmanasar, king of the 10 Assyrians, came up to Samaria, and besieged it, And took it. For after three years, in the sixth year of Ezechias, that is, in the 11 ninth year of Osee, king of Israel, Samaria was taken: And the king of the Assyrians carried away Israel into Assyria, and placed them in Hala, and in Habor, by the rivers of Gozan, in the cities

12 of the Medes. Because they hearkened not to the voice of the Lord, their God, but transgressed his covenant: all that Moses, the servant of the Lord, commanded, they would not hear, nor

13 do. In the fourteenth year of king Ezechias, Sennacherib, king of the Assyrians, came up against the fenced cities of Juda, and 14 took them. Then Ezechias, king of Juda, sent messengers to the king of the Assyrians, to Lachis, saying: I have offended, depart from me: and all that thou shalt put upon me, I will bear. And the king of the Assyrians put a tax upon Ezechias, king of Juda, of three hundred talents of silver, and thirty talents

15 of gold. And Ezechias gave all the silver that was found in the house of the Lord, and in the king's treasures. At that time Ezechias broke the doors of the temple of the Lord, and the plates of gold which he had fastened on them, and gave them to

17 the king of the Assyrians. And the king of the Assyrians sent Tharthan, and Rabsaris, and Rabsaces, from Lachis, to king Ezechias, with a strong army, to Jerusalem: and they went up and came to Jerusalem, and they stood by the conduit of the 18 upper pool, which is in the way of the fuller's field. And they called for the king: and there went out to them Eliacim, the son of Helcias, who was over the house, and Sobna, the scribe, and 19 Joahe, the son of Asaph, the recorder. And Rabsaces said to them: Speak to Ezechias: Thus saith the great king, the king of the Assyrians: What is this confidence, wherein thou trustest?

20 Perhaps thou hast taken counsel, to prepare thyself for battle. On whom dost thou trust, that thou darest to rebel? Dost thou trust in Egypt a staff of a broken reed, upon which if a man lean, it will break and go into his hand, and pierce it? so is Pharao, 22 king of Egypt, to all that trust in him. But if you say to me: We trust in the Lord, our God: is it not he, whose high places and altars Ezechias hath taken away: and hath commanded Juda and Jerusalem: You shall worship before this altar in Jerusalem? Now therefore come over to my master, the king of the Assyrians, and I will give you two thousand horses, and see whether you be able to have riders for them. And how can you stand against one lord of the least of my master's servants? Dost thou trust in Egypt for chariots and for horsemen? Is it without the will of the Lord that I am come up to this place to destroy it? The Lord said to me: Go up to this land, and destroy it. Then Eliacim, the son of Helcias, and Sobna, and Joahe, said to Rabsaces: We pray thee, speak to us, thy servants, in Syriac: for we understand that tongue: and speak not to us in the Jews' language, in the hearing of the people that are upon the wall. And Rabsaces answered them, saying: Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee, to speak these words, and not rather to the men that sit upon the wall, that they may eat their own dung, and drink their urine with you? Then Rabsaces stood, and cried out with a loud voice in the Jews' language, and said: Hear the word of the great king, the king of the Assyrians. Thus saith the king: Let not Ezechias deceive you: for he shall not be able to deliver you out of my hand. Neither let him make you trust in the Lord, saying: The Lord will surely deliver us, and this city shall not be given into the hand of the king of the Assyrians. Do not hearken to Ezechias. For thus saith the king of the Assyrians: Do with me that which is for your advantage, and come out to me: and every man of you shall eat of his own vineyard, and of his own fig tree: and you shall drink water of your own cisterns, Till I come, and take you away, to a land, like to your own land, a fruitful land, and plentiful in wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of olives, and oil, and honey, and you shall live, and not die. Hearken not to Ezechias, who deceiveth you, saying: The Lord will deliver us. Have any of the gods of the nations delivered their land from the hand of the king of Assyria? Where is the god of Emath, and of Arphad? where is the god of Sepharvaim, of Ana, and of Ava? have they delivered Samaria out of my hand? Who are they among all the gods of the nations that have delivered their country out of my hand, that the Lord may deliver Jerusalem out of my hand? But the people held their peace, and answered him not a word:

for they had received commandment from the king that they 37 should not answer him. And Eliacim, the son of Helcias, who was over the house, and Sobna, the scribe, and Joahe, the son of Asaph, the recorder, came to Ezechias, with their garments rent, and told him the words of Rabsaces.

19 And when king Ezechias heard these words, he rent his garments, and covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the 2 house of the Lord. And he sent Eliacim, who was over the house, and Sobna, the scribe, and the ancients of the priests, covered with sackcloths, to Isaias, the prophet, the son of Amos.
3 And they said to him: Thus saith Ezechias: This day is a day of tribulation, and of rebuke, and of blasphemy: the children are come to the birth, and the woman in travail hath not strength.
4 It may be the Lord, thy God, will hear all the words of Rabsaces, whom the king of the Assyrians, his master, hath sent to reproach the living God, and to reprove with words, which the Lord, thy God, hath heard: and do thou offer prayer for 5 the remnants that are found. So the servants of king Ezechias 6 came to Isaias. And Isaias said to them: Thus shall you say to your master: Thus saith the Lord: Be not afraid for the words which thou hast heard, with which the servants of the king of 7 the Assyrians have blasphemed me. Behold I will send a spirit upon him, and he shall hear a message, and shall return into his own country, and I will make him fall by the sword in his 8 own country. And Rabsaces returned, and found the king of the Assyrians besieging Lobna: for he had heard that he was 9 departed from Lachis. And when he heard of Tharaca, king of Ethiopia: Behold, he is come out to fight with thee: and was go-10 ing against him, he sent messengers to Ezechias, saying: Thus shall you say to Ezechias, king of Juda: Let not thy God deceive thee, in whom thou trustest: and do not say: Jerusalem shall not be delivered into the hands of the king of the Assyri-11 ans. Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of the Assyrians have done to all countries, how they have laid them waste: and 12 canst thou alone be delivered? Have the gods of the nations delivered any of them, whom my fathers have destroyed, to wit, Gozan, and Haran, and Reseph, and the children of Eden, that 13 were in Thelassar? Where is the king of Emath, and the king of Arphad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, and of Ana, and of Ava? And when Ezechias had received the letter of the 14 hand of the messengers, and had read it, he went up to the house of the Lord, and spread it before the Lord, And he prayed in 15 his sight, saying: O Lord God of Israel, who sittest upon the cherubims, thou alone art the God of all the kings of the earth: thou madest heaven and earth: Incline thy ear, and hear: open, 16 O Lord, thy eyes and see: and hear all the words of Sennacherib, who hath sent to upbraid unto us the living God. Of a truth, 17 O Lord, the kings of the Assyrians have destroyed nations, and the lands of them all. And they have cast their gods into the 18 fire: for they were not gods, but the work of men's hands, of wood and stone, and they destroyed them. Now therefore, O 19 Lord our God, save us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that thou art the Lord, the only God.

And Isaias, the son of Amos, sent to Ezechias, saying: Thus 20 saith the Lord, the God of Israel: I have heard the prayer thou hast made to me concerning Sennacherib, king of the Assyrians.
This is the word that the Lord hath spoken of him: The virgin, 21 the daughter of Sion, hath despised thee, and laughed thee to scorn: the daughter of Jerusalem hath wagged her head behind thy back. Whom hast thou reproached, and whom hast thou 22 blasphemed? against whom hast thou exalted thy voice, and lifted up thy eyes on high? against the holy one of Israel. By 23 the hand of thy servants thou hast reproached the Lord, and hast said: With the multitude of my chariots I have gone up to the height of the mountains, to the top of Libanus, and have cut down its tall cedars, and its choice fir trees. And I have entered into the furthest parts thereof, and the forest of its Carmel. I 24 have cut down, and I have drunk strange waters, and have dried up with the soles of my feet all the shut up waters. Hast thou 25 not heard what I have done from the beginning? from the days of old I have formed it, and now I have brought it to effect: that fenced cities of fighting men should be turned to heaps of ruins:
And the inhabitants of them were weak of hand, they trembled 26 and were confounded, they became like the grass of the field, and the green herb on the tops of houses, which withered before it came to maturity. Thy dwelling, and thy going out, and thy 27 coming in, and thy way I knew before, and thy rage against me.
Thou hast been mad against me, and thy pride hath come up 28 to my ears: therefore I will put a ring in thy nose, and a bit between thy lips, and I will turn thee back by the way by which 29 thou camest. And to thee, O Ezechias, this shall be a sign: Eat this year what thou shalt find: and in the second year, such things as spring of themselves: but in the third year sow and 30 reap: plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them. And whatsoever shall be left of the house of Juda, shall take root downward, 31 and bear fruit upward. For out of Jerusalem shall go forth a remnant, and that which shall be saved out of mount Sion: the 32 zeal of the Lord of hosts shall do this. Wherefore thus saith the Lord concerning the king of the Assyrians: He shall not come into this city, nor shoot an arrow into it, nor come before it with 33 shield, nor cast a trench about it. By the way that he came he shall return: and into this city he shall not come, saith the Lord.

34 And I will protect this city, and will save it for my own sake, and 35 for David, my servant's sake. And it came to pass that night, that an angel of the Lord came, and slew in the camp of the Assyrians a hundred and eighty-five thousand. And when he arose 36 early in the morning, he saw all the bodies of the dead. And Sennacherib, king of the Assyrians, departing, went away, and 37 he returned and abode in Ninive. And as he was worshipping in the temple of Nesroch, his god, Adramelech and Sarasar, his sons, slew him with the sword, and they fled into the land of the Armenians, and Asarhaddon, his son, reigned in his stead.

20 In those days Ezechias was sick unto death: and Isaias, the son of Amos, the prophet, came and said to him: Thus saith the Lord God: Give charge concerning thy house, for thou shalt die, 2 and not live. And he turned his face to the wall, and prayed to 3 the Lord, saying: I beseech thee, O Lord, remember how I have walked before thee in truth, and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is pleasing before thee. And Ezechias wept with 4 much weeping. And before Isaias was gone out of the middle 5 of the court, the word of the Lord came to him, saying: Go back, and tell Ezechias, the captain of my people: Thus saith the Lord, the God of David, thy father: I have heard thy prayer, and I have seen thy tears: and behold I have healed thee: on 6 the third day thou shalt go up to the temple of the Lord. And I will add to thy days fifteen years: and I will deliver thee and this city out of the hand of the king of the Assyrians, and I will protect this city for my own sake, and for David, my servant's sake. And Isaias said: Bring me a lump of figs. And when they had brought it, and laid it upon his boil, he was healed. And Ezechias had said to Isaias: What shall be the sign that the Lord will heal me, and that I will go up to the temple of the Lord the third day? And Isaias said to him: This shall be the sign from the Lord, that the Lord will do the word which he hath spoken: Wilt thou that the shadow go forward ten lines, or that it go back so many degrees? And Ezechias said: It is an easy matter for the shadow to go forward ten lines: and I do not desire that this be done, but let it return back ten degrees. And Isaias, the prophet, called upon the Lord, and he brought the shadow ten degrees backwards by the lines, by which it had already gone down on the dial of Achaz. At that time Berodach Baladan, the son of Baladan, king of the Babylonians, sent letters and presents to Ezechias: for he had heard that Ezechias had been sick. And Ezechias rejoiced at their coming, and he shewed them the house of his aromatical spices, and the gold, and the silver, and divers precious odours, and ointments, and the house of his vessels, and all that he had in his treasures. There was nothing in his house, nor in all his dominions, that Ezechias shewed them not. And Isaias, the prophet, came to king Ezechias, and said to him: What said these men? or from whence came they to thee? And Ezechias said to him: From a far country, they came to me out of Babylon. And he said: What did they see in thy house? Ezechias said: They saw all the things that are in my house: There is nothing among my treasures that I have not shewed them. And Isaias said to Ezechias: Hear the word of the Lord. Behold the days shall come, that all that is in thy house, and that thy fathers have laid up in store unto this day, shall be carried into Babylon: nothing shall be left, saith the Lord. And of thy sons also that shall issue from thee, whom thou shalt beget, they shall take away, and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon. Ezechias said to Isaias: The word of the Lord, which thou hast spoken, is good: let peace and truth be in my days. And the rest of the acts of Ezechias, and all his might, and how he made a pool, and a conduit, and brought waters into the city, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Juda? And Ezechias slept with his fathers, and Manasses, his son reigned in his stead.

- 21 Manasses was twelve years old when he began to reign, and he reigned five and fifty years in Jerusalem: the name of his 2 mother was Haphsiba. And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, according to the idols of the nations, which the Lord destroyed 3 from before the face of the children of Israel. And he turned, and built up the high places, which Ezechias, his father, had destroyed: and he set up altars to Baal, and made groves, as Achab, the king of Israel, had done: and he adored all the host 4 of heaven, and served them. And he built altars in the house of the Lord, of which the Lord said: In Jerusalem I will put 5 my name. And he built altars for all the host of heaven, in 6 the two courts of the temple of the Lord. And he made his son pass through fire: and he used divinations, and observed omens, and appointed pythons, and multiplied soothsayers, to 7 do evil before the Lord, and to provoke him. He set also an idol of the grove, which he had made, in the temple of the Lord: concerning which the Lord said to David, and to Solomon his son: In this temple, and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out 8 of all the tribes of Israel, I will put my name for ever. And I will no more make the feet of Israel to be moved out of the land, which I gave to their fathers: only if they will observe to do all that I have commanded them, according to the law 9 which my servant Moses commanded them. But they hearkened not: but were seduced by Manasses, to do evil more than the nations which the Lord destroyed before the children of Israel.
10 And the Lord spoke in the hand of his servants, the prophets, saying: Because Manasses, king of Juda, hath done these most wicked abominations, beyond all that the Amorrhites did before him, and hath made Juda also to sin with his filthy doings: 11 Therefore thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel: Behold, I will bring on evils upon Jerusalem and Juda: that whosoever shall 12 hear of them, both his ears shall tingle. And I will stretch over Jerusalem the line of Samaria, and the weight of the house of Achab: and I will efface Jerusalem, as writings tables are wont to be effaced, and I will erase and turn it, and draw the pencil 13 often over the face thereof. And I will leave the remnants of my inheritance, and will deliver them into the hands of their enemies: and they shall become a prey, and a spoil to all their enemies.

Because they have done evil before me, and have continued to 15 provoke me, from the day that their fathers came out of Egypt, even unto this day. Moreover, Manasses shed also very much 16 innocent blood, till he filled Jerusalem up to the mouth: besides his sins, wherewith he made Juda to sin, to do evil before the Lord. Now the rest of the acts of Manasses, and all that he did, 17 and his sin, which he sinned, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Juda? And Manasses slept 18 with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his own house, in the garden of Oza: and Amon, his son, reigned in his stead.
Two and twenty years old was Amon when he began to reign, 19 and he reigned two years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Messalemeth, the daughter of Harus, of Jeteba. And he did 20 evil in the sight of the Lord, as Manasses, his father, had done.
And he walked in all the way in which his father had walked: and 21 he served the abominations which his father had served, and he adored them. And forsook the Lord, the God of his fathers, and 22 walked not in the way of the Lord. And his servants plotted against him, and slew the king in his own house. But the people 23 of the land slew all them that had conspired against king Amon: and made Josias, his son, their king in his stead. But the rest 25 of the acts of Amon, which he did, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Juda? And they 26 buried him in his sepulchre, in the garden of Oza: and his son, Josias, reigned in his stead.

Josias was eight years old when he began to reign: he reigned 22 one and thirty years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Idida, the daughter of Hadaia, of Besecath. And he did that 2 which was right in the sight of the Lord, and walked in all the ways of David, his father: he turned not aside to the right hand, or to the left. And in the eighteenth year of king Josias, the 3 king sent Saphan, the son of Assia, the son of Messulam, the scribe of the temple of the Lord, saying to him: Go to Helcias, 4 the high priest, that the money may be put together which is brought into the temple of the Lord, which the doorkeepers of the temple have gathered of the people. And let it be given 5 to the workmen by the overseers of the house of the Lord: and let them distribute it to those that work in the temple of the Lord, to repair the temple: That is, to carpenters and masons, 6 and to such as mend breaches: and that timber may be bought, and stones out of the quarries, to repair the temple of the Lord.

7 But let there be no reckoning made with them of the money which they receive, but let them have it in their power, and 8 in their trust. And Helcias, the high priest, said to Saphan, the scribe: I have found the book of the law in the house of the Lord: and Helcias gave the book to Saphan, and he read it.

9 And Saphan, the scribe, came to the king, and brought him word again concerning that which he had commanded, and said: Thy servants have gathered together the money that was found in the house of the Lord: and they have given it to be distributed to the workmen, by the overseers of the works of the temple of the 10 Lord. And Saphan, the scribe, told the king, saying: Helcias, the priest, hath delivered to me a book. And when Saphan had

11 read it before the king, And the king had heard the words of 12 the law of the Lord, he rent his garments. And he commanded Helcias, the priest, and Ahicam, the son of Saphan, and Achobor, the son of Micha, and Saphan, the scribe, and Asaia, the king's 13 servant, saying: Go and consult the Lord for me, and for the people, and for all Juda, concerning the words of this book which is found: for the great wrath of the Lord is kindled against us, because our fathers have not hearkened to the words of this book,

14 to do all that is written for us. So Helcias, the priest, and Ahicam, and Achobor, and Sapham, and Asaia, went to Holda, the prophetess, the wife of Sellum, the son of Thecua, the son of Araas, keeper of the wardrobe, who dwelt in Jerusalem, in the 15 Second: and they spoke to her. And she said to them: Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel: Tell the man that sent you to

16 me: Thus saith the Lord: Behold, I will bring evils upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof, all the words of the law

17 which the king of Juda hath read: Because they have forsaken me, and have sacrificed to strange gods, provoking me by all the works of their hands: therefore my indignation shall be kindled

18 against this place, and shall not be quenched. But to the king of Juda, who sent you to consult the Lord, thus shall you say: Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israel: for as much as thou hast 19 heard the words of the book, And thy heart hath been moved to fear, and thou hast humbled thyself before the Lord, hearing the words against this place, and the inhabitants thereof, to wit, that they should become a wonder and a curse: and thou hast rent thy garments, and wept before me; I also have heard thee; saith the Lord. Therefore I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be gathered to thy sepulchre in peace; that thy eyes may not see all the evils which I will bring upon this place.

And they brought the king word again what she had said. 23
And he sent: and all the ancients of Juda and Jerusalem were assembled to him. And the king went up to the temple of the Lord, and all the men of Juda, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem with him, the priests, and the prophets, and all the people, both little and great: and in the hearing of them all he read all the words of the book of the covenant, which was found in the house of the Lord. And the king stood upon the step: and he made a covenant with the Lord, to walk after the Lord, and to keep his commandments, and his testimonies, and his ceremonies, with all their heart, and with all their soul, and to perform the words of this covenant, which were written in that book: and the people agreed to the covenant. And the king commanded Helcias, the high priest, and the priests of the second order, and the doorkeepers, to cast out of the temple of the Lord all the vessels that had been made for Baal, and for the grove, and for all the host of heaven: and he burnt them without Jerusalem, in the valley of Cedron, and he carried the ashes of them to Bethel. And he destroyed the soothsayers, whom the kings of Juda had appointed to sacrifice in the high places in the cities of Juda, and round about Jerusalem: them also that burnt incense to Baal, and to the sun, and to the moon, and to the twelve signs, and to all the host of heaven. And he caused the grove to be carried out from the house of the Lord, without Jerusalem, to the valley of Cedron, and he burnt it there, and reduced it to dust, and cast the dust upon the graves of the common people. He destroyed also the pavilions of the effeminate, which were in the house of the Lord, for which the women wove as it were little dwellings for the grove. And he gathered together all the priests out of the cities of Juda: and he defiled the high places, where the priests offered sacrifice, from Gabaa to Bersabee: and he broke down the altars of the gates that were in the entering in of the gate of Josue, governor of the city, which was on the left hand of the gate of the city.

9 However, the priests of the high places came not up to the altar of the Lord, in Jerusalem: but only eat of the unleavened bread 10 among their brethren. And he defiled Topheth, which is in the valley of the son of Ennom: that no man should consecrate there 11 his son, or his daughter, through fire, to Moloch. And he took away the horses which the kings of Juda had given to the sun, at the entering in of the temple of the Lord, near the chamber of Nathanmelech the eunuch, who was in Pharurim: and he burnt 12 the chariots of the sun with fire. And the altars that were upon the top of the upper chamber of Achaz, which the kings of Juda had made, and the altars which Manasses had made in the two courts of the temple of the Lord, the king broke down: and he ran from thence, and cast the ashes of them into the torrent 13 Cedron. The high places also that were at Jerusalem, on the right side of the Mount of Offence, which Solomon, king of Israel, had built to Astaroth, the idol of the Sidonians, and to Chamos, the scandal of Moab, and to Melchom, the abomination of the 14 children of Ammon, the king defiled. And he broke in pieces the statues, and cut down the groves: and he filled their places with 15 the bones of dead men. Moreover, the altar also that was at Bethel, and the high place, which Jeroboam, the son of Nabat, who made Israel to sin, had made: both the altar, and the high place, he broke down and burnt, and reduced to powder, and 16 burnt the grove. And as Josias turned himself, he saw there the sepulchres that were in the mount: and he sent and took the bones out of the sepulchres, and burnt them upon the altar, and defiled it according to the word of the Lord, which the man 17 of God spoke, who had foretold these things. And he said: What is that monument which I see? And the men of that city answered: It is the sepulchre of the man of God, who came from Juda, and foretold these things which thou hast done upon the 18 altar of Bethel. And he said: Let him alone, let no man move his bones. So his bones were left untouched with the bones of the 19 prophet, that came out of Samaria. Moreover all the temples of the high places which were in the cities of Samaria, which the kings of Israel had made to provoke the Lord, Josias took away: and he did to them according to all the acts that he had done in 20 Bethel. And he slew all the priests of the high places, that were there, upon the altars; and he burnt men's bones upon them:

and returned to Jerusalem. And he commanded all the people, 21 saying: Keep the Phase to the Lord your God, according as it is written in the book of this covenant. Now there was no such a 22 Phase kept from the days of the judges, who judged Israel, nor in all the days of the kings of Israel, and of the kings of Juda, As 23 was this Phase, that was kept to the Lord in Jerusalem, in the eighteenth year of king Josias. Moreover the diviners by spirits, 24 and soothsayers, and the figures of idols, and the uncleannesses, and the abominations, that had been in the land of Juda and Jerusalem, Josias took away: that he might perform the words of the law, that were written in the book, which Helcias the priest 25 had found in the temple of the Lord. There was no king before him like unto him, that returned to the Lord with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his strength, according to all the law of Moses: neither after him did there arise any like unto 26 him. But yet the Lord turned not away from the wrath of his great indignation, wherewith his anger was kindled against Juda: because of the provocations, wherewith Manasses had provoked 27 him. And the Lord said: I will remove Juda also from before my face, as I have removed Israel: and I will cast off this city Jerusalem, which I chose, and the house, of which I said: My name shall be there. Now the rest of the acts of Josias, and 28 all that he did, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings of Juda? In his days Pharao Nechao, 29 king of Egypt, went up against the king of Assyria to the river Euphrates: and king Josias went to meet him: and was slain at Mageddo, when he had seen him. And his servants carried 30 him dead from Mageddo: and they brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his own sepulchre. And the people of the land took Joachaz, the son of Josias: and they anointed him, and made him king in his father's stead. Joachaz was three 31 and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Amital, the daughter of Jeremias, of Lobna. And he did evil before the 32 Lord, according to all that his fathers had done. And Pharao 33 Nechao bound him at Rebla, which is in the land of Emath, that he should not reign in Jerusalem: and he set a fine upon the land, of a hundred talents of silver, and a talent of gold.
And Pharao Nechao made Eliacim, the son of Josias, king in the 34 room of Josias his father: and turned his name to Joakim. And he took Joachaz away and carried him into Egypt, and he died 35 there. And Joakim gave the silver and the gold to Pharao, after he had taxed the land for every man, to contribute according to the commandment of Pharao: and he exacted both the silver and the gold of the people of the land, of every man according to his 36 ability: to give to Pharao Nechao. Joakim was five and twenty years old when he began to reign: and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Zebida, the daughter of 37 Phadaia, of Ruma. And he did evil before the Lord according to all that his fathers had done.

24 In his days Nabuchodonosor, king of Babylon came up, and Joakim became his servant three years: then again he rebelled 2 against him. And the Lord sent against him the rovers of the Chaldees, and the rovers of Syria, and the rovers of Moab, and the rovers of the children of Ammon: and he sent them against 3 Juda, to destroy it, according to the word of the Lord, which he had spoken by his servants, the prophets. And this came 4 by the word of the Lord against Juda, to remove them from before him for all the sins of Manasses which he did; And for the innocent blood that he shed, filling Jerusalem with innocent 5 blood: and therefore the Lord would not be appeased. But the rest of the acts of Joakim, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the words of the days of the kings 6 of Juda? And Joakim slept with his fathers: And Joachin, his son, reigned in his stead. And the king of Egypt came not again 7 any more out of his own country: for the king of Babylon had taken all that had belonged to the king of Egypt, from the river 8 of Egypt, unto the river Euphrates. Joachin was eighteen years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Nohesta, the daughter 9 of Elnathan, of Jerusalem. And he did evil before the Lord, according to all that his father had done. At that time the 10 servants of Nabuchodonosor, king of Babylon, came up against Jerusalem, and the city was surrounded with their forts. And Nabuchodonosor, king of Babylon, came to the city, with his 11 servants, to assault it. And Joachin, king of Juda, went out to the king of Babylon, he, and his mother, and his servants, and his nobles, and his eunuchs: and the king of Babylon received him in the eighth year of his reign. And he brought out from thence 13 all the treasures of the house of the Lord, and the treasures of the king's house: and he cut in pieces all the vessels of gold which Solomon, king of Israel, had made in the temple of the Lord, according to the word of the Lord. And he carried away 14 all Jerusalem, and all the princes, and all the valiant men of the army, to the number of ten thousand, into captivity: and every artificer and smith: and none were left, but the poor sort of the people of the land. And he carried away Joachin into 15 Babylon, and the king's mother, and the king's wives, and his eunuchs: and the judges of the land he carried into captivity, from Jerusalem, into Babylon. And all the strong men, seven 16 thousand, and the artificers, and the smiths, a thousand, all that were valiant men, and fit for war: and the king of Babylon led them captives into Babylon. And he appointed Matthanias, his 17 uncle, in his stead: and called his name Sedecias. Sedecias was 18 one and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Amital, the daughter of Jeremias, of Lobna. And he did evil before the 19 Lord, according to all that Joachim had done. For the Lord was 20 angry against Jerusalem and against Juda, till he cast them out from his face: and Sedecias revolted from the king of Babylon.

And it came to pass in the ninth year of his reign, in the 25 tenth month, the tenth day of the month, that Nabuchodonosor, king of Babylon, came, he and all his army, against Jerusalem: and they surrounded it: and raised works round about it. And 2 the city was shut up and besieged till the eleventh year of king Sedecias, The ninth day of the month: and a famine prevailed 3 in the city, and there was no bread for the people of the land.
And a breach was made into the city: and all the men of war 4 fled in the night between the two walls by the king's garden (now the Chaldees besieged the city round about), and Sedecias fled by the way that leadeth to the plains of the wilderness. And 5 the army of the Chaldees pursued after the king, and overtook him in the plains of Jericho: and all the warriors that were with him were scattered, and left him: So they took the king, and 6 brought him to the king of Babylon, to Reblatha, and he gave judgment upon him. And he slew the sons of Sedecias before 7 his face, and he put out his eyes, and bound him with chains, 8 and brought him to Babylon. In the fifth month, the seventh day of the month, the same is the nineteenth year of the king of Babylon, came Nabuzardan, commander of the army, a servant of 9 the king of Babylon, into Jerusalem. And he burnt the house of the Lord, and the king's house, and the houses of Jerusalem, and 10 every great house he burnt with fire. And all the army of the Chaldees, which was with the commander of the troops, broke 11 down the walls of Jerusalem round about. And Nabuzardan, the commander of the army, carried away the rest of the people, that remained in the city, and the fugitives, that had gone over to the king of Babylon, and the remnant of the common people.

12 But of the poor of the land he left some dressers of vines and husbandmen. And the pillars of brass that were in the temple of the Lord, and the bases, and the sea of brass, which was in the house of the Lord, the Chaldees broke in pieces, and carried 14 all the brass of them to Babylon. They took away also the pots of brass, and the mazers, and the forks, and the cups, and the mortars, and all the vessels of brass, with which they ministered.
15 Moreover also the censers, and the bowls, such as were of gold in gold: and such as were of silver in silver, the general of the 16 army took away. That is, two pillars, one sea, and the bases which Solomon had made in the temple of the Lord: the brass 17 of all these vessels was without weight. One pillar was eighteen cubits high: and the chapter of brass, which was upon it, was three cubits high: and the network, and the pomegranates that were upon the chapter of the pillar, were all of brass: and the 18 second pillar had the like adorning. And the general of the army took Seraias, the chief priest, and Sophonias, the second priest, 19 and three doorkeepers: And out of the city one eunuch, who was captain over the men of war: and five men of them who had stood before the king, whom he found in the city, and Sopher, the captain of the army, who exercised the young soldiers of the people of the land: and threescore men of the common people, 20 who were found in the city: These Nabuzardan, the general of the army, took away, and carried them to the king of Babylon, to 21 Reblatha. And the king of Babylon smote them, and slew them at Reblatha, in the land of Emath: so Juda was carried away out 22 of their land. But over the people that remained in the land of Juda, which Nabuchodonosor, king of Babylon, had left, he gave the government to Godolias, the son of Ahicam, the son of Saphan. And when all the captains of the soldiers had heard 23 this, they and the men that were with them, to wit, that the king of Babylon had made Godolias governor they came to Godolias to Maspha, Ismael, the son of Nathanias, and Johanan, the son of Caree, and Saraia, the son of Thanehumeth, the Netophathite, and Jezonias, the son of Maachathi, they and their men. And 24 Godolias swore to them and to their men, saying: Be not afraid to serve the Chaldees: stay in the land, and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you. But it came to pass 25 in the seventh month, that Ismael, the son of Nathanias, the son of Elisama, of the seed royal came, and ten men with him, and smote Godolias; so that he died: and also the Jews and the Chaldees that were with him in Maspha. And all the people, 26 both little and great, and the captains of the soldiers, rising up, went to Egypt, fearing the Chaldees. And it came to pass in 27 the seven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Joachin, king of Juda, in the twelfth month, the seven and twentieth day of the month: Evilmerodach, king of Babylon, in the year that he began to reign, lifted up the head of Joachin, king of Juda, out of prison. And he spoke kindly to him: and he set his throne 28 above the throne of the kings that were with him in Babylon.

And he changed his garments which he had in prison, and he 29 ate bread always before him, all the days of his life. And he 30 appointed him a continual allowance, which was also given him by the king, day by day, all the days of his life.

38 and Hod, and Samma, and Salusa, and Jethran, and Bera. The 39 sons of Jether: Jephone, and Phaspha, and Ara. And the sons 40 of Olla: Aree, and Haniel, and Resia. All these were sons of Aser, heads of their families, choice and most valiant captains of captains: and the number of them that were of the age that was fit for war, was six and twenty thousand.

8 Now Benjamin begot Bale his firstborn, Asbel the second, 2, 3 Ahara the third, Nohaa the fourth, and Rapha the fifth. And 4 the sons of Bale were Addar, and Gera, and Abiud, And Abisue, 5 and Naaman, and Ahoe, And Gera, and Sephuphan, and Hu-ram. These are the sons of Abed, heads of families that dwelt in 6 Gabaa, who were removed into Manahath. And Naaman, and 7 Achia, and Gera he removed them, and begot Oza, and Ahiud.

 And Saharim begot in the land of Moab, after he sent away 8 Husim and Bara his wives. And he begot of Hodes his wife 9 Jobab, and Sebia, and Mosa, and Molchom, And Jehus and 10 Sechia, and Marma. These were his sons heads of their families.
 And Mehusim begot Abitob, and Elphaal. And the sons of El- 11, 12 phaal were Heber, and Misaam, and Samad: who built Ono, and Lod, and its daughters. And Baria, and Sama were heads of 13 their kindreds that dwelt in Aialon: these drove away the inhabitants of Geth. And Ahio, and Sesac, and Jerimoth, And Zaba- 14, 15 dia, and Arod, and Heder, And Michael, and Jespha, and Joha, the sons of Baria. And Zabadia, and Mosollam, Hezeci, and 16 Heber, And Jesamari, and Jezlia, and Jobab, sons of Elphaal, 17 And Jacim, and Zechri, and Zabdi, And Elioenai, and Selethai, 18 and Elial, And Adaia, and Baraia, and Samareth, the sons of 19, 20 Semei. And Jespham, and Heber, and Eliel, And Abdon, and Zechri, and Hanan, And Hanania, and Elam, and Anathothia. 21 And Jephdaia, and Phanuel the sons of Sesac. And Samsari, 22, 23 and Sohoria and Otholia, And Jersia, and Elia, and Zechri, the sons of Jeroham. These were the chief fathers, and heads of 24 their families who dwelt in Jerusalem. And at Gabaon dwelt 25, 26 Abigabaon, and the name of his wife was Maacha: And his firstborn son Abdon, and Sur, and Cis, and Baal, and Nadab, 27 And Gedor, and Ahio, and Zacher, and Macelloth: And Macel- 28 loth begot Samaa: and they dwelt over against their brethren in Jerusalem with their brethren. And Ner begot Cis and 29 Cis begot Saul. And Saul begot Jonathan and Melchisua, and 30 Abinadab, and Esbaal. And the son of Jonathan was Merib- 31, 32 baal: and Meribbaal begot Micha. And the sons of Micha were Phithon, and Melech, and Tharaa, and Ahaz. And Ahaz be- 33 got Joada: and Joada begot Alamath, and Azmoth, and Zamri: and Zamri begot Mosa, And Mosa begot Banaa, whose son was 34 Rapha, of whom was born Elasa, who begot Asel. And Asel 35 had six sons whose names were Ezricam, Bochru, Ismahel, Saris, Obdia, and Hanan. All these were the sons of Asel. And the 36 sons of Esec, his brother, were Ulam the firstborn, and Jehus the second, and Eliphalet the third. And the sons of Ulam 37 38

were most valiant men, and archers of great strength: and they had many sons and grandsons, even to a hundred and fifty. All these were children of Benjamin.

9 And all Israel was numbered: and the sum of them was written in the book of the kings of Israel, and Juda: and they were 2 carried away to Babylon for their transgression. Now the first that dwelt in their possessions, and in their cities, were the Israelites, and the priests, and the Levites, and the Nathineans.
3 And in Jerusalem dwelt of the children of Juda, and of the children of Benjamin, and of the children of Ephraim, and of Manasses.
4 Othei the son of Ammiud, the son of Amri, the son of Omrai, the son of Bonni of the sons of Phares the son of Juda.
5, 6 And of Siloni: Asaia the firstborn, and his sons. And of the sons of Zara: Jehuel and their brethren, six hundred and ninety.
7 And of the sons of Benjamin: Salo the son of Mosollam, the son 8 of Oduia, the son of Asana: And Jobania the son of Jeroham: and Ela the son of Ozi, the son of Mochori and Mosallam the 9 son of Saphatias, the son of Rahuel, the son of Jebania: And their brethren by their families, nine hundred and fifty-six. All these were heads of their families, by the houses of their fathers.
10, 11 And of the priests: Jedaia, Joiarib, and Jachin: And Azarias the son of Helcias, the son of Mosollam, the son of Sadoc, the son of Maraioth, the son of Achitob, high priest of the house 12 of God. And Adaias the son of Jeroham, the son of Phassur, the son of Melchias, and Maasai the son of Adiel, the son of Jezra, the son of Mosollam, the son of Mosollamith, the son of 13 Emmer. And their brethren heads in their families a thousand seven hundred and threescore, very strong and able men for the 14 work of the ministry in the house of God. And of the Levites: Semeia the son of Hassub the son of Ezricam, the son of Hasebia of the sons of Merari. And Bacbacar the carpenter, and Galal, and Mathania the son of Micha, the son of Zechri the son 16 of Asaph: And Obdia the son of Semeia, the son of Galal, the son of Idithum: and Barachia the son of Asa, the son of Elcana, 17 who dwelt in the suburbs of Netophati. And the porters were Sellum, and Accub, and Telmon, and Ahiman: and their brother 18 Sellum was the prince, Until that time, in the king's gate eastward, the sons of Levi waited by their turns. But Sellum the son 19 of Core, the son of Abiasaph, the son of Core, with his brethren and his father's house, the Corites were over the works of the service, keepers of the gates of the tabernacle: and their families in turns were keepers of the entrance of the camp of the Lord. And Phinees the son of Eleazar, was their prince before the Lord, 20 And Zacharias the son of Mosollamia, was porter of the gate of the tabernacle of the testimony: All these that were chosen to 22 be porters at the gates, were two hundred and twelve: the they were registered in their proper towns: whom David and Samuel the seer appointed in their trust. As well them as their sons, to 23 keep the gates of the house of the Lord, and the tabernacle by their turns. In four quarters were the porters: that is to say, 24 toward the east, and west, and north, and south. And their brethren dwelt in village, and came upon their sabbath days 25 from time to time. To these four Levites were committed the whole number of the porters, and they were over the chambers, 26 and treasures, of the house of the Lord. And they abode in their watches round about the temple of the Lord: that when 27 it was time, they might open the gates in the morning. And some of their stock had the charge of the vessels for the ministry: 28 for the vessels were both brought in and carried out by number. Some of them also had the instruments of the sanctuary committed 29 unto them, and the charge of the fine flour, and wine, and oil, and frankincense, and spices. And the sons of the priests 30 made the ointments of the spices. And Mathathias a Levite, the firstborn of Sellum the Corite, was overseer of such things as 31 were fried the fryingpan. And some of the sons of Caath their brethren, were over the loaves of proposition, to prepare always 32 new for every sabbath. These are the chief of the singing men of the families of the Levites, who dwelt in the chambers, by the 33 temple, that they might serve continually day and night in their ministry. The heads of the Levites, princes in their families, 34 abode in Jerusalem. And in Gabaon dwelt Jehiel the father of Gabaon, and the name of his wife was Maacha: His firstborn 35 son Abdon, and Sur, and Cis, and Baal, and Ner, and Nadab, Gedor also, and Ahio, and Zacharias, and Macelloth. And Macelloth 37, 38 begot Samaan: these dwelt over against their brethren in Jerusalem, with their brethren. Now Ner begot Cis: and 39 Cis begot Saul: and Saul begot Jonathan and Melchisua, and Abinadab, and Esbaal. And the son of Jonathan, was Merib- 40

41 baal: and Meribbaal begot Micha. And the sons of Micha, 42 were Phithon, and Melech, and Tharaa, and Ahaz. And Ahaz begot Jara, and Jara begot Alamath, and Azmoth, and Zamri.
43 And Zamri begot Mosa. And Mosa begot Banaa: whose son 44 Raphaia begot Elasa: of whom was born Asel. And Asel had six sons whose names are, Ezricam Bochrú, Ismahel, Saria, Ob-dia, Hanan: these are the sons of Asel.

10 Now the Philistines fought against Israel, and the men of Israel fled from before the Philistines, and fell down wounded in 2 mount Gelboe. And the Philistines drew near pursuing after Saul, and his sons, and they killed Jonathan, and Abinadab, 3 and Melchisua the sons of Saul. And the battle grew hard against Saul and the archers reached him, and wounded him 4 with arrows. And Saul said to his armourbearer: Draw thy sword, and kill me: lest these uncircumcised come, and mock me. But his armourbearer would not, for he was struck with 5 fear: so Saul took his sword, and fell upon it. And when his armourbearer saw it, to wit, that Saul was dead, he also fell upon 6 his sword and died. So Saul died, and his three sons, and all his 7 house fell together. And when the men of Israel, that dwelt in the plains, saw this, they fled: and Saul and his sons being dead, they forsook their cities, and were scattered up and down: and 8 the Philistines came, and dwelt in them. And the next day the Philistines taking away the spoils of them that were slain, found 9 Saul and his sons lying on mount Gelboe. And when they had stripped him, and out off his head, and taken away his armour, they sent it into their land, to be carried about, and shewn in 10 the temples of the idols and to the people. And his armour they dedicated in the temple of their god, and his head they fastened 11 up in the temple of Dagon. And when the men of Jabes Galaad had heard this, to wit, all that the Philistines had done to Saul, 12 All the valiant men of them arose, and took the bodies of Saul and of his sons, and brought them to Jabes, and buried their bones under the oak that was in Jabes, and they fasted seven 13 days. So Saul died for his iniquities, because he transgressed the commandment of the Lord, which he had commanded, and kept 14 it not: and moreover consulted also a witch, And trusted not in the Lord: therefore he slew him, and transferred his kingdom to David the son of Isai.

Then all Israel gathered themselves to David in Hebron, saying: We are thy bone, and thy flesh. Yesterday also, and the day before when Saul was king, thou wast he that leddest out and broughtest in Israel: for the Lord thy God said to thee: Thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt be ruler over them. So all the ancients of Israel came to the king to Hebron, and David made a covenant with them before the Lord: and they anointed him king over Israel according to the word of the Lord which he spoke in the hand of Samuel. And David and all Israel went to Jerusalem, which is Jebus, where the Jebusites were the inhabitants of the land. And the inhabitants of Jebus said to David: Thou shalt not come in here. But David took the castle of Sion, which is the city of David. And he said: Whosoever shall first strike the Jebusites, shall be the head and chief captain. And Joab the son of Sarvia went up first, and was made the general. And David dwelt in the castle, and therefore it was called the city of David, And he built the city round about from Mello all round, and Joab built the rest of the city. And David went on growing and increasing, and the Lord of hosts was with him. These are the chief of the valiant man of David, who helped him to be made king over all Israel, according to the word of the Lord, which he spoke to Israel. And this is the number of the heroes of David: Jesbaam the son of Hachamoni the chief among the thirty: he lifted up his spear against three hundred wounded by him at one time. And after him was Eleazar his uncle's son the Ahohite, who was one of the three mighties. He was with David in Phesdomim, when the Philistines were gathered to that place to battle: and the field of that country was full of barley, and the people fled from before the Philistines. But these men stood in the midst of the field, and defended it: and they slew the Philistines, and the Lord gave a great deliverance to his people. And three of the thirty captains went down to the rock, wherein David was, to the cave of Odollam, when the Philistines encamped in the valley of Raphaim. And David was in a hold, and the garrison of the Philistines in Bethlehem. And David longed, and said: O that some man would give me water of the cistern of Bethlehem, which is in the gate. And these three broke through the midst of the camp of the Philistines, and drew water out of the cistern of Bethlehem, which was in the gate, and brought it to David to drink: and he would not drink of it, but rather offered it to the Lord, Saying: God forbid that I should do this in the sight of my God, and should drink the blood of these men: for with the danger of their lives they have brought me the water. And therefore he would not drink. These things did the three most valiant. And Abisai the brother of Joab, he was chief of three, and he lifted up his spear against three hundred whom he slew, and he was renowned among the three, And illustrious among the second three, and their captain: but yet he attained not to the first three. Banaias the son of Joiada a most valiant man, of Cabseel, who had done many acts: he slew the two ariels of Moab: and he went down, and killed a lion in the midst of a pit in the time of snow. And he slew an Egyptian, whose stature was of five cubits, and who had a spear like a weaver's beam: and he went down to him with a staff, and plucked away the spear, that he held in his hand, and slew him with his own spear. These things did Banaias the son of Joiada, who was renowned among the three valiant ones, And the first among the thirty, but yet to the three he attained not: and David made him of his council. Moreover the most valiant men of the army, were Asahel brother of Joab, and Elchanan the son of his uncle of Bethlehem, Sammoth an Arorite, Helles a Phalonite, Ira the son of Acces a Thecuite, Abiezer an Anathothite, Sobbochai a Husathite, Ilai an Ahohite, Maharai a Netophathite, Heled the son of Baana a Netophathite, Ethai the son of Ribai of Gabaath of the sons of Benjamin, Banai a Pharathonite, Hurai of the torrent Gaas, Abiel an Arbathite, Azmoth a Bauramite, Eliaba a Salabonite, The sons of Assem a Gezonite, Jonathan the son of Sage an Ararite, Ahiam the son of Sachar an Ararite, Eliphai the son of Ur, Hephher a Mecherathite, Ahia a Phelonite, Hesro a Carmelite, Naarai the son of Azbai, Joel the brother of Nathan, Mibahar the son of Agarai. Selec an Ammonite, Naharai a Berothite, the armourbearer of Joab the son of Sarvia, Ira a Jethrite, Gareb a Jethrite, Urias a Hethite, Zabab the son of Oholi, Adina the son of Siza a Rubenite the prince of the Rubenites, and thirty with him: Hanan the son of Maacha, and Josaphat a Mathanite, Ozia an Astarothite, Samma, and Jehiel the sons of Hotham an Arorite, Jedihel the son of Zamri, and Joha his brother a Thosaite, Eliel a Mahumite, and Jeribai, 46 and Josaiia the sons of Elnaim, and Jethma a Moabite, Eliel, and Obed, and Jasiel of Masobia.

Now these are they that came to David to Siceleg, while he 12 yet fled from Saul the son of Cis, and they were most valiant and excellent warriors, Bending the bow, and using either hand in 2 hurling stones with slings, and shooting arrows: of the brethren of Saul of Benjamin. The chief was Ahiezer, and Joas, the sons 3 of Samoa of Gabaath, and Jaziel, and Phallet the sons of Az-moth, and Beracha, and Jehu an Anathothite. And Samaias 4 of Gabaon, the stoutest amongst the thirty and over the thirty; Jeremias, and Jeheziel and Johanan, and Jozabad of Gaderoth; And Eluzai, and Jerimuth, and Baalia, and Samaria, and Sapha- 5 tia the Haruphite; Elcana, and Jesia, and Azareel, and Joezer, 6 and Jesbaam of Carehim: And Joela, and Zabadia the sons of 7 Jeroham of Gedor. From Gaddi also there went over to David, 8 when he lay hid in the wilderness most valiant men, and excellent warriors, holding shield and spear: whose faces were like the faces of a lion, and they were swift like the roebucks on the mountains. Ezer the chief, Obdias the second, Eliab the third, 9 Masmana the fourth, Jeremias the fifth, Ethi the sixth, Eliel 10, 11 the seventh, Johanan the eighth, Elzebad the ninth, Jerenias 12, 13 the tenth, Machbani the eleventh, These were of the sons of 14 Gad, captains of the army: the least of them was captain over a hundred soldiers, and the greatest over a thousand. These 15 are they who passed over the Jordan in the first month, when it is used to flow over its banks: and they put to flight all that dwelt in the valleys both toward the east and toward the west.
 And there came also of the men of Benjamin, and of Juda to 16 the hold, in which David abode. And David went out to meet 17 them, and said: If you are come peaceably to me to help me, let my heart be joined to you: but if you plot against me for my enemies whereas I have no iniquity in my hands, let the God of our fathers see, and judge. But the spirit came upon Amasai 18 the chief among thirty, and he said: We are thine, O David, and for thee, O son of Isai: peace, peace be to thee, and peace to thy helpers. For thy God helpeth thee. So David received them, and made them captains of the band. And there were 19 some of Manasses that went over to David, when he came with the Philistines against Saul to fight: but he did not fight with them: because the lords of the Philistines taking counsel sent him back, saying: With the danger of our heads he will return 20 to his master Saul. So when he went back to Siceleg, there fled to him of Manasses, Ednas and Jozabad, and Jedihel, and Michael, and Ednas, and Jozabad, and Eliu, and Salathi, captains of thousands in Manasses. These helped David against 21 the rovers: for they were all most valiant men, and were made commanders in the army. Moreover day by day there came 22 some to David to help him till they became a great number, like the army of God. And this is the number of the chiefs of the 23 army who came to David, when he was in Hebron, to transfer to him the kingdom of Saul, according to the word of the Lord. The sons of Juda bearing shield and spear, six thousand eight 24 hundred well appointed to war. Of the sons of Simeon valiant men for war, seven thousand one hundred. Of the sons of Levi, 25 four thousand six hundred. And Joiada prince of the race of Aaron, and with him three thousand seven hundred. Sadoc 26 also a young man of excellent disposition, and the house of his father, twenty-two principal men. And of the sons of Benjamin 27 the brethren of Saul, three thousand: for hitherto a great part of them followed the house of Saul. And of the sons of Ephraim 28 twenty thousand eight hundred, men of great valour renowned in their kindreds. And of the half tribe of Manasses, eighteen 29 thousand, every one by their names, came to make David king. Also of the sons of Issachar men of understanding, that knew 30 all times to order what Israel should do, two hundred principal men: and all the rest of the tribe followed their counsel. And 31 of Zabulon such as went forth to battle, and stood in array well appointed with armour for war, there came fifty thousand to his 32 aid, with no double heart. And of Nephtali, a thousand leaders: and with them seven and thirty thousand, furnished with shield 33 and spear. Of Dan also twenty-eight thousand six hundred prepared for battle. And of Aser forty thousand going forth to 34 fight, and challenging in battle. And on the other side of the Jordan of the sons of Ruben, and of Gad, and of the half of 35 the tribe of Manasses a hundred and twenty thousand, furnished with arms for war. All these men of war well appointed to fight, 36 came with a perfect heart to Hebron, to make David king over 37 38 all Israel: and all the rest also of Israel, were of one heart to make David king. And they were there with David three days 39 eating and drinking: for their brethren had prepared for them.

Moreover they that were near them even as far as Issachar, and 40 Zabulon, and Nephtali, brought loaves on asses, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen, to eat: meal, figs, raisins, wine, oil, and oxen, and sheep in abundance, for there was joy in Israel.

David consulted with the captains of thousands, and of hun- 13 dreds, and with all the commanders. And he said to all the 2 assembly of Israel: If it please you; and if the words which I speak come from the Lord our God, let us send to the rest of our brethren into all the countries of Israel, and to the priests, and the Levites, that dwell in the suburbs of the cities, to gather themselves to us, And let us bring again the ark of our God to 3 us: for we sought it not in the days of Saul. And all the mul- 4 titude answered that it should be so: for the word pleased all the people. So David assembled all Israel from Sihor of Egypt, 5 even to the entering into Emath, to bring the ark of God from Cariathiarim. And David went up with all the men of Israel to 6 the hill of Cariathiarim which is in Juda, to bring thence the ark of the Lord God sitting upon the cherubims, where his name is called upon. And they carried the ark of God upon a new cart 7 out of the house of Abinadab. And Oza and his brother drove the cart. And David and all Israel played before God with all 8 their might with hymns, and with harps, and with psalteries, and timbrels, and cymbals, and trumpets, And when they came to 9 the floor of Chidon, Oza put forth his hand, to hold up the ark:
for the ox being wanton had made it lean a little on one side.
And the Lord was angry with Oza, and struck him, because he 10 had touched the ark; and he died there before the Lord. And 11 David was troubled because the Lord had divided Oza: and he called that place the Breach of Oza to this day. And he feared 12 God at that time, saying: How can I bring in the ark of God to me? And therefore he brought it not home to himself, that is, 13 into the city of David, but carried it aside into the house of Obe-dedom the Gethite. And the ark of God remained in the house 14 of Obedom three months: and the Lord blessed his house, and all that he had.

And Hiram king of Tyre sent messengers to David, and cedar 14

2 trees, and masons, and carpenters, to build him a house. And David perceived that the Lord had confirmed him king over Israel, and that his kingdom was exalted over his people Israel.

3 And David took other wives in Jerusalem: and he begot sons, 4 and daughters. Now these are the names of them that were born to him in Jerusalem: Samua, and Sobad, Nathan, and Solomon, 5, 6 Jebahar, and Elisua, and Eliphalet, And Noga, and Napheg, 7, 8 and Japhia, Elisama, and Baaliada, and Eliphalet. And the Philistines hearing that David was anointed king over all Israel, went all up to seek him: and David heard of it, and went out 9 against them. And the Philistines came and spread themselves 10 in the vale of Raphaim. And David consulted the Lord, saying: Shall I go up against the Philistines, and wilt thou deliver them into my hand? And the Lord said to him: Go up, and 11 I will deliver them into thy hand. And when they were come to Baalpharasim, David defeated them there, and he said: God hath divided my enemies by my hand, as waters are divided: and therefore the name of that place was called Baalpharasim.

12 And they left there their gods, and David commanded that they 13 should be burnt. Another time also the Philistines made an 14 irruption, and spread themselves abroad in the valley. And David consulted God again, and God said to him: Go not up after them, turn away from them, and come upon them over 15 against the pear trees. And when thou shalt hear the sound of one going in the tops of the pear trees, then shalt thou go out to battle. For God is gone out before thee to strike the army of the 16 Philistines. And David did as God had commanded him, and defeated the army of the Philistines, slaying them from Gabaon 17 to Gazera. And the name of David became famous in all countries, and the Lord made all nations fear him.

15 He made also houses for himself in the city of David: and built a place for the ark of God, and pitched a tabernacle for it.

2 Then David said: No one ought to carry the ark of God, but the Levites, whom the Lord hath chosen to carry it, and to minister 3 unto himself for ever. And he gathered all Israel together into Jerusalem, that the ark of God might be brought into its place, 4 which he had prepared for it. And the sons of Aaron also, 5 and the Levites. Of the children of Caath, Uriel was the chief, 6 and his brethren a hundred and twenty. Of the sons of Merari, Asaia the chief, and his brethren two hundred and twenty. Of 7 the sons of Gersom, Joel the chief, and his brethren a hundred and thirty. Of the sons of Elisaphan, Semeias the chief: and his 8 brethren two hundred. Of the sons of Hebron, Eliel the chief: 9 and his brethren eighty. Of the sons of Oziel, Aminadab the 10 chief: and his brethren a hundred and twelve. And David called 11 Sadoc, and Abiathar the priests, and the Levites, Uriel, Asaia, Joel, Semeia, Eliel, and Aminadab: And he said to them: You 12 that are the heads of the Levitical families, be sanctified with your brethren, and bring the ark of the Lord the God of Israel to the place, which is prepared for it: Lest as the Lord at first 13 struck us, because you were not present, the same should now also come to pass, by our doing some thing against the law. So 14 the priests and the Levites were sanctified, to carry the ark of the Lord the God of Israel. And the sons of Levi took the ark 15 of God as Moses had commanded, according to the word of the Lord, upon their shoulders, with the staves. And David spoke 16 to the chiefs of the Levites, to appoint some of their brethren to be singers with musical instruments, to wit, on psalteries, and harps, and cymbals, that the joyful noise might resound on high. And they appointed Levites, Hemam the son of Joel, and 17 of his brethren Asaph the son of Barachias: and of the sons of Merari, their brethren: Ethan the son of Casaia. And with 18 them their brethren: in the second rank, Zacharias, and Ben, and Jaziel, and Semiramoth, and Jahiel, and Ani, and Eliab, and Banaias, and Maasias, and Mathathias, and Eliphalu, and Macenias, and Obedom, and Jehiel, the porters. Now the 19 singers, Heman, Asaph, and Ethan, sounded with cymbals of brass. And Zacharias, and Oziel, and Semiramoth, and Jehiel, 20 and Ani, and Eliab, and Maasias, and Banaias, sung mysteries upon psalteries. And Mathathias, and Eliphalu, and Macenias 21 and Obedom, and Jehiel and Ozaziu, sung a song of victory for the octave upon harps. And Chonenias chief of the Levites, 22 presided over the prophecy, to give out the tunes: for he was very skilful. And Barachias, and Elcana, were doorkeepers of the ark. 23 And Sebenias, and Josaphat, and Nathanael, and Amasai, and 24 Zacharias, and Banaias, and Eliezer the priests, sounded with trumpets, before the ark of God: and Obedom and Jehias were porters of the ark. So David and all the ancients of Israel, 25 and the captains over thousands, went to bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord out of the house of Obededom with joy.

