

A photograph of three people jumping joyfully in a field of tall grass at sunset. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm, golden glow. The people are silhouetted against the bright sky. One person is wearing a white t-shirt and dark shorts, another is wearing a black t-shirt, red shorts, and a blue cap, and the third is wearing a light blue shirt and red shorts. They are all reaching their arms up, with two of them holding hands. A yellow tent is visible on the right side of the image.

DEEPER ENGAGEMENT FOR GLOBAL AWARENESS . . . BOTH INSIDE AND OUTSIDE THE CLASSROOM

Students who give the most to their study abroad experience tend to get the most back—and bring the most to future employers, graduate programs, and charitable organizations.

Consider supplementing your study abroad experience:

- Internships: Some programs are connected with internship opportunities. Some are coordinated through host institutions, but many are coordinated through the Career Center. Visit GoIrish to learn more.
- Research: In addition to applying to Kennedy Scholars (London), International Scholars (Rome), and Global Business Scholars (Singapore, Milan, and South Bend), ask your academic advisors and program staff how you can access local resources, archives, and other research materials—either for classes abroad or to get a jump start on your senior thesis.
- Service: Students participate in a wide variety of community engagement opportunities in almost every program location. Discuss your options with Study Abroad program advisors before you leave and on-site host staff once you arrive.

Get in touch with the relevant Study Abroad program manager with location-specific questions.
