

HOW TO USE THE TAX TABLES

- Calculate the total gross pay for the week or month and deduct from it any approved superannuation contributions.
- Calculate the "Free Pay" by taking the tax code for that employee, look at the weekly paid or monthly paid TABLE A or TABLE B as appropriate and read off the "Free Pay" alongside that code.
- Deduct the Free Pay from the total pay (after superannuation) to arrive at the taxable pay.
- Round the taxable pay to the nearest 50 pence, i.e. £56.25 = £56.00; £75.76 = £76.00.
- Use STANDARD BAND (SB) - TABLE D (separate booklet) to calculate the tax to be deducted. Examples are given at the front of the Table D booklet.
- Where the weekly or monthly taxable pay exceeds the limits shown in TABLE D the excess should be taxed using HIGHER RATE (HR) - TABLE C. This includes employees on SB codes.
- TABLE D does NOT apply where Code HR is used or the employee is a non-resident. In such cases use TABLE C only.
- Advice can be obtained from the Income Tax Division if you have any difficulties in deciding how the Tax Tables should be applied in a particular case. You can contact the Income Tax Division on telephone number 685410.
- If the pay period relates to a number of weeks or months, multiply the "Free Pay" by that number, e.g. if paying one week's pay plus two weeks holiday pay, deduct three times the "Free Pay" from the total pay to arrive at the taxable pay for that three week period.
- If the code is higher than those used in the Tables, the "Free Pay" may be determined by adding the Free Pay from two codes together, e.g. Code 1800 for a monthly paid employee: Use Code 900 twice = £750.75 x 2 = £1,501.50. Alternatively, the following formula could be used:-

$$\frac{(\text{Code} \times 10) + 9}{\text{Number of pay periods in tax year}}$$

Number of pay periods in tax year

- If the code is NT deduct no tax.
