The Lipton Cup Regatta

Labor Day weekend, 1976, will be the fifty-seventh consecutive year in which yacht clubs along the Gulf Coast will compete for the Sir Thomas Lipton Challenge Trophy. This trophy, given to the Southern Yacht Club in 1919 by Sir Thomas Lipton, BART. K. C. V. O., was loaned to the Gulf Yachting Association as a prize to foster inter-club one design sailing competition. The first such series was sailed in Fish Boats in 1920, and from that time until 1968 when Flying Scots were first sailed as G. Y. A. club owned boats.

The Gulf Yachting Association itself is older than the Sir Thomas Lipton Challenge Trophy Series. It was reorganized in 1920 to stimulate yacht racing. Following World War I, the old Southern Gulf Coast Yachting Association of 1901 having ceased to function. In its present up-dated form, the GYA is now in its 76th year with twenty member yacht clubs from Lake Charles in southwest Louisiana and south to St. Andrews Bay in Panama City, Florida, and as far northwest as Shreveport, Louisiana and north to Jackson, Mississippi.

The Gulf Yachting Association sponsors numerous championship sailing regattas from class events to ocean races, as well as events for ladies and juniors. In addition to the foregoing, the GYA conducts eliminations for various United States Yacht Racing Union national sailing championships and the GYA Appeals Committee acts as a channel, if necessary, for protest appeals to reach the USYRU Appeal Committee for final interpretation of the yacht racing rules.

In 1973, Southern Yacht Club recalled its trophy from the Gulf Yachting Association, and in lieu thereof, the trophy for the series is a full-sized replica of the trophy, mounted on a board which lists the past fifty-five winners. The original Sir Thomas Lipton Challenge Trophy is now on permanent display at the Southern Yacht Club.

GYA competition for the "Lipton Cup" is in every old sailor's background and the young sailors of today look forward to being on the club's Lipton team. Sir Thomas Lipton's gift of his Challenge Trophy to Southern Yacht Club still inspires the Gulf Coast sailors and will do so in the years to come.

J. Gilbert Scheib
Secretary
Gulf Yachting Association
