WELCOME TO THE GOLF CLUB AT FIDDLER'S CREEK®

Members of The Golf Club at Fiddler's Creek will be challenged and delighted by The Creek Course, designed by acclaimed golf course architect Arthur Hills, which combines classic old-style architectural features with modern course design. Strategically designed bunkers, undulating greens and ample open water add to the challenge of the course while elevated tees and greens provide spectacular landscape views. The world-class golf experience is enhanced by a professional golf staff, impressive driving range and practice facility, and full service pro shop. The Golf Club also provides a wide range of golf and social events designed to bring family, friends and fellow enthusiasts together.

RESTORATION & RENOVATION

With the purpose of recapturing the playing characteristics and aesthetics inherent to the original course design and playability, The Creek Course will undergo an extensive restoration and renovation. Arthur Hills' golf course architecture firm Hills • Forrest • Smith will return to Fiddler's Creek to oversee the project which will include:

All new turf, including tees, greens, fairways and roughs

Complete renovation of all bunkers

New 300-yard driving range

New practice green, warm up putting green and short game practice areas

Addition of new set of shorter distance tees (approx. 4,400 yards)

Extensive rerouting to enhance play, culminating in dramatic 18th green views from the highly-anticipated future clubhouse
