"A great deal of interest is being manifested in the excursion to Vinton on the coming Thursday under the auspices of the business men of the city to attend the Benton county agricultural fair which will be held this week. A majority of the business houses both wholesale and retail, will be represented and hundreds of others are contemplating going to Vinton, take in the fair and have a nice outing. It is now believed that not less than 300 or 400 people will go on the excursion. The B. C. R. & N. will run a special train for the benefit of the excursionists. It will leave the union passenger station at 10:15 in the morning, arriving in Vinton in time for dinner and the afternoon events."

Death of Judge Shane.

John Shane, late judge of the old 8th judicial district and colonel of the 13th Iowa volunteer infantry, entered into rest yesterday (Monday) morning at 2 o'clock, in the 78th year of his age, after an illness of many years' duration.

Judge Shane was one of the pioneers of this county. He came here in 1856 and entered into the practice of law under the firm name of Alexander, Shane & McCartney, which partnership continued for a good many years. He continued to practice law until 1876 when he was appointed Judge of the old 8th judicial district by Gov. Kirkwood, vice the promotion of Judge Rothrock to the supreme bench.

At the breaking out of the war he was elected captain of Co. G, 13th Iowa which he took an active part in enlisting. He was afterward promoted to major and colonel. He was wounded at Atlanta. The 13th Iowa was one of the regiments forming the famous Crocker brigade. He served his country with distinction in that regiment, and carried a wound as evidence of his valor.

He served on the district bench until 1882, when he was stricken with paralysis and was compelled to retire. He was a patient sufferer from that time until his death.

The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family residence.

HOX, JOHN SHANE DEAD.

Well Known Citizen and Colonel of the Thirteenth of Iowa.

Vinton, Sept. 18.—Hon. John Shane, an old resident of this place, died this morning at 10 o'clock. He had been sick a number of years.

Judge Shane was for many years one of the best known citizens of Iowa. He was colonel of the Thirteenth Iowa, his regiment being a part of the Crocker brigade.
In 1873 he was elected state senator, serving for two or three sessions, resigning when he was appointed district judge by Governor Buren R. Sherman. For the past ten years he has been suffering with softening of the brain and has not been engaged in active work. He was a man of large ability and in his prime was an active factor in Iowa public affairs.

Colonel John Shane was born in the county of Jefferson, Ohio, on May 23, 1822, and was educated at Jefferson college, Pennsylvania. After graduating he taught school for a number of years in Kentucky, and then, returning to Ohio, studied law in the office of E. M. Stanton, afterwards secretary of war under President Lincoln. He was admitted to the bar at Steubenville in 1848, where he continued in the practice of law until 1855, when he removed to Vinton, Iowa.

He volunteered as a private in Company G, Thirteenth Iowa Infantry, and on its organization was elected captain.

October 20, 1861, he was elected major of his regiment. At the battle of Shiloh both he and Lieutenant Colonel M. M.
Price were badly wounded. Lieutenant Colonel Price soon resigned his position, and April 17, 1862, Shane was appointed lieutenant colonel. Colonel Crocker was afterwards appointed brigadier general and the vacancy thus caused was filled by the appointment of Lieutenant Colonel Shane. The regiment was then transferred to Sherman's army and went with him to the sea. Three miles from Atlanta, July 21, 1864, the regiment, under Colonel Shane, lost 225 men in twenty-seven minutes. Under Lieutenant Keanedy the Thirteenth hoisted the Stars and Stripes in the rebel city of Columbia, South Carolina.

Colonel Shane was appointed district judge by Governor Kirkwood to fill the vacancy caused by the appointment of Judge Rothrock to the supreme court, and served four years. He was nominated, but just before his election he was seized with partial paralysis, which rendered him unable to officiate. He finally resigned and Judge Gilfen was appointed in his place. For the last twelve or fifteen years he has been in an invalid condition.
He was twice married.