26 And when God had helped the Levites who carried the ark of the covenant of the Lord, they offered in sacrifice seven oxen, 27 and seven rams. And David was clothed with a robe of fine linen, and all the Levites that carried the ark, and the singing men, and Chonenias the ruler of the prophecy among the singers:
28 and David also had on him an ephod of linen. And all Israel brought the ark of the covenant of the Lord with joyful shouting, and sounding with the sound of the cornet, and with trumpets, 29 and cymbals, and psalteries, and harps. And when the ark of the covenant of the Lord was come to the city of David, Michol the daughter of Saul looking out at a window, saw king David dancing and playing, and she despised him in her heart.

16 So they brought the ark of God, and set it in the midst of the tent, which David had pitched for it: and they offered holocausts, 2 and peace offerings before God. And when David had made an end of offering holocausts, and peace offerings, he blessed the 3 people in the name of the Lord. And he divided to all and every one, both men and women, a loaf of bread, and a piece 4 of roasted beef, and flour fried with oil. And he appointed Levites to minister before the ark of the Lord, and to remember his works, and to glorify, and praise the Lord God of Israel.
5 Asaph the chief, and next after him Zacharias: moreover Jahiel, and Semiramoth, and Jehiel, and Mathathias, and Eliab, and Banaias, and Obededom: and Jehiel over the instruments of 6 psaltery, and harps: and Asaph sounded with cymbals: But Banaias, and Jaziel the priests, to sound the trumpet continually 7 before the ark of the covenant of the Lord. In that day David made Asaph the chief to give praise to the Lord with his brethren.
8 Praise ye the Lord, and call upon his name: make known his 9 doings among the nations. Sing to him, yea, sing praises to 10 him: and relate all his wondrous works. Praise ye his holy 11 name: let the heart of them rejoice, that seek the Lord. Seek ye 12 the Lord, and his power: seek ye his face evermore. Remember his wonderful works, which he hath done: his signs, and the 13 judgments of his mouth. O ye seed of Israel his servants, ye 14 children of Jacob his chosen. He is the Lord our God: his 15 judgments are in all the earth. Remember for ever his covenant:

the word, which he commanded to a thousand generations. The covenant which he made with Abraham: and his oath to Isaac. And he appointed the same to Jacob for a precept: and to Israel for an everlasting covenant: Saying: To thee will I give the land of Chanaan: the lot of your inheritance. When they were but a small number: very few and sojourners in it. And they passed from nation to nation: and from a kingdom to another people. He suffered no man to do them wrong: and reprov'd kings for their sake. Touch not my anointed: and do no evil to my prophets. Sing ye to the Lord, all the earth: shew forth from day to day his salvation. Declare his glory among the Gentiles: his wonders among all people. For the Lord is great and exceedingly to be praised: and he is to be feared above all gods. For all the gods of the nations are idols: but the Lord made the heavens. Praise and magnificence are before him: strength and joy in his place. Bring ye to the Lord, O ye families of the nations: bring ye to the Lord glory and empire. Give to the Lord glory to his name, bring up sacrifice, and come ye in his sight: and adore the Lord in holy becomingness. Let all the earth be moved at his presence: for he hath founded the world immoveable. Let the heavens rejoice, and the earth be glad: and let them say among the nations: The Lord hath reigned. Let the sea roar, and the fulness thereof: let the fields rejoice, and all things that are in them. Then shall the trees of the wood give praise before the Lord: because he is come to judge the earth. Give ye glory to the Lord, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever. And say ye: Save us, O God our savior: and gather us together, and deliver us from the nations, that we may give glory to thy holy name, and may rejoice in singing thy praises. Blessed be the Lord the God of Israel from eternity to eternity: and let all the people say Amen, and a hymn to God. So he left there before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, Asaph and his brethren to minister in the presence of the ark continually day by day, and in their courses. And Obededom, with his brethren sixty-eight: and Obededom the son of Idithun, and Hosa he appointed to be porters. And Sadoc the priest, and his brethren priests, before the tabernacle of the Lord in the high place, which was in Gabaon. That they should offer holocausts to the Lord upon the altar of holocausts continually, morning and evening, according to all that is written in the law of the 41 Lord, which he commanded Israel. And after him Heman, and Idithun, and the rest that were chosen, every one by his name to give praise to the Lord: because his mercy endureth for ever.

42 And Heman and Idithun sounded the trumpet, and played on the cymbals, and all kinds of musical instruments to sing praises 43 to God: and the sons of Idithun he made porters. And all the people returned to their houses: and David to bless also his own house.

17 Now when David was dwelling in his house, he said to Nathan the prophet: Behold I dwell in a house of cedar: and the ark of 2 the covenant of the Lord is under skins. And Nathan said to 3 David: Do all that is in thy heart: for God is with thee. Now 4 that night the word of God came to Nathan, saying: Go, and speak to David my servant: Thus saith the Lord: Thou shalt 5 not build me a house to dwell in. For I have not remained in a house from the time that I brought up Israel, to this day: but I have been always changing places in a tabernacle, and in a 6 tent, Abiding with all Israel. Did I ever speak to any one, of all the judges of Israel whom I charged to feed my people, saying: 7 Why have you not built me a house of cedar? Now therefore thus shalt thou say to my servant David: Thus saith the Lord of hosts: I took thee from the pastures, from following the flock, 8 that thou shouldst be ruler of my people Israel. And I have been with thee whithersoever thou hast gone: and have slain all thy enemies before thee, and have made thee a name like that 9 of one of the great ones that are renowned in the earth. And I have given a place my people Israel: they shall be planted, and shall dwell therein, and shall be moved no more, neither shall the 10 children of iniquity waste them, as at the beginning, Since the days that I gave judges to my people Israel, and have humbled all thy enemies. And I declare to thee, that the Lord will build 11 thee a house. And when thou shalt have ended thy days to go to thy fathers, I will raise up thy seed after thee, which shall be of 12 thy sons: and I will establish his kingdom. He shall build me a 13 house, and I will establish his throne for ever. I will be to him a father, and he shall be to me a son: and I will not take my mercy 14 away from him, as I took it from him that was before thee. But I will settle him in my house, and in my kingdom for ever: and his throne shall be most firm for ever. According to all these words, 15 and according to all this vision, so did Nathan speak to David.

And king David came and sat before the Lord, and said: Who 16 am I, O Lord God, and what is my house, that thou shouldst give such things to me? But even this hath seemed little in 17 thy sight, and therefore thou hast also spoken concerning the house of thy servant for the time to come: and hast made me remarkable above all men, O Lord God. What can David add 18 more, seeing thou hast thus glorified thy servant, and known him? O Lord, for thy servant's sake, according to thy own 19 heart, thou hast shewn all this magnificence, and wouldst have all the great things to be known. O Lord there is none like thee: 20 and here is no other God beside thee, of all whom we have heard of with our ears. For what other nation is there upon earth like 21 thy people Israel, whom God went to deliver, and make a people for himself, and by his greatness and terrors cast out nations before their face whom he had delivered out of Egypt? And 22 thou hast made thy people Israel to be thy own people for ever, and thou, O Lord, art become their God. Now therefore, O 23 Lord, let the word which thou hast spoken to thy servant, and concerning his house, be established for ever, and do as thou hast said. And let thy name remain and be magnified for ever: 24 and let it be said: The Lord of hosts is God of Israel, and the house of David his servant remaineth before him. For thou, O 25 Lord my God, hast revealed to the ear of thy servant, that thou wilt build him a house: and therefore thy servant hath found confidence to pray before thee. And now O Lord, thou art 26 God: and thou hast promised to thy servant such great benefits.
And thou hast begun to bless the house of thy servant, that it 27 may be always before thee: for seeing thou blessest it, O Lord, it shall be blessed for ever.

And it came to pass after this, that David defeated the Philistines 28 and humbled them, and took away Geth, and her daughters out of the hands of the Philistines, And he defeated Moab, and the 2 Moabites were made David's servants, and brought him gifts.
At that time David defeated also Adarezer king of Soba of the 3 land of Hemath, when he went to extend his dominions as far as the river Euphrates. And David took from him a thousand 4 chariots, and seven thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen, and he houghed all the chariot horses, only a hundred 5 chariots, which he reserved for himself. And the Syrians of Damascus came also to help Adarezer king of Soba: and David 6 slew of them likewise two and twenty thousand men. And he put a garrison in Damascus, that Syria also should serve him, and bring gifts. And the Lord assisted him in all things to which 7 he went. And David took the golden quivers which the servants 8 of Adarezer had, and he brought them to Jerusalem. Likewise out of Thebath and Chun, cities of Adarezer, he brought very 9 much brass, of which Solomon made the brazen sea, and the pillars, and the vessels of brass. Now when Thou king of Hemath 10 heard that David had defeated all the army of Adarezer king of Soba, He sent Adoram his son to king David to desire peace of him, and to congratulate him that he had defeated and over-11 thrown Adarezer: for Thou was an enemy to Adarezer. And all the vessels of gold, and silver and brass king David consecrated to the Lord, with the silver and gold which he had taken from all the nations, as well from Edom, and from Moab, and from the sons of Ammon, as from the Philistines, and from Amalec.

12 And Abisai the son of Sarvia slew of the Edomites in the vale 13 of the saltpits, eighteen thousand: And he put a garrison in Edom, that Edom should serve David: and the Lord preserved 14 David in all things to which he went. So David reigned over all Israel, and executed judgment and justice among all his people.
15 And Joab the son of Sarvia was over the army, and Josaphat 16 the son of Ahilud recorder. And Sadoc the son of Achitob, and Achimelech the son of Abiathar, were the priests: and Susa, 17 scribe. And Banaias the son of Joiada was over the bands of the Cerethi, and the Phelethi: and the sons of David were chief about the king.

19 Now it came to pass that Naas the king of the children of 2 Ammon died, and his son reigned in his stead. And David said: I will shew kindness to Hanon the son of Naas: for his father did a favour to me. And David sent messengers to comfort him upon the death of his father. But when they were come into the land 3 of the children of Ammon, to comfort Hanon, The princes of the children of Ammon said to Hanon: Thou thinkest perhaps that David to do honour to thy father hath sent comforters to thee: and thou dost not take notice, that his servants are come to thee to consider, and search, and spy out thy land. Wherefore 4 Hanon shaved the heads and beards of the servants of David, and cut away their garments from the buttocks to the feet, and sent them away. And when they were gone, they sent word to 5 David, who sent to meet them (for they had suffered a great affront) and ordered them to stay at Jericho till their beards grew and then to return. And when the children of Ammon saw 6 that they had done an injury to David, Hanon and the rest of the people sent a thousand talents of silver, to hire them chariots and horsemen out of Mesopotamia and out of Syria Maacha, and out of Soba. And they hired two and thirty thousand chariots, and 7 the king of Maacha, with his people. And they came and camped over against Medaba. And the children of Ammon gathered themselves together out of their cities, and came to battle. And 8 when David heard of it, he sent Joab, and all the army of valiant men: And the children of Ammon came out and put their army 9 in array before the gate of the city: and the kings, that were come to their aid, stood apart in the field. Wherefore Joab 10 understanding that the battle was set against him before and behind, chose out the bravest men of all Israel, and marched against the Syrians, And the rest of the people he delivered 11 into the hand of Abisai his brother, and they went against the children of Ammon. And he said: If the Syrians be too strong 12 for me, then thou shalt help me: but if the children of Ammon be too strong for thee, I will help thee. Be of good courage and let 13 us behave ourselves manfully for our people, and for the cities of our God: and the Lord will do that which is good in his sight. So 14 Joab and the people that were with him, went against the Syrians to the battle: and he put them to flight. And the children 15 of Ammon seeing that the Syrians were fled, they likewise fled from Abisai his brother, and went into the city: and Joab also returned to Jerusalem. But the Syrians seeing that they had 16 fallen before Israel, sent messengers, and brought to them the Syrians that were beyond the river: and Sophach, general of the army of Adarezer, was their leader. And it was told David, and 17 he gathered together all Israel, and passed the Jordan, and came upon them, and put his army in array against them, and they fought with him. But the Syrian fled before Israel: and David 18 slew of the Syrians seven thousand chariots, and forty thousand 19 footmen, and Sophach the general of the army. And when the servants of Adarezer saw themselves overcome by Israel, they went over to David, and served him: and Syria would not help the children of Ammon any more.

20 And it came to pass after the course of a year, at the time that kings go out to battle, Joab gathered together an army and the strength of the troops, and wasted the land of the children of Ammon: and went and besieged Rabba. But David stayed 2 at Jerusalem, when Joab smote Rabba, and destroyed it. And David took the crown of Melchom from his head, and found in it a talent weight of gold, and most precious stones, and he made himself a diadem of it: he took also the spoils of the city which 3 were very great. And the people that were therein he brought out: and made harrows, and sleds, and chariots of iron to go over them, so that they were cut and bruised to pieces: in this manner David dealt with all the cities of the children of Ammon: and 4 he returned with all his people to Jerusalem. After this there arose a war at Gazer against the Philistines: in which Sabachai the Husathite slew Saphai of the race of Raphaim, and humbled 5 them. Another battle also was fought against the Philistines, in which Adeodatus the son of Saltus a Bethlehemite slew the brother of Goliath the Gethite, the staff of whose spear was like 6 a weaver's beam. There was another battle also in Geth, in which there was a man of great stature, whose fingers and toes were four and twenty, six on each hand and foot: who also was 7 born of the stock of Rapha. He reviled Israel: but Jonathan the son of Samaa the brother of David slew him. These were the sons of Rapha in Geth, who fell by the hand of David and his servants.

21 And Satan rose up against Israel: and moved David to number 2 Israel. And David said to Joab, and to the rulers of the people: Go, and number Israel from Bersabee even to Dan, and bring me 3 the number of them that I may know it. And Joab answered: The Lord make his people a hundred times more than they are: but, my lord the king, are they not all thy servants: why doth my lord seek this thing, which may be imputed as a sin to Israel?
4 But the king's word rather prevailed: and Joab departed, and 5 went through all Israel: and returned to Jerusalem. And he gave David the number of them, whom he had surveyed: and all the number of Israel was found to be eleven hundred thousand men that drew the sword: and of Juda four hundred and seventy thousand fighting men. But Levi and Benjamin he did not number: for Joab unwillingly executed the king's orders. And God was displeased with this thing that was commanded: and he struck Israel. And David said to God: I have sinned exceedingly in doing this: I beseech thee take away the iniquity of thy servant, for I have done foolishly. And the Lord spoke to Gad the seer of David, saying: Go, and speak to David, and tell him: Thus saith the Lord: I give thee the choice of three things: choose one which thou wilt, and I will do it to thee. And when Gad was come to David, he said to him: Thus saith the Lord: choose which thou wilt: Either three years famine: or three months to flee from thy enemies, and not to be able to escape their sword: or three days to have the sword of the Lord, and pestilence in the land, and the angel of the Lord destroying in all the coasts of Israel: now therefore see what I shall answer him who sent me. And David said to Gad: I am on every side in a great strait: but it is better for me to fall into the hands of the Lord, for his mercies are many, than into the hands of men. So the Lord sent a pestilence upon Israel. And there fell of Israel seventy thousand men. And he sent an angel to Jerusalem, to strike it: and as he was striking it, the Lord beheld, and took pity for the greatness of the evil: and said to the angel that destroyed: It is enough, now stop thy hand. And the angel of the Lord stood by the thrashingfloor of Ornan the Jebusite. And David lifting up his eyes, saw the angel of the Lord standing between heaven and earth, with a drawn sword in his hand, turned against Jerusalem: and both he and the ancients clothed in haircloth, fell down flat on the ground. And David said to God: Am not I he that commanded the people to be numbered? It is I that have sinned: it is I that have done the evil: but as for this flock, what hath it deserved? O Lord my God, let thy hand be turned, I beseech thee, upon me, and upon my father's house: and let not thy people be destroyed. And the angel of the Lord commanded Gad to tell David, to go up, and build an altar to the Lord God in the thrashingfloor of Ornan the Jebusite. And David went up, according to the word of Gad, which he spoke to him in the name of the Lord. Now when Ornan looked up, and saw the angel, he and his four sons hid themselves: for at that time he 21 was thrashing wheat in the floor. And as David was coming to Ornan, Ornan saw him, and went out of the thrashingfloor to meet him, and bowed down to him with his face to the ground.

22 And David said to him: Give me this place of thy thrashingfloor, that I may build therein an altar to the Lord: but thou shalt take of me as much money as it is worth, that the plague may 23 cease from the people. And Ornan said to David: Take it, and let my lord the king do all that pleaseth him: and moreover the oxen also I give for a holocaust, and the drays for wood, and 24 the wheat for the sacrifice: I will give it all willingly. And king David said to him: It shall not be so, but I will give thee money as much as it is worth: for I must not take it from thee, and so 25 offer to the Lord holocausts free cost. So David gave to Ornan 26 for the place, six hundred sicles of gold of just weight. And he built there an altar to the Lord: and he offered holocausts, and peace offerings, and he called upon the Lord, and he heard him by sending fire from heaven upon the altar of the holocaust.
27 And the Lord commanded the angel: and he put up his sword 28 again into the sheath. And David seeing that the Lord had heard him in the thrashingfloor of Ornan the Jebusite, forthwith 29 offered victims there. But the tabernacle of the Lord, which Moses made in the desert, and the altar of holocausts, was at 30 that time in the high place of Gabaon. And David could not go to the altar there to pray to God: for he was seized with an exceeding great fear, seeing the sword of the angel of the Lord.
22 Then David said: This is the house of God, And this is the 2 altar for the holocaust of Israel. And he commanded to gather together all the proselytes of the land of Israel, and out of them he appointed stonecutters to hew stones and polish them, to 3 build the house of God. And David prepared in abundance iron for the nails of the gates, and for the closures and joinings: 4 and of brass an immense weight. And the cedar trees were without number, which the Sidonians, and Tyrians brought to 5 David. And David said: Solomon my son is very young and tender, and the house which I would have to be built to the Lord, must be such as to be renowned in all countries: therefore I will prepare him necessaries. And therefore before his death 6 he prepared all the charges. And he called for Solomon his son:

and commanded him to build a house to the Lord the God of Israel. And David said to Solomon: My son, it was my desire to have built a house to the name of the Lord my God. But the word of the Lord came to me, saying: Thou hast shed much blood, and fought many battles, so thou cannot not build house to my name, after shedding so much blood before me: The son that shall be born to thee, shall be a most quiet man: for I will make him rest from all his enemies round about: and therefore he shall be called Peaceable: and I will give peace and quietness to Israel all his days. He shall build a house to my name, and he shall be a son to me, and I will be a father to him: and I will establish the throne of his kingdom over Israel for ever. Now then, my son, the Lord be with thee, and do thou prosper, and build the house to the Lord thy God, as he hath spoken of thee. The Lord also give thee wisdom and understanding, that thou mayest be able to rule Israel, and to keep the law of the Lord thy God. For then thou shalt be able to prosper, if thou keep the commandments, and judgments, which the Lord commanded Moses to teach Israel: take courage and act manfully, fear not, nor be dismayed. Behold I in my poverty have prepared the charges of the house of the Lord, of gold a hundred thousand talents, and of silver a million of talents: but of brass, and of iron there is no weight, for the abundance surpasseth all account: timber also and stones I have prepared for all the charges. Thou hast also workmen in abundance, hewers of stones, and masons, and carpenters, and of all trades the most skilful in their work, In gold, and in silver, and in brass, and in iron, whereof there is no number. Arise then, and be doing, and the Lord will be with thee. David also charged all the princes of Israel, to help Solomon his son, Saying: You see, that the Lord your God is with you, and hath given you rest round about, and hath delivered all your enemies into your hands, and the land is subdued before the Lord, and before his people. Give therefore your hearts and your souls, to seek the Lord your God and arise, and build a sanctuary to the Lord God, that the ark of the covenant of the Lord, and the vessels consecrated to the Lord, may be brought into the house, which is built to the name of the Lord.

David being old and full of days, made Solomon his son king over Israel. And he gathered together all the princes of Is- 2 3 rael, and the priests and Levites. And the Levites were numbered from the age of thirty years, and upwards: and there were 4 found of them thirty-eight thousand men. Of these twenty-four thousand were chosen, and distributed unto the ministry of the house of the Lord: and six thousand were the overseers 5 and judges. Moreover four thousand were porters: and as many singers singing to the Lord with the instruments, which he had 6 made to sing with. And David distributed them into courses by the families of the sons of Levi, to wit, of Gerson, and of 7 Caath, and of Merari. The sons of Gerson were Leedan and 8 Semei. The sons of Leedan: the chief Jahiel, and Zethan, and 9 Joel, three. The sons of Semei: Salomith, and Hosiel, and Aran, 10 three: these were the heads of the families of Leedan. And the sons of Semei were Leheth, and Ziza, and Jaus, and Baria: these 11 were the sons of Semei, four. And Leheth was the first, Ziza the second: but Jaus and Baria had not many children, and therefore 12 they were counted in one family, and in one house. The sons of 13 Caath were Amram, and Isaar, Hebron, and Oziel, four. The sons of Amram, Aaron, and Moses. And Aaron was separated to minister in the holy of holies, he and his sons for ever, and to burn incense before the Lord, according to his ceremonies, 14 and to bless his name for ever. The sons also of Moses, the 15 man of God, were numbered in the tribe of Levi. The sons of 16 Moses were Gersom and Eliezer: The sons of Gersom: Subuel 17 the first. And the sons of Eliezer were: Rohobia the first: and Eliezer had no more sons. But the sons of Rohobia were multi-18, 19 plied exceedingly. The sons of Isaar: Salomith the first. The sons of Hebron: Jeriau the first, Amarias the second, Jahaziel 20 the third, Jecmaam the fourth. The sons of Oziel: Micha the 21 first, Jesia the second. The sons of Merari: Moholi, and Musi.

22 The sons of Moholi: Eleazar and Cis. And Eleazar died, and had no sons but daughters: and the sons of Cis their brethren 23 took them. The sons of Musi: Moholi, and Eder, and Jerimoth, 24 three. These are the sons of Levi in their kindreds and families, princes by their courses, and the number of every head that did the works of the ministry of the house of the Lord from twenty 25 years old and upward. For David said: The Lord the God of Israel hath given rest to his people, and a habitation in Jerusalem 26 for ever. And it shall not be the office of the Levites to carry any more the tabernacle, and all the vessels for the service thereof. So according to the last precepts of David, the sons of Levi are to be numbered from twenty years old and upward. And they are to be under the hand of the sons of Aaron for the service of the house of the Lord, in the porches, and in the chambers, and in the place of purification, and in the sanctuary, and in all the works of the ministry of the temple of the Lord. And the priests have the charge of the loaves of proposition, and of the sacrifice of fine flour, and of the unleavened cakes, and of the fryingpan, and of the roasting, and of every weight and measure. And the Levites are to stand in the morning to give thanks, and to sing praises to the Lord: and in like manner in the evening, As well in the oblation of the holocausts of the Lord, as in the sabbaths and in the new moons, and the rest of the solemnities, according to the number and ceremonies prescribed for every thing, continually before the Lord. And let them keep the observances of the tabernacle of the covenant, and the ceremonies of the sanctuary, and the charge of the sons of Aaron their brethren, that they may minister in the house of the Lord.

Now these were the divisions of the sons of Aaron: The sons of Aaron: Nadab, and Abiu, and Eleazar, and Ithamar. But Nadab and Abiu died before their father, and had no children: so Eleazar, and Ithamar did the office of the priesthood. And David distributed them, that is, Sadoc of the sons of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the sons of Ithamar, according to their courses and ministry. And there were found many more of the sons of Eleazar among the principal men, than of the sons of Ithamar. And he divided them so, that there were of the sons of Eleazar, sixteen chief men by their families: and of the sons of Ithamar eight by their families and houses. And he divided both the families one with the other by lot: for there were princes of the sanctuary, and princes of God, both of the sons of Eleazar, and of the sons of Ithamar. And Semeias the son of Nathanael the scribe a Levite, wrote them down before the king and the princes, and Sadoc the priest, and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar, and the princes also of the priestly and Levitical families: one house, which was over the rest, of Eleazar: and another house, which had the rest under it, of Ithamar. Now the first lot came forth to Joiarib, the second to Jedei, The third to Harim, the fourth

9, 10 to Seorim, The fifth to Melchia, the sixth to Maiman, The sev-11 enth to Accos, the eighth to Abia, The ninth to Jesua, the tenth 12, 13 to Sechenia, The eleventh to Eliasib, the twelfth to Jacim, The 14 thirteenth to Hoppa, the fourteenth to Isbaab, The fifteenth to 15 Belga, the sixteenth to Emmer, The seventeenth to Hezir, the 16 eighteenth to Aphses, The nineteenth to Pheteia, the twenti-17 eth to Hezechiel, The one and twentieth to Jachin, the two and 18 twentieth to Gamul, The three and twentieth to Dalaiiau, the 19 four and twentieth to Maaziau. These are their courses according to their ministries, to come into the house of the Lord, and according to their manner under the hand of Aaron their father: 20 as the Lord the God of Israel had commanded. Now of the rest of the sons of Levi, there was of the sons of Amram, Subael: 21 and of the sons of Subael, Jehedeia. Also of the sons of Roho-22 bia the chief Jesias. And the son of Isaar Salemoth, and the 23 son of Salemoth Jahath: And his son Jeriau the first, Amarias 24 the second, Jahaziel the third, Jecmaan the fourth. The son of 25 Oziel, Micha: the son of Micha, Samir. The brother of Micha, 26 Jesia: and the son of Jesia, Zacharias. The sons of Merari: 27 Moholi and Musi: the son of Oziau: Benno. The son also of 28 Merari Oziau, and Soam, and Zacchur, and Hebri. And the son 29 of Moholi: Eleazar, who had no sons. And the son of Cis, Jera-30 mael. The sons of Musi: Moholi, Eder, and Jerimoth. These are the sons of Levi according to the houses of their families.
31 And they also cast lots over against their brethren the sons of Aaron before David the king, and Sadoc, and Ahimelech, and the princes of the priestly and Levitical families, both the elder and the younger. The lot divided all equally.

25 Moreover David and the chief officers of the army separated for the ministry the sons of Asaph, and of Heman, and of Idithun: to prophesy with harps, and with psalteries, and with cymbals 2 according to their number serving in their appointed office. Of the sons of Asaph: Zacchur, and Joseph, and Nathania, and Asarela, sons of Asaph: under the hand of Asaph prophesying 3 near the king. And of Idithun: the sons of Idithun, Godolias, Sori, Jeseias, and Hasabias, and Mathathias, under the hand of their father Idithun, who prophesied with a harp to give thanks 4 and to praise the Lord. Of Heman also: the sons of Heman, Bocciau, Mathaniau, Oziel, Subuel, and Jerimoth, Hananias,

Hanani, Eliatha, Geddelthi, and Romemthiezer, and Jesbacassa, Mellothi, Othir, Mahazioth: All these were the sons of Heman the seer of the king in the words of God, to lift up the horn: and God gave to Heman fourteen sons and three daughters. All these under their father's hand were distributed to sing in the temple of the Lord, with cymbals, and psalteries and harps, for the service of the house of the Lord near the king: to wit, Asaph, and Idithun, and Heman. And the number of them with their brethren, that taught the song of the Lord, all the teachers, were two hundred and eighty-eight. And they cast lots by their courses, the elder equally with the younger, the learned and the unlearned together. And the first lot came forth to Joseph, who was of Asaph. The second to Godolias, to him and his sons, and his brethren twelve. The third to Zachur, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The fourth to Isari, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The fifth to Nathania, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The sixth to Bocciau, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The seventh to Isreela, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The eighth to Jesaia, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The ninth to Mathanaias, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The tenth to Semeias, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The eleventh to Azareel, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The twelfth to Hasabia, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The thirteenth to Subael, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The fourteenth to Mathathias, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The fifteenth to Jerimoth, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The sixteenth to Hananias, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The seventeenth to Jesbacassa, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The eighteenth to Hanani, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The nineteenth to Mellothi, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The twentieth to Eliatha, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The one and twentieth to Othir, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The two and twentieth to Geddelthi, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The three and twentieth to Mahazioth, to his sons and his brethren twelve. The four and twentieth to Romemthiezer, to his sons and his brethren twelve.

And the divisions of the porters: of the Corites Meselemia, the son of Core, of the sons of Asaph. The sons of Meselemia:

Zacharias the firstborn, Jadhahel the second, Zabadias the third, 3 Jathanael the fourth, Elam the fifth, Johanan the sixth, Elioenai 4 the seventh. And the sons of Obedom, Semeias the firstborn, 5 Jozabad the second, Joaha the third, Sachar the fourth, 6 Nathanael the fifth, Ammiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh, 7 Phollathi the eighth: for the Lord had blessed him. And to Semei 8 his son were born sons, heads of their families: for they were men 9 of great valour. The sons then of Semeias were Othni, and Raphael, 10 and Obed, Elizabad, and his brethren most valiant men: and Eliu, 11 and Samachias. All these of the sons of Obedom: they, and their 12 sons, and their brethren most able men for service, sixty-two of 13 Obedom. And the sons of Meselemia, and their brethren strong 14 men, were eighteen. And of Hosa, that is, of the sons of Merari: 15 Semri the chief, (for he had not a firstborn, and therefore his 16 father made him chief.) Helcias the second, Tabelias the third, 17 Zacharias the fourth: all these the sons, and the brethren of 18 Hosa, were thirteen. Among these were the divisions of the 19 porters, so that the chiefs of the wards, as well as their 20 brethren, always ministered in the house of the Lord. And they 21 cast lots equally, both little and great, by their families for 22 every one of the gates. And the lot of the east fell to Selemias.
23 But to his son Zacharias, a very wise and learned man, the 24 north gate fell by lot. And to Obedom and his sons that 25 towards the south: in which part of the house was the council of the ancients. To Sephim, and Hosa towards the west, by the gate which leadeth to the way of the ascent: ward against ward. Now towards the east were six Levites: and towards the north four a day: and towards the south likewise four a day: and where the council was, two and two. In the cells also of the porters toward the west four in the way: and two at every cell. These are the divisions of the porters of the sons of Core, and of Merari. Now Achias was over the treasures of the house of God, and the holy vessels. The sons of Ledan, the sons of Gersonni: of Ledan were heads of the families, of Ledan, and Gersonni, Jehieli. The sons of Jehieli: Zathan and Joel, his brethren over the treasures of the house of the Lord, With the Amramites, and Isaarites, and Hebronites, and Ozielites. And Subael the son of Gersom, the son of Moses, was chief over the treasures. His brethren also, Eliezer, whose son Rohobia, and his son Isaias, and his son Joram, and his son Zechri, and his son Selemith. Which Selemith and his brethren were over the treasures of the holy things, which king David, and the heads of families, and the captains over thousands and over hundreds, and the captains of the host had dedicated, Out of the wars, and the spoils won in battles, which they had consecrated to the building and furniture of the temple of the Lord. And all these things that Samuel the seer and Saul the son of Cis, and Abner the son of Ner, and Joab the son of Sarvia had sanctified: and whosoever had sanctified those things, they were under the hand of Selemith and his brethren. But Chonenias and his sons were over the Isaarites, for the business abroad over Israel to teach them and judge them. And of the Hebronites Hasabias, and his brethren most able men, a thousand seven hundred had the charge over Israel beyond the Jordan westward, in all the works of the Lord, and for the service of the king. And the chief of the Hebronites was Jeria according to their families and kindreds. In the fortieth year of the reign of David they were numbered, and there were found most valiant men in Jazer Galaad, And his brethren of stronger age, two thousand seven hundred chiefs of families. And king David made them rulers over the Ruben-ites and the Gadites, and the half tribe of Manasses, for all the service of God, and the king.

Now the children of Israel according to their number, the heads of families, captains of thousands and of hundreds, and officers, that served the king according to their companies, who came in and went out every month in the year, under every chief were four and twenty thousand. Over the first company the first month Jesboam, the son of Zabdiel was chief, and under him were four and twenty thousand. Of the sons of Phares, the chief of all the captains in the host in the first month. The company of the second month was under Dudia, an Ahohite, and after him was another named Macelloth, who commanded a part of the army of four and twenty thousand. And the captain of the third company for the third month, was Banaias the son of Joiada the priest: and in his division were four and twenty thousand. This is that Banaias the most valiant among the thirty, and above the thirty. And Amizabad his son commanded his company. The fourth, for the fourth month, was Asahel the brother of Joab, and Zabadias his son after him: and in his 8 company were four and twenty thousand. The fifth captain for the fifth month, was Samaoth a Jezerite: and his company were 9 four and twenty thousand. The sixth, for the sixth month, was Hira the son of Acces a Thecuite: and in his company were four 10 and twenty thousand. The seventh, for the seventh month, was Helles a Phallonite of the sons of Ephraim: and in his company 11 were four and twenty thousand. The eighth, for the eighth month, was Sobochai a Husathite of the race of Zarahi: and in 12 his company were four and twenty thousand. The ninth, for the ninth month, was Abiezer an Anathothite of the sons of Jemini, 13 and in his company were four and twenty thousand. The tenth, for the tenth month, was Marai, who was a Netophathite of the race of Zarai: and in his company were four and twenty 14 thousand. The eleventh, for the eleventh month, was Banaias, a Pharathonite of the sons of Ephraim: and in his company were 15 four and twenty thousand. The twelfth, for the twelfth month, was Holdai a Netophathite, of the race of Gothoniel: and in his 16 company were four and twenty thousand. Now the chiefs over the tribes of Israel were these: over the Rubenites, Eliezer the son of Zechri was ruler: over the Simeonites, Saphatias the son 17 of Maacha: Over the Levites, Hasabias the son of Camuel: over the Aaronites, Sadoc: Over Juda, Eliu the brother of David 18 over Issachar, Amri the son of Michael: Over the Zabulonites, Jesmaias the son of Adias: over the Nephtalites, Jerimoth the 19 son of Ozriel: Over the sons of Ephraim, Osee the son of Ozaziu: 20 over the half tribe of Manasses, Joel the son of Phadaia: And over the half tribe of Manasses in Galaad, Jaddo the son of 22 Zacharias: and over Benjamin, Jasiel the son of Abner. And over Dan, Ezrihel the son of Jeroham: these were the princes 23 of the children of Israel. But David would not number them from twenty years old and under: because the lord had said that 24 he would multiply Israel like the stars of heaven. Joab the son of Sarvia began to number, but he finished not: because upon this there fell wrath upon Israel: and therefore the number of them that were numbered, was not registered in the chronicles 25 of king David. And over the king's treasures was Azmoth the son of Adiel: and over those stores which were in the cities, and in the villages, and, in the castles, was Jonathan the son of Ozias. And over the tillage, and the husbandmen, who tilled 26 the ground, was Ezri the son of Chelub: And over the dressers 27 of the vine yards, was Semeias a Romathite: and over the wine cellars, Zabdias an Aphonite. And over the oliveyards and the 28 fig groves, which were in the plains, was Balanam a Gederite: and over the oil cellars, Joas. And over the herds that fed in Saron, 29 was Setrai a Saronite: and over the oxen in the valleys, Saphat the son of Adli: And over the camels, Ubil an Ishmahelite and 30 over the asses, Jadas a Meronathite: And over the sheep Jaziz 31 an Agarene. All these were the rulers of the substance of king David. And Jonathan David's uncle, a counsellor, a wise and 32 learned man: he and Jahiel the son of Hachamoni were with the king's sons. And Achitophel was the king's counsellor, and 33 Chusai the Arachite, the king's friend. And after Achitophel 34 was Joiada the son of Banaias, and Abiathar. And the general of the king's army was Joab.

And David assembled all the chief men of Israel, the princes of 28 the tribes, and the captains of the companies, who waited on the king: and the captains over thousands, and over hundreds, and them who had the charge over the substance and possessions of the king, and his sons with the officers of the court, and the men of power, and all the bravest of the army at Jerusalem. And 2 the king rising up, and standing said: Hear me, my brethren and my people: I had a thought to have built a house, in which the ark of the Lord, and the footstool of our God might rest: and prepared all things for the building. And God said to me: Thou 3 shalt not build a house to my name: because thou art a man of war, and hast shed blood. But the Lord God of Israel chose 4 me of all the house of my father, to be king over Israel for ever: for of Juda he chose the princes: and of the house of Juda, my father's house: and among the sons of my father, it pleased him to choose me king over all Israel. And among my sons (for the 5 Lord hath given me many sons) he hath chosen Solomon my son, to sit upon the throne of the kingdom of the Lord over Israel.
And he said to me: Solomon thy son shall build my house, and 6 my courts: for I have chosen him to be my son, and I will be a father to him. And I will establish his kingdom for ever, it 7 he continue to keep my commandments, and my judgments, as at this day. Now then before all the assembly of Israel, in the 8 hearing of our God, keep ye, and seek all the commandments of the Lord our God: that you may possess the good land, and 9 may leave it to your children after you for ever. And thou my son Solomon, know the God of thy father, and serve him with a perfect heart, and a willing mind: for the Lord searcheth all hearts, and understandeth all the thoughts of minds. If thou seek him, thou shalt find him: but if thou forsake him, he will cast 10 thee off for ever. Now therefore seeing the Lord hath chosen thee to build the house of the sanctuary, take courage, and do 11 it. And David gave to Solomon his son a description of the porch, and of the temple, and of the treasures, and of the upper floor, and of the inner chambers, and of the house for the mercy 12 seat, As also of all the courts, which he had in his thought, and of the chambers round about, for the treasures of the house of 13 the Lord, and for the treasures of the consecrated things, And of the divisions of the priests and of the Levites, for all the works of the house of the Lord, and for all the vessels of the 14 service of the temple of the Lord. Gold by weight for every vessel for the ministry. And silver by weight according to the 15 diversity of the vessels and uses. He gave also gold for the golden candlesticks, and their lamps, according to the dimensions of every candlestick, and the lamps thereof. In like manner also he gave silver by weight for the silver candlesticks, and for their 16 lamps according to the diversity of the dimensions of them. He gave also gold for the tables of proposition, according to the diversity of the tables: in like manner also silver for other tables 17 of silver. For fleshhooks also, and bowls, and censors of fine gold, and for little lions of gold, according to the measure he gave by weight, for every lion. In like manner also for lions of 18 silver he set aside a different weight of silver. And for the altar of incense, he gave the purest gold: and to make the likeness of the chariot of the cherubims spreading their wings, and covering the 19 ark of the covenant of the Lord. All these things, said he, came to me written by the hand of the Lord that I might understand 20 all the works of the pattern. And David said to Solomon his son: Act like a man, and take courage, and do: fear not, and be not dismayed: for the Lord my God will be with thee, and will not leave thee, nor forsake thee, till thou hast finished all the work 21 for the service of the house of the Lord. Behold the courses of the priests and the Levites, for every ministry of the house of the Lord, stand by thee, and are ready, and both the princes, and the people know how to execute all thy commandments.

And king David said to all the assembly: Solomon my son, 29 whom alone God hath chosen, is as yet young and tender: and the work is great, for a house is prepared not for man, but for God. And I with all my ability have prepared the expenses 2 for the house of my God. Gold for vessels of gold, and silver for vessels of silver, brass for things of brass, iron for things of iron, wood for things of wood: and onyx stones, and stones like alabaster, and of divers colours, and all manner of precious stones, and marble of Paros in great abundance. Now over and 3 above the things which I have offered into the house of my God I give of my own proper goods, gold and silver for the temple of my God, beside what things I have prepared for the holy house. Three thousand talents of gold of the gold of Ophir: and seven 4 thousand talents of refined silver, to overlay the walls of the temple. And gold for wheresoever there is need of gold: and 5 silver for wheresoever there is need of silver, for the works to be made by the hands of the artificers: now if any man is willing to offer, let him fill his hand to day, and offer what he pleaseth to the Lord. Then the heads of the families, and the princes of the 6 tribes of Israel and the captains of thousands, and of hundreds, and the overseers of the king's possessions promised, And they 7 gave for the works of the house of the Lord, of gold, five thousand talents, and ten thousand solids: of silver ten thousand talents: and of brass eighteen thousand talents: and of iron a hundred thousand talents. And all they that had stones, gave them to 8 the treasures of the house of the Lord, by the hand of Jahiel the Gersonite. And the people rejoiced, when they promised their 9 offerings willingly: because they offered them to the Lord with all their heart: and David the king rejoiced also with a great joy. And he blessed the Lord before all the multitude, and he 10 said: Blessed art thou, O Lord the God of Israel, our father from eternity to eternity. Thine, O Lord, is magnificence, and 11 power, and glory, and victory: and to thee is praise: for all that is in heaven, and in earth, is thine: thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art above all princes. Thine are riches, and 12 thine is glory, thou hast dominion over all, in thy hand is power and might: in thy hand greatness, and the empire of all things.

13 Now therefore our God we give thanks to thee, and we praise 14 thy glorious name. Who am I, and what is my people, that we should be able to promise thee all these things? all things are thine: and we have given thee what we received of thy hand.
15 For we are sojourners before thee, and strangers, as were all our fathers. I Our days upon earth are as a shadow, and there is 16 no stay. O Lord our God, all this store that we have prepared to build thee a house for thy holy name, is from thy hand, and 17 all things are thine. I know my God that thou provest hearts, and lovest simplicity, wherefore I also in the simplicity of my heart, have joyfully offered all these things: and I have seen with great joy thy people, which are here present, offer thee their 18 offerings. O Lord God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Israel our fathers, keep for ever this will of their heart, and let this mind 19 remain always for the worship of thee. And give to Solomon my son a perfect heart, that he may keep thy commandments, thy testimonies, and thy ceremonies, and do all things: and build 20 the house, for which I have provided the charges. And David commanded all the assembly: Bless ye the Lord our God. And all the assembly blessed the Lord the God of their fathers: and they 21 bowed themselves and worshipped God, and then the king. And they sacrificed victims to the Lord: and they offered holocausts the next day, a thousand bullocks, a thousand rams, a thousand lambs, with their libations, and with every thing prescribed most 22 abundantly for all Israel. And they ate, and drank before the Lord that day with great joy. And they anointed the second time Solomon the son of David. And they anointed him to the Lord 23 to be prince, and Sadoc to be high priest. And Solomon sat on the throne of the Lord as king instead of David his father, and 24 he pleased all: and all Israel obeyed him. And all the princes, and men of power, and all the sons of king David gave their 25 hand, and were subject to Solomon the king. And the Lord magnified Solomon over all Israel: and gave him the glory of a 26 reign, such as no king of Israel had before him. So David the 27 son of Isai reigned over all Israel. And the days that he reigned over Israel, were forty years: in Hebron he reigned seven years, 28 and in Jerusalem three and thirty years. And he died in a good age, full of days, and riches, and glory. And Solomon his son reigned in his stead. Now the acts of king David first and last 29 are written in the book of Samuel the seer, and in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the book of Gad the seer: And of 30 all his reign, and his valour, and of the times that passed under him, either in Israel, or in all the kingdoms of the countries.

THE SECOND BOOK OF THE CHRONICLES.

1 And Solomon the son of David was strengthened in his kingdom, and the Lord his God was with him, and 2 magnified him to a high degree. And Solomon gave orders to all Israel, to the captains of thousands, and of hundreds, and to the rulers, and to the judges of all Israel, and 3 the heads of the families: And he went with all the multitude to the high place of Gabaon, where was the tabernacle of the covenant of the Lord, which Moses the servant of God made, in 4 the wilderness. For David had brought the ark of God from Cariathiarim to the place, which he had prepared for it, and where he had pitched a tabernacle for it, that is, in Jerusalem.
5 And the altar of brass, which Beseleel the son of Uri the son of Hur had made, was there before the tabernacle of the Lord: 6 and Solomon and all the assembly sought it: And Solomon went up thither to the brazen altar, before the tabernacle of the covenant of the Lord, and offered up on it a thousand victims.
7 And behold that night God appeared to him, saying: Ask what 8 thou wilt that I should give thee. And Solomon said to God: Thou hast shewn great kindness to my father David: and hast 9 made me king in his stead. Now therefore, O Lord God, let thy word be fulfilled, which thou hast promised to David my father: for thou hast made me king over thy great people, which 10 is as innumerable as the dust of the earth. Give me wisdom and knowledge that I may come in and go out before thy people: for who can worthily judge this thy people, which is so great?
11 And God said to Solomon: Because this choice hath pleased thy heart, and thou hast not asked riches, and wealth, and glory, nor the lives of them that hate thee, nor many days of life: but hast asked wisdom and knowledge, to be able to judge my people, 12 over which I have made thee king, Wisdom and knowledge are granted to thee: and I will give thee riches, and wealth, and glory, so that none of the kings before thee, nor after thee, shall be like thee. Then Solomon came from the high place of Gabaon to Jerusalem before the tabernacle of the covenant, and reigned over Israel. And he gathered to himself chariots and horsemen, and he had a thousand four hundred chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen: and he placed them in the cities of the chariots, and with the king in Jerusalem. And the king made silver and gold to be in Jerusalem as stones, and cedar trees as sycamores, which grow in the plains in great multitude. And there were horses brought him from Egypt, and from Coa by the king's merchants, who went, and bought at a price, A chariot of four horses for six hundred pieces of silver, and a horse for a hundred and fifty: in like manner market was made in all the kingdoms of the Hethites, and of the kings of Syria.

And Solomon determined to build a house to the name of the Lord, and a palace for himself. And he numbered out seventy thousand men to bear burdens, and eighty thousand to hew stones in the mountains, and three thousand six hundred to oversee them. He sent also to Hiram king of Tyre, saying: As thou didst with David my father, and didst send him cedars, to build him a house, in which he dwelt: So do with me that I may build a house to the name of the Lord my God, to dedicate it to burn incense before him, and to perfume with aromatical spices, and for the continual setting forth of bread, and for the holocausts, morning and evening, and on the sabbaths, and on the new moons, and the solemnities of the Lord our God for ever, which are commanded for Israel. For the house which I desire to build, is great: for our God is great above all gods. Who then can be able to build him a worthy house? if heaven, and the heavens of heavens cannot contain him: who am I that I should be able to build him a house? but to this end only, that incense may be burnt before him. Send me therefore a skilful man, that knoweth how to work in gold, and in silver, in brass, and in iron, in purple, in scarlet and in blue, and that hath skill in engraving, with the artificers, which I have with me in Judea and Jerusalem, whom David my father provided. Send me also cedars, and fir trees, and pine trees from Libanus: for I know that thy servants are skilful in cutting timber in Libanus, and my servants shall be with thy servants, To provide me timber in abundance. For the house which I desire to build, is to be exceeding great, and glorious. And I will give thy servants the workmen that are to cut down the trees, for their food twenty thousand cores of wheat, and as many cores of barley, and twenty thousand measures of wine, and twenty thousand measures of oil. And Hiram king of Tyre sent a letter to Solomon, saying: Because the Lord hath loved his people, therefore he hath made thee king over them. And he added, saying: Blessed be the Lord the God of Israel, who made heaven and earth, who hath given to king David a wise and knowing son, endued with understanding and prudence, to build a house to the Lord, and a palace for himself. I therefore have sent thee my father Hiram, a wise and most skilful man, The son of a woman of the daughters of Dan, whose father was a Tyrian, who knoweth how to work in gold, and in silver, in brass, and in iron, and in marble, and in timber, in purple also, and violet, and silk and scarlet: and who knoweth to grave all sort of graving, and to devise ingeniously all that there may be need of in the work with thy artificers, and with the artificers of my lord David thy father. The wheat therefore, and the barley and the oil, and the wine, which thou, my lord, hast promised, send to thy servants. And we will cut down as many trees out of Libanus, as thou shalt want, and will convey them in floats by sea to Joppe: and it will be thy part to bring them thence to Jerusalem. And Solomon numbered all the proselytes in the land of Israel, after the numbering which David his father had made, and they were found a hundred and fifty-three thousand and six hundred. And he set seventy thousand of them to carry burdens on their shoulders, and eighty thousand to hew stones in the mountains: and three thousand and six hundred to be overseers of the work of the people.

3 And Solomon began to build the house of the Lord in Jerusalem, in mount Moria, which had been shewn to David his father, in the place which David had prepared in the thrashingfloor of Ornan the Jebusite. And he began to build in the second month, 2 in the fourth year of his reign. Now these are the foundations, which Solomon laid, to build the house of God, the length by 3 the first measure sixty cubits, the breadth twenty cubits. And 4 the porch in the front, which was extended in length according to the measure of the breadth of the house, twenty cubits: and the height was a hundred and twenty cubits: and he overlaid it within with pure gold. And the greater house he ceiled with deal boards, and overlaid them with plates of fine gold throughout: and he graved in them palm trees, and like little chains interlaced with one another. He paved also the floor of the temple with most precious marble, of great beauty. And the gold of the plates with which he overlaid the house, and the beams thereof, and the posts, and the walls, and the doors was of the finest: and he graved cherubims on the walls. He made also the house of the holy of holies: the length of it according to the breadth of the temple, twenty cubits, and the breadth of it in like manner twenty cubits: and he overlaid it with plates of gold, amounting to about six hundred talents. He made also nails of gold, and the weight of every nail was fifty sicles: the upper chambers also he overlaid with gold. He made also in the house of the holy of holies two cherubims of image work: and he overlaid them with gold. The wings of the cherubims were extended twenty cubits, so that one wing was five cubits long, and reached to the wall of the house: and the other was also five cubits long, and reached to the wing of the other cherub. In like manner the wing of the other cherub, was five cubits long, and reached to the wall: and his other wing was five cubits long, and touched the wing of the other cherub. So the wings of the two cherubims were spread forth, and were extended twenty cubits: and they stood upright on their feet, and their faces were turned toward the house without. He made also a veil of violet, purple, scarlet, and silk: and wrought in it cherubims. He made also before the doors of the temple two pillars, which were five and thirty cubits high: and their chapiters were five cubits. He made also as it were little chains in the oracle, and he put them on the heads of the pillars: and a hundred pomegranates, which he put between the little chains. These pillars he put at the entrance of the temple, one on the right hand, and the other on the left: that which was on the right hand, he called Jachin: and that on the left hand, Booz.

He made also an altar of brass twenty cubits long, and twenty cubits broad, and ten cubits high. Also a molten sea of ten cubits from brim to brim, round in compass: it was five cubits high, and a line of thirty cubits compassed it round about. And under it there was the likeness of oxen, and certain engravings on the outside of ten cubits compassed the belly of the sea, as 4 it were with two rows. And the oxen were cast: and the sea itself was set upon the twelve oxen, three of which looked toward the north, and other three toward the west: and other three toward the south, and the other three that remained toward the east, and the sea stood upon them: and the hinder parts of the 5 oxen were inward under the sea. Now the thickness of it was a handbreadth, and the brim of it was like the brim of a cup, or of a crisped lily: and it held three thousand measures. He 6 made also ten lavers: and he set five on the right hand, and five on the left, to wash in them all such things as they were to offer for holocausts: but the sea was for the priests to wash in. And 7 he made ten golden candlesticks, according to the form which they were commanded to be made by: and he set them in the temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left. Moreover 8 also ten tables: and he set them in the temple, five on the right side, and five on the left. Also a hundred bowls of gold. He 9 made also the court of the priests, and a great hall, and doors in the hall, which he covered with brass. And he set the sea 10 on the right side over against the east toward the south. And Hiram made caldrons, and fleshhooks, and bowls: and finished 11 all the king's work the house of God: That is to say, the two pillars, and the pommels, and the chapiters, and the network, to cover the chapiters over the pommels. And four hundred 12 pomegranates, and two wreaths of network, so that two rows of pomegranates were joined to each wreath, to cover the pommels, 13 and the chapiters of the pillars. He made also bases, and lavers, which he set upon the bases: One sea, and twelve oxen under 14 the sea; And the caldrons, and fleshhooks, and bowls. All the vessels did Hiram his father make for Solomon in the house of 15 the Lord of the finest brass. In the country near the Jordan did the king cast them, in a clay ground between Sohot and Saredatha. And the multitude of vessels was innumerable, so 16 that the weight of the brass was not known. And Solomon made all the vessels for the house of God, and the golden altar, 17 and the tables, upon which were the loaves of proposition, The candlesticks also of most pure gold with their lamps to give light 18 before the oracle, according to the manner. And certain flowers, and lamps, and golden tongues: all were made of the finest gold. The vessels also for the perfumes, and the censers, and the bowls, 22 and the mortars, of pure gold. And he graved the doors of the inner temple, that is, for the holy of holies: and the doors of the temple without were of gold. And thus all the work was finished which Solomon made in the house of the Lord.

