Future Time Clauses

Grammar in Context

BEFORE YOU READ

Look at the picture. What is the girl thinking? Read this article about setting goals.

GO FOR IT! What are your dreams for the future?

Are you going to get your degree by the time you're 22? Will you start your own business before you turn 40? We all have dreams, but they'll remain just dreams until we change them to goals. Here's how.

PUT YOUR DREAMS ON PAPER. After you write a dream down, it will start to become a goal. Your path will be a lot clearer. For example, Latoya Jones wrote:

Before I turn 30, I'm going to be a successful businessperson.

Now her dream is starting to become her goal.

LIST YOUR REASONS. When things get difficult, you can read this list to yourself and it will help you to go on. This is what Latoya put at the top of her list:

My parents will be proud of me when I'm a successful businessperson.

WRITE DOWN AN ACTION PLAN. What are you planning to do to achieve your goal? This is Latoya's action plan:

I'm going to go to business school as soon as I save enough money.

When I have my degree, I'll get a job with a big company.

TAKE YOUR FIRST STEPS TODAY. Here are the first steps Latoya is going to take:

Before I apply to schools, I'm going to order some school catalogs.

I won't decide on a school until I visit several of them.

PART
VI

From Grammar to Writing Using Descriptive Adjectives

Descriptive adjectives can help your reader better picture what you are writing about.

Example: I live in an apartment. → I live in a small comfortable one-bedroom apartment.

1 Read this paragraph. Circle all the adjectives that describe the writer's apartment.

I live in a small comfortable one-bedroom apartment that is close to school. The living room is my favorite room. It's sunny, warm, and cheerful. There's an old brick fireplace, which I use on cold winter nights. In the corner there's a large soft green couch. I like to sit there and read. Next to it is a small wood table with a beautiful antique lamp from my favorite aunt. It's a cozy living room, and I enjoy spending time there.

2 Complete this word map with the circled words from Exercise 1.

Four simple steps move students toward fluency and accuracy.

UNIT 5

"Celletiquette"

Source: P.A.H. World Cellular Statistics

1 Focus on the Topic

A PREDICTING

Look at the map, and discuss these questions with the class:

1. Which part of the world has the most cell phone users?
2. Are you surprised by these numbers? Why or why not?
3. Read the title of the unit. What do you think it means?

▲ Step 1

Students engage with the topic, drawing on prior knowledge and making predictions, as they prepare for the listening or reading selections.

2 Focus on Listening

A LISTENING ONE: Everyone Has an Opinion

Listen to the beginning of "Terry Talks to the Town." Then read each question and circle the correct answer.

1. What are you listening to?
 - a. a TV talk show
 - b. a radio call-in show
 - c. an interview
2. What is the topic of the show?
 - a. Do you have a cell phone?
 - b. What do you think about cell phones?
 - c. Do you have a problem with your cell phone?
3. What do you think people will say? (Write three ideas.)

LISTENING FOR MAIN IDEAS

Listen to the people calling the "Terry Talks to the Town" show to give their opinions on the subject of cell phones. Are these callers pro (for) or con (against) cell phones? Circle the correct word.

Caller	Opinion
1	pro con
2	pro con
3	pro con
4	pro con
5	pro con

▲ Step 2

The listening or reading selections present alternative perspectives, enriching understanding while building language and critical thinking skills.

3 Focus on Vocabulary

1 Work in pairs. Student A, look at this page. Student B, look at page 163. Follow the instructions there.

Student A, you and Student B each have a crossword puzzle. You each have four words filled in. You each are missing four words. To complete the crossword puzzle, you need to know the words your partner has, and your partner needs to know the words you have. Take turns reading the clues. For each clue, tell your partner the number and if it is across or down. Your partner will try to guess the word. Tell your partner if he or she is correct. When you guess the correct word, write it into the crossword puzzle.

Student A, read these clues to your partner. Student B will try to guess the word. If B is correct, say, "That's correct." If B made a mistake, say, "That's not correct."

1. (across) One caller said this is why he uses a cell phone while driving. Another way to say it is "use less time." (2 words)
3. (across) One caller complained about cell phones in public places. Another way to say this is "to interrupt or annoy someone."
5. (across) Some countries allow jamming devices. In these countries, they are "allowed by law."
7. (across) This word describes someone who is not polite.

▲ Step 3

Structured vocabulary activities based on listening or reading selections help students explore, review, and expand their spoken and written expression.

4 Focus on Speaking

A PRONUNCIATION: Unstressed to

When we use to in sentences, we do not stress it. Before words beginning with consonants, we often pronounce it like a strong "t."

Listen to the way to sounds:

I hate to leave.
And I'd love to stay.
But I have to go.

Listen to the way to sounds in this chant. Repeat the lines. Then practice the chant with a partner.

I'm going to call you on my cell phone to see what you want to do to make a plan far later on to meet and visit with you we can meet to go to the store or meet to see a movie or just spend a nice day together.

Work in pairs. Student A uses a cell phone all the time. Student B thinks most cell phone users are rude. Listen to each pair of statements. Which statement would Student A make? Which statement would Student B make? Check (✓) Student A or Student B. Then read these statements out loud.