Society and its first secretary; he served in that capacity at different times for fourteen years, doing very much to make the State fairs successful. In 1862 he was elected to the State Senate to fill the unexpired term of James F. Wilson, elected to Congress. For many years he was secretary and librarian of the Jefferson County Library. During the Civil War he was surgeon of the Board of Enrollment from 1863 to 1865. In 1876-7 Dr. Shaffer was a lecturer at the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Keokuk where he had taken up his residence. For many years he was a trustee of the Unitarian Society at Keokuk, and later secretary of the board of trustees. The doctor has for many years been a student of natural science, and for twenty-five years has been a promoter of cremation as against earth burial, and is a member of an association pledged to the cremation of their own bodies. During the mature years of his life Dr. Shaffer has been a continuous contributor to the press on a variety of subjects of interest to the public, always working for some worthy purpose.

BENJAMIN F. SHAMBAUGH is a native of Iowa, born at Elvira, January 29, 1871. He acquired his education at the Iowa City Academy and the State University of Iowa, and was fellow in the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, in 1893-95. In the latter year he became instructor in the University of Iowa, assistant professor in 1896 and Professor of Political Science in 1897. Professor Shambaugh is a curator of the State Historical Society at Iowa City and editor of the Iowa Journal of History and Politics. He has written much of value to the student of Iowa history, including three volumes on "Documentary Material Relating to the History of Iowa," "Fragments of Debates of the Constitutional Conventions of 1844 and 1846," and a "History of the Constitutions of Iowa."

JOHN SHANE was born in Jefferson County, Ohio, on the 26th of May, 1822, and was educated at Jefferson College. He studied law with Edwin M. Stanton, Lincoln's great Secretary of War and was admitted to the bar in 1848, beginning practice at Steubenville. In 1855, he removed to Iowa, locating at Vinton where he engaged in the practice of law. He was a delegate to the State Convention which organized the Republican party at Iowa City in 1856. He entered the military service as captain of Company G, Thirteenth Infantry in 1861, in October was promoted to major and was in the Battle of Shiloh. Soon after he became lieutenant-colonel and in March, 1863, was promoted to colonel of the regiment. He served in this position with distinction until November, 1864, when the term of enlistment expired. In 1871 Colonel Shane was elected on the Republican ticket to the State Senate, serving four years. In 1876 he was appointed judge of the Eighth Judicial District and was elected in 1878 for a full term but was stricken with paralysis before the expiration and resigned. He died on the 18th of September, 1899.

ALBERT SHAW, journalist, was born at Shauden, Ohio, July 23, 1857. He came to Iowa when a young man, entering Iowa College at Grinnell where he graduated in 1876. He first entered upon journalism by securing an interest in the Grinnell Herald but still continued his studies under Professor Macy, giving special attention to constitutional history and economic science. In 1881 he entered Johns Hopkins University as a graduate student, and while there attracted the notice of James Bryce who was preparing his "American Commonwealth," and availed himself of Mr. Shaw's knowledge of western political and social conditions. In 1883 Mr. Shaw secured a position on the Monmouth Tribune but returned to Johns Hopkins taking the degree of Ph. D. He then resumed work on the Tribune. While pursuing his studies he wrote a book called "Icaria: A Chapter in the History of Communism" which became his thesis, was translated and published in Germany where it won the author an enviable reputation. After spending two years in study in Europe he gave lectures at Cornell, Johns Hopkins and Michigan Universities. In 1891 he was invited to establish the London Review of Reviews of which he has since been the editor. He is the author of "Municipal Government in Great Britain;" "Municipal Government in Continental Europe;" "History of the Spanish-American War;" "History of the United States from the Civil War to the Close of the Nineteenth Century." Dr. Shaw is a member of the American Economic Association, American Antiquarian Society, a fellow of the American Statistical Society and the New York Academy of Political Science. The Outlook says:

"Dr. Shaw has a catholicity of feeling and knowledge which very few Americans possess, and is one of the few journalists in this country who treat their work from the professional standpoint, who are thoroughly equipped for it and who regard themselves as standing in a responsible relation to a great and intelligent public."