Then Solomon brought in all those things that David his fa- 5 ther had vowed, the silver, and the gold, and all the vessels he put among the treasures of the house of God. And after this 2 he gathered together the ancients of Israel and all the princes of the tribes, and the heads of the families, of the children of Israel to Jerusalem, to bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord out of the city of David, which is Sion. And all the men of Israel came 3 to the king in the solemn day of the seventh month. And when 4 all the ancients of Israel were come, the Levites took up the ark, And brought it in, together with all the furniture of the taber- 5 nacle. And the priests with the Levites carried the vessels of the sanctuary, which were in the tabernacle. And king Solomon and 6 all the assembly of Israel and all that were gathered together before the ark, sacrificed rams, and oxen without number: so great was the multitude of the victims. And the priests brought in 7 the ark of the covenant of the Lord into its place, that is, to the oracle of the temple, into the holy of holies under the wings of the cherubims: So that the cherubims spread their wings over 8 the place, in which the ark was set, and covered the ark itself and its staves. Now the ends of the staves wherewith the ark 9 was carried, because they were some thing longer, were seen before the oracle: but if a man were a little outward, he could not see them. So the ark has been there unto this day. And there 10 was nothing else in the ark but the two tables which Moses put there at Horeb when the Lord gave the law to the children of Israel, at their coming out of Egypt. Now when the priests were 11 come out of the sanctuary, for all the priests that could be found there, were sanctified: and as yet at that time the courses and orders of the ministries were not divided among them, Both 12 the Levites and the singing men, that is, both they that were under Asaph, and they that were under Heman, and they that were under Idithun, with their sons, and their brethren, clothed with fine linen, sounded with cymbals, and psalteries, and harps, standing on the east side of the altar, and with them a hundred 13 and twenty priests, sounding with trumpets. So when they all sounded together, both with trumpets, and voice, and cymbals, and organs, and with divers kind of musical instruments, and lifted up their voice on high: the sound was heard afar off, so that when they began to praise the Lord, and to say: Give glory to the Lord for he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever: the 14 house of God was filled with a cloud. Nor could the priests stand and minister by reason of the cloud. For the glory of the Lord had filled the house of God.

6 Then Solomon said: The Lord promised that he would dwell 2 in a cloud. But I have built a house to his name, that he might 3 dwell there for ever. And the king turned his face, and blessed all the multitude of Israel for all the multitude stood attentive 4 and he said: Blessed be the Lord the God of Israel, who hath accomplished in deed that which he spoke to David my father, 5 saying: From the day that I brought my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no city among all the tribes of Israel, for a house to be built in it to my name: neither chose I any other 6 man, to be the ruler of my people Israel. But I chose Jerusalem, that my name might be there: and I chose David to set him over 7 my people Israel. And whereas David my father had a mind to 8 build a house to the name of the Lord the God of Israel, The Lord said to him: Forasmuch as it was thy will to build a house to my name, thou hast done well indeed in having such a will: 9 But thou shalt not build the house, but thy son, who shall come 10 out of thy loins, he shall build a house to my name. The Lord therefore hath accomplished his word which he spoke: and I am risen up in the place of David my father, and sit upon the throne of Israel, as the Lord promised: and have built a house to the 11 name of the Lord God of Israel. And I have put in it the ark, wherein is the covenant of the Lord, which he made with the 12 children of Israel. And he stood before the altar of the Lord, in presence of all the multitude of Israel, and stretched forth 13 his hands. For Solomon had made a brazen scaffold, and had set it in the midst of the temple, which was five cubits long, and five cubits broad, and three cubits high: and he stood upon it: then kneeling down in the presence of all the multitude of 14 Israel, and lifting up his hands towards heaven, He said: O

Lord God of Israel, there is no God like thee in heaven nor in earth: who keepest covenant and mercy with thy servants, that walk before thee with all their hearts: Who hast performed to thy servant David my father all that thou hast promised him: and hast accomplished in fact, what thou hast spoken with thy mouth, as also the present time proveth. Now then, O Lord God of Israel, fulfil to thy servant David my father, whatsoever thou hast promised him, saying: There shall not fail thee a man in my sight, to sit upon the throne of Israel: yet so that thy children take heed to their ways, and walk in my law, as thou hast walked before me. And now, Lord God of Israel, let thy word be established which thou hast spoken to thy servant David. Is it credible then that God should dwell with men on the earth? If heaven and the heavens of heavens do not contain thee, how much less this house, which I have built? But to this end only it is made, that thou mayest regard the prayer of thy servant and his supplication, O Lord my God: and mayest hear the prayers which thy servant poureth out before thee. That thou mayest open thy eyes upon this house day and night, upon the place wherein thou hast promised that thy name should be called upon, And that thou wouldst hear the prayer which thy servant prayeth in it: hearken then to the prayers of thy servant, and of thy people Israel. Whosoever shall pray in its place, hear thou from thy dwelling place, that is, from heaven, and shew mercy. If any man sin against his neighbour, and come to swear against him, and bind himself with a curse before the altar in this house: Then hear thou from heaven, and do justice to thy servants, so to requite the wicked by making his wickedness fall upon his own head, and to revenge the just, rewarding him according to his justice. If thy people Israel be overcome by their enemies, (for they will sin against thee,) and being converted shall do penance, and call upon thy name, and pray to thee in this place, Then hear thou from heaven, and forgive the sin of thy people Israel and bring them back into the land which thou gavest to them, and their fathers. If the heavens be shut up, and there fall no rain by reason of the sin of the people, and they shall pray to thee in this place, and confess to thy name, and be converted from their sins, where thou dost afflict them, Then hear thou from heaven, O Lord, and forgive the sins of thy servants and of thy people Israel and teach them the good way in which they may walk: and give rain to thy land which thou hast given to thy 28 people to possess. If a famine arise in the land, or a pestilence or blasting, or mildew, or locusts, or caterpillars: or if their enemies waste the country, and besiege the cities, whatsoever 29 scourge or infirmity shall be upon them: Then if any of thy people Israel, knowing his own scourge and infirmity shall pray, 30 and shall spread forth his hands in this house, Hear thou from heaven, from thy high dwelling place, and forgive, and render to every one according to his ways, which thou knowest him to have in his heart: for thou only knowest the hearts of the children of 31 men: That they may fear thee, and walk in thy ways all the days that they live upon the face of the land, which thou hast given 32 to our fathers. If the stranger also, who is not of thy people Israel, come from a far country, for the sake of thy great name, and thy strong hand, and thy stretched out arm, and adore in 33 this place: Hear thou from heaven thy firm dwelling place, and do all that which that stranger shall call upon thee for: that all the people of the earth may know thy name, and may fear thee, as thy people Israel, and may know, that thy name is invoked 34 upon this house, which I have built. If thy people go out to war against their enemies, by the way that thou shalt send them, and adore thee towards the way of this city, which thou hast chosen, 35 and the house which I have built to thy name: Then hear thou from heaven their prayers, and their supplications, and revenge 36 them. And if they sin against thee (for there is no man that sinneth not) and thou be angry with them, and deliver them up to their enemies, and they lead them away captive to a land 37 either afar off, or near at hand, And if they be converted in their heart in the land to which they were led captive, and do penance, and pray to thee in the land of their captivity saying: We have sinned, we have done wickedly, we have dealt unjustly:

38 And return to thee with all their heart, and with all their soul, in the land of their captivity, to which they were led away, and adore thee towards the way of their own land which thou gavest their fathers, and of the city, which thou hast chosen, and the 39 house which I have built to thy name: Then hear thou from heaven, that is, from thy firm dwelling place, their prayers, and do judgment, and forgive thy people, although they have sinned:

For thou art my God: let thy eyes, I beseech thee, be open, and 40 let thy ears be attentive to the prayer, that is made in this place.
Now therefore arise, O Lord God, into thy resting place, thou 41 and the ark of thy strength: let thy priests, O Lord God, put on salvation, and thy saints rejoice in good things. O Lord God, 42 turn not away the face of thy anointed: remember the mercies of David thy servant.

And when Solomon had made an end of his prayer, fire came 7 down from heaven, and consumed the holocausts and the victims: and the majesty of the Lord filled the house. Neither 2 could the priests enter into the temple of the Lord, because the majesty of the Lord had filled the temple of the Lord. Moreover 3 all the children of Israel saw the fire coming down, and the glory of the Lord upon the house: and falling down with their faces to the ground, upon the stone pavement, they adored and praised the Lord: because he is good, because his mercy endureth for ever. And the king and all the people sacrificed victims before 4 the Lord. And king Solomon offered a sacrifice of twenty-two 5 thousand oxen, and one hundred and twenty thousand rams: and the king and all the people dedicated the house of God. And 6 the priests stood in their offices: and the Levites with the instruments of music of the Lord, which king David made to praise the Lord: because his mercy endureth for ever, singing the hymns of David by their ministry: and the priests sounded with trum- 7 pets before them, and all Israel stood. Solomon also sanctified the middle of the court before the temple of the Lord: for he offered there the holocausts, and the fat of the peace offerings: because the brazen altar, which he had made, could not hold the holocausts and the sacrifices and the fat: And Solomon 8 kept the solemnity at that time seven days, and all Israel with him, a very great congregation, from the entrance of Emath to the torrent of Egypt. And he made on the eighth day a solemn 9 assembly, because he had kept the dedication of the altar seven days, and had celebrated the solemnity seven days. So on the 10 three and twentieth day of the seventh month he sent away the people to their dwellings, joyful and glad for the good that the Lord had done to David, and to Solomon, and to all Israel his people. And Solomon finished the house of the Lord, and the 11 king's house, and all that he had designed in his heart to do, in the house of the Lord, and in his own house, and he prospered.

12 And the Lord appeared to him by night, and said: I have heard thy prayer, and I have chosen this place to myself for a house 13 of sacrifice. If I shut up heaven, and there fall no rain, or if I give orders, and command the locust to devour the land, or if I 14 send pestilence among my people: And my people, upon whom my name is called, being converted, shall make supplication to me, and seek out my face, and do penance for their most wicked ways: then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sins 15 and will heal their land. My eyes also shall be open, and my ears attentive to the prayer of him that shall pray in this place.
16 For I have chosen, and have sanctified this place, that my name may be there for ever, and my eyes and my heart may remain 17 there perpetually. And as for thee, if thou walk before me, as David thy father walked, and do according to all that I have 18 commanded thee, and keep my justices and my judgments: I will raise up the throne of thy kingdom, as I promised to David thy father, saying: There shall not fail thee a man of thy stock 19 to be ruler in Israel. But if you turn away, and forsake my justices, and my commandments which I have set before you, and 20 shall go and serve strange gods, and adore them, I will pluck you up by the root out of my land which I have given you: and this house which I have sanctified to my name, I will cast away from before my face, and will make it a byword, and an example 21 among all nations. And this house shall be for a proverb to all that pass by, and they shall be astonished and say: Why hath 22 the Lord done thus to this land, and to this house? And they shall answer: Because they forsook the Lord the God of their fathers, who brought them out of the land of Egypt, and laid hold on strange gods, and adored them, and worshipped them: therefore all these evils are come upon them.

8 And at the end of twenty years after Solomon had built the 2 house of the Lord and his own house: He built the cities which Hiram had given to Solomon, and caused the children of Israel 3 to dwell there. He went also into Emath Suba, and possessed 4 it. And he built Palmira in the desert, and he built other strong 5 cities in Emath. And he built Beth-horon the upper, and Bethhoron the nether, walled cities with gates and bars and locks.
6 Balaath also and all the strong cities that were Solomon's, and all the cities of the chariots, and the cities of the horsemen. All that Solomon had a mind, and designed, he built in Jerusalem and in Libanus, and in all the land of his dominion. All the people that were left of the Hethites, and the Amorrhites, and the Pherezites, and the Hevites, and the Jebusites, that were not of the stock of Israel: Of their children, and of the posterity, whom the children of Israel had not slain, Solomon made to be the tributaries, unto this day. But of the children of Israel he set none to serve in the king's works: for they were men of war, and chief captains, and rulers of his chariots and horsemen. And all the chief captains of king Solomon's army were two hundred and fifty, who taught the people. And he removed the daughter of Pharao from the city of David, to the house which he had built for her. For the king said: My wife shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel, for it is sanctified: because the ark of the Lord came into it. Then Solomon offered holocausts to the Lord upon the altar of the Lord which he had built before the porch, That every day an offering might be made on it according to the ordinance of Moses, in the sabbaths, and on the new moons, and on the festival days three times a year, that is to say, in the feast of unleavened bread, and in the feast of weeks, and in the feast of tabernacles. And he appointed according to the order of David his father the offices of the priests in their ministries: and the Levites in their order to give praise, and minister before the priests according to the duty of every day: and the porters in their divisions by gate and gate: for so David the man of God had commanded. And the priests and Levites departed not from the king's commandments, as to any thing that he had commanded, and as to the keeping of the treasures. Solomon had all charges prepared, from the day that he founded the house of the Lord, until the day wherein he finished it. Then Solomon went to Asiongaber, and to Ailath, on the coast of the Red Sea, which is in the land of Edom. And Hiram sent him ships by the hands of his servants, and skilful mariners, and they went with Solomon's servants to Ophir, and they took thence four hundred and fifty talents of gold, and brought it to king Solomon.

And when the queen of Saba heard of the fame of Solomon, she came to try him with hard questions at Jerusalem, with great riches, and camels, which carried spices, and abundance of gold, and precious stones. And when she was come to Solomon, 2 she proposed to him all that was in her heart. And Solomon explained to her all that she proposed: and there was not any 3 thing that he did not make clear unto her. And when she had seen these things, to wit, the wisdom of Solomon, and the house 4 which he had built, And the meats of his table, and the dwelling places of his servants, and the attendance of his officers, and their apparel, his cupbearers also, and their garments, and the victims which he offered in the house of the Lord: there was 5 no more spirit in her, she was so astonished. And she said to the king: The word is true which I heard in my country of thy 6 virtues and wisdom. I did not believe them that told it, until I came, and my eyes had seen, and I had proved that scarce one half of thy wisdom had been told me: thou hast exceeded the 7 same with thy virtues. Happy are thy men, and happy are thy servants, who stand always before thee, and hear thy wisdom.

8 Blessed be the Lord thy God, who hath been pleased to set thee on his throne, king of the Lord thy God. Because God loveth Israel, and will preserve them forever: therefore hath he made 9 thee king over them, to do judgment and justice. And she gave to the king a hundred and twenty talents of gold, and spices in great abundance, and most precious stones: there were no such spices as these which the queen of Saba gave to king Solomon.
10 And the servants also of Hiram, with the servants of Solomon, brought gold from Ophir, and thyine trees, and most precious 11 stones: And the king made of the thyine trees stairs in the house of the Lord, and in the king's house, and harps and psalteries for the singing men: never were there seen such trees in the land 12 of Juda. And king Solomon gave to the queen of Saba all that she desired, and that she asked, and many more things than she brought to him: so she returned, and went to her own country 13 with her servants. And the weight of the gold, that was brought to Solomon every year, was six hundred and sixty-six talents of 14 gold: Beside the sum which the deputies of divers nations, and the merchants were accustomed to bring, and all the kings of Arabia, and the lords of the lands, who brought gold and silver to 15 Solomon. And king Solomon made two hundred golden spears, of the sum of six hundred pieces of gold, which went to every 16 spear: And three hundred golden shields of three hundred pieces of gold, which went to the covering of every shield: and the king put them in the armoury, which was compassed with a wood. The king also made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with pure gold. And six steps to go up to the throne, and a footstool of gold, and two arms one on either side, and two lions standing by the arms: Moreover twelve other little lions standing upon the steps on both sides: there was not such a throne in any kingdom. And all the vessels of the king's table were of gold, and the vessels of the house of the forest of Libanus were of the purest gold. For no account was made of silver in those days. For the king's ships went to Tharsis with the servants of Hiram, once in three years: and they brought thence gold and silver, and ivory, and apes, and peacocks. And Solomon was magnified above all the kings of the earth for riches and glory. And all the kings of the earth desired to see the face of Solomon, that they might hear the wisdom which God had given in his heart. And every year they brought him presents, vessels of silver and of gold, and garments, and armour, and spices, and horses, and mules. And Solomon had forty thousand horses in the stables, and twelve thousand chariots, and horsemen, and he placed them in the cities of the chariots and where the king was in Jerusalem. And he exercised authority over all the kings from the river Euphrates to the land of the Philistines, and to the borders of Egypt. And he made silver as plentiful in Jerusalem as stones: and cedars as common as the sycamores, which grow in the plains. And horses were brought to him out of Egypt, and out of all countries. Now the rest of the acts of Solomon first and last are written in the words of Nathan the prophet, and in the books of Ahias the Silonite, and in the vision of Addo the seer, against Jeroboam the son of Nabat. And Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years. And he slept with his fathers: and they buried him in the city of David: and Roboam his son reigned in his stead.

And Roboam went to Sichem: for thither all Israel were assembled, to make him king. And when Jeroboam the son of Nabat, who was in Egypt, (for he was fled thither from Solomon,) heard it, forthwith he returned. And they sent for him, and he came with all Israel, and they spoke to Roboam, saying: Thy father oppressed with a most grievous yoke, do thou govern us with a lighter hand than thy father, who laid upon us a heavy servitude, and ease some thing of the burden, that we may serve 5 thee. And he said to them: Come to me again after three days.

6 And when the people were gone, He took counsel with the ancients, who had stood before his father Solomon, while he yet lived, saying: What counsel give you to me, that I may answer 7 the people? And they said to him: If thou please this people, and soothe them with kind words, they will be thy servants for 8 ever. But he forsook the counsel of the ancients, and began to treat with the young men, that had been brought up with him, 9 and were in his train. And he said to them: What seemeth good to you? or what shall I answer this people, who have said 10 to me: Ease the yoke which thy father laid upon us? But they answered as young men, and brought up with him in pleasures, and said: Thus shalt thou speak to the people, that said to thee: Thy father made our yoke heavy, do thou ease it: thus shalt thou answer them: My little finger is thicker than the loins of 11 my father. My father laid upon you a heavy yoke, and I will add more weight to it: my father beat you with scourges, but I will beat you with scorpions. So Jeroboam, and all the people 12 came to Roboam the third day, as he commanded them. And the king answered roughly, leaving the counsel of the ancients.
13 And he spoke according to the advice of the young men: My father laid upon you a heavy yoke, which I will make heavier: my father beat you with scourges, but I will beat you with scorpions.
14 And he condescended not to the people's requests: for it was the will of God, that his word might be fulfilled which he had spoken by the hand of Ahias the Silonite to Jeroboam the son of Nabat.
15 And all the people upon the king's speaking roughly, said thus unto him: We have no part in David, nor inheritance in the son of Isai. Return to thy dwellings, O Israel, and do thou, O David feed thy own house. And Israel went away to their dwellings.
16 But Roboam reigned over the children of Israel that dwelt in the cities of Juda. And king Roboam sent Aduram, who was over the tributes, and the children of Israel stoned him, and he died: and king Roboam made haste to get up into his chariot, and fled 17 into Jerusalem. And Israel revolted from the house of David unto this day.

11 And Roboam came to Jerusalem, and called together all the house of Juda and of Benjamin, a hundred and fourscore thousand chosen men and warriors, to fight against Israel, and to bring back his kingdom to him. And the word of the Lord came to Semeias the man of God, saying: Speak to Roboam the son of Solomon the king of Juda, and to all Israel, in Juda and Benjamin: Thus saith the Lord: You shall not go up, nor fight against your brethren: let every man return to his own house, for by my will this thing has been done. And when they heard the word of the Lord, they returned, and did not go against Jeroboam, And Roboam dwelt in Jerusalem, and built walled cities in Juda. And he built Bethlehem, and Etam, and Thecue, And Bethsur, and Socho, and Odollam, And Geth, and Maresa, and Ziph, And Aduram, and Lachis, and Azecha, Saraa also, and Aialon, and Hebron, which are in Juda and Benjamin, well fenced cities. And when he had enclosed them with walls, he put in them governors and storehouses of provisions, that is, of oil and of wine. Moreover in every city he made an armoury of shields and spears, and he fortified them with great diligence, and he reigned over Juda, and Benjamin, And the priests and Levites, that were in all Israel, came to him out of all their seats, Leaving their suburbs, and their possessions, and passing over to Juda, and Jerusalem, because Jeroboam and his sons had cast them off, from executing the priestly office to the Lord. And he made to himself priests for the high places, and for the devils, and for the calves which he had made. Moreover out of all the tribes of Israel, whosoever gave their heart to seek the Lord the God of Israel, came into Jerusalem to sacrifice their victims before the Lord the God of their fathers. And they strengthened the kingdom of Juda, and established Roboam the son of Solomon for three years: for they walked in the ways of David and of Solomon, only three years. And Roboam took to wife Mahalath, the daughter of Jerimoth the son of David: and Abihail the daughter of Eliab the son of Isai. And they bore him sons Jehus, and Somorias, and Zoom. And after her he married Maacha the daughter of Absalom, who bore him Abia, and Ethai, and Ziza, and Salomith. And Roboam loved Maacha the daughter of Absalom above all his wives and concubines: for he had married eighteen wives, and threescore concubines: and he begot eight and twenty sons, and threescore daughters. But he put at the head of them Abia the son of Maacha to be the chief ruler over all his brethren: for he meant to make him king, because he was wiser and mightier than all his sons, and in all the countries of Juda, and of Benjamin, and in all the walled cities: and he gave them provisions in abundance, and he sought many wives.

12 And when the kingdom of Roboam was strengthened and fortified, he forsook the law of the Lord, and all Israel with him. 2 And in the fifth year of the reign of Roboam, Sesac king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem (because they had sinned against the 3 Lord) With twelve hundred chariots and threescore thousand horsemen: and the people were without number that came with him out of Egypt, to wit, Libyans, and Troglodites, and Ethiopians. 4 And he took the strongest cities in Juda, and came to 5 Jerusalem. And Semeias the prophet came to Roboam, and to the princes of Juda, that were gathered together in Jerusalem, fleeing from Sesac, and he said to them: Thus saith the Lord: 6 You have left me, and I have left you in the hand of Sesac. And the princes of Israel, and the king, being in a consternation, said: 7 The Lord is just. And when the Lord saw that they were humbled, the word of the Lord came to Semeias, saying: Because they are humbled, I will not destroy them, and I will give them a little help, and my wrath shall not fall upon Jerusalem by the 8 hand of Sesac. But yet they shall serve him, that they may know the difference between my service, and the service of a kingdom 9 of the earth. So Sesac king of Egypt departed from Jerusalem, taking away the treasures of the king's house, and he took all 10 with him, and the golden shields that Solomon had made, Instead of which the king made brazen ones, and delivered them to the captains of the shieldbearers, who guarded the entrance 11 of the palace. And when the king entered into the house of the Lord, the shieldbearers came and took them, and brought 12 them back again to their armoury. But yet because they were humbled, the wrath of the Lord turned away from them, and they were not utterly destroyed: for even in Juda there were 13 found good works. King Roboam therefore was strengthened in Jerusalem, and reigned: he was one and forty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the Lord chose out of all the tribes of Israel, to establish his name there: and the name of his mother was Naama an Ammonitess. But he did evil, and did not prepare his heart to seek the Lord. Now the acts of Roboam first and last are written in the books of Semeias the prophet, and of Addo the seer, and diligently recorded: and there was war between Roboam and Jeroboam all their days. And Roboam slept with his fathers, and was buried in the city of David. And Abia his son reigned in his stead.

In the eighteenth year of king Jeroboam, Abia reigned over Juda. Three years he reigned in Jerusalem, and his mother's name was Michaia, the daughter of Uriel of Gabaa: and there was war between Abia and Jeroboam. And when Abia had begun battle, and had with him four hundred thousand most valiant and chosen men, Jeroboam put his army in array against him, eight hundred thousand men, who were also chosen and most valiant for war. And Abia stood upon mount Semeron, which was in Ephraim, and said: Hear me, O Jeroboam, and all Israel: Do you not know that the Lord God of Israel gave to David the kingdom over Israel for ever, to him and to his sons by a covenant of salt? And Jeroboam the son of Nabat, the servant of Solomon the son of David, rose up: and rebelled against his lord. And there were gathered to him vain men, and children of Belial: and they prevailed against Roboam the son of Solomon: for Roboam was unexperienced, and of a fearful heart, and could not resist them. And now you say that you are able to withstand the kingdom of the Lord, which he possesseth by the sons of David, and you have a great multitude of people, and golden calves, which Jeroboam hath made you for gods. And you have cast out the priests of the Lord, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites: and you have made you priests, like all the nations of the earth: whosoever cometh and consecrateth his hand with a bullock of the herd, and with seven rams, is made a priest of those who are no gods. But the Lord is our God, whom we forsake not, and the priests who minister to the Lord are the sons of Aaron, and the Levites are in their order. And they offer holocausts to the Lord, every day, morning and evening, and incense made according to the ordinance of the law, and the loaves are set forth on a most clean table, and there is with us the golden candlestick, and the lamps thereof, to be lighted always in the evening: for we keep the precepts of the Lord our God, 12 whom you have forsaken. Therefore God is the leader in our army, and his priests who sound with trumpets, and resound against you: O children of Israel, fight not against the Lord 13 the God of your fathers, for it is not good for you. While he spoke these things, Jeroboam caused an ambushment to come about behind him. And while he stood facing the enemies, he 14 encompassed Juda, who perceived it not, with his army. And when Juda looked back, they saw the battle coming upon them both before and behind, and they cried to the Lord: and the 15 priests began to sound with the trumpets. And all the men of Juda shouted: and behold when they shouted, God terrified 16 Jeroboam, and all Israel that stood against Abia and Juda. And the children of Israel fled before Juda, and the Lord delivered 17 them into their hand. And Abia and his people slew them with a great slaughter, and there fell wounded of Israel five hundred 18 thousand valiant men. And the children of Israel were brought down, at that time, and the children of Juda were exceedingly strengthened, because they had trusted in the Lord the God 19 of their fathers. And Abia pursued after Jeroboam, and took cities from him, Bethel and her daughters, and Jesana with her 20 daughters, Ephron also and her daughters. And Jeroboam was not able to resist any more, in the days of Abia: and the Lord 21 struck him, and he died. But Abia, being strengthened in his kingdom, took fourteen wives: and begot two and twenty sons, 22 and sixteen daughters. And the rest of the acts of Abia, and of his ways and works, are written diligently in the book of Addo the prophet.

14 And Abia slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David: an Asa his son reigned in his stead: in his days 2 the land was quiet ten years. And Asa did that which was good and pleasing in the sight of his God, and he destroyed the altars 3 of foreign worship, and the high places. And broke the statues, 4 and cut down the groves. And he commanded Juda to seek the Lord the God of their fathers, and to do the law, and all 5 the commandments. And he took away out of all the cities of 6 Juda the altars, and temples, and reigned in peace. He built also strong cities in Juda, for he was quiet, and there had no 7 wars risen in his time, the Lord giving peace. And he said to Juda: Let us build these cities, and compass them with walls, and fortify them with towers, and gates, and bars, while all is quiet from wars, because we have sought the Lord the God of our fathers, and he hath given us peace round about. So they built, and there was no hinderance in building. And Asa had in his 8 army of men that bore shields and spears of Juda three hundred thousand, and of Benjamin that bore shields and drew bows, two hundred and eighty thousand, all these were most valiant men. And Zara the Ethiopian came out against them with his 9 army of ten hundred thousand men, and with three hundred chariots: and he came as far as Maresa. And Asa went out 10 to meet him, and set his army in array for battle in the vale of Sephata, which is near Maresa: And he called upon the Lord 11 God, and said: Lord, there is no difference with thee, whether thou help with few, or with many: help us, O Lord our God: for with confidence in thee, and in thy name we are come against this multitude. O Lord thou art our God, let not man prevail against thee. And the Lord terrified the Ethiopians before Asa 12 and Juda: and the Ethiopians fled. And Asa and the people 13 that were with him pursued them to Gerara: and the Ethiopians fell even to utter destruction, for the Lord slew them, and his army fought against them, and they were destroyed. And they took abundance of spoils, And they took all the cities round 14 about Gerara: for a great fear was come upon all men: and they pillaged the cities, and carried off much booty. And they 15 destroyed the sheepcotes, and took an infinite number of cattle, and of camels: and returned to Jerusalem.

And the spirit of God came upon Azarias the son of Oded, 15 And he went out to meet Asa, and said to him: Hear ye me, 2 Asa, and all Juda and Benjamin: The Lord is with you, because you have been with him. If you seek him, you shall find: but if you forsake him, he will forsake you. And many days shall pass 3 in Israel, without the true God, and without a priest a teacher, and without the law. And when in their distress they shall 4 return to the Lord the God of Israel, and shall seek him, they shall find him. At that time there shall be no peace to him 5 that goeth out and cometh in, but terrors on every side among all the inhabitants of the earth. For nation shall fight against 6 nation, and city against city, for the Lord will trouble them with 7 all distress. Do you therefore take courage, and let not your hands be weakened: for there shall be a reward for your work.

8 And when Asa had heard the words, and the prophecy of Azarias the son of Oded the prophet, he took courage, and took away the idols out of all the land of Juda, and out of Benjamin, and out of the cities of mount Ephraim, which he had taken, and he dedicated the altar of the Lord, which was before the porch of 9 the Lord. And he gathered together all Juda and Benjamin, and the strangers with them of Ephraim, and Manasses, and Simeon: for many were come over to him out of Israel, seeing 10 that the Lord his God was with him. And when they were come to Jerusalem in the third month, in the fifteenth year of 11 the reign of Asa, They sacrificed to the Lord in that day of the spoils, and of the prey, that they had brought, seven hundred 12 oxen, and seven thousand rams. And he went in to confirm as usual the covenant, that they should seek the Lord the God of 13 their fathers with all their heart, and with all their soul. And if any one, said he, seek not the Lord the God of Israel, let him 14 die, whether little or great, man or woman. And they swore to the Lord with a loud voice with joyful shouting, and with 15 sound of trumpet, and sound of cornets, All that were in Juda with a curse: for with all their heart they swore, and with all their will they sought him, and they found him, and the Lord 16 gave them rest round about. Moreover Maacha the mother of king Asa he deposed from the royal authority, because she had made in a grove an idol of Priapus: and he entirely destroyed it, and breaking it into pieces, burnt it at the torrent Cedron.
17 But high places were left in Israel: nevertheless the heart of Asa 18 was perfect all his days. And the things which his father had vowed, and he himself had vowed, he brought into the house of 19 the Lord, gold and silver, and vessels of divers uses. And there was no war unto the five and thirtieth year of the kingdom of Asa.

16 And in the six and thirtieth year of his kingdom, Baasa the king of Israel came up against Juda, and built a wall about Rama, that no one might safely go out or come in of the kingdom of Asa. Then Asa brought out silver and gold out of the treasures of the house of the Lord, and of the king's treasures, and sent to Benadad king of Syria, who dwelt in Damascus, saying: There is a league between me and thee, as there was 3 between my father and thy father, wherefore I have sent thee silver and gold, that thou mayst break thy league with Baasa king of Israel, and make him depart from me. And when Benadad 4 heard this, he sent the captains of his armies against the cities of Israel: and they took Ahion, and Dan, and Abelmaim, and all the walled cities of Nephtali. And when Baasa heard of it, he 5 left off the building of Rama, and interrupted his work. Then 6 king Asa took all Juda, and they carried away from Rama the stones, and the timber that Baasa had prepared for the building: and he built with them Gabaa, and Maspha. At that time 7 Hanani the prophet came to Asa king of Juda, and said to him: Because thou hast had confidence in the king of Syria, and not in the Lord thy God, therefore hath the army of the king of Syria escaped out of thy hand. Were not the Ethiopians, and the 8 Libyans much more numerous in chariots, and horsemen, and an exceeding great multitude: yet because thou trustedst in the Lord, he delivered them into thy hand? For the eyes of the 9 Lord behold all the earth, and give strength to those who with a perfect heart trust in him. Wherefore thou hast done foolishly, and for this cause from this time wars shall arise against thee.

And Asa was angry with the seer, and commanded him to be 10 put in prison: for he was greatly enraged because of this thing: and he put to death many of the people at that time. But the 11 works of Asa the first and last are written in the book of the kings of Juda and Israel. And Asa fell sick in the nine and thir- 12 tieth year of his reign, of a most violent pain in his feet, and yet in his illness he did not seek the Lord, but rather trusted in the skill of physicians. And he slept with his fathers: and he died 13 in the one and fortieth year of his reign. And they buried him 14 in his own sepulchre, which he had made for himself in the city of David: and they laid him on his bed full of spices and odoriferous ointments, which were made by the art of the perfumers, and they burnt them over him with very great pomp.

And Josaphat his son reigned in his stead, and grew strong 17 against Israel. And he placed numbers of soldiers in all the 2 fortified cities of Juda. And he put garrisons in the land of Juda, and in the cities of Ephraim, which Asa his father had taken.
And the Lord was with Josaphat, because he walked in the first 3 4 ways of David his father: and trusted not in Baalim, But in the God of his father, and walked in his commandments, and not 5 according to the sins of Israel. And the Lord established the kingdom in his hand, and all Juda brought presents to Josaphat: 6 and he acquired immense riches, and much glory. And when his heart had taken courage for the ways of the Lord, he took away 7 also the high places and the groves out of Juda. And in the third year of his reign, he sent of his princes Benhail, and Abdias, and Zacharias, and Nathanael, and Micheas, to teach in the cites 8 of Juda: And with them the Levites, Semeias, and Nathanias, and Zabadias, and Asael, and Semiramoth, and Jonathan, and Adonias, and Tobias, and Thobadonias Levites, and with them 9 Elisama, and Joram priests. And they taught the people in Juda, having with them the book of the law of the Lord: and they went about all the cities of Juda, and instructed the people.

10 And the fear of the Lord came upon all the kingdoms of the lands that were round about Juda, and they durst not make 11 war against Josaphat. The Philistines also brought presents to Josaphat, and tribute in silver, and the Arabians brought him cattle, seven thousand seven hundred rams, and as many he 12 goats. And Josaphat grew, and became exceeding great: and he built in Juda houses like towers, and walled cities. And he prepared many works in the cities of Juda: and he had warriors, 14 and valiant men in Jerusalem. Of whom this is the number of the houses and families of every one: in Juda captains of the army, Ednas the chief, and with him three hundred thousand 15 most valiant men. After him Johanan the captain, and with him two hundred and eighty thousand. And after him was Amasias the son of Zechri, consecrated to the Lord, and with 17 him were two hundred thousand valiant men. After him was Eliada valiant in battle, and with him two hundred thousand 18 armed with bow and shield. After him also was Jozabad, and 19 with him a hundred and eighty thousand ready for war. All these were at the hand of the king, beside others, whom he had put in the walled cities, in all Juda.

18 Now Josaphat was rich and very glorious, and was joined by 2 affinity to Achab. And he went down to him after some years to Samaria: and Achab at his coming killed sheep and oxen in abundance for him and the people that came with him: and he persuaded him to go up to Ramoth Galaad. And Achab 3 king of Israel said to Josaphat king of Juda: Come with me to Ramoth Galaad. And he answered him: Thou art as I am, and my people as thy people, and we will be with thee in the war. And Josaphat said to the king of Israel: Inquire, I beseech 4 thee, at present the word of the Lord. So the king of Israel 5 gathered together of the prophets four hundred men, and he said to them: Shall we go to Ramoth Galaad to fight, or shall we forbear? But they said: Go up, and God will deliver into the king's hand. And Josaphat said: Is there not here a prophet 6 of the Lord, that we may inquire also of him? And the king of 7 Israel said to Josaphat: There is one man, of whom we may ask the will of the Lord: but I hate him, for he never prophesieth good to me, but always evil: and it is Micheas the son of Jemla.

And Josaphat said: Speak not thus, O king. And the king of 8 Israel called one of the eunuchs, and said to him: Call quickly Micheas the son of Jemla. Now the king of Israel, and Josaphat 9 king of Juda, both sat on their thrones, clothed in royal robes, and they sat in the open court by the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets prophesied before them. And Sedecias the son 10 of Chanaana made him horns of iron, and said: Thus saith the Lord: With these shalt thou push Syria, till thou destroy it.
And all the prophets prophesied in like manner, and said: Go 11 up to Ramoth Galaad, and thou shalt prosper, and the Lord will deliver them into the king's hand. And the messenger that 12 went to call Micheas, said to him: Behold the words of all the prophets with one mouth declare good to the king: I beseech thee therefore let not thy word disagree with them, and speak thou also good success. And Micheas answered him: As the Lord 13 liveth, whatsoever my God shall say to me, that will I speak.
So he came to the king: and the king said to him: Micheas, shall 14 we go to Ramoth Galaad to fight, or forbear? And he answered him: Go up, for all shall succeed prosperously, and the enemies shall be delivered into your hands. And the king said: I adjure 15 thee again and again to say nothing but the truth to me, in the name of the Lord. Then he said: I saw all Israel scattered in 16 the mountains, like sheep without a shepherd: and the Lord said: These have no masters: let every man return to his own house in peace. And the king of Israel said to Josaphat: Did I not tell 17 thee that this man would not prophesy me any good, but evil?

18 Then he said: Hear ye therefore the word of the Lord: I saw the Lord sitting on his throne, and all the army of heaven standing 19 by him on the right hand and on the left, And the Lord said: Who shall deceive Achab king of Israel, that he may go up and fall in Ramoth Galaad? And when one spoke in this manner, and 20 another otherwise: There came forth a spirit, and stood before the Lord, and said: I will deceive him. And the Lord said to him: 21 By what means wilt thou deceive him? And he answered: I will go out, and be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.
And the Lord said: Thou shalt deceive, and shalt prevail: go out, 22 and do so. Now therefore behold the Lord hath put a spirit of lying in the mouth of all thy prophets, and the Lord hath spoken 23 evil against thee. And Sedecias the son of Chanaana came, and struck Micheas on the cheek and said: Which way went the spirit 24 of the Lord from me, to speak to thee? And Micheas said: Thou thyself shalt see in that day, when thou shalt go in from chamber 25 to chamber, to hide thyself. And the king of Israel commanded, saying: Take Micheas, and carry him to Amon the governor of 26 the city, and to Joas the son of Amelech, And say: Thus saith the king: Put this fellow in prison, and give him bread and water 27 in a small quantity till I return in peace. And Micheas said: If thou return in peace, the Lord hath not spoken by me. And he 28 said: Hear, all ye people. So the king of Israel and Josaphat 29 king of Juda went up to Ramoth Galaad. And the king of Israel said to Josaphat: I will change my dress, and so I will go to the battle, but put thou on thy own garments. And the king of Israel 30 having changed his dress, went to the battle. Now the king of Syria had commanded the captains of his cavalry, saying: Fight 31 ye not with small, or great, but with the king of Israel only. So when the captains of the cavalry saw Josaphat, they said: This is the king of Israel. And they surrounded him to attack him: but he cried to the Lord, and he helped him, and turned them 32 away from him. For when the captains of the cavalry saw, that 33 he was not the king of Israel, they left him. And it happened that one of the people shot an arrow at a venture, and struck the king of Israel between the neck and the shoulders, and he said to his chariot man: Turn thy hand, and carry me out of the battle, 34 for I am wounded. And the fight was ended that day: but the king of Israel stood in his chariot against the Syrians until the evening, and died at the sunset.

And Josaphat king of Juda returned to his house in peace 19 to Jerusalem. And Jehu the son of Hanani the seer met him, 2 and said to him: Thou helpst the ungodly, and thou art joined in friendship with them that hate the Lord, and therefore thou didst deserve indeed the wrath of the Lord: But good works 3 are found in thee, because thou hast taken away the groves out of the land of Juda, and hast prepared thy heart to seek the Lord the God of thy fathers. And Josaphat dwelt at Jerusalem: 4 and he went out again to the people from Bersabee to mount Ephraim, and brought them back to the Lord the God of their fathers. And he set judges of the land in all the fenced cities of 5 Juda, in every place. And charging the judges, he said: Take 6 heed what you do: for you exercise not the judgment of man, but of the Lord: and whatsoever you judge, it shall redound to you. Let the fear of the Lord be with you, and do all things 7 with diligence: for there is no iniquity with the Lord our God, nor respect of persons, nor desire of gifts. In Jerusalem also 8 Josaphat appointed Levites, and priests and chiefs of the families of Israel, to judge the judgment and the cause of the Lord for the inhabitants thereof. And he charged them, saying, Thus shall 9 you do in the fear of the Lord faithfully, and with a perfect heart.
Every cause that shall come to you of your brethren, that dwell 10 in their cities, between kindred and kindred, wheresoever there is question concerning the law, the commandment, the ceremonies, the justifications: shew it them, that they may not sin against the Lord, and that wrath may not come upon you and your brethren: and so doing you shall not sin. And Amarias the 11 priest your high priest shall be chief in the things which regard God: and Zabadias the son of Ismahel, who is ruler in the house of Juda, shall be over those matters which belong to the king's office: and you have before you the Levites for masters, take courage and do diligently, and the Lord will be with you in good things.

After this the children of Moab, and the children of Ammon, 20 and with them of the Ammonites, were gathered together to fight against Josaphat. And there came messengers, and told 2 Josaphat, saying: There cometh a great multitude against thee from beyond the sea, and out of Syria, and behold they are in 3 Asasonthamar, which is Engaddi. And Josaphat being seized with fear betook himself wholly to pray to the Lord, and he 4 proclaimed a fast for all Juda. And Juda gathered themselves together to pray to the Lord: and all came out of their cities to 5 make supplication to him. And Josaphat stood in the midst of the assembly of Juda, and Jerusalem, in the house of the Lord 6 before the new court, And said: O Lord God of our fathers, thou art God in heaven, and rulest over all the kingdoms and nations, in thy hand is strength and power, and no one can 7 resist thee. Didst not thou our God kill all the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, and gavest it to the seed of 8 Abraham thy friend for ever? And they dwelt in it, and built 9 in it a sanctuary to thy name, saying: If evils fall upon us, the sword of judgment, or pestilence, or famine, we will stand in thy presence before this house, in which thy name is called upon: and we will cry to thee in our afflictions, and thou wilt hear, and save 10 us. Now therefore behold the children of Ammon, and of Moab, and mount Seir, through whose lands thou didst not allow Israel to pass, when they came out of Egypt, but they turned aside 11 from them, and slew them not, Do the contrary, and endeavour to cast us out of the possession which thou hast delivered to us.

12 O our God, wilt thou not then judge them? as for us we have not strength enough, to be able to resist this multitude, which cometh violently upon us. But as we know not what to do, we 13 can only turn our eyes to thee. And all Juda stood before the Lord with their little ones, and their wives, and their children.
14 And Jahaziel the son of Zacharias, the son of Banaias, the son of Jehiel, the son of Mathanias, a Levite of the sons of Asaph, was there, upon whom the spirit of the Lord came in the midst of the 15 multitude, And he said: Attend ye, all Juda, and you that dwell in Jerusalem, and thou king Josaphat: Thus saith the Lord to you: Fear ye not, and be not dismayed at this multitude: for the 16 battle is not yours, but God's. To morrow you shall go down against them: for they will come up by the ascent named Sis, and you shall find them at the head of the torrent, which is over 17 against the wilderness of Jeruel. It shall not be you that shall fight, but only stand with confidence, and you shall see the help of the Lord over you, O Juda, and Jerusalem: fear ye not, nor be you dismayed: to morrow you shall go out against them, and the Lord will be with you. Then Josaphat, and Juda, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell flat on the ground before the Lord, and adored him. And the Levites of the sons of Caath, and of the sons of Core praised the Lord the God of Israel with a loud voice, on high. And they rose early in the morning, and went out through the desert of Thecua: and as they were marching, Josaphat standing in the midst of them, said: Hear me, ye men of Juda, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem: believe in the Lord your God, and you shall be secure: believe his prophets, and all things shall succeed well. And he gave counsel to the people, and appointed the singing men of the Lord, to praise him by their companies, and to go before the army, and with one voice to say: Give glory to the Lord, for his mercy endureth for ever. And when they began to sing praises, the Lord turned their ambushments upon themselves, that is to say, of the children of Ammon, and of Moab, and of mount Seir, who were come out to fight against Juda, and they were slain. For the children of Ammon, and of Moab, rose up against the inhabitants of mount Seir, to kill and destroy them: and when they had made an end of them, they turned also against one another, and destroyed one another. And when Juda came to the watch tower, that looketh toward the desert, they saw afar off all the country, for a great space, full of dead bodies, and that no one was left that could escape death. Then Josaphat came, and all the people with him to take away the spoils of the dead, and they found among the dead bodies, stuff of various kinds, and garments, and most precious vessels: and they took them for themselves, insomuch that they could not carry all, nor in three days take away the spoils, the booty was so great. And on the fourth day they were assembled in the valley of Blessing: for there they blessed the Lord, and therefore they called that place the valley of Blessing until this day. And every man of Juda, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem returned, and Josaphat at their head, into Jerusalem with great joy, because the Lord had made them rejoice over their enemies. And they came into Jerusalem with psalteries, and harps, and trumpets into the house of the Lord. And the fear of the Lord fell upon all the kingdoms of the lands when they heard that the Lord had fought against the enemies of 30 Israel. And the kingdom of Josaphat was quiet, and God gave 31 him peace round about. And Josaphat reigned over Juda, and he was five and thirty years old, when he began to reign: and he reigned five and twenty years in Jerusalem: and the name of his 32 mother was Azuba the daughter of Selahi. And he walked in the way of his father Asa and departed not from it, doing the things 33 that were pleasing before the Lord. But yet he took not away the high places, and the people had not yet turned their heart 34 to the Lord the God of their fathers. But the rest of the acts of Josaphat, first and last, are written in the words of Jehu the son of Hanani, which he digested into the books of the kings of Israel.

35 After these things Josaphat king of Juda made friendship with 36 Ochozias king of Israel, whose works were very wicked. And he was partner with him in making ships, to go to Tharsis: and they 37 made the ships in Asiongaber. And Eliezer the son of Dodau of Maresa prophesied to Josaphat, saying: Because thou hast made a league with Ochozias, the Lord hath destroyed thy works, and the ships are broken, and they could not go to Tharsis.

21 And Josaphat slept with his fathers, and was buried with them in the city of David: and Joram his son reigned in his 2 stead. And he had brethren the sons of Josaphat, Azarias, and Jahiel, and Zacharias, and Azaria, and Michael, and Saphatias, 3 all these were the sons of Josaphat king of Juda. And their father gave them great gifts of silver, and of gold, and pensions, with strong cities in Juda: but the kingdom he gave to Joram, 4 because he was the eldest. So Joram rose up over the kingdom of his father: and when he had established himself, he slew all his brethren with the sword, and some of the princes of Israel.
5 Joram was two and thirty years old when he began to reign: 6 and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. And he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel, as the house of Achab had done: for his wife was a daughter of Achab, and he did evil in the 7 sight of the Lord. But the Lord would not destroy the house of David: because of the covenant which he had made with him: and because he had promised to give a lamp to him, and to 8 his sons for ever. In those days Edom revolted, from being 9 subject to Juda, and made themselves a king. And Joram went over with his princes, and all his cavalry with him, and rose in the night, and defeated the Edomites who had surrounded him, and all the captains of his cavalry. However Edom revolted, 10 from being under the dominion of Juda unto this day: at that time Lobna also revolted, from being under his hand. For he had forsaken the Lord the God of his fathers. Moreover he built also 11 high places in the cities of Juda, and he made the inhabitants of Jerusalem to commit fornication, and Juda to transgress. And 12 there was a letter brought him from Eliseus the prophet, in which it was written: Thus saith the Lord the God of David thy father: Because thou hast not walked in the ways of Josaphat thy father nor in the ways of Asa king of Juda, But hast walked in the ways 13 of the kings of Israel, and hast made Juda and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to commit fornication, imitating the fornication of the house of Achab, moreover also thou hast killed thy brethren, the house of thy father, better men than thyself, Behold the 14 Lord will strike thee with a great plague, with all thy people, and thy children, and thy wives, and all thy substance. And 15 thou shalt be sick of a very grievous disease of thy bowels, till thy vital parts come out by little and little every day. And the 16 Lord stirred up against Joram the spirit of the Philistines, and of the Arabians, who border on the Ethiopians. And they came 17 up into the land of Juda, and wasted it, and they carried away all the substance that was found in the king's house, his sons also, and his wives: so that there was no son left him but Joachaz, who was the youngest. And besides all this the Lord struck 18 him with an incurable disease in his bowels. And as day came 19 after day, and time rolled on, two whole years passed: then after being wasted with a long consumption, so as to void his very bowels, his disease ended with his life. And he died of a most wretched illness, and the people did not make a funeral for him according to the manner of burning, as they had done for his ancestors. He was two and thirty years old when he began his 20 reign, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem. And he walked not rightly, and they buried him in the city of David: but not in the sepulchres of the kings.

And the inhabitants of Jerusalem made Ochozias his youngest 22 son king in his place: for the rovers of the Arabians, who had broke in upon the camp, had killed all that were his elder brothers.
So Ochozias the son of Joram king of Juda reigned. Ochozias 2 was forty-two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem, and the name of his mother was Athalia 3 the daughter of Amri. He also walked in the ways of the house 4 of Achab: for his mother pushed him on to do wickedly. So he did evil in the sight of the Lord, as the house of Achab did: for they were his counsellors after the death of his father, to his 5 destruction. And he walked after their counsels. And he went with Joram the son of Achab king of Israel, to fight against Hazael king of Syria, at Ramoth Galaad: and the Syrians wounded 6 Joram. And he returned to be healed in Jezrahel: for he received many wounds in the foresaid battle. And Ochozias the son of Joram king of Juda, went down to visit Joram the son 7 of Achab in Jezrahel where he lay sick. For it was the will of God against Ochozias that he should come to Joram: and when he was come should go out also against Jehu the son of Namsi, whom the Lord had anointed to destroy the house of Achab.

8 So when Jehu was rooting out the house of Achab, he found the princes of Juda, and the sons of the brethren of Ochozias, who 9 served him, and he slew them. And he sought for Ochozias himself, and took him lying hid in Samaria: and when he was brought to him, he killed him, and they buried him: because he was the son of Josaphat, who had sought the Lord with all his heart. And there was no more hope that any one should reign 10 of the race of Ochozias. For Athalia his mother, seeing that her son was dead, rose up, and killed all the royal family of the house 11 of Joram. But Josabeth the king's daughter took Joas the son of Ochozias, and stole him from among the king's sons that were slain. And she hid him with his nurse in a bedchamber: now Jos-abeth that hid him, was daughter of king Joram, wife of Joiada the high priest, and sister of Ochozias, and therefore Athalia did 12 not kill him. And he was with them hid in the house of God six years, during which Athalia reigned over the land.

23 And in the seventh year Joiada being encouraged, took the captains of hundreds, to wit, Azarias the son of Jeroham, and Ismahel the son of Johanan, and Azarias the son of Obed, and Maasias the son of Adaias, and Elisaphat the son of Zechri: and 2 made a covenant with them. And they went about Juda, and gathered together the Levites out of all the cities of Juda, and the chiefs of the families of Israel, and they came to Jerusalem.
3 And all the multitude made a covenant with the king in the house of God: and Joiada said to them: Behold the king's son shall reign, as the Lord hath said of the sons of David. And this is the thing that you shall do: A third part of you that come to the sabbath, of the priests, and of the Levites, and of the porters shall be at the gates: and a third part at the king's house: and a third at the gate that is called the Foundation: but let all the rest of the people be in the courts of the house of the Lord. And let no one come into the house of the Lord, but the priests, and they that minister of the Levites: let them only come in, because they are sanctified: and let all the rest of the people keep the watches of the Lord. And let the Levites be round about the king, every man with his arms; and if any other come into the temple, let him be slain; and let them be with the king, both coming in, and going out. So the Levites, and all Juda did according to all that Joiada the high priest had commanded: and they took every one his men that were under him, and that came in by the course of the sabbath, with those who had fulfilled the sabbath, and were to go out. For Joiada the high priest permitted not the companies to depart, which were accustomed to succeed one another every week. And Joiada the priest gave to the captains the spears, and the shields, and targets of king David, which he had dedicated in the house of the Lord. And he set all the people with swords in their hands from the right side of the temple, to the left side of the temple, before the altar, and the temple, round about the king. And they brought out the king's son, and put the crown upon him, and the testimony, and gave him the law to hold in his hand, and they made him king: and Joiada the high priest and his sons anointed him: and they prayed for him, and said: God save the king. Now when Athalia heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, she came in to the people, into the temple of the Lord. And when she saw the king standing upon the step in the entrance, and the princes, and the companies about him, and all the people of the land rejoicing, and sounding with trumpets, and playing on instruments of divers kinds, and the voice of those that praised, she rent her garments, and said: Treason, treason. And Joiada the high priest going out to the captains, and the chiefs of the army, said to them: Take her forth without the precinct of the temple, and when she is without let her be killed with the sword. For the priest commanded that 15 she should not be killed in the house of the Lord. And they laid hold on her by the neck: and when she was come within 16 the horse gate of the palace, they killed her there. And Joiada made a covenant between himself and all the people, and the 17 king, that they should be the people of the lord. And all the people went into the house of Baal, and destroyed it: and they broke down his altars and his idols: and they slew Mathan the 18 priest of Baal before the altars. And Joiada appointed overseers in the house of the Lord, under the hands of the priests, and the Levites, whom David had distributed in the house of the Lord: to offer holocausts to the Lord, as it is written in the law of Moses, 19 with joy and singing, according to the disposition of David. He appointed also porters in the gates of the house of the Lord, 20 that none who was unclean in any thing should enter in. And he took the captains of hundreds, and the most valiant men, and the chiefs of the people, and all the people of the land, and they brought down the king from the house of the Lord, and brought him through the upper gate into the king's house, and set him 21 on the royal throne. And all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was quiet: but Athalia was slain with the sword.

