Louisiana

More than 251 employees, including Entergy Louisiana President & CEO Phillip May, volunteered at food pantries across the state to pack over 1,000 food backpacks. The backpacks are designed to help low-income children who are at risk of missing meals—over the weekend or during holidays—when they are not in school receiving free or reduced price lunches.

Louisiana

Entergy partnered with the American Red Cross for the annual “Sound the Alarm, Save a Life” event. Community volunteers, including Entergy employees, installed 190 smoke detectors. Entergy’s team won the Golden alarm for installing 96 of the smoke detectors.

Louisiana

Employees were volunteers and rowers at the 2019 Dragon Boat Races, an event to benefit the Children's Miracle Network's mission to help fund NICU equipment for local hospitals.

Louisiana

For nearly 20 years, employees have volunteered for the Special Olympics Louisiana Southwest Area Spring Games and this year was no different. Volunteers helped create a fun experience for the athletes through coaching, cheering and positive reinforcement. Win or lose, the participating athletes develop character, make friends and find unknown wells of determination within themselves.

Mississippi

The North American Young Generation in Nuclear Echelon Chapter volunteered at the Kids Stop Day Care and Preschool to teach students about nuclear power. They made delicious candy nuclear reactors and lead story time with “Marie’s Electric Adventure.”

Mississippi

Volunteers spent the day at Gateway Rescue Mission serving hot, nutritious meals to homeless and less fortunate individuals throughout the Jackson community. Many of the Entergy employees who participated are regular volunteers at the Mission and have developed special relationships with those served.

Mississippi

Entergy employees were among the 250 community members who volunteered with United Way of West Central Mississippi for its 22nd annual Day of Caring. From cleaning and landscaping to painting and assembling, volunteers helped nonprofits across Warren, Sharkey, Issaquena, Yazoo and Claiborne counties.

New Orleans

Employees participated in a nonprofit board service "speed dating to make a difference" event to engage one-on-one with community partners to discuss the organizations' mission, needs and board service opportunities.

New Orleans

Capital projects employees volunteered at Arc of Greater New Orleans sorting thousands of pounds of Mardi Gras throws for the nonprofit's recycling and resell program. This initiative not only provides jobs and support for individuals with developmental disabilities, but also helps to reduce the environmental impact of Carnival season.

New Orleans

Several employee groups volunteered at Green Light New Orleans to clean, sand and beautify rain barrels that, once installed, help New Orleanians save water, energy, money and the local environment. So far this year, employees have repurposed approximately 30 olive-turned-rain barrels that can retain up to 67,650 gallons of stormwater runoff annually.

New Orleans

Entergy New Orleans' Diversity and Inclusion council and customer service members volunteered at Dillard University's Earth Day expo creating awareness about advanced meter infrastructure technology and Entergy's environmental programs. They also volunteered at Dillard's Spring Sweep alongside faculty and students, trimming shrubbery and picking up litter to help beautify the campus.

Texas

Serving families in need, several employees, including Entergy Texas President & CEO Sallie Rainer, helped sort and package food and household essentials at food banks across Jefferson and Montgomery counties throughout the month.

Texas

Employees spent the day playing hooky by volunteering at the Montgomery County Animal Shelter to help walk, love and care for the shelter dogs that await their “forever” home

Texas

Partnering with businesses and organizations across Southeast Texas, employees participated in the second annual “Day of Caring” hosted by United Way of Beaumont. Volunteers provided helping hands to homeowners who are still rebuilding and recovering after Hurricane Harvey.

Michigan

Entergy's employee volunteers at the Palisades Nuclear Power Plant cleaned Interstate 196 for two miles as a part of Michigan's Adopt-A-Highway Program. This is the 24th year employees adopted the 11 to 13-mile marker in Van Buren County to make it a little more beautiful.