LESLIE M. SHAW, sixteenth Governor of Iowa, was born in Morris-town, Vermont, November 2, 1848, was reared on a farm and attended the Academy of Morrisville. He came to Iowa in 1866 and entered Cornell College at Mount Vernon, from which he graduated in 1874. Mr. Shaw was dependent upon his own exertions for the means to defray his expenses while attending the Iowa College of Law. These he met by work in the harvest field, teaching and selling nursery stock. In 1876 he located at Denison in Crawford County and began the practice of law. He was a hard worker and soon won a prominent position at the bar. Mr. Shaw began the accumulation of a library and in time possessed one of the best collections of law books in the State. He was a liberal contributor to the establishment of the Academy and Normal School at Denison, engaged in tion, distinguished for his wide charities, and the foremost member of the Baptist church of his city and county. "He was always at the front when there was giving or doing." At the time of his death he was in California, whither he had gone hoping to recover his health which had been for some time seriously impaired.

CHARLES CARROLL GILMAN was born at Frankfort, Maine, February 22, 1833; he died at Eldora, Iowa, July 31, 1899. He came to Eldora in 1866, as the projector of a short railroad which afterwards became a part of the Iowa Central line. Upon its organization, then known as the "Central Railroad of Iowa" he became its first president. Mr. Gilman was a man of large ability, far-seeing, influential, active, energetic and persevering. He succeeded in extending his railroad in both directions, and it gradually grew into one of the most important north and south lines in the State. He was the originator of the coal and clay industries in the vicinity of Eldora, which have since grown into importance. Through his ingenious experiments and inventions our Iowa clays came into new uses, creating demands for the manufactured products throughout the country. Aside from his great business ability he was widely esteemed for his fine social qualities.

Mrs. VICTORIA TOURNOI BRUGUIER was born in St. Louis, December 12, 1826; she died in Sioux City, Iowa, July 13, 1899. "Mrs. Bruguiier," says the Sioux City Journal, "was one of the oldest and most remarkable pioneer women of the Northwest, and her history a very romantic one." She was of Croat-French descent, and the fourth wife of Theophile Bruguiier, and he was her third husband. Bruguiier's three other wives were daughters of War Eagle, a celebrated Yankton-Sioux Indian. Bruguiier died on his farm near Salk, Woodbury county, Iowa, February 18, 1896. Mr. O. C. Treadway, at whose house Mrs. Bruguiier died, says of her, "no white woman ever lived who knew as much of the Indian character and the history of the Northwest." She had travelled much in the far west many years ago, making several trips to Salt Lake City. The growth of Sioux City from its first settlement had almost wholly taken place during her residence in that vicinity. The family were well known throughout northwestern Iowa and eastern Nebraska.

JOHN SHANE was born in Jefferson county, Ohio, May 26, 1822; he died at Vinton, Iowa, September 18, 1899. He was educated at Jefferson College, Pennsylvania. After teaching some years he studied law in the office of Edwin M. Stanton, Lincoln's great war secretary. He removed to Vinton, Iowa, and had resided there some years before the civil war. Enlisting in Company G, Thirteenth Iowa Infantry, he was elected its captain, and shortly after promoted to major, afterwards to lieutenant-colonel, and when Crocker was made a brigadier-general, Shane was promoted to the colonelcy. He bore a distinguished part in the battles of Shiloh and before Atlanta. After his return, Governor Kirkwood appointed him district judge to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Rothrock to the supreme bench. He was nominated and elected district judge, but suffered from partial paralysis to such an extent as to necessitate his resignation. He had been an invalid from this cause for the past dozen years.

Mrs. NARCISSE T. BEMIS was born at Alabama, Genesee county, New York, May 8, 1829; she died at the summer home of the family, at Okoboji, Iowa, August 9, 1899. She was married to Hon. George W. Bemis, of Independence, Iowa, April 11, 1855, and that place was thereafter their home. During the period of the civil war Mrs. Bemis became distinguished through her efficient services in behalf of the Sanitary Commission, and in

About FamilySearch Pedigree Resource File

The Pedigree Resource File is a new lineage linked database of records available on compact disc containing family history records submitted by individuals through FamilySearch Internet Genealogy Service. Family information is organized in family groups and pedigrees and includes submitted notes and sources. Many charts and reports can be printed from this data. Each disc contains about 1.1 million names. With the publication of every five discs, a master index for those discs will be published and packaged with that set of discs. With the publication of every 25 discs, a master index for those discs will also be published and packaged with that volume of discs. Discs may be purchased as sets or volumes.