24 Joas was seven years old when he began to reign: and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was 2 Sebia of Bersabee. And he did that which is good before the 3 Lord all the days of Joiada the priest. And Joiada took for 4 him two wives, by whom he had sons and daughters. After 5 this Joas had a mind to repair the house of the Lord. And he assembled the priests, and the Levites, and said to them: Go out to the cities of Juda, and gather of all Israel money to repair the temple of your God, from year to year: and do this with speed: 6 but the Levites were negligent. And the king called Joiada the chief, and said to him: Why hast thou not taken care to oblige the Levites to bring in out of Juda and Jerusalem the money that was appointed by Moses the servant of the Lord for all the multitude of Israel to bring into the tabernacle of the testimony?
7 For that wicked woman Athalia, and her children have destroyed the house of God, and adorned the temple of Baal with all the 8 things that had been dedicated in the temple of the Lord. And the king commanded, and they made a chest: and set it by the gate of the house of the Lord on the outside. And they made 9 a proclamation in Juda and Jerusalem, that every man should bring to the Lord the money which Moses the servant of God appointed for all Israel, in the desert. And all the princes, and 10 all the people rejoiced: and going in they contributed and cast so much into the chest of the Lord, that it was filled. And when 11 it was time to bring the chest before the king by the hands of the Levites, (for they saw there was much money,) the king's scribe, and he whom the high priest had appointed went in: and they poured out the money that was in the chest: and they carried back the chest to its place: and thus they did from day to day, and there was gathered an immense sum of money. And 12 the king and Joiada gave it to those who were over the works of the house of the Lord: but they hired with it stonecutters, and artificers of every kind of work to repair the house of the Lord: and such as wrought in iron and brass, to uphold what began to be falling. And the workmen were diligent, and the 13 breach of the walls was closed up by their hands, and they set up the house of the Lord in its former state, and made it stand firm. And when they had finished all the works, they brought 14 the rest of the money before the king and Joiada: and with it were made vessels for the temple for the ministry, and for holocausts and bowls, and other vessels of gold and silver: and holocausts were offered in the house of the Lord continually all the days of Joiada. But Joiada grew old and was full of days, 15 and died when he was a hundred and thirty years old. And 16 they buried him in the city of David among the kings, because he had done good to Israel, and to his house. And after the 17 death of Joiada, the princes of Juda went in, and worshipped the king: and he was soothed by their services and hearkened to them. And they forsook the temple of the Lord the God of 18 their fathers, and served groves and idols, and wrath came upon Juda and Jerusalem for this sin. And he sent prophets to them 19 to bring them back to the Lord, and they would not give ear when they testified against them. The spirit of God then came 20 upon Zacharias the son of Joiada the priest, and he stood in the sight of the people, and said to them: Thus saith the Lord God: Why transgress you the commandment of the Lord which will not be for your good, and have forsaken the Lord, to make him

21 forsake you? And they gathered themselves together against him, and stoned him at the king's commandment in the court 22 of the house of the Lord. And king Joas did not remember the kindness that Joiada his father had done to him, but killed his son. And when he died, he said: The Lord see, and require 23 it. And when a year was come about, the army of Syria came up against him: and they came to Juda and Jerusalem, and killed all the princes of the people, and they sent all the spoils 24 to the king of Damascus. And whereas there came a very small number of the Syrians, the Lord delivered into their hands an infinite multitude, because they had forsaken the Lord the God of their fathers: and on Joas they executed shameful judgments.
25 And departing they left him in great diseases: and his servants rose up against him, for revenge of the blood of the son of Joiada the priest, and they slew him in his bed, and he died: and they buried him in the city of David, but not in the sepulchres of the 26 kings. Now the men that conspired against him were Zabad the son of Semmaath an Ammonitess, and Jozabad the son of 27 Semarith a Moabitess. And concerning his sons, and the sum of money which was gathered under him, and the repairing the house of God, they are written more diligently in the book of kings: and Amasias his son reigned in his stead.

25 Amasias was five and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned nine and twenty years in Jerusalem, the name of 2 his mother was Joadan of Jerusalem. And he did what was good in the sight of the Lord: but yet not with a perfect heart.
3 And when he saw himself strengthened in his kingdom, he put 4 to death the servants that had slain the king his father. But he slew not their children, as it is written in the book of the law of Moses, where the Lord commanded, saying: The fathers shall not be slain for the children, nor the children for their fathers, 5 but every man shall die for his own sin. Amasias therefore gathered Juda together, and appointed them by families, and captains of thousands and of hundreds in all Juda, and Benjamin: and he numbered them from twenty years old and upwards, and found three hundred thousand young men that could go out to 6 battle, and could hold the spear and shield. He hired also of Israel a hundred thousand valiant men, for a hundred talents 7 of silver. But a man of God came to him, and said: O king, let not the army of Israel go out with thee, for the Lord is not with Israel, and all the children of Ephraim: And if thou think 8 that battles consist in the strength of the army, God will make thee to be overcome by the enemies: for it belongeth to God both to help, and to put to flight. And Amasias said to the 9 man of God: What will then become of the hundred talents which I have given to the soldiers of Israel? and the man of God answered him: The Lord is rich enough to be able to give thee much more than this. Then Amasias separated the army, 10 that came to him out of Ephraim, to go home again: but they being much enraged against Juda, returned to their own country. And Amasias taking courage led forth his people, and went to 11 the vale of saltpits, and slew of the children of Seir ten thousand. And other ten thousand men the sons of Juda took, and brought 12 to the steep of a certain rock, and cast them down headlong from the top, and they all were broken to pieces. But that 13 army which Amasias had sent back, that they should not go with him to battle, spread themselves among the cities of Juda, from Samaria to Beth-horon, and having killed three thousand took away much spoil. But Amasias after he had slain the Edomites, 14 set up the gods of the children of Seir, which he had brought thence, to be his gods, and adored them, and burnt incense to them. Wherefore the Lord being angry against Amasias, sent a 15 prophet to him, to say to him: Why hast thou adored gods that have not delivered their own people out of thy hand? And when 16 he spoke these things, he answered him: Art thou the king's counsellor? be quiet, lest I kill thee. And the prophet departing, said: I know that God is minded to kill thee, because thou hast done this evil, and moreover hast not hearkened to my counsel. Then Amasias king of Juda taking very bad counsel, sent to Joas 17 the son of Joachaz the son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying: Come, let us see one another. But he sent back the messengers, saying: 18 The thistle that is in Libanus, sent to the cedar in Libanus, saying: Give thy daughter to my son to wife: and behold the beasts that were in the wood of Libanus passed by and trod down the thistle. Thou hast said: I have overthrown Edom, 19 and therefore thy heart is lifted up with pride: stay at home, why dost thou provoke evil against thee, that both thou shouldst fall and Juda with thee. Amasias would not hearken to him, 20 because it was the Lord's will that he should be delivered into the 11 hands of enemies, because of the gods of Edom. So Joas king of Israel went up, and they presented themselves to be seen by one another: and Amasias king of Juda was in Bethsames of Juda: 22, 23 And Juda fell before Israel, and they fled to their dwellings. And Joas king of Israel took Amasias king of Juda, the son of Joas, the son of Joachaz, in Bethsames, and brought him to Jerusalem: and broke down the walls thereof from the gate of Ephraim, to 24 the gate of the corner, four hundred cubits. And he took all the gold, and silver, and all the vessels, that he found in the house of God, and with Obededom, and in the treasures of the king's house, moreover also the sons of the hostages, he brought back 25 to Samaria. And Amasias the son of Joas king of Juda lived, after the death of Joas the son of Joachaz king of Israel, fifteen 26 years. Now the rest of the acts of Amasias, the first and last, 27 are written in the book of the kings of Juda and Israel. And after he revolted from the Lord, they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem. And he fled into Lachis, and they sent, and 28 killed him there. And they brought him back upon horses, and buried him with his fathers in the city of David.

26 And all the people of Juda took his son Ozias, who was sixteen years old, and made him king in the room of Amasias his 2 father. He built Ailath, and restored it to the dominion of 3 Juda, after that the king slept with his fathers. Ozias was sixteen years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two and fifty years in Jerusalem: the name of his mother was Jechelia of 4 Jerusalem. And he did that which was right in the eyes of the 5 Lord, according to all that Amasias his father had done. And he sought the Lord in the days of Zacharias that understood and saw God: and as long as he sought the Lord, he directed him 6 in all things. Moreover he went forth and fought against the Philistines, and broke down the wall of Geth, and the wall of Jabnia, and the wall of Azotus: and he built towns in Azotus, 7 and among the Philistines. And God helped him against the Philistines, and against the Arabians, that dwelt in Gurbaal, 8 and against the Ammonites. And the Ammonites gave gifts to Ozias: and his name was spread abroad even to the entrance 9 of Egypt for his frequent victories. And Ozias built towers in Jerusalem over the gate of the corner, and over the gate of the valley, and the rest, in the same side of the wall, and fortified them. And he built towers in the wilderness, and dug many cisterns, for he had much cattle both in the plains, and in the waste of the desert: he had also vineyards and dressers of vines in the mountains, and in Carmel: for he was a man that loved husbandry. And the army of his fighting men, that went out to war, was under the hand of Jehiel the scribe, and Maasias the doctor, and under the hand of Henanias, who was one of the king's captains. And the whole number of the chiefs by the families of valiant men were two thousand six hundred. And the whole army under them three hundred and seven thousand five hundred: who were fit for war, and fought for the king against the enemy. And Ozias prepared for them, that is, for the whole army, shields, and spears, and helmets, and coats of mail, and bows, and slings to cast stones. And he made in Jerusalem engines of diverse kinds, which he placed in the towers, and in the corners of the walls, to shoot arrows, and great stones: and his name went forth far abroad, for the Lord helped him, and had strengthened him. But when he was made strong, his heart was lifted up to his destruction, and he neglected the Lord his God: and going into the temple of the Lord, he had a mind to burn incense upon the altar of incense. And immediately Azarias the priest going in after him, and with him fourscore priests of the Lord, most valiant men, Withstood the king and said: It doth not belong to thee, Ozias, to burn incense to the Lord, but to the priests, that is, to the sons of Aaron, who are consecrated for this ministry: go out of the sanctuary, do not despise: for this thing shall not be accounted to thy glory by the Lord God. And Ozias was angry, and holding in his hand the censer to burn incense, threatened the priests. And presently there rose a leprosy in his forehead before the priests, in the house of the Lord at the altar of incense. And Azarias the high priest, and all the rest of the priests looked upon him, and saw the leprosy in his forehead, and they made haste to thrust him out. Yea himself also being frightened, hastened to go out, because he had quickly felt the stroke of the Lord. And Ozias the king was a leper unto the day of his death, and he dwelt in a house apart being full of the leprosy, for which he had been cast out of the house of the Lord. And Joatham his son governed the king's house, 22 and judged the people of the land. But the rest of the acts of Ozias first and last were written by Isaias the son of Amos, the 23 prophet. And Ozias slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the field of the royal sepulchres, because he was a leper: and Joatham his son reigned in his stead.

27 Joatham was five and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem: the name of 2 his mother was Jerusa the daughter of Sadoc. And he did that which was right before the Lord, according to all that Ozias his father had done, only that he entered not into the temple of 3 the Lord, and the people still transgressed. He built the high gate of the house of the Lord, and on the wall of Ophel he built 4 much. Moreover he built cities in the mountains of Juda, and 5 castles and towers in the forests. He fought against the king of the children of Ammon, and overcame them, and the children of Ammon gave him at that time a hundred talents of silver, and ten thousand measures of wheat, and as many measures of barley: so much did the children of Ammon give him in the second and 6 third year. And Joatham was strengthened, because he had his 7 way directed before the Lord his God. Now the rest of the acts of Joatham, and all his wars, and his works, are written in the 8 book of the kings of Israel and Juda. He was five and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years 9 in Jerusalem. And Joatham slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David: and Achaz his son reigned in his stead.

28 Achaz was twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem: he did not that which was 2 right in the sight of the Lord as David his father had done, But walked in the ways of the kings of Israel; moreover also he cast 3 statues for Baalim. It was he that burnt incense in the valley of Benennom, and consecrated his sons in the fire according to the manner of the nations, which the Lord slew at the coming 4 of the children of Israel. He sacrificed also, and burnt incense in the high places, and on the hills, and under every green tree.
5 And the Lord his God delivered him into the hands of the king of Syria, who defeated him, and took a great booty out of his kingdom, and carried it to Damascus: he was also delivered into the hands of the king of Israel, who overthrew him with a great slaughter. For Phacee the son of Romelia slew of Juda a hundred and twenty thousand in one day, all valiant men, because they had forsaken the Lord the God of their fathers. At the same time Zechri a powerful man of Ephraim, slew Maasias the king's son, and Ezricam the governor of his house, and Elcana who was next to the king. And the children of Israel carried away of their brethren two hundred thousand women, boys, and girls, and an immense booty: and they brought it to Samaria. At that time there was a prophet of the Lord there, whose name was Oded: and he went out to meet the army that came to Samaria, and said to them: Behold the Lord the God of your fathers being angry with Juda, hath delivered them into your hands, and you have butchered them cruelly, so that your cruelty hath reached up to heaven. Moreover you have a mind to keep under the children of Juda and Jerusalem for your bondmen and bondwomen, which ought not to be done: for you have sinned in this against the Lord your God. But hear ye my counsel, and release the captives that you have brought of your brethren, because a great indignation of the Lord hangeth over you. Then some of the chief men of the sons of Ephraim, Azarias the son of Johanan, Barachias the son of Mosollamoth, Ezechias the son of Sellum, and Amasa the son of Adali, stood up against them that came from the war. And they said to them: You shall not bring in the captives hither, lest we sin against the Lord. Why will you add to our sins, and heap up upon our former offences? for the sin is great, and the fierce anger of the Lord hangeth over Israel. So the soldiers left the spoils, and all that they had taken, before the princes and all the multitude. And the men, whom we mentioned above, rose up and took the captives, and with the spoils clothed all them that were naked: and when they had clothed and shod them, and refreshed them with meat and drink, and anointed them because of their labour, and had taken care of them, they set such of them as could not walk, and were feeble, upon beasts, and brought them to Jericho the city of palm trees to their brethren, and they returned to Samaria. At that time king Achaz sent to the king of the Assyrians asking help. And the Edomites came and slew many of Juda, and took a great booty. The Philistines also spread themselves among the cities of the plains, and to the south of Juda: and they took Bethsames, and Aialon, and Gaderoth, and Socho, and Thamanan, and Gamzo, with their villages, and they dwelt in them.

19 For the Lord had humbled Juda because of Achaz the king of Juda, for he had stripped it of help, and had contemned the 20 Lord. And he brought against him Thelgathphalnasar king of the Assyrians, who also afflicted him, and plundered him without 21 any resistance. And Achaz stripped the house of the Lord, and the house of the kings, and of the princes, and gave gifts to the 22 king of the Assyrians, and yet it availed him nothing. Moreover also in the time of his distress he increased contempt against the 23 Lord: king Achaz himself by himself, Sacrificed victims to the gods of Damascus that struck him, and he said: The gods of the kings of Syria help them, and I will appease them with victims, and they will help me; whereas on the contrary they were the 24 ruin of him, and of all Israel. Then Achaz having taken away all the vessels of the house of God, and broken them, shut up the doors of the temple of God, and made himself altars in all 25 the corners of Jerusalem. And in all the cities of Juda he built altars to burn frankincense, and he provoked the Lord the God 26 of his fathers to wrath. But the rest of his acts, and all his works first and last are written in the book of the kings of Juda 27 and Israel. And Achaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of Jerusalem: for they received him not into the sepulchres of the kings of Israel. And Ezechias his son reigned in his stead.

29 Now Ezechias began to reign, when he was five and twenty years old, and he reigned nine and twenty years in Jerusalem: the 2 name of his mother was Abia, the daughter of Zacharias. And he did that which was pleasing in the sight of the Lord, according 3 to all that David his father had done. In the first year and month of his reign he opened the doors of the house of the Lord, 4 and repaired them. And he brought the priests and the Levites, and assembled them in the east street. And he said to them:
5 Hear me, ye Levites, and be sanctified, purify the house of the Lord the God of your fathers, and take away all filth out of the 6 sanctuary. Our fathers have sinned and done evil in the sight of the Lord God, forsaking him: they have turned away their faces 7 from the tabernacle of the Lord, and turned their backs. They have shut up the doors that were in the porch, and put out the lamps, and have not burnt incense, nor offered holocausts in the sanctuary of the God of Israel. Therefore the wrath of the Lord hath been stirred up against Juda and Jerusalem, and he hath delivered them to trouble, and to destruction, and to be hissed at, as you see with your eyes. Behold, our fathers are fallen by the sword, our sons, and our daughters, and wives are led away captives for this wickedness. Now therefore I have a mind that we make a covenant with the Lord the God of Israel, and he will turn away the wrath of his indignation from us. My sons, be not negligent: the Lord hath chosen you to stand before him, and to minister to him, and to worship him, and to burn incense to him. Then the Levites arose, Mahath the son of Amasai, and Joel the son of Azarias, of the sons of Caath: and of the sons of Merari, Cis the son of Abdi, and Azarias the son of Jalaleel. And of the sons of Gerson, Joah the son of Zemmas, and Eden the son of Joah. And of the sons of Elisaphan, Samri, and Jahiel. Also of the sons of Asaph, Zacharias, and Mathanias. And of the sons of Heman, Jahiel, and Semei: and of the sons of Idithun, Semeias, and Oziel. And they gathered together their brethren, and sanctified themselves, and went in according to the commandment of the king, and the precept of the Lord, to purify the house of God. And the priests went into the temple of the Lord to sanctify it, and brought out all the uncleanness that they found within to the entrance of the house of the Lord, and the Levites took it away, and carried it out abroad to the torrent Cedron. And they began to cleanse on the first day of the first month, and on the eighth day of the same month they came into the porch of the temple of the Lord, and they purified the temple in eight days, and on the sixteenth day of the same month they finished what they had begun. And they went in to king Ezechias, and said to him: We have sanctified all the house of the Lord, and the altar of holocaust, and the vessels thereof, and the table of proposition with all its vessels, And all the furniture of the temple, which king Achaz in his reign had defiled, after his transgression; and behold they are all set forth before the altar of the Lord. And king Ezechias rising early, assembled all the rulers of the city, and went up into the house of the Lord: And they offered together seven bullocks, and seven rams, and seven lambs, and seven he goats for sin, for the kingdom, for the sanctuary, for Juda: and he spoke to the priests the sons of Aaron, to offer them upon the altar of the 22 Lord. Therefore they killed the bullocks, and the priests took the blood, and poured it upon the altar; they killed also the rams, and their blood they poured also upon the altar, and they 23 killed the lambs, and poured the blood upon the altar. And they brought the he goats for sin before the king, and the whole 24 multitude, and they laid their hand upon them: And the priests immolated them, and sprinkled their blood before the altar for an expiation of all Israel: for the king had commanded that the 25 holocaust and the sin offering should be made for all Israel. And he set the Levites in the house of the Lord with cymbals, and psalteries, and harps according to the regulation of David the king, and of Gad the seer, and of Nathan the prophet: for it was the commandment of the Lord by the hand of his prophets.

26 And the Levites stood, with the instruments of David, and the 27 priests with trumpets. And Ezechias commanded that they should offer holocausts upon the altar: and when the holocausts were offered, they began to sing praises to the Lord, and to sound with trumpets, and divers instruments which David the king of 28 Israel had prepared. And all the multitude adored, and the singers, and the trumpeters, were in their office till the holocaust 29 was finished. And when the oblation was ended, the king, and 30 all that were with him bowed down and adored. And Ezechias and the princes commanded the Levites to praise the Lord with the words of David, and Asaph the seer: and they praised him 31 with great joy, and bowing the knee adored. And Ezechias added, and said: You have filled your hands to the Lord, come and offer victims, and praises in the house of the Lord. And all the multitude offered victims, and praises, and holocausts 32 with a devout mind. And the number of the holocausts which the multitude offered, was seventy bullocks, a hundred rams, 33 and two hundred lambs. And they consecrated to the Lord 34 six hundred oxen, and three thousand sheep. But the priests were few, and were not enough to flay the holocausts: wherefore the Levites their brethren helped them, till the work was ended, and priests were sanctified, for the Levites are sanctified with 35 an easier rite than the priests. So there were many holocausts, and the fat of peace offerings, and the libations of holocausts:

and the service of the house of the Lord was completed. And 36 Ezechias, and all the people rejoiced because the ministry of the Lord was accomplished. For the resolution of doing this thing was taken suddenly.

And Ezechias sent to all Israel and Juda: and he wrote letters 30 to Ephraim and Manasses, that they should come to the house of the Lord in Jerusalem, and keep the phase to the Lord the God of Israel, For the king, taking counsel, and the princes, and all 2 the assembly of Jerusalem, decreed to keep the phase the second month. For they could not keep it in its time; because there 3 were not priests enough sanctified, and the people was not as yet gathered together to Jerusalem. And the thing pleased the 4 king, and all the people. And they decreed to send messengers 5 to all Israel from Bersabee even to Dan, that they should come, and keep the phase to the Lord the God of Israel in Jerusalem: for many had not kept it as it is prescribed by the law. And 6 the posts went with letters by commandment of the king, and his princes, to all Israel and Juda, proclaiming according to the king's orders: Ye children of Israel, turn again to the Lord the God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Israel: and he will return to the remnant of you that have escaped the hand of the king of the Assyrians. Be not like your fathers, and brethren, who 7 departed from the Lord the God of their fathers, and he hath given them up to destruction, as you see. Harden not your 8 necks, as your fathers did: yield yourselves to the Lord, and come to his sanctuary, which he hath sanctified forever: serve the Lord the God of your fathers, and the wrath of his indignation shall be turned away from you. For if you turn again to the 9 Lord, your brethren, and children shall find mercy before their masters, that have led them away captive, and they shall return into this land: for the Lord your God is merciful, and will not turn away his face from you, if you return to him. So the posts 10 went speedily from city to city, through the land of Ephraim, and of Manasses, even to Zabulon, whilst they laughed at them and mocked them. Nevertheless some men of Aser, and of Manasses, 11 and of Zabulon, yielding to the counsel, came to Jerusalem. But 12 the hand of God was in Juda, to give them one heart to do the word of the Lord, according to the commandment of the king, and of the princes. And much people were assembled to 13

Jerusalem to celebrate the solemnity of the unleavened bread in 14 the second month: And they arose and destroyed the altars that were in Jerusalem, and took away all things in which incense was 15 burnt to idols and cast them into the torrent Cedron. And they immolated the phase on the fourteenth day of the second month.
And the priests and the Levites being at length sanctified offered 16 holocausts in the house of the Lord. And they stood in their order according to the disposition and law of Moses the man of God: but the priests received the blood which was to be poured 17 out, from the hands of the Levites, Because a great number was not sanctified: and therefore the Levites immolated the phase for them that came not in time to be sanctified to the Lord.
18 For a great part of the people from Ephraim, and Manasses, and Issachar, and Zabulon, that had not been sanctified, ate the phase otherwise than it is written: and Ezechias prayed for them, 19 saying: The Lord who is good will shew mercy, To all them, who with their whole heart, seek the Lord the God of their fathers: 20 and will not impute it to them that they are not sanctified. And the Lord heard him, and was merciful to the people. And the children of Israel, that were found at Jerusalem, kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days with great joy, praising the Lord every day. the Levites also, and the priests, with instruments 22 that agreed to their office. And Ezechias spoke to the heart of all the Levites, that had good understanding concerning the Lord: and they ate during the seven days of the solemnity, immolating victims of peace offerings, and praising the Lord the God of their 23 fathers. And it pleased the whole multitude to keep other seven 24 days: which they did with great joy. For Ezechias the king of Juda had given to the multitude a thousand bullocks, and seven thousand sheep: and the princes had given the people a thousand bullocks, and ten thousand sheep: and a great number of priests 25 was sanctified. And all the multitude of Juda with the priests and Levites, and all the assembly, that came out of Israel; and the proselytes of the land of Israel, and that dwelt in Juda were 26 full of joy. And there was a great solemnity in Jerusalem, such as had not been in that city since the time of Solomon the son 27 of David king of Israel. And the priests and the Levites rose up and blessed the people: and their voice was heard: and their prayer came to the holy dwelling place of heaven.

And when these things had been duly celebrated, all Israel 31 that were found in the cities of Juda, went out, and they broke the idols, and cut down the groves, demolished the high places, and destroyed the altars, not only out of all Juda and Benjamin, but out of Ephraim also and Manasses, till they had utterly destroyed them: then all the children of Israel returned to their possessions and cities. And Ezechias appointed companies of 2 the priests, and the Levites, by their courses, every man in his own office, to wit, both of the priests, and of the Levites, for holocausts, and for peace offerings, to minister, and to praise, and to sing in the gates of the camp of the Lord. And the king's part 3 was, that of his proper substance the holocaust should be offered always morning and evening, and on the sabbaths, and the new moons and the other solemnities, as it is written in the law of Moses. He commanded also the people that dwelt in Jerusalem, 4 to give to the priests, and the Levites their portion, that they might attend to the law of the Lord. Which when it was noised 5 abroad in the ears of the people, the children of Israel offered in abundance the firstfruits of corn, wine, and oil, and honey: and brought the tithe of all things which the ground bringeth forth. Moreover the children of Israel and Juda, that dwelt in 6 the cities of Juda, brought in the tithes of oxen, and sheep, and the tithes of holy things, which they had vowed to the Lord their God: and carrying them all, made many heaps. In the third 7 month they began to lay the foundations of the heaps, and in the seventh month, they finished them. And when Ezechias and his 8 princes came in, they saw the heaps, and they blessed the Lord and the people of Israel. And Ezechias asked the priests and 9 the Levites, why the heaps lay so. Azarias the chief priest of the race of Sadoc answered him, saying: Since the firstfruits began 10 to be offered in the house of the Lord, we have eaten, and have been filled, and abundance is left, because the Lord hath blessed his people: and of that which is left is this great store which thou seest. Then Ezechias commanded to prepare storehouses 11 in the house of the Lord. And when they had done so, They 12 brought in faithfully both the firstfruits, and the tithes, and all they had vowed. And the overseer of them was Chonenias the Levite, and Semei his brother was the second, And after him 13 Jehiel, and Azarias, and Nahath, and Asael, and Jerimoth, and Jozabad, and Eliel, and Jesmachias, and Mahath, and Banaias, overseers under the hand of Chonenias, and Semei his brother, by the commandment of Ezechias the king, and Azarias the high priest of the house of God, to whom all things appertained. But Core the son of Jemna the Levite, the porter of the east gate, was overseer of the things which were freely offered to the Lord, and of the firstfruits and the things dedicated for the holy of holies. And under his charge were Eden, and Benjamin, Jesue, and Semeias, and Amarias, and Sechenias, in the cities of the priests, to distribute faithfully portions to their brethren, both little and great: Besides the males from three years old and upward, to all that went into the temple of the Lord, and whatsoever there was need of in the ministry, and their offices according to their courses, day by day. To the priests by their families, and to the Levites from the twentieth year and upward, by their classes and companies. And to all the multitude, both to their wives, and to their children of both sexes, victuals were given faithfully out of the things that had been sanctified. Also of the sons of Aaron who were in the fields and in the suburbs of each city, there were men appointed, to distribute portions to all the males, among the priests and the Levites. So Ezechias did all things which we have said in all Juda, and wrought that which was good, and right, and truth, before the Lord his God, In all the service of the house of the Lord according to the law and the ceremonies, desiring to seek his God with all his heart, and he did it and prospered.

32 And when these things had been duly celebrated, all Israel that were found in the cities of Juda, went out, and they broke the idols, and cut down the groves, demolished the high places, and destroyed the altars, not only out of all Juda and Benjamin, but out of Ephraim also and Manasses, till they had utterly destroyed them: then all the children of Israel returned to their possessions and cities. And Ezechias appointed companies of the priests, and the Levites, by their courses, every man in his own office, to wit, both of the priests, and of the Levites, for holocausts, and for peace offerings, to minister, and to praise, and to sing in the gates of the camp of the Lord. And the king's part was, that of his proper substance the holocaust should be offered always morning and evening, and on the sabbaths, and the new moons and the other solemnities, as it is written in the law of Moses. He commanded also the people that dwelt in Jerusalem, 4 to give to the priests, and the Levites their portion, that they might attend to the law of the Lord. Which when it was noised 5 abroad in the ears of the people, the children of Israel offered in abundance the firstfruits of corn, wine, and oil, and honey: and brought the tithe of all things which the ground bringeth forth. Moreover the children of Israel and Juda, that dwelt in 6 the cities of Juda, brought in the tithes of oxen, and sheep, and the tithes of holy things, which they had vowed to the Lord their God: and carrying them all, made many heaps. In the third 7 month they began to lay the foundations of the heaps, and in the seventh month, they finished them. And when Ezechias and his 8 princes came in, they saw the heaps, and they blessed the Lord and the people of Israel. And Ezechias asked the priests and 9 the Levites, why the heaps lay so. Azarias the chief priest of the race of Sadoc answered him, saying: Since the firstfruits began 10 to be offered in the house of the Lord, we have eaten, and have been filled, and abundance is left, because the Lord hath blessed his people: and of that which is left is this great store which thou seest. Then Ezechias commanded to prepare storehouses 11 in the house of the Lord. And when they had done so, They 12 brought in faithfully both the firstfruits, and the tithes, and all they had vowed. And the overseer of them was Chonenias the Levite, and Semei his brother was the second, And after him 13 Jehiel, and Azarias, and Nahath, and Asael, and Jerimoth, and Jozabad, and Eliel, and Jesmachias, and Mahath, and Banaias, overseers under the hand of Chonenias, and Semei his brother, by the commandment of Ezechias the king, and Azarias the high priest of the house of God, to whom all things appertained. 14 But Core the son of Jemna the Levite, the porter of the east gate, was overseer of the things which were freely offered to the Lord, and of the firstfruits and the things dedicated for the holy of holies. And under his charge were Eden, and Benjamin, Je- 15 sue, and Semeias, and Amarias, and Sechenias, in the cities of the priests, to distribute faithfully portions to their brethren, both little and great: Besides the males from three years old 16 and upward, to all that went into the temple of the Lord, and whatsoever there was need of in the ministry, and their offices 17 according to their courses, day by day. To the priests by their families, and to the Levites from the twentieth year and upward, 18 by their classes and companies. And to all the multitude, both to their wives, and to their children of both sexes, victuals were 19 given faithfully out of the things that had been sanctified. Also of the sons of Aaron who were in the fields and in the suburbs of each city, there were men appointed, to distribute portions to 20 all the males, among the priests and the Levites. So Ezechias did all things which we have said in all Juda, and wrought that which was good, and right, and truth, before the Lord his God, 21 In all the service of the house of the Lord according to the law and the ceremonies, desiring to seek his God with all his heart, and he did it and prospered.

33 Manasses was twelve years old when he began to reign, and 2 he reigned fifty-five years in Jerusalem. And he did evil before the Lord, according to all the abominations of the nations, which 3 the Lord cast out before the children of Israel: And he turned, and built again the high places which Ezechias his father had destroyed: and he built altars to Baalim, and made groves, and 4 he adored all the host of heaven, and worshipped them. He built also altars in the house of the Lord, whereof the Lord had 5 said: In Jerusalem shall my name be for ever. And he built them for all the host of heaven in the two courts of the house 6 of the Lord. And he made his sons to pass through the fire in the valley of Benennom: he observed dreams, followed divinations, gave himself up to magic arts, had with him magicians, and enchanters: and he wrought many evils before the Lord, to 7 provoke him to anger. He set also a graven, and a molten statue in the house of God, of which God had said to David, and to Solomon his son: In this house, and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, will I put my name for ever. 8 And I will not make the foot of Israel to be removed out of the land which I have delivered to their fathers: yet so if they will take heed to do what I have commanded them, and all the law, 9 and the ceremonies, and judgments by the hand of Moses. So Manasses seduced Juda, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, to do evil beyond all the nations, which the Lord had destroyed before the face of the children of Israel. And the Lord spoke to 10 his people, and they would not hearken. Therefore he brought 11 upon them the captains of the army of the king of the Assyrians: and they took Manasses, and carried him bound with chains and fetters to Babylon. And after that he was in distress he prayed 12 to the Lord his God: and did penance exceedingly before the God of his fathers. And he entreated him, and besought him 13 earnestly: and he heard his prayer, and brought him again to Jerusalem into his kingdom, and Manasses knew that the Lord was God. After this he built a wall without the city of David, 14 on the west side of Gihon in the valley, from the entering in of the gate round about to Ophel, and raised it up to a great height: and he appointed captains of the army in all the fenced cities of 15 Juda: And he took away the strange gods, and the idol out of the house of the Lord: the altars also which he had made in the mount of the house of the Lord, and in Jerusalem, and he cast them all out of the city. And he repaired the altar of the Lord, 16 and sacrificed upon it victims, and peace offerings, and praise: and he commanded Juda to serve the Lord the God of Israel. Nevertheless the people still sacrificed in the high places to the 17 Lord their God. But the rest of the acts of Manasses, and his prayer to his God, and the words of the seers that spoke to him in the name of the Lord the God of Israel, are contained in the words of the kings of Israel. His prayer also, and his being heard 19 and all his sins, and contempt, and places wherein he built high places, and set up groves, and statues before he did penance, are written in the words of Hozai. And Manasses slept with his 20 fathers, and they buried him in his house: and his son Amon reigned in his stead. Amon was two and twenty years old when 21 he began to reign, and he reigned two years in Jerusalem. And he did evil in the sight of the Lord, as Manasses his father had 22 done: he sacrificed to all the idols which Manasses his father had made, and served them. And he did not humble himself before 23 the lord, as Manasses his father had humbled himself, but committed far greater sin. And his servants conspired against him, 24 and slew him in his own house. But the rest of the multitude of the people slew them that had killed Amon, and made Josias 25 his son king in his stead.

Josias was eight years old when he began to reign, and he 34 reigned one and thirty years in Jerusalem. And he did that 2 which was right in the sight of the Lord, and walked in the ways of David his father: he declined not, neither to the right hand, 3 nor to the left. And in the eighth year of his reign, when he was yet a boy, he began to seek the God of his father David: and in the twelfth year after he began to reign, he cleansed Juda and Jerusalem from the high places, and the groves, and the idols, 4 and the graven things. And they broke down before him the altars of Baalim, and demolished the idols that had been set upon them: and he cut down the groves and the graven things, and 5 broke them in pieces: and strewed the fragments upon the graves of them that had sacrificed to them. And he burnt the bones of the priests on the altars of the idols, and he cleansed Juda and 6 Jerusalem. And in the cities of Manasses, and of Ephraim, and 7 of Simeon, even to Nephtali he demolished all. And when he had destroyed the altars, and the groves, and had broken the idols in pieces, and had demolished all profane temples throughout 8 all the land of Israel, he returned to Jerusalem. Now in the eighteenth year of his reign, when he had cleansed the land, and the temple of the Lord, he sent Saphan the son of Elselias, and Maasias the governor of the city, Joha the son of Joachaz the 9 recorder, to repair the house of the Lord his God. And they came to Helcias the high priest: and received of him the money which had been brought into the house of the Lord, and which the Levites and porters had gathered together from Manasses, and Ephraim, and all the remnant of Israel, and from all Juda, 10 and Benjamin, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, Which they delivered into the hands of them that were over the workmen in the house of the Lord, to repair the temple, and mend all that 11 was weak. But they gave it to the artificers, and to the masons, to buy stones out of the quarries, and timber for the couplings of the building, and to rafter the houses, which the kings of Juda 12 had destroyed. And they did all faithfully. Now the overseers of the workmen were Jahath and Abdias of the sons of Merari, Zacharias and Mosollam of the sons of Caath, who hastened the 13 work: all Levites skilful to play on instruments. But over them that carried burdens for divers uses, were scribes, and masters of 14 the number of the Levites, and porters. Now when they carried out the money that had been brought into the temple of the Lord, Helcias the priest found the book of the law of the Lord, 15 by the hand of Moses. And he said to Saphan the scribe: I have found the book of the law in the house of the Lord: and he delivered it to him. But he carried the book to the king, and told him, saying: Lo, all that thou hast committed to thy servants, is accomplished. They have gathered together the silver that was found in the house of the Lord: and it is given to the overseers of the artificers, and of the workmen, for divers works. Moreover Helcias the priest gave me this book. And he read it before the king. And when he had heard the words of the law, he rent his garments: And he commanded Helcias, and Ahicam the son of Saphan, and Abdon the son of Micha, and Saphan the scribe, and Asaa the king's servant, saying: Go, and pray to the Lord for me, and for the remnant of Israel, and Juda, concerning all the words of this book, which is found: for the great wrath of the Lord hath fallen upon us, because our fathers have not kept the words of the Lord, to do all things that are written in this book. And Helcias and they that were sent with him by the king, went to Olda the prophetess, the wife of Sellum the son of Thecuath, the son of Hasra keeper of the wardrobe: who dwelt in Jerusalem in the Second part: and they spoke to her the words above mentioned. And she answered them: Thus saith the Lord the God of Israel: Tell the man that sent you to me: Thus saith the Lord: Behold I will bring evils upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof, and all the curses that are written in this book which they read before the king of Juda. Because they have forsaken me, and have sacrificed to strange gods, to provoke me to wrath with all the works of their hands, therefore my wrath shall fail upon this place, and shall not be quenched. But as to the king of Juda that sent you to beseech the Lord, thus shall you say to him: Thus saith the Lord the God of Israel: Because thou hast heard the words of this book, And thy heart was softened, and thou hast humbled thyself in the sight of God for the things that are spoken against this place, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and reverencing my face, hast rent thy garments, and wept before me: I also have heard thee, saith the Lord. For now I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be brought to thy tomb in peace: and thy eyes shall not see all the evil that I will bring upon this place, and the inhabitants thereof. They therefore reported to the king all that she had said. And he called together all the ancients of Juda

30 and Jerusalem. And went up to the house of the Lord, and all the men of Juda, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, the priests and the Levites, and all the people from the least to the greatest. And the king read in their hearing, in the house of the Lord, all 31 the words of the book. And standing up in his tribunal, he made a covenant before the Lord to walk after him, and keep his commandments, and testimonies, and justifications with all his heart, and with all his soul, and to do the things that were 32 written in that book which he had read. And he adjured all that were found in Jerusalem and Benjamin to do the same: and the inhabitants of Jerusalem did according to the covenant of 33 the Lord the God of their fathers. And Josias took away all the abominations out of all the countries of the children of Israel and made all that were left in Israel, to serve the Lord their God. As long as he lived they departed not from the Lord the God of their fathers.

35 And Josias kept a phase to the Lord in Jerusalem, and it 2 was sacrificed on the fourteenth day of the first month. And he set the priests in their offices, and exhorted them to minister in the house of the Lord. And he spoke to the Levites, 3 by whose instruction all Israel was sanctified to the Lord, saying: Put the ark in the sanctuary of the temple, which Solomon the son of David king of Israel built: for you shall carry it no more: but minister now to the Lord your God, and to his people Israel. And prepare yourselves by your houses, and families 4 according to your courses, as David king of Israel commanded, and Solomon his son hath written. And serve ye in the sanctuary by the families and companies of Levi. And being sanctified 5 kill the phase, and prepare your brethren, that they may do according to the words which the Lord spoke by the hand 6 of Moses. And Josias gave to all the people that were found there in the solemnity of the phase, of lambs and of kids of the 7 flocks, and of other small cattle thirty thousand, and of oxen three thousand, all these were of the king's substance. And his 8 princes willingly offered what they had vowed, both to the people and to the priests and the Levites. Moreover Helcias, and Zacharias, and Jahiel rulers of the house of the Lord, gave to the priests to keep the phase two thousand six hundred small 9 cattle, and three hundred oxen. And Chonenias, and Semeias and Nathanael, his brethren, and Hasabias, and Jehiel, and Jozabad princes of the Levites, gave to the rest of the Levites to celebrate the phase five thousand small cattle, and five hundred oxen. And the ministry was prepared, and the priests stood in their office: the Levites also in their companies, according to the king's commandment. And the phase was immolated: and the priests sprinkled the blood with their hand, and the Levites flayed the holocausts: And they separated them, to give them by the houses and families of every one, and to be offered to the Lord, as it is written in the book of Moses, and with the oxen they did in like manner. And they roasted the phase with fire, according to that which is written in the law: but the victims of peace offerings they boiled in caldrons, and kettles, and pots, and they distributed them speedily among all the people. And afterwards they made ready for themselves, and for the priests: for the priests were busied in offering of holocausts and the fat until night, wherefore the Levites prepared for themselves, and for the priests the sons of Aaron last. And the singers the sons of Asaph stood in their order, according to the commandment of David, and Asaph, and Heman, and Idithun, the prophets of the king: and the porters kept guard at every gate, so as not to depart one moment from their service, and therefore their brethren the Levites prepared meats for them. So all the service of the Lord was duly accomplished that day, both in keeping the phase and offering holocausts upon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandment of king Josias. And the children of Israel that were found there, kept the phase at that time, and the feast of unleavened seven days. There was no phase like to this in Israel, from the days of Samuel the prophet: neither did any of all the kings of Israel keep such a phase as Josias kept, with the priests, and the Levites, and all Juda, and Israel that were found, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. In the eighteenth year of the reign of Josias was this phase celebrated. After that Josias had repaired the temple, Nechao king of Egypt came up to fight in Charcamis by the Euphrates: and Josias went out to meet him. But he sent messengers to him, saying: What have I to do with thee, O king of Juda? I come not against thee this day, but I fight against another house, to which God hath commanded me to go in haste: forbear to do against God, who is with me, 22 lest he kill thee. Josias would not return, but prepared to fight against him, and hearkened not to the words of Nechao from the 23 mouth of God, but went to fight in the field of Mageddo. And there he was wounded by the archers, and he said to his servants: 24 Carry me out of the battle, for I am grievously wounded. And they removed him from the chariot into another, that followed him after the manner of kings, and they carried him away to Jerusalem, and he died, and was buried in the monument of his 25 fathers, and all Juda and Jerusalem mourned for him, Particularly Jeremias: whose lamentations for Josias all the singing men and singing women repeat unto this day, and it became like a law in Israel: Behold it is found written in the Lamentations.

26 Now the rest of the acts of Josias and of his mercies, according 27 to what was commanded by the law of the Lord: And his works first and last, are written in the book of the kings of Juda and Israel.

36 Then the people of the land took Joachaz the son of Josias, 2 and made him king instead of his father in Jerusalem. Joachaz was three and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he 3 reigned three months in Jerusalem. And the king of Egypt came to Jerusalem, and deposed him, and condemned the land in a 4 hundred talents of silver, and a talent of gold. And he made Eliakim his brother king in his stead, over Juda and Jerusalem: and he turned his name to Joakim: but he took Joachaz with 5 him and carried him away into Egypt. Joakim was five and twenty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem: and he did evil before the Lord his God.
6 Against him came up Nabuchodonosor king of the Chaldeans, 7 and led him bound in chains into Babylon. And he carried also 8 thither the vessels of the Lord, and put them in his temple. But the rest of the acts of Joakim, and his abominations, which he wrought, and the things that were found in him, are contained 9 in the book of the kings of Juda and Israel. And Joachin his son reigned in his stead. Joachin was eight years old when he 10 began to reign, and he reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem, and he did evil in the sight of the Lord. And at the return of the year, king Nabuchodonosor sent, and brought him to Babylon, carrying away at the same time the most precious vessels of the house of the Lord: and he made Sedecias his uncle king over Juda and Jerusalem. Sedecias was one and twenty 11 years old when he began to reign: and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord his God, 12 and did not reverence the face of Jeremias the prophet speaking to him from the mouth of the Lord. He also revolted from 13 king Nabuchodonosor, who had made him swear by God: and he hardened his neck and his heart, from returning to the Lord the God of Israel. Moreover all the chief of the priests, and the 14 people wickedly transgressed according to all the abominations of the Gentiles: and they defiled the house of the Lord, which he had sanctified to himself in Jerusalem. And the Lord the God 15 of their fathers sent to them, by the hand of his messengers, rising early, and daily admonishing them: because he spared his people and his dwelling place. But they mocked the messengers 16 of God, and despised his words, and misused the prophets, until the wrath of the Lord arose against his people, and there was no remedy. For he brought upon them the king of the Chaldeans, 17 and he slew their young men with the sword in the house of his sanctuary, he had no compassion on young man, or maiden, old man or even him that stooped for age, but he delivered them all into his hands. And all the vessels of the house of Lord, great 18 and small, and the treasures of the temple and of the king, and of the princes he carried away to Babylon. And the enemies set fire 19 to the house of God, and broke down the wall of Jerusalem, burnt all the towers, and what soever was precious they destroyed.

Whosoever escaped the sword, was led into Babylon, and there 20 served the king and his sons, till the reign of the king of Persia, That the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremias might be 21 fulfilled, and the land might keep her sabbaths: for all the days of the desolation she kept a sabbath, till the seventy years were expired. But in the first year of Cyrus king of the Persians, to 22 fulfil the word of the Lord, which he had spoken by the mouth of Jeremias, the Lord stirred up the heart of Cyrus, king of the Persians: who commanded it to be proclaimed through all his kingdom, and by writing also, saying: Thus saith Cyrus king of 23 the Persians: All the kingdoms of the earth hath the Lord the God of heaven given to me, and he hath charged me to build him a house in Jerusalem, which is in Judea: who is there among you of all his people? The Lord his God be with him, and let him go up.

EZRA.

In the first year of Cyrus king of the Persians, that the 1 word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremias might be fulfilled, the Lord stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of the Persians: and he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and in writing also, saying: Thus saith Cyrus 2 king of the Persians: The Lord the God of heaven hath given to me all the kingdoms of the earth, and he hath charged me to build him a house in Jerusalem, which is in Judea. Who is 3 there among you of all his people? His God be with him. Let him go up to Jerusalem, which is in Judea, and build the house of the Lord the God of Israel: he is the God that is in Jerusalem.
And let all the rest in all places wheresoever they dwell, help him 4 every man from his place, with silver and gold, and goods, and cattle, besides that which they offer freely to the temple of God, which is in Jerusalem. Then rose up the chief of the fathers of 5 Juda and Benjamin, and the priests, and Levites, and every one whose spirit God had raised up, to go up to build the temple of the Lord, which was in Jerusalem. And all they that were 6 round about, helped their hands with vessels of silver, and gold, with goods, and with beasts, and with furniture, besides what they had offered on their own accord. And king Cyrus brought 7 forth vessels of the temple of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had taken from Jerusalem, and had put them in the temple of his god. Now Cyrus king of Persia brought them forth by the 8 hand of Mithridates the son of Gazabar, and numbered them to Sassabasar the prince of Juda. And this is the number of them: 9 thirty bowls of gold, a thousand bowls of silver, nine and twenty knives, thirty cups of gold, Silver cups of a second sort, four 10 hundred and ten: other vessels a thousand. All the vessels of gold and silver, five thousand four hundred: all these Sassabasar brought with them that came up from the captivity of Babylon to Jerusalem. 11

ried away to Babylon, and who returned to Jerusalem and Juda, of Hatil, the children of Phochereth, which were of Asebaim, the children of Ami, All the Nathinites, and the children of 58 the servants of Solomon, three hundred ninety-two. And these 59 are they that came up from Thelmela, Thelharsa, Cherub, and Adon, and Emer. And they could not shew the house of their fathers and their seed, whether they were of Israel. The chil- 60 dren of Dalaia, the children of Tobia, the children of Necoda, six hundred fifty-two. And of the children of the priests: the 61 children of Hobia, the children of Accos, the children of Berzel-lai, who took a wife of the daughters of Berzellai, the Galaadite, and was called by their name: These sought the writing of their 62 genealogy, and found it not, and they were cast out of the priesthood. And Athersatha said to them, that they should not eat 63 of the holy of holies, till there arose a priest learned and perfect.

 All the multitudes as one man, were forty-two thousand three 64 hundred and sixty: Besides their menservants, and womenserv- 65 ants, of whom there were seven thousand three hundred and thirty-seven: and among them singing men, and singing women 66 two hundred. Their horses seven hundred thirty-six, their mules 67 two hundred forty-five, Their camels four hundred thirty-five, 68 their asses six thousand seven hundred and twenty. And some of the chief of the fathers, when they came to the temple of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem, offered freely to the house of 69 the Lord to build it in its place. According to their ability, they gave towards the expenses of the work, sixty-one thousand solids of gold, five thousand pounds of silver, and a hundred garments 70 for the priests. So the priests and the Levites, and some of the people, and the singing men, and the porters, and the Nathinites dwelt in their cities, and all Israel in their cities.

3 And now the seventh month was come, and the children of Israel were in their cities: and the people gathered themselves 2 together as one man to Jerusalem. And Josue the son of Josedec rose up, and his brethren the priests, and Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, and his brethren, and they built the altar of the God of Israel that they might offer holocausts upon it, as it is 3 written in the law of Moses the man of God. And they set the altar of God upon its bases, while the people of the lands round about put them in fear, and they offered upon it a holocaust 4 to the Lord morning and evening. And they kept the feast of tabernacles, as it is written, and offered the holocaust every day orderly according to the commandment, the duty of the day in 5 its day. And afterwards the continual holocaust, both on the new moons, and on all the solemnities of the Lord, that were consecrated, and on all in which a freewill offering was made 6 to the Lord. From the first day of the seventh month they began to offer holocausts to the Lord: but the temple of God 7 was not yet founded. And they gave money to hewers of stones and to masons: and meat and drink, and oil to the Sidonians and Tyrians, to bring cedar trees from Libanus to the sea of Joppe, according to the orders which Cyrus king of the Persians 8 had given them. And in the second year of their coming to the temple of God in Jerusalem, the second month, Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, and Josue the son of Josedec, and the rest of their brethren the priests, and the Levites, and all that were come from the captivity to Jerusalem began, and they appointed Levites from twenty years old and upward, to hasten forward the work of the Lord. Then Josue and his sons and his brethren, 9 Cedmihel, and his sons, and the children of Juda, as one man, stood to hasten them that did the work in the temple of God: the sons of Henadad, and their sons, and their brethren the Levites.

And when the masons laid the foundations of the temple of the 10 Lord, the priests stood in their ornaments with trumpets: and the Levites the sons of Asaph with cymbals, to praise God by the hands of David king of Israel. And they sung together 11 hymns, and praise to the Lord: because he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever towards Israel. And all the people shouted with a great shout, praising the Lord, because the foundations of the temple of the Lord were laid. But many of the priests and 12 the Levites, and the chief of the fathers and the ancients that had seen the former temple; when they had the foundation of this temple before their eyes, wept with a loud voice: and many shouting for joy, lifted up their voice. So that one could not 13 distinguish the voice of the shout of joy, from the noise of the weeping of the people: for one with another the people shouted with a loud shout, and the voice was heard afar off.

Now the enemies of Juda and Benjamin heard that the chil- 4 dren of the captivity were building a temple to the Lord the God of Israel. And they came to Zorobabel, and the chief of the fa- 2 thers, and said to them: Let us build with you, for we seek your God as ye do: behold we have sacrificed to him, since the days of Asor Haddan king of Assyria, who brought us hither. But 3 Zorobabel, and Josue, and the rest of the chief of the fathers of Israel said to them: You have nothing to do with us to build a house to our God, but we ourselves alone will build to the Lord our God, as Cyrus king of the Persians hath commanded us. Then the people of the land hindered the hands of the peo- 4 ple of Juda, and troubled them in building. And they hired 5 counsellors against them, to frustrate their design all the days of Cyrus king of Persia, even until the reign of Darius king of the Persians. And in the reign of Assuerus, in the beginning 6 of his reign, they wrote an accusation against the inhabitants of Juda and Jerusalem. And in the days of Artaxerxes, Beselam, 7 Mithridates, and Thabeel, and the rest that were in the council wrote to Artaxerxes king of the Persians: and the letter of accusation was written in Syrian, and was read in the Syrian 8 tongue. Reum Beelteem, and Samsai the scribe wrote a let-9 ter from Jerusalem to king Artaxerxes, in this manner: Reum Beelteem, and Samsai the scribe and the rest of their counsellors, the Dinites, and the Apharsathacites, the Therphalites, the Apharsites, the Erchuities, the Babylonians, the Susanechites, the 10 Dievites, and the Elamites, And the rest of the nations, whom the great and glorious Asenaphar brought over: and made to dwell in the cities of Samaria and in the rest of the countries of 11 this side of the river in peace. (This is the copy of the letter, which they sent to him:) To Artaxerxes the king, thy servants, 12 the men that are on this side of the river, send greeting. Be it known to the king, that the Jews, who came up from thee to us, are come to Jerusalem a rebellious and wicked city, which they are building, setting up the ramparts thereof and repairing the 13 walls. And now be it known to the king, that if this city be built up, and the walls thereof repaired, they will not pay tribute nor toll, nor yearly revenues, and this loss will fall upon the kings.

14 But we remembering the salt that we have eaten in the palace, and because we count it a crime to see the king wronged, have 15 therefore sent and certified the king, That search may be made in the books of the histories of thy fathers, and thou shalt find written in the records: and shalt know that this city is a rebellious city, and hurtful to the kings and provinces, and that wars were raised therein of old time: for which cause also the city was 16 destroyed. We certify the king, that if this city be built, and the walls thereof repaired, thou shalt have no possession on this side 17 of the river. The king sent word to Reum Beelteem and Samsai the scribe, and to the rest that were in their council, inhabitants of Samaria, and to the rest beyond the river, sending greeting 18 and peace. The accusation, which you have sent to us, hath 19 been plainly read before me, And I commanded: and search hath been made, and it is found, that this city of old time hath rebelled against kings, and seditions and wars have been raised 20 therein. For there have been powerful kings in Jerusalem, who have had dominion over all the country that is beyond the river: 21 and have received tribute, and toll and revenues. Now therefore hear the sentence: Hinder those men, that this city be not 22 built, till further orders be given by me. See that you be not negligent in executing this, lest by little and little the evil grow to the hurt of the kings. Now the copy of the edict of king Ar- 23 taxerxes was read before Reum Beelteem, and Samsai the scribe, and their counsellors: and they went up in haste to Jerusalem to the Jews, and hindered them with arm and power. Then 24 the work of the house of the Lord in Jerusalem was interrupted, and ceased till the second year of the reign of Darius king of the Persians.

Now Aggeus the prophet, and Zacharias the son of Addo, 5 prophesied to the Jews that were in Judea and Jerusalem, in the name of the God of Israel. Then rose up Zorobabel the 2 son of Salathiel, and Josue the son of Josedec, and began to build the temple of God in Jerusalem, and with them were the prophets of God helping them. And at the same time came to 3 them Thathanai, who was governor beyond the river, and Stharbuzanai, and their counsellors: and said thus to them: Who hath given you counsel to build this house, and to repair the walls thereof? In answer to which we gave them the names of 4 the men who were the promoters of that building. But the eye 5 of their God was upon the ancients of the Jews, and they could not hinder them. And it was agreed that the matter should be referred to Darius, and then they should give satisfaction concerning that accusation. The copy of the letter that Thathanai 6 governor of the country beyond the river, and Stharbuzanai, and his counsellors the Arphasachites, who dwelt beyond the river, sent to Darius the king. The letter which they sent him, was 7 written thus: To Darius the king all peace. Be it known to the 8 king, that we went to the province of Judea, to the house of the great God, which they are building with unpolished stones, and timber is laid in the walls: and this work is carried on diligently and advanceth in their hands. And we asked those ancients, 9 and said to them thus: Who hath given you authority to build this house, and to repair these walls? We asked also of them 10 their names, that we might give thee notice: and we have written the names of the men that are the chief among them. And 11 they answered us in these words, saying: We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and we are building a temple that was built these many years ago, and which a great king of Israel built and set up. But after that our fathers had provoked 12 the God of heaven to wrath, he delivered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon the Chaldean: and he destroyed this house, and carried away the people to Babylon.

13 But in the first year of Cyrus the king of Babylon, king Cyrus set 14 forth a decree, that this house of God should be built. And the vessels also of gold and silver of the temple of God, which Nabu-chodonosor had taken out of the temple, that was in Jerusalem, and had brought them to the temple of Babylon, king Cyrus brought out of the temple of Babylon, and they were delivered 15 to one Sassabasar, whom also he appointed governor, And said to him: Take these vessels, and go, and put them in the temple that is in Jerusalem, and let the house of God be built in its 16 place. Then came this same Sassabasar, and laid the foundations of the temple of God in Jerusalem, and from that time until 17 now it is in building, and is not yet finished. Now therefore if it seem good to the king, let him search in the king's library, which is in Babylon, whether it hath been decreed by Cyrus the king, that the house of God in Jerusalem should be built, and let the king send his pleasure to us concerning this matter.