	Student A	Student B
1. a. I have a right to use my cell phone.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
b. I have the right to watch the movie in peace.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
2. a. I hate to listen to your private conversations.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
b. I hate to use pay phones. They are too expensive.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
3. a. I like to talk to my friends on the phone all day.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
b. I like to talk to my friends in a restaurant.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
4. a. I like to drive and talk on the phone; it saves time.	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>
b. I like to feel safe when I drive. I like to know all drivers are watching the road!	<input type="checkbox"/>	<input type="checkbox"/>

▲ Step 4

Challenging, imaginative activities, topics, and assignments allow students to apply what they have learned and express their ideas on a more sophisticated level.

4 Describe what makes a person beautiful

A Word Skills. Using the prefix self-. Use a dictionary to find other words with the prefix self-.

self-confidence: the belief that one has the ability to do things well.
Parents can build their children's self-confidence by praising their accomplishments.

self-esteem: the attitude of acceptance and approval of oneself.
High self-esteem can help a person succeed, and low self-esteem can be damaging.

self-image: the opinion one has about one's own abilities, appearance, and character.
Mark's self-image improved after he started his new job.

self-pity: the feeling of being sorry for oneself.
It's easy to indulge in self-pity when you're faced with problems.

self-centered: interested only in oneself.
Children are naturally self-centered, but they usually learn to be more interested in others as they grow up.

self-confident: sure of oneself; not shy or nervous in social situations.
Janet is a very self-confident young woman. She'll do well at the university.

self-conscious: worried about what one looks like or what other people think of one's appearance.
Everyone at the meeting was dressed casually, so I felt self-conscious in my suit.

self-critical: tending to find fault with oneself.
Paul is too self-critical. He always focuses on his mistakes rather than his accomplishments.

B Reading Warm-up. Do you think most people are self-conscious about how they look?

C Reading. Read the article about female body image. What do you think is expressed in the song lyrics?

WHO DEFINES BEAUTY?

What makes a girl beautiful? The lines above are from the song "Not Pretty Enough," written and performed by Casey Chambers, an Australian folk-rock singer and songwriter. The words tell us a bit about what it's like to be female in a society in which media such as television, movies, and magazines define what it means to be beautiful. In cultures where success and happiness are equated with being thin and attractive "just like models or movie stars," many young women are left feeling either invisible or fat and unaccepted.

It might not surprise you to read that 75 percent of women in the United States think that they are "too fat." For some people do not realize how their ideas about

On average, U.S. children age eight or older spend almost seven hours a day watching television, playing video games, or reading magazines. Studies have revealed these trends:

- If they had just one wish, girls ages eleven to seventeen say they would wish to be thinner.
- Between the ages of ten and fourteen, the percentage of girls who are "happy with the way I am" drops from 66% to 29%.
- 80% of ten-year-old girls are on diets.
- Between 5 and 10 million teenage girls and young women have an eating disorder—extreme dieting—that can be dangerous to their health.
- Triage cosmetic surgeries more than doubled in the last decade and are growing at an alarming rate.
- 70% of girls say they have wanted to look like an actress. About 10% have actually tried it.

Writing: Compare two people's tastes in fashion

Compare and contrast:
Connecting words can help a writer examine similarities and differences.

Compare (show similarities)	Contrast (show differences)
like Like Sylvia, I wear jeans all the time.	but Wendy wears fashionable clothes, but her sister does not.
similarly I grew up paying little attention to fashion. Similarly , Mel was not very interested in clothes. OR I grew up paying little attention to fashion similarly , Mel was not very interested in clothes.	however Lily had to wear a uniform when she was in school. However , I was able to wear anything I wanted. OR Lily had to wear a uniform when she was in school however , I was able to wear anything I wanted.
too / also Henry used to wear faded jeans in high school. I did too. OR I did also. OR I also did.	whereas / while Sam spends a lot of money on clothes, whereas I left shops in thrift stores. OR Sam spends a lot of money on clothes, while I left shops in thrift stores.

Step 1: Prewriting. Organizing ideas.
Choose a topic. Then on a separate sheet of paper, draw a diagram similar to the one on the right. Label the circles with the topics you are comparing and write both in the middle. List the differences in each circle and the similarities in the middle.

Step 2: Writing. On a separate sheet of paper, write two paragraphs comparing and contrasting ideas within the topic you chose, referring to the notes in your diagram. In your first paragraph, write about the differences. In your second paragraph, write about the similarities. Remember to use connecting words and include a topic sentence for each paragraph.

Step 3: Self-Check.

- Did you correctly use connecting words for comparing?
- Did you correctly use connecting words for contrasting?
- Does each paragraph have a topic sentence?

My fashion style

- conservative style
- wear soft, short, blouses

Both

- like to wear hats
- buy clothes on sale
- have many pairs of shoes

My brother's fashion style

- kind of eccentric
- likes flashy stuff
- risky shoes

Writing Model

My brother Eric and I have very different tastes in fashion. I wear conservative clothes, while he prefers more eccentric outfits. He thinks he's good in his flashy clothes, but I think his style is unattractive. However, there are some similarities in our styles. Eric likes to wear hats, and I do too. Like Eric, I am not
