MINSTREL BANJO – BRIGGS' BANJO INSTRUCTOR

by Joseph Weidlich

Centerstream Publications

The Banjo Instructor by Tom Briggs, published in 1855, was the first complete method for banjo. It contained "many choice plantation melodies," "a rare collection of quaint old dances," and the "elementary principles of music." This edition is a reprinting of the original Briggs' Banjo Instructor, made up to date with modern explanations, tablature, and performance notes. It teaches how to hold the banjo, movements, chords, slurs and more, and includes 68 banjo solo songs that Briggs presumably learned directly from slaves.

HOHNER HARMONICAS

NEW!

HOHNER

Since 1857, Hohner harmonicas have been handmade in Trossingen, Germany, where the company continues to manufacture them today. Hohner is the harmonica of choice for professional and recreational musicians around the world. Users have included luminaries such as Little Walter, the Beatles, Johnny Cash, John Popper, Bob Dylan, Steven Tyler and countless others. Hal Leonard is proud to now distribute Hohner harmonicas in an exclusive new packaging, designed specifically for music stores.

CHROMATIC HARMONICA

Chromatic harmonicas are designed to play every complete scale in any key – major, minor, pentatonic, blues, etc. – all on one harmonica. They provide the complete 12-note octave with all sharps & flats. Each hole contains four reeds: two natural notes & two chromatic notes. The reeds for chromatic notes are enabled by pushing a slide button on the side of the harmonica, which closes off air flow from one set of reeds & enables the other set to vibrate freely. Chromatics are most often heard within the classical and jazz styles.

EDUCATOR 10 HARMONICA

This model sports a comb design that provides a clear and powerful sound without the need for valves – good news for players who struggle with sticking or noisy wind-savers! Its affordable price also makes it a good starter chromatic, both for novices and players making a transition from smaller diatonic models.

DIATONIC HARMONICAS

Diatonic, single reed harmonicas feature reeds tuned to produce the natural notes of the musical scale – without any additional sharps & flats. They are ten-hole instruments with the four middle holes comprising a complete eight-note octave – the holes on either side permit chord playing. They are capable of producing bending & overblowing, which will allow the player to achieve sharps and flats.

HOMESPUN INSTRUCTIONAL SERIES

Homespun Tapes has set the standard for excellence in taped music instruction since pioneering the field in 1967. The Homespun line, bursting with hundreds of DVDs, videos, and CDs, offers lessons taught by world-renowned artists in the widest selection of instruments and styles – jazz, blues, country, bluegrass, rock, folk, and world music. As the premier producers of music instruction materials, our work has been widely recognized in the popular media, with excellent reviews in Time, People, Entertainment Weekly, Forbes, Playboy, and in dozens of newspapers around the country. There have also been feature stories on NBC's Today, CNN's Entertainment Tonight, and the Discovery Channel's Monitor World News.

Our company was founded on the conviction that making music is a positive and beneficial activity for novice as well as advanced players. We are committed to bringing enjoyment to aspiring musicians who seek to expand their musical knowledge, technique and understanding. The Homespun tradition – variety, quality, substance!

STARTING LEVELS OF THE LESSONS

- 1. Novice: No prior experience on your instrument is necessary. The instructor starts with the assumption that this is your very first lesson.
- 2. Near-Beginner: Instructor assumes that you have not been playing very long, but know the basics. The material is still at a very easy level, but certain elementary things are not explained.
- 3. Early Intermediate: You have been playing a while and can play some songs and/or instrumentals without too much difficulty. Now you want to move into specific styles, develop your repertoire and increase your technique. The instructor still covers the material in detail, but there are more challenges.
- 4. Intermediate: You have good technique and a working knowledge of your instrument, but want to break out of patterns and get "unstuck" in order to move on to more advanced material. Tapes at this level should push you into new areas, develop confidence and a deeper musical understanding so you can start to improvise.
- 5. Advanced Intermediate: The instructor does not provide as much detail, and works on material that will bring you to an advanced or professional level. As in all our lessons, important musical concepts are covered, and more stimulating and demanding material is provided for anyone looking for a real challenge.

All: No specific level can be attributed to this lesson, so it is suitable for anyone who wants to give it a try.