6 Then king Darius gave orders, and they searched in the li-2 brary of the books that were laid up in Babylon, And there was found in Ecbatana, which is a castle in the province of Me-3 dia, a book in which this record was written. In the first year of Cyrus the king: Cyrus the king decreed, that the house of God should be built, which is in Jerusalem, in the place where they may offer sacrifices, and that they lay the foundations that may support the height of threescore cubits, and the breadth 4 of threescore cubits, Three rows of unpolished stones, and so rows of new timber: and the charges shall be given out of the 5 king's house. And also let the golden and silver vessels of the temple of God, which Nabuchodonosor took out of the temple of Jerusalem, and brought to Babylon, be restored, and carried back to the temple of Jerusalem to their place, which also were 6 placed in the temple of God. Now therefore Thathanai, governor of the country beyond the river, Stharbuzanai, and your counsellors the Apharsachites, who are beyond the river, depart 7 far from them, And let that temple of God be built by the governor of the Jews, and by their ancients, that they may build that 8 house of God in its place. I also have commanded what must be done by those ancients of the Jews, that the house of God may be built, to wit, that of the king's chest, that is, of the tribute that is paid out of the country beyond the river, the charges be diligently given to those men, lest the work be hindered. And 9 if it shall be necessary, let calves also, and lambs, and kids, for holocausts to the God of heaven, wheat, salt, wine, and oil, according to the custom of the priests that are in Jerusalem, be given them day by day, that there be no complaint in any thing. And let them offer oblations to the God of heaven, and pray for 10 the life of the king, and of his children. And I have made a decree: That if any whosoever, shall alter this commandment, a beam be taken from his house, and set up, and he be nailed upon it, and his house be confiscated. And may the God, that 12 hath caused his name to dwell there, destroy all kingdoms, and the people that shall put out their hand to resist, and to destroy the house of God, that is in Jerusalem. I Darius have made the decree, which I will have diligently complied with. So then 13 Thathanai, governor of the country beyond the river, and Sthar-buzanai, and his counsellors diligently executed what Darius the king had commanded. And the ancients of the Jews built, and 14 prospered according to the prophecy of Aggeus the prophet, and of Zacharias the son of Addo: and they built and finished, by the commandment of the God of Israel, and by the commandment of Cyrus, and Darius, and Artaxerxes kings of the Persians. And 15 they were finishing this house of God, until the third day of the month of Adar, which was in the sixth year of the reign of king Darius. And the children of Israel, the priests and the Levites, 16 and the rest of the children of the captivity kept the dedication of the house of God with joy. And they offered at the dedica- 17 tion of the house of God, a hundred calves, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs, and for a sin offering for all Israel twelve he goats, according to the number of the tribes of Israel. And 18 they set the priests in their divisions, and the Levites in their courses over the works of God in Jerusalem, as it is written in the book of Moses. And the children of Israel of the captivity 19 kept the phase, on the fourteenth day of the first month. For all the priests and the Levites were purified as one man: all were 20 clean to kill the phase for all the children of the captivity, and for their brethren the priests, and themselves. And the children 21 of Israel that were returned from captivity, and all that had separated themselves from the filthiness of the nations of the earth 22 to them, to seek the Lord the God of Israel, did eat. And they kept the feast of unleavened bread seven days with joy, for the Lord had made them joyful, and had turned the heart of the king of Assyria to them, that he should help their hands in the work of the house of the Lord the God of Israel.

7 Now after these things in the reign of Artaxerxes king of the Persians, Esdras the son of Saraias, the son of Azarias, the son 2 of Helcias, The son of Sellum, the son of Sadoc, the son of 3 Achitob, The son of Amarias, the son of Azarias, the son of 4 Maraioth, The son of Zarahias, the son of Ozi, the son of Bocci, 5 The son of Abisue, the son of Phinees, the son of Eleazar, the 6 son of Aaron, the priest from the beginning. This Esdras went up from Babylon, and he was a ready scribe in the law of Moses, which the Lord God had given to Israel: and the king granted 7 upon him. And there went up some of the children of Israel, and of the children of the priests, and of the children of the Levites, and of the singing men, and of the porters, and of the Nathinites to Jerusalem in the seventh year of Artaxerxes the 8 king. And they came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, in the 9 seventh year of the king. For upon the first day of the first month he began to go up from Babylon, and on the first day of the fifth month he came to Jerusalem according to the good 10 hand of his God upon him. For Esdras had prepared his heart to seek the law of the Lord, and to do and to teach in Israel 11 the commandments and judgment. And this is the copy of the letter of the edict, which king Artaxerxes gave to Esdras the priest, the scribe instructed in the words and commandments 12 of the Lord, and his ceremonies in Israel. Artaxerxes king of kings to Esdras the priest, the most learned scribe of the law 13 of the God of heaven, greeting. It is decreed by me, that all they of the people of Israel, and of the priests and of the Levites in my realm, that are minded to go into Jerusalem, should go 14 with thee. For thou art sent from before the king, and his seven counsellors, to visit Judea and Jerusalem according to the law 15 of thy God, which is in thy hand. And to carry the silver and gold, which the king and his counsellors have freely offered to 16 the God of Israel, whose tabernacle is in Jerusalem. And all the silver and gold that thou shalt find in all the province of Babylon, and that the people is willing to offer, and that the priests shall offer of their own accord to the house of their God, which is in Jerusalem, Take freely, and buy diligently with this 17 money, calves, rams, lambs, with the sacrifices and libations of them, and offer them upon the altar of the temple of your God, that is in Jerusalem. And if it seem good to thee, and to thy 18 brethren to do any thing with the rest of the silver and gold, do it according to the will of your God. The vessels also, that 19 are given thee for the sacrifice of the house of thy God, deliver thou in the sight of God in Jerusalem. And whatsoever more 20 there shall be need of for the house of thy God, how much soever thou shalt have occasion to spend, it shall be given out of the treasury, and the king's exchequer, and by me. I Artaxerxes the 21 king have ordered and decreed to all the keepers of the public chest, that are beyond the river, that whatsoever Esdras the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of heaven, shall require of you, you give it without delay, Unto a hundred talents of 22 silver, and unto a hundred cores of wheat, and unto a hundred bates of wine, and unto a hundred bates of oil, and salt without measure. All that belongeth to the rites of the God of heaven, 23 let it be given diligently in the house of the God of heaven: lest his wrath should be enkindled against the realm of the king, and of his sons. We give you also to understand concerning all 24 the priests, and the Levites, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nathinites, and ministers of the house of this God, that you have no authority to impose toll or tribute, or custom upon them. And thou Esdras according to the wisdom of thy God, 25 which is in thy hand, appoint judges and magistrates, that may judge all the people, that is beyond the river, that is, for them who know the law of thy God, yea and the ignorant teach ye freely. And whosoever will not do the law of thy God, and the 26 law of the king diligently, judgment shall be executed upon him, either unto death, or unto banishment, or to the confiscation of goods, or at least to prison. Blessed be the Lord the God of 27 our fathers, who hath put this in the king's heart, to glorify the house of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem, And hath inclined 28 his mercy toward me before the king and his counsellors, and all the mighty princes of the king: and I being strengthened by the hand of the Lord my God, which was upon me, gathered together out of Israel chief men to go up with me.

8 Now these are the chief of families, and the genealogy of them, who came up with me from Babylon in the reign of Artaxerxes 2 the king. Of the sons of Phinees, Gersom. Of the sons of the sons of Adonicam, who were the last: and these are their names: Eliphelet, and Jehiel, and Samaias, and with them sixty 14 men. Of the sons of Begui, Uthai and Zachur, and with them 15 seventy men. And I gathered them together to the river, which runneth down to Ahava, and we stayed there three days: and I sought among the people and among the priests for the sons of 16 Levi, and found none there. So I sent Eliezer, and Ariel, and Semeias, and Elnathan, and Jarib, and another Elnathan, and Nathan, and Zacharias, and Mosollam, chief men: and Joiarib, 17 and Elnathan, wise men. And I sent them to Eddo, who is chief in the place of Chasphia, and I put in their mouth the words that they should speak to Eddo, and his brethren the Nathinites in the place of Chasphia, that they should bring us ministers of the 18 house of our God. And by the good hand of our God upon us, they brought us a most learned man of the sons of Moholi the son of Levi the son of Israel, and Sarabias and his sons, and his 19 brethren eighteen, And Hasabias, and with him Isaias of the 20 sons of Merari, and his brethren, and his sons twenty. And of the Nathinites, whom David, and the princes gave for the service of the Levites, Nathinites two hundred and twenty: all these were called by their names. And I proclaimed there a fast by the river Ahava, that we might afflict ourselves before the Lord our God, and might ask of him a right way for us and for our children, and for all our substance. For I was ashamed to ask the king for aid and for horsemen, to defend us from the enemy in the way: because we had said to the king: The hand of our God is upon all them that seek him in goodness: and his power and strength, and wrath upon all them that forsake him. And we fasted, and besought our God for this: and it fell out prosperously unto us. And I separated twelve of the chief of the priests, Sarabias, and Hasabias, and with them ten of their brethren, And I weighed unto them the silver and gold, and the vessels consecrated for the house of our God, which the king and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel, that were found had offered. And I weighed to their hands six hundred and fifty talents of silver, and a hundred vessels of silver, and a hundred talents of gold, And twenty cups of gold, of a thousand solids, and two vessels of the best shining brass, beautiful as gold. And I said to them: You are the holy ones of the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the silver and gold, that is freely offered to the Lord the God of our fathers. Watch ye and keep them, till you deliver them by weight before the chief of the priests, and of the Levites, and the heads of the families of Israel in Jerusalem, into the treasure of the house of the Lord. And the priests and the Levites received the weight of the silver and gold, and the vessels, to carry them to Jerusalem to the house of our God. Then we set forward from the river Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month to go to Jerusalem: and the hand of our God was upon us, and delivered us from the hand of the enemy, and of such as lay in wait by the way. And we came to Jerusalem, and we stayed there three days. And on the fourth day the silver and the gold, and the vessels were weighed in the house of our God by the hand of Meremoth the son of Urias the priest, and with him was Eleazar the son of Phinees, and with them Jozabad the son of Josue, and Noadaia the son of Benoi, Levites. According to the number and weight of everything: and all the weight was written at that time. Moreover the children of them that had been carried away that were come out of the captivity, offered holocausts to the God of Israel, twelve calves for all the people of Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven lambs, and twelve he 36 goats for sin: all for a holocaust to the Lord. And they gave the king's edicts to the lords that were from the king's court, and the governors beyond the river, and they furthered the people and the house of God.

9 And after these things were accomplished, the princes came to me, saying: The people of Israel, and the priests and Levites have not separated themselves from the people of the lands, and from their abominations, namely, of the Chanaanites, and the Hethites, and the Pherezites, and the Jebusites, and the Ammonites, and the Moabites, and the Egyptians, and the Amor-2 rhites. For they have taken of their daughters for themselves and for their sons, and they have mingled the holy seed with the people of the lands. And the hand of the princes and magistrates 3 hath been first in this transgression. And when I had heard this word, I rent my mantle and my coat, and plucked off the hairs of 4 my head and my beard, and I sat down mourning. And there were assembled to me all that feared the God of Israel, because of the transgression of those that were come from the captivity, and 5 I sat sorrowful, until the evening sacrifice. And at the evening sacrifice I rose up from my affliction, and having rent my mantle and my garment, I fell upon my knees, and spread out my hands 6 to the Lord my God, And said: My God I am confounded and ashamed to lift up my face to thee: for our iniquities are multiplied over our heads, and our sins are grown up even unto heaven, 7 From the days of our fathers: and we ourselves also have sinned grievously unto this day, and for our iniquities we and our kings, and our priests have been delivered into the hands of the kings of the lands, and to the sword, and to captivity, and to spoil, 8 and to confusion of face, as it is at this day. And now as a little, and for a moment has our prayer been made before the Lord our God, to leave us a remnant, and give us a pin in his holy place, and that our God would enlighten our eyes, and would give us 9 a little life in our bondage. For we are bondmen, and in our bondage our God hath not forsaken us, but hath extended mercy upon us before the king of the Persians, to give us life, and to set up the house of our God, and to rebuild the desolations thereof, 10 and to give us a fence in Juda and Jerusalem. And now, O our God, what shall we say after this? for we have forsaken thy commandments, Which thou hast commanded by the hand of thy servants the prophets, saying: The land which you go to possess, is an unclean land, according to the uncleanness of the people, and of other lands, with their abominations, who have filled it from mouth to mouth with their filth. Now therefore give not your daughters to their sons, and take not their daughters for your sons, and seek not their peace, nor their prosperity for ever: that you may be strengthened, and may eat the good things of the land, and may have your children your heirs for ever. And after all that is come upon us, for our most wicked deeds, and our great sin, seeing that thou our God hast saved us from our iniquity, and hast given us a deliverance as at this day, That we should not turn away, nor break thy commandments, nor join in marriage with the people of these abominations. Art thou angry with us unto utter destruction, not to leave us a remnant to be saved? O Lord God of Israel, thou art just: for we remain yet to be saved as at this day. Behold we are before thee in our sin, for there can be no standing before thee in this matter.

Now when Esdras was thus praying, and beseeching, and weeping, and lying before the temple of God, there was gathered to him of Israel an exceeding great assembly of men and women and children, and the people wept with much lamentation. And Sechenias the son of Jehiel of the sons of Elam answered, and said to Esdras: We have sinned against our God, and have taken strange wives of the people of the land: and now if there be repentance in Israel concerning this, Let us make a covenant with the Lord our God, to put away all the wives, and such as are born of them, according to the will of the Lord, and of them that fear the commandment of the Lord our God: let it be done according to the law. Arise, it is thy part to give orders, and we will be with thee: take courage, and do it. So Esdras arose, and made the chiefs of the priests and of the Levites, and all Israel, to swear that they would do according to this word, and they swore. And Esdras rose up from before the house of God, and went to the chamber of Johanan the son of Eliasib, and entered in thither: he ate no bread, and drank no water: for he mourned for the transgression of them that were come out of the captivity. And proclamation was made in Juda and Jerusalem to all the children of the captivity, that they should assemble together into 8 Jerusalem. And that whosoever would not come within three days, according to the counsel of the princes and the ancients, all his substance should be taken away, and he should be cast out of the company of them that were returned from captivity.

9 Then all the men of Juda, and Benjamin gathered themselves together to Jerusalem within three days, in the ninth month, the twentieth day of the month: and all the people sat in the street of the house of God, trembling because of the sin, and the 10 rain. And Esdras the priest stood up, and said to them: You have transgressed, and taken strange wives, to add to the sins of 11 Israel. And now make confession to the Lord the God of your fathers, and do his pleasure, and separate yourselves from the 12 people of the land, and from your strange wives. And all the multitude answered and said with a loud voice: According to thy 13 word unto us, so be it done. But as the people are many, and it is time of rain, and we are not able to stand without, and it is not a work of one day or two, (for we have exceedingly sinned in 14 this matter,) Let rulers be appointed in all the multitude: and in all our cities, let them that have taken strange wives come at the times appointed, and with them the ancients and the judges of every city, until the wrath of our God be turned away from 15 us for this sin. Then Jonathan the son of Azahel, and Jaasia the son of Thecua were appointed over this, and Mesollam and 16 Sebethai, Levites, helped them: And the children of the captivity did so. And Esdras the priest, and the men heads of the families in the houses of their fathers, and all by their names, went and sat down in the first day of the tenth month to ex-17 amine the matter. And they made an end with all the men that had taken strange wives by the first day of the first month.
18 And there were found among the sons of the priests that had taken strange wives: Of the sons of Josue the son of Josedec, and his brethren, Maasia, and Eliezer, and Jarib, and Godolia.
19 And they gave their hands to put away their wives, and to offer 20 for their offence a ram of the flock. And of the sons of Em-21 mer, Hanani, and Zebedia. And of the sons of Harim, Maasia, 22 and Elia, and Semeia, and Jehiel, and Ozias. And of the sons of Pheshur, Elioenai, Maasia, Ismael, Nathanael, Jozabed, and 23 Elasa. And of the sons of the Levites, Jozabed, and Semei, and Celaia, the same is Calita, Phataia, Juda, and Eliezer. And of 24 the singing men, Elisiab: and of the porters, Sellum, and Telem, and Uri. And of Israel, of the sons of Pharos, Remeia, and 25 Jezia, and Melchia, and Miamin, and Eliezer, and Melchia, and Banea. And of the sons of Elam, Mathania, Zacharias, and 26 Jehiel, and Abdi, and Jerimoth, and Elia. And of the sons of 27 Zethua, Elioenai, Eliasib, Mathania, Jerimuth, and Zabad, and Aziaza. And of the sons of Babai, Johanan, Hanania, Zabbai, 28 Athalai: And of the sons of Bani, Mosollam, and Melluch, and 29 Adai, Jasub, and Saal, and Ramoth. And of the sons of Pha- 30 hath, Moab, Edna, and Chalal, Banaias, and Maasias, Mathanias, Beseleel, Bennui, and Manasse. And of the sons of Herem, 31 Eliezer, Josue, Melchias, Semeias, Simeon, Benjamin, Maloch, 32 Samarias. And of the sons of Hasom, Mathanai, Mathatha, 33 Zabad, Eliphelet, Jermai, Manasse, Semei. Of the sons of Bani, 34 Maaddi, Amram, and Uel, Baneas, and Badaias, Cheliau, Va- 35, 36 nia, Marimuth, and Eliasib, Mathanias, Mathania, and Jasi, 37 And Bani, and Bennui, Semei, And Salmias, and Nathan, and 38, 39 Adaias, And Mechedebai, Sisai, Sarai, Ezrel, and Selemiau, 40, 41 Semeria, Sellum, Amaria, Joseph. Of the sons of Nebo, Je- 42, 43 hiel, Mathathias, Zabad, Zabina, Jeddu, and Joel, and Banaia.

 All these had taken strange wives, and there were among them 44 women that had borne children.

THE BOOK OF NEHEMIAH.

1 The words of Nehemias the son of Helchias. And it came to pass in the month of Casleu, in the twentieth year, 2 as I was in the castle of Susa, That Hanani one of my brethren came, he and some men of Juda; and I asked them concerning the Jews, that remained and were left of 3 the captivity, and concerning Jerusalem. And they said to me: They that have remained, and are left of the captivity there in the province, are in great affliction, and reproach: and the wall of Jerusalem is broken down, and the gates thereof are burnt 4 with fire. And when I had heard these words, I sat down, and wept, and mourned for many days: and I fasted, and prayed be-5 fore the face of the God of heaven. And I said: I beseech thee, O Lord God of heaven, strong, great, and terrible, who keep-est covenant and mercy with those that love thee, and keep thy 6 commandments: Let thy ears be attentive, and thy eyes open, to hear the prayer of thy servant, which I pray before thee now, night and day, for the children of Israel thy servants: and I conf-7 ess the sins of the children of Israel, by which they have sinned against thee: I and my father's house have sinned. We have been seduced by vanity, and have not kept thy commandments, and ceremonies and judgments, which thou hast commanded thy 8 servant Moses. Remember the word that thou commandedst to Moses thy servant, saying: If you shall transgress, I will scatter 9 you abroad among the nations: But if you return to me, and keep my commandments, and do them, though you should be led away to the uttermost parts of the world, I will gather you from thence, and bring you back to the place which I have chosen for 10 my name to dwell there. And these are thy servants, and thy people: whom thou hast redeemed by thy great strength, and 11 by thy mighty hand. I beseech thee, O Lord, let thy ear be attentive to the prayer of thy servant, and to the prayer of thy servants who desire to fear thy name: and direct thy servant this day, and give him mercy before this man. For I was the king's cupbearer.

And it came to pass in the month of Nisan, in the twentieth 2 year of Artaxerxes the king: that wine was before him, and I took up the wine, and gave it to the king: and I was as one languishing away before his face. And the king said to me: 2 Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou dost not appear to be sick? this is not without cause, but some evil, I know not what, is in thy heart. And I was seized with an exceeding great fear: And I said to the king: O king, live for ever: why should not 3 my countenance be sorrowful, seeing the city of the place of the sepulchres of my fathers is desolate, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire? Then the king said to me: For what dost thou 4 make request? And I prayed to the God of heaven, And I said 5 to the king: If it seem good to the king, and if thy servant hath found favour in thy sight, that thou wouldst send me into Judea to the city of the sepulchre of my father, and I will build it. And 6 the king said to me, and the queen that sat by him: For how long shall thy journey be, and when wilt thou return? And it pleased the king, and he sent me: and I fixed him a time. And 7 I said to the king: If it seem good to the king, let him give me letters to the governors of the country beyond the river, that they convey me over, till I come into Judea: And a letter to 8 Asaph the keeper of the king's forest, to give me timber that I may cover the gates of the tower of the house, and the walls of the city, and the house that I shall enter into. And the king gave me according to the good hand of my God with me. And I 9 came to the governors of the country beyond the river, and gave them the king's letters. And the king had sent with me captains of soldiers, and horsemen. And Sanaballat the Horonite, and 10 Tobias the servant, the Ammonite, heard it, and it grieved them exceedingly, that a man was come, who sought the prosperity of the children of Israel. And I came to Jerusalem, and was 11 there three days. And I arose in the night, I and some few 12 men with me, and I told not any man what God had put in my heart to do in Jerusalem, and there was no beast with me, but the beast that I rode upon. And I went out by night by 13 the gate of the valley, and before the dragon fountain, and to the dung gate, and I viewed the wall of Jerusalem which was broken down, and the gates thereof which were consumed with 14 fire. And I passed to the gate of the fountain, and to the king's aqueduct, and there was no place for the beast on which I rode 15 to pass. And I went up in the night by the torrent, and viewed the wall, and going back I came to the gate of the valley, and 16 returned. But the magistrates knew not whither I went, or what I did: neither had I as yet told any thing to the Jews, or to the priests, or to the nobles, or to the magistrates, or to 17 the rest that did the work. Then I said to them: You know the affliction wherein we are, because Jerusalem is desolate, and the gates thereof are consumed with fire: come, and let us build up the walls of Jerusalem, and let us be no longer a reproach.

18 And I shewed them how the hand of my God was good with me, and the king's words, which he had spoken to me, and I said: Let us rise up, and build. And their hands were strengthened in 19 good. But Sanaballat the Horonite, and Tobias the servant, the Ammonite, and Gossem the Arabian heard of it, and they scoffed at us, and despised us, and said: What is this thing that you 20 do? are you going to rebel against the king? And I answered them, and said to them: The God of heaven he helpeth us, and we are his servants: let us rise up and build: but you have no part, nor justice, nor remembrance in Jerusalem.

3 Then Eliasib the high priest arose, and his brethren the priests, and they built the flock gate: they sanctified it, and set up the doors thereof, even unto the tower of a hundred cubits they 2 sanctified it unto the tower of Hananeel. And next to him the men of Jericho built: and next to them built Zachur the son of 3 Amri. But the fish gate the sons of Asnaa built: they covered it, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks, and the bars.
And next to them built Marimuth the son of Urias the son of 4 Accus. And next to him built Mosollam the son of Barachias, the son of Merezebel, and next to them built Sadoc the son of 5 Baana. And next to them the Thecuites built: but their great 6 men did not put their necks to the work of their Lord. And Joiada the son of Phasea, and Mosollam the son of Besodia built the old gate: they covered it and set up the doors thereof, and 7 the locks, and the bars. And next to them built Meltias the Gabaonite, and Jadon the Meronathite, the men of Gabaon and Maspha, for the governor that was in the country beyond the river. And next to him built Eziel the son of Araia the gold- 8 smith: and next to him built Ananias the son of the perfumer: and they left Jerusalem unto the wall of the broad street. And 9 next to him built Raphaia the son of Hur, lord of the street of Jerusalem. And next to him Jedaia the son of Haromaph over 10 against his own house: and next to him built Hattus the son of Hasebonia. Melchias the son of Herem, and Hasub the son of 11 Phahath Moab, built half the street, and the tower of the furnaces. And next to him built Sellum the son of Alohes, lord 12 of half the street of Jerusalem, he and his daughters. And the 13 gate of the valley Hanun built, and the inhabitants of Zanoë: they built it, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks, and the bars, and a thousand cubits in the wall unto the gate of the dunghill. And the gate of the dunghill Melchias the son 14 of Rechab built, lord of the street of Bethacharam: he built it, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks, and the bars. And 15 the gate of the fountain, Sellum, the son of Cholhoza, built, lord of the street of Maspha: he built it, and covered it, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks, and the bars, and the walls of the pool of Siloe unto the king's guard, and unto the steps that go down from the city of David. After him built Nehemias the 16 son of Azboc, lord of half the street of Bethsur, as far as over against the sepulchre of David, and to the pool, that was built with great labour, and to the house of the mighty. After him 17 built the Levites, Rehum the son of Benni. After him built Hasebias, lord of half the street of Ceila in his own street. After him 18 built their brethren Bavai the son of Enadad, lord of half Ceila.

And next to him Aser the son of Josue, lord of Maspha, built 19 another measure, over against the going up of the strong corner.
After him in the mount Baruch the son of Zachai built another 20 measure, from the corner to the door of the house of Eliasib the high priest. After him Merimuth the son of Urias the son of 21 Haccus, built another measure, from the door of the house of Eliasib, to the end of the house of Eliasib. And after him built 22 the priests, the men of the plains of the Jordan. After him built 23 Benjamin and Hasub, over against their own house: and after him built Azarias the son of Maasias the son of Ananias over against his house. After him built Bennui the son of Hanadad 24 another measure, from the house of Azarias unto the bending, 25 and unto the corner. Phalel, the son of Ozi, over against the bending and the tower, which lieth out from the king's high house, that is, in the court of the prison: after him Phadaia the 26 son of Pharos. And the Nathinites dwelt in Ophel, as far as over against the water gate toward the east, and the tower that 27 stood out. After him the Thecutes built another measure over against, from the great tower that standeth out unto the wall of 28 the temple. And upward from the horse gate the priests built, 29 every man over against his house. After them built Sadoc the son of Emmer over against his house. And after him built Semaia 30 the son of Sechenias, keeper of the east gate. After him built Hanania the son of Selemia, and Hanun the sixth son of Seleph, another measure: after him built Mosollam the son of Barachias over against his treasury. After him Melcias the goldsmith's son built unto the house of the Nathinites, and of the sellers of small wares, over against the judgment gate, and unto the chamber of 31 the corner. And within the chamber of the corner of the flock gate, the goldsmiths and the merchants built.

4 And it came to pass, that when Sanaballat heard that we were building the wall he was angry: and being moved exceedingly he 2 scoffed at the Jews. And said before his brethren, and the multitude of the Samaritans: What are the silly Jews doing?
Will the Gentiles let them alone? will they sacrifice and make an end in a day? are they able to raise stones out of the heaps of 3 the rubbish, which are burnt? Tobias also the Ammonite who was by him said: Let them build: if a fox go up, he will leap 4 over their stone wall. Hear thou our God, for we are despised: turn their reproach upon their own head, and give them to be 5 despised in a land of captivity. Cover not their iniquity, and let not their sin be blotted out from before thy face, because they 6 have mocked thy builders. So we built the wall, and joined it all together unto the half thereof: and the heart of the people 7 was excited to work. And it came to pass, when Sanaballat, and Tobias, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Azotians heard that the walls of Jerusalem were made up, and the breaches 8 began to be closed, that they were exceedingly angry. And they all assembled themselves together, to come, and to fight against 9 Jerusalem, and to prepare ambushes. And we prayed to our God, and set watchmen upon the wall day and night against them. And Juda said: The strength of the bearer of burdens is 10 decayed, and the rubbish is very much, and we shall not be able to build the wall. And our enemies said: Let them not know, 11 nor understand, till we come in the midst of them, and kill them, and cause the work to cease. And it came to pass, that when 12 the Jews that dwelt by them came and told us ten times, out of all the places from whence they came to us, I set the people 13 in the place behind the wall round about in order, with their swords, and spears, and bows. And I looked and rose up: and I 14 said to the chief men and the magistrates, and to the rest of the common people: be not afraid of them. Remember the Lord who is great and terrible, and fight for your brethren, your sons, and your daughters, and your wives, and your houses. And it came 15 to pass, when our enemies heard that the thing had been told us, that God defeated their counsel. And we returned all of us to the walls, every man to his work. And it came to pass from 16 that day forward, that half of their young men did the work, and half were ready for to fight, with spears, and shields, and bows, and coats of mail, and the rulers were behind them in all the house of Juda. Of them that built on the wall and that 17 carried burdens, and that laded: with one of his hands he did the work, and with the other he held a sword. For every one of 18 the builders was girded with a sword about his reins. And they built, and sounded with a trumpet by me. And I said to the 19 nobles, and to the magistrates, and to the rest of the common people: The work is great and wide, and we are separated on the wall one far from another: In what place soever you shall hear 20 the sound of the trumpet, run all thither unto us: our God will fight for us. And let us do the work: and let one half of us hold 21 our spears from the rising of the morning, till the stars appear.

At that time also I said to the people: Let every one with his servant stay in the midst of Jerusalem, and let us take our turns in the night, and by day, to work. Now I and my brethren, and 22 my servants, and the watchmen that followed me, did not put off our clothes: only every man stripped himself when he was to be washed. 23

Now there was a great cry of the people, and of their wives 5 against their brethren the Jews. And there were some that said: 2 Our sons and our daughters are very many: let us take up corn

3 for the price of them, and let us eat and live. And there were some that said: Let us mortgage our lands, and our vineyards, 4 and our houses, and let us take corn because of the famine. And others said: Let us borrow money for the king's tribute, and let 5 us give up our fields and vineyards: And now our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren: and our children as their children.
Behold we bring into bondage our sons and our daughters, and some of our daughters are bondwomen already, neither have we wherewith to redeem them, and our fields and our vineyards 6 other men possess. And I was exceedingly angry when I heard 7 their cry according to these words. And my heart thought with myself: and I rebuked the nobles and magistrates, and said to them: Do you every one exact usury of your brethren? And I 8 gathered together a great assembly against them, And I said to them: We, as you know, have redeemed according to our ability our brethren the Jews, that were sold to the Gentiles: and will you then sell your brethren, for us to redeem them? And they 9 held their peace, and found not what to answer. And I said to them: The thing you do is not good: why walk you not in the fear of our God, that we be not exposed to the reproaches 10 of the Gentiles our enemies? Both I and my brethren, and my servants, have lent money and corn to many: let us all agree not to call for it again; let us forgive the debt that is owing to 11 us. Restore ye to them this day their fields, and their vineyards, and their oliveyards, and their houses: and the hundredth part of the money, and of the corn, the wine, and the oil, which you 12 were wont to exact of them, give it rather for them. And they said: We will restore, and we will require nothing of them: and we will do as thou sayest. And I called the priests and took an 13 oath of them, to do according to what I had said. Moreover I shook my lap, and said: So may God shake every man that shall not accomplish this word, out of his house, and out of his labours, thus may he be shaken out, and become empty. And all the multitude said: Amen. And they praised God. And the 14 people did according to what was said. And from the day, in which the king commanded me to be governor in the land of Juda, from the twentieth year even to the two and thirtieth year of Artaxerxes the king, for twelve years, I and my brethren did 15 not eat the yearly allowance that was due to the governors. But the former governors that had been before me, were chargeable to the people, and took of them in bread, and wine, and in money every day forty sicles: and their officers also oppressed the people. But I did not so for the fear of God. Moreover 16 I built in the work of the wall, and I bought no land, and all my servants were gathered together to the work. The Jews also 17 and the magistrates to the number of one hundred and fifty men, were at my table, besides them that came to us from among the nations that were round about us. And there was prepared for 18 me day by day one ox, and six choice rams, besides fowls, and once in ten days I gave store of divers wines, and many other things: yet I did not require my yearly allowance as governor: for the people were very much impoverished. Remember me, 19 O my God, for good according to all that I have done for this people.

And it came to pass, when Sanaballat, and Tobias, and Gossem 6 the Arabian, and the rest of our enemies, heard that I had built the wall, and that there was no breach left in it, (though at that time I had not set up the doors in the gates,) Sanaballat and 2 Gossem sent to me, saying: Come, and let us make a league together in the villages, in the plain of Ono. But they thought to do me mischief. And I sent messengers to them, saying: I am 3 doing a great work, and I cannot come down, lest it be neglected whilst I come, and go down to you. And they sent to me accord- 4 ing to this word, four times: and I answered them after the same manner. And Sanaballat sent his servant to me the fifth time 5 according to the former word, and he had a letter in his hand written in this manner: It is reported amongst the Gentiles, and 6 Gossem hath said it, that thou and the Jews think to rebel, and therefore thou buildest the wall, and hast a mind to set thyself king over them: for which end Thou hast also set up prophets, 7 to preach of thee at Jerusalem, saying: There is a king in Judea. The king will hear of these things: therefore come now, that we may take counsel together. And I sent to them, saying: There is 8 no such thing done as thou sayest: but thou feignest these things out of thy own heart. For all these men thought to frighten us, 9 thinking that our hands would cease from the work, and that we would leave off. Wherefore I strengthened my hands the more: And I went into the house of Samaia the son of Delaia, the son 10 of Metabeel privately. And he said: Let us consult together in the house of God in the midst of the temple: and let us shut the doors of the temple, for they will come to kill thee, and in the 11 night they will come to slay thee. And I said: Should such a man as I flee? and who is there that being as I am, would go into 12 the temple, to save his life? I will not go in. And I understood that God had not sent him, but that he had spoken to me as if he had been prophesying, and Tobias, and Sanaballat had hired 13 him. For he had taken money, that I being afraid should do this thing, and sin, and they might have some evil to upbraid 14 me withal. Remember me, O Lord, for Tobias and Sanaballat, according to their works of this kind: and Noadias the prophet, 15 and the rest of the prophets that would have put me in fear. But the wall was finished the five and twentieth day of the month of 16 Elul, in two and fifty days. And it came to pass when all our enemies heard of it, that all nations which were round about us, were afraid, and were cast down within themselves, for they perceived that this work was the work of God. Moreover in those days many letters were sent by the principal men of the Jews to 18 Tobias, and from Tobias there came letters to them. For there were many in Judea sworn to him, because he was the son in law of Sechenias the son of Area, and Johanan his son had taken to 19 wife the daughter of Mosollam the son of Barachias. And they praised him also before me, and they related my words to him: And Tobias sent letters to put me in fear.

7 Now after the wall was built, and I had set up the doors, and 2 numbered the porters and singing men, and Levites: I commanded Hanani my brother, and Hananias ruler of the house of Jerusalem, (for he seemed as a sincere man, and one that feared 3 God above the rest,) And I said to them: Let not the gates of Jerusalem be opened till the sun be hot. And while they were yet standing by the gates were shut, and barred: and I set watchmen of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, every one by their courses, 4 and every man over against his house. And the city was very wide and great, and the people few in the midst thereof, and 5 the houses were not built. But God had put in my heart, and I assembled the princes and magistrates, and common people, to number them: and I found a book of the number of them 6 who came up at first and therein it was found written: These are the children of the province, who came up from the captivity of them that had been carried away, whom Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon had carried away, and who returned into Judea, every one into his own city. The children of Hanan, the children of Geddel, the children of 50 Gaher, The children of Raaia, the children of Rasin, the chil-51 dren of Necoda, The children of Gezem, the children of Asa, 55 of Besloth, the children of Mahida, the children of Harsa, The Saphatia, the children of Hatil, the children of Phochereth, who 60 was born of Sabaim, the son of Amon. All the Nathinites, and the children of the servants of Solomon, three hundred ninety-61 two. And these are they that came up from Telmela, Thelharsa, Cherub, Addon, and Emmer: and could not shew the house of 62 their fathers, nor their seed, whether they were of Israel. The children of Dalai, the children of Tobia, the children of Necoda, 63 six hundred forty-two. And of the priests, the children of Habia, the children of Accos, the children of Berzellai, who took a wife of the daughters of Berzellai the Galaadite, and he was called 64 by their name. These sought their writing in the record, and 65 found it not: and they were cast out of the priesthood. And Athersatha said to them, that they should not eat of the holies of 66 holies, until there stood up a priest learned and skilful. All the multitude as it were one man, forty-two thousand three hundred 67 sixty, Beside their menservants and womenservants, who were seven thousand three hundred thirty-seven: and among them 68 singing men, and singing women, two hundred forty-five. Their horses, seven hundred thirty-six: their mules two hundred forty-five. Their camels, four hundred thirty-five, their asses, six 69 thousand seven hundred and twenty. And some of the heads 70 of the families gave unto the work. Athersatha gave into the treasure a thousand drams of gold, fifty bowls, and five hundred and thirty garments for priests. And some of the heads of fam- 71 ilies gave to the treasure of the work, twenty thousand drams of gold, and two thousand two hundred pounds of silver. And that 72 which the rest of the people gave, was twenty thousand drams of gold, and two thousand pounds of silver, and sixty-seven garments for priests. And the priests, and the Levites, and the 73 porters, and the singing men, and the rest of the common people, and the Nathinites, and all Israel dwelt in their cities.

And the seventh month came: and the children of Israel were 8 in their cities. And all the people were gathered together as one man to the street which is before the water gate, and they spoke to Esdras the scribe, to bring the book of the law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel. Then Esdras the priest 2 brought the law before the multitude of men and women, and all those that could understand, in the first day of the seventh month. And he read it plainly in the street that was before the 3 water gate, from the morning until midday, before the men, and the women, and all those that could understand: and the ears of all the people were attentive to the book. And Esdras the scribe 4 stood upon a step of wood, which he had made to speak upon, and there stood by him Mathathias, and Semeia, and Ania, and Uria, and Helcia, and Maasia, on his right hand: and on the left, Phadaia, Misael, and Melchia, and Hasum, and Hasbadana, Zacharia and Mosollam. And Esdras opened the book before 5 all the people: for he was above all the people: and when he had opened it, all the people stood. And Esdras blessed the Lord the 6 great God: and all the people answered, Amen, amen: lifting up their hands: and they bowed down, and adored God with their faces to the ground. Now Josue, and Bani, and Serebia, Jamin, 7 Accub, Sephtai, Odia, Maasia, Celtia, Azarias, Jozabed, Hanan, Phalaia, the Levites, made silence among the people to hear the law: and the people stood in their place. And they read in the 8 book of the law of God distinctly and plainly to be understood: and they understood when it was read. And Nehemias (he is 9 Athersatha) and Esdras the priest and scribe, and the Levites who interpreted to all the people, said: This is a holy day to the Lord our God: do not mourn, nor weep: for all the people wept, 10 when they heard the words of the law. And he said to them: Go, eat fat meats, and drink sweet wine, and send portions to them that have not prepared for themselves: because it is the holy day of the Lord, and be not sad: for the joy of the Lord is our 11 strength. And the Levites stilled all the people, saying: Hold 12 your peace, for the day is holy, and be not sorrowful. So all the people went to eat and drink, and to send portions, and to make great mirth: because they understood the words that he had 13 taught them. And on the second day the chiefs of the families of all the people, the priests, and the Levites were gathered together to Esdras the scribe, that he should interpret to them the words 14 of the law. And they found written in the law, that the Lord had commanded by the hand of Moses, that the children of Israel should dwell in tabernacles, on the feast, in the seventh month: 15 And that they should proclaim and publish the word in all their cities, and in Jerusalem, saying: Go forth to the mount, and fetch branches of olive, and branches of beautiful wood, branches of myrtle, and branches of palm, and branches of thick trees, to 16 make tabernacles, as it is written. And the people went forth, and brought. And they made themselves tabernacles every man on the top of his house, and in their courts, and in the courts of the house of God, and in the street of the water gate, and 17 in the street of the gate of Ephraim. And all the assembly of them that were returned from the captivity, made tabernacles, and dwelt in tabernacles: for since the days of Josue the son of Nun the children of Israel had not done so, until that day: and 18 there was exceeding great joy. And he read in the book of the law of God day by day, from the first day till the last, and they kept the solemnity seven days, and in the eighth day a solemn assembly according to the manner.

9 And in the four and twentieth day of the month the children of Israel came together with fasting and with sackcloth, and earth 2 upon them. And the seed of the children of Israel separated themselves from every stranger: and they stood, and confessed 3 their sins, and the iniquities of their fathers. And they rose up to stand: and they read in the book of the law of the Lord their God, four times in the day, and four times they confessed, and adored the Lord their God. And there stood up upon the step 4 of the Levites, Josue, and Bani, and Cedmihel, Sabania, Bonni, Sarebias, Bani, and Chanani: and they cried with a loud voice to the Lord their God. And the Levites Josue and Cedmihel, 5 Bonni, Hasebnia, Serebia, Oduia, Sebnia, and Phathahia, said: Arise, bless the Lord your God from eternity to eternity: and blessed be the high name of thy glory with all blessing and praise.

Thou thyself, O Lord alone, thou hast made heaven, and the 6 heaven of heavens, and all the host thereof: the earth and all things that are in it: the seas and all that are therein: and thou givest life to all these things, and the host of heaven adoreth thee.
Thou O Lord God, art he who cholest Abram, and broughtest 7 him forth out of the fire of the Chaldeans, and gavest him the name of Abraham. And thou didst find his heart faithful before 8 thee: and thou madest a covenant with him, to give him the land of the Chanaanite, of the Hethite, and of the Amorrhite, and of the Pherezite, and of the Jebusite, and of the Gergezite, to give it to his seed: and thou hast fulfilled thy words, because thou art just. And thou sawest the affliction of our fathers in 9 Egypt: and thou didst hear their cry by the Red Sea. And 10 thou shewedst signs and wonders upon Pharao, and upon all his servants, and upon the people of his land: for thou knewest that they dealt proudly against them: and thou madest thyself a name, as it is at this day. And thou didst divide the sea 11 before them, and they passed through the midst of the sea on dry land: but their persecutors thou threwest into the depth, as a stone into mighty waters. And in a pillar of a cloud thou wast 12 their leader by day, and in a pillar of fire by night, that they might see the way by which they went. Thou camest down 13 also to mount Sinai, and didst speak with them from heaven, and thou gavest them right judgments, and the law of truth, ceremonies, and good precepts. Thou madest known to them 14 thy holy sabbath, and didst prescribe to them commandments, and ceremonies, and the law by the hand of Moses thy servant.
And thou gavest them bread from heaven in their hunger, and 15 broughtest forth water for them out of the rock in their thirst, and thou saidst to them that they should go in, and possess the land, upon which thou hadst lifted up thy hand to give it them. But they and our fathers dealt proudly, and hardened 16

17 their necks and hearkened not to thy commandments. And they would not hear, and they remembered not thy wonders which thou hadst done for them. And they hardened their necks, and gave the head to return to their bondage, as it were by contention. But thou, a forgiving God, gracious, and merciful, longsuffering, and full of compassion, didst not forsake them.

18 Yea when they had made also to themselves a molten calf, and had said: This is thy God, that brought thee out of Egypt: 19 and had committed great blasphemies: Yet thou, in thy many mercies, didst not leave them in the desert: the pillar of the cloud departed not from them by day to lead them in the way, and the pillar of fire by night to shew them the way by which 20 they should go. And thou gavest them thy good Spirit to teach them, and thy manna thou didst not withhold from their mouth, 21 and thou gavest them water for their thirst. Forty years didst thou feed them in the desert, and nothing was wanting to them: their garments did not grow old, and their feet were not worn.

22 And thou gavest them kingdoms, and nations, and didst divide lots for them: and they possessed the land of Sehon, and the land of the king of Hesebon, and the land of Og king of Basan.

23 And thou didst multiply their children as the stars of heaven, and broughtest them to the land concerning which thou hadst 24 said to their fathers, that they should go in and possess it. And the children came and possessed the land, and thou didst humble before them the inhabitants of the land, the Chanaanites, and gavest them into their hands, with their kings, and the people of 25 the land, that they might do with them as it pleased them. And they took strong cities and a fat land, and possessed houses full of all goods: cisterns made by others, vineyards, and oliveyards, and fruit trees in abundance: and they ate, and were filled, and became fat, and abounded with delight in thy great goodness.

26 But they provoked thee to wrath, and departed from thee, and threw thy law behind their backs: and they killed thy prophets, who admonished them earnestly to return to thee: and they were 27 guilty of great blasphemies. And thou gavest them into the hands of their enemies, and they afflicted them. And in the time of their tribulation they cried to thee, and thou heardest from heaven, and according to the multitude of thy tender mercies thou gavest them saviours, to save them from the hands of their enemies. But after they had rest, they returned to do evil in thy sight: and thou leftest them in the hand of their enemies, and they had dominion over them. Then they returned, and cried to thee: and thou heardest from heaven, and deliveredst them many times in thy mercies. And thou didst admonish them to return to thy law. But they dealt proudly, and hearkened not to thy commandments, but sinned against thy judgments, which if a man do, he shall live in them: and they withdrew the shoulder, and hardened their neck, and would not hear. And thou didst forbear with them for many years, and didst testify against them by thy spirit by the hand of thy prophets: and they heard not, and thou didst deliver them into the hand of the people of the lands. Yet in thy very many mercies thou didst not utterly consume them, nor forsake them: because thou art a merciful and gracious God. Now therefore our God, great, strong, and terrible, who keepest covenant and mercy, turn not away from thy face all the labour which hath come upon us, upon our kings, and our princes, and our priests, and our prophets, and our fathers, and all the people from the days of the king of Assur, until this day. And thou art just in all things that have come upon us: because thou hast done truth, but we have done wickedly. Our kings, our princes, our priests, and our fathers have not kept thy law, and have not minded thy commandments, and thy testimonies which thou hast testified among them. And they have not served thee in their kingdoms, and in thy manifold goodness, which thou gavest them, and in the large and fat land, which thou deliveredst before them, nor did they return from their most wicked devices. Behold we ourselves this day are bondmen: and the land, which thou gavest our fathers, to eat the bread thereof, and the good things thereof, and we ourselves are servants in it. And the fruits thereof grow up for the kings, whom thou hast set over us for our sins, and they have dominion over our bodies, and over our beasts, according to their will, and we are in great tribulation. And because of all this we ourselves make a covenant, and write it, and our princes, our Levites, and our priests sign it.

brethren, with their chief men, and they came to promise, and swear that they would walk in the law of God, which he gave in the hand of Moses the servant of God, that they would do and keep all the commandments of the Lord our God, and his 30 judgments and his ceremonies. And that we would not give our daughters to the people of the land, nor take their daughters for 31 our sons. And if the people of the land bring in things to sell, or any things for use, to sell them on the sabbath day, that we would not buy them on the sabbath, or on the holy day. And that we would leave the seventh year, and the exaction of every 32 hand. And we made ordinances for ourselves, to give the third part of a sicle every year for the work of the house of our God, 33 For the loaves of proposition, and for the continual sacrifice, and for a continual holocaust on the sabbaths, on the new moons, on the set feasts, and for the holy things, and for the sin offering: that atonement might be made for Israel, and for every use of the 34 house of our God. And we cast lots among the priests, and the Levites, and the people for the offering of wood, that it might be brought into the house of our God by the houses of our fathers at set times, from year to year: to burn upon the altar of the 35 Lord our God, as it is written in the law of Moses: And that we would bring the firstfruits of our land, and the firstfruits of all fruit of every tree, from year to year, in the house of our Lord.

And the firstborn of our sons, and of our cattle, as it is written 36 in the law, and the firstlings of our oxen, and of our sheep, to be offered in the house of our God, to the priests who minister in the house of our God. And that we would bring the firstfruits 37 of our meats, and of our libations, and the fruit of every tree, of the vintage also and of oil to the priests, to the storehouse of our God, and the tithes of our ground to the Levites. The Levites also shall receive the tithes of our works out of all the cities.
And the priest the son of Aaron shall be with the Levites in the 38 tithes of the Levites, and the Levites shall offer the tithe of their tithes in the house of our God, to the storeroom into the treasure house. For the children of Israel and the children of Levi 39 shall carry to the treasury the firstfruits of corn, of wine, and of oil: and the sanctified vessels shall be there, and the priests, and the singing men, and the porters, and ministers, and we will not forsake the house of our God.

And the princes of the people dwelt at Jerusalem: but the 11 rest of the people cast lots, to take one part in ten to dwell in Jerusalem the holy city, and nine parts in the other cities. And 2 the people blessed all the men that willingly offered themselves to dwell in Jerusalem. These therefore are the chief men of 3 the province, who dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the cities of Juda.
And every one dwelt in his possession, in their cities: Israel, the priests, the Levites, the Nathinites, and the children of the servants of Solomon. And in Jerusalem there dwelt some of the 4 children of Juda, and some of the children of Benjamin: of the Cholhoza, the son of Hazia, the son of Adaia, the son of Joiarib, of Phares, who dwelt in Jerusalem, were four hundred sixty-eight valiant men. And these are the children of Benjamin: 7 Sellum the son of Mosollam, the son of Joed, the son of Phadaia, the son of Colaia, the son of Masia, the son of Etheel, the son of Isaia. And after him Gebbai, Sellai, nine hundred twenty- 8 two. And Amassai the son of Azreel, the son of Ahazi, the 14 son of Mosollamoth, the son of Emmer, And their brethren who were very mighty, a hundred twenty-eight: and their ruler

16 Boni, And Sabathai and Jozabed, who were over all the outward 17 business of the house of God, of the princes of the Levites, And Mathania the son of Micha, the son of Zebedei, the son of Asaph, was the principal man to praise, and to give glory in prayer, and Becbecia, the second, one of his brethren, and Abda the 18 son of Samua, the son of Galal, the son of Idithun. All the 19 Levites in the holy city were two hundred eighty-four. And the porters, Accub, Telmon, and their brethren, who kept the 20 doors: a hundred seventy-two. And the rest of Israel, the priests and the Levites were in all the cities of Juda, every man in his 21 possession. And the Nathinites, that dwelt in Ophel, and Siaha, 22 and Gaspah of the Nathinites. And the overseer of the Levites in Jerusalem, was Azzi the son of Bani, the son of Hasabia, the son of Mathania, the son of Micha. Of the sons of Asaph, were the 23 singing men in the ministry of the house of God. For the king's commandment was concerning them, and an order among the 24 singing men day by day. And Phathahia the son of Mesezebel of the children of Zara the son of Juda was at the hand of the 25 king, in all matters concerning the people, And in the houses through all their countries. Of the children of Juda some dwelt at Cariath-Arbe, and in the villages thereof: and at Dibon, and in the villages thereof: and at Cabseel, and in the villages thereof.
26, 27 And at Jesue, and at Molada, and at Bethphaleth, And at 28 Hasersuel, and at Bersabee, and in the villages thereof, And at 29 Siceleg, and at Mochona, and in the villages thereof, And at 30 Remmon, and at Saraa, and at Jerimuth, Zanoa, Odollam, and in their villages, at Lachis and its dependencies, and at Azeca and the villages thereof. And they dwelt from Bersabee unto the valley of Ennom. And the children of Benjamin, from Geba, at 31 Mechmas, and at Hai, and at Bethel, and in the villages thereof, At Anathoth, Nob, Anania, Asor, Rama, Gethaim, Hadid, 32, 33, 34 Seboim, and Neballat, Lod, And Ono the valley of craftsmen. 35

 And of the Levites were portions of Juda and Benjamin. 36

Now these are the priests and the Levites, that went up with 12 Zorobabel the son of Salathiel, and Josue: Saraia, Jeremias, Esdras, Amaria, Melluch, Hattus, Sebenias, Rheum, Merimuth, 2, 3 Addo, Genthon, Abia, Miamin, Madia, Belga, Semeia, and 4, 5, 6 Joiarib, Idaia, Sellum Amoc, Helcias, Idaia. These were the 7 chief of the priests, and of their brethren in the days of Josue. And the Levites, Jesua, Bennui, Cedmihel, Sarebia, Juda, 8 Mathanias, they and their brethren were over the hymns: And 9 Becbecia, and Hanni, and their brethren every one in his office.
 And Josue begot Joacim, and Joacim begot Eliasib, and Eliasib 10 begot Joiada, And Joiada begot Jonathan and Jonathan be- 11 got Jeddoa. And in the days of Joacim the priests and heads 12 of the families were: Of Saraia, Maraia: of Jeremias, Hanania: Of Esdras, Mosollam: and of Amaria, Johanan: Of Milicho, 13, 14 Jonathan: of Sebenia, Joseph: Of Haram, Edna: of Maraioth, 15 Helci: Of Adaia, Zacharia: of Genthon, Mosollam: Of Abia, 16, 17 Zechri: of Miamin and Moadia, Phelti: Of Belga, Sammua of 18 Semaia, Jonathan: Of Joiarib, Mathanai: of Jodaia, Azzi: Of 19, 20 Sellai, Celai: of Amoc, Heber: Of Helcias, Hasebia: of Idaia, 21 Nathanael. The Levites the chiefs of the families in the days of 22 Eliasib, and Joiada, and Johanan, and Jeddoa, were recorded, and the priests in the reign of Darius the Persian. The sons of 23 Levi, heads of the families were written in the book of Chronicles, even unto the days of Jonathan the son of Eliasib. Now 24 the chief of the Levites were Hasebia, Serebia, and Josue the son of Cedmihel: and their brethren by their courses, to praise and to give thanks according to the commandment of David the man of God, and to wait equally in order. Mathania, and 25 Becbecia, Obedia, and Mosollam, Telmon, Accub, were keepers of the gates and of the entrances before the gates. These were 26 in the days of Joacim the son of Josue, the son of Josedec, and in the days of Nehemias the governor, and of Esdras the priest and scribe. And at the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem 27 they sought the Levites out of all their places, to bring them to Jerusalem, and to keep the dedication, and to rejoice with thanksgiving, and with singing, and with cymbals, and psalteries and harps. And the sons of the singing men were gathered together out of the plain country about Jerusalem, and out of the villages of Nethuphati, And from the house of Galgal, and from the countries of Geba and Azmaveth: for the singing men had built themselves villages round about Jerusalem. And the priests and the Levites were purified, and they purified the people, and the gates, and the wall. And I made the princes of Juda go up upon the wall, and I appointed two great choirs to give praise. And they went on the right hand upon the wall toward the dung gate. And after them went Osaias, and half of the princes of Juda, And Azarias, Esdras, and Mosollam, Judas, and Benjamin, and Semeia, and Jeremias. And of the sons of the priests with trumpets, Zacharias the son of Jonathan, the son of Semeia, the son of Mathania, the son of Michaia, the son of Zechur, the son of Asaph, And his brethren Semeia, and Azareel, Malalai, Galalai, Maai, Nathanael, and Judas, and Hanani, with the musical instruments of David the man of God: and Esdras the scribe before them at the fountain gate. And they went up over against them by the stairs of the city of David, at the going up of the wall of the house of David, and to the water gate eastward: And the second choir of them that gave thanks went on the opposite side, and I after them, and the half of the people upon the wall, and upon the tower of the furnaces, even to the broad wall, And above the gate of Ephraim, and above the old gate, and above the fish gate and the tower of Hananeel, and the tower of Emath, and even to the flock gate: and they stood still in the watch gate. And the two choirs of them that gave praise stood still at the house of God, and I and the half of the magistrates with me. And the priests, Eliachim, Maasia, Miamin, Michea, Elioenai, Zacharia, Hanania with trumpets, And Maasia, and Semeia, and Eleazar, and Azzi, and Johanan, and Melchia, and Elam, and Ezer. And the singers sung loud, and Jezraia was their overseer: And they sacrificed on that day great sacrifices, and they rejoiced: for God had made them joyful with great joy: their wives also and their children rejoiced, and the joy of Jerusalem was heard afar off. They appointed also in that day men over the storehouses of the treasure, for the libations, and for the firstfruits, and for the tithes, that the rulers of the city might bring them in by them in honour of thanksgiving, for the priests and Levites: for Juda was joyful in the priests and Levites that assisted. And they kept the watch of their God, and the observance of expiation, and the singing men, and the porters, according to the commandment of David, and of Solomon his son. For in the days of David and Asaph from the beginning there were chief singers appointed, to praise with canticles, and give thanks to God. And all Israel, in the days of Zorobabel, and in the days of Nehemias gave portions to the singing men, and to the porters, day by day, and they sanctified the Levites, and the Levites sanctified the sons of Aaron.

