Dinosaur Extinction

Dinosaurs roamed the Earth for over 160 million years! The time period was known as the Mesozoic Era. Sometimes this Era is referred to as the “Age of Dinosaurs” because most dinosaurs lived and became extinct during this time.

How long ago do you think dinosaurs last roamed the Earth?

Dinosaurs roamed the Earth until around 65 million years ago.

Why do you think dinosaurs became extinct?

Asteroid

Scientists believe that a massive asteroid impact could have caused radical changes to the Earth’s climate. This would have destroyed many if not all of the plants an herbivore ate causing the herbivorous dinosaurs to starve. The carnivorous dinosaurs would have soon starved with nothing to eat either.

Volcano

Scientific research suggests that many dinosaurs had become extinct before any asteroid impact. Massive volcanic activity would have drastically changed the climate resulting in hotter temperatures and food shortages.

Fun Dinosaur Facts

The word Dinosaur means "terrible lizard."

Scientists first thought that dinosaur fossils were the remains of huge lizards.

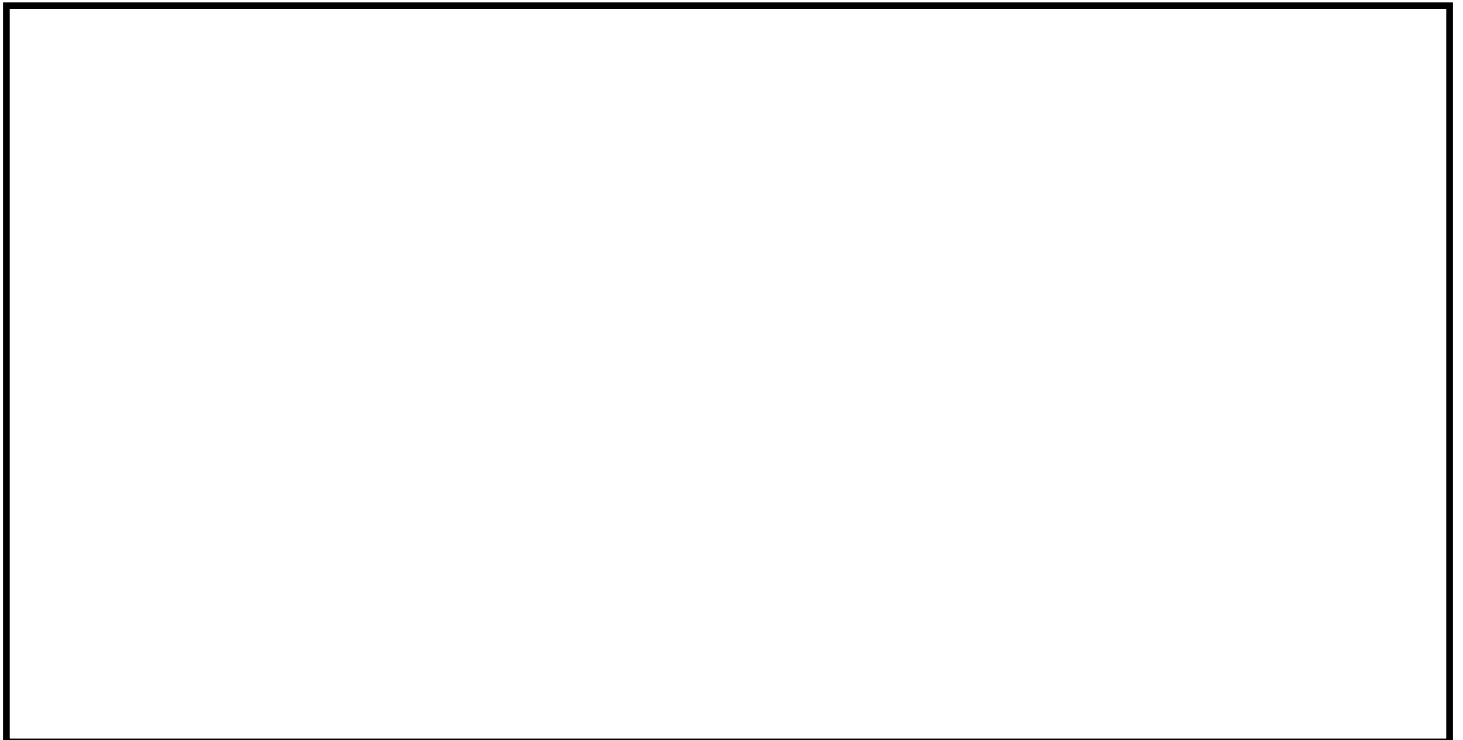

Birds are the closest living relative of dinosaurs.

Scientists believe that modern birds descended from a group of dinosaurs called theropods.

Sharks have been around longer than dinosaurs.

Sharks have lived in our oceans for over 400 million years.