And on that day they read in the book of Moses in the hearing of the people: and therein was found written, that the Ammonites and the Moabites should not come in to the church of God for ever: Because they met not the children of Israel with bread and water: and they hired against them Balaam, to curse them, and our God turned the curse into blessing. And it came to pass, when they had heard the law, that they separated every stranger from Israel. And over this thing was Eliasib the priest, who was set over the treasury of the house of our God, and was near akin to Tobias. And he made him a great storeroom, where before him they laid up gifts, and frankincense, and vessels, and the tithes of the corn, of the wine, and of the oil, the portions of the Levites, and of the singing men, and of the porters, and the firstfruits of the priests. But in all this time I was not in Jerusalem, because in the two and thirtieth year of Artaxerxes king of Babylon, I went to the king, and after certain days I asked the king: And I came to Jerusalem, and I understood the evil that Eliasib had done for Tobias, to make him a storehouse in the courts of the house of God. And it seemed to me exceeding evil. And I cast forth the vessels of the house of Tobias out of the storehouse. And I commanded and they cleansed again the vessels of the house of God, the sacrifice, and the frankincense. And I perceived that the portions of the Levites had not been given them: and that the Levites, and the singing men, and they that ministered were fled away every man to his own country: And I pleaded the matter against the magistrates, and said: Why have we forsaken the house of God? And I gathered 12 them together, and I made them to stand in their places. And all Juda brought the tithe of the corn, and the wine, and the oil 13 into the storehouses. And we set over the storehouses Selemlas the priest, and Sadoc the scribe, and of the Levites Phadaia, and next to them Hanan the son of Zachur, the son of Mathania: for they were approved as faithful, and to them were committed the 14 portions of their brethren. Remember me, O my God, for this thing, and wipe not out my kindnesses, which I have done relat-15 ing to the house of my God and his ceremonies. In those days I saw in Juda some treading the presses on the sabbath, and carrying sheaves, and lading asses with wine, and grapes, and figs, and all manner of burthens, and bringing them into Jerusalem on the sabbath day. And I charged them that they should sell on 16 a day on which it was lawful to sell. Some Tyrians also dwelt there, who brought fish, and all manner of wares: and they sold 17 them on the sabbaths to the children of Juda in Jerusalem. And I rebuked the chief men of Juda, and said to them: What is this 18 evil thing that you are doing, profaning the sabbath day: Did not our fathers do these things, and our God brought all this evil upon us, and upon this city? And you bring more wrath upon 19 Israel by violating the sabbath. And it came to pass, that when the gates of Jerusalem were at rest on the sabbath day, I spoke: and they shut the gates, and I commanded that they should not open them till after the sabbath: and I set some of my servants at the gates, that none should bring in burthens on the sabbath 20 day. So the merchants, and they that sold all kinds of wares, 21 stayed without Jerusalem, once or twice. And I charged them, and I said to them: Why stay you before the wall? if you do so another time, I will lay hands on you. And from that time 22 they came no more on the sabbath. I spoke also to the Levites that they should be purified, and should come to keep the gates, and to sanctify the sabbath day: for this also remember me, O my God, and spare me according to the multitude of thy ten-23 der mercies. In those days also I saw Jews that married wives, 24 women of Azotus, and of Ammon, and of Moab. And their children spoke half in the speech of Azotus, and could not speak the Jews' language, but they spoke according to the language 25 of this and that people. And I chid them, and laid my curse upon them. And I beat some of them, and shaved off their hair, and made them swear by God that they would not give their daughters to their sons, nor take their daughters for their sons, nor for themselves, saying: Did not Solomon king of Israel sin 26 in this kind of thing: and surely among many nations, there was not a king like him, and he was beloved of his God, and God made him king over all Israel: and yet women of other countries brought even him to sin. And shall we also be disobedient and 27 do all this great evil to transgress against our God, and marry strange women: And one of the sons of Joiada the son of Eliasib 28 the high priest, was son in law to Sanaballat the Horonite, and I drove him from me. Remember them, O Lord my God, that 29 defile the priesthood, and the law of priests and Levites. So I 30 separated from them all strangers, and I appointed the courses of the priests and the Levites, every man in his ministry: And for 31 the offering of wood at times appointed, and for the firstfruits: remember me, O my God, unto good. Amen.

THE BOOK OF ESTHER.

1  n the days of Assuerus, who reigned from India to Ethiopia over a hundred and twenty seven provinces: 2 When he sat on the throne of his kingdom, the city Su-3 san was the capital of his kingdom. Now in the third year of his reign he made a great feast for all the princes, and for his servants, for the most mighty of the Persians, and the nobles of the Medes, and the governors of the provinces in his sight, 4 That he might shew the riches of the glory of his kingdom, and the greatness, and boasting of his power, for a long time, to wit, 5 for a hundred and fourscore days. And when the days of the feast were expired, he invited all the people that were found in Susan, from the greatest to the least: and commanded a feast to be made seven days in the court of the garden, and of the wood, which was planted by the care and the hand of the king.
6 And there were hung up on every side sky coloured, and green, and violet hangings, fastened with cords of silk, and of purple, which were put into rings of ivory, and were held up with marble pillars. The beds also were of gold and silver, placed in order upon a floor paved with porphyry and white marble: which was 7 embellished with painting of wonderful variety. And they that were invited, drank in golden cups, and the meats were brought in divers vessels one after another. Wine also in abundance and of the best was presented, as was worthy of a king's magnifi-8 cence. Neither was there any one to compel them to drink that were not willing, but as the king had appointed, who set over every table one of his nobles, that every man might take what 9 he would. Also Vasthi the queen made a feast for the women 10 in the palace, where king Assuerus was used to dwell. Now on the seventh day, when the king was merry, and after very much drinking was well warmed with wine, he commanded Mauman, and Bazatha, and Harbona, and Bagatha, and Abgatha, and Zethar, and Charcas, the seven eunuchs that served in his presence, To bring in queen Vasthi before the king, with the crown set upon her head, to shew her beauty to all the people and the princes: for she was exceeding beautiful. But she refused, and would not come at the king's commandment, which he had signified to her by the eunuchs. Whereupon the king, being angry, and inflamed with a very great fury, Asked the wise men, who according to the custom of the kings, were always near his person, and all he did was by their counsel, who knew the laws, and judgments of their forefathers: (Now the chief and nearest him were, Charsena, and Sethar, and Admatha, and Tharsis, and Mares, and Marsana, and Mamuchan, seven princes of the Persians and of the Medes, who saw the face of the king, and were used to sit first after him:) What sentence ought to pass upon Vasthi the queen, who had refused to obey the commandment of king Assuerus, which he had sent to her by the eunuchs? And Mamuchan answered, in the hearing of the king and the princes: Queen Vasthi hath not only injured the king, but also all the people and princes that are in all the provinces of king Assuerus. For this deed of the queen will go abroad to all women, so that they will despise their husbands, and will say: King Assuerus commanded that queen Vasthi should come in to him, and she would not. And by this example all the wives of the princes of the Persians and the Medes will slight the commandments of their husbands: wherefore the king's indignation is just. If it please thee, let an edict go out from thy presence, and let it be written according to the law of the Persians and of the Medes, which must not be altered, that Vasthi come in no more to the king, but another, that is better than her, be made queen in her place. And let this be published through all the provinces of thy empire, (which is very wide,) and let all wives, as well of the greater as of the lesser, give honour to their husbands. His counsel pleased the king, and the princes: and the king did according to the counsel of Mamuchan. And he sent letters to all the provinces of his kingdom, as every nation could hear and read, in divers languages and characters, that the husbands should be rulers and masters in their houses: and that this should be published to every people.

After this, when the wrath of king Assuerus was appeased, he remembered Vasthi, and what she had done and what she

2 had suffered: And the king's servants and his officers said: Let 3 young women be sought for the king, virgins and beautiful, And let some persons be sent through all the provinces to look for beautiful maidens and virgins: and let them bring them to the city of Susan, and put them into the house of the women under the hand of Egeus the eunuch, who is the overseer and keeper of the king's women: and let them receive women's ornaments, 4 and other things necessary for their use. And whosoever among them all shall please the king's eyes, let her be queen instead of Vasthi. The word pleased the king: and he commanded it should 5 be done as they had suggested. There was a man in the city of Susan, a Jew, named Mardochai, the son of Jair, the son of 6 Semei, the son of Cis, of the race of Jemini, Who had been carried away from Jerusalem at the time that Nabuchodonosor king 7 of Babylon carried away Jechonias king of Juda, And he had brought up his brother's daughter Edissa, who by another name was called Esther: now she had lost both her parents: and was exceeding fair and beautiful. And her father and mother being 8 dead, Mardochai adopted her for his daughter. And when the king's ordinance was noised abroad, and according to his commandment many beautiful virgins were brought to Susan, and were delivered to Egeus the eunuch: Esther also among the rest of the maidens was delivered to him to be kept in the number 9 of the women. And she pleased him, and found favour in his sight. And he commanded the eunuch to hasten the women's ornaments, and to deliver to her her part, and seven of the most beautiful maidens of the king's house, and to adorn and deck 10 out both her and her waiting maids. And she would not tell him her people nor her country. For Mardochai had charged her 11 to say nothing at all of that: And he walked every day before the court of the house, in which the chosen virgins were kept, having a care for Esther's welfare, and desiring to know what 12 would befall her. Now when every virgin's turn came to go in to the king, after all had been done for setting them off to advantage, it was the twelfth month: so that for six months they were anointed with oil of myrrh, and for other six months they used 13 certain perfumes and sweet spices. And when they were going in to the king, whatsoever they asked to adorn themselves they received: and being decked out, as it pleased them, they passed from the chamber of the women to the king's chamber. And 14 she that went in at evening, came out in the morning, and from thence she was conducted to the second house, that was under the hand of Susagaz the eunuch, who had the charge over the king's concubines: neither could she return any more to the king, unless the king desired it, and had ordered her by name to come.

And as the time came orderly about, the day was at hand, when 15 Esther, the daughter of Abihail the brother of Mardochai, whom he had adopted for his daughter, was to go in to the king. But she sought not women's ornaments, but whatsoever Egeus the eunuch the keeper of the virgins had a mind, he gave her to adorn her. For she was exceeding fair, and her incredible beauty made her appear agreeable and amiable in the eyes of all. So she 16 was brought to the chamber of king Assuerus the tenth month, which is called Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign. And 17 the king loved her more than all the women, and she had favour and kindness before him above all the women, and he set the royal crown on her head, and made her queen instead of Vasthi.
And he commanded a magnificent feast to be prepared for all 18 the princes, and for his servants, for the marriage and wedding of Esther, And he gave rest to all the provinces, and bestowed gifts according to princely magnificence. And when the virgins 19 were sought the second time, and gathered together, Mardochai stayed at the king's gate, Neither had Esther as yet declared 20 her country and people, according to his commandment. For whatsoever he commanded, Esther observed: and she did all things in the same manner as she was wont at that time when he brought her up a little one. At that time, therefore, when 21 Mardochai abode at the king's gate, Bagathan and Thares, two of the king's eunuchs, who were porters, and presided in the first entry of the palace, were angry: and they designed to rise up against the king, and to kill him. And Mardochai had notice of 22 it, and immediately he told it to queen Esther: and she to the king in Mardochai's name, who had reported the thing unto her.
It was inquired into, and found out: and they were both hanged 23 on a gibbet. And it was put in the histories, and recorded in the chronicles before the king.

After these things, king Assuerus advanced Aman, the son of 3 Amadathi, who was of the race of Agag: and he set his throne

2 above all the princes that were with him. And all the king's servants, that were at the doors of the palace, bent their knees, and worshipped Aman: for so the emperor had commanded them, 3 only Mardochai did not bend his knee, nor worship him. And the king's servants that were chief at the doors of the palace, said to him: Why dost thou alone not observe the king's com-4 mandment? And when they were saying this often, and he would not hearken to them, they told Aman, desirous to know whether he would continue in his resolution: for he had told 5 them that he was a Jew. Now when Aman had heard this, and had proved by experience that Mardochai did not bend his 6 knee to him, nor worship him, he was exceeding angry. And he counted it nothing to lay his hands upon Mardochai alone: for he had heard that he was of the nation of the Jews, and he chose rather to destroy all the nation of the Jews that were in 7 the kingdom of Assuerus. In the first month (which is called Nisan) in the twelfth year of the reign of Assuerus, the lot was cast into an urn, which in Hebrew is called Phur, before Aman, on what day and what month the nation of the Jews should be destroyed: and there came out the twelfth month, which is called 8 Adar. And Aman said to king Assuerus: There is a people scattered through all the provinces of thy kingdom, and separated one from another, that use new laws and ceremonies, and moreover despise the king's ordinances: and thou knowest very well that it is not expedient for thy kingdom that they should grow 9 insolent by impunity. If it please thee, decree that they may be destroyed, and I will pay ten thousand talents to thy treasurers.
10 And the king took the ring that he used, from his own hand, and gave it to Aman, the son of Amadathi of the race of Agag, 11 the enemy of the Jews, And he said to him: As to the money which thou promisest, keep it for thyself: and as to the people, 12 do with them as seemeth good to thee. And the king's scribes were called in the first month Nisan, on the thirteenth day of the same month: and they wrote, as Aman had commanded, to all the king's lieutenants, and to the judges of the provinces, and of divers nations, as every nation could read, and hear according to their different languages, in the name of king Assuerus: and the 13 letters, sealed with his ring, Were sent by the king's messengers to all provinces, to kill and destroy all the Jews, both young and old, little children, and women, in one day, that is, on the thirteenth of the twelfth month, which is called Adar, and to make a spoil of their goods. And the contents of the letters were to this effect, that all provinces might know and be ready against that day. The couriers that were sent made haste to fulfil the king's commandment. And immediately the edict was hung up in Susan, the king and Aman feasting together, and all the Jews that were in the city weeping.

Now when Mardochai had heard these things, he rent his garments, and put on sackcloth, strewing ashes on his head and he cried with a loud voice in the street in the midst of the city, shewing the anguish of his mind. And he came lamenting in this manner even to the gate of the palace: for no one clothed with sackcloth might enter the king's court. And in all provinces, towns, and places, to which the king's cruel edict was come, there was great mourning among the Jews, with fasting, wailing, and weeping, many using sackcloth and ashes for their bed. Then Esther's maids and her eunuchs went in, and told her. And when she heard it she was in a consternation and she sent a garment, to clothe him, and to take away the sackcloth: but he would not receive it. And she called for Athach the eunuch, whom the king had appointed to attend upon her, and she commanded him to go to Mardochai, and learn of him why he did this. And Athach going out went to Mardochai, who was standing in the street of the city, before the palace gate: And Mardochai told him all that had happened, how Aman had promised to pay money into the king's treasures, to have the Jews destroyed. He gave him also a copy of the edict which was hanging up in Susan, that he should shew it to the queen, and admonish her to go in to the king, and to entreat him for her people. And Athach went back and told Esther all that Mardochai had said. She answered him, and bade him say to Mardochai: All the king's servants, and all the provinces that are under his dominion, know, that whosoever, whether man or woman, cometh into the king's inner court, who is not called for, is immediately to be put to death without any delay: except the king shall hold out the golden sceptre to him, in token of clemency, that so he may live. How then can I go in to the king, who for these thirty days now have not been called unto him? And when Mardochai had heard

13 this, He sent word to Esther again, saying: Think not that thou mayst save thy life only, because thou art in the king's 14 house, more than all the Jews: For if thou wilt now hold thy peace, the Jews shall be delivered by some other occasion: and thou, and thy father's house shall perish. And who knoweth whether thou art not therefore come to the kingdom, that thou 15 mightest be ready in such a time as this? And again Esther 16 sent to Mardochai in these words: Go, and gather together all the Jews whom thou shalt find in Susan, and pray ye for me.
Neither eat nor drink for three days and three nights: and I with my handmaids will fast in like manner, and then I will go in to the king, against the law, not being called, and expose myself 17 to death and to danger. So Mardochai went, and did all that Esther had commanded him.

5 And on the third day Esther put on her royal apparel, and stood in the inner court of the king's house, over against the king's hall: now he sat upon his throne in the hall of the palace, 2 over against the door of the house. And when he saw Esther the queen standing, she pleased his eyes, and he held out toward her the golden sceptre, which he held in his hand and she drew 3 near, and kissed the top of his sceptre. And the king said to her: What wilt thou, queen Esther? what is thy request? if thou shouldst even ask one half of the kingdom, it shall be given to 4 thee. But she answered: If it please the king, I beseech thee to come to me this day, and Aman with thee to the banquet which 5 I have prepared. And the king said forthwith: Call ye Aman quickly, that he may obey Esther's will. So the king and Aman came to the banquet which the queen had prepared for them.
6 And the king said to her, after he had drunk wine plentifully: What dost thou desire should be given thee? and for what thing askest thou? although thou shouldst ask the half of my kingdom, 7 thou shalt have it. And Esther answered: My petition and 8 request is this: If I have found favour in the king's sight, and if it please the king to give me what I ask, and to fulfil my petition: let the king and Aman come to the banquet which I have prepared them, and to morrow I will open my mind to 9 the king. So Aman went out that day joyful and merry. And when he saw Mardochai sitting before the gate of the palace, and that he not only did not rise up to honour him, but did not so much as move from the place where he sat, he was exceedingly angry: But dissembling his anger, and returning into his house, he called together to him his friends, and Zares his wife: And he declared to them the greatness of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and with how great glory the king had advanced him above all his princes and servants. And after this he said: Queen Esther also hath invited no other to the banquet with the king, but me: and with her I am also to dine to morrow with the king: And whereas I have all these things, I think I have nothing, so long as I see Mardochai the Jew sitting before the king's gate. Then Zares his wife, and the rest of his friends answered him: Order a great beam to be prepared, fifty cubits high, and in the morning speak to the king, that Mardochai may be hanged upon it, and so thou shalt go full of joy with the king to the banquet. The counsel pleased him, and he commanded a high gibbet to be prepared.

That night the king passed without sleep, and he commanded the histories and chronicles of former times to be brought him. And when they were reading them before him, They came to that place where it was written, how Mardochai had discovered the treason of Bagathan and Thares the eunuchs, who sought to kill king Assuerus. And when the king heard this, he said: What honour and reward hath Mardochai received for this fidelity? His servants and ministers said to him: He hath received no reward at all. And the king said immediately: Who is in the court? for Aman was coming in to the inner court of the king's house, to speak to the king, that he might order Mardochai to be hanged upon the gibbet, which was prepared for him. The servants answered: Aman standeth in the court, and the king said: Let him come in. And when he was come in, he said to him: What ought to be done to the man whom the king is desirous to honour? But Aman thinking in his heart, and supposing that the king would honour no other but himself, Answered: The man whom the king desireth to honour, Ought to be clothed with the king's apparel, and to be set upon the horse that the king rideth upon, and to have the royal crown upon his head, And let the first of the king's princes and nobles hold his horse, and going through the street of the city, proclaim before him and say: Thus shall he be honoured, whom the king hath a mind to 10 honour. And the king said to him: Make haste and take the robe and the horse, and do as thou hast spoken to Mardochai the Jew, who sitteth before the gates of the palace. Beware 11 thou pass over any of those things which thou hast spoken. So Aman took the robe and the horse, and arraying Mardochai in the street of the city, and setting him on the horse, went before him, and proclaimed: This honour is he worthy of, whom the 12 king hath a mind to honour. But Mardochai returned to the palace gate: and Aman made haste to go to his house, mourning 13 and having his head covered: And he told Zares his wife, and his friends, all that had befallen him. And the wise men whom he had in counsel, and his wife answered him: If Mardochai be of the seed of the Jews, before whom thou hast begun to fall, 14 thou canst not resist him, but thou shalt fall in his sight. As they were yet speaking, the king's eunuchs came, and compelled him to go quickly to the banquet which the queen had prepared.

7, 2 So the king and Aman went in, to drink with the queen. And the king said to her again the second day, after he was warm with wine: What is thy petition, Esther, that it may be granted thee? and what wilt thou have done: although thou ask the half of my 3 kingdom, thou shalt have it. Then she answered: If I have found favour in thy sight, O king, and if it please thee, give me 4 my life for which I ask, and my people for which I request. For we are given up, I and my people, to be destroyed, to be slain, and to perish. And would God we were sold for bondmen and bondwomen: the evil might be borne with, and I would have mourned in silence: but now we have an enemy, whose cruelty 5 redoundeth upon the king. And king Assuerus answered and said: Who is this, and of what power, that he should do these 6 things? And Esther said: It is this Aman that is our adversary and most wicked enemy. Aman hearing this was forthwith astonished, not being able to bear the countenance of the king 7 and of the queen. But the king being angry rose up, and went from the place of the banquet into the garden set with trees. Aman also rose up to entreat Esther the queen for his life, for 8 he understood that evil was prepared for him by the king. And when the king came back out of the garden set with trees, and entered into the place of the banquet, he found Aman was fallen upon the bed on which Esther lay, and he said: He will force the queen also in my presence, in my own house. The word was not yet gone out of the king's mouth, and immediately they covered his face. And Harbona, one of the eunuchs that stood waiting 9 on the king, said: Behold the gibbet which he hath prepared for Mardochai, who spoke for the king, standeth in Aman's house, being fifty cubits high. And the king said to him: Hang him upon it. So Aman was hanged on the gibbet, which he had 10 prepared for Mardochai: and the king's wrath ceased.

On that day king Assuerus gave the house of Aman, the Jews' 8 enemy, to queen Esther, and Mardochai came in before the king. For Esther had confessed to him that he was her uncle. And 2 the king took the ring which he had commanded to be taken again from Aman, and gave it to Mardochai. And Esther set Mardochai over her house. And not content with these things, 3 she fell down at the king's feet and wept, and speaking to him besought him, that he would give orders that the malice of Aman the Agagite, and his most wicked devices which he had invented against the Jews, should be of no effect. But he, as the manner 4 was, held out the golden sceptre with his hand, which was the sign of clemency: and she arose up and stood before him, And 5 said: If it please the king, and if I have found favour in his sight, and my request be not disagreeable to him, I beseech thee, that the former letters of Aman the traitor and enemy of the Jews, by which he commanded that they should be destroyed in all the king's provinces, may be reversed by new letters. For how can 6 I endure the murdering and slaughter of my people? And king 7 Assuerus answered Esther the queen, and Mardochai the Jew: I have given Aman's house to Esther, and I have commanded him to be hanged on a gibbet, because he durst lay hands on the Jews. Write ye therefore to the Jews, as it pleaseth you 8 in the king's name, and seal the letters with my ring. For this was the custom, that no man durst gainsay the letters which were sent in the king's name, and were sealed with his ring. Then the king's scribes and secretaries were called for (now it 9 was the time of the third month which is called Siban) the three and twentieth day of the month, and letters were written, as Mardochai had a mind, to the Jews, and to the governors, and to the deputies, and to the judges, who were rulers over the hundred and twenty-seven provinces, from India even to Ethiopia: to province and province, to people and people, according to their languages and characters, and to the Jews, according as they could read and hear. And these letters which were sent in the king's name, were sealed with his ring, and sent by posts: who were to run through all the provinces, to prevent the former letters with new messages. And the king gave orders to them, to speak to the Jews in every city, and to command them to gather themselves together, and to stand for their lives, and to kill and destroy all their enemies with their wives and children and all their houses, and to take their spoil. And one day of revenge was appointed through all the provinces, to wit, the thirteenth of the twelfth month Adar. And this was the content of the letter, that it should be notified in all lands and peoples that were subject to the empire of king Assuerus, that the Jews were ready to be revenged of their enemies. So the swift posts went out carrying the messages, and the king's edict was hung up in Susan. And Mardochai going forth out of the palace, and from the king's presence, shone in royal apparel, to wit, of violet and sky colour, wearing a golden crown on his head, and clothed with a cloak of silk and purple. And all the city rejoiced, and was glad. But to the Jews, a new light seemed to rise, joy, honour, and dancing. And in all peoples, cities, and provinces, whithersoever the king's commandments came, there was wonderful rejoicing, feasts and banquets, and keeping holy day: Insomuch that many of other nations and religion, joined themselves to their worship and ceremonies. For a great dread of the name of the Jews had fallen upon all.

9 So on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which as we have said above is called Adar, when all the Jews were designed to be massacred, and their enemies were greedy after their blood, the case being altered, the Jews began to have the upper hand, and to revenge themselves of their adversaries. And they gathered themselves together in every city, and town, and place, to lay their hands on their enemies, and their persecutors. And no one durst withstand them, for the fear of their power had gone through every people. And the judges of the provinces, and the governors, and lieutenants, and every one in dignity, that presided over every place and work, extolled the Jews for fear of Mardochai: For they knew him to be prince of the palace, and to have great power: and the fame of his name increased daily, and was spread abroad through all men's mouths. So 5 the Jews made a great slaughter of their enemies, and killed them, repaying according to what they had prepared to do to them: Insomuch that even in Susan they killed five hundred 6 men, besides the ten sons of Aman the Agagite, the enemy of the Jews: whose names are these: Pharsandatha, and Delphon, 7 and Esphatha And Phoratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha, And 8, 9 Phermesta, and Arisai, and Aridai, and Jezatha. And when 10 they had slain them, they would not touch the spoils of their goods. And presently the number of them that were killed in 11 Susan was brought to the king. And he said to the queen: The 12 Jews have killed five hundred men in the city of Susan, besides the ten sons of Aman: how many dost thou think they have slain in all the provinces? What askest thou more, and what wilt thou have me to command to be done? And she answered: 13

If it please the king, let it be granted to the Jews, to do to morrow in Susan as they have done to day, and that the ten sons of Aman may be hanged upon gibbets. And the king commanded 14 that it should be so done. And forthwith the edict was hung up in Susan, and the ten sons of Aman were hanged. And on the 15 fourteenth day of the month Adar the Jews gathered themselves together, and they killed in Susan three hundred men: but they took not their substance. Moreover through all the provinces 16 which were subject to the king's dominion the Jews stood for their lives, and slew their enemies and persecutors: insomuch that the number of them that were killed amounted to seventy-five thousand, and no man took any of their goods. Now the 17 thirteenth day of the month Adar was the first day with them all of the slaughter, and on the fourteenth day they left off. Which they ordained to be kept holy day, so that all times hereafter they should celebrate it with feasting, joy, and banquets. But 18 they that were killing in the city of Susan, were employed in the slaughter on the thirteenth and fourteenth day of the same month: and on the fifteenth day they rested. And therefore they appointed that day to be a holy day of feasting and gladness. But those Jews that dwelt in towns not walled and in villages, 19 appointed the fourteenth day of the month Adar for banquets and gladness, so as to rejoice on that day, and send one another

20 portions of their banquets and meats. And Mardochai wrote all these things, and sent them comprised in letters to the Jews that abode in all the king's provinces, both those that lay near 21 and those afar off, That they should receive the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the month Adar for holy days, and always at the return of the year should celebrate them with solemn hon-22 our: Because on those days the Jews revenged themselves of their enemies, and their mourning and sorrow were turned into mirth and joy, and that these should be days of feasting and gladness, in which they should send one to another portions of 23 meats, and should give gifts to the poor. And the Jews undertook to observe with solemnity all they had begun to do at that time, which Mardochai by letters had commanded to be done.
24 For Aman, the son of Amadathi of the race of Agag, the enemy and adversary of the Jews, had devised evil against them, to kill them and destroy them; and had cast Phur, that is, the lot.
25 And afterwards Esther went in to the king, beseeching him that his endeavours might be made void by the king's letters: and the evil that he had intended against the Jews, might return upon his own head. And so both he and his sons were hanged upon 26 gibbets. And since that time these days are called Phurim, that is, of lots: because Phur, that is, the lot, was cast into the urn. And all things that were done, are contained in the volume of 27 this epistle, that is, of this book: And the things that they suffered, and that were afterwards changed, the Jews took upon themselves and their seed, and upon all that had a mind to be joined to their religion, so that it should be lawful for none to pass these days without solemnity: which the writing testifieth, and certain times require, as the years continually succeed one 28 another. These are the days which shall never be forgot: and which all provinces in the whole world shall celebrate throughout all generations: neither is there any city wherein the days of Phurim, that is, of lots, must not be observed by the Jews, and 29 by their posterity, which is bound to these ceremonies. And Esther the queen, the daughter of Abihail, and Mardochai the Jew, wrote also a second epistle, that with all diligence this day 30 should be established a festival for the time to come. And they sent to all the Jews that were in the hundred and twenty-seven provinces of king Assuerus, that they should have peace, and receive truth, And observe the days of lots, and celebrate them 31 with joy in their proper time: as Mardochai and Esther had appointed, and they undertook them to be observed by themselves and by their seed, fasts, and cries, and the days of lots, And all 32 things which are contained in the history of this book, which is called Esther.

And king Assuerus made all the land, and all the islands 10 of the sea tributary. And his strength and his empire, and 2 the dignity and greatness wherewith he exalted Mardochai, are written in the books of the Medes, and of the Persians: And how 3 Mardochai of the race of the Jews, was next after king Assuerus: and great among the Jews, and acceptable to the people of his brethren, seeking the good of his people, and speaking those things which were for the welfare of his seed. Then Mardochai 4 said: God hath done these things. I remember a dream that 5 I saw, which signified these same things: and nothing thereof hath failed. The little fountain which grew into a river, and 6 was turned into a light, and into the sun, and abounded into many waters, is Esther, whom the king married, and made queen.
But the two dragons are I and Aman. The nations that were 7, 8 assembled are they that endeavoured to destroy the name of the Jews. And my nation is Israel, who cried to the Lord, and the 9 Lord saved his people: and he delivered us from all evils, and hath wrought great signs and wonders among the nations: And 10 he commanded that there should be two lots, one of the people of God, and the other of all the nations. And both lots came 11 to the day appointed already from that time before God to all nations: And the Lord remembered his people, and had mercy 12 on his inheritance. And these days shall be observed in the 13 month of Adar on the fourteenth, and fifteenth day of the same month, with all diligence, and joy of the people gathered into one assembly, throughout all the generations hereafter of the people of Israel.

In the fourth year of the reign of Ptolemy and Cleopatra, 11 Dositheus, who said he was a priest, and of the Levitical race, and Ptolemy his son brought this epistle of Phurim, which they said Lysimachus the son of Ptolemy had interpreted in Jerusalem.
In the second year of the reign of Artaxerxes the great, in the 2 first day of the month Nisan, Mardochai the son of Jair, the son

3 of Semei, the son of Cis, of the tribe of Benjamin: A Jew who dwelt in the city of Susa, a great man and among the first of 4 the king's court, had a dream. Now he was of the number of the captives, whom Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had carried 5 away from Jerusalem with Jechonias king of Juda: And this was his dream: Behold there were voices, and tumults, and thunders, 6 and earthquakes, and a disturbance upon the earth. And behold two great dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.
7 And at their cry all nations were stirred up to fight against the 8 nation of the just. And that was a day of darkness and danger, 9 of tribulation and distress, and great fear upon the earth. And the nation of the just was troubled fearing their own evils, and 10 was prepared for death. And they cried to God: and as they were crying, a little fountain grew into a very great river, and 11 abounded into many waters. The light and the sun rose up, and 12 the humble were exalted, and they devoured the glorious. And when Mardochai had seen this, and arose out of his bed, he was thinking what God would do: and he kept it fixed in his mind, desirous to know what the dream should signify.

12 And he abode at that time in the king's court with Bagatha and Thara the king's eunuchs, who were porters of the palace.
2 And when he understood their designs, and had diligently searched into their projects, he learned that they went about to lay violent hands on king Artaxerxes, and he told the king thereof.
3 Then the king had them both examined, and after they had 4 confessed, commanded them to be put to death. But the king made a record of what was done: and Mardochai also committed 5 the memory of the thing to writing. And the king commanded him, to abide in the court of the palace, and gave him presents 6 for the information. But Aman the son of Amadathi the Bugite was in great honour with the king, and sought to hurt Mardochai and his people, because of the two eunuchs of the king who were put to death.

13 And this was the copy of the letter: Artaxerxes the great king who reigneth from India to Ethiopia, to the princes and governors of the hundred and twenty-seven provinces, that are 2 subject to his empire, greeting. Whereas I reigned over many nations, and had brought all the world under my dominion, I was not willing to abuse the greatness of my power, but to govern my subjects with clemency and that they might live quietly without any terror, and might enjoy peace, which is desired by all men, But when I asked my counsellors how this might be accomplished, one that excelled the rest in wisdom and fidelity, and was second after the king, Aman by name, Told me that there was a people scattered through the whole world, which used new laws, and acted against the customs of all nations, despised the commandments of kings, and violated by their opposition the concord of all nations. Wherefore having learned this, and seeing one nation in opposition to all mankind using perverse laws, and going against our commandments, and disturbing the peace and concord of the provinces subject to us, We have commanded that all whom Aman shall mark out, who is chief over all the provinces, and second after the king, and whom we honour as a father, shall be utterly destroyed by their enemies, with their wives and children, and that none shall have pity on them, on the fourteenth day of the twelfth month Adar of this present year: That these wicked men going down to hell in one day, may restore to our empire the peace which they had disturbed. But Mardochai besought the Lord, remembering all his works, And said: O Lord, Lord, almighty king, for all things are in thy power, and there is none that can resist thy will, if thou determine to save Israel. Thou hast made heaven and earth and all things that are under the cope of heaven. Thou art Lord of all, and there is none that can resist thy majesty. Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest that it was not out of pride and or any desire of glory, that I refused to worship the proud Aman, (For I would willingly and readily for the salvation of Israel have kissed even the steps of his feet,) But I feared lest I should transfer the honour of my God to a man, and lest I should adore any one except my God. And now, O Lord, O king, O God of Abraham, have mercy on thy people, because our enemies resolve to destroy us, and extinguish thy inheritance. Despise not thy portion, which thou hast redeemed for thyself out of Egypt. Hear my supplication, and be merciful to thy lot and inheritance, and turn our mourning into joy, that we may live and praise thy name, O Lord, and shut not the mouths of them that sing to thee. And all Israel with like mind and supplication cried to the Lord, because they saw certain death hanging over their heads.

14 Queen Esther also, fearing the danger that was at hand, had 2 recourse to the Lord. And when she had laid away her royal apparel, she put on garments suitable for weeping and mourning: instead of divers precious ointments, she covered her head with ashes and dung, and she humbled her body with fasts: and all the places in which before she was accustomed to rejoice, she 3 filled with her torn hair. And she prayed to the Lord the God of Israel, saying: O my Lord, who alone art our king, help me a 4 desolate woman, and who have no other helper but thee. My 5 danger is in my hands. I have heard of my father that thou, O Lord, didst take Israel from among all nations, and our fathers from all their predecessors, to possess them as an everlasting inheritance, and thou hast done to them as thou hast promised.
6 We have sinned in thy sight, and therefore thou hast delivered 7 us into the hands of our enemies: For we have worshipped their 8 gods. Thou art just, O Lord. And now they are not content to oppress us with most hard bondage, but attributing the strength 9 of their hands to the power of their idols. They design to change thy promises, and destroy thy inheritance, and shut the mouths of them that praise thee, and extinguish the glory of thy temple 10 and altar, That they may open the mouths of Gentiles, and praise the strength of idols, and magnify for ever a carnal king.
11 Give not, O Lord, thy sceptre to them that are not, lest they laugh at our ruin: but turn their counsel upon themselves, and 12 destroy him that hath begun to rage against us. Remember, O Lord, and shew thyself to us in the time of our tribulation, and 13 give me boldness, O Lord, king of gods, and of all power: Give me a well ordered speech in my mouth in the presence of the lion, and turn his heart to the hatred of our enemy, that both 14 he himself may perish, and the rest that consent to him. But deliver us by thy hand, and help me, who have no other helper, 15 but thee, O Lord, who hast the knowledge of all things. And thou knowest that I hate the glory of the wicked, and abhor the 16 bed of the uncircumcised, and of every stranger. Thou knowest my necessity, that I abominate the sign of my pride and glory, which is upon my head in the days of my public appearance, and detest it as a menstruous rag, and wear it not in the days of my 17 silence, And that I have not eaten at Aman's table, nor hath the king's banquet pleased me, and that I have not drunk the wine of the drink offerings: And that thy handmaid hath never rejoiced, since I was brought hither unto this day but in thee, O Lord, the God of Abraham. O God, who art mighty above all, hear the voice of them, that have no other hope, and deliver us from the hand of the wicked, and deliver me from my fear.

And he commanded her (no doubt but he was Mardochai) to go to the king, and petition for her people, and for her country. Remember, (said he,) the days of thy low estate, how thou wast brought up by my hand, because Aman the second after the king hath spoken against us unto death. And do thou call upon the Lord, and speak to the king for us, and deliver us from death. And on the third day she laid away the garments she wore, and put on her glorious apparel. And glittering in royal robes, after she had called upon God the ruler and Saviour of all, she took two maids with her, And upon one of them she leaned, as if for delicateness and overmuch tenderness she were not able to bear up her own body. And the other maid followed her lady, bearing up her train flowing on the ground. But she with a rosy colour in her face, and with gracious and bright eyes hid a mind full of anguish, and exceeding great fear. So going in she passed through all doors in order, and stood before the king, where he sat upon his royal throne, clothed with his royal robes, and glittering with gold, and precious stones, and he was terrible to behold. And when he had lifted up his countenance, and with burning eyes had shewn the wrath of his heart, the queen sunk down, and her colour turned pale, and she rested her weary head upon her handmaid. And God changed the king's spirit into mildness, and all in haste and in fear he leaped from his throne, and holding her up in his arms, till she came to herself, caressed her with these words: What is the matter, Esther? I am thy brother, fear not. Thou shalt not die: for this law is not made for thee, but for all others. Come near then, and touch the sceptre. And as she held her peace, he took the golden sceptre, and laid it upon her neck, and kissed her, and said: Why dost thou not speak to me? She answered: I saw thee, my lord, as an angel of God, and my heart was troubled for fear of thy majesty. For thou, my lord, art very admirable, and thy face is full of graces. And while she was speaking, she 19 fell down again, and was almost in a swoon. But the king was troubled, and all his servants comforted her.

16 The great king Artaxerxes, from India to Ethiopia, to the governors and princes of a hundred and twenty-seven provinces, 2 which obey our command, sendeth greeting. Many have abused unto pride the goodness of princes, and the honour that hath 3 been bestowed upon them: And not only endeavour to oppress the king's subjects, but not bearing the glory that is given them, 4 take in hand, to practise also against them that gave it. Neither are they content not to return thanks for benefits received, and to violate in themselves the laws of humanity, but they think they can also escape the justice of God who seeth all things. 5 And they break out into so great madness, as to endeavour to undermine by lies such as observe diligently the offices committed to them, and do all things in such manner as to be worthy of 6 all men's praise, While with crafty fraud they deceive the ears of princes that are well meaning, and judge of others by their own 7 nature. Now this is proved both from ancient histories, and by the things which are done daily, how the good designs of kings 8 are depraved by the evil suggestions of certain men. Wherefore 9 we must provide for the peace of all provinces. Neither must you think, if we command different things, that it cometh of the levity of our mind, but that we give sentence according to the quality and necessity of times, as the profit of the commonwealth requireth. 10 Now that you may more plainly understand what we say, Aman the son of Amadathi, a Macedonian both in mind and country, and having nothing of the Persian blood, but with his cruelty staining our goodness, was received being 11 a stranger by us: And found our humanity so great towards him, that he was called our father, and was worshipped by all as 12 the next man after the king: But he was so far puffed up with arrogancy, as to go about to deprive us of our kingdom and life. 13 For with certain new and unheard of devices he hath sought the destruction of Mardochai, by whose fidelity and good services our life was saved, and of Esther the partner of our kingdom 14 with all their nation: Thinking that after they were slain, he might work treason against us left alone without friends, and might transfer the kingdom of the Persians to the Macedonians. 15 But we have found that the Jews, who were by that most wicked man appointed to be slain, are in no fault at all, but contrariwise, use just laws, And are the children of the highest and the 16 greatest, and the ever living God, by whose benefit the kingdom was given both to our fathers and to us, and is kept unto this day. Wherefore know ye that those letters which he sent 17 in our name, are void and of no effect. For which crime both 18 he himself that devised it, and all his kindred hang on gibbets, before the gates of this city Susan: not we, but God repaying him as he deserved. But this edict, which we now send, shall 19 be published in all cities, that the Jews may freely follow their own laws. And you shall aid them that they may kill those who 20 had prepared themselves to kill them, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is called Adar. For the almighty God 21 hath turned this day of sadness and mourning into joy to them.

Wherefore you shall also count this day among other festival 22 days, and celebrate it with all joy, that it may be known also in times to come, That all they who faithfully obey the Per- 23 sians, receive a worthy reward for their fidelity: but they that are traitors to their kingdom, are destroyed for their wickedness.
And let every province and city, that will not be partaker of this 24 solemnity, perish by the sword and by fire, and be destroyed in such manner as to be made unpassable, both to men and beasts, for an example of contempt, and disobedience.

THE BOOK OF JOB.

1  here was a man in the land of Hus, whose name was 2 Job, and that man was simple and upright, and fearing 3 God, and avoiding evil. And there were born to him 4 seven sons and three daughters. And his possession 5 was seven thousand sheep, and three thousand camels, and five 6 hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred she asses, and a family 7 exceedingly great: and this man was great among all the people 8 of the east. And his sons went, and made a feast by houses, 9 every one in his day. And sending, they called their three sisters, 10 to eat and drink with them. And when the days of their feasting 11 were gone about, Job sent to them, and sanctified them: and 12 rising up early, offered holocausts for every one of them. For he 13 said: Lest perhaps my sons have sinned, and have blessed God 14 in their hearts. So did Job all days. Now on a certain day, when the sons of God came to stand before the Lord, Satan also was present among them. And the Lord said to him: Whence comest thou? And he answered and said: I have gone round about the earth, and walked through it. And the Lord said to him: Hast thou considered my servant, Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a simple and upright man, and fearing God, and avoiding evil? And Satan answering, said: Doth Job fear God in vain? Hast thou not made a fence for him, and his house, and all his substance round about, blessed the works of his hands, and his possession hath increased on the earth?
But stretch forth thy hand a little, and touch all that he hath, and see if he bless thee not to thy face. Then the Lord said to Satan: Behold, all that he hath is in thy hand: only put not forth thy hand upon his person. And Satan went forth from the presence of the Lord. Now upon a certain day, when his sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine, in the house of their eldest brother, There came a messenger to Job, and said: The oxen were ploughing, and the asses feeding beside them, And the Sabeans rushed in, and took all away, and slew 15 the servants with the sword; and I alone have escaped to tell thee. And while he was yet speaking, another came, and said: 16 The fire of God fell from heaven, and striking the sheep and the servants, hath consumed them; and I alone have escaped to tell thee. And while he also was yet speaking, there came another, 17 and said: The Chaldeans made three troops, and have fallen upon the camels, and taken them; moreover, they have slain the servants with the sword: and I alone have escaped to tell thee.

He was yet speaking, and behold another came in, and said: 18 Thy sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in the house of their eldest brother, A violent wind came on a sudden 19 from the side of the desert, and shook the four corners of the house, and it fell upon thy children, and they are dead: and I alone have escaped to tell thee. Then Job rose up, and rent 20 his garments, and having shaven his head, fell down upon the ground, and worshipped, And said: Naked came I out of my 21 mother's womb, and naked shall I return thither: the Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away: as it hath pleased the Lord, so is it done: blessed be the name of the Lord. In all these things 22 Job sinned not by his lips, nor spoke he any foolish thing against God.

And it came to pass, when on a certain day the sons of God 2 came, and stood before the Lord, and Satan came amongst them, and stood in his sight, That the Lord said to Satan: Whence 2 comest thou? And he answered, and said: I have gone round about the earth, and walked through it. And the Lord said to 3 Satan: Hast thou considered my servant, Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a man simple and upright, and fearing God, and avoiding evil, and still keeping his innocence? But thou hast moved me against him, that I should afflict him without cause.
And Satan answered, and said: Skin for skin; and all that a man 4 hath, he will give for his life: But put forth thy hand, and touch 5 his bone and his flesh, and then thou shalt see that he will bless thee to thy face. And the Lord said to Satan: Behold, he is 6 in thy hand, but yet save his life. So Satan went forth from 7 the presence of the Lord, and struck Job with a very grievous ulcer, from the sole of the foot even to the top of his head: And 8 he took a potsherd and scraped the corrupt matter, sitting on a 9 dunghill. And his wife said to him: Dost thou still continue in 10 thy simplicity? bless God and die. And he said to her: Thou hast spoken like one of the foolish women: If we have received good things at the hand of God, why should we not receive evil?

11 In all these things Job did not sin with his lips. Now when Job's three friends heard all the evil that had befallen him, they came every one from his own place, Eliphaz, the Themanite, and Baldad, the Suhite, and Sophar, the Naamathite. For they had made an appointment to come together and visit him, and 12 comfort him. And when they had lifted up their eyes afar off, they knew him not, and crying out, they wept, and rending their garments, they sprinkled dust upon their heads toward heaven.
13 And they sat with him on the ground seven day and seven nights and no man spoke to him a word: for they saw that his grief was very great.

3, 2 After this, Job opened his mouth, and cursed his day, And 3 he said: Let the day perish wherein I was born, and the night 4 in which it was said: A man child is conceived. Let that day be turned into darkness, let not God regard it from above, and 5 let not the light shine upon it. Let darkness, and the shadow of death, cover it, let a mist overspread it, and let it be wrapped up 6 in bitterness. Let a darksome whirlwind seize upon that night, let it not be counted in the days of the year, nor numbered in the 7 months. Let that night be solitary, and not worthy of praise.
8 Let them curse it who curse the day, who are ready to raise up 9 a leviathan: Let the stars be darkened with the mist thereof: let it expect light, and not see it, nor the rising of the dawning 10 of the day: Because it shut not up the doors of the womb that 11 bore me, nor took away evils from my eyes. Why did I not die in the womb? why did I not perish when I came out of 12 the belly? Why received upon the knees? why suckled at the 13 breasts? For now I should have been asleep and still, and should 14 have rest in my sleep: With kings and consuls of the earth, 15 who build themselves solitudes: Or with princes, that possess 16 gold, and fill their houses with silver: Or as a hidden untimely birth, I should not be; or as they that, being conceived, have 17 not seen the light. There the wicked cease from tumult, and 18 there the wearied in strength are at rest. And they sometime bound together without disquiet, have not heard the voice of the oppressor. The small and great are there, and the servant is free 19 from his master. Why is light given to him that is in misery, 20 and life to them that are in bitterness of soul? That look for 21 death, and it cometh not, as they that dig for a treasure: And 22 they rejoice exceedingly when they have found the grave? To a 23 man whose way is hidden, and God hath surrounded him with darkness? Before I eat I sigh: and as overflowing waters, so is 24 my roaring: For the fear which I feared, hath come upon me: 25 and that which I was afraid of, hath befallen me. Have I not 26 dissembled? have I not kept silence? have I not been quiet? and indignation is come upon me.

Then Eliphaz, the Themanite, answered, and said: If we 4, 2 begin to speak to thee, perhaps thou wilt take it ill; but who can withhold the words he hath conceived? Behold thou hast 3 taught many, and thou hast strengthened the weary hands: Thy 4 words have confirmed them that were staggering, and thou hast strengthened the trembling knees: But now the scourge is come 5 upon thee, and thou faintest: It hath touched thee, and thou art troubled. Where is thy fear, thy fortitude, thy patience, 6 and the perfection of thy ways? Remember, I pray thee, who 7 ever perished being innocent? or when were the just destroyed?
On the contrary, I have seen those who work iniquity, and sow 8 sorrows, and reap them, Perishing by the blast of God, and 9 consumed by the spirit of his wrath. The roaring of the lion, 10 and the voice of the lioness, and the teeth of the whelps of lions, are broken: The tiger hath perished for want of prey, and the 11 young lions are scattered abroad. Now there was a word spoken 12 to me in private, and my ears by stealth, as it were, received the veins of its whisper. In the horror of a vision by night, 13 when deep sleep is wont to hold men, Fear seized upon me, and 14 trembling, and all my bones were affrighted: And when a spirit 15 passed before me, the hair of my flesh stood up. There stood 16 one whose countenance I knew not, an image before my eyes, and I heard the voice, as it were, of a gentle wind. Shall man be 17 justified in comparison of God, or shall a man be more pure than his maker? Behold, they that serve him are not steadfast, and 18 in his angels he found wickedness: How much more shall they 19 that dwell in houses of clay, who have an earthly foundation, be consumed as with the moth? From morning till evening they 20 shall be cut down: and because no one understandeth, they shall 21 perish for ever. And they that shall be left, shall be taken away from them: they shall die, and not in wisdom.

5 Call now, if there be any that will answer thee, and turn to 2 some of the saints. Anger indeed killeth the foolish, and envy 3 slayeth the little one. I have seen a fool with a strong root, 4 and I cursed his beauty immediately. His children shall be far from safety, and shall be destroyed in the gate, and there shall 5 be none to deliver them. Whose harvest the hungry shall eat, and the armed man shall take him by violence, and the thirsty 6 shall drink up his riches. Nothing upon earth is done without 7 a cause, and sorrow doth not spring out of the ground. Man 8 is born to labour, and the bird to fly. Wherefore I will pray 9 to the Lord, and address my speech to God: Who doth great things, and unsearchable and wonderful things without number: 10 Who giveth rain upon the face of the earth, and watereth all 11 things with waters: Who setteth up the humble on high, and 12 comforteth with health those that mourn. Who bringeth to nought the designs of the malignant, so that their hands cannot 13 accomplish what they had begun: Who catcheth the wise in their craftiness, and disappointeth the counsel of the wicked: 14 They shall meet with darkness in the day, and grope at noonday 15 as in the night. But he shall save the needy from the sword of 16 their mouth, and the poor from the hand of the violent. And to the needy there shall be hope, but iniquity shall draw in her 17 mouth. Blessed is the man whom God correcteth: refuse not, 18 therefore, the chastising of the Lord. For he woundeth, and 19 cureth: he striketh, and his hands shall heal. In six troubles he shall deliver thee, and in the seventh, evil shall not touch 20 thee. In famine he shall deliver thee from death; and in battle, 21 from the hand of the sword. Thou shalt be hidden from the scourge of the tongue: and thou shalt not fear calamity when it 22 cometh. In destruction and famine thou shalt laugh: and thou 23 shalt not be afraid of the beasts of the earth. But thou shalt have a covenant with the stones of the lands, and the beasts of 24 the earth shall be at peace with thee. And thou shalt know that thy tabernacle is in peace, and visiting thy beauty, thou shalt 25 not sin. Thou shalt know also that thy seed shall be multiplied, 26 and thy offspring like the grass of the earth. Thou shalt enter into the grave in abundance, as a heap of wheat is brought in in its season. Behold, this is even so, as we have searched out: 27 which thou having heard, consider it thoroughly in thy mind.

But Job answered, and said: O that my sins, whereby I have 6, 2 deserved wrath, and the calamity that I suffer, were weighed in a balance. As the sand of the sea, this would appear heavier: 3 therefore, my words are full of sorrow: For the arrows of the 4 Lord are in me, the rage whereof drinketh up my spirit, and the terrors of the Lord war against me. Will the wild ass bray 5 when he hath grass? or will the ox low when he standeth before a full manger? Or can an unsavoury thing be eaten, that is not 6 seasoned with salt? or can a man taste that which, when tasted, bringeth death? The things which before my soul would not 7 touch, now, through anguish, are my meats. Who will grant 8 that my request may come: and that God may give me what I look for? And that he that hath begun may destroy me, that he 9 may let loose his hand, and cut me off? And that this may be 10 my comfort, that afflicting me with sorrow, he spare not, nor I contradict the words of the Holy one. For what is my strength, 11 that I can hold out? or what is my end, that I should keep patience? My strength is not the strength of stones, nor is my 12 flesh of brass. Behold there is no help for me in myself, and 13 my familiar friends also are departed from me. He that taketh 14 away mercy from his friend, for saketh the fear of the Lord. My 15 brethren have passed by me, as the torrent that passeth swiftly in the valleys. They that fear the hoary frost, the snow shall 16 fall upon them. At the time when they shall be scattered they 17 shall perish: and after it groweth hot, they shall be melted out of their place. The paths of their steps are entangled: they shall 18 walk in vain, and shall perish. Consider the paths of Thema, 19 the ways of Saba, and wait a little while. They are confounded, because I have hoped: they are come also even unto me, and are covered with shame. Now you are come: and now, seeing my 21 affliction, you are afraid. Did I say: Bring to me, and give me of 22 your substance? Or deliver me from the hand of the enemy, and 23 rescue me out of the hand of the mighty? Teach me, and I will 24 hold my peace: and if I have been ignorant of any thing, instruct me. Why have you detracted the words of truth, whereas there 25 is none of you that can reprove me? You dress up speeches 26 27 only to rebuke, and you utter words to the wind. You rush in upon the fatherless, and you endeavour to overthrow your friend.

28 However, finish what you have begun: give ear and see whether 29 I lie. Answer, I beseech you, without contention: and speaking 30 that which is just, judge ye. And you shall not find iniquity in my tongue, neither shall folly sound in my mouth.

7 The life of man upon earth is a warfare, and his days are like 2 the days of a hireling. As a servant longeth for the shade, as 3 the hireling looketh for the end of his work; So I also have had empty months, and have numbered to myself wearisome nights.
4 If I lie down to sleep, I shall say: When shall I rise? and again, I shall look for the evening, and shall be filled with sorrows even 5 till darkness. My flesh is clothed with rottenness and the filth 6 of dust; my skin is withered and drawn together. My days have passed more swiftly than the web is cut by the weaver, and are 7 consumed without any hope. Remember that my life is but 8 wind, and my eye shall not return to see good things. Nor shall the sight of man behold me: thy eyes are upon me, and I shall 9 be no more. As a cloud is consumed, and passeth away: so 10 he that shall go down to hell shall not come up. Nor shall he return any more into his house, neither shall his place know him 11 any more Wherefore, I will not spare my month, I will speak in the affliction of my spirit: I will talk with the bitterness of 12 my soul. Am I a sea, or a whale, that thou hast inclosed me 13 in a prison? If I say: My bed shall comfort me, and I shall be 14 relieved, speaking with myself on my couch: Thou wilt frighten 15 me with dreams, and terrify me with visions. So that my soul 16 rather chooseth hanging, and my bones death. I have done with hope, I shall now live no longer: spare me, for my days are 17 nothing. What is a man, that thou shouldst magnify him or 18 why dost thou set thy heart upon him? Thou visitest him early 19 in the morning, and thou provest him suddenly. How long wilt 20 thou not spare me, nor suffer me to swallow down my spittle? I have sinned: what shall I do to thee, O keeper of men? why hast thou set me opposite to thee. and am I become burdensome to 21 myself? Why dost thou not remove my sin, and why dost thou not take away my iniquity? Behold now I shall sleep in the dust: and if thou seek me in the morning, I shall not be.

8, 2 Then Baldad, the Suhite, answered, and said: How long wilt thou speak these things, and how long shall the words of thy mouth be like a strong wind? Doth God pervert judgment, or doth the Almighty overthrow that which is just? Although thy children have sinned against him, and he hath left them in the hand of their iniquity: Yet if thou wilt arise early to God, and wilt beseech the Almighty: If thou wilt walk clean and upright, he will presently awake unto thee, and will make the dwelling of thy justice peaceable: In so much, that if thy former things were small thy latter things would be multiplied exceedingly. For inquire of the former generation, and search diligently into the memory of the fathers: (For we are but of yesterday, and are ignorant that our days upon earth are but a shadow And they shall teach thee: they shall speak to thee, and utter words out of their hearts. Can the rush be green without moisture? or sedge bush grow without water? When it is yet in flower, and is not plucked u with the hand, it withereth before all herbs. Even so are the ways of all that forget God, an the hope of the hypocrite shall perish: His folly shall not please him, and his trust shall be like the spider's web. He shall lean upon his house, and it shall no stand: he shall prop it up, and it shall not rise: He seemeth to have moisture before the sun cometh; and at his rising, his blossom shall shoot forth. His roots shall be thick upon a heap of stones; and among the stones he shall abide. If one swallow him up out of his place, he shall deny him, and shall say: I know thee not. For this is the joy of his way, that others may spring again out of the earth. God will not cast away the simple, nor reach out his hand to the evil doer: Until thy mouth be filled with laughter, and thy lips with rejoicing. They that hate thee, shall be clothed with confusion: and the dwelling of the wicked shall not stand.

And Job answered, and said: Indeed I know it is so, and that man cannot be justified, compared with God. If he will contend with him, he cannot answer him one for a thousand. He is wise in heart, and mighty in strength: who hath resisted him, and hath had peace? Who hath removed mountains, and they whom he overthrew in his wrath, knew it not. Who shaketh the earth out of her place, and the pillars thereof tremble. Who commandeth the sun, and it riseth not: and shutteth up the stars, as it were, under a seal: Who alone spreadeth out the 9 heavens, and walketh upon the waves of the sea Who maketh Arcturus, and Orion, and Hyades, and the inner parts of the 10 south. Who doth things great and incomprehensible, and won-11 derful, of which there is no number. If he come to me, I shall 12 not see him: if he depart, I shall not understand. If he examine on a sudden, who shall answer him? or who can say: Why 13 dost thou so? God, whose wrath no man can resist, and under 14 whom they stoop that bear up the world. What am I then, 15 that I should answer him, and have words with him? I, who although I should have any just thing, would not answer, but 16 would make supplication to my judge. And if he should hear me when I call, I should not believe that he had heard my voice.

17 For he shall crush me in a whirlwind, and multiply my wounds 18 even without cause. He alloweth not my spirit to rest, and he 19 filleth me with bitterness. If strength be demanded, he is most strong: if equity of judgment, no man dare bear witness for me.
20 If I would justify myself, my own mouth shall condemn me: if 21 I would shew myself innocent, he shall prove me wicked. Although I should be simple, even this my soul shall be ignorant 22 of, and I shall be weary of my life. One thing there is that I have spoken, both the innocent and the wicked he consumeth.
23 If he scourge, let him kill at once, and not laugh at the pains of 24 the innocent. The earth is given into the hand of the wicked, he covereth the face of the judges thereof: and if it be not he, 25 who is it then? My days have been swifter than a post: they 26 have fled away and have not seen good. They have passed by 27 as ships carrying fruits, as an eagle flying to the prey. If I say: I will not speak so: I change my face, and am tormented with sor-28 row. I feared all my works, knowing that thou didst not spare 29 the offender. But if so also I am wicked, why have I laboured 30 in vain? If I be washed, as it were, with snow waters, and my 31 hands shall shine ever clean: Yet thou shalt plunge me in filth, 32 and my garments shall abhor me. For I shall not answer a man that is like myself: nor one that may be heard with me equally 33 in judgment. There is none that may be able to reprove both, 34 and to put his hand between both. Let him take his rod away 35 from me, and let not his fear terrify me. I will speak, and will not fear him: for I cannot answer while I am in fear.

10 My soul is weary of my life, I will let go my speech against myself, I will speak in the bitterness of my soul. I will say 2 to God: Do not condemn me: tell me why thou judgest me so?

Doth it seem good to thee that thou shouldst calumniate me, and 3 oppress me, the work of thy own hands, and help the counsel of the wicked? Hast thou eyes of flesh: or, shalt thou see as man 4 seeth? Are thy days as the days of man, and are thy years as 5 the times of men: That thou shouldst inquire after my iniquity, 6 and search after my sin? And shouldst know that I have done 7 no wicked thing, whereas there is no man that can deliver out of thy hand? Thy hands have made me, and fashioned me wholly 8 round about, and dost thou thus cast me down headlong on a sudden? Remember, I beseech thee, that thou hast made me 9 as the clay, and thou wilt bring me into dust. Hast thou not 10 milked me as milk, and curdled me like cheese? Thou hast 11 clothed me with skin and flesh: thou hast put me together with bones and sinews: Thou hast granted me life and mercy, and 12 thy visitation hath preserved my spirit. Although thou conceal 13 these things in thy heart, yet I know that thou rememberest all things. If I have sinned, and thou hast spared me for an 14 hour: why dost thou not suffer me to be clean from my iniquity?
And if I be wicked, woe unto me: and if just, I shall not lift up 15 my head, being filled with affliction and misery. And for pride 16 thou wilt take me as a lioness, and returning, thou tormentest me wonderfully. Thou renewest thy witnesses against me, and 17 multipliest thy wrath upon me, and pains war against me. Why 18 didst thou bring me forth out of the womb? O that I had been consumed, that eye might not see me. I should have been as if 19 I had not been, carried from the womb to the grave. Shall not 20 the fewness of my days be ended shortly? Suffer me, therefore, that I may lament my sorrow a little: Before I go and return no 21 more, to a land that is dark and covered with the mist of death: A land of misery and darkness, where the shadow of death, and 22 no order, but everlasting horror dwelleth.

Then Sophar the Naamathite answered, and said: Shall not 11, 2 he that speaketh much, hear also? or shall a man full of talk be justified? Shall men hold their peace to thee only? and when 3 thou hast mocked others, shall no man confute thee? For thou 4 hast said: My word is pure, and I am clean in thy sight. And I 5 wish that God would speak with thee, and would open his lips

6 to thee, That he might shew thee the secrets of wisdom, and that his law is manifold, and thou mightest understand that he 7 exacteth much less of thee, than thy iniquity deserveth. Peradventure thou wilt comprehend the steps of God, and wilt find 8 out the Almighty perfectly? He is higher than heaven, and what wilt thou do? he is deeper than hell, and how wilt thou know?
9 The measure of him is longer than the earth, and broader than 10 the sea. If he shall overturn all things, or shall press them to-11 gether, who shall contradict him? For he knoweth the vanity 12 of men, and when he seeth iniquity, doth he not consider it? A vain man is lifted up into pride, and thinketh himself born free 13 like a wild ass's colt. But thou hast hardened thy heart, and 14 hast spread thy hands to him. If thou wilt put away from thee the iniquity that is in thy hand, and let not injustice remain in 15 thy tabernacle: Then mayst thou lift up thy face without spot, 16 and thou shalt be steadfast, and shalt not fear. Thou shalt also forget misery, and remember it only as waters that are passed 17 away. And brightness like that of the noontday, shall arise to thee at evening: and when thou shalt think thyself consumed, 18 thou shalt rise as the day star. And thou shalt have confidence, hope being set before thee, and being buried thou shalt sleep 19 secure. Thou shalt rest, and there shall be none to make thee 20 afraid: and many shall entreat thy face. But the eyes of the wicked shall decay, and the way to escape shall fail them, and their hope the abomination of the soul.

12, 2 Then Job answered, and said: Are you then men alone, and 3 shall wisdom die with you? I also have a heart as well as you: 4 for who is ignorant of these things, which you know? He that is mocked by his friends as I, shall call upon God and he will hear him: for the simplicity of the just man is laughed to scorn.
5 The lamp despised in the thoughts of the rich, is ready for the 6 time appointed. The tabernacles of robbers abound, and they provoke God boldly; whereas it is he that hath given all into 7 their hands: But ask now the beasts, and they shall teach thee: 8 and the birds of the air, and they shall tell thee. Speak to the earth, and it shall answer thee: and the fishes of the sea shall tell.
9 Who is ignorant that the hand of the Lord hath made all these 10 things? In whose hand is the soul of every living thing, and 11 the spirit of all flesh of man. Doth not the ear discern words, and the palate of him that eateth, the taste? In the ancient is 12 wisdom, and in length of days prudence. With him is wisdom 13 and strength, he hath counsel and understanding. If he pull 14 down, there is no man that can build up: if he shut up a man, there is none that can open. If he withhold the waters, all things 15 shall be dried up: and if he send them out, they shall overturn the earth. With him is strength and wisdom: he knoweth both 16 the deceivers, and him that is deceived. He bringeth counsellors to a foolish end, and judges to insensibility. He looseth the belt 18 of kings, and girdeth their loins with a cord. He leadeth away 19 priests without glory, and overthroweth nobles. He changeth 20 the speech of the true speakers, and taketh away the doctrine of the aged. He poureth contempt upon princes, and relieveth 21 them that were oppressed. He discovereth deep things out of darkness, and bringeth up to light the shadow of death. He 23 multiplieth nations, and destroyeth them, and restoreth them again after they were overthrown. He changeth the heart of the 24 princes of the people of the earth, and deceiveth them that they walk in vain where there is no way. They shall grope as in the 25 dark, and not in the light, and he shall make them stagger like men that are drunk.

Behold my eye hath seen all these things, and my ear hath 13 heard them, and I have understood them all. According to your 2 knowledge I also know: neither am I inferior to you. But yet 3 I will speak to the Almighty, and I desire to reason with God.
Having first shewn that you are forgers of lies, and maintainers of 4 perverse opinions. And I wish you would hold your peace, that you might be thought to be wise men. Hear ye therefore my 6 reproof, and attend to the judgment of my lips. Hath God any 7 need of your lie, that you should speak deceitfully for him? Do 8 you accept this person, and do you endeavour to judge for God?
Or shall it please him, from whom nothing can be concealed? 9 or shall he be deceived as a man, with your deceitful dealings?
He shall reprove you, because in secret you accept his person. 10 As soon as he shall move himself, he shall trouble you: and his dread shall fall upon you. Your remembrance shall be compared 12 to ashes, and your necks shall be brought to clay. Hold your peace a little while, that I may speak whatsoever my mind shall suggest to me. Why do I tear my flesh with my teeth, and 14 15 carry my soul in my hands? Although he should kill me, I will 16 trust in him: but yet I will reprove my ways in his sight. And he shall be my saviour: for no hypocrite shall come before his 17 presence. Hear ye my speech, and receive with your ears hidden 18 truths. If I shall be judged, I know that I shall be found just.

19 Who is he that will plead against me? let him come: why am 20 I consumed holding my peace? Two things only do not to me, 21 and then from thy face I shall not be hid: Withdraw thy hand 22 far from me, and let not thy dread terrify me. Call me, and I will answer thee: or else I will speak, and do thou answer me.
23 How many are my iniquities and sins? make me know my crimes 24 and offenses. Why hidest thou thy face, and thinkest me thy 25 enemy? Against a leaf, that is carried away with the wind, thou 26 shewest thy power, and thou pursuest a dry straw. For thou writest bitter things against me, and wilt consume me for the 27 sins of my youth. Thou hast put my feet in the stocks, and hast observed all my paths, and hast considered the steps of my feet: 28 Who am to be consumed as rottenness, and as a garment that is motheaten.

14 Man born of a woman, living for a short time, is filled with 2 many miseries. Who cometh forth like a flower, and is destroyed, and fleeth as a shadow, and never continueth in the 3 same state. And dost thou think it meet to open thy eyes upon 4 such an one, and to bring him into judgment with thee? Who can make him clean that is conceived of unclean seed? is it not 5 thou who only art? The days of man are short, and the number of his months is with thee: thou hast appointed his bounds which 6 cannot be passed. Depart a little from him, that he may rest un-7 til his wished for day come, as that of the hireling. A tree hath hope: if it be cut, it growth green again, and the boughs thereof 8 sprout. If its roots be old in the earth, and its stock be dead in 9 the dust: At the scent of water, it shall spring, and bring forth 10 leaves, as when it was first planted. But man when he shall be 11 dead, and stripped and consumed, I pray you where is he? As if the waters should depart out of the sea, and an emptied river 12 should be dried up; So man when he is fallen asleep shall not rise again; till the heavens be broken, he shall not awake, nor rise 13 up out of his sleep. Who will grant me this, that thou mayst protect me in hell, and hide me till thy wrath pass, and appoint me a time when thou wilt remember me? Shall man that is 14 dead, thinkest thou, live again? all the days in which I am now in warfare, I expect until my change come. Thou shalt call me, 15 and I will answer thee: to the work of thy hands thou shalt reach out thy right hand. Thou indeed hast numbered my steps, but 16 spare my sins. Thou hast sealed up my offences as it were in a bag, but hast cured my iniquity. A mountain falling cometh 17 to nought, and a rock is removed out of its place. Waters wear away the stones, and with inundation the ground by little and little is washed away: so in like manner thou shalt destroy man.

Thou hast strengthened him for a little while, that he may pass 20 away for ever: thou shalt change his face, and shalt send him away. Whether his children come to honour or dishonour, he 21 shall not understand. But yet his flesh, while he shall live, shall 22 have pain, and his soul shall mourn over him.

And Eliphaz the Themanite, answered, and said: Will a 15, 2 wise man answer as if he were speaking in the wind, and fill his stomach with burning heat? Thou reprovest him by words, 3 who is not equal to thee, and thou speakest that which is not good for thee. As much as is in thee, thou hast made void 4 fear, and hast taken away prayers from before God. For thy 5 iniquity hath taught thy mouth, and thou imitatest the tongue of blasphemers. Thy own mouth shall condemn thee, and not 6 I: and thy own lips shall answer thee. Art thou the first man 7 that was born, or wast thou made before the hills? Hast thou 8 heard God's counsel, and shall his wisdom be inferior to thee?
What knowest thou that we are ignorant of? what dost thou 9 understand that we know not? There are with us also aged and ancient men, much elder than thy fathers. Is it a great matter 11 that God should comfort thee? but thy wicked words hinder this.
Why doth thy heart elevate thee, and why dost thou stare with thy eyes, as if they were thinking great things? Why doth thy 13 spirit swell against God, to utter such words out of thy mouth?
What is man that he should be without spot, and he that is 14 born of a woman that he should appear just? Behold among his saints none is unchangeable, and the heavens are not pure in his sight. How much more is man abominable, and unprofitable, 16 who drinketh iniquity like water? I will shew thee, hear me: 17 and I will tell thee what I have seen. Wise men confess and 18 19 hide not their fathers. To whom alone the earth was given, 20 and no stranger hath passed among them. The wicked man is proud all his days, and the number of the years of his tyranny is 21 uncertain. The sound of dread is always in his ears: and when 22 there is peace, he always suspecteth treason. He believeth not that he may return from darkness to light, looking round about 23 for the sword on every side. When he moveth himself to seek bread, he knoweth that the day of darkness is ready at his hand.

24 Tribulation shall terrify him, and distress shall surround him, as 25 a king that is prepared for the battle. For he hath stretched out his hand against God, and hath strengthened himself against 26 the Almighty. He hath run against him with his neck raised 27 up, and is armed with a fat neck. Fatness hath covered his 28 face, and the fat hangeth down on his sides. He hath dwelt in desolate cities, and in desert houses that are reduced into heaps.
29 He shall not be enriched, neither shall his substance continue, 30 neither shall he push his root in the earth. He shall not depart out of darkness: the flame shall dry up his branches, and he shall 31 be taken away by the breath of his own mouth. He shall not believe, being vainly deceived by error, that he may be redeemed 32 with any price. Before his days be full he shall perish: and his 33 hands shall wither away. He shall be blasted as a vine when its grapes are in the first flower, and as an olive tree that casteth 34 its flower. For the congregation of the hypocrite is barren, and 35 fire shall devour their tabernacles, who love to take bribes. He hath conceived sorrow, and hath brought forth iniquity, and his womb prepareth deceits.

16, 2 Then Job answered, and said: I have often heard such things 3 as these: you are all troublesome comforters. Shall windy words 4 have no end? or is it any trouble to thee to speak? I also could 5 speak like you: and would God your soul were for my soul. I would comfort you also with words, and would wag my head over 6 you. I would strengthen you with my mouth, and would move 7 my lips, as sparing you. But what shall I do? If I speak, my pain will not rest: and if I hold my peace, it will not depart from 8 me. But now my sorrow hath oppressed me, and all my limbs 9 are brought to nothing. My wrinkles bear witness against me, and a false speaker riseth up against my face, contradicting me.
10 He hath gathered together his fury against me, and threatening me he hath gnashed with his teeth upon me: my enemy hath beheld me with terrible eyes. They have opened their mouths upon me, and reproaching me they have struck me on the cheek, they are filled with my pains. God hath shut me up with the unjust man, and hath delivered me into the hands of the wicked. I that was formerly so wealthy, am all on a sudden broken to pieces: he hath taken me by my neck, he hath broken me, and hath set me up to be his mark. He hath compassed me round about with his lances, he hath wounded my loins, he hath not spared, and hath poured out my bowels on the earth, He hath torn me with wound upon wound, he hath rushed in upon me like a giant. I have sowed sackcloth upon my skin, and have covered my flesh with ashes. My face is swollen with weeping, and my eyelids are dim. These things have I suffered without the iniquity of my hand, when I offered pure prayers to God. O earth, cover not thou my blood, neither let my cry find a hiding place in thee. For behold my witness is in heaven, and he that knoweth my conscience is on high. My friends are full of words: my eye poureth out tears to God. And O that a man might so be judged with God, as the son of man is judged with his companion! For behold short years pass away, and I am walking in a path by which I shall not return.

My spirit shall be wasted, my days shall be shortened and only the grave remaineth for me. I have not sinned, and my eye abideth in bitterness. Deliver me, O Lord, and set me beside thee, and let any man's hand fight against me. Thou hast set their heart far from understanding, therefore they shall not be exalted. He promiseth a prey to his companions, and the eyes of his children shall fail. He hath made me as it were a byword of the people, and I am an example before them. My eye is dim through indignation, and my limbs are brought as it were to nothing. The just shall be astonished at this, and the innocent shall be raised up against the hypocrite. And the just man shall hold on his way, and he that hath clean hands shall be stronger and stronger. Wherefore be you all converted, and come, and I shall not find among you any wise man. My days have passed away, my thoughts are dissipated, tormenting my heart. They have turned night into day, and after darkness I hope for light again. If I wait hell is my house, and I have made my bed 14 in darkness. I have said to rottenness: Thou art my father; 15 to worms, my mother and my sister. Where is now then my 16 expectation, and who considereth my patience? All that I have shall go down into the deepest pit: thinkest thou that there at least I shall have rest?

18, 2 Then Baldad the Suhite answered, and said: How long will you throw out words? understand first, and so let us speak.
3 Why are we reputed as beasts, and counted vile before you?
4 Thou that destroyest thy soul in thy fury, shall the earth be forsaken for thee, and shall rocks be removed out of their place?
5 Shall not the light of the wicked be extinguished, and the flame 6 of his fire not shine? The light shall be dark in his tabernacle, 7 and the lamp that is over him, shall be put out. The step of his strength shall be straitened, and his own counsel shall cast 8 him down headlong. For he hath thrust his feet into a net, and 9 walketh in its meshes. The sole of his foot shall be held in a 10 snare, and thirst shall burn against him. A gin is hidden for 11 him in the earth, and his trap upon the path. Fears shall terrify 12 him on every side, and shall entangle his feet. Let his strength 13 be wasted with famine, and let hunger invade his ribs. Let it devour the beauty of his skin, let the firstborn death consume his 14 arms. Let his confidence be rooted out of his tabernacle, and 15 let destruction tread upon him like a king. Let the companions of him that is not, dwell in his tabernacle, let brimstone be 16 sprinkled in his tent. Let his roots be dried up beneath, and his 17 harvest destroyed above. Let the memory of him perish from 18 the earth, and let not his name be renowned in the streets. He shall drive him out of light into darkness, and shall remove him 19 out of the world. His seed shall not subsist, nor his offspring 20 among his people, nor any remnants in his country. They that come after him shall be astonished at his day, and horror shall 21 fall upon them that went before. These then are the tabernacles of the wicked, and this the place of him that knoweth not God.

19, 2 Then Job answered, and said: How long do you afflict my 3 soul, and break me in pieces with words? Behold, these ten times you confound me, and are not ashamed to oppress me.
4 For if I have been ignorant, my ignorance shall be with me.
5 But you set yourselves up against me, and reprove me with my 6 reproaches. At least now understand, that God hath not afflicted me with an equal judgment, and compassed me with his scourges. Behold I shall cry suffering violence, and no one will hear: I shall cry aloud, and there is none to judge. He hath hedged in my path round about, and I cannot pass, and in my way he hath set darkness. He hath stripped me of my glory, and hath taken the crown from my head. He hath destroyed me on every side, and I am lost, and he hath taken away my hope, as from a tree that is plucked up. His wrath is kindled against me, and he hath counted me as his enemy. His troops have come together, and have made themselves a way by me, and have besieged my tabernacle round about. He hath put my brethren far from me, and my acquaintance like strangers have departed from me. My kinsmen have forsaken me, and they that knew me, have forgotten me. They that dwell in my house, and my maidservants have counted me as a stranger, and I have been like an alien in their eyes. I called my servant, and he gave me no answer, I entreated him with my own mouth. My wife hath abhorred my breath, and I entreated the children of my womb.

Even fools despised me, and when I was gone from them, they spoke against me. They that were sometime my counsellors, have abhorred me: and he whom I loved most is turned against me. The flesh being consumed, my bone hath cleaved to my skin, and nothing but lips are left about my teeth. Have pity on me, have pity on me, at least you my friends, because the hand of the Lord hath touched me. Why do you persecute me as God, and glut yourselves with my flesh? Who will grant me that my words may be written? who will grant me that they may be marked down in a book? With an iron pen and in a plate of lead, or else be graven with an instrument in flint stone? For I know that my Redeemer liveth, and in the last day I shall rise out of the earth. And I shall be clothed again with my skin, and in my flesh I shall see my God. Whom I myself shall see, and my eyes shall behold, and not another: this my hope is laid up in my bosom. Why then do you say now: Let us persecute him, and let us find occasion of word against him? Flee then from the face of the sword, for the sword is the revenger of iniquities: and know ye that there is a judgment.

Then Sophar the Naamathite answered, and said: Therefore various thoughts succeed one another in me, and my mind is 3 hurried away to different things. The doctrine with which thou reprovest me, I will hear, and the spirit of my understanding 4 shall answer for me. This I know from the beginning, since 5 man was placed upon the earth, That the praise of the wicked 6 is short, and the joy of the hypocrite but for a moment. If his pride mount up even to heaven, and his head touch the clouds: 7 In the end he shall be destroyed like a dunghill, and they that 8 had seen him, shall say: Where is he? As a dream that fleeth away he shall not be found, he shall pass as a vision of the night: 9 The eyes that had seen him, shall see him no more, neither shall 10 his place any more behold him. His children shall be oppressed 11 with want, and his hands shall render to him his sorrow. His bones shall be filled with the vices of his youth, and they shall 12 sleep with him in the dust. For when evil shall be sweet in 13 his mouth, he will hide it under his tongue. He will spare it, 14 and not leave it, and will hide it in his throat. His bread in his 15 belly shall be turned into the gall of asps within him, The riches which he hath swallowed, he shall vomit up, and God shall draw 16 them out of his belly. He shall suck the head of asps, and the 17 viper's tongue shall kill him. Let him not see the streams of the 18 river, the brooks of honey and of butter. He shall be punished for all that he did, and yet shall not be consumed: according to 19 the multitude of his devices so also shall he suffer. Because he broke in and stripped the poor: he hath violently taken away a 20 house which he did not build. And yet his belly was not filled: and when he hath the things he coveted, he shall not be able to 21 possess them. There was nothing left of his meat, and therefore 22 nothing shall continue of his goods: When he shall be filled, he shall be straitened, he shall burn, and every sorrow shall fall 23 upon him. May his belly be filled, that God may send forth the wrath of his indignation upon him, and rain down his war upon 24 him. He shall flee from weapons of iron, and shall fall upon a 25 bow of brass. The sword is drawn out, and cometh forth from its scabbard, and glittereth in his bitterness: the terrible ones 26 shall go and come upon him. All darkness is hid in his secret places: a fire that is not kindled shall devour him, he shall be 27 afflicted when left in his tabernacle. The heavens shall reveal his 28 iniquity, and the earth shall rise up against him. The offspring of his house shall be exposed, he shall be pulled down in the day of God's wrath. This is the portion of a wicked man from God, 29 and the inheritance of his doings from the Lord.

Then Job answered, and said: Hear, I beseech you, my 21, 2 words, and do penance. Suffer me, and I will speak, and af- 3 ter, if you please, laugh at my words. Is my debate against 4 man, that I should not have just reason to be troubled? Hear- 5 ken to me and be astonished, and lay your finger on your mouth.
As for me, when I remember, I am afraid, and trembling taketh 6 hold on my flesh. Why then do the wicked live, are they ad- 7 vanced, and strengthened with riches? Their seed continueth 8 before them, a multitude of kinsmen, and of children's children in their sight. Their houses are secure and peaceable, and the 9 rod of God is not upon them. Their cattle have conceived, and 10 failed not: their cow has calved, and is not deprived of her fruit.
Their little ones go out like a flock, and their children dance and 11 play. They take the timbrel, and the harp, and rejoice at the 12 sound of the organ. They spend their days in wealth, and in a 13 moment they go down to hell. Who have said to God: Depart 14 from us, we desire not the knowledge of thy ways. Who is the 15 Almighty, that we should serve him? and what doth it profit us if we pray to him? Yet because their good things are not in 16 their hand, may the counsel of the wicked be far from me. How 17 often shall the lamp of the wicked be put out, and a deluge come upon them, and he shall distribute the sorrows of his wrath?
They shall be as chaff before the face of the wind, and as ashes 18 which the whirlwind scattereth. God shall lay up the sorrow of the father for his children: and when he shall repay, then shall 19 he know. His eyes shall see his own destruction, and he shall 20 drink of the wrath of the Almighty. For what is it to him what befalleth his house after him: and if the number of his months be 21 diminished by one half? Shall any one teach God knowledge, who judgeth those that are high? One man dieth strong, and 23 hale, rich and happy. His bowels are full of fat, and his bones 24 are moistened with marrow. But another dieth in bitterness 25 of soul without any riches: And yet they shall sleep together 26 in the dust, and worms shall cover them. Surely I know your 27 thoughts, and your unjust judgments against me. For you say: 28 Where is the house of the prince? and where are the dwelling places of the wicked? Ask any one of them that go by the way, 29 30 and you shall perceive that he knoweth these same things. Because the wicked man is reserved to the day of destruction, and 31 he shall be brought to the day of wrath. Who shall reprove his way to his face? and who shall repay him what he hath done?

32 He shall be brought to the graves, and shall watch in the heap 33 of the dead. He hath been acceptable to the gravel of Cocytus, and he shall draw every man after him, and there are innumer-34 able before him. How then do ye comfort me in vain, whereas your answer is shewn to be repugnant to truth?

22, 2 Then Eliphaz the Themanite answered, and said: Can man be compared with God, even though he were of perfect knowl-3 edge? What doth it profit God if thou be just? or what dost 4 thou give him if thy way be unspotted? Shall he reprove thee for 5 fear, and come with thee into judgment: And not for thy mani-6 fold wickedness and thy infinite iniquities? For thou hast taken away the pledge of thy brethren without cause, and stripped the 7 naked of their clothing. Thou hast not given water to the weary, 8 thou hast withdrawn bread from the hungry. In the strength of thy arm thou didst possess the land, and being the most mighty 9 thou holdest it. Thou hast sent widows away empty, and the 10 arms of the fatherless thou hast broken in pieces. Therefore art thou surrounded with shares, and sudden fear troubleth thee.
11 And didst thou think that thou shouldst not see darkness, and that thou shouldst not be covered with the violence of over-12 flowing waters? Dost not thou think that God is higher than 13 heaven, and is elevated above the height of the stars? And thou sayst: What doth God know? and he judgeth as it were 14 through a mist. The clouds are his covert, and he doth not consider our things, and he walketh about the poles of heaven.
15 Dost thou desire to keep the path of ages, which wicked men 16 have trodden? Who were taken away before their time, and 17 a flood hath overthrown their foundation. Who said to God: Depart from us: and looked upon the Almighty as if he could do 18 nothing: Whereas he had filled their houses with good things: 19 whose way of thinking be far from me. The just shall see, and 20 shall rejoice, and the innocent shall laugh them to scorn. Is not their exaltation cut down, and hath not fire devoured the rem-21 nants of them? Submit thyself then to him, and be at peace: 22 and thereby thou shalt have the best fruits. Receive the law of his mouth, and lay up his words in thy heart. If thou wilt return to the Almighty, thou shalt be built up, and shalt put away iniquity far from thy tabernacle. He shall give for earth flint, and for flint torrents of gold. And the Almighty shall be against thy enemies, and silver shall be heaped together for thee.

Then shalt thou abound in delights in the Almighty, and shalt lift up thy face to God. Thou shalt pray to him, and he will hear thee, and thou shalt pay vows. Thou shalt decree a thing, and it shall come to thee, and light shall shine in thy ways. For he that hath been humbled, shall be in glory: and he that shall bow down his eyes, he shall be saved. The innocent shall be saved, and he shall be saved by the cleanness of his hands.

Then Job answered, and said: Now also my words are in bitterness, and the hand of my scourge is more grievous than my mourning. Who will grant me that I might know and find him, and come even to his throne? I would set judgment before him, and would fill my mouth with complaints. That I might know the words that he would answer me, and understand what he would say to me. I would not that he should contend with me with much strength, nor overwhelm me with the weight of his greatness. Let him propose equity against me, and let my judgment come to victory. But if I go to the east, he appeareth not; if to the west, I shall not understand him. If to the left hand, what shall I do? I shall not take hold on him: if I turn myself to the right hand, I shall not see him. But he knoweth my way, and has tried me as gold that passeth through the fire: My foot hath followed his steps, I have kept his way, and have not declined from it. I have not departed from the commandments of his lips, and the words of his mouth I have hid in my bosom.
For he is alone, and no man can turn away his thought: and whatsoever his soul hath desired, that hath he done. And when he shall have fulfilled his will in me, many other like things are also at hand with him. And therefore I am troubled at his presence, and when I consider him I am made pensive with fear.
God hath softened my heart, and the Almighty hath troubled me. For I have not perished because of the darkness that hangs over me, neither hath the mist covered my face.

Times are not hid from the Almighty: but they that know him, know not his days. Some have removed landmarks, have 3 taken away flocks by force, and fed them. They have driven away the ass of the fatherless, and have taken away the widow's 4 ox for a pledge. They have overturned the way of the poor, 5 and have oppressed together the meek of the earth. Others like wild asses in the desert go forth to their work: by watching for 6 a prey they get bread for their children. They reap the field that is not their own, and gather the vintage of his vineyard 7 whom by violence they have oppressed. They send men away naked, taking away their clothes who have no covering in the 8 cold: Who are wet, with the showers of the mountains, and 9 having no covering embrace the stones. They have violently robbed the fatherless, and stripped the poor common people.

10 From the naked and them that go without clothing, and from 11 the hungry they have taken away the ears of corn. They have taken their rest at noon among the stores of them, who after 12 having trodden the winepresses suffer thirst. Out of the cities they have made men to groan, and the soul of the wounded hath 13 cried out, and God doth not suffer it to pass unrevenged. They have been rebellious to the light, they have not known his ways, 14 neither have they returned by his paths. The murderer riseth at the very break of day, he killeth the needy, and the poor 15 man: but in the night he will be as a thief. The eye of the adulterer observeth darkness, saying: No eye shall see me: and 16 he will cover his face. He diggeth through houses in the dark, as in the day they had appointed for themselves, and they have 17 not known the light. If the morning suddenly appear, it is to them the shadow of death: and they walk in darkness as if it 18 were in light. He is light upon the face of the water: cursed be his portion on the earth, let him not walk by the way of the 19 vineyards. Let him pass from the snow waters to excessive heat, 20 and his sin even to hell. Let mercy forget him: may worms be his sweetness: let him be remembered no more, but be broken 21 in pieces as an unfruitful tree. For he hath fed the barren that 22 beareth not, and to the widow he hath done no good. He hath pulled down the strong by his might: and when he standeth up, 23 he shall not trust to his life. God hath given him place for penance, and he abuseth it unto pride: but his eyes are upon his 24 ways. They are lifted up for a little while and shall not stand, and shall be brought down as all things, and shall be taken away, and as the tops of the ears of corn they shall be broken. And if 25 it be not so, who can convince me that I have lied, and set my words before God?

Then Baldad the Suhite answered, and I said: Power and 25, 2 terror are with him, who maketh peace in his high places. Is 3 there any numbering of his soldiers? and upon whom shall not his light arise? Can man be justified compared with God, or he 4 that is born of a woman appear clean? Behold even the moon 5 doth not shine, and the stars are not pure in his sight. How 6 much less man that is rottenness and the son of man who is a worm?

Then Job answered, and said: Whose helper art thou? is it 26, 2 of him that is weak? and dost thou hold up the arm of him that has no strength? To whom hast thou given counsel? perhaps 3 to him that hath no wisdom, and thou hast shewn thy very great prudence. Whom hast thou desired to teach? was it not 4 him that made life? Behold the giants groan under the waters, 5 and they that dwell with them. Hell is naked before him, and 6 there is no covering for destruction. He stretched out the north 7 over the empty space, and hangeth the earth upon nothing. He 8 bindeth up the waters in his clouds, so that they break not out and fall down together. He withholdeth the face of his throne, 9 and spreadeth his cloud over it. He hath set bounds about 10 the waters, till light and darkness come to an end. The pillars 11 of heaven tremble, and dread at his beck. By his power the 12 seas are suddenly gathered together, and his wisdom has struck the proud one. His spirit hath adorned the heavens, and his 13 obstetric hand brought forth the winding serpent. Lo, these 14 things are said in part of his ways: and seeing we have heard scarce a little drop of his word, who shall be able to behold the thunder of his greatness?

Job also added, taking up his parable, and said: As God 27, 2 liveth, who hath taken away my judgment, and the Almighty, who hath brought my soul to bitterness, As long as breath 3 remaineth in me, and the spirit of God in my nostrils, My lips 4 shall not speak iniquity, neither shall my tongue contrive lying.
God forbid that I should judge you to be just: till I die I will not 5 depart from my innocence. My justification, which I have begun 6 to hold, I will not forsake: for my heart doth not reprehend me in 7 all my life. Let my enemy be as the ungodly, and my adversary 8 as the wicked one. For what is the hope of the hypocrite if through covetousness he take by violence, and God deliver not 9 his soul? Will God hear his cry, when distress shall come upon 10 him? Or can he delight himself in the Almighty, and call upon 11 God at all times? I will teach you by the hand of God, what the 12 Almighty hath, and I will not conceal it. Behold you all know 13 it, and why do you speak vain things without cause? This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the inheritance of the 14 violent, which they shall receive of the Almighty. If his sons be multiplied, they shall be for the sword, and his grandsons shall 15 not be filled with bread. They that shall remain of him, shall 16 be buried in death, and his widows shall not weep. If he shall 17 heap together silver as earth, and prepare raiment as clay, He shall prepare indeed, but the just man shall be clothed with it: 18 and the innocent shall divide the silver. He hath built his house 19 as a moth, and as a keeper he hath made a booth. The rich man when he shall sleep shall take away nothing with him: he 20 shall open his eyes and find nothing. Poverty like water shall 21 take hold on him, a tempest shall oppress him in the night: A burning wind shall take him up, and carry him away, and as a 22 whirlwind shall snatch him from his place. And he shall cast upon him, and shall not spare: out of his hand he would willingly 23 flee. He shall clasp his hands upon him, and shall hiss at him, beholding his place.

28 Silver hath beginnings of its veins, and gold hath a place 2 wherein it is melted. Iron is taken out of the earth, and stone 3 melted with heat is turned into brass. He hath set a time for darkness, and the end of all things he considereth, the stone 4 also that is in the dark and the shadow of death. The flood divideth from the people that are on their journey, those whom the food of the needy man hath forgotten, and who cannot be 5 come at. The land, out of which bread grew in its place, hath 6 been overturned with fire. The stones of it are the place of 7 sapphires, and the clods of it are gold. The bird hath not known 8 the path, neither hath the eye of the vulture beheld it. The children of the merchants have not trodden it, neither hath the 9 lioness passed by it. He hath stretched forth his hand to the 10 flint, he hath overturned mountains from the roots. In the rocks he hath cut out rivers, and his eye hath seen every precious thing. The depths also of rivers he hath searched, and hidden things he hath brought forth to light. But where is wisdom to be found, and where is the place of understanding? Man knoweth not the price thereof, neither is it found in the land of them that live in delights. The depth saith: It is not in me: and the sea saith: It is not with me. The finest gold shall not purchase it, neither shall silver be weighed in exchange for it. It shall not be compared with the dyed colours of India, or with the most precious stone sardonyx, or the sapphire. Gold or crystal cannot equal it, neither shall any vessels of gold be changed for it. High and eminent things shall not be mentioned in comparison of it: but wisdom is drawn out of secret places. The topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equal to it, neither shall it be compared to the cleanest dyeing. Whence then cometh wisdom? and where is the place of understanding? It is hid from the eyes of all living, and the fowls of the air know it not. Destruction and death have said: With our ears we have heard the fame thereof. God understandeth the way of it, and he knoweth the place thereof. For he beholdeth the ends of the world: and looketh on all things that are under heaven. Who made a weight for the winds, and weighed the waters by measure. When he gave a law for the rain, and a way for the sounding storms. Then he saw it, and declared, and prepared, and searched it. And he said to man: Behold the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom: and to depart from evil, is understanding.

Job also added, taking up his parable, and said: Who will grant me, that I might be according to the months past, according to the days in which God kept me? When his lamp shined over my head, and I walked by his light in darkness? As I was in the days of my youth, when God was secretly in my tabernacle? When the Almighty was with me: and my servants round about me? When I washed my feet with butter, and the rock poured me out rivers of oil? When I went out to the gate of the city, and in the street they prepared me a chair? The young men saw me, and hid themselves: and the old men rose up and stood. The princes ceased to speak, and laid the finger on their mouth. The rulers held their peace, and their tongue cleaved to their throat. The ear that heard me blessed me, and the eye

12 that saw me gave witness to me: Because I had delivered the poor man that cried out; and the fatherless, that had no helper.
13 The blessing of him that was ready to perish came upon me, 14 and I comforted the heart of the widow. I was clad with justice: and I clothed myself with my judgment, as with a robe and 15 a diadem. I was an eye to the blind, and a foot to the lame.
16 I was the father of the poor: and the cause which I knew not, 17 I searched out most diligently. I broke the jaws of the wicked 18 man, and out of his teeth I took away the prey. And I said: I shall die in my nest, and as a palm tree shall multiply my days.
19 My root is opened beside the waters, and dew shall continue in 20 my harvest. My glory shall always be renewed, and my bow 21 in my hand shall be repaired. They that heard me, waited for my sentence, and being attentive held their peace at my counsel.
22 To my words they durst add nothing, and my speech dropped 23 upon them. They waited for me as for rain, and they opened 24 their mouth as for a latter shower. If at any time I laughed on them, they believed not, and the light of my countenance fell not 25 on earth. If I had a mind to go to them, I sat first, and when I sat as a king, with his army standing about him, yet I was a comforter of them that mourned.

30 But now the younger in time scorn me, whose fathers I would 2 not have set with the dogs of my flock: The strength of whose hands was to me as nothing, and they were thought unworthy 3 of life itself. Barren with want and hunger, who gnawed in the 4 wilderness, disfigured with calamity and misery. And they ate grass, and barks of trees, and the root of junipers was their food.
5 Who snatched up these things out of the valleys, and when they 6 had found any of them, they ran to them with a cry. They dwelt in the desert places of torrents, and in caves of earth, or 7 upon the gravel. They pleased themselves among these kind of 8 things, and counted it delightful to be under the briers. The children of foolish and base men, and not appearing at all upon 9 the earth. Now I am turned into their song, and am become 10 their byword. They abhor me, and flee far from me, and are 11 not afraid to spit in my face. For he hath opened his quiver, and hath afflicted me, and hath put a bridle into my mouth.
12 At the right hand of my rising, my calamities forthwith arose: they have overthrown my feet, and have overwhelmed me with their paths as with waves. They have destroyed my ways, they 13 have lain in wait against me, and they have prevailed, and there was none to help. They have rushed in upon me, as when a 14 wall is broken, and a gate opened, and have rolled themselves down to my miseries. I am brought to nothing: as a wind thou 15 hast taken away my desire: and my prosperity hath passed away like a cloud. And now my soul fadeth within myself, and the 16 days of affliction possess me. In the night my bone is pierced with sorrows: and they that feed upon me, do not sleep. With 18 the multitude of them my garment is consumed, and they have girded me about, as with the collar of my coat. I am compared 19 to dirt, and am likened to embers and ashes. I cry to thee, and thou hearest me not: I stand up, and thou dost not regard me.

Thou art changed to be cruel toward me, and in the hardness 21 of thy hand thou art against me. Thou hast lifted me up, and 22 set me as it were upon the wind, and thou hast mightily dashed me. I know that thou wilt deliver me to death, where a house is 23 appointed for every one that liveth. But yet thou stretchest not forth thy hand to their consumption: and if they shall fall down 24 thou wilt save. I wept heretofore for him that was afflicted, and my soul had compassion on the poor. I expected good 26 things, and evils are come upon me: I waited for light, and darkness broke out. My inner parts have boiled without any 27 rest, the days of affliction have prevented me. I went mourning without indignation; I rose up, and cried in the crowd. I was 29 the brother of dragons, and companion of ostriches. My skin is become black upon me, and my bones are dried up with heat.
My harp is turned to mourning, and my organ into the voice of 31 those that weep.

I made a covenant with my eyes, that I would not so much 31 as think upon a virgin. For what part should God from above 2 have in me, and what inheritance the Almighty from on high?
Is not destruction to the wicked, and aversion to them that work 3 iniquity? Doth not he consider my ways, and number all my 4 steps? If I have walked in vanity, and my foot hath made haste 5 to deceit: Let him weigh me in a just balance, and let God 6 know my simplicity. If my step hath turned out of the way, and 7 if my heart hath followed my eyes, and if a spot hath cleaved to my hands: Then let me sow and let another reap: and let my 8 9 offspring be rooted out. If my heart hath been deceived upon 10 a woman, and if I have laid wait at my friend's door: Let my wife be the harlot of another, and let other men lie with her.

11, 12 For this is a heinous crime, and a most grievous iniquity. It is a fire that devoureth even to destruction, and rooteth up all 13 things that spring. If I have despised to abide judgment with my manservant, or my maidservant, when they had any controversy 14 against me: For what shall I do when God shall rise to judge?
15 and when he shall examine, what shall I answer him? Did not he that made me in the womb make him also: and did not one 16 and the same form me in the womb? If I have denied to the poor 17 what they desired, and have made the eyes of the widow wait: If I have eaten my morsel alone, and the fatherless hath not eaten 18 thereof: (For from my infancy mercy grew up with me: and it 19 came out with me from my mother's womb:) If I have despised him that was perishing for want of clothing, and the poor man 20 that had no covering: If his sides have not blessed me, and if he 21 were not warmed with the fleece of my sheep: If I have lifted up my hand against the fatherless, even when I saw myself superior 22 in the gate: Let my shoulder fall from its joint, and let my 23 arm with its bones be broken. For I have always feared God as 24 waves swelling over me, and his weight I was unable to bear. If I have thought gold my strength, and have said to fine gold: My 25 confidence: If I have rejoiced over my great riches, and because 26 my hand had gotten much. If I beheld the sun when it shined 27 and the moon going in brightness: And my heart in secret hath 28 rejoiced, and I have kissed my hand with, my mouth: Which is a very great iniquity, and a denial against the most high God.
29 If I have been glad at the downfall of him that hated me, and 30 have rejoiced that evil had found him. For I have not given my 31 mouth to sin, by wishing a curse to his soul. If the men of my tabernacle have not said: Who will give us of his flesh that we 32 may be filled? The stranger did not stay without, my door was 33 open to the traveller. If as a man I have hid my sin, and have 34 concealed my iniquity in my bosom. If I have been afraid at a very great multitude, and the contempt of kinsmen hath terrified me: and have not rather held my peace, and not gone out of the 35 door. Who would grant me a hearing, that the Almighty may hear my desire: and that he himself that judgeth would write a book, That I may carry it on my shoulder, and put it about 36 me as a crown? At every step of mine I would pronounce it, 37 and offer it as to a prince. If my land cry against me, and with 38 it the furrows thereof mourn: If I have eaten the fruits thereof 39 without money, and have afflicted the son of the tillers thereof: Let thistles grow up to me instead of wheat, and thorns instead 40 of barley.

So these three men ceased to answer Job, because he seemed 32 just to himself. And Eliu the son of Barachel the Buzite of the 2 kindred of Ram, was angry and was moved to indignation: now he was angry against Job, because he said he was just before God. And he was angry with his friends, because they had not 3 found a reasonable answer, but only had condemned Job. So 4 Eliu waited while Job was speaking because they were his elders that were speaking. But when he saw that the three were not 5 able to answer, he was exceedingly angry. Then Eliu the son of 6 Barachel the Buzite answered, and said: I am younger in days, and you are more ancient, therefore hanging down my head, I was afraid to shew you my opinion. For I hoped that greater age 7 would speak, and that a multitude of years would teach wisdom.
But, as I see, there is a spirit in men, and the inspiration of 8 the Almighty giveth understanding. They that are aged are 9 not the wise men, neither do the ancients understand judgment.
Therefore I will speak: Harken to me, I also will shew you my 10 wisdom. For I have waited for your words, I have given ear to 11 your wisdom, as long as you were disputing in words. And as 12 long as I thought you said some thing, I considered: but, as I see, there is none of you that can convince Job, and answer his words. Lest you should say: We have found wisdom, God hath 13 cast him down, not man. He hath spoken nothing to me, and I 14 will not answer him according to your words. They were afraid, 15 and answered no more, and they left off speaking. Therefore 16 because I have waited, and they have not spoken: they stood, and answered no more: I also will answer my part, and will 17 shew my knowledge. For I am full of matter to speak of, and 18 the spirit of my bowels straiteneth me. Behold, my belly is as 19 new wine which wanteth vent, which bursteth the new vessels.
I will speak and take breath a little: I will open my lips, and 20 will answer. I will not accept the person of man, and I will not 21 22 level God with man. For I know not how long I shall continue, and whether after a while my Maker may take me away.

33 Hear therefore, O Job, my speeches, and hearken to all my 2 words. Behold now I have opened my mouth, let my tongue 3 speak within my jaws. My words are from my upright heart, 4 and my lips shall speak a pure sentence. The spirit of God 5 made me, and the breath of the Almighty gave me life. If thou 6 canst, answer me, and stand up against my face. Behold God hath made me as well as thee, and of the same clay I also was 7 formed. But yet let not my wonder terrify thee, and let not my 8 eloquence be burdensome to thee. Now thou hast said in my 9 hearing, and I have heard the voice of thy words: I am clean, and without sin: I am unspotted, and there is no iniquity in 10 me. Because he hath found complaints against me, therefore 11 he hath counted me for his enemy. He hath put my feet in the 12 stocks, he hath observed all my paths. Now this is the thing in which thou art not justified: I will answer thee, that God is 13 greater than man. Dost thou strive against him, because he 14 hath not answered thee to all words? God speaketh once, and 15 repeateth not the selfsame thing the second time. By a dream in a vision by night, when deep sleep falleth upon men, and they 16 are sleeping in their beds: Then he openeth the ears of men, and 17 teaching instructeth them in what they are to learn. That he may withdraw a man from the things he is doing, and may deliver 18 him from pride. Rescuing his soul from corruption: and his life 19 from passing to the sword. He rebuketh also by sorrow in the 20 bed, and he maketh all his bones to wither. Bread becometh abominable to him in his life, and to his soul the meat which 21 before he desired. His flesh shall be consumed away, and his 22 bones that were covered shall be made bare. His soul hath 23 drawn near to corruption, and his life to the destroyers. If there shall be an angel speaking for him, one among thousands, 24 to declare man's uprightness, He shall have mercy on him, and shall say: Deliver him, that he may not go down to corruption: 25 I have found wherein I may be merciful to him. His flesh is consumed with punishments, let him return to the days of his 26 youth. He shall pray to God, and he will be gracious to him: and he shall see his face with joy, and he will render to man 27 his justice. He shall look upon men, and shall say: I have sinned, and indeed I have offended, and I have not received what I have deserved. He hath delivered his soul from going into destruction, that it may live and see the light. Behold, all these things God worketh three times within every one. That he may withdraw their souls from corruption, and enlighten them with the light of the living. Attend, Job, and hearken to me, and hold thy peace, whilst I speak. But if thou hast any thing to say, answer me, speak: for I would have thee to appear just. And if thou have not, hear me: hold thy peace, and I will teach thee wisdom.

And Eliu continued his discourse, and said: Hear ye, wise men, my words, and ye learned, hearken to me: For the ear trieth words, and the mouth discerneth meats by the taste. Let us choose to us judgment, and let us see among ourselves what is the best. For Job hath said: I am just, and God hath overthrown my judgment. For in judging me there is a lie: my arrow is violent without any sin. What man is there like Job, who drinketh up scorning like water? Who goeth in company with them that work iniquity, and walketh with wicked men? For he hath said: Man shall not please God, although he run with him. Therefore, ye men of understanding, hear me: far from God be wickedness, and iniquity from the Almighty. For he will render to a man his work, and according to the ways of every one he will reward them. For in very deed God will not condemn without cause, neither will the Almighty pervert judgment. What other hath he appointed over the earth? or whom hath he set over the world which he made? If he turn his heart to him, he shall draw his spirit and breath unto himself. All flesh shall perish together, and man shall return into ashes. If then thou hast understanding, hear what is said, and hearken to the voice of my words. Can he be healed that loveth not judgment? and how dost thou so far condemn him that is just? Who saith to the king: Thou art an apostate: who calleth rulers ungodly: Who accepteth not the persons of princes: nor hath regarded the tyrant, when he contended against the poor man: for all are the work of his hands. They shall suddenly die, and the people shall be troubled at midnight, and they shall pass, and take away the violent without hand. For his eyes are upon the ways of men, and he considereth all their steps. There is no darkness, and there is no shadow of death, where they may be 23 hid who work iniquity. For it is no longer in the power of man 24 to enter into judgment with God. He shall break in pieces many and innumerable, and shall make others to stand in their stead.

25 For he knoweth their works: and therefore he shall bring night 26 on them, and they shall be destroyed. He hath struck them, as 27 being wicked, in open sight. Who as it were on purpose have 28 revolted from him, and would not understand all his ways: So that they caused the cry of the needy to come to him, and he 29 heard the voice of the poor. For when he granteth peace, who is there that can condemn? When he hideth his countenance, who is there that can behold him, whether it regard nations, or 30 all men? Who maketh a man that is a hypocrite to reign for 31 the sins of the people? Seeing then I have spoken of God, I will 32 not hinder thee in thy turn. If I have erred, teach thou me: if I 33 have spoken iniquity, I will add no more. Doth God require it of thee, because it hath displeased thee? for thou beganst to 34 speak, and not I: but if thou know any thing better, speak. Let men of understanding speak to me, and let a wise man hearken 35 to me. But Job hath spoken foolishly, and his words sound not 36 discipline. My father, let Job be tried even to the end: cease 37 not from the man of iniquity. Because he addeth blasphemy upon his sins, let him be tied fast in the mean time amongst us:
and then let him provoke God to judgment with his speeches.

35, 2 Moreover Eliu spoke these words: Doth thy thought seem right to thee, that thou shouldst say: I am more just than God?
3 For thou saidst: That which is right doth not please thee: or 4 what will it profit thee if I sin? Therefore I will answer thy 5 words, and thy friends with thee. Look up to heaven and see, 6 and behold the sky, that it is higher than thee. If thou sin, what shalt thou hurt him? and if thy iniquities be multiplied, 7 what shalt thou do against him? And if thou do justly, what 8 shalt thou give him, or what shall he receive of thy hand? Thy wickedness may hurt a man that is like thee: and thy justice may 9 help the son of man. By reason of the multitude of oppressors they shall cry out: and shall wail for the violence of the arm of 10 tyrants. And he hath not said: Where is God, who made me, 11 who hath given songs in the night? Who teacheth us more than the beasts of the earth, and instructeth us more than the fowls of the air. There shall they cry, and he will not hear, because of 12 the pride of evil men. God therefore will not hear in vain, and 13 the Almighty will look into the causes of every one. Yea, when 14 thou shalt say: He considereth not: be judged before him, and expect him. For he doth not now bring on his fury, neither doth 15 he revenge wickedness exceedingly. Therefore Job openeth his 16 mouth in vain, and multiplieth words without knowledge.

Eliu also proceeded, and said: Suffer me a little, and I will 36, 2 shew thee: for I have yet somewhat to speak in God's behalf. I 3 will repeat my knowledge from the beginning, and I will prove my Maker just. For indeed my words are without a lie, and 4 perfect knowledge shall be proved to thee. God doth not cast 5 away the mighty, whereas he himself also is mighty. But he 6 saveth not the wicked, and he giveth judgment to the poor. He 7 will not take away his eyes from the just, and he placeth kings on the throne for ever, and they are exalted. And if they shall be in 8 chains, and be bound with the cords of poverty: He shall shew 9 them their works, and their wicked deeds, because they have been violent. He also shall open their ear, to correct them: and 10 shall speak, that they may return from iniquity. If they shall 11 hear and observe, they shall accomplish their days in good, and their years in glory. But if they hear not, they shall pass by 12 the sword, and shall be consumed in folly. Dissemblers and 13 crafty men prove the wrath of God, neither shall they cry when they are bound. Their soul shall die in a storm, and their 14 life among the effeminate. He shall deliver the poor out of his 15 distress, and shall open his ear in affliction. Therefore he shall 16 set thee at large out of the narrow mouth, and which hath no foundation under it: and the rest of thy table shall be full of fatness. Thy cause hath been judged as that of the wicked, 17 cause and judgment thou shalt recover. Therefore let not anger 18 overcome thee to oppress any man: neither let multitude of gifts turn thee aside. Lay down thy greatness without tribulation, 19 and all the mighty of strength. Prolong not the night that people may come up for them. Beware thou turn not aside to 21 iniquity: for this thou hast begun to follow after misery. Behold, 22 God is high in his strength, and none is like him among the lawgivers. Who can search out his ways? or who can say to him: 23 Thou hast wrought iniquity? Remember that thou knowest not 24

25 his work, concerning which men have sung. All men see him, 26 every one beholdeth afar off. Behold, God is great, exceeding 27 our knowledge: the number of his years is inestimable. He lifteth up the drops of rain, and poureth out showers like floods: 28, 29 Which flow from the clouds that cover all above. If he will 30 spread out clouds as his tent, And lighten with his light from 31 above, he shall cover also the ends of the sea. For by these 32 he judgeth people, and giveth food to many mortals. In his hands he hideth the light, and commandeth it to come again.
33 He sheweth his friend concerning it, that it is his possession, and that he may come up to it.

37 At this my heart trembleth, and is moved out of its place.
2 Hear ye attentively the terror of his voice, and the sound that 3 cometh out of his mouth. He beholdeth under all the heavens, 4 and his light is upon the ends of the earth. After it a noise shall roar, he shall thunder with the voice of his majesty, and 5 shall not be found out, when his voice shall be heard. God shall thunder wonderfully with his voice, he that doth great and un-6 searchable things. He commandeth the snow to go down upon the earth, and the winter rain, and the shower of his strength.
7 He sealet up the hand of all men, that every one may know 8 his works. Then the beast shall go into his covert, and shall 9 abide in his den. Out of the inner parts shall a tempest come, 10 and cold out of the north. When God bloweth there cometh 11 frost, and again the waters are poured out abundantly. Corn 12 desireth clouds, and the clouds spread their light: Which go round about, whithersoever the will of him that governeth them shall lead them, to whatsoever he shall command them upon the 13 face of the whole earth: Whether in one tribe, or in his own land, or in what place soever of his mercy he shall command them to 14 be found. Harken to these things, Job: Stand, and consider 15 the wondrous works of God. Dost thou know when God com-16 manded the rains, to shew his light of his clouds? Knowest thou the great paths of the clouds, and the perfect knowledges?
17 Are not thy garments hot, when the south wind blows upon the 18 earth? Thou perhaps hast made the heavens with him, which 19 are most strong, as if they were of molten brass. Shew us what 20 we may say to him: or we are wrapped up in darkness. Who shall tell him the things I speak? even if a man shall speak, he shall be swallowed up. But now they see not the light: the air 21 on a sudden shall be thickened into clouds, and the wind shall pass and drive them away. Cold cometh out of the north, and to 22 God praise with fear. We cannot find him worthily: he is great 23 in strength, and in judgment, and in justice, and he is ineffable.

Therefore men shall fear him, and all that seem to themselves to 24 be wise, shall not dare to behold him.

Then the Lord answered Job out of a whirlwind, and said: 38
Who is this that wrappeth up sentences in unskilful words? 2 Gird up thy loins like a man: I will ask thee, and answer thou 3 me. Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? 4 tell me if thou hast understanding. Who hath laid the measures 5 thereof, if thou knowest or who hath stretched the line upon it?
Upon what are its bases grounded? or who laid the corner stone 6 thereof, When the morning stars praised me together, and all 7 the sons of God made a joyful melody? Who shut up the sea 8 with doors, when it broke forth as issuing out of the womb: When I made a cloud the garment thereof, and wrapped it in a 9 mist as in swaddling bands? I set my bounds around it, and made it bars and doors: And I said: Hitherto thou shalt come, 11 and shalt go no further, and here thou shalt break thy swelling waves. Didst thou since thy birth command the morning, and 12 shew the dawning of the day its place? And didst thou hold the extremities of the earth shaking them, and hast thou shaken the 13 ungodly out of it? The seal shall be restored as clay, and shall stand as a garment. From the wicked their light shall be taken 15 away, and the high arm shall be broken. Hast thou entered into 16 the depths of the sea, and walked in the lowest parts of the deep?
Have the gates of death been opened to thee, and hast thou seen 17 the darksome doors? Hast thou considered the breadth of the earth? tell me, if thou knowest all things? Where is the way 19 where light dwelleth, and where is the place of darkness? That thou mayst bring every thing to its own bounds, and understand the paths of the house thereof. Didst thou know then that thou 21 shouldst be born? and didst thou know the number of thy days?
Hast thou entered into the storehouses of the snow, or hast thou 22 beheld the treasures of the hail: Which I have prepared for the time of the enemy, against the day of battle and war? By what 24 way is the light spread, and heat divided upon the earth? Who 25 gave a course to violent showers, or a way for noisy thunder: 26 That it should rain on the earth without man in the wilderness, 27 where no mortal dwelleth: That it should fill the desert and 28 desolate land, and should bring forth green grass? Who is the 29 father of rain? or who begot the drops of dew? Out of whose womb came the ice? and the frost from heaven who hath gener-30 dered it? The waters are hardened like a stone, and the surface 31 of the deep is congealed. Shalt thou be able to join together the shining stars the Pleiades, or canst thou stop the turning about 32 of Arcturus? Canst thou bring forth the day star in its time, and make the evening star to rise upon the children of the earth?

33 Dost thou know the order of heaven, and canst thou set down 34 the reason thereof on the earth? Canst thou lift up thy voice to 35 the clouds, that an abundance of waters may cover thee? Canst thou send lightnings, and will they go, and will they return and 36 say to thee: Here we are? Who hath put wisdom in the heart 37 of man? or who gave the cock understanding? Who can declare the order of the heavens, or who can make the harmony of 38 heaven to sleep? When was the dust poured on the earth, and 39 the clods fastened together? Wilt thou take the prey for the li-40 oness, and satisfy the appetite of her whelps, When they couch 41 in the dens and lie in wait in holes? Who provideth food for the raven, when her young ones cry to God, wandering about, because they have no meat?

39 Knowest thou the time when the wild goats bring forth among the rocks, or hast thou observed the hinds when they fawn?
2 Hast thou numbered the months of their conceiving, or knowest 3 thou the time when they bring forth? They bow themselves to bring forth young, and they cast them, and send forth roarings.
4 Their young are weaned and go to feed: they go forth, and re-5 turn not to them. Who hath sent out the wild ass free, and 6 who hath loosed his bonds? To whom I have given a house in 7 the wilderness, and his dwellings in the barren land. He scor-neth the multitude of the city, he heareth not the cry of the 8 driver. He looketh round about the mountains of his pasture, 9 and seeketh for every green thing, Shall the rhinoceros be will-10 ing to serve thee, or will he stay at thy crib? Canst thou bind the rhinoceros with thy thong to plough, or will he break the 11 clods of the valleys after thee? Wilt thou have confidence in his great strength, and leave thy labours to him? Wilt thou 12 trust him that he will render thee the seed, and gather it into thy barnfloor? The wing of the ostrich is like the wings of the 13 heron, and of the hawk. When she leaveth her eggs on the 14 earth, thou perhaps wilt warm them in the dust. She forget- 15 teth that the foot may tread upon them, or that the beasts of the field may break them. She is hardened against her young 16 ones, as though they were not hers, she hath laboured in vain, no fear constraining her. For God hath deprived her of wisdom, 17 neither hath he given her understanding. When time shall be, 18 she setteth up her wings on high: she scorneth the horse and his rider. Wilt thou give strength to the horse or clothe his 19 neck with neighing? Wilt thou lift him up like the locusts? the glory of his nostrils is terror. He breaketh up the earth with 21 his hoof, he pranceth boldly, he goeth forward to meet armed men. He despiseth fear, he turneth not his back to the sword. 22 Above him shall the quiver rattle, the spear and shield shall glitter. Chasing and raging he swalloweth the ground, neither 24 doth he make account when the noise of the trumpet soundeth.

When he heareth the trumpet he saith: Ha, ha: he smelleth the 25 battle afar off, the encouraging of the captains, and the shouting of the army. Doth the hawk wax feathered by thy wisdom, 26 spreading her wings to the south? Will the eagle mount up at thy command, and make her nest in high places? She abideth 28 among the rocks, and dwelleth among cragged flints, and stony hills, where there is no access. From thence she looketh for the 29 prey, and her eyes behold afar off. Her young ones shall suck 30 up blood: and wheresoever the carcass shall be, she is immediately there. And the Lord went on, and said to Job: Shall he 31, 32 that contendeth with God be so easily silenced? surely he that reproveth God, ought to answer him. Then Job answered the 33 Lord, and said: What can I answer, who hath spoken inconsid- 34 erately? I will lay my hand upon my mouth. One thing I have 35 spoken, which I wish I had not said: and another, to which I will add no more.

And the Lord answering Job out of the whirlwind, said: Gird 40, 2 up thy loins like a man: I will ask thee, and do thou tell me.
Wilt thou make void my judgment: and condemn me, that thou 3 mayst be justified? And hast thou an arm like God, and canst 4 5 thou thunder with a voice like him? Clothe thyself with beauty, and set thyself up on high, and be glorious, and put on goodly 6 garments. Scatter the proud in thy indignation, and behold 7 every arrogant man, and humble him. Look on all that are proud, and confound them, and crush the wicked in their place, 8 Hide them in the dust together, and plunge their faces into the 9 pit. Then I will confess that thy right hand is able to save thee.

10 Behold behemoth whom I made with thee, he eateth grass like 11 an ox. His strength is in his loins, and his force in the navel of 12 his belly. He setteth up his tail like a cedar, the sinews of his 13 testicles are wrapped together. His bones are like pipes of brass, 14 his gristle like plates of iron. He is the beginning of the ways 15 of God, who made him, he will apply his sword. To him the mountains bring forth grass: there all the beasts of the field shall 16 play. He sleepeth under the shadow, in the covert of the reed, 17 and in moist places. The shades cover his shadow, the willows of 18 the brook shall compass him about. Behold, he will drink up a river, and not wonder: and he trusteth that the Jordan may run 19 into his mouth. In his eyes as with a hook he shall take him, and 20 bore through his nostrils with stakes. Canst thou draw out the leviathan with a hook, or canst thou tie his tongue with a cord?
21 Canst thou put a ring in his nose, or bore through his jaw with a 22 buckle? Will he make many supplications to thee, or speak soft 23 words to thee? Will he make a covenant with thee, and wilt 24 thou take him to be a servant for ever, Shalt thou play with him 25 as with a bird, or tie him up for thy handmaids? Shall friends 26 cut him in pieces, shall merchants divide him? Wilt thou fill 27 nets with his skin, and the cabins of fishes with his head? Lay thy hand upon him: remember the battle, and speak no more.
28 Behold his hope shall fail him, and in the sight of all he shall be cast down.

41 I will not stir him up, like one that is cruel, for who can resist 2 my countenance? Who hath given me before that I should repay 3 him? All things that are under heaven are mine. I will not spare him, nor his mighty words, and framed to make supplication.
4 Who can discover the face of his garment? or who can go into 5 the midst of his mouth? Who can open the doors of his face? his 6 teeth are terrible round about. His body is like molten shields, 7 shut close up with scales pressing upon one another. One is joined to another, and not so much as any air can come between them: They stick one to another and they hold one another 8 fast, and shall not be separated. His sneezing is like the shining 9 of fire, and his eyes like the eyelids of the morning. Out of 10 his mouth go forth lamps, like torches of lighted fire. Out of 11 his nostrils goeth smoke, like that of a pot heated and boiling. His breath kindleth coals, and a flame cometh forth out of his 12 mouth. In his neck strength shall dwell, and want goeth before 13 his face. The members of his flesh cleave one to another: he 14 shall send lightnings against him, and they shall not be carried to another place. His heart shall be as hard as a stone, and as 15 firm as a smith's anvil, When he shall raise him up, the angels 16 shall fear, and being affrighted shall purify themselves. When a 17 sword shall lay at him, it shall not be able to hold, nor a spear, nor a breastplate. For he shall esteem iron as straw, and brass 18 as rotten wood. The archer shall not put him to flight, the 19 stones of the sling are to him like stubble. As stubble will he 20 esteem the hammer, and he will laugh him to scorn who shaketh the spear. The beams of the sun shall be under him, and he 21 shall strew gold under him like mire. He shall make the deep 22 sea to boil like a pot, and shall make it as when ointments boil. A path shall shine after him, he shall esteem the deep as growing 23 old. There is no power upon earth that can be compared with 24 him who was made to fear no one, He beholdeth every high 25 thing, he is king over all the children of pride.

Then Job answered the Lord, and said: I know that thou 42, 2 canst do all things, and no thought is hid from thee. Who is 3 this that hideth counsel without knowledge? Therefore I have spoken unwisely, and things that above measure exceeded my knowledge. Hear, and I will speak: I will ask thee, and do thou 4 tell me. With the hearing of the ear, I have heard thee, but 5 now my eye seeth thee. Therefore I reprehend myself, and do 6 penance in dust and ashes. And after the Lord had spoken these 7 words to Job, he said to Eliphaz the Themanite: My wrath is kindled against thee, and against thy two friends, because you have not spoken the thing that is right before me, as my servant Job hath. Take unto you therefore seven oxen and seven rams, 8 and go to my servant Job, and offer for yourselves a holocaust, and my servant Job shall pray for you: his face I will accept, that folly be not imputed to you: for you have not spoken right things 9 before me, as my servant Job hath. So Eliphaz the Themanite, and Baldad the Suhite, and Sophar the Naamathite went, and did as the Lord had spoken to them, and the Lord accepted the 10 face of Job. The Lord also was turned at the penance of Job, when he prayed for his friends. And the Lord gave Job twice as 11 much as he had before. And all his brethren came to him, and all his sisters, and all that knew him before, and they ate bread with him in his house: and bemoaned him, and comforted him upon all the evil that God had brought upon him. And every 12 man gave him one ewe, and one earring of gold. And the Lord blessed the latter end of Job more than his beginning. And he had fourteen thousand sheep, and six thousand camels, and a 13 thousand yoke of oxen, and a thousand she asses. And he had 14 seven sons, and three daughters. And he called the name of one Dies, and the name of the second Cassia, and the name of the 15 third Cornustibii. And there were not found in all the earth women so beautiful as the daughters of Job: and their father 16 gave them inheritance among their brethren. And Job lived after these things, a hundred and forty years, and he saw his children, and his children's children, unto the fourth generation, and he died an old man, and full of days.

THE BOOK OF PSALMS.

Blessed is the man who hath not walked in the counsel 1 of the ungodly, nor stood in the way of sinners, nor sat in the chair of pestilence: But his will is in the 2 law of the Lord, and on his law he shall meditate day and night. And he shall be like a tree which is planted near the 3 running waters, which shall bring forth its fruit, in due season.
And his leaf shall not fall off: and all whatsoever he shall do shall prosper. Not so the wicked, not so: but like the dust, which the 4 wind driveth from the face of the earth. Therefore the wicked 5 shall not rise again in judgment: nor sinners in the council of the just. For the Lord knoweth the way of the just: and the way of 6 the wicked shall perish.

Why have the Gentiles raged, and the people devised vain 2 things? The kings of the earth stood up, and the princes met 2 together, against the Lord, and against his Christ. Let us break 3 their bonds asunder: and let us cast away their yoke from us.
He that dwelleth in heaven shall laugh at them: and the Lord 4 shall deride them. Then shall he speak to them in his anger, and 5 trouble them in his rage. But I am appointed king by him over 6 Sion, his holy mountain, preaching his comandment. The Lord 7 hath said to me: Thou art my son, this day have I begotten thee.
Ask of me, and I will give thee the Gentiles for thy inheritance, 8 and the utmost parts of the earth for thy possession. Thou shalt 9 rule them with a rod of iron, and shalt break them in pieces like a potter's vessel. And now, O ye kings, understand: receive 10 instruction, you that judge the earth. Serve ye the Lord with 11 fear: and rejoyce unto him with trembling. Embrace discipline, 12 lest at any time the Lord be angry, and you perish from the just way. When his wrath shall be kindled in a short time, blessed 13 are all they that trust in him.

The psalm of David when he fled from the face of his son 3 Absalom. Many say to my soul: There is no salavation for him 2 4 in his God. But thou, O Lord, art my protector, my glory, 5 and the lifter up of my head. I have cried to the Lord with 6 my voice: and he hath heard me from his holy hill. I have slept and have taken my rest: and I have risen up, because the 7 Lord hath protected me. I will not fear thousands of the people 8 surrounding me: arise, O Lord; save me, O my God. For thou hast struck all them who are my adversaries without cause: thou 9 hast broken the teeth of sinners. Salvation is of the Lord: and thy blessing is upon thy people.

4, 2 Unto the end, in verses. A psalm for David. When I called upon him, the God of my justice heard me: when I was in distress, thou hast enlarged me. Have mercy on me: and hear my 3 prayer. O ye sons of men, how long will you be dull of heart?
4 why do you love vanity, and seek after lying? Know ye also that the Lord hath made his holy one wonderful: the Lord will hear 5 me when I shall cry unto him. Be ye angry, and sin not: the things you say in your hearts, be sorry for them upon your beds.
6 Offer up the sacrifice of justice, and trust in the Lord: many say, 7 Who sheweth us good things? The light of thy countenance, O Lord, is signed upon us: thou hast given gladness in my heart.
8, 9 By the fruit of their corn, their wine, and oil, they rest: In 10 peace in the self same I will sleep, and I will rest: For thou, O Lord, singularly hast settled me in hope.

5 Unto the end, for her that obtaineth the inheritance. A psalm 2 for David. Give ear, O Lord, to my words, understand my cry.
3, 4 Harken to the voice of my prayer, O my King and my God. For to thee will I pray: O Lord, in the morning thou shalt hear my 5 voice. In the morning I will stand before thee, and I will see: 6 because thou art not a God that willest iniquity. Neither shall the wicked dwell near thee: nor shall the unjust abide before 7 thy eyes. Thou hatest all the workers of iniquity: thou wilt destroy all that speak a lie. The bloody and the deceitful man 8 the Lord will abhor. But as for me in the multitude of thy mercy, I will come into thy house; I will worship towards thy 9 holy temple, in thy fear. Conduct me, O Lord, in thy justice: 10 because of my enemies, direct my way in thy sight. For there is 11 no truth in their mouth: their heart is vain. Their throat is an open sepulchre: they dealt deceitfully with their tongues: judge them, O God. Let them fall from their devices: according to the multitude of their wickednesses cast them out: for they have provoked thee, O Lord. But let all them be glad that hope in thee: they shall rejoice for ever, and thou shalt dwell in them. And all they that love thy name shall glory in thee. For thou wilt bless the just. O Lord, thou hast crowned us, as with a shield of thy good will.

Unto the end, in verses, a psalm for David, for the octave. O Lord, rebuke me not in thy indignation, nor chastise me in thy wrath. Have mercy on me, O Lord, for I am weak: heal me, O Lord, for my bones are troubled. And my soul is troubled exceedingly: but thou, O Lord, how long? Turn ot me, O Lord, and deliver my soul: O save me for thy mercy's sake. For there is no one indeath, that is mindful of thee: and who shall confess to thee in hell? I have laboured in my groanings, every night I will wash my bed: I will water my couch with my tears. My eye is troubled through indignation: I have grown old amongst all my enemies. Depart from em, all ye workers of iniquity: for the Lord hath heard the voice of my weeping. The Lord hath heard my supplication: the Lord hath received my prayer. Let all my enemies be ashamed, and be very much troubled: let them be turned back, and be ashamed very speedily.

The psalm of David, which he sung to the Lord, for the words of Chusi, the son of Jemini. O Lord, my God, in thee have I put my trust; same me from all them that persecute me, and deliver me. Lest at any time he seize upon my soul like a lion, while there is no one to redeem me, nor to save. O Lord, my God, if I have done this thing, if there be iniquity in my hands: If I have rendered to them that repaid me evils, let me deservedly fall empty before my enemies. Let the enemy pursue my soul, and take it, and tread down my life, on the earth, and bring down my glory to the dust. Rise up, O Lord, in thy anger: and be thou exalted in the borders of my enemies. And arise, O Lord, my God, in the precept which thou hast commanded: And a congregation of people shall surround thee. And for their sakes return thou on high. The Lord judgeth the people. Judge me, O Lord, according to my justice, and according to my innocence in me. The wickedness of sinners shall be brought to nought; and thou shalt direct the just: the searcher of hearts and reins is God. Just Is my help from the Lord; who saveth the upright 12 of heart. God is a just judge, strong and patient: is he angry 13 every day? Except you will be converted, he will brandish his 14 sword; he hath bent his bow, and made it ready. And in it he hath prepared to instruments of death, he hath made ready his 15 arrows for them that burn. Behold he hath been in labour iwth injustice: he hath conceived sorrow, and brought forth iniquity.

16 He hath opened a pit and dug it: and he is fallen into the hole 17 he made. His sorrow shall be turned on his own head: and his 18 iniquity shall come down upon his crown. I will give glory to the Lord according to his justice: and will sing to the name of the Lord the most high.

8, 2 Unto the end, for the presses: a psalm for David. O Lord, our Lord, how admirable is thy name in the whole earth! For thy 3 magnificence is elevated above the heavens. Out of the mouth of infants and of sucklings thou hast perfected praise, because of thy enemies, that thou mayst destroy the enemy and the avenger.
4 For I will behold thy heavens, the works of thy fingers: the moon 5 and the stars which thou hast founded. What is man, that thou art mindful of him? or the son of man, that thou visitest him?
6 Thou hast made him a little less than the angels, thou hast 7 crowned him with glory and honour: And hast set him over the 8 works of thy hands. Thou hast subjected all things under his feet, all sheep and oxen: moreover, the beasts also of the fields.
9 The birds of the air, and the fishes of the sea, that pass through 10 the paths of the sea. O Lord, our Lord, how admirable is thy name in the whole earth!

9 Unto the end, for the hidden things of the Son. A psalm for 2 David. I will give lpraise to thee, O Lord, with my whole heart: 3 I will relate all thy wonders. I will be glad, and rejoice inthee: I 4 will sing to thy name, O thou most high. When my enemy shall be turned back: they shall be weakened, and perish before thy 5 face. For thou hast maintained my judgment and my cause: 6 thou hast sat on the throne, who judgest justice. Thou hast rebuked the Gentiles, and thw wicked one hath perished; thou 7 hast blotted out their name for ever and ever. The swords of the enemy have failed unto the end: and their cities thou hast 8 destroyed. Their memory hath perished with a noise: But the Lord remaineth for ever. He hath prepared his throne in judg-9 ment: And he shall judge the world in equity, he shall judge the lpeople in justice. And the Lord is become a refuge for the 10 poor: a helper in due time in tribulation. And let them trust in 11 thee who know thy name: for thou hast not forsaken them that seek thee, O Lord. Sing ye to the Lord, who dwelleth in Sion: 12 declare his ways among the Gentiles: For requiring their blood, 13 he hath remembered them: he hath not forgotten the cry of the poor. Have mercy on me, O Lord: see my humiliation which I 14 suffer from my enemies. Thou that liftest me up from the gates 15 of death, that I may declare all thy praises in the gates of the daughter of Sion. I will rejoice in thy salvation: the Gentiles 16 have stuck fast in the destruction which they prepared. Their foot hath been taken in the very snare which they hid. The 17 Lord shall be known when he executeth judgments: the sinner hath been caught in the works of his own hands. The wicked 18 shall be turned into hell, all the nations that forget God. For 19 the poor man shall not be forgotten to the end: the patience of the poor shall not perish for ever. Arise, O Lord, let not 20 man be strengthened: let the Gentiles be judged in thy sight.

Appoint, O Lord, a lawgiver over them: that the Gentiles may 21 know themselves to be but men. Why, O Lord, hast thou re- 22 tired afar off? why dost thou slight us in our wants, in the time of trouble? Whilst the wicked man is proud, the poor is set on 23 fire: they are caught in the counsels which they devise. For the sinner is praised in the desires of his soul: and the unjust man is 24 blessed. The sinner hath provoked the Lord, according to the multitude of his wrath, he will not seek him: God is not before 25 his eyes: his ways are filthy at all times. Thy judgments are removed form his sight: he shall rule over all his enemies. For 27 he hath said in his heart: I shall not be moved from generation to generation, and shall be without evil. His mouth is full of 28 cursing, and of bitterness, and of deciet: under his tongue are labour and sorrow. He sitteth in ambush with the rich, in pri- 29 vate places, that he may kill the innocent. His eyes are upon 30 the poor man: he lieth in wait, in secret, like a lion in his den.
He lieth in ambush, that he may catch the poor man: so catch 31 the poor, whilst he draweth him to him. In his net he will bring him down, he will crouch and fall, when he shall have power over 32 the poor. For he hath said in his heart: God hath forgotten, he hath turned away his face, not to see to the end. Arise, O Lord 33 34 God, let thy hand be exalted: forget not the poor. Wherefore hath the wicked provoked God? for he hath said in his heart: He 35 will not require it. Thou seest it, for thou considerest labour and sorrow: that thou mayst deliver them into thy hands. To thee is the poor man left: thou wilt be a helper to the orphan.

36 Break thou the arm of the sinner and of the malignant: his sin 37 shall be sought, and shall not be found. The Lord shall reign to eternity, yea, for ever and ever: ye Gentiles shall perish from 38 his land. The Lord hath heard the desire of the poor: thy ear 39 hath heard the preparatgion of their heart. To judge for the fatherless and for the humble, that man may no more presume to magnify himself upon earth.

10, 2 Unto the end. A psalm to David. In the Lord I put my trust: how then do you say to my soul: Get thee away from 3 hence to the mountain, like a sparrow. For, lo, the wicked have bent their bow: they have prepared their arows in the quiver, to 4 shoot in the dark the upright of heart. For they have destroyed the things which thou hast made: but what has the just man 5 done? The Lord is in his holy temple, the Lord's throne is in heaven. His eyes look on the poor man: his eyelids examine the 6 sons of men. The Lord trieth the just and the wicked: but he 7 that loveth iniquity, hateth his own soul. He shall rain snares upon sinners: fire and brimstone, and storms of winds, shall be 8 the portion of their cup. For the Lord is just, and hath loved justice: his countenance hath beheld righteousness.

11, 2 Unto the end: for the octave, a psalm for David. Save me, O Lord, for there is now no saint: truths are decayed from among 3 the children of men. They have spoken vain things, every one to his neighbour: with deceitful lips, and with a double heart 4 have they spoken. May the Lord destroy all deceitful lips, and 5 the tongue that speaketh proud things. Who have said: We will magnify our tongue: our lips are our own: who is Lord over 6 us? By reason of the misery of the needy, and the groans of the poor, now will I arise, saith the Lord. I will set him in safety: I 7 will deal confidently in his regard. The words of the Lord are pure words: as silver tried by the fire, purged from the earth, 8 refined seven times. Thou, O Lord, wilt preserve us: and keep 9 us from this generation for ever. The wicked walk round about: according to thy highness, thou hast multiplied the children of men.

Unto the end, a psalm for David. How long, O Lord, wilt thou 12 forget me unto the end? how long dost thou turn away thy face from me? How long shall I take counsels in my soul, sorrow in 2 my heart all the day? How long shall my enemy be exalted over 3 Me? Consider, and hear me, O Lord, my God. Enlighten my 4 eyes, that I never sleep in death: Lest at any time my enemy 5 say: I have prevailed against him. They that trouble me, will rejoice when I am moved: But I have trusted in thy mercy. My 6 heart shall rejoice in thy salvation: I will sing to the Lord, who giveth me good things: yea, I will sing to the name of the Lord, the most high.

Unto the end, a psalm for David. The fool hath said in his 13 heart: There is no God. They are corrupt, and are become abominable in their ways: there is none that doth good, no not one. The Lord hath looked down from heaven upon the children 2 of men, to see if there be any that understand and seek God.
They are all gone aside, they are become unprofitable together: 3 there is none that doth good: no not one. Their throat is an open sepulchre; with their tongues they acted deceitfully: the poison of asps is under their lips. Their mouth is full of cursing and bitterness; their feet are swift to shed blood. Destruction and unhappiness in their ways; and the way of peace they have not known: there is no fear of God before their eyes. Shall not 4 all they know that work iniquity, who devour my people as they eat bread? They have not called upon the Lord: there have 5 they trembled for fear, where there was no fear. For the Lord is 6 in the just generation: you have confounded the counsel of the poor man; but the Lord is his hope. Who shall give out of Sion 7 the salvation of Israel? when the Lord shall have turned away the captivity of his people, Jacob shall rejoice, and Israel shall be glad.

A psalm for David. Lord, who shall dwell in thy tabernacle? 14 or who shall rest in thy holy hill? He that walketh without 2 blemish, and worketh justice: He that speaketh truth in his 3 heart, who hath not used deceit in his tongue: Nor hath done evil to his neighbour: nor taken up a reproach against his neighbours.
In his sight the malignant is brought to nothing: but he glorifieth 4 them that fear the Lord. He that sweareth to his neighbour, and 5 deceiveth not; He that hath not put out his money to usury, nortaken bribes against the innocent: He that doth these things, chall not be moved for ever.

15 The inscription of a title to David himself. Preserve me, O 2 Lord, for I have put my trust in thee. I have said to the Lord, 3 thou art my God, for thou hast no need of my goods. To the saints, who are in his land, he hath made wonderful all my de-4 sires in them. Their infirmities were multiplied: afterwards they made haste. I will not gather together their meetings for bloodofferings: nor will I be mindful of their names by my lips.
5 The Lord is the portion of my inheritance and of my cup: it 6 is thou that wilt restore my inheritance to me. The lines are fallen unto me in goodly places: for my inheritance is goodly to 7 me. I will bless the Lord, who hath given me understanding: 8 moreover, my reins also have corrected me even till night. I set the Lord always in my sight: for he is at my right hand, that 9 I be not moved. Therefore my heart hath been glad, and my tongue hath rejoiced: moreover, my flesh also shall rest in hope.
10 Because thou wilt not leave my soul in hell; nor wilt thou give 11 thy holy one to see corruption. Thou hast made known to me the ways of life, thou shalt fill me with joy with thy countenance: at thy right hand are delights even to the end.

16 The prayer of David. Hear, O Lord, my justice: attend to my supplication. Give ear unto my prayer, which proceedeth 2 not from deceitful lips. Let my judgment come forth from thy countenance: let thy eyes behold the things that are equitable.
3 Thou hast proved my heart, and visited it by night, thou hast 4 tried me by fire: and iniquity hath not been found in me. That my mouth may not speak the works of men: for the sake of the 5 words of thy lips, I have kept hard ways. Perfect thou my goings 6 in thy paths: that my footsteps be not moved. I have cried to thee, for thou, O God, hast heard me: O incline thy ear unto 7 me, and hear my words. Shew forth thy wonderful mercies; 8 thou who savest them that trust in thee. From them that resist thy right hand keep me, as the apple of thy eye. Protect me 9 under the shadow of thy wings. From the face of the wicked who have afflicted me. My enemies have surrounded my soul: 10 They have shut up their fat: their mouth hath spoken proudly.
11 They have cast me forth, and now they have surrounded me:

they have set their eyes bowing down to the earth. They have 12 taken me, as a lion prepared for the prey; and as a young lion dwelling in secret places. Arise, O Lord, disappoint him and 13 supplant him; deliver my soul from the wicked one; thy sword From the enemies of thy hand. O Lord, divide them from the 14 few of the earth in their life: their belly is filled from thy hidden stores. They are full of children: and they have left to their little ones the rest of their substance. But as for me, I will appear 15 before thy sight in justice: I shall be satisfied when thy glory shall appear.

Unto the end, for David, the servant of the Lord, who spoke 17 to the Lord the words of this canticle, in the day that the Lord delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul: and he said: I will love thee, O Lord, my strength: The 2, 3 Lord is my firmament, my refuge, and my deliverer. My God is my helper, and in him will I put my trust. My protector, and the horn of my salvation, and my support. Praising, I will call upon 4 the Lord: and I shall be saved from my enemies. The sorrows of 5 death surrounded me: and the torrents of iniquity troubled me.
The sorrows of hell encompassed me: and the snares of death 6 prevented me. In my affliction I called upon the Lord, and I 7 cried to my God: And he heard my voice from his holy temple: and my cry before him came into his ears. The earth shook 8 and trembled: the foundations of the mountains were troubled and were moved, because he was angry with them. There went 9 up a smoke in his wrath: and a fire flamed from his face: coals were kindled by it. He bowed the heavens, and came down, 10 and darkness was under his feet. And he ascended upon the 11 cherubim, and he flew; he flew upon the wings of the winds.
And he made darkness his covert, his pavilion round about him: 12 dark waters in the clouds of the air. At the brightness that was 13 before him the clouds passed, hail and coals of fire. And the 14 Lord thundered from heaven, and the Highest gave his voice: hail and coals of fire. And he sent forth his arrows, and he scattered 15 them: he multiplied lightnings, and troubled them. Then the 16 fountains of waters appeared, and the foundations of the world were discovered: At thy rebuke, O Lord, at the blast of the spirit of thy wrath. He sent from on high, and took me: and received 17 me out of many waters. He delivered me from my strongest 18 enemies, and from them that hated me: for they were too strong 19 for me. They prevented me in the day of my affliction: and 20 the Lord became my rotector. And he brought me forth into a large place: he saved me, because he was well pleased with 21 me. And the Lord will reward me according to my justice; and 22 will repay me according to the cleanness of my hands: Because I have kept the ways of the Lord; and have not done wickedly 23 against my God. For all his judgments are in my sight: and his 24 justices I have not put away from me. And I shall be spotless 25 with him: and shall keep myself from my iniquity. And the Lord will reward me according to my justice: and according to 26 the cleanness of my hands before his eyes. With the holy thou wilt be holy; and with the innocent man thou wilt be innocent: 27 And with the elect thou wilt be elect: and with the perverse 28 thou wilt be perverted. For thou wilt save the humble people; 29 but wilt bring down the eyes of the proud. For thou lightest 30 my lamp, O Lord: O my God, enlighten my darkness. For by thee I shall be delivered from temptation; and through my God 31 I shall go over a wall. As for my God, his way is undefiled: the words of the Lord are fire-tried: he is the protector of all 32 that trust in him. For who is God but the Lord? or who is 33 God but our God? God, who hath girt me with strength; and 34 made my way blameless. Who hath made my feet like the feet 35 of harts: and who setteth me upon high places. Who teacheth my hands to war: and thou hast made my arms like a brazen 36 bow. And thou hast given me the protection of thy salvation: and thy right hand hath held me up: And thy discipline hath corrected me unto the end: and thy discipline, the same shall 37 teach me. Thou hast enlarged my steps under me; and my feet 38 are not weakened. I will pursue after my enemies, and overtake 39 them: and I will not turn again till they are consumed. I will break them, and they shall not be able to stand: they shall fall 40 under my feet. And thou hast girded me with strength unto battle; and hast subdued under me them that rose up against 41 me. And thou hast made my enemies furn their back upon me, 42 and hast destroyed them that hated me. They cried, but there was none to save them, to the Lord: but he heard them not.

43 And I shall beat them as small as the dust before the wind; I 44 shall bring them to nought, like the dirt in the streets. Thou wilt deliver me from the contradictions of the people; thou wilt make me head of the Gentiles. A people which I knew not, 45 hath seerved me: at the hearing of the ear they have obeyed me.

 The children that are strangers have lied to me, strange children 46 have faded away, and have halted from their paths. The Lord 47 liveth, and blessed by my God, and let the God of my salvation be exalted. O God, who avengest me, and subduest the people 48 under me, my deliverer from my enraged enemies. And thou 49 wilt lift me up above them that rise up against me: from the unjust man thou wilt deliver me. Therefore will I give glory to 50 thee, O Lord, among the nations, and I will sing a psalm to thy name. Giving great deliverance to his king, and shewing mercy 51 to David, his anointed: and to his seed for ever.

Unto the end. APsalm Chapter for David. The heavens shew 18, 2 forth the glory of God, and the firmament declareth the work of his hands. Day to day uttereth speech, and night to night 3 sheweth knowledge. There are no speeches nor languages, where 4 their voices are not heard. Their sound hath gone forth into all 5 the earth: and their words unto the ends of the world. He hath 6 set his tabernacle in the sun: and he as a bridegroom coming out of his bridechamber, Hath rejoiced as a giant to run the way: His going out is from the end of heaven, And his circuit even to 7 the end thereof: and ther is no one that can hide himself from his heat. The law of the Lord is unspotted, converting souls: 8 the testimony of the Lord is faithful, giving wisdom to little ones. The justices of the Lord are right, rejoicing hearts: the 9 commandment of the Lord is lightsome, enlightening the eyes.
 The fear of the Lord is holy, enduring for ever and ever: the 10 judgments of the Lord are true, justified in themselves. More to 11 be desired than gold and many precious stones: and sweeter than honey and the honeycomb. For thy servant keepeth them, and 12 in keeping them there is a great reward. Who can understand 13 sins? from my secret ones cleanse me, O Lord: And from those 14 of others spare thy servant. If they shall have no dominion over me, then shall I be without spot: and I shall be cleansed form the greatest sin. And the words of my mouth shall be such as 15 may please: and the meditation of my heart always in thy sight.
 O Lord, my helper and my Redeemer.

Unto the end. A psalm for David. May the Lord hear thee 19, 2 in the day of tribulation: may the name of the God of Jacob 3 protect thee. May he send thee help from the sanctuary: and 4 defend thee out of Sion. May he be mindful of all thy sacrifices: 5 and may thy whole burnt offering be made fat. May he give thee 6 according to thy own heart; and confirm all thy counsels. We will rejoice in thy salvation; and in the name of our God we shall 7 be exalted. The Lord fulfil all thy petitions: now have I known that the Lord hath saved his anointed. He will hear him from his 8 holy heaven: the salvation of his right hand is in powers. Some trust in chariots, and some in horses: but we will call upon the 9 name of the Lord, our God. They are bound, and have fallen: but we are risen, and are set upright. O Lord, save the king: and hear us in the day that we shall call upon thee.

20, 2 Unto the end. A psalm for David. In thy strength, O Lord, the king shall joy; and in thy salvation he shall rejoice exceed-3 ingly. Thou hast given him his heart's desire: and hast not 4 withholden from him the will of his lips. For thou hast prevented him with blessings of sweetness: thou hast set on his 5 head a crown of precious stones. He asked life of thee: and 6 thou hast given him length of days for ever and ever. His glory is great in thy salvation: glory and great beauty shalt thou lay 7 upon him. For thou shalt give him to be a blessing for ever and ever: thou shalt make him joyful in gladness with thy counte-8 nance. For the king hopeth in the Lord: and through the mercy 9 of the most High he shall not be moved. Let thy hand be found by all thy enemies: let thy right hand find out all them 10 that hate thee. Thou shalt make them as an oven of fire, in the time of thy anger: the Lord shall trouble them in his wrath, 11 and fire shall devour them. Their fruit shalt thou destroy from 12 the earth: and their seed from among the children of men. For they have intended evils against thee: they have devised coun-13 sels which they have not been able to establish. For thou shalt make them turn their back: in thy remnants thou shalt prepare 14 their face. Be thou exalted, O Lord, in thy own strength: we will sing and praise thy power.

21 Unto the end, for the morning protection, a psalm for David.
2 O God my God, look upon me: why hast thou forsaken me? Far 3 from my salvation are the words of my sins. O my God, I shall cry by day, and thou wilt not hear: and by night, and it shall not be reputed as folly in me. But thou dwellest in the holy place, 4 the praise of Israel. In thee have our fathers hoped: they have 5 hoped, and thou hast delivered them. They cried to thee, and 6 they were saved: they trusted in thee, and were not confounded.

Bukt I am a worm, and no man: the reproach of men, and the 7 outcast of the prople. All they that saw me have laughed me to 8 scorn: they have spoken with the lips, and wagged the head. He 9 hoped in the Lord, let him deliver him: let him save him, seeing he delighteth in him. For thou art he that hast drawn me out 10 of the womb: my hope from the breasts of my mother. I was 11 cast upon thee from the womb. From my mother's womb thou art my God, Depart not from me. For tribulation is very near: 12 for there is none to help me. Many calves have surrounded me: 13 fat bulls have besieged me. have opened their mouths against 14 me, as a lion ravening and roaring. I am poured out like water; 15 and all my bones are scattered. My heart is become like wax melting in the midst of my bowels. My strength is dried up 16 like a potsherd, and my tongue hath cleaved to my jaws: and thou hast brought me down into the dust of death. For many 17 dogs have encompassed me: the council of the malignant hath besieged me. They have dug my hands and feet. They have 18 numbered all my bones. And they have looked and stared upon me. They lparted my garments amongst them; and upon my 19 vesture they cast lots. But thou, O Lord, remove not thy help to 20 a distance from me; look towards my defence. Deliver, O God, 21 my soul from the sword: my only one from the hand of the dog.
Save me from the lion's mouth; and my lowness from the horns 22 of the unicorns. I will declare thy name to my brethren: in the 23 midst of the church will I praise thee. Ye that fear the Lord, 24 praise him: all ye the seed of Jacob, glorify him. Let all the seed 25 of Israel fear him: because he hath not slighted nor despised the supplication of the poor man. Neither hath he turned away his face form me: and when I cried to him he heard me. With thee 26 is my praise in a great church: I will pay my vows in the sight of them that fear him. The poor shall eat and shall be filled: 27 and they shall praise the Lord that seek him: their hearts shall live for ever and ever. All the ends of the earth shall remember, 28 and shall be converted to the Lord: And all the kindreds of the Gentiles shall adore in his sight. For the kingdom is the Lord's; 29 30 and he shall have dominion over the nations. All the fat ones of the earth have eaten and have adored: all they that go down 31 to the earth shall fall before him. And to him my soul shall 32 live: and my seed shall serve him. There shall be declared to the Lord a generation to come: and the heavens shall shew forth his justice to a people that shall be born, which the Lord hath made.

22 A psalm for David. The Lord ruleth me: and I shall want 2 nothing. He hath set me in a place of pasture. He hath brought 3 me up, on the water of refreshment: He hath converted my soul.
He hath led me on the paths of justice, for his own name's sake.
4 For though I should walk in the midst of the shadow of death, I will fear no evils, for thou art with me. Thy rod and thy staff, 5 they have comforted me. Thou hast prepared a table before me against them that afflict me. Thou hast anointed my head with oil; and my chalice which inebreateth me, how goodly is it!
6 And thy mercy will follow me all the days of my life. And that I may dwell in the house of the Lord unto length of days.

23 On the first day of the week, a psalm for David. The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof: the world, and all they 2 that dwell therein. For he hath founded it upon the seas; and 3 hath prepared it upon the rivers. Who shall ascend into the mountain of the Lord: or who shall stand in his holy place?
4 The innocent in hands, and clean of heart, who hath not taken 5 his soul in vain, nor sworn deceitfully to his neighbour. He shall receive a blessing from the Lord, and mercy from God his 6 Saviour. This is the generation of them that seek him, of them 7 that seek the face of the God of Jacob. Lift up your gates, O ye lprinces, and be ye lifted up, O eternal gates: and the King of 8 Glory shall enter in. Who is this King of Glory? the Lord who 9 is strong and mighty: the Lord mighty in battle. Lift up your gates, O ye princes, and be ye lifted up, O eternal gates: and 10 the King of Glory shall enter in. Who is this King of Glory? the Lord of hosts, he is the King of Glory.

24 Unto the end, a psalm for David. To thee, O Lord, have I 2 lifted up my soul. In thee, O my God, I put my trust; let me 3 not be ashamed. Neither let my enemies laugh at me: for none 4 of them that wait on thee shall be confounded. Let all them be confounded that act unjust things without cause. Shew, O

Lord, thy ways to me, and teach me thy paths. Direct me 5 in thy truth, and teach me; for thou art God my Saviour; and on thee have I waited all the day long. Remember, O Lor, 6 thy bowels of compassion; and thy mercies that are from the beginning of the world. The sins of my youth and my ignorances 7 do not remember. According to thy mercy remember thou me: for thy goodness' sake, O Lord. The Lord is sweet and righteous: 8 therefore he will give a law to sinners in the way. He will guide 9 themild in judgment: he will teach the meek his ways. All 10 the ways of the Lord are mercy and truth, to them that seek after his covenant and his testimonies. For thy name's sake, 11 O Lord, thou wilt pardon my sin: for it is great. Who is the 12 man that feareth the Lord? He hath appointed him a law in the way he hath chosen. His soul shall dwell in good things: 13 and his seed shall inherit the land. The Lord is a firmament to 14 them that fear him: and his covenant shall be made manifest to them. My eyes are ever towards the Lord: for he shall pluck 15 my feet out of the snare. Look thou upon me, and have mercy 16 on me; for I am alone and poor. The troubles of my heart are multiplied: deliver me from my necessities. See my abjection 18 and my labour; and forgive me all my sins. Consider my enemies 19 for they are multiplied, and have hated me with an unjust hatred.
Deep thou my soul, and deliver me: I shall not be ashamed, for I 20 have hoped in thee. The innocent and the upright have adhered 21 to me: because I have waited on thee. Deliver Israel, O God, 22 from all his tribulations.

Unto the end, a psalm for David. Judge me, O Lord, for I 25 have walked in my innocence: and I have put my trust in the Lord, and shall not be weakened. Prove me, O Lord, and try 2 me; burn my reins and my heart. For thy mercy is before my 3 eyes; and I am well pleased with thy truth. I have not sat 4 with the council of vanity: neither will I go in with the doers of unjust things. I have hated the assembly of the malignant; 5 and with the wicked I will not sit. I will wash my hands among 6 the innocent; and will compass thy altar, O Lord: That I may 7 hear the voice of thy praise: and tell of all thy wondrous works.
I have loved, O Lord, the beauty of thy house; and the place 8 where thy glory dwelleth. Take not away my soul, O God, with 9 the wicked: nor my life with bloody men: In whose hands are 10 11 iniquities: their right hand is filled with gifts. But as for me, I have walked in my innocence: redeem me, and have mercy on 12 me. My foot hath stood in the direct way: in the churches I will bless thee, O Lord.

26 The psalm of David before he was anointed. The Lord is my light and my salvation, whom shall I fear? The Lord is the 2 protector of my life: of whom shall I be afraid? Whilst the wicked draw near against me, to eat my flesh. My enemies that 3 trouble me, have themselves been weakened, and have fallen. If armies in camp should stand to gether against me, my heart shall not fear. If a battle should rise up against me, in this will I be 4 confident. One thing I have asked of the Lord, this will I seek after; that I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life. That I may see the delight of the Lord, and may visit his 5 temple. For he hath hidden me in his tabernacle; in the day of evils, he hath protected me in the secret place of his tabernacle.
6 He hath exalted me upon a rock: and now he hath lifted up my head above my enemies. I have gone round, and have offered up in his tabernacle a sacrifice of jubilation: I will sing, and recite 7 a psalm to the Lord. Hear, O Lord, my voice, with which I 8 have cried to thee: have mercy on me and hear me. My heart hath said to thee: My face hath sought thee: thy face, O Lord, 9 will I still seek. Turn not away thy face from me; decline not in thy wrath from thy servant. Be thou my helper, forsake me 10 not; do not thou despise me, O God my Saviour. For my father and my mother have left me: but the Lord hath taken me up.
11 Set me, O Lord, a law in thy way, and guide me in the right 12 path, because of my enemies. Deliver me not over to the will of them that trouble me; for unjust witnesses have risen up against 13 me; and iniquity hath lied to itself. I believe to see the good 14 things of the Lord in the land of the living. Expect the Lord, do manfully, and let thy heart take courage, and wait thou for the Lord.

27 A psalm for David himself. Unto thee will I cry, O Lord: O my God, be not thou silent to me: lest if thou be silent to me, 2 I become like them that go down into the pit. Hear, O Lord, the voice of my supplication, when I pray to thee; when I lift up 3 my hands to thy holy temple. Draw me not away together with the wicked; and with the workers of iniquity destroy me not:

Who speak peace with their neighbour, but evils are in their hearts. Give them according to their works, and according to the wickedness of their inventions. According to the works of their hands give thou to them: render to them their reward. Because they have not understood the works of the Lord, and the operations of his hands: thou shalt destroy them, and shalt not build them up. Blessed be the Lord, for he hath heard the voice of my supplication. The Lord is my helper and my protector: in him hath my heart confided, and I have been helped. And my flesh hath flourished again, and with my will I will give praise to him. The Lord is the strength of his people, and the protector of the salvation of his anointed. Save, O Lord, thy people, and bless thy inheritance: and rule them and exalt them for ever.

A psalm for David, at the finishing of the tabernacle. Bring to the Lord, O ye children of God: bring to the Lord the offspring of rams. Bring to the Lord glory and honour: bring to the Lord glory to his name: adore ye the Lord in his holy court. The voice of the Lord is upon the waters; the God of majesty hath thundered, The Lord is upon many waters. The voice of the Lord is in power; the voice of the Lord in magnificence. The voice of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea, the Lord shall break the cedars of Libanus. And shall reduce them to pieces, as a calf of Libanus, and as the beloved son of unicorns. The voice of the Lord divideth the flame of fire: The voice of the Lord shaketh the desert: and the Lord shall shake the desert of Cades. The voice of the Lord prepareth the stags: and he will discover the thick woods: and in his temple all shall speak his glory. The Lord maketh the flood to dwell: and the Lord shall sit king for ever. The Lord will give strength to his people: the Lord will bless his people with peace.

A psalm of a canticle, at the dedication of David's house. I will extol thee, O Lord, for thou hast upheld me: and hast not made my enemies to rejoice over me. O Lord my God, I have cried to thee, and thou hast healed me. Thou hast brought forth, O Lord, my soul from hell: thou hast saved me from them that go down into the pit. Sing to the Lord, O ye his saints: and give praise to the memory of his holiness. For wrath is in his indignation; and life in his good will. In the evening weeping shall have place, and in the morning gladness. And in my abun-8 dance I said: I shall never be moved. O Lord, in thy favour, thou gavest strength to my beauty. Thou turnedst away thy face 9 from me, and I became troubled. To thee, O Lord, will I cry: 10 and I will make supplication to my God. What profit is there in my blood, whilst I go down to corruption? Shall dust confess to 11 thee, or declare thy truth? The Lord hath heard, and hath had 12 mercy on me: the Lord became my helper. Thou hast turned for me my mourning into joy: thou hast cut my sackcloth, and 13 hast compassed me with gladness: To the end that my glory may sing to thee, and I may not regret: O Lord my God, I will give praise to thee for ever.

30, 2 Unto the end, a psalm for David, in an ecstasy. In thee, O Lord, have I hoped, let me never be confounded: deliver me in 3 thy justice. Bow down thy ear to me: make haste to deliver me. Be thou unto me a God, a protector, and a house of refuge, 4 to save me. For thou art my strength and my refuge; and for 5 thy name's sake thou wilt lead me, and nourish me. Thou wilt bring me out of this snare, which they have hidden for me: for 6 thou art my protector. Into thy hands I commend my spirit: 7 thou hast redeemed me, O Lord, the God of truth. Thou hast hated them that regard vanities, to no purpose. But I have 8 hoped in the Lord: I will be glad and rejoice in thy mercy. For thou hast regarded my humility, thou hast saved my soul out 9 of distresses. And thou hast not shut me up in the hands of 10 the enemy: thou hast set my feet in a spacious place. Have mercy on me, O Lord, for I am afflicted: my eye is troubled with 11 wrath, my soul, and my belly: For my life is wasted with grief: and my years in sighs. My strength is weakened through poverty 12 and my bones are disturbed. I am become a reproach among all my enemies, and very much to my neighbours; and a fear to my acquaintance. They that saw me without fled from me.
13 I am forgotten as one dead from the heart. I am become as a 14 vessel that is destroyed. For I have heard the blame of many that dwell round about. While they assembled together against 15 me, they consulted to take away my life. But I have put my 16 trust in thee, O Lord: I said: Thou art my God. My lots are in thy hands. Deliver me out of the hands of my enemies; and 17 from them that persecute me. Make thy face to shine upon thy 18 servant; save me in thy mercy. Let me not be confounded, O Lord, for I have called upon thee. Let the wicked be ashamed, and be brought down to hell. Let deceitful lips be made dumb. 19 Which speak iniquity against the just, with pride and abuse.

 O how great is the multitude of thy sweetness, O Lord, which 20 thou hast hidden for them that fear thee! Which thou hast wrought for them that hope in thee, in the sight of the sons of men. Thou shalt hide them in the secret of thy face, from the 21 disturbance of men. Thou shalt protect them in thy tabernacle from the contradiction of tongues. Blessed be the Lord, for he 22 hath shewn his wonderful mercy to me in a fortified city. But 23 I said in the excess of my mind: I am cast away from before thy eyes. Therefore thou hast heard the voice of my prayer, when I cried to thee. O love the Lord, all ye his saints: for the Lord will 24 require truth, and will repay them abundantly that act proudly.
